

BONDS SOLD YESTERDAY AT GOOD PREMIUM PRICE AND ROAD CONTRACT LET

THE SEMINOLE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS HAVE PLANNED FOR BIG ROAD PROGRAM

WILL BE SURFACE TREATED WITH A BASE OF OJUS ROCK

Purden & Co., of Toledo, Ohio, Purchased Bonds and Maul & Snyder Contract For the New Roads

At the meeting of the Seminole County Commissioners yesterday the $90,000 bond issue for good roads was sold to Purden & Co., of Toledo, Ohio, at the premium of $90,135.00.

The contract for the roads was let to Maul & Snyder and will be surface treated, the base to be of Ojus rock and asphalt and granite chip and it is thought that these new roads will serve as an example for future road building in Seminole county, the commissioners having made trips to other parts of the state and examined this class of roads where they have been laid for several years.

The bonds sold yesterday will cover the following roads:

Oviedo to Goldenrod, approximately 37,000 sq. yards.

Chuluota south to the county line, approximately 10,000 sq. yards.

Osceola road, approximately 11,000 sq. yards.

There were seven bids for the bonds yesterday and six bids for the contract showing that bonding and building of roads has again assumed a much better aspect than in the past two years.

With this new system of hard-surfaced roads and with the old roads including the brick roads to be improved Seminole county will have the finest system of hard-surfaced roads in the state and there will not be any part of the county but what will be covered with a trunk line of hard surfaced roads.

When the time comes that the old brick roads can be repaired and put in first class shape the county commissioners will then, for the first time in the history of this and other counties, really have the time and money to build new lateral roads.

The new road building program also takes care of the Osceola road that has long needed attention.

OFF YEAR POLITICALLY, BUT THERE ARE MANY OFFICES NECESSARY TO BE FILLED

June Primaries Promise Plenty of Action for the Various Candidates

Jacksonville, Feb. 7.—Although this is an "off" year, Florida voters will have plenty to do when they nominate Democratic candidates in the June primary, the arrangements for which they will be made by the State Democratic Executive Committee at a meeting here February 22.

Candidates for the following offices may be nominated:

One United States Senator; four members of congress; two justices of the supreme court; two members of the railroad commission; sixteen judicial circuit judges; eight states attorney; sixteen state senators whose terms expire with the next general election, and two vacancies created among the "hold-over" senators; members of the house of representatives; County Commissioners; county boards of public instruction; supervisors of registration; justice of the peace and constables wherever vacancies have occurred since the last general election.

Circuit judges whose terms expire during the year and whose successors must be nominated follow:

1. A. G. Campbell, DeFuniak Springs, June 8, 1923;
2. E. C. Love, Quincy, June 8, 1923;
3. Mallory F. Horne, Jasper, June 8, 1923;
4. Geo. Couper Gibbs, Jacksonville, July 2, 1923;
5. W. S. Bulock, Ocala, June 11, 1923;
6. M. A. McMullen, Clearwater, with next senate;
7. James W. Perkins, DeLand, June 29, 1923;
8. A. V. Long, Palatka, April 26, 1923;
9. D. J. Jones, Chipley, June 11, 1923;
10. John S. Edwards, Lakeland, June 11, 1923;
11. H. Pierce Branning, June 11, 1923;
12. Geo. W. Whitehurst, Arcadia, May, 30, 1923;
13. F. M. Nobles, Tampa, June 29, 1923;
14. C. L. Wilson, Marianna, June 13, 1923;
15. E. C. Davis, West Palm Beach, June 13,

1923; No. 16th circuit. The 1921 session of the legislature failed to approve the measure creating this circuit.

17. Charles O. Andrews, Orlando, June 3, 1923.

Duval county, Daniel A. Simmons, Jacksonville, April 21, 1925, will not be in the primary this year.

State Attorneys terms expire and whose offices must be filled are:

5. George W. Schofield, Inverness, June 13, 1923;
6. E. P. Wilson, Dade City, with the next senate;
8. A. S. Crews, Starke, June 9, 1923;
10. D. O. Rogers, Lakeland, July 4, 1923;
11. John Gramling, Miami, June 9, 1923;
12. S. W. Lawler, Jr., Fort Myers, June 15, 1923;
15. George W. Coleman, West Palm Beach, with next senate;
17. Joseph J. Jones, Orlando, June 9, 1923.

The Supreme Court Justices whose terms expire are Taylor Brown. The Railroad Commissioners who go out of office are Burr Campbell.

State Senators whose terms of four years expire within the year and whose successors will be nominated are:

- W. J. Singletary, Grand Ridge; S. W. Anderson, Greensboro, D. M. Lowery, Tallahassee; R. H. Rowe, Madison; R. H. Weaver, resigned (district no. 12); M. L. Plympton, Lake City; James E. Calkins, Fernandina; J. T. Butler, Jacksonville; W. J. Crosby, Citra; T. T. Turnbull, Monticello; W. H. Malone, Key West; W. A. Russell, Lincoln Hall; DeLand; John Bradshaw, Jennings; W. B. Rowland, Newberry.
- Two other vacancies include the ninth senatorial district from which E. P. Wilson resigned, and the twenty-seventh senatorial district, made vacant by the death of Frank M. Cooper of Punta Gorda.

SEARCHING THE RUINS FOR BODIES OF THE VICTIMS OF HOTEL LEXINGTON FIRE

EXPECTED TO ADD TO THE DEATH ROLL ALREADY REPORTED—NINETEEN INJURED

THREE ARE KNOWN TO BE DEAD, SEVENTEEN ARE STILL MISSING

Three Were Killed by Jumping From Windows; Fifteen or More Are Believed Buried in Ruins of the Hotel

RICHMOND, Feb. 8.—(By The Associated Press).—Search of the Lexington Hotel ruins today is expected to add to the death toll the police said today. There are only three known dead and these died from injuries from jumping from windows. Nineteen are in the hospital. The police believe from fifteen to twenty are buried in the ruins after completing the twenty-four hour search for missing guests.

