JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Federal and state agents smashed down on a moonshine gang whose operations ran from Central Georgia to Miami this weekend and arrested 20 persons.

Agents also confiscated 20 cars used to transport the illegal alcohol and said they expected to arrest another 20 or 30 persons connected with the gang in the near future.

Agents said the gang had "one of the largest statewide distribution systems ever uncovered by the State Beverage Department."

They said about 2,000 gallons of moonshine were imported into the state by the organization each week.

Agents said charges against the gang ranged from possession of illegal alcohol to grand larceny to illegal possession of narcotics.

R. H. Jones, a state beverage agent from Daytona Beach, exposed the operation after he had worked his way into the organization and risen to the number two man in the gang.

Jones, who described his four months of undercover work as "hair raising," said the main distilling operation was in the area of St. George, Ga.

Beverage agents withheld specific information on the operations of the gang pending further arrests.

POTASH

Originally, potash was obtained by leaching, or running water through the ashes of burned wood and boiling down the solution in large open kettles. The residue, a white solid, was called potash because it was made from ashes in pots.

Kennedy Advised Against Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Europe next week despite advice to the contrary. The President plans to be in West Germany and Berlin June 23-26, in Ireland June 29-30 and in Italy July 1-3.

Many misgivings about making the trip at this time have been expressed. But Kennedy, who entered office believing presidential diplomacy was to be avoided, is determined to make the trip for the very reasons given that he should not go.

Critics of the trip have pointed out that West Germany and Italy are changing governments, and a new Pope is being chosen in Rome, England is in the midst of a government scandal. Only in Ireland is the government stable.

In addition to troubles abroad, opponents of the trip say, new racial violence could break out anytime at home, requiring the President's presence.

White House sources say Kennedy is well aware of all this, but believes it would be disastrous to cancel the trip because of problems that have arisen in Europe since he scheduled the visit.

No Budget Balancing In Sight

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — State lawmakers have used up half the time allotted for an extended session, but they were no closer to balancing the budget today than when the regular session ended.

With the House and Senate apparently deadlocked on a plan to finance the $667 million general appropriations bill, there appears to be only two alternatives, and they will be considered today.

One proposal by Rep. J. J. Griffin would cut appropriations to about $278 million. If this bill is approved, however, it would chop many services, salary hikes and new funds that state agencies claim they must have.

The other alternative would be to adjourn the session until a special conference committee can unshar the tax dilemma.

It appears the Legislature isn't likely to push taxes high enough to raise the $170 million needed to finance spending. Rep. William O'Neill said all the taxes approved in the lower chamber so far still fall about $30 million short of spending.

House Speaker Mallory Horne, after seeing a $56 million proposal to increase auto license tags rejected last Friday, met with legislative leaders to discuss alternative proposals.

Horne said if the proposal to cut appropriations is defeated, he would push for a legislative recess until a House-Senate committee can arrive at an acceptable tax program. He said he has already discussed this proposal with Senate President William Curryway.

"I'd either like to see the House support an appropriations cut, or back off it. I sure don't want the Legislature to hand a bad check to the Cabinet Budget Commission to work out," he said.

Murder-Suicide

MIAMI (UPI) — What started as a Father's Day outing ended in the murder-suicide of 12-year-old Evelio Leon Jr.'s father and mother.

Leon went to ask his estranged wife for permission to take his son to the beach, but they became embroiled in an argument. Leon pulled a gun and shot his wife, then took his own life.

"Flippy the Gae" is becoming famous. So much so, there's a price on his head now. For the last couple of weeks The Herald's sports page has recounted that "Flippy" lives in a pool at Herb and Adah Sutton's Wekiva River Haven. And further, that "Flippy" has had a running game for two years with an Orlando fisherman. This fisherman is not interested in an other fish but "Flippy." And "Flippy" has won every round. Herb Sutton reports now that he had a 'phone call last night from Peter Kurch who has been reading about "Flippy" and has offered a $10 cash reward to the fisherman who lands the big gar.

That gasoline war down south of Seminole County has spread into the Fern Park, Longwood, Altamonte Springs and other Seminole southern points, which are classed by the petroleum distributors as in the Orlando area. L.T. CDR. CLIFF THOMPSON, of VAH-5, mans his A-5 Vigilante to become the first "Savage Son of Sanford" to fly the Mach II aircraft.

Squadron 5 To Fly Mach II

Heavy Attack Squadron Five, holder of the 1962 "E" for being the most outstanding heavy attack squadron in the Atlantic Fleet, has been selected to be the next Navy Squadron to fly the Mach II Vigilante.

Commanded by Vdr. L. H. Sette, a veteran Vigilante pilot, the Heavy Five "Savage Sons of Sanford" will begin transitioning to the Vigilante immediately.

At present there are several pilots and bombardier-navigators undergoing transitional training with Heavy Attack Three, Heavy Attack Wing One's training squadron.

Lt. Cdr. Cliff Thompson, Savage safety officer, became the first of his squadron to fly the Vigilante, and was followed closely by Lt. Cdr. Jim Olson. Maintenance personnel are attending various familiarization schools preparatory to converting to the Vigilante.

Heavy Attack Squadron Seven was the first group to convert to the Vigilante, on Jan. 25, 1962. This squadron now is on its second cruise with the Vigilante in the Mediterranean. Heavy Attack Squadron One converted to the Vigilante last June 22.

VAH 7, VAH 4, and VAH 3 all are assigned to the Sanford Naval Air Station.

$9,000 Lost As Truck, Train Hit

There was no personal injuries but damage was estimated at $9,000 in a train-truck collision at 10 a. m. today at the Highway 436 crossing east of Forest City, according to Trooper Bill Stringfield.

An ACL freight train with three engines pulling cars loaded with limestone was proceeding over the crossing, Stringfield reported, when a truck driven by Joseph T. Koon, Orlando, approached. The trooper said Koon, in attempting to avoid an accident, skidded the truck. A dragline on the truck broke its moorings and hit the third engine of the train, tearing the cab off the engine.

Koon was charged with failing to have his vehicle under control, Stringfield reported. Engineer John R. Weaver, Sanford in the engine cab, escaped injury.

