New Director Will Review

3 Decades Of Draft Orders Eyed

By STAN BENJAMIN and FRED S. HOFFMAN Associated Press Writers
WASHINGTON (AP) — New Draft Director Curtis E. Tarr is about to review—and perhaps rewrite—the 30-year accumulation of orders left behind by his predecessor, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey.
In an exclusive interview, Tarr said he wants to give local boards guidelines to make their decisions more uniform—a reform long demanded by draft critics.
Tarr's remarks—filled with academic caution as Hershey's were by folksy jokes—revealed a belief that after three decades of directives from Hershey, many local draft boards still are not "how to do their job."
He said Keith McWilliams, a Des Moines, Iowa, lawyer, is now his chief legal officer.

'Camille' Error Admitted

By ED ROGBERS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Weather scientists have admitted misleading warnings lured Gulf Coast residents "into a false sense of security" before deadly Hurricane Camille struck last summer, a congressional report showed today.
Staff investigators of the House Appropriations Committee found the scientists' treatment of Camille was plagued by miscalculations and shortcomings, their report showed.
As a result, the investigators said, coastal residents of Mississippi and parts of Louisiana had little reason to believe they were in the path of what proved to be the deadliest storm in U.S. history.
Their report, completed in January but never published officially, was made available to UPI. The report placed little specific blame but was generally critical of the whole operation.
Dr. Robert M. White, administrator of the Environmental Science Services Administration, today denied the allegations. He said "our own very careful post-hurricane survey of the performance of the warning system indicates that it performed in an outstanding manner in the Gulf area."
"Warnings for the Gulfport (Miss.) area were issued 15 hours before landfall, providing completely adequate time for evacuation—the entire day Sunday, Aug. 17," he added.
"Forecasts of unusual storm surges—up to 20 feet—were made, further warning residents of a major impending disaster."
Camille struck the coast at about 11:30 p.m. CDT with 190 mile per hour winds last Aug. 17, a Sunday, and left 250 dead and $1.4 billion in property loss after whirling through Virginia three days later.
The report said there were too few "penetrations" by weather planes into the "eye" of Camille, and too little liaison among the Environmental Science and Services Administration (ESSA), the Air Force, the Navy and the National Hurricane Center at Miami.
This memo, dated Oct. 21, was quoted in the report: "The true feeling of this office is that the warnings by the

Nixon Pushed Toward Decisions Crisis Shadow Nears White House

By ARNOLD SAWILAK
WASHINGTON (UPI) — During the nearly 500 days of his presidency, Richard Nixon has kept the shadow of crisis from the White House door. It seems to be creeping up on him now.
There have been tense periods and dramatic moments, both in victory and defeat, since Nixon took office Jan. 20, 1969.
But up to now, the crackling atmosphere that portends fatal decisions, so familiar during the Kennedy and Johnson years, has been studiously avoided by the president and his aides.
In the last few days, the feeling has been growing that Nixon is being pushed toward some difficult decisions—especially in regard to Cambodia—and that for the first time the pressure is showing.
Ironically, this is happening immediately after Nixon apparently found a way out of a painful assault on his personal worth and Carwell rejection of the president's anti-communist White House observers. But in Cambodia, the Middle East and the economy look to be bigger, more complex problems. The new action in Cambodia by squabbling over the Haynes the South Vietnam army, with U.S. support, makes that area topic A. There is little doubt among White House observers that Nixon's uncharacteristic rush flight from San Clemente, Calif., to Washington last weekend was in response to that situation.
If Nixon sends help to Cambodia directly, the antiwar movement will be back on the streets. If he attempts indirect support, the charge of "isolation by stealth" will be leveled. If he refuses aid, hawks may be in full cry.
The Arab-Israeli situation may seem less immediately volatile, but the disclosure that Soviet pilots are flying operational missions over Egypt obviously is a challenge to Nixon's earlier decision to withhold new arms unless the balance of military power changes.
In addition to facing the two international crises, the president and his associates have been seeking to bolster confidence that the economy is not in a tailspin.

Welfare Bill Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee called back Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch today after his initial testimony produced sharp criticism on the cost of President Nixon's plan to reform the welfare system.
The secretary, opening the administration's case for the bill Wednesday, acknowledged it may cost $40 million more than the original $4.4 billion estimate.
But Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., the committee's senior Republican, insisted the proposal is more likely to cost $1.25 billion over the first projection.
While several GOP members drew a bead on the program's cost and how it could be met, Democrats said the proposal raised hopes that clearly could not be fulfilled.
Finch agreed the plan cannot answer all the needs of the poor but added it is not intended as a cure-all for unemployment problems.
The secretary said the plan would reduce the nation's poverty gap by about 69 per cent, set up national standards to make the welfare system more equitable and provide real incentives to welfare recipients to get jobs.
Williams said he believed the bill is lumped by $1.25 billion more likely to cost $1.25 billion more than the 3.5 per cent figure used when the program's cost was estimated.

Koepchne Papers Released

By PHILIP BALBONI
BOSTON (UPI) — Judge James A. Boyle, challenging sworn testimony by Edward M. Kennedy, Jr., in a Massachusetts case, today took Mary Jo Koepchne down a road that led only to a secluded beach the night she drowned.
Kennedy says he had been taking Miss Koepchne back to drop her off at her hotel. He rejected "the inferences and ultimate finding of the judge's report" as "not justified."
Boyle, in his findings on the celebrated case, said Kennedy probably was driving negligently. He left open the matter of whether criminal charges might be pressed—although further action appeared unlikely.
Miss Koepchne, 28, a former secretary for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, drowned when Kennedy's car went off a bridge at Chappaquiddick Island, Mass., the night of July 18, 1969. The testimony and Boyle's findings at the request in Edgartown from Jan. 24 were made public Wednesday.
Kennedy, in his testimony, said he was taking Miss Koepchne back to her hotel. He was intentional. Having reached room in Edgartown when he made a wrong turn and went 7-10ths of a mile down the wrong road, the road that led across a wooden bridge spanning a tidal pond. The auto, with Kennedy at the wheel, went off the bridge and landed upside down in the pond, drowning the Boyle.
Boyle noted several points that came out in the testimony. He said Kennedy and Miss Koepchne did not intend to go to Edgartown, including: "Miss Koepchne left her purse at the cottage where she and Kennedy had been attending a party for Kennedy friends and 'holier' girls who had worked in the Robert Kennedy campaign, including Miss Koepchne."
"Miss Koepchne did not ask her roommate to get the key to their room before leaving the party."
"The ferry that crossed from Chappaquiddick Island to Edgartown stopped at midnight, and no special arrangements for a later crossing had been made."
Boyle said, "I infer a reasonable and probable explanation of the totality of the above facts is that Kennedy and Koepchne did not intend to return to Edgartown at that time; that Kennedy did not intend to drive to the ferry slip and his turn onto Duke Road Koepchne back to her hotel. This conclusion, the question then arises as to whether there was anything criminal in his operation of the motor vehicle."
"I therefore find there is probable cause to believe that Edward M. Kennedy operated

Agnew's Day In Florida Quite Extraordinary

The Democratic controlled State Senate may have refused to proclaim Tuesday "Spirito T. Agnew Day In Florida" yet it was just that so far as the split Republican world in the Sunshine State is concerned.

What if the forthright Vice President of the United States of America side-stepped the Cramer-Carswell battle for the GOP nomination for the United States Senate?

What if the vigor and venom of the Agnew speech at a Republican fund-raising dinner in Hollywood found a popular target in permissive conduct of the nation's great universities faced with student rebellion?

What if Mr. Agnew asserted that the explosive entrance of Judge G. Harrold Carswell into the race for the senatorial nomination, where the Republicans had a front-running candidate in U.S. Representative William C. Cramer of St. Petersburg, is "a personal situation that I would hesitate to inject myself into?"

There remains a hard, stubborn and important political fact: The visit of Mr. Agnew in the role of peacemaker was a variant from his usual assignment and he performed it with laudatory skill.

Yet the Republicans have not done much more than try a surface maneuver to restore the GOP harmony which was shattered by the unexpected and surprising switch of the Tallahassee federal judge from his chosen life work to the strange, difficult and uncertain world of politics.

Still there persists the assumption that this was a power play by two eager and ambitious Republican leaders. One is Senator Edward J. Gurney who was the leader in the drive to secure senatorial confirmation of Judge Carswell as President Nixon's choice to fill the vacant chair in the United States Supreme Court. He failed in that endeavor.

The other is the unpredictable and dramatic Gov. Claude R. Kirk, Jr., who is given credit — rightfully — in persuading Carswell to make this fateful decision.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Florida Times-Union, in a lead editorial — Carswell's Agonizing Choice — deals with this event in a balanced and informative manner.