The police said that a re-check of the register showed seven-teen persons still missing. One charred body was found today soon after the search of the ruins began.

400,000 WAGE EARNERS LISTED IN FLORIDA

Census Report Makes Interesting Report—Many Farmerettes Listed By State.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Nearly 400,000 of Florida's 986,470 residents in 1920 were engaged in gainful occupations, according to an announcement today by the department of commerce through the issuing board, which issued a statement presenting the rules of a further analysis of the occupation statistics for the state. The number of wage earners more than ten years of age was 385,312, of whom 300,044 were males. Persons working for salaries, wages, profits, or other pecuniary compensations or their equivalent were classed as "gainfully occupied."

The number of females gainfully occupied included 3,258 farmers, as compared with 2,822 in 1910 and 11,469 farm laborers as against 22,710 in 1910. The decrease in the number of farm laborers of both sexes, the bureau states, was due largely to the change in the census date from April 15, to January 1, in 1920.

Women in Florida apparently are determined to enter occupations heretofore followed in the state exclusively by men. In 1910 there was not a woman who gave her occupation as chauffeur; in 1920 there were twenty of them.

They also claimed themselves in 1920, carpenters, expressmen, etc., with the age running from 23 to 38. There also was one female stationary engineer in 1920, an occupation not represented among the woman in 1910. The only occupations listed which no woman were engaged in in 1920 were "mechanists, millwrights and tool-makers, painters, glaziers, varnishers, builders, soldiers sailors and marines."

RICHMOND, Feb. 8.—Twenty-two patients are at one hospital, the vir- ginia, three are at the Memorial, two at the Johnston-Willis and one at the Grace hospital.

At police headquarters a force of men still is busy in an effort to check off those accounted for on the list of guests in the hotel. From 75 to 85 persons were known to have been in the hotel when the fire began.

The dead are: Hiram S. Austin, Fineston, Va.; M. J. Fox, Williamsport, Pa.; L. M. Thomas, sheriff of Albemarle county, Va.; E. T. Cox, Richmond, Va.; F. L. Shaw, C. & O. railroad conductor, Richmond, and T. D. Pielier, Youkers, N. Y. The bodies of the last named three still are in the ruins, according to police.

Those reported missing or unaccounted for follow:

- Samuel Ash, Richmond; D. E. Amos, Charleston, S. C.; C. C. Eberly, address not given; E. J. Bush, of Richmond; W. E. Hubble, Richmond; T. F. Riley, South Carolina; I. H. Crowder and H. G. Cahoon, Fineston; E. T. Carter, U. S. Navy; T. W. Jones, and Mrs. T. W. Jones, Norfolk, Va.; T. W. Crannen, address not given; T. F. Hilliard, Richmond; H. O. Bailey, address not given; Frederick Keller, U. S. Navy; T. L. Parker, Atlanta; J. L. Kellam, Hampton, Va.; C. B. Bowen, Richmond; C. W. Hathorn, address not given; E. F. Taylor, jr., North Carolina; J. R. Nelson, Florence, S. C.; T. R. Jones, Norfolk; T. T. Loftwich and S. Hamlin, address not given.
- Those reported injured are:
- J. N. Hager, Boydton, Va., injury to back; John R. Cochran, New York; E. P. Howell, Norfolk; Thomas Flagan, Brooklyn; George Catter, Buckroe Beach, Va.; James Folds, Patton, W. Va.; B. G. Wright, Newport News, Va.; Elmer Diftonhugh, Newport News; B. H. Trice, Globe, Va.; Hubert Dodd, Lexington, Va.; Joe Webb, Fineston, Va., injury to right foot and hip; Andrew Gilles, Buffalo, N. Y.; J. C. Harivel, Portland, Me.; A. H. Harrison, St. Louis, head, left hand and ankle injured; Mrs. Clara Cochran, New York; W. Bourne, Spartansburg, S. C.; C. C. BASED ON PRIZE PLAY

"Miss Lulu Bett" is Picturization of Famous Stage Success

"Miss Lulu Bett," Zona Gale's prize play based upon her own novel, which was produced with big success on Broadway in 1920, has been picturized for Paramount By William de Mille and it will be the feature at the Star Theatre tonight. Clara Beranger adapted the play and novel for the screen. The title role is played by Lois Wilson and others in the cast include Milton Sills, Theodore Roberts, Helen Ferguson, Mabel Van Buren, May Giracci and Clarence Burton. Miss Gale's dramatization of her own novel was awarded the Pulitzer prize of $1,000 for being the best American play produced during the season 1920-21. The story is most appealing and there are many dramatic moments in its development.

Some cold weather again right out of the northwest.

The wind blows cold but it saved us a frost last night.

Orlando has organized a Sunshine Club. They will need it today, also a Moonshine club.

Sanford will soon have the largest Saxophone Band in the South, if not in America. Guess that will hold Orlando for a while.

All of our real cold weather will come between the first and fifteenth of February. After that Florida is comparatively safe. Of course all signs fall sometimes even weather signs.

Ge-Bo-Nah-Gewn-Wonce, a Chipewya Indian chief, supposed to be 137 years old, is dead in Minnesota. We are glad he only did it Wonce. One more like that and our linotype operators would have lockjaw.

President Harding's dog, "Laddie Boy," is now talking for publication. In a series of letters "Laddie Boy" tells of his experiences to another dog. All presidents seem to have some form of communication with the outside world. Look at Joe Tumulty.