Legislature Hopes It Can Quit Tonight

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Legislature, after whipping the controversial automobile tax increase to sudden passage, began today to tie up loose ends of its $170 million plus tax program in hopes of quitting late tonight or Wednesday.

Only major bills left for final action are the big sales tax broadening measure and a bill increasing the state tax on beer, wine and whiskey.

A joint conference committee went to work Monday night to reconcile differences in the sales tax bill, designed to raise from $13 million to $83 million over the biennium, depending on which provisions are ultimately adopted.

Both houses reconvene at 10 a. m.

Senate debate on the House-passed alcoholic beverage tax increase bill is expected to be heated.

The Senate Finance Committee has recommended that the Senate go along with the 15 per cent overall increase provided in the House bill rather than the 30 per cent raise voted by the Senate.

But to make up the difference in revenue, ranging from $21 million to $23 million, the Senate was asked to reduce by about 60 per cent the amount of tax reduction voted by both houses for manufacturers of whiskey made from citrus products.

Boat Owners Get Extension

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The cabinet today extended for one month until Aug. 1 the deadline for registration of boats in Florida.

Handolph Hodges, head of the state board of conservation, told the cabinet that a new law effecting boat registration has passed the legislature but hasn't even reached the governor's desk yet.

He said the one-month extension would give boaters some leeway in getting their craft registered on time.

Russian Pair Still Orbiting

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet cosmonaut Valery F. Bykovsky zoomed into his fifth day in orbit today, breaking all time and distance records for manned space flight.

The 28-year-old jet pilot, trailed by cosmonaut Valentina Tereshkova, topped the record of 94 hours 22 minutes set last August by cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev at 5:22 a. m. EST.

Informed observers said the Soviets apparently were going for new endurance records to study such factors as the effect of weightlessness on the human organism.

Valentine, the 28-year-old bachelor girl who became the first woman in space last Sunday, was well beyond the American space record of 22.9 orbits set last month by Maj. L. Gordon Cooper.

Clergy Reaction To Prayer Ruling Differs

United Press International America's clergy differed today in their reaction to the Supreme Court ruling banning compulsory Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer in schools.

Protestants and Jewish leaders were divided, while Roman Catholics generally urged support of the ruling.

In Los Angeles, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union said he would file suit to challenge the phrase "under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance as a violation of the First Amendment.

The National Council of Churches said the decision was a "reminder . . . that teaching religion is the responsibility of the home and the community of faith, (church or synagogue), rather than public schools. Neither the church nor the state should use the public school or compel acceptance of any creed or conformity to any specific religious practice."

Evangelist Billy Graham, crusading in West Germany, said he was "shocked" at the Supreme Court decision.

"Prayers and Bible reading have been a part of American public school life since the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock," Graham said. "Now a Supreme Court in 1963 says our fathers were all wrong all these years. In my opinion, it is the Supreme Court that is wrong."

A Roman Catholic educator, the Rev. William J. Kenely, S. J., professor of law at Loyola University in Chicago, said "reading of the Bible, recitation of prayers and the conduct of religious exercises in public schools infringes on the free exercise of religion on the part of dissenting parents."

The president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, Albert G. Minda, Minneapolis, Minn., said, "We are gratified to learn of the decision. . . . We believe they will strengthen the voluntary religious life in America."

A Jewish theologian, Rabbi Seymour Siegel of Jewish Theological Seminary in New York, said "I number myself among those who believe that it is desirable within the dictates of the Constitution to find some way to ease the influence of religion felt within the schools of our nation."

In Indianapolis, Ind., Catholic, Protestant and Jewish religious leaders issued a joint statement urging support of the court's decision.

North Warmer; South Wetter

United Press International Heavy showers soaked the Southland today and summery air pushed northward into the Midwest.

The heaviest rainfall during the night occurred in the Southwest. More than two inches fell at Corpus Christi, Tex., Naval Air Station.

Earlier, more than four inches hit Laredo, Tex., and Morgan City, La., ran its 24 hour total to seven inches.

Showers dumped lesser amounts across the South from Texas to the Carolina coast. Rain also fell in North Dakota, Nevada, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania.

Fair skies will be the rule across most of the nation today, the Weather Bureau said, but isolated thundershowers will sweep the Southland, and Upper Great Lakes states and plains.

Cleveland Acts In Behalf Of County Groups

Formal request that the State consider locating one of two and possibly both proposed state universities in Seminole County has been forwarded by Sen. Mack N. Cleveland Jr. to Baysa M. Harrison Jr., chairman of the Board of Control at St. Petersburg.

Senator Cleveland's letter of request to Harrison reads: "Senate bills 123 and 407 authorizing the establishment of a state university or a branch of an existing state university and the establishment of the University of Florida engineering college, respectively, in East Central Florida are now law and I would like to express my sincere appreciation to you, members of the Board of Control and especially your most capable executive director, Dr. J. Broward Culpepper, for the active support and close co-operation in accomplishing the passage of these two bills."

In his request for consideration of Seminole County locations Cleveland said: "In behalf of the citizens of Seminole County, Board of County Commissioners, Sanford City Commission, Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the legislative delegation, please accept this letter as a formal request that Seminole County be considered as the site for both the new university or branch of an existing state university and the extension of the University of Florida engineering college and at the appropriate time we will submit to the Board of Control such information as may be required in connection with the board's study and deliberations relating to the selection of a site for these two facilities."

The Board of Control will meet Friday and will discuss these two schools but no decision will be made at that time.

Sen. Cleveland said today that Dr. Culpepper "does anticipate discussion but expects the board to proceed carefully so that everyone will get a chance and that any decision arrived at in the future would be based on the criteria furnished. He does anticipate quite a battle among all counties concerned before the site is determined."

Cleveland quoted Dr. Culpepper as saying that the board might possibly set up an advisory group or a planning board among the seven counties involved.

As to the final selection of the sites, Dr. Culpepper stated that after all presentations of sites had been submitted to his office, members of his staff would "weed out" those sites which were obviously inferior and that after narrowing the field down to three or four sites a majority of the Board of Control, acting as a site committee itself, would personally inspect the remainder and ultimately make the final decision.