In a concluding paragraph, this editorial states: "Whether he wins or loses the senate race, Carswell will at least have the opportunity to speak in his own defense as the campaign progresses. And the voters will have the opportunity to listen to the man himself and make their own assessment based on his career, his words and his actions as they stack up against those of his opponents."

We are especially concerned about what is hinted at in the final sentence. This is the matter of assessment of all candidates for the United States Senate

In all parties in the light of their experience, their knowledge of critical national and international issues, their character and ability to withstand pressures, and their responsiveness to the voters after election.

True it is only now the closing days of April. Before next September's primaries the critical issues which are now making themselves felt — war, the economy, and minority challenges — will have become clearer and sharper.

It is these issues which should get the attention of the senatorial candidates. The seat being vacated by the respected Senator Spessard Holland (D) is the prize. To send any man into that distinguished and powerful post on any but the broadest and best of motives would be wrong.

Perhaps this is too much to ask in the heated political atmosphere which gives no evidence of cooling off. Yet if it is achieved, things should go to Mr. Agnew for his day in Florida where he came as a peacemaker and raised only money!

Welcome For Dave

Welcome to Sanford, Dave Kelley! We say this not only for the professional competence that comes with you, but, for what used to be referred to as "the cut of your jib."

That is, of course, sailor talk. But it also carries with it, without too much imagination, the way your manner of friendly, forthright, determination in tackling the tough assignment of industrial director in the Sanford Industrial Commission impressed us.

It is a rare circumstance that finds an expert who had actually worked himself out of a job, as was done in Hollywood when the available acres for industrial development were used up, lands a spot where what he had lacked is available in abundance.

The group of city officials and local leaders who listened to your off-the-cuff remarks at the House of Steak luncheon had some heads nodding while others adopted the "wait-and-see" attitude.

Sanford's experience in industrial development has been spotty. But we were especially pleased by what was said about paying attention to local industries in their needs for expansion facilities.

In this we do not plead the impartiality of a commentator who has no personal interest. Indeed we are interested in how our fellow-industrialists and business entrepreneurs are coming from actions by the SIC in a matter of extreme importance.

Enough of that sort of talk. What we started to say and what we would let everyone know is that our first impressions of Dave Kelley are so favorable that we are looking forward to reporting the progress our lake-side city in all of its many industrial areas makes with this personable and attractive young man as SIC director!

St. Joseph Streak Continues

St. Joseph College has a streak going, and the Seminole Junior College Raiders, with Tom Austin in the mound, did all they could to keep it intact. The streak reached 17 yesterday.

You might say St. Joseph has a perfect record. They're 6-7 after the Raiders pounced them 8-0 in seven innings yesterday. St. Joseph, who the Raiders best 21-2 earlier this season, never really threatened to score and Pitts had them to four hits.

The opening frame set the Raiders on their way as they scored five runs. Tommy Austin led off with a single and proceeded to set a new state record when he stole second. He proceeded to third on the wild throw by the catcher and time was called as Austin received the Capp's Cloister trophy recognizing him for the feat. It was his 26th stolen base, and before the game was over, he picked up his 26th.

The Raiders scored five times in the first. They added two more in the second and a lone run in the third. Their eighth run came on eight hits and two St. Joseph errors.

Today the Raiders are at home against Santa Fe Junior College of Gainesville in their 2 p.m. season finale. Bobby Sherman will take to the mound for the Raiders with Greg Stone the primary relief man. Sherman is 5-1 with a pair of saves.

Pitts, who upped his record to 4-2 with the win, fanned six batters while walking only two. He pitched a fine game on a hot day.

Mike Ferrell and Bill Dancy each had two RBIs for the Raiders. No Raider had more than one hit. Dancy and Steve Stumaker each slammed doubles.

Austin wasn't the only speedster on the path-paths for the Raiders. Joe Turnbull also had a pair of stolen bases and Pitts and Mike Nolan had one each.

After today's game it is the state tournament for the Raiders as they meet Gulf Coast in the first round of the double-elimination tournament set for next week at Tinker Field in Orlando.

Valencia will be the official host of the tournament, but with the field so close to Sanford, and the fact that many of the players are from Orlando and most of the others have played there, will make it like a home game for the Raiders.

FASTER THAN A SPEEDING BULLET is the only way to describe Austin. He charges down the first base line and is safe as the first base man pulls his foot off the base. Lassie League Opens

The Girls' Softball Lassie League will open its season Thursday, April 30th, when their first scheduled game will begin.

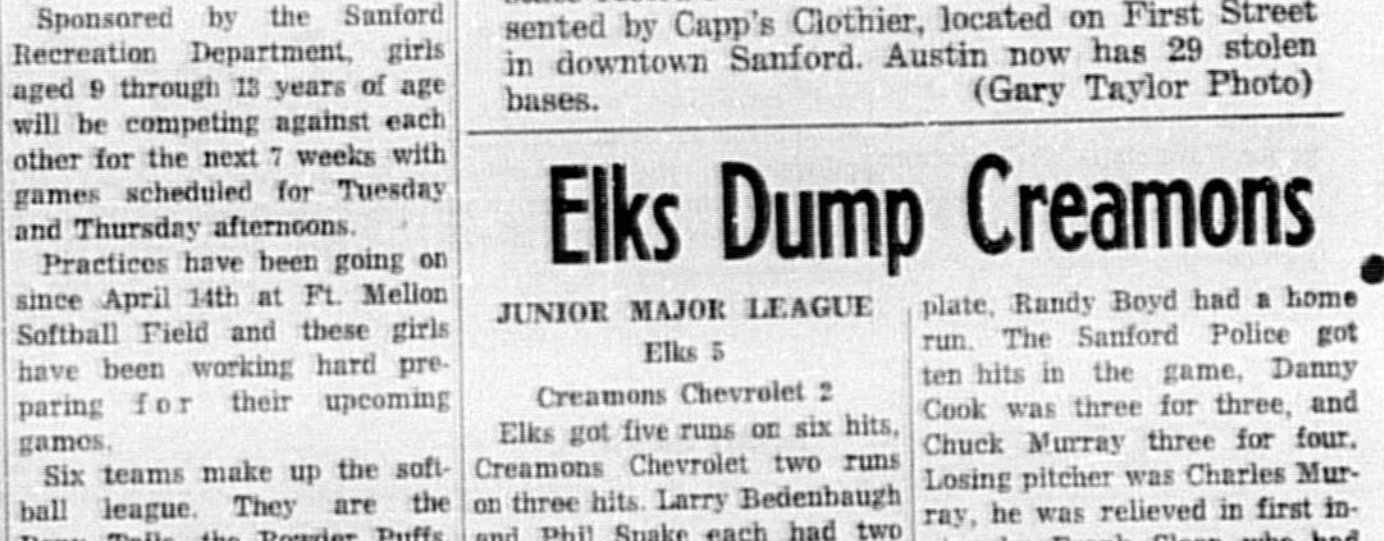

Sponsored by the Sanford Recreation Department, girls aged 9 through 15 years of age will be competing against each other for the next 7 weeks with games scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

Practices have been going on since April 14th at Ft. Mellon Softball Field and these girls have been working hard preparing for their upcoming games.

Six teams make up the softball league. They are the Pony Tails, the Powder Puffs, the Curly Locks, the Tom Boys, the Pig Tails, and the Petti-coats.

Each game will be 4 innings or one hour, whichever ever occurs first. Official girls' Soft-Pitch Softball Rules will be used in operating the league. The times for each game will be 4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m., 5:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m., and 6:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. They will be played at Ft. Mellon Softball Field.

The public is invited to attend these games and watch these young ladies "play ball!"

TOMMY AUSTIN shows his trophy to Coach Jay Bergman after he received it for setting a new state record for stolen bases. The trophy was presented by Capp's Cloister, located on First Street in downtown Sanford. Austin now has 29 stolen bases. (Gary Taylor Photo)

As I See It!
by Gary Taylor

Talk about excitement... try a change of pace. Women's softball games are held each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday at 7:30 and 9 p.m. Now if you think it's fun just watching them, try umpiring.

Yes, you guessed it. Your favorite little (???) sports writer can be seen umpiring the games which are played at Cooper Field on Highway 418.