Florida girl in New York dyed her cut to conform with the draperies and the cat died. Judge had her up and made her promise to return to Florida and he would let her off. Good sentence. That judge ought to sentence the whole of New York City to Florida for the winter. The idea of a Florida girl in New York in the winter time!

Dispatches say "Poland is gradually becoming self-supporting." Good. If we can just get the Near East, the Far West, Russia, China, India, Africa, Timbuctoo, the Arctic Circle, the Anti-Saloon League and the other leagues as well as the Florida State League self-supporting we can go fishing again as we used to do before the war put all these foolish notions into the heads of so many "drivers."

Tourist asked us the other day why there was such fine fishing on Lake Apopka and why so many fishermen went there in the winter to take advantage of it. The reason is plain enough. Seining is not allowed in Lake Apopka, seining is not allowed in any county in this part of the state. Seminole county is surrounded by counties that are getting the tourists and sportsmen and our county is the only one that allows seining.

SAVING FLORIDA

The Polk County Record has an excellent editorial on "Winter Evangelism," which we take pleasure in republishing:

Florida is having a surfeit and then some of that sort of thing. You cannot sit down in a park without having to listen to some wild-eyed visitor calling on the wayfarer to repent of his sins and throw something in the hat. From all corners of the north we have visitors whose sole purpose, as they solemnly declare, is to show us where we are wrong and collect their pay for so doing.

Frankly, we prefer being let alone with our defects. We'll rock along some way. Up north, where the cold weather, the slippery pavements and the heavy snowdrifts are constant provocatives to sin, they need uplifting more than we do. They would no doubt appreciate open air sermons, lectures on law enforcement, calls to civic, secular and spiritual righteousness and other efforts to improve the condition of their souls, while the persons working for their salvation would not incur the suspicion of being out on the job merely to avoid the winter without incurring any personal expenses."

As the Record remarks, Florida is already pretty well provided with proved and legitimate agencies of that kind. We suggest, however, if any of these itinerant improvers are really in earnest, they wander down here about the 15th of next July and repeat their story.—Lakeland Telegram.

SHIP: CITRUS FRUIT BY WATER; CALIFORNIA TO NEW YORK.

The latest of a series of three test shipments of citrus fruit from California to New York by way of the Panama Canal, left San Pedro the middle of January accompanied by a specialist of the Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture. The tests are being made in co-operation with the steamship company and the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, which are displaying keen interest in the work, as it is expected to lead the way to larger shipments of western fruit to the east by water.

Problems of ventilation and refrigeration of the fruit while in transit are the chief difficulties encountered in the undertaking. One of the holds of the ship is equipped with a ventilating system devised by the representative of the department, who will obtain data on the condition of the fruit carried at certain temperatures and will test the system of ventilation he has worked out in connection with his studies. The shipment of citrus fruit through the Tropics for the length of time required in water transportation has always been a hazardous undertaking.

The ship, which originally sailed with a cargo of apples from Seattle, put in at San Pedro to pick up a consignment of oranges and lemons. It is expected the trip to New York will require between 18 and 20 days.—Orlando Sentinel.

FLORIDA MERCHANTS AND ADVERTISING SCHEMERS

FLY-BY-NIGHT visitors to Florida, the great majority of whom are on the alert to "make" expenses, likewise easy profits, as they travel from place to place seize upon advertising as one of their favorite schemes. Advertising is worked to death by this class, because the value of advertising is appreciated by all progressive business men. But any kind of advertising does not get results. There are many things to be taken into consideration, principal of which are quality and circulation.

The business interests of Florida should fight shy of these schemers and patronize only those agencies and mediums whose reputations are established in public confidence and who are above board in their operations, giving a dollar's worth of advertising or more for every dollar entrusted to them, who realize that their futures in the advertising field depends in a large measure upon their present policies.

This is not a bid for greater newspaper advertising; it is good advice although, it might be added, newspaper have proven themselves the best advertising mediums in the world. A few days ago an "advertising" man worked Arendia, according to the DeSoto County News, and it was later revealed that the "directory" he issued was just directory enough to be classed as legitimate under the law. The man spent seven hours in Arendia and departed $35 richer by reason of his gift of gab. Commenting on the incident The News says:

Someday perhaps advertisers will learn that they can always expect to be stung when dealing with strangers with schemes for directories, programs and the like, unless the man is known to represent a firm of standing. Merchants who just can't see the value of advertising when approached on the subject by their local newspapers seem to be the easiest victims of these fly-by-night fakers.

It is not selfishness that prompts Florida newspapers to warn advertisers against advertising schemes, but the newspapers are interested in the welfare of their respective communities and are on guard to protect those who support them.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

THE FUTURE OF ROAD BUILDING

Country road traffic has increased 1,000 per cent in the last 12 years, say the statisticians, but they also say that in the same time there has been an increase of 3,000 per cent, in vehicle mileage, measured by multiplying the number of vehicles by the increase in speed.

The astonishing fact is also made public that there are actually fewer miles of good roads per vehicle mile today than were a dozen years ago. The automobile manufacturers predict that the number of automobiles in use will double within the next decade. The American Good Roads congress has endorsed the Woodruff bill now before congress. It provides for $100,000,000 of federal aid for good roads per year for the next five years, with the provision for matching the amount by each state to which allotments shall be made. If the state accepts it will mean the expenditure of 200 million per year or a round billion in the five year period. It is different to estimate the impetus that will be given to business of all kinds by the expenditure of such an enormous sum. Unemployment with all its problems would disappear, and every man willing to work would have a job awaiting him. And when it was all over we would have the pleasant consciousness of having got something for our money.

THIS IS SMILE WEEK

This is Smile Week and we are reminded of the fact by the Jacksonville Metropolis in the following editorial: This is Smile Week.