Seminole County already has had a feasibility study made for locating a state school here, has had an engineer working with the firm making that study and, further, has had several offers of land for a school site. A brochure will be prepared outlining Seminole County's best points for having a school situated here.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce study committee, County Commission, City Commission and legislative delegation will meet Saturday to finalize plans for presenting Seminole's bid to the State.

Meantime, workmen were busy cleaning the site in preparation for construction.

Stork Shower Honors Mrs. Bob Jones

By Frances Wester
Mrs. Bob Jones was honored at a Stork Shower given in the annex of The First Baptist Church of Lake Mary, with Mrs. Carl Bryant and Mrs. C. W. Shelton as hostesses.

A pink and blue color scheme was carried out in the decorations. Streamers were hung from the ceiling to the table on which the gifts were displayed along with two baby dolls.

The guests were seated at tables for four. On each table cover was a sketch of a baby. The centerpiece on each table was an oval shape bar of pink soap with a toy stork and a baby doll. At each place setting a napkin was folded like a diaper with mints placed in it.

The door prizes were won by Mrs. Larry Jackson and Mrs. John Ulmer. Mrs. Cecil Nixon won the game prize. Games played by the group were clever and new. One part of the entertainment for the morning was not to say the word BABY. Later the guests were divided into two teams and each given a doll, a diaper, and two pins, to see which side could finish first in having each member pin on and take off the diaper on the doll.

Refreshments of cake, cookies, punch, coffee, and mints were served to about 30 guests who were present for the party.

Need A Jolt

An observer of today's city traffic took a couple of quick counts the other day. They are an interesting commentary on the safety problem.

On a busy expressway leading into the central city, he checked a dozen cars in just a few minutes. In 10 of the 12, the driver had one hand or both on the steering wheel. All were driving 45 to 50 miles or more an hour.

On the city's streets, a six or seven-minute check yielded 31 motorists out of some 50 who were not in proper control of their cars.

Almost any test any day anywhere would produce figures not much different.

Haven't we had enough foolish general admonitions like "Drive Safely"?

The time has long since passed when we should have begun talking of safe driving in hard specifics.

Let the National Safety Council din into the motorist's ears that safe driving means first and foremost controlling the car.

Let the traffic authorities compile statistics which show plainly what proportion of accidents—fatal and otherwise—are due basically to improper control. The figures surely are staggering.

And let it be made a reckless driving offense everywhere in the nation for any motorist to drive without both hands on the wheel in positions assuring full control of his vehicle.

Alabama Confrontation

Whatever tests between state and federal authorities on the civil rights issue may still be ahead, they seem unlikely to be made in the personalized terms employed by Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace at Tuscaloosa and Mississippi's Gov. Ross Barnett last year in Oxford and Jackson.

When Wallace called off a plan to bar the door to a Negro student at the University of Alabama's Huntsville branch, it probably signaled a historic turning point.

Wallace's confrontation with States officials at Tuscaloosa was difficult and emotion-charged. The whole nation must be grateful that it was managed without stirring violence.

True to his word, the governor is maintaining strict order in the critical areas. Admirable restraint and responsibility shown by university students and Alabama citizens contribute importantly to the atmosphere of calm.

Wallace candidly acknowledges he stood in the doorway at Tuscaloosa partly to redeem a 1962 campaign pledge. But he also says he hoped thereby to arouse the country to a new appreciation of certain constitutional issues between the states and the federal government.

The governor finds the core of the dispute in the 10th amendment to the U. S. Constitution. It says powers not expressly delegated to the federal government under the Constitution, or not prohibited to the states by it, are reserved to the states, or the people.

Authority over education is not one of the powers given to the federal establishment. Wallace says the U. S. insistence on entry of Negro students into Alabama's schools amounts to use of federal authority in the education field. He argues that, in consequence, this presents federal usurpation of state powers.

The arguments of the federal authorities in both the courts and the executive branch are that in directing the entry of the Negroes into these schools they are not in any way affecting the operation of Alabama's educational system as such. They say the state is free to control teachers, curriculum, and school administration.

The federal contention goes further to say that what U. S. officials seek is simply to assure to the Negroes involved the general rights of citizenship given to all Americans.

It is argued that these are federal rights which know no state boundaries and go with the person wherever he walks, whether in his home, in the voting booth, in a public place or a public institution such as a state-supported school. Government lawyers offer the 14th amendment to the Constitution as the legal support for this argument.

Governor Wallace wants this controversy adjudicated in the manner prescribed by the Constitution—which means in the courts. It is a dispute which has been there before. But perhaps the country will benefit hugely if, as the governor wishes, these issues are threshed out again and strong, clear, thoughtful words are spoken from the bench for all the nation to hear.

Lyle C. Wilson Says:

JFK In Squeeze Play

President Kennedy is caught in a political squeeze play on civil rights. The Kennedy administration trapped itself.

The President invited his current political troubles by making a mistaken political decision at the outset of his administration. This was to ignore for two or three years the civil rights campaign promises that contributed so much to his election.

Whatever may be the morality of making and ignoring promises to any group of voters, this decision by the President in 1961 was bad politics. It led directly to the Kennedy administration's present predicament. The decision looked pretty good at first.

After deciding against immediate action to enact into law all of the 1960 Democratic campaign promises on civil rights, Kennedy concentrated, instead, on voting rights with authority already at hand.

This high policy decision was accompanied by some of the most effective race relations politicking ever observed in the United States. The President made Negroes socially welcome at the White House.

He named Negroes to federal office such as they had not before enjoyed. By word and deed, the President emphasized to the Negro community his active and friendly interest. By surprise visits and surprise telephone calls, Kennedy kept before U. S. Negroes an image of a president who also was a warm ally.

That was a lot more than any previous president ever had done to make the Negro feel that the head man loved him. And for about 18 months the Kennedy strategy worked like a charm. In fact, this was about what it was made of—charm. Protests against the scuttling of 1960 campaign promises were muted if aired at all.