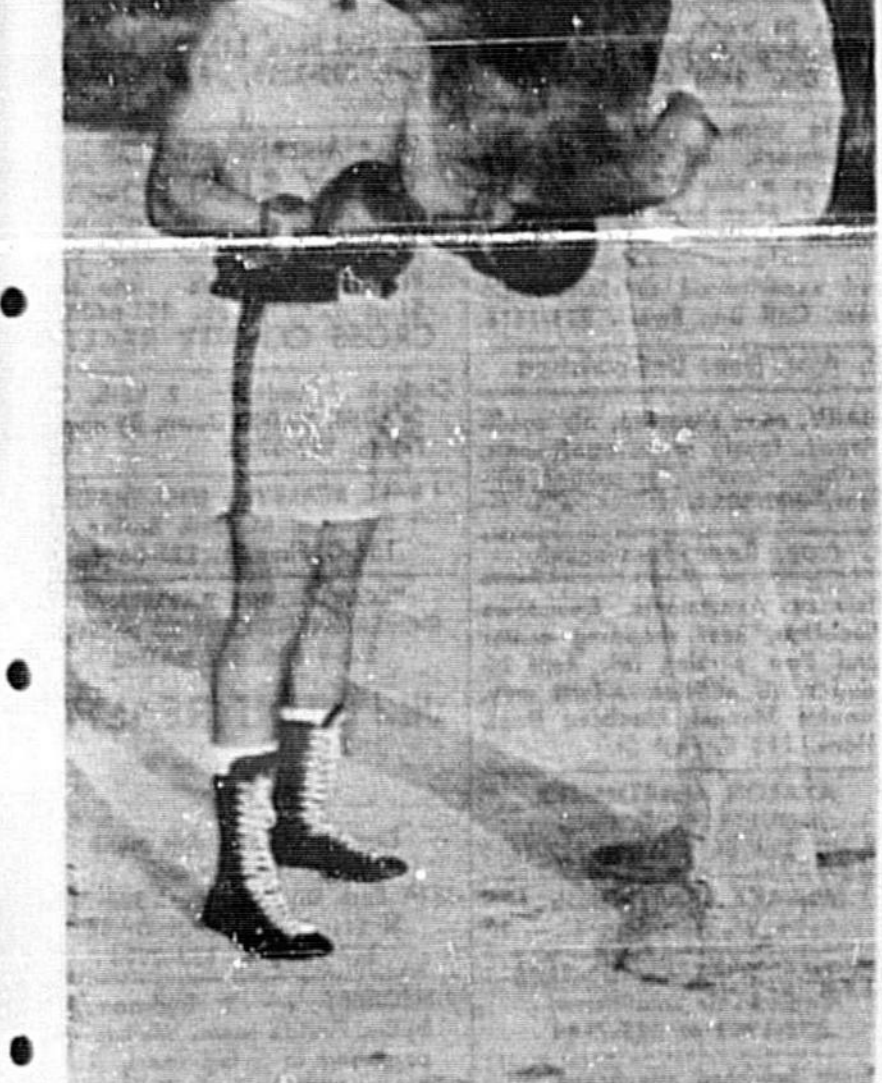

One of the players, and I won't tell you her name is Pam Temple) gets real irritated at some of my calls behind the plate when she's catching. Seems she thinks I call the balls strikes and the strikes balls.

Well Tuesday night she went to me. She picked up the bat, and without looking, tossed it at me. Hit me right on the big toe mind you. (Now if you think it doesn't hurt to be hit on the big toe by a softball bat, come over some night and I'll introduce you to Pam.)

It's different, I'll guarantee you. Be sure to come out and watch the action. (Make sure you watch the umpire too.)

Everyone will get a chance to see a lot of local boxing talent this Monday night at the East Army on South Bay Street in Bunnell. The matches get underway at 8 p.m. There's going to be both professionals and amateurs from Sanford fighting on the card.

Heading the list will be pro Gary Fryar. He'll be fighting Solomon McTier in an exhibition. Don't tell anyone, but there might be another big name (Central Florida pro on the card.)

R. G. KONDRACKI (right) checks the gloves of Victor Perez before one of their sparring sessions. Kondracki is the manager of the Sanford team and is the promoter of the matches in Eustis Monday night.

Other Sanford fighters include pro Kenny Hinson, Kip Bracken and Steve Mack and amateurs Lloyd Wall, Mike Mack, John Foster, Rick Brown and Victor Perez.

R. G. Kondracki, a local service station owner and former boxer, is the promoter. He'll be the matchmaker. It should be quite a show, and if they draw good, look for a similar card to come to Sanford in one day to six other boys exhibit their skills. Who knows... one day of them might be a champion. Wall, maybe.

REMEMBER! YOU READ IT FIRST IN THE SANFORD HERALD!! Seminole Junior College baseball coach Jay Bergman announced today that he has signed Dick Sanford, a second baseman with Edgewater High of Orlando. He batted .306 this year, hitting from the Purst side. According to Bergman, "He does" steal 20 bases next year, it will be because he has a cast on his leg.

Come on Bergman, it is really that fast? Looks like Bergman might have signed another star. Look for the announcement of two more signings from this same school later this week. I understand he has his eye on some other boys in the area too. REMEMBER, YOU ALWAYS SEE IT FIRST IN THE SANFORD HERALD.

Speaking of the Raiders. My congratulations go to Tom Austin, who yesterday set a new state record for stolen bases when he broke the old one of 27. He now owns the new one at 29 and has three more games to add to it.

It was my pleasure to present Tom with a trophy recognizing him for this feat. The trophy was presented on behalf of Capp's Cloister. My thanks also to Mike Capko for sponsoring the trophy.

Miami-Dade Junior College South Campus Track Coach Jerry Ison has been voted "Coach of the Year" by his fellow Florida Junior College track coaches.

The honor came following the Jaguars' first-place finish in the State Junior College Track Meet at Gainesville April 26, keeping intact South Campus' undefeated streak. Miami-Dade South finished the season with a 15-0 record.

Ison, who was meet director of the National AAU Track and Field Meet last year, was nominated as National Junior College Coach of the Year in 1969. He is a former high jumper and once-novice hurdler at Indiana University, where he earned his bachelor's degree in 1963. Ison received his Master of Science degree, in 1967, from Indiana State University while serving as assistant track coach.

The Coach of the Year followed the Jaguar coaching staff in the fall of 1969 after a tour as head track coach at Rose Polytechnic Institute at Terre Haute, Ind.