Everybody is supposed to smile. If you can't smile you can at least chuckle to yourself. It's easy; just drop a pleasant thought on our sense of humor and let it dissolve. Smiles will ascend like bubbles from a baby pipe in the hands of a child.

The Republican are figuring out a plan by which ex-service men will be given a bonus without increasing taxes.

Ha! Ha! (Ha! Ha! is the only way you can smile on a typewriter.)

President Harding is indignant because administration critics are claiming he appointed Senator Kenyon to a Federal judgeship in an effort to shatter the agricultural bloc. "How absurd!" Such a thought never entered our best minds.

Ha! Ha! (To be repeated at intervals.)

Senator Lodge, who wore his whiskers to a frazzle defeating ratification of the Wilson treaties will soon demand that the senators, who bowed to the lash of his political whip, ratify the Harding treaties, of which there are several, and all as "entangling" as those agreed upon by the representatives of nations at Versailles.

Just a chuckle here. (Smiles are valuable, therefore they can be wasted—but don't waste one on the venerable senator from Massachusetts.)

Advocates of the Dyer anti-lynching bill claim it will solve the lynching problem over-night. They think Federal supervision is a cure for all the problems that states are heir to. Ha! Ha! (Tenors may say Tee! Tee!)

Administration leaders point out that the expenses of government will be reduced by several billion dollars this year. If taxes are not reduced the blame should be placed upon the extravagance of Democratic officials who, in their zeal to bankrupt the nation, happened to win the war.

Ha! Ha! A smile is the reflection from a sense of humor, and the Creator blessed the American people with the sense of humor that knows no limits, and that improves a thousand-fold on champion contortionist.

Having this sense of humor, we can bear with any old thing and smile until our teeth are sunburned. Compared to us, the Spartan mother was a quitter. So if you think the government is going on the rocks, just swallow your indignation and smile. When we laugh at the rocks we will at least have something solid to build on. Ha! Ha!

ACTOR TAKES MUD BATH

Gloria Swanson's Leading Man in "Under the Lash" Takes Tumble

Mahlon Hamilton, leading man for Gloria Swanson in "Under the Lash," her latest Paramount picture, which comes to the Star theatre tomorrow, was discovered the latest in mud baths. Mr. Hamilton was mounted on a horse which was encumbered by wagon harness. The horse was to jump over a fence with Mr. Hamilton on his back, for a scene in the picture. The spot where the horse jumped was muddy and as he made the bound his foot slipped and he broke the fence, throwing Mr. Hamilton from his back into a slushy pool of mud. "Slapstick comedians have nothing on me," remarked the actor as he regained his feet, unharmed, but covered head to foot with mud.

Ocala's City Manager is Rare Specimen Being Mechanic Also

(By The Associated Press) Ocala, Feb. 8.—Ocala's new city manager James R. Brumby, of Marietta, Ga., who will assume his position here February 15 boasts of an accomplishment which rarely is possessed by the city executives and which will mean a great deal to the city of Ocala. Mr. Brumby is a trained mechanic and is regarded as one of the most expert automobile men in Georgia. He is also an expert electrician and waterworks man and it is expected that these qualifications will be reflected in the operation of the public utilities here.

Music Wins

Pauline Thayer, 19, could not get a high place in the society of Philadelphia, but she plans to forgo the society for a career as a concert violinist. She is a daughter of the late John B. Thayer, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who was lost in the Titanic.

WHY HIDES ARE BELOW AND SHOES SO MUCH HIGHER THAN PRE-WAR PRICES?

The average price of all kinds of hides before the war was 18 6-8 cents per pound, against today's price of 14 1/2 cents per pound, Florida hides not included on account of being tick scored and poor quality, are worthless for shoe leather (tick eradication will pay).

The average prices of all kinds of shoe leather, except shoe sole leather, before the war was 28 1-5 cents per foot, against today's prices of 51 cents per foot. The average prices of shoe sole leather before the war was 40 3-5 cents per pound, against 57 3-5 cents per pound today.

Besides the production of leather in this and all other countries is steadily on the decline, and while this does not tend to lower priced leather, it does not seem to strengthen the prices of hides.

Here is the key to the situation: The packers control the hide market. Two-thirds of the domestic hides are taken off by the packers. At any time they have a large part of the hides in their control and are in a position to sell or withhold them from the markets as they choose. One-third of our supply of hides are imported from South America, but the packers control the larger part of these hides. The packers have about one-third of all of the hides in their control in their packing houses, and more in the tanneries, and yet others in their control in South America. Hence their control of the situation is evident. It is obvious that the packers have absolute power to control the prices of hides and leather, and it is evident that they are in the employment and exercise of his prerogative in their own interest at the expense of the consumer. On the other hand, labor continues to play a big part in the present prices of shoes, for the shoe-maker continues to receive much bigger wages than before the war.

Retail merchants have been and are being severely criticised for profiteering and in cases, justly so, but not generally.

If the difference in the prices of leather and labor could be taken off of the prices of shoes, the consumer would buy his shoes at pre-war prices. War must be made upon the big fellow, not the little retail merchant. He is as helpless as the consumer.

Think this over. Talk to your senators and congressmen about it. Protected hides will not help the farmer, but will mean added cost of shoes to the consumer, and add profits to the packers.

Yours,

RECALLS DAYS OF MEXICAN EMPIRE

American Widow of a Diplomat Talks of Days of Maximilian and Charlotte.

IS MORE THAN 80 YEARS OLD

Former Lady in Waiting Describes Emperor as "Beautiful Character, Sympathetic and Capable, but Too Amiable."