All was well, politically, for the President on the Negro front. And that was important too, because the President needed the Negroes to be elected in 1960 and probably will need them to be re-elected next year. But all was not well. The Negroes took to the streets. President Kennedy began talking anxiously to White House visitors about a crisis in race relations.

Long-time Negro friends and allies of the Kennedys began to holler foul against the administration's civil rights policies and performance. Came the Birmingham riots, and the tax bill suddenly ceased to be the administration's top legislative objective. Top spot went to civil rights.

That is how he got caught in a squeeze play. His Republican opponents and his former Negro allies put on the pressure for Kennedy to propose civil rights legislation so drastic in nature as to arouse southern Democrats to a frenzy of opposition.

Kennedy postponed civil rights legislation in 1961-62 to avoid trouble with southern congressmen that would have delayed or defeated much of his other legislative program. He had hopes of getting through 1963 also without antagonizing the South beyond endurance.

Worry Clinic

CASE P-48: Freddy B. aged 11, is the adopted child mentioned yesterday.

His foster parents had delayed telling him that he was adopted, due chiefly to their failure to "know just what to say."

For this is a delicate subject. Unless you know the half dozen correct sentences for informing the adopted child, you may make him a hater of society and even predispose him for delinquency.

Following a fist fight with one of his classmates, Freddy was taunted with being an adopted child.

Shocked into speechlessness, Freddy finally confronted his mother. She then told him the facts. But she didn't do so in the best way I have outlined below.

So she didn't bolster his hurt pride nor minimize his shock.

Freddy brooded. And soon he became a problem at school. He began to take deliberate delight in breaking the rules.

After he had been sent to the principal's office repeatedly, he was finally referred to me.

So I sat down with Freddy and gave him the roper slant on adoption.

"Freddy," I began, "if two baseball captains are choosing sides and one of them ignores you but the other picks you for his team, which should you feel more grateful to?"

And Freddy replied that he would be more loyal and grateful to the captain who chose him for his team.

"Well," I continued, "that's exactly what happens when babies are born."

"Millions of boys and girls are not chosen by their first parents."

"So when another mother and father come along and pick them deliberately, because they love such a child and want him, then shouldn't he be not only grateful but loyal all his life?"

Freddy's eyes had shown his misery and frustration up till I made this comparison. Now they began to light up joyfully.

"Besides," I went on, "your daddy and mother are also adopted."

"For when a man picks a wife, she is not related to him by any blood kinship. No, siree. The average husband and wife were total strangers until they first met and then fell in love."

"So they deliberately picked each other, just as a baseball captain picks his team.

"Marriage is simply one form of adoption, where the adopted couple are grownups and adopt each other."

"Then, when they want a little boy and find a smart little baby like you if they both fall in love with you and deliberately pick you for their family team, then you are doubly lucky."

"In fact, adopted kids are better off than those who aren't adopted for they know positively that they have been picked on purpose, because their parents loved them and wanted them."

"And blood kinship doesn't mean anything, unless you have this deliberate selection based on love. For Cain and Abel, about whom you have studied in Sunday School, were blood brothers."

"Yet Cain then killed Abel. And King David's own son Absalom even tried to kill King David."

"So be grateful and loyal all your life to the two parents who picked you for their family team."

"All three of you are adopted, yet bound together by the strongest tie on earth—love and voluntary affection."

Peru's New

Fernando Belaunde Terry is a handsome, darkly intent man who as an architect also has large-scale plans for altering the map of Peru.

Now, as Peru's newly elected next president, he may have a chance for at least a start on putting these plans into effect.

His dream is of a "forest edge" road which would open up the untapped resources of eastern Peru, and benefit Colombia, Ecuador and Bolivia as well.

He explained these plans to this correspondent a few weeks ago, spreading maps on the floor of a pleasant room off a sun-filled patio of his home at the edge of Lima. On the walls of the room were mementos of his travels by horseback and canoe along the eastern edges of the Andes which divide Peru into coast, high sierra and jungle.

The road Belaunde foresees would run 3,000 miles along trails which, in Peru, Belaunde himself has traveled.

He estimates its total cost at $216 million, with Peru's share amounting to $81 million.

The project already has been partly surveyed and Belaunde hopes the job can be finished under the Alliance for Progress.

Peru, Belaunde says, has only about one half acre of arable land per person at present.

He estimates that every mile of the new road would open up more than 3,000 acres of land, doubling the amount now available.

It would open up access to Amazon, Orinoco and Rio Del Plata, three of South America's greatest rivers, thus extending its benefits to Argentina and Brazil as well.

And it would make available vast new resources of oil, gas, manganese and jungle products.

Along with his opponents in last Sunday's general elections, Belaunde considers Peru's six million poverty-stricken Indians as the nation's greatest problem.

The road, he believes, would go far toward improving their lot and bringing them into the national economy.

For them he also would establish 200 pools of farm machinery and tools to help modernize present primitive farming methods.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The 180-nation World Food Congress of 1,200 delegates winds up two weeks of talk in Washington with the adoption of a charter, recommendations for future action and a final report from United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization Director General R. B. Sem, of India.

The food congress developed no sensational news that could compete for front-page space with American race relations problems, the Profumo scandal in Britain, nuclear test ban negotiations with the Russians, or all the other things happening in Europe.

But it did develop solid news which assures that hunger and malnutrition can be wiped off the face of the earth if human beings are sensible enough to use available resources.

There is enough arable land available to grow all the food needed by the six billion people (double the present population) who are expected to inhabit the earth in 2000 A.D.

There is a reserve of virgin land on which more food can be grown to feed the rapidly increasing populations of Latin America and Africa. In Asia, with its tremendous one of increasing productivity by intensive agriculture, such as Japan's, where there is little idle acreage.

No one reported to the food congress that the world would soon have to go on a diet of algae, which would have been first-page news. But it was recognized that a scientific breakthrough on photosynthesis—the chemical process by which plants convert sunlight into living matter—offers hope for food supplies in future centuries.

Probably the most important finding of the food congress was that the great requirement to insure that the world is well fed is more education for producers and consumers alike.

More than half the population of the underdeveloped countries is illiterate.