Sunshine State Favorite

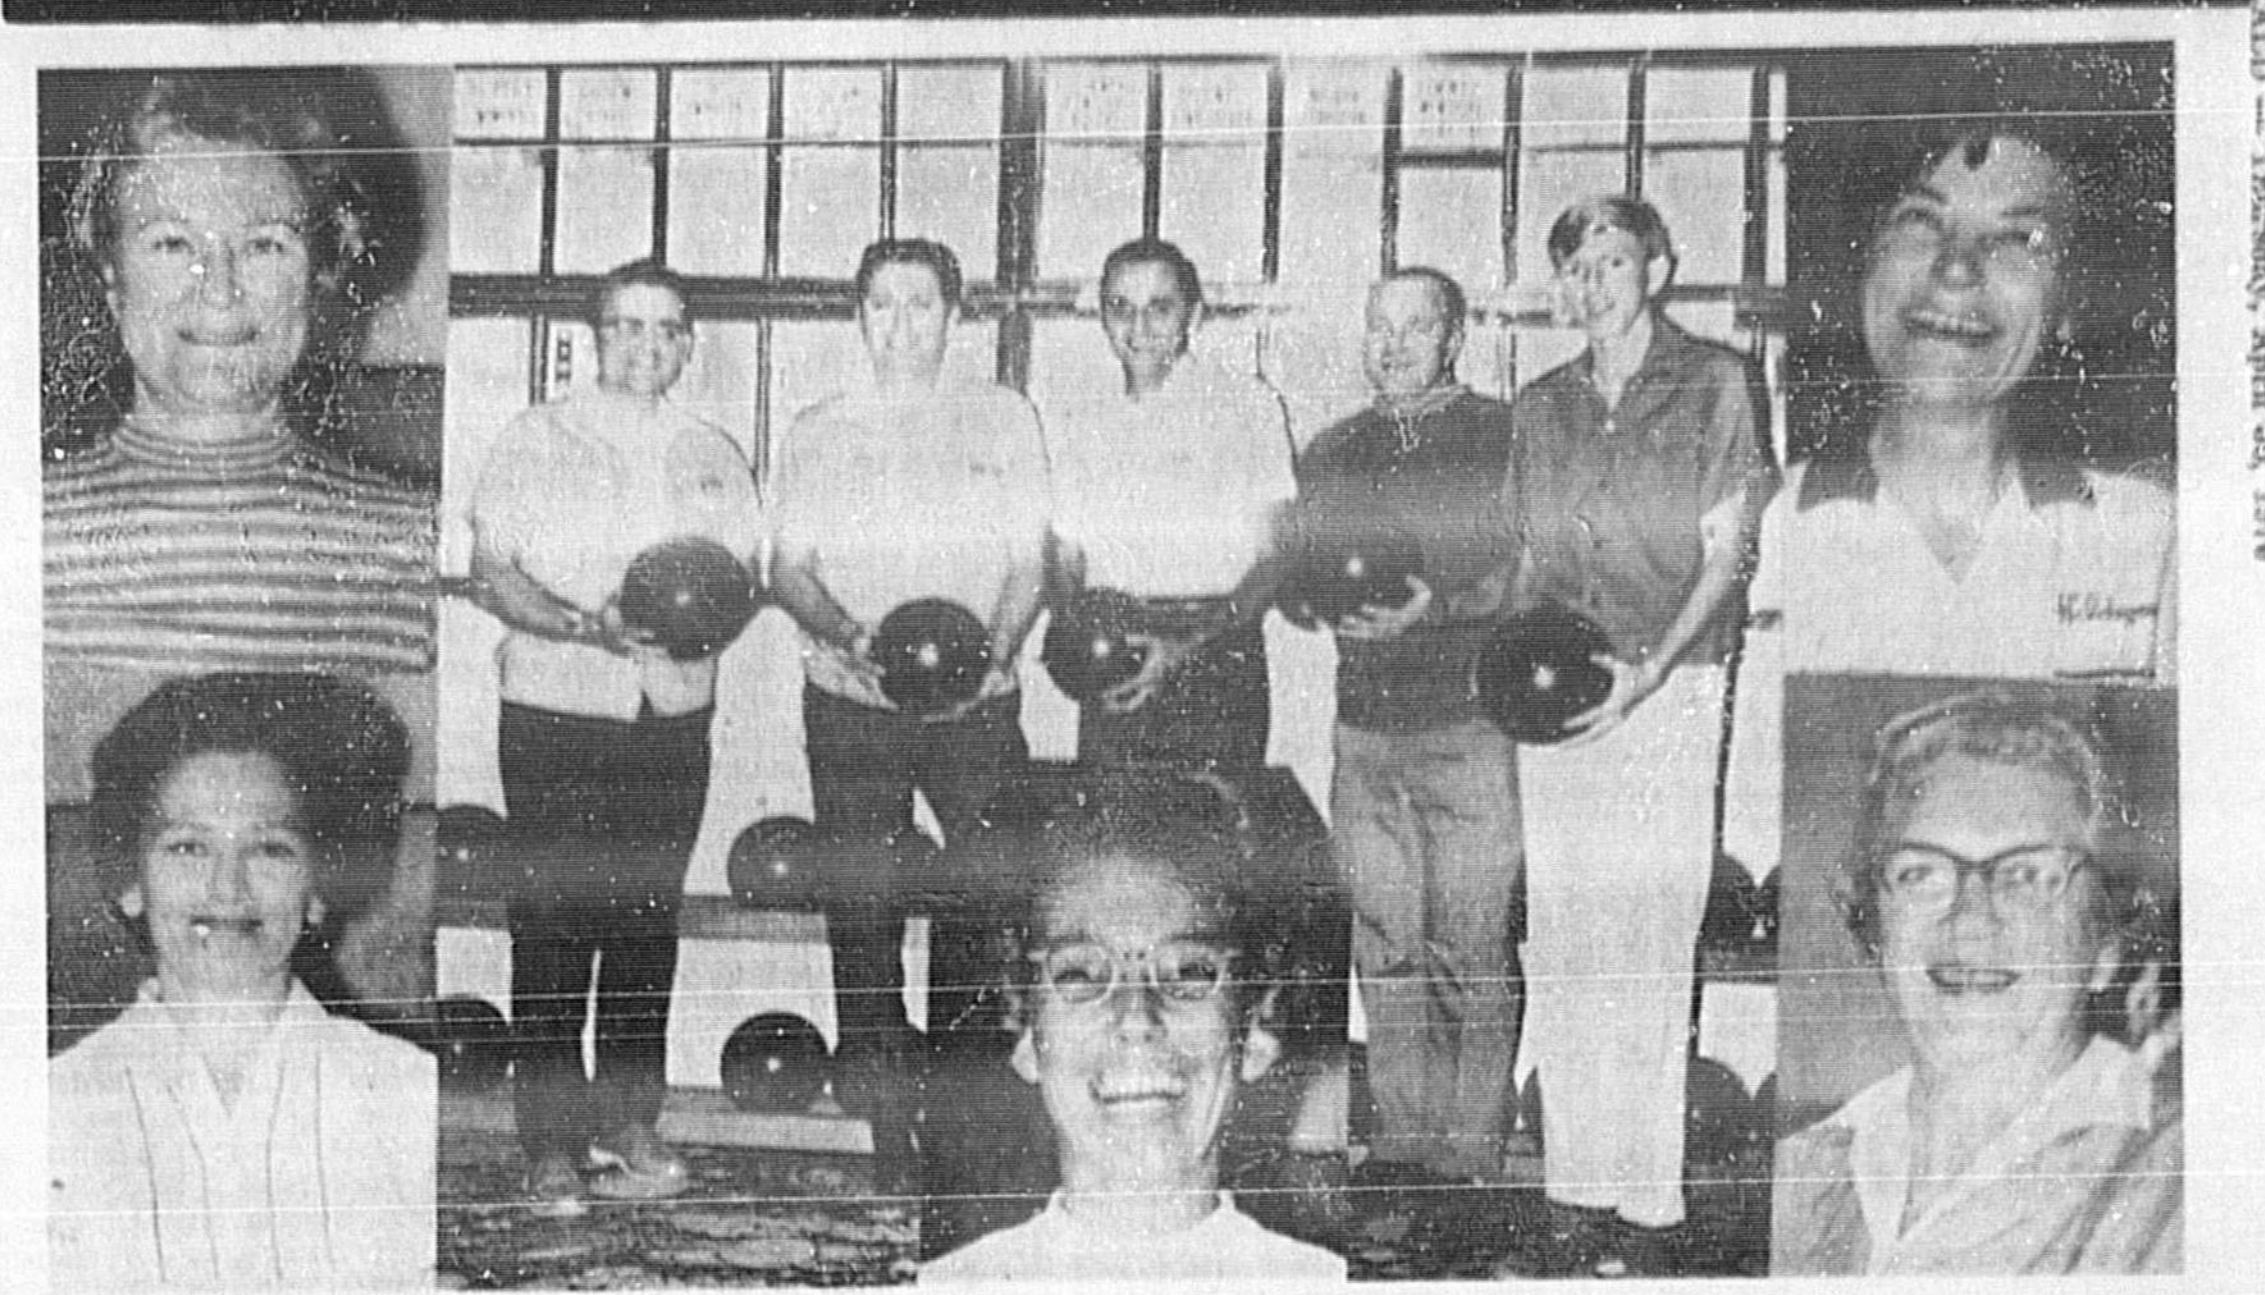

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. — The 100-man staff at Delray Training Center remained totally optimistic today that Corn Off The Cob would be the leader in the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, May 2, despite the handsome colt's runner up finish in the recent Bluegrass Stakes at Lexington, Kentucky.

"It's the big one — the Derby — that counts and he's ready," Albert Winick, brother-partner of Corn Off The Cob's trainer Arnold Winick said. Corn Off The Cob, a favorite in the pre-derby contest, ran a close second in the Bluegrass Stakes, losing to 20-1 shot Dutch Commander in a stretch drive.

He's placed before — and he's come back strong — said Albert Winick, who has watched his brother raise and train the 3-year-old at their modern Delray beach training center.

After finishing as runner up in both the Flamingo and Florida Derby at Florida's tracks, Corn Off The Cob went on to capture the Fountain of Youth Handicap at Gulfstream Park, Wausley, Fla. on Ponce de Leon Beach, Florida, one of Delray's veteran barn managers said. "I've watched him race," Albert Winick said. "I've seen him grow into a handsome weanling and yearling, and I've seen the way he's handled himself on our training course. He'll be back to win the Derby."

Dominican Dandy Streaks Braves Batter Birds

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer

Rico Carty claims he is not a streak hitter but National League pitchers haven't stopped him. In six years in the majors says "I'm a lucky hitter. Sometimes it's better to be lucky than good."

But teammate Clete Boyer disagrees with the Dominican Republic slugger, who was sidelined in 1968 with a bout of tuberculosis. Braves exploded four more times in a 10-6 victory over the Cards Wednesday night, also extended his hitting streak to 19 games.

"I'm not a streak hitter," the 29-year-old Braves' left fielder said. "I don't know what kind of hitter I am."

Cards reliever Chuck Taylor found out in the ninth when Carty drilled a double to right field. Carty's streak is the longest since Richie Allen's of 6-6 before Felix Millan's bounce set across the lead run.

Before the inning was over, Nelson Briles had wild pitched another run and winning reliever Bob Priddy drove in the last pair with a single.

In other National League contests, Chicago belted Pittsburgh 10-5, Cincinnati downed Houston 10-5. Los Angeles stopped Philadelphia 6-1, Montreal routed San Diego 10-0 and San Francisco edged New York 6-0.