Mexico City.—A shriveled, gray-haired little woman, almost blind and living wholly alone, sits all day in her chair before the window of her tiny apartment in Mexico City and dreams of the days of the Mexican empire when the Austrian Archduke Maximilian ruled the destinies of the nation from 1864 to 1867. She is Senora Marie Othelia Jordan de Degollado, widow of an old Virginia family and wife of the late Gen. Mariana Degollado, member of a family famous in Mexican history. During the three tragic years of Maximilian's reign she was a lady in waiting to Empress Charlotte, the "sail princess of Europe," and to the correspondent she recently recalled some interesting memories of court days during the Mexican empire.

Praise for Maximilian.
Maximilian, the ill-fated Austrian prince, who was set up as head of the empire by Napoleon III, in 1864, and three years later was shot as an usurper by order of the Mexican president, Juarez, was described by Senora Degollado as "a beautiful character, sympathetic and capable, but too amiable to govern a nation of malecontents."

Empress Charlotte, daughter of Leopold I, King of the Belgians, who is still living in Brussels, according to Senora Degollado, was "an ambitious genius, who was always striving to advance her husband, and whose mind became unbalanced when she found the path blocked." Senora Degollado has never seen the empress since she departed from Mexico City in July, 1866, to plead the cause of the empire before the French monarch and later to go to Rome to attempt to secure the good offices of the pope.

So far as she knows no direct word has been received in Mexico from Charlotte in more than fifteen years, and that only an incoherent note to the wife of a former high Mexican official.

"The empress left hurriedly on her European trip," said Senora Degollado, who, despite her 80-odd years, retains a remarkably clear memory, "and was accompanied only by her personal maids. For many days prior to her departure, there were evidences of her falling reason, and we were not surprised to hear of her acute affliction several months later. I am positive that there is absolutely no truth in the reports that she was poisoned before she left Mexico. And the emperor! He was possessed of very kind element of nature. He was too good. He listened to treacherous advice and was shot. That day was an evil one for Mexico."

Fled to Guatemala.
Senora Degollado was in Mexico City when Maximilian was shot in Queretaro, and, although she had an opportunity to view the body before it was shipped to Vienna, she declined, preferring to remember him as she knew him. Within a few days after the emperor's death, she and her husband fled to Guatemala, where they lived for several years until Porfirio Diaz became president of Mexico.

Born in Norfolk, Va., Miss Marie Jordan went to Washington with her father during the early days of the Civil war, and there met Mariana Degollado, who was attached to the Mexican embassy. They were married in Washington and later came to Mexico, where her husband's father, Gen. Santos Degollado was one of the most prominent men of the day. A street and plaza in Mexico City still bear his name.

Senora Degollado believes that she is the last survivor of the court favorites of the Emperor Maximilian.

RACE ON ISLAND FAST DYING

Disease Reduces Population of Marquesas From 100,000 to 1,800 in 50 Years.

Honolulu, T. H.—Tremendous decreases in the native population of the Marquesas Islands, 2,000 miles south by east of the Hawaiian archipelago, have resulted from the ravages of disease and the adoption of many modern customs recently, according to Dr. G. S. Handy, ethnologist of the Bishop museum here, who spent nine months on the islands gathering data on the origin of the Polynesian race, habits and customs of the natives, and their ethnology and anthropology.

"Fifty years ago the Marquesas Islanders probably numbered between 50,000 and 100,000," Doctor Handy said. "Today there are only about 1,800 natives. Smallpox and pokoko, a particularly swift and virulent form of tuberculosis, played havoc among them."

UNABLE TO RECOGNIZE TUNES

Many People of Commanding Ability Have Admittedly Lacked Appreciation of Music.

Lord Prebenbend, best high chamberlain (better known in America some years ago as "Freddy" Smith), confessed at a public dinner recently that he recognized the tune of "God Save the King" only because people stand up when it was being played.

Some other famous people had an equally poor ear for music—one, the Empress Eugenie. Dr. Ethel Smyth, who for 30 years was a neighbor of the empress during her English exile at Farnborough and was constantly in her company, says she was totally devoid of musical instinct. Once when a local band struck up "Partant pour la Syrie" in her honor the empress mistook it for "God Save the King."

Sir Walter Scott was equally impervious to music, though many passages in his writings imply that he liked and understood it. "In music," he told Lord Melbourne, "I don't know high from low."

ADVICE WELL WORTH TAKING

No Doubt Driver of Car Realized Afterward That His Sarcasm Really Was Wasted.

A big passenger car was a victim of the sheet in Central avenue. The driver tried valiantly to keep it in the middle of the street, but one hind wheel slipped over a little, the driver tried to stop the "boat," the rear wheel slid along the car track—well, auto drivers know the rest.

When the car stopped sliding its two rear wheels rested against the curb and its two front ones were on the car track. Then ensued much speeding up of the engine and much whizzing of rear wheels, but no forward movement.

"What's the matter? trying to get away from the curb?" a bystander asked.

"Oh, no, I'm polishing the pavement so the ribs can have some fun!" sarcastically exclaimed the driver of the car.

"Well, if you'd just cut that engine down and slip her out of high into low, I'll give you a little shove and you'll walk right away from the curb," the interloper said.

The advice was followed, the wheels ceased their mad whirl and the car, under the gentle urge of the bystander, moved away.—Indianapolis News.

From Messenger to General.
General Pellegrin, who has just been appointed to the command of the thirteenth division of French infantry, with headquarters at Langres, is a living proof of the possibility of rising by unaided effort, which Napoleon crystallized into the saying that every French soldier carried a marshal's baton in his knapsack.

General Pellegrin, whose parents were in very poor circumstances, began life as a telegraph messenger at Marseilles. He scraped and saved so as to be able to buy books, which he studied at night after his day's work for the post-office was finished. He took his baccalaureate, got into the military college at Saint-Cyr, obtained his commission with flying colors and passed the Ecole de Guerre, or staff college. He took part in the operations in Morocco in 1907, was badly wounded at the battle of the Marne, and afterwards returned to Morocco, where he became one of Marshal Lyautey's most valued assistants.