An illiterate farmer cannot be taught how to increase the production of his land by scientific methods. An illiterate consumer cannot be taught that from the time a child is weaned until it reaches maturity, it needs a balanced diet with ample proteins.

There is a world shortage of schools of agriculture and home economics, a shortage of teachers for those schools, a shortage of farm technicians to train farmers in the field.

Speaker after speaker at the World Food Congress emphasized there can be no freedom from hunger till there is freedom from ignorance. The big problem is just that simple—and complicated.

Perhaps the second most important problem laid before the food congress for the immediate future is distribution of existing world food supplies and resources so that they will do the most good.

This means putting idle manpower to work cultivating under-developed acreage, as well as spreading the world's food surpluses among developing countries that do not now grow enough food to give their people an adequate diet.

The need for an international organization of countries that produce more food than they consume was stressed. The idea is to co-ordinate all aid programs for maximum benefit.

The use of surplus foods as partial wage payments to workers on capital improvement projects—such as power dams and irrigation projects in developing countries—was suggested as a curb to inflation in expanding economies.

It was recognized that there is a limit to the amount of money that can be invested profitably for bringing virgin land into production or increasing crop yields on land now under primitive, inefficient cultivation.

But representatives of developing countries pointed out that if one-fourth of the money now spent by the major powers on armaments could be diverted into increasing food production, there would be more than enough capital to wipe out the hidden hunger now afflicting from a third to a half of the world's population.

St. Augustine Celebration Plans Outlined

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Florida has asked the federal government for $350,000 to help finance the Quadracentennial celebration of the founding of St. Augustine.

The city was founded four centuries ago by Pedro Menéndez de Avilés.

Rep. D. R. (Billy) Matthews (D-Fla.) appeared before a House Judiciary subcommittee to support the request for federal funds.

The two explained to the subcommittee the plans under way for the celebration and what is being done on the state, national and international levels to promote the quadracentennial.

Newton said that Spain has agreed to furnish $100,000 to build a permanent exhibition center to house Spanish exhibits and artifacts dating from the founding.

He expressed hope there will be four other exhibition centers representing British, Latin American, U. S. and Florida interest in the area.

Newton said it is hoped that under sponsorship of the Organization of American States (OAS) $150,000 to $200,000 can be raised for the Latin American center.

Negotiations, he said, are under way with the British for $100,000 for a British center.

As for the United States center, Newton said a source is now being sought for a new building to house exhibits.

In addition, $100,000 is being sought from within the Florida state government for a Florida state building.

One of the major objects of the quadracentennial is the restoration of a section of the city as it was in colonial days.

It is hoped, Newton said, that it can be opened as an exhibition area by 1965.

Mother Kills 5 Children, Husband, Self

PROSPECT, Pa. (UPI) — A 44-year-old housewife, dependent on ill health, turned her home into a bloodbath Monday, killing her husband and five young children with blasts from a 12-gauge shotgun before committing suicide.

State police said Mrs. Elizabeth Gregor, wife of a tractor salesman in this Western Pennsylvania farming community, killed the children, including a 14-year-old son, then telephoned her husband at work on the pretext that one of the children was ill.

When Joseph Gregor, 62, walked in the door of their home, she killed him and telephoned coroner Clinton Atwell to come to the house.

Before Atwell arrived with a police, she apparently tied a string to the trigger of the shotgun and killed herself by pulling the string.

Atwell found Gregor's body by the front door and Mrs. Gregor's nearby. In another room, the bodies of Joseph Jr., 14; Thomas, 12; and Rosemary, 10, were found. The dead twins were found in their beds.

The older children were Mrs. Gregor's by a previous marriage.

Govs. Barnett, Wallace Lead Anti-JFK Rally

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace and Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett, both staunch segregationists, Monday night spoke at a rally aimed at preventing the re-election of President Kennedy next year.

The Deep South chief executives called for a movement of Southern Conservatives which would seek to throw the presidential election into the House of Representatives.

The South's unemployed electors would then seek a coalition which conceivably could elect a candidate favorable to the conservative movement.

A crowd of 1,000 attended the $25-a-plate dinner. "The election call must be sounded for the states to come to their own defense," Barnett said. "The time is late, but not too late."

Wallace predicted victory for an unpledged electoral movement.

"We have the power to restore those God-given constitutional rights which have been stolen away and we can thrust free from the tentacles of the octopus of centralized power by casting our votes against those who seek to accomplish our pseudo-legal enslavement," he said.

Barnett said, "It is time to separate the professional politicians from the real statesmen, identify the traitors and separate the men from the boys." He charged that "many politicians are timid and reluctant to act."

Reception Honors Minister

A reception honoring Rev. and Mrs. Damon Scott and daughter, Vickie, who have been moved to Palatka from the DeBary Community Methodist Church, was held at the church last Wednesday night.

Sidney Swallow acted as master of ceremonies and talks of tribute were presented by Rev. Paul Shultz of the Enterprise and DeBarry Ministerial Assn. and Wesley Saatkamp, Hugh Booth, James Walker and Kathy Perry.

The children's choir sang two songs of farewell. Pearl Burnett and Beatrice Muller sang a duet and Laura Platt Brown and Beatrice Muller sang at the piano and Adelaide Conte at the organ played a duet. The audience joined in a hymn led by Gertrude MacNaughton and Stanley Rader.

A love offering was presented to Rev. Scott, an orchid to Mrs. Scott and a corsage to Vickie after which they were escorted to the social hall by Mrs. William Fidler.

Three buffet tables, laden with punch in crystal bowls and trays of tea sandwiches and cookies, were set up in the hall. One table had a floral piece of yellow roses flanked by tall yellow candles in crystal holders, and other had pink roses and pink candles and the honoree's table, where the Scotts received long lines of well-wishers, held American Beauty roses with tall white tapers.

Refugees Freed In Raid Plot

MIAMI (UPI) — Plans to charge five Cuban refugees with violation of the Mutual Security Act by plotting a bombing raid on Cuba were dropped today when the Justice Department in Washington ordered local federal officials not to issue warrants.

The five Cubans and an American were arrested Saturday night as the Cubans were about to load large amounts of explosives aboard a twin-engine Beechcraft plane.