In the American League, Detroit whipped Kansas City 8-2, Minnesota blanked Cleveland 1-0. Baltimore bombed Chicago 10-6. Washington stopped Milwaukee 4-0. California nipped New York 3-2 and Boston stopped Oakland 5-3.

Judge Blackmun Appears To Have Nod

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-hour hearing devoid of any opposition has cleared the way for prompt Senate Judiciary Committee approval of Judge Harry A. Blackmun's nomination to the Supreme Court.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., called today's meeting in hopes of taking a vote but noted any member had the right to invoke a rule delaying action for a week.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said prior to the meeting he was inclined "to go a little more slowly" but hadn't decided whether to force a postponement.

At Wednesday's hearing, Bayh told Blackmun the fact that a man of your caliber and excellence is before us now provides some solace for past wounds and confrontations.

"Perhaps these old battles have been worthwhile," said Bayh, a leader in Senate rejection of President Nixon's earlier nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth of Greenville, S.C. and Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

The committee's favorable attitude to Blackmun cut across party lines and political philosophies.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., predicted prompt confirmation of Blackmun and added "it appears you are a man of high ethical standards, as was Judge Haynsworth, and of competence, as was Judge Carswell."

Thurmond, blaming rejection of the two Southern judges on opposition by labor and civil rights groups, said he did not believe they would have the gall to engage in another round of "defamation" against Blackmun, who lives in Rochester, Minn.

But he told the committee he believes his record reflects a sensitivity to labor, civil rights and the problems of "the little people."

Blackmun, described by Nixon as a strict constructionist nominated to give more balance to the court, assured senators he would do his best to keep his personal ideas and philosophy from influencing his decisions.

The judge said he would leave to others an interpretation of his legal record.

As expected, no one appeared to testify against the 61-year-old Blackmun, a judge on the 10th U.S. Court of Appeals since 1959. He drew support from both the Democratic and Republican members of the Minnesota congressional delegation.

Food Price Decline Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department today reported tentative figures showing the first decline in wholesale prices of food and a broad range of industrial raw materials in nearly two years.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the Wholesale Price Index declined one-tenth of one per cent this month as the preliminary calculation and that "it later confirmed by more complete figures, the decrease would be the first since August 1967."

The reported decline brought the index down to 116.5 per cent of its 1957-59 base. The figure means it cost $13.50 in April on the average for wholesale commodities worth $100 in 1957-59.

However, the decline was based entirely on a sharp drop in wholesale prices for farm products, processed foods and foods, which can fluctuate sharply from time to time.

Industrial commodities, including metals, rubber, lumber, textiles and many other raw materials, rose an average of three-tenths of one per cent, the bureau said.

Farm products declined 2.4 per cent while processed foods and feeds dropped two-tenths, the report said.

"Price declines for beef, cattle and eggs caused most of the drop in the farm products index," the report added. "Prices were higher for a wide selection of chemicals, and machinery and equipment edged up."

The Wholesale Price Index is considered by economists at least a partial indication of movements later in retail prices and living costs, which have been rising at an annual rate of more than 6 per cent for more than a year, the sharpest rise in 20 years.

Prices for fresh and dried vegetables and live poultry also moved down significantly, the bureau said.

"Widespread price advances among fuels and related goods and power were the leading influence on the industrial index, affecting bituminous coal, gasoline, coke, natural gas and electric power," it said.

"Metals and metal products moved up at a somewhat slower rate," the report added. "Prices were higher for a wide selection of chemicals, and machinery and equipment edged up."

Scouts, Leaders Enjoy Campout

By MARION BETHEA

What would possess a group of mostly middle-aged women to leave the comfort of air conditioned homes, push button ranges and automatic dishwashers to go "primitive" at a Girl Scout campout in the woods, sans running water, electricity, showers and rest rooms? Is it the "call of the wild" — the lure of a "Mid-Summer's Night Dream" — or is it merely an aperture in the cranial sum — not really — in these days of asphalt jungles and pollution it's the desire to show the youngsters the great outdoors with all its resultant pleasures.

Four junior troops: 20, 21B, 144 and 204 as well as Cadette Troop's 776 and 562 made the week-end safari. Approximately 60 girls attended accompanied by leaders Mrs. Bernice Dreyer, Mrs. Dorothy Bellah, Mrs. Elaine Kottliva, Mrs. Marion Bethea and Miss Judy Robb. Assistants were Misses Virginia Cook, Camilla Meyers, Patricia Quigley, Ruth Lee, Virginia Collins and several others.

Thursday was spent setting up the complete at the Sanford Scout Camp at Silver Lake. Everything secured, the girls partook of a "nosebag" supper and after some giggling, chomping and sipping the scouts settled down for the night.

"Friday at the 'crack of dawn' it seemed to the weary leaders campfires were started and breakfast prepared by the novice cooks. Swimming, Sidelwalk sales being sponsored in Downtown Sanford tomorrow, the day with intermission to the dismay of the girls for lunch and dinner. The traditional committee afforded much mirth with skits and songs. Sharon Jennings accompanied the group on the guitar and led group singing.

Saturday was spent just as in adult households cooking, cleaning up and breaking camp. Satisfied girls, dirty with charcoal soot, bedraggled and tired prepared to leave — leaders, boards, and "art" artifacts from sleeping on the ground also prepared to leave tearfully.

S. Viet Task Forces Pushes 24 Miles Into Cambodia

By GEORGE ESSEY
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese armored task force pushed 24 miles into Cambodia today, occupied one town from which the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese drove the Cambodians an army earlier this month, and at dusk was rolling into another.

Field reports said South Vietnamese casualties so far were 22 killed and 148 wounded, including 35 wounded, their commander said, when U.S. helicopter gunships fired by mistake on a battalion of government troops.

Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett reported from Chieng that the task force moved into Prasat, expected to link up Friday morning with Cambodian troops operating out of Svay Rieng, the provincial capital. But Cambodian government spokesman in Phnom Penh said the Americans and the South Vietnamese had not informed his government of the invasion, and Cambodian forces were taking no part in the operation.

He held a questioner that since Cambodia is a neutral country, the Phnom Penh government "does not approve this type of intervention by foreign forces."

'Hat Trick' Eyed

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economic signs remain mixed — some down — but the Nixon administration is mounting a strong campaign to convince the nation it can "pull off" the hat trick of economic history — restore stability without a recession.

A strong stock market rally and the first drop in the Wholesale Price Index in 18 months gave economic planners some grounds for joy Wednesday. The Dow Jones industrial average gained 13.96 points in recovering from its lowest point in six years.

But on the other side, New York economist Pierre Riviere, a former Nixon campaign adviser, sees an escalation of the war in Southeast Asia would mean worsened inflation and "the end of the American economy as we have known it."

And two little-known indicators gave a further clue to the nation's troubled business conditions — a rise in factory layoffs and a drop in help-wanted newspaper ads.

Riviere's view was challenged by Treasury Undersecretary Charles E. Walker, who asserted at a seminar both attended: "I believe this administration is about to pull off the hat trick of economic history — restoring price stability after four years of inflation, without an old-fashioned recession or an unacceptable level of unemployment."

Funds Continue To Climb

Groundbreaking for the Good Samaritan Home has been set for late May, reports Robert E. Daehn, chairman of a drive to raise funds for the new home. The $100,000 concrete block, flat roof structure of the 10,000 square foot facility will be erected now with the $30,000 that has been raised so far.

It is hoped that once the shell is erected other gifts will enable the construction to proceed rapidly.

Plans for the home, drawn by architect Arthur W. White, have been approved by the state Board of Health, and should be returned soon. Revisions, if any, should be minor, said White.

The fund drive has been proceeding smoothly, under the guidance of a steering committee composed of many of the community leaders. Last week an anonymous gift of $2,000 was deposited to the fund at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association in Sanford.

A. K. Shoemaker, the contractor for the building, said that he will explore the use of all types of volunteer help to cut the costs of construction. Various businesses have already promised to supply materials at cut rates for the home.

Also, the possibility of help from the Army Corps of Engineers in Orlando will be explored.

"The Mahala Jackson of Japan," Kazuko Finisou will present a gospel singing program at the St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church on May 1.

Mrs. Jackson told the committee that the Mental Health Association came about through state recommendations and that the association's board was in the best position to receive state funding since they had followed state guidelines.

Alexander replied that he had no objection to the clinic operation by the Mental Health Association if they could work out a contractual arrangement with the state for funding, but that if county funds were involved the clinic should be run by the county with an advisory committee from the association.

Commissioner Edward Yarborough opposed any undertaking at the beginning of the budget year in October, and Commissioner Dan Pellam favored possibly a commitment of half of the funding being six months in the current budget year. Pellam also asked Daehn if the association would be an advisory group to the county.