Umbrella Sign of Married Man.
You can tell a married man by the umbrella he checks, asserts the young capitalist who presides over the cloak-room of a family restaurant. If he has two weather sticks, one a heavy, cheap affair, that was purchased with the idea of being soon lost, and the other of finer material, it's a sure bet that he's married.

According to this psychologist, married folks when they start out in the rain each carries his own umbrella so they can have the minimum of inconvenience and retain a maximum of dryness. In the pre-nuptial times the male of the species would never hear of the woman battling the winds alone. He would carry the umbrella over her and get wet himself. But they're married now, and that makes a difference.

No Place for Tobacco Fiends.

As a precaution against forest fires, smoking has been entirely prohibited in any part of the Olympic national forest in Washington. The area covered by the "no smoking" order amounts to about 540,000 acres. The period of this prohibition is to be determined by the district forester at Portland, Oregon. The urgent reason for this action is due to the fact that the area was largely swept by a cyclone during the last winter and the ground is covered with broken trees and branches of trees so that if a fire were to get any headway at all, it would be difficult to check it.

KEEP YOUR MONEY AT HOME

INSTEAD OF ALLOWING OUTSIDE PEOPLE TO COME HERE IN THE WINTER AND RIDE THE NEWSPAPERS AND TAKE THE MONEY AWAY

By C. W. MORSE in DeLand News

There is one particular thing in which the people of DeLand are suffering the infliction of hardships that is susceptible of easy and effective remedy, and the remedy will not be very expensive. I refer to the matter of such public functions as lectures, concerts, evangelical efforts and the like, in which imported talent is employed.

By imported talent I mean that which is procured from elsewhere than Volusia county.

With a city the size of DeLand, it is a very easy matter to get "shined up" in such matters, unless some system is put into operation that will control the opening and closing of the gates.

The present winter season has furnished several forcible illustrations of a superfluity of such affairs. By calling to the attention of our readers many instances can be cited in which the burden of financing and providing such functions has been very heavy, and considerable dissatisfaction has been created.

The abundance of efforts to show that the people of DeLand as a whole, are exceptionally liberal in the matter of financing such public affairs has been mentioned. It is safe to conclude that DeLand has established a reputation in this respect that readily makes her a "shining star" in the estimation of a large list of promoters of the class of public functions under consideration. The advance agents of these promoters come here in considerable numbers and proceed to secure one or more dates for such affairs as they represent.

They are generally men of shrewd business ability, keen judges of human nature, and soon size up the situation and decide upon a course of action.

Their purpose is to enlist the interest and co-operation of local citizens of wide influence. This being done, it is a comparatively easy matter to close a contract for one or more dates, and the thing is done.

With pardonable pride and ambition, the local citizens who have espoused the affair in question, very naturally and logically proceed to the development of conditions that will secure the highest degree of success possible for its conclusion.

With several such affairs on the board at the same time, each with its local champions, it is easy to see that there is bound to be some crowding and more or less dissatisfaction.

The champions of each proposition be it a lecture, concert, revival meeting or whatever, feel certain that all the people should patronize that particular affair, and if they do not do so, it is much to their discredit.

In the matter of publicity, the newspaper is the chief factor, and of course it must do the fair thing and give each and every proposition a liberal amount of gratuitous service.

It matters not whether the editor is in sympathy with a given proposition or not, he is supposed to give it generous space and always in the best position, and as a matter of news of public interest.

When the affairs come off the people furnish the money in liberal quantities up into the pocketbooks of the imported talent. It sometimes occurs that for months or years afterwards they refer to such and such affairs as fakes, or, at least, as unworthy of their patronage.

And this is the case, in the course of a year, many thousands of dollars are taken out of our midst by a long list of imported individuals, and the result is that we have had value received for nothing.

It is quite true that there are many noble exceptions to this rule, instances where untold benefits have been received by the city and community by the labors of people who have been secured for lectures, evangelistic meetings, concerts, etc.

There should be no barrier to admit to which all such propositions are we are considering should be referred, that committee should be representative body, which will function with the people of DeLand.

The scope of this paper does not include the activities of theatres, moving picture shows, circuses, clubs, or even individuals, churches, etc. They all have and would continue to have, the undisputed right and privilege of putting on whatever they may choose. Theatres and moving picture shows are commercial propositions, run on business principles.

The class of functions under consideration in this discussion is such and antipathetic to more or less general co-operation on the part of the public in order to secure desired success. This might be accomplished for such central committee as has been suggested, and the proposed representatives from such organizations and interests as the Commercial Club, the Ministerial Association, Women's Club, W. C. T. U., American Legion, Citizen's League, the University, newspaper publishers, and perhaps others.

Let every such proposition that comes before the committee under review, be turned over to the Lyceum Bureau for decision. In the event the Bureau favors the putting on of any such function, let it designate the particular organization or society that shall put it on.

With this arrangement the best interests of the city and community will be guarded, and whatever is put on will be handled unitedly and hence successfully. Desired co-operation will be secured, and the liabilities of the clashing of interests will be reduced to a minimum.

With such a system in operation many thousands of dollars will be kept at home that is now sent out of the city. The existence and operation of such an organization would secure a far greater degree of unanimity of sentiment among the people than could be secured without that consideration. Whether any proposition is presented of the class under consideration, the first question that should be asked is this: Is there local talent in the city or community that can take care of the proposition to reasonably good advantage?

If this question be answered in the affirmative, as might frequently occur, and it be decided that it will be wise to have that kind of proposition put on, let the Bureau designate the particular local talent, and suggest the organization of interest to handle it. Then let all co-operate to secure desired success.