Customs agents seized a five-foot long aerial bomb, 300 sticks of dynamite, 65 gallons of napalm, 150 pounds of plastic explosives, carbines and pistols.

Supervising agent Joseph Fortier said the refugees admitted they were going on a raid to drop bombs on strategic points in Havana.

He said the American, Sam Denton, a private detective, said he had just stopped to take some pictures when he saw the plane and was not involved in the proposed raid.

Nancy Schuring's SKI SCHOOL

Written for NEA
Stopping on water skis is easy.

All you have to do is get rid of the motive power. Toss away the tow bar and you'll come to a gentle halt—much quicker and smoother than you will from a comparable speed in an automobile.

If the stop is intentional, toss away the bar and sit down. If you want to make a landing and are near the shore, just shut off the power by releasing the bar. If you want it right, you will reach standing-up depth water before you stop sinking.

When you feel yourself beginning to fall and are faced with an involuntary stop, get rid of the tow bar. If the boat is going fast enough it will pull the line forward so there is no danger of your becoming entangled. If not, toss the bar.

Starting, stopping and crossing wakes should keep you busy just as long as it takes to master them. In the process, you are almost certain to fall.

Learning how to fall is important and a phase of water skiing you should master until any needless fear is overcome.

Palmer In Limelight For Open

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI)—Here where golf came of age in this country 50 years ago, a star-studded field took off Thursday in quest of the U. S. Open championship and favored Arnold Palmer predicted today that a score of 286—four under par—"will be good enough to take all the marbles."

Fresh off his 825,000 victory in the Thunderbird Classic, Palmer tried out the 4,876-yard Country Club course Monday and complained that "there are too many blind holes."

"There are too many holes where you are blind on either your drive or second shot and other where all you can see is the pin," Palmer observed.

"I think this talk that they might break Ben Hogan's Open record of 276 is a lot of baloney. I'll settle for 280 right now."

Told that some observers felt he scrambled too much to win on this type of course, Palmer shook his head and allowed that it was a driver's course.

"You have to hit 'em straight," he said, "but I'm not worried."

ARNOLD PALMER, who copped the Thunderbird tournament Sunday to become the second top professional money winner in golf, now is favored to grab the U. S. Open title at Brookline this weekend (NEA Telephoto).

Cooper'll Fall In Five. Favored Clay Predicts

Koufax In Another Shutout

United Press International
The Los Angeles Dodgers should start selling record books with scoreboards when Sandy Koufax pitches.

Otherwise how are the fans going to know what new feat the overpowering Dodger pitcher is out to achieve? He's already pitched two no-hitters and set a National League strikeout record both for a game and a season.

And yet his bullet-like speed continues to threaten more records.

Koufax whipped the San Francisco Giants, 2-0, Monday night to post his sixth shutout of the campaign—only one short of the club mark for a season shared by Burlingame Grimes and Whitlow Wyatt. His 10 victories put him halfway to his first 20-victory season—and the first by a Dodger lefty since 1931—and his nine strikeouts enabled him to retain the league lead with a season total of 111.

In addition, Koufax knocked the Giants from first to third place and permitted the St. Louis Cardinals to take over the top rung, seven percentage points ahead of the second-place Dodgers.

Koufax, who pitched a three-hit shutout against the Houston Colts last Saturday, now has pitched 10 consecutive scoreless innings. It was his second win of the season over the Giants—the other a no-hitter against them on May 11.

Ex-Yankee Bill Skowron's two-run double, which skipped through rightfielder Felipe Alou's legs, sent Maury Wills and Ron Fairly over the plate in the third inning with the runs which dealt Billy O'Dell his third loss compared to nine wins. The Giants filled the bases with two out in the second inning but Koufax fanned Jose Pagan to end the threat.

Score: 41-2
Scoring 41 runs on 41 hits the Grants Monday swamped the Chase Bays who could score only two runs on 12 hits. The Grants belted out a total of seven home runs, two by Pitcher Roy Lisk and one each by Helms Yourshaw, Bowling, Cook and Scott. Joe Paulino was the losing pitcher.

Builders Win
The Kingswood Builders beat the Badcock Furnitures Monday by a score of 6 to 2. The Builders got 10 hits off Jim Jernigan, one of which was a homer by Melts. The Furnitures collected seven hits off Bud Moncrief.

LONDON (UPI)—In an appropriately splendid setting, Kentucky's "G. F. G. G." unbeaten Cassius Clay and England's British Empire champion Henry Cooper fight here tonight for a September shot at the world heavy-weight crown.

A half-dozen historically clad trumpeters, six American soldiers and six English soldiers will escort Cassius, the "Louisville Lip," and Cooper, London's former house painter, into the candle-lit ring amidst the cheers from a police-limited crowd of 55,000 at London's outdoor Wembley Stadium.

The stadium can hold 10,000 for a soccer game but the police will not permit more than 55,000 tonight.

There will be hand playing, community singing and other folderol arranged by promoter Jack Solomons for this richest fight ever staged outside the United States—a show for which the gate is estimated at $425,000.

Then comes the scheduled 10-round fight between Clay, 21, and Cooper, 29—a bout in which "Gaseous Cassius" will try to make his fists live up to the boast loudly shouted by his mouth: "I'm not talkin' live; Cooper falls in five."