Daehn replied that the association had its own board, but that some felt the clinic was the prime important factor, and that how it was gotten was immaterial. "Others felt they had worked so hard they wanted a share in it."

It was learned this morning that the board of directors of the association plan to meet at 1 p.m. tomorrow to discuss the matter and reach a decision as to whether to proceed alone, or accept county financing, letting the county run the facility and acting in an advisory capacity.

alone" and needed help. Alexander agreed that the "time had come to establish a clinic in Sanford." He continued that during the '70s, larger facilities would be needed and the county must be totally involved. Alexander went on to say that the county could not support funding the association for the facility but should make application and proceed with the state to establish funding.

Daehn rebutted that if the county wanted to operate the clinic in its entirety he must go back to the Mental Health board to so advise them. Daehn said that the board had "worked hard for two years and wanted to run it." Daehn also stated that the non-profit organization had two points in its favor of being ready to open on July 1 and having the spirit and co-operation of the public. Daehn mentioned that only one clinic in the state is run by the county, all others are by the associations.

Commissioner Greg Drummond favored county involvement, such as in the Food Stamp program, and said that the county should be closely involved as to proceedings.

Alexander said that the clinic would eventually have to expand, and that if county funds were appropriated a responsibility to the taxpayers existed in the distribution of money, and that the county should establish the clinic as a government service to the people.

Mrs. Jackson told the committee that the Mental Health Association came about through state recommendations and that the association's board was in the best position to receive state funding since they had followed state guidelines.

Langford To Speak

Orlando Mayor Carl Langford has been invited to speak to the City of Sanford Charter Revision Committee, now that the committee has been meeting to update and revise the present city charter.

Mayor Langford is expected to speak on the benefits of a mayor type government as opposed to the city manager form. A member of the Florida City Managers Association is also expected to be invited at the May 15 meeting to speak on the city manager type government.

This was decided at the second meeting of the charter group held Tuesday at the city.

The committee has indicated approval for retaining the present city manager-commission type government in use, and agreed to meet every other Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Charter Revision Committee members are: Bert Hollingsworth, chairman, and George D. Bishop Jr., Jean Baker, George Touhy, Dr. Jan E. Darity, H. C. Conklin, J. E. Kestritz, Eoghan N. Kelley, W. E. Kirchoff Jr., John Kridler, John W. Williams and Garrett White.

Members were chosen by the city commission with each commissioner selecting two members to the board.

Drug Scene Bad, Ex-Addict Says

By CHARNER LEONE

"The drug scene here is really bad for a town this size," claims Rick Hansen, a 23-year-old former drug addict and convert from the hippie life. He referred to the discussions he has had with young teens at junior high schools.

Hansen is now an evangelist for the Church of God. This is part of a nationwide tour he is taking to help "turn kids off drugs."

His first tour of the nation, Hansen admits, was a bit different — he was pushing the stuff then.

In Seminole County for a week, Hansen has been visiting the junior high and high schools in the area. He tells the teenagers of his experiences as a drug addict and of the trauma of breaking the "endless trip to nowhere."

"I discovered a better way," said the earnest, mid-attitude young man. He discovered God. Hansen's story is a chilling one of a young man from an unhappy home in a small city in Ohio.

"I started on drugs as a senior in high school in Xenia, Ohio," relates Hansen. He left home then, and migrated to the hip scene in New Orleans. There he operated a community house, or a "crash pad" in hippie lingo.

About 16 youths lived with Hansen. "I turned them on to drugs." The immoral activities ranged from such an establishment as real, he testifies.

But it was in Houston, Texas, that Hansen really hit the big time. There he met a boy who headed the drug ring at the University of Oklahoma. From him Hansen learned the intricacies of pushing dope and how to use drugs more extensively.

"I learned how to maintain the stuff" (inject it directly into the vein), he said. "When he was sleeping one night and heard a voice. 'Rick, go to church,' it said. I didn't dig it wasn't long before the new

Evangelist Converted From Hippie

God or the Jesus Christ scene. As far as I was concerned it was a bad trip."

But he did go to church the following week. "It was really a summer." But he also went to a church buffet dinner after the service. "I went for a free meal."

The speaker that night was a member of the same faith. "He looked like a 50-year-old hippie to me." The Amish wear the full beard and long hair as a sign of their faith.

"He turned me on. He showed me that being with God is where it's at." He said sincerely "I went forward that night and accepted Christ into my life."

I felt a release — as if I had walked from a hot day into an air conditioned room," he continued. "When I got up I had no shakes or other symptoms of withdrawal. God had taken the drugs from me."

He's been off drugs for a year and eight months now. About a year ago he became an evangelist, feeling that God had helped him and he should do his share to help others. He married an attractive girl he met in church, Linda.

Hansen is speaking at the Church of God, 22nd Street and Holly Avenue, at 7:30 each night. On Sunday night he will speak at 7 p.m. On Saturday night after the meeting he will join the young people of the town for a "zap" session at the city building on the corner of 22nd Street and French.

Women Voters To Meet

The 50th Anniversary Convention of the League of Women Voters will be held May 4-8 at the Sheraton Park Hotel in Washington, D. C.

The largest convention in League history and the first to be held in the nation's capital.

Among those attending from Seminole County will be Mrs. John Bowers, President of the local League.

Highlights of the convention will be:

- A series of briefings by congressmen, cabinet members and government executives on issues of special interest to the League, including: Labor Secretary George Shultz and OEO Director Donald Rumsfeld on "Alternatives to Welfare"; Presidential advisors Robert Cahn, David Dominick and Edward Turk on "The Environment"; Undersecretary of State Elliott Richardson and Carl Gilbert, White House Special Negotiator on "Foreign Economic Policy"; Senators Birch Bayh (D., Ind.), Marlow Cook (R., Ky.) and Quentin Burdick (D., N.D.) on "Presidential Electoral Reform"; Senators Joseph Tydings (D., Md.) and Charles Goodell (R., N.Y.) on "Washington, D.C. Self-Government"; Congressman Henry Reuss (D., Wis.) and Al Ullman (D., Ore.) and Budget Bureau officials on "Implications of Revenue Sharing."

A pre-convention session at the United Nations in New York Sunday, May 3, where delegates will hear Secretary General U. Thant, Britain's UN Ambassador Lord Caradon and others.

A rally on Capitol Hill Wednesday, May 6, where the 1700 delegates will present petitions to their senators asking for congressional representation for the District of Columbia. Mrs. Bowers will deliver petitions bearing over 300 signatures from Seminole County. This will be the culmination of a national League drive asking for a congressional voice for citizens of the nation's capital.

NORTH ORLANDO — A presentation upon FUD (planned unit development) was made at a special meeting of North Orlando Village Council by Florida Land Company; Florida Gas Company and Schweizer Associates.

Representatives of the council included to the council the characteristics of the new concept in housing, FUD would utilize smaller lot sizes and the home sites would be placed in a cluster. The representatives stated that the development was not to be termed modular homes, but termed a contemporary building system. Several photos were displayed illustrating the ultra modern concept in housing.

Cost of the homes was stated as being between $15,500 and $18,000. Financing will be available under FHA; VA; and conventional loans. The units will be 12 feet wide and various lengths, up to 42 feet long. The homes will be placed upon conventional foundations.

The representatives told council that provisions for the homes must be added to the present zoning ordinance by village, as no classification for this type of development presently exists.

Florida Gas has reached an agreement in principle with GAC properties to purchase the GAC holdings in North Orlando at a cost of $1.5 million. Since the option must be exercised within a few weeks, the firm wished to ascertain council's feelings on the contemporary homes.

In other business, council gave its approval for the purchase of a 1970 police car, and a resolution of this intent was prepared for the bank. Councilmen Richard Allen and Wayne Miller voted against the purchase, although they had initially approved the matter at a recent council meeting. Both commented that the time they had just taken their seats on the council, and being new to the job, had been "misinformed" in their decision before they had an opportunity to contemplate. Both said that they felt the village should have received competitive bids before authorizing the purchase, and wondered to whether a state law had been violated in this respect. Village Attorney Thomas Freeman advised that there was no violation of the law.

History Of Theater Presented To Clubwomen

By MARYANN MILES

A little of the history of the Annie Russell Theater at Rollins College was presented by Dr. Robert Juergens, director of the college Theater Department.

As he spoke to the members and guest of the Seminole Spokes of Welcome Wagon, at their luncheon meeting held at the Brussels Inn, Fern Park, Dr. Juergens stated that the theater was donated by Mrs. Edmund Bok who later became Mrs. Eileen Zimbalist, Sr., and has since died.

She donated the Theater to Miss Annie Russell, who was in semi-retirement when she received the theater but many of her professional friends from New York came and performed.

Although this is not a professional school, Dr. Juergens stated Buddy Ebsen is one of the school graduates. He invited the Welcome Wagon members and friends to come to the plays.