In a great number of cases it will be found that local talent can be found that will handle a proposition as ably and successfully as the proposed importation. It would be within the province of the Lyceum Bureau to initiate propositions for public functions, upon suitable occasions, and designate the individuals or organizations who should put them on.

It frequently occurs that a real demand exists for something of this kind to be put on in the city, but for want of a proper head, nothing is done. The jurisdiction of the Lyceum Bureau might be extended to take in still other affairs than such as have been suggested. It could easily become a "household necessity" for the good of the city.

The slogan "Buy at Home," that applies with strong emphasis to the purchase of merchandise of all kinds, should also apply, to a very considerable extent, to the subject under consideration.

Take the question of temperance, by way of illustration. There is absolutely no feature of this question that cannot be fully and ably handled by local talent. The sources of information regarding every possible feature of this subject are as much at the command of local talent as of any body else.

There are thousands of splendid men and women in the community who have just as earnest convictions and noble purposes concerning the temperance question as can be found in the world. A determination to develop their talents in the matter of pushing the temperance propaganda. By giving local talent an opportunity to serve the public in such matters as are under consideration, such talent will be improved, and the chance are that some superior workers may be evolved.

In the matters of travel, history, science, music, art and literature, DeLand is very favorably situated. The University, high school, legal fraternity, ministerial association, and many respectable people who come among us as visitors, from time to time, can abundantly handle all these subjects in a manner that will measure up to the high watermark of efficiency and benefit.

Because local talent is employed to handle a subject for which a generous fee would have to be paid to an imported individual, is no reason for not properly compensating that talent. We should be reasonably liberal with local talent in the matter of compensation.

While speaking of the matter of compensation of local talent for public services, I would like to mention from

I can do so from an impartial standpoint. It is a difference of opinion between the individuals and the editor of a newspaper as to what constitutes news and what should be considered as commercial publicity. In this matter, the general principles of the newspaper business and the long experience of the editor qualify that individual to pass accurate judgment.

It follows, therefore, that the editor must be allowed to decide, without argument, as to the extent of his gratuitous service, and to draw the dividing line between news, as such, and purely commercial service.

Because a man is a newspaper publisher is no reason why he should be expected to donate an unlimited amount of service that would cost a lot of money if secured from any other source.

Lawyers, doctors, and laborers of all classes, exercise their own judgment in establishing a price upon their services. The publisher of a newspaper should be given the same privilege.

Every inch of space in a newspaper is as much merchandise, to the publisher as are the canned goods, the groceries, clothing, boots and shoes on the shelves of the store in the city.

The editor must be allowed and expected to decide just what material shall be admitted to the columns of his paper, and upon what terms.

There is no more justice or reason for asking the editor to donate space in his paper for the promotion of a commercial enterprise than there is to ask a merchant to donate a quantity of his merchandise for a like purpose. The principle ought to be more generally recognized that newspaper publicity that is directly calculated to further the financial interests or success of any undertaking, and that would cost money if done by any other method, is legitimate service for adequate compensation.

It should also be recognized that the publishers of newspapers are entitled to name the price of any such service that they do not care to render gratuitously. And newspaper publishers must generally perform service for far less money than would be charged by any other agency for a service of equal volume.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE IS ROUTED BY FIRE

A beautiful house is destroyed by fire in Constance Talmadge's new picture, "Lessons in Love," which will be the attraction at the Star Theatre tonight. In this scene a whole family is driven to the street in night attire, Constance being a member of the shivering group. The fire results in one of the best comedy situations in the plot and serves as a prelude to the final "lesson in love." Kenneth Harlan is Miss Talmadge's leading man in this production, which is released by Associated First National Pictures, Inc.

SHOULD START NOW

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 7.—Watermelon growers of Central Florida should have their seed in the ground by February 20, while their fellows of the southern and northern portions of the state should plant a few days later or earlier, says the Agricultural News Service of the University of Florida.

Some more pertinent hints on the growing of the fruit as given by the university experts follow: New land is best for watermelons. If you cannot get new land, select a grown for five or six years. This lessens the risk of disease.

Watermelon land should be broadcasted and sown broadcasted two or three weeks before planting time.

About ten days before planting, check off the field and apply from 400 to 600 pounds of fertilizer to the acre, putting it around the places where the seed will be planted. This means that the fertilizer will become incorporated into the soil and there will be less danger of injury to the seed from the salt.

It is a good idea to follow the planting with one or two inches, about a week intervening between each. This is advised because frost is liable to kill unexpectedly the first planting.

"UNDER THE LASH" PLEASE

"Under the Lash," the Paramount picture starring Gloria Swanson, will heat the Star theatre tomorrow. It is a dramatic photoplay, the scenes of which are laid in South Africa. The star is beautifully cast as the wife of a fanatical Boer farmer, which Mahlon Hamilton, the leading man, has the role of a vigorous young Englishman. The production is of the highest grade.

Medical service will make even greater strides when some scientist manages to isolate the germ of professional jealousy.

MONTVERDE DEFEATS ORLANDO 30 TO 13

The Montverde Industrial School basketball team defeated the fast Orlando High school quintet, in Montverde Friday night, 30 to 13. The winners had the upper hand in the game throughout its entire length and the result of the game was never in doubt. An unusual amount of interest was manifested during the game and despite the fact that the score was one-sided, the Orlando boys played well.

At the end of the first half the winners were in the lead, 16 to 2. The Orlando, five seemed to have great difficulty in locating the basket although they had many chances to score. Crawley, forward for the winners, made the first score of the game about thirty seconds after the opening whistle.—Orlando Sentinel.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING COLUMNS OF THE DAILY HERALD

LIKE GREAT, THROBBING MARTS OF TRADE ARE THE CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING COLUMNS OF THE DAILY HERALD

Strange—what an immense amount of goods and services are bought and sold day after day through the classified section of this paper.