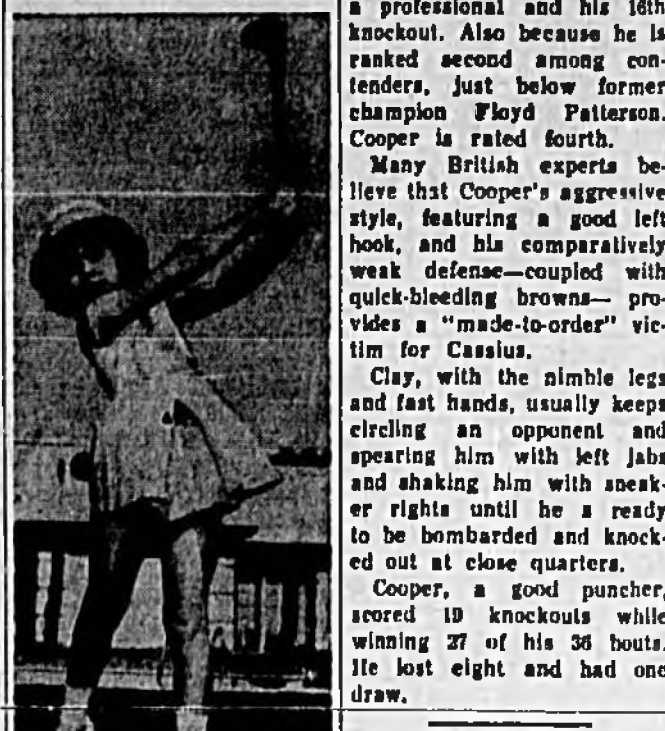

Manny King, one of Britain's outstanding bookmakers, announced that Clay is favored at 4-1 in man-to-man betting.

Clay is a prohibitive favorite because he seeks his 10th consecutive victory as a professional and his 16th knockout. Also because he is ranked second among contenders, just below former champion Floyd Patterson. Cooper is rated fourth.

Many British experts believe that Cooper's aggressive style, featuring a good left hook, and his comparatively weak defense—coupled with quick-bleeding browns—provides a "made-to-order" victim for Cassius.

Clay, with the nimble legs and fast hands, usually keeps circling an opponent and spearing him with left jabs and shaking him with sneaker rights until he is ready to be bombarded and knocked out at close quarters.

Cooper, a good puncher, scored 19 knockouts while winning 27 of his 36 bouts. He lost eight and had one draw.

BEVERLY KLASS—Klasy Kutie

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (NEA)—Beverly Klass showed a thing or two to the smart boys in Las Vegas, who thought they had seen about everything.

The six-year-old miss from Woodland Hills, Calif., burned up the Tallyho Golf and Country Club course, betting the ball 150 yards straight down the fairway—which is about comparable to 350-yard drives from a big player like Jack Nicklaus—and sinking 20-foot putts with the consistency of a Bob Rosburg.

In one week, Beverly regularly shot the nine-hole, par 3 course in 35 to 38 and parred every hole at one time or another. Beverly, who has sisters eight and three, is the only golfer in her family. She started to play at the age of four with regular size clubs but so quickly developed proficiency that her parents had special whittled-down clubs made for her.

Having astounded the good, man-sized golfers in Las Vegas, Beverly returned to California, where she recently placed third in a Los Angeles tournament for boys and girls under 10, in which she was the youngest contestant by several years.

Tribes Rides Sarasota Appears To On Arm Of Kralick

United Press International
Sarasota increased its lead to 5½ games Monday night by defeating Orlando 7-1 and appeared to have the pennant for the first half of the Florida State League season sewed up.

It would take a phenomenal streak of bad luck for the Sun Sox to lose the title between now and Sunday, but Lakeland and St. Petersburg, tied for second, aim to try. Sox pitcher Bob Gurdin pushed his record to 4-3 by only giving up six hits to Orlando and one run. Catcher Dennis Norman led the Sox at the plate with a two-run single in the eighth.

In other action Monday night, Lakeland split a doubleheader with Fort Lauderdale, winning 8-1 and losing 4-0. Tampa tromped Miami 8-0 and Daytona Beach split a twin bill with St. Petersburg, winning 2-1, and losing 4-3.

Ray Webster hit a two-run home run in the first inning, then Islander pitcher Dick Hemauer held the Saints to six runs and one score on a homer by Tom Richards.

In the nightcap, second baseman Pete Cochran hit a long sacrifice fly to score a Saints runner from third.

MacPHAIL OPEN
BEL AIR, Md. (NEA)—The Harford Open is announced for June 21-23 at the Maryland Golf and Country Club, Inc., built by Larry MacPhail on his Bel Air Farm.

Daytona Beach and there they'll try for various prizes totaling in excess of $7,500. That's no misprint my friend, seven thousand five hundred dollars. And all of that for only a $5 entry fee, too.

Last year we had one team go down to Tampa to compete in the State Finals. As memory serves me, it was Jack Kanner, Al DePalma, Bill Howard, Woody Wilson and Bobby Horadorf.

With a guarantee of five getting their way paid for every 37 entries, we ought to have at least three teams representing Sanford at that event.

You may qualify for this tournament any time from now until July 31.

Returning again by popular demand is our Singles Challenge Board. A couple of mix-ups or changes but not that many that you won't want to take part in it again.

You'll still have to defeat four successive challengers to retire the jackpot. Some previous jackpots totaled around the $150 to $200 mark.

Here's an interesting note on same. Garry Fox is the only challenger to retire this challenge board twice. As a matter of fact the only other winner was Freddy Wolf.

Vikes and Glory-ohk, too! Here it is late Sunday night as I'm finishing this column and we've just completed tabulating the final scores from the Sunday Sweeper.

Get this, my friends! Each jackpot was worth $571111! The highest individual jackpots we've had since starting this tournament.

First place was won by Ed Grove of DeLand. Ed tells me this is the first time he's ever won more than $25 in any tourney.

This time was his time. I can guarantee you! Ed eluded the first place spot worth $100 and also clipped in to take the third pot with his 244 game. Not bad, huh? $157 for one day's bowling, on a local level, too!

There was a tie for the second slot between Bob Harrison and Harry Schob who blasted home a 1078 series including handicap. Can you beat it? Two weeks ago, these scores wouldn't have even been in the money!

NOTICE TO OWNER OF DOGS

As required by law, all dogs in the City of Sanford, Florida must be vaccinated against rabies, and the vaccination tag continually worn by dogs on collar or harness for the following year. All dogs found without a tag certifying they have been vaccinated for rabies for year of 1963 will be subject to being picked up by the Police and will be disposed of by the DOG CATCHER.

City license tags for the year 1963 are now available and owners must obtain tags from the City Tax Collector, City Hall. Cost of license tag $1.00 - Rabies vaccination $3.00.

Strikes . . . Spares

By John A. Spolaki
Well, sir, in the three-plus years since we've been in the bowling field here in Florida, I can't ever recall when you, the bowler, had so many good tournaments to choose from.