The guests, introduced by club president, Mrs. Nancy Brewer included Phyllis Grindie, Irene Moranville, Carol Hyde, Emma Wilcox, Evelyn Sprague, Charlotte Oving, Beulah Pallette, Elsie Porter, Cathy Gallager and Diane Millard.

Twenty-two of the members are learning the art of golf at the Land O' Lakes Country Club. Jean Wellman is chairman of golf instruction.

The members were invited to take drawing, painting and sculpturing by Mrs. Edward Stevenson, with her husband as instructor. Mr. Stevenson is a well known artist and recently moved to Altamonte Springs.

Jan Moberg, chairman of bowling, stated the members who would like to be on a bowling league, next fall, are invited to have free lessons at the Medallion lanes.

The tennis group members, headed by Pat Westfall, are playing at the Matland Tennis Club.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Don Ellis, Bear Lake, May 27.

DR. ROBERT JUERGENS, Director of the Theater Department of Rollins College, was guest speaker of the Seminole Spokes of Welcome Wagon meeting. Shown with Dr. Juergens are Mrs. Nancy Brewer, left, club president, and Mrs. Millie Perkins, vice president and program chairman. (Maryann Miles Photo)

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Is there no way a mother can tell a son is married? I have a 17-year-old son who is the world's worst housekeeper.

She is a perfectly wonderful young woman, but her house and children look like the wrath of God!

She came from a clean home and was taught how to do things, but for some reason she never quite "gets around" to doing them.

The iron and the needle and thread are complete strangers to her. She does her laundry only when she runs out of clean clothes.

Fortunately, her husband is a very patient man, but I'm afraid one of these days he will become disgusted and refuse to come home to such a disorganized mess.

Now, how do I tell this to my daughter who has never spoken a harsh word to me? She is sweet and kind. I hate to hurt her.

Perhaps she will read this and I won't have to.

DEAR MOTHER: And what if she DOESN'T read this? Don't wait for her husband to lose patience and "refuse to come home." It may be too late then. Don't rule out the possibility that your daughter may have a physical problem. A throat check may be in order. Have a mother-daughter talk and tell her what you've told me. It could be a kindness.

DEAR ABBY: That letter in your column signed "ODDBALL" could have been written by me, only he was a man, and I'm a woman. ODDBALL wrote that both his parents were dead and he hadn't been to the cemetery to visit their graves because it "tore him apart" to go out there. He further said he'd been a good son to them—he'd written a guide to the cemetery to visit their graves because it "tore him apart" to go out there. THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1970
7:30-8:00 ABC — A 1st World (Season Premiere) — Animal World begins its third season with host Bill Burrud looking as much at home with the variety of wildlife shown, as he might be with his own youngsters. Since leaving a writing career and a period as the nation's first professional world traveler, Burrud has become a symbol of the animal lover similar to Ivan Tors and Martin Perkins, and like these well-known naturalists, has taken on the mantle of the animal ecologist and conservationist. That is the basis of tonight's debut, with the declining numbers of the popular "red ape," the orangutan of Borneo, the subject for the first episode in a two-part study. The Burrud report shows the efforts to recapture young apes (they bring the highest prices) from poachers, and how the motherless youngsters must be taught jungle life before being returned to their natural habitat. While the supporting cast includes Wayne's "Ya Got Trouble" and Don DeLise both as the world's greatest pianist, Dominick the Great, and a duet with Goldie as "I'll Never Fall in Love Again."

Loyalty Day Set Friday

Commander John C. Harrington of VFW Post 1000 of Casanberry has announced a Loyalty Day Program will be held at 4 p.m. on Friday, May 1, at the Veterans Memorial Park in Casanberry on the corner of Lake Tripel and Sunset Drives. The invocation will be given by Rev. Seamus.

The principal speaker will be Mayor Curtis Hov, Commander Harrington and M. St. Bennett, a recently returned veteran of Vietnam.

It is requested that everyone make every effort to attend this ceremony as it is of the utmost importance that we reaffirm our loyalty to the greatest country on earth," said Cdr. Harrington.

Jacoby On Bridge

Jacoby and Son

In these modern days we have all sorts of descriptive terms. There is the fitness, the double fitness, the super fitness and probably the super-duper fitness.

Actually they are all the same play. The effort to make a low card do the work of a higher one.

We guess that the fitness of the nine of hearts might be called a super fitness or maybe a king-sized essence fitness. (Oh) it may mean you like and it will be a normal winning play.

South won the diamond opening with the ace and proceeded to draw trumps with three leads. Can he played king and another diamond to hopes of establishing his last diamond for a discard of dummy's nine of hearts.

dummy and played a club. East held the trick and led a second club which South ruffed.

South had postponed playing hearts as long as possible but it was now or never. He led the heart and played dummy's nine after West played low. East had to win with the king and South claimed the rest of the tricks.

South hadn't really expected that nine spot to do such good work but he had nothing to lose by playing it. If it lost to the jack or 10 as was quite likely South would simply have ruffed the club return and then tried the simple quest of hearts finesse. All the nine play had done was to give South the extra chance to make the contract.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. Crane

CASE N-51: Nancy G., aged two, has frightened her young mother.

"Oh, Dr. Crane," Nancy's doting mamma began, "I wonder if Nancy is subnormal?"

"For I have noticed that when I place her in her bed at night, she often slips her hand down under the covers to play with herself!"

"Isn't that awful?"

"Could it be some inherited defect?"

"And will it lead to insanity later, year? I am afraid almost to death!"

What seems to me a frightened young mother is what we technically describe as auto-eroticism.

That means self-stimulation of the sensitive sexual areas of the body.

It is also called masturbation.

And it is no reflection on a child's intelligence nor is it a sign of hereditary defects.

Furthermore, it is not a producer of insanity!

Indeed, a majority of both sexes indulge in some greater or less degree in childhood, or even till happy marriage precludes the need.

This is merely an unwise habit that usually starts by accident.

For most mothers place their babies on the stool, waiting for a bowel movement after the morning feeding.

But sometimes the baby is slow in this regard, so it grows restless.

Such enforced idleness makes the child wave its hands and arms around, just to drain off excess energy.

If there are no hand gadgets nearby to serve to toy with, the child will use its hands and feet. And when bedtime arrives, tucked in your youngster with its hands outside the covers!

But be sure to give those hands something to fondle or cuddle, as a woolly lamb or a cloth puppy or a doll, etc.

Not only does one of these toys divert its attention and keep its hands outside the covers, but the child will relax faster and then fall asleep.

For kiddies tend to regard their toy puppy or doll or woolly lamb as if it were a human companion.

Such a toy thus reassures the youngster, much as would a living brother or sister, who might occupy an adjacent bed in the same room.

Children often feel fearful about being shut away from their parents at bedtime, so they will cry and ask for many drinks of water or trips to the bathroom.

And they may demand that the light be left on.

A toy befriend often eliminates much of this weep-weep "stalling," for it lets the toddler feel safer to have a companion to whom it may talk.

Don't make an issue of auto-eroticism or threaten the child with dire divine punishments, such as insanity or feebleness.

Just re-channel the child's hands into more constructive outlets.

Send for my booklet "Sex Instruction from Two to 10 Years & Test for Teen-Agers," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover printing and postage.)

strike an erogenous zone and thus obtain a novel sensation.

Ultimately, this stimulation of its sex zone may become a habit, partly as a means of having something to do with its idle hands.

To your parents can help insure your child against auto-eroticism by making sure that its hand gadgets to divert its attention while it is on the toilet seat.

Polly's Pointers

By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY: Susan wanted to know how to remove carbon paper marks from a cotton dress. I work with carbon paper and find that alcohol will remove such marks and also ball-point pen marks from clothing and linens. I wet a dry cloth with the alcohol and dry with away.—PEG

DEAR POLLY: Recently I wished to remove part of an amethyst decanter that I had traced on a colored cotton apron with office carbon paper. I laid the apron on a folded terry towel and used a wet washcloth, which I had rubbed on a cake of toilet soap. I rubbed until the marks disappeared, rinsed with a cloth wrung out in clear water and rinsed it dry. Not even a ring was left.—MRS. B. T.