This past Sunday, we had the $100 first place guaranteed Sunday Sweeper!

This coming weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, we'll be featuring the popular Best Ball Tournament. Squads will be at 5, 7 and 9 p.m. on each of those days with a $50 first place guaranteed!

Starting on July 1 and continuing all through the Fourth of July, we'll be watching the entries place themselves in the Second Annual Fire Cracker Tournament, promoted by the men's bowling association.

This year, once again, we have that bowling promoting two-some, Harry Boone of the OK Tire Store and Bob Hancock of the Pinecrest Inn who will guarantee the $50 first place prize in both divisions, A and B.

A Division for those with averages of 170 and up and the B group with those of 169 and under. It's a lot of fun. Plan on entering right now.

Then too, for your participation, how about the BPAF Handicap Singles Championship?

It costs only $5 to enter, and as I've already said, it's handicapped.

For every 37 entries, five of the 37 are having their way paid to the winner in Daytona Beach and there they'll try for various prizes totaling in excess of $7,500. That's no misprint my friend, seven thousand five hundred dollars. And all of that for only a $5 entry fee, too.

Okay, who's the wise guy that swapped the "Garden of the Month" sign from in front of Mrs. Gertrude Dingfelder's house? It certainly couldn't be of use to anyone as the honor of having the garden of the month can't be bought or sold. . . . That sign cost the Garden Club $45. . . . Please bring it back.

Russia's Space Team Down Safe

MOSCOW (UPI) — The world's first man and woman space team returned to earth safely today.

First to land was Valentina Tereshkova, first woman to soar through space. She was followed more than two hours later by cosmonaut Valery F. Bykovsky, who set new space and distance records with a flight of nearly five days around the earth.

The official Soviet news agency Tass announced the landings.

Miss Tereshkova, a 26-year-old bachelor girl, spent about three days orbiting the earth in a flight that was longer than that of all four American astronauts who have been rocketed into orbit. Bykovsky broke the distance and endurance records set by his fellow cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev last August.

Bykovsky, married and father of an infant boy, landed at 2:06 p. m. Moscow time (9:06 a. m. EST), Tass said. He would have completed five days in space at 3 p. m. local time, but he already had covered around 2 million miles in space.

Valentina landed at 11:29 a. m. (3:29 a. m., EST), Tass said. This was just short of three full days in orbit which she would have attained at 12:30 p. m.

Tass said both Bykovsky and Valentina landed northeast of Karaganda, Kazakhstan.

Tiros 7 In Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — America's seventh Tiro-7 "weather-eye" satellite rode into orbit aboard a three-stage rocket in a spectacular space shot today, and sent back "good quality" pictures on its first try.

A 90-foot Delta rocket, scoring its 18th straight success, hurled the camera-carrying Tiro-7 into space at 4:50 a.m. EST.

Less than two hours later, the 297-pound satellite swung back across the United States, snapped a series of weather photographs at an altitude of 400 miles, and relayed the pictures to a ground tracking station at Wallups Island, Va.

The federal space agency said the pictures "appeared to be of very good quality," indicating the complex "eyes" were working properly.

It was the first training exercise for Tiro-7's major task—that of searching out and tracking giant storms, such as hurricanes and typhoons on earth.

Scientists said the bathos-shaped satellite was traveling once around the world every 97 minutes in a near-perfect orbit ranging from 300 miles to 403 miles up.

At this altitude Tiro-7 will train its eyes on the world and particularly on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans where tropical storms abound during the summer months.

Tiro-7 was the first of two such orbital television satellites the United States planned to launch this year. Tiro-8 is scheduled for a rocket ride into space around September.

ZIP Code To Affect All Sanford Mail

The United States Postoffice Department has announced a revolutionary new system of improved mail dispatch and delivery, which goes into effect nationally on July 1.

This code, called the ZIP Code, utilizes a five digit number which follows the name of the town and state and will permit the Post Office Department to short-cut repeated address reading.

"With ZIP Code, a clerk need only to glance at the code to know immediately to what national area, state and post office the letter is destined and to speed it on its way, cutting up to 24 hours off the time between deposit and delivery," postal officials said.

It is important that all citizens learn their city's ZIP Code number and use it in all their return addresses on all correspondence.

In answering mail, ZIP codes should be taken from all return addresses and used for correspondence.

Addresses on mail must often be read as many as eight or ten times by postal employees to get it to the proper destination, Post Office officials said.

Each handling slows the process of mail dispatch and adds to the opportunity for error, they noted.

The ZIP Code for Sanford is 32771 and the code for Lake Mary is 32746. Postmaster Guy Allen and Postmaster Clarence Donaldson said today.

An example of the proper use of ZIP Code follows: Sanford Herald, 32771 or Postmaster C. D. Donaldson Lake Mary, Florida, 32746

Solons Broaden Sales Tax

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Legislature adjourned its 80-day 1963 session today after broadening the base of the state's three per cent sales tax.

Since the adjournment came at noon (EST), the sales tax measure was the final tax increase in a seven-bill package passed in the closing days of the Legislature. The measures are expected to produce $164 million more revenue for the state during the next two years.

Final vote by which the Legislature passed the compromise sales tax broadening bill included Sen. Mack N. Cleveland Jr. (D) and Rep. S. J. Davis Jr. (D) for the measure and Rep. Jan Fortuna (R) against it.

The sales tax bill last in the finance package to clear both houses, will raise upwards of $60 million over the next biennium.

The compromise bill, worked out by a joint conference committee Tuesday night, was whipped through the House without debate in less than 30 minutes. The Senate followed suit an hour later and it was all over but the shouting.

The House swallowed its "pride" and gave in to the Senate on most points of disagreement, backing off of proposed sales taxes on trading stamps, non-cigarette tobacco and newspaper, radio, television and billboard advertising.

However, the Legislature asked the Legislative Council to study these taxes in the next two years and make a recommendation on them to the 1965 Legislature.

House Finance Chairman James Sweeney, of Volusia, said the $164 million tax package would be ample to finance all appropriations.