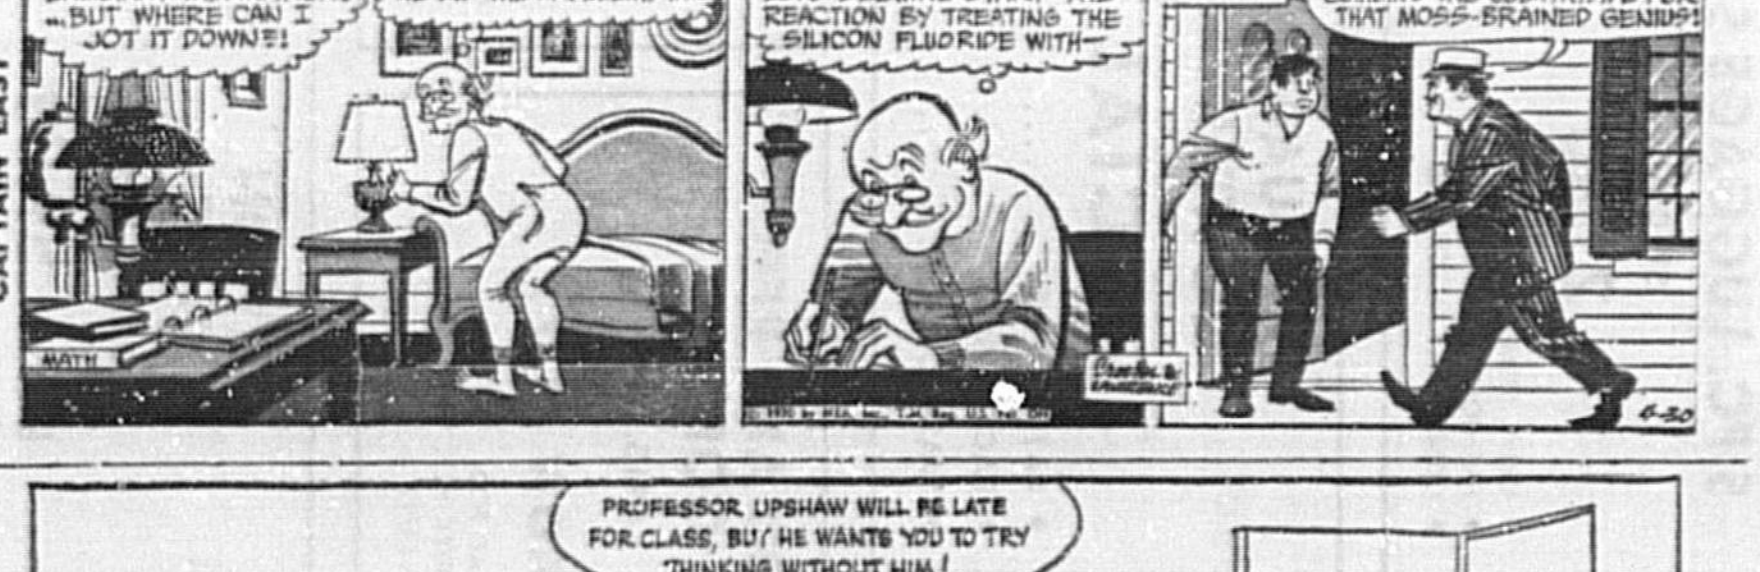

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY:—When the automatic windshield wiper on my car quit working, I improvised one. People laugh at it, but it still works!

I carry a plastic liquid soap dispenser bottle with a Ziploc or push-pull lid, filled with water. When the windshield gets dirty while I am driving (especially after a passing car splashes mud and slush on it), I step and calmly roll down the window on the driver's side, flip up the bottle top, reach out the window and point it toward the windshield. While the wipers are in motion, I give the bottle a gentle squeeze and immediately have a clean windshield. I do not even have to get out of the car. Often I do this while waiting for a red light to change. No more worries about how soon I will get to a gas station to have my car cleaned. Often I see people driving with such dirty windshields that I wonder how they can see where they are going. When the car windshield gets dirty, especially in winter, I send for my booklet "Sex Instruction from Two to 10 Years & Test for Teen-Agers," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover printing and postage.)

Youth Arrested In Bomb Threat

One of four juveniles has been arrested and a search is under way for three others all involved in making a telephoned bomb threat today to Seminole High School.

Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler said today that Detective William Lykens, acting on investigative information, had arrested one of the four youths, in the 14 and 15-year age group, but the other three ran when they spotted the detective.

The four, all students at Seminole High School, had been making telephoned bomb threats to the high school today and the threats were reported to police.

Additional 'phoned threats also have been made to Lakeview Junior High in the past two days, according to police records, and also are being investigated.

The state law does not permit the release of names of juveniles arrested under 17 years of age.

In another report, Lykens arrested four other juveniles at Crooms High School after the quartet allegedly broke into the facility. They have been released to county juvenile authorities.

In a final report, a Sanford mother informed police of an attempted molestation of her 16-year-old daughter yesterday by a man driving a dark-colored car.

The girl was approached at the intersection of First Street and Palmetto Avenue yesterday afternoon but the girl ran and phoned her mother, who called police.

U. S. Delivers Ultimatum School Chief Pictures Chaos

By BILL SCOTT

"I don't think the School Board has any choice now. If we don't file an acceptable plan by September we will have chaos when the schools open for the 1970-71 term."

These were the words of John Evans, chairman of the Seminole County School Board, this morning when asked to comment on yesterday's meeting at Jacksonville between county school officials and Frank Dumbaugh, assistant attorney general for civil rights with the U.S. Justice Department.

Evans, accompanied by Supt. John Angel and Andrew Brackes, administrative aide, attended the two-hour session with Dumbaugh and Robert Smith, assistant to the director of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) for civil rights, and representatives of Seminole County in the school desegregation discussions with 20 Florida counties, all involved in HEW legal disputes over their freedom of choice school plans.

Evans said Dumbaugh emphasized, "This time is now and you will integrate! If you don't have an acceptable plan by September, we'll submit a plan and you'll be treated like Manatee County."

Evans reported the official indicated the federal government would close Seminole's schools by Sept. 1, unless an acceptable plan has been submitted to the HEW.

The chairman said he told Dumbaugh, "We have, in the opinion of our school attorney, a completely desegregated school system now."

Dumbaugh disagreed with Evans and pointed out that attendance zones had to be drawn around schools and the 7 rings of one predominantly black school with a predominantly white school should be used to achieve a racial balance.

Rental Trailer Park On Agenda

By MILDRED HANEY

NORTH ORLANDO - The discussion of a proposed zoning change to allow a rental trailer park which was sent to the Planning and Zoning Board for its recommendations probably will be on the agenda for the meeting of Village Council Monday night.

Planning and zoning has recommended that the zoning ordinance be changed to allow construction of the rental trailer park, which will be located between Hays and Moss Roads bordering SR 44E. The entire tract encompasses 87 acres, and is presently zoned for privately owned trailers.

The board has also recommended a zoning change of 250 feet of the tract frontage for commercial use.

The matter had been presented to Planning and Zoning at an earlier date but a decision was delayed pending receipt of more information. The northern section of the property was recommended zoned as commercial and the balance as rental trailer sites. The property encompasses 300 lots 50 by 80 feet.

The park area will feature a bowling alley, a convenience store, laundromat, club house and swimming pool. Since George Creek runs through the park area, the developer plans to incorporate nature trails and bicycle paths.

The present plans provide that one acre should be designed for retirees and one for families. There will be two entrances to the park and the development will feature underground drainage, sewer and water service and paved streets. Lots will not be for sale but are on a rental basis.

Residents of the trailer park will be assured of privacy, since there will be a 25-foot planted buffer zone around the perimeter of the property. The park also will have its own fire protection.

At Deltona Shopping Plaza Loyalty Day Rites Tonight

By MILDRED HANEY

Loyalty Day ceremonies will be conducted by the three service organizations in Deltona, VFW, American Legion and DAV, at 6 p.m. today at the Deltona Shopping Plaza on the grounds of the bank. Rev. H. Wight Kirtley of Deltona, United Methodist Church, will be speaker for the program.

Music will be by the Deltona Junior High Band.

Plans for the Loyalty Day ceremonies as well as preliminary plans for Memorial Day Services were discussed during a meeting of American Legion Post 255 conducted by Commander Pat Watson at the Community Center.

Don Lavery, Chairman of the newly formed Veterans Council composed of representatives from the three organizations, announced that tentative plans were made at the April meeting of the Council for Memorial Day Services to be held on May 30 at 10 a.m. at Campbell Park. Pat McDonald, Deltona Post 255 Boy's State representative for this year, and also winner of a local Legion oratorical contest, will present the reading "In Flanders Field" while Nancy Daniel, Girl's State representative for the Legion Auxiliary will give "America's Answer."

Rev. George Owen of the United Church of Deltona will give the invocation, but the speaker has not yet been announced. Gold Star Mothers of Deltona will again be honored guests with transportation furnished for them. It was also announced that Deltona VFW Post will conduct VFW Memorial Services at the grave of one of its members at Deltona Memorial Gardens at 9 a.m. and requested anyone who could attend.

May 24 has been selected as the day that members of all three Veterans organizations will honor all veterans with "Veterans Memorial Day Service" by attending the Deltona United Methodist Church in a body.