In the throbbing marts of the East one could buy, sell or exchange almost anything that has any kind of value; in Sanford an increasing number of people are using the modern mart—the classified section of this paper.

Many a family has more comforts—even luxuries—through taking advantage of the chance to buy things for a half or less from the advertisers.

Whether it be a job, a service, a business or an article advertised for sale—each want-ad represents a human desire with a hope for its fulfillment. He who responds profits equally with him who has sent out the call, for it is always "something for something," with the honors even on both sides. Study the classified section of—

THE WEATHER

For Florida: Fair and continued cold tonight; heavy frost and temperature near freezing in North portion; light to heavy frosts in central portion and probably light frost in interior of South portion tonight; Thursday fair and warmer.

PERSONALS

And it was frosty weather. O. P. Swope of Oviedo was in the city today on business.

Weather report says frost tonight and undoubtedly it will be.

C. W. Entzinger and W. C. Satcher were among the Longwood visitors to the city today.

Seminole county roads will soon be the best in the state and it will be a joy ride on all of them.

Rotary Club and Kiwanis Club will bowl for championship tonight at the Parish House. Come out and see the big boys do the stunt.

The county commissioners held a very interesting meeting yesterday and it will be given in detail as soon as it can be rushed from the clerk's office.

H. T. Pace, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is reported as improving, and will soon be out again. This will be good news to his numerous friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Donnelly and party left today for Tampa where they will take in the south Florida fair and have a good time visiting many points of interest.

The many friends of Mrs. Ralph Goodspeed are glad to see her out again after being confined to her home for the past four weeks after being knocked down and dragged by a car on Oak avenue.

A. P. Connelly had his car on center yesterday afternoon on Magnolia avenue and is pushing it over he slipped and fell on the brick street dislocating his shoulder. He is able to get about today but will be incapacitated for some time to come.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Avery and Miss Elizabeth Avery, of Atlanta, have been the guest of Miss Elizabeth Hummer. They were delighted to find the "Land of Flowers" looking so pretty while just a few hundred miles from the country is wrapped in snow.

How the Popularity Contest is Standing at Melville's Show

Melville's Comedians playing in the big tent this week under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club are putting on a popularity contest in which the most popular young lady in the city will receive a diamond ring next Saturday night. Votes are given on tickets, on cold drinks sold in the tent and the merchants whose ads are in the tent also give away tickets. Go to the show each night and learn more about the contest. The standing of the contestants up to date is as follows:

HAS THE PUBLIC BEEN BUNCOED?

When the railroads were returned to their owners after the war there was a loud howl of indignation from the latter about the condition in which their property had been handed over as being sadly demoralized, with freight cars scattered from one end of the country to the other, and many of them unfit for use and badly needing repairs. There was a shortage of locomotives, as the government had made few replacements of those which it had worn out. Worse than that demoralization of the equipment was that of the working force. It had been largely increased, wages had been raised to a point that could not be maintained under private management with any hope of profit and a host of absurd and embarrassing restrictions had been placed on the roads which largely increased their expenses, at the same time reducing their efficiency. It was claimed that the roads could not be handled, as they had been handled by the government with any expectation of returning a profit to their stockholders, and unless relief could be had in the way of increased freight rates, or a visual subsidy from the government, the roads must go into bankruptcy and the whole transportation system of the country would be crippled. As a part of the general managers justified their claims for relief, we make the following extracts from a paper issued by the railway executives:

On March 1, 1920, federal control ended, leaving as a legacy restrictive and wasteful national agreements governing the working conditions of several large classes of employes and an insistent demand by all groups of employes for still further wage advances. As a result, in July, 1920, the labor board awarded the greatest single wage increase ever granted to any group of employes and at the same time continued national agreements indefinitely.

In the belief that their demands were justifiable and necessary, the roads were given authority to advance their rates, which were already burdensome to business. But the advance did not produce the hoped-for revenue. It was more than the traffic would bear and business fell off until their last state was worse than their first. At least that was the claim of the roads. Was that claim correct? Some recent developments seem to foster the idea that the sympathy of the public may have been worked upon to a degree that was not warranted by the facts.

Messrs. McAdoo and Hines, who managed the roads while they were under government control have both testified recently that they were returned to the owners in better condition than when they were taken over. Mr. McAdoo, especially, asserts that the government added more than 4,000 locomotives and over 28,000 freight cars to be the equipment of the roads, and that every increase of wages was justified.

As a partial corroboration of the idea that the railroads are not as hard up as they claim to be, we have the claim backed up by the figures for a term of years, made by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad company that its net earnings for the year 1921 were greater than for any previous year in its history, except 1916. If this is correct, and we have no reason to doubt it, it is evident that the railroads are not suffering from financial paralysis, and there is no reason why freight rates should not be reduced to a living basis. Other interests, agriculture especially, are suffering, even worse than the railroads are claiming to be and if they are not speedily relieved, there will be general distress which will evidently involve the whole country. At any rate the country is entitled to know the exact facts in all their bearings, that it may be able to place the responsibility where it belongs.—Tampa Tribune.

O. H. S. MEETS SANFORD HIGH FRIDAY

The Orlando high school basketball team will play the Sanford high quintet on the Armory court, here Friday night. This is the second time these two teams have played this year and this game promises to be as hotly contested as the first one, which was won by the local eagles by the scant margin of four points. Both teams are very evenly matched and they are old rivals.—Orlando Sentinel.

Cash Prices Must Look Good To The Trade Read This

Thrasher & Garner did $830.00 more business on a strictly cash basis during the month of January than during January, 1921, on a time basis. This reflects the hearty approval and co-operation of the buying public for which we are grateful. If you pay cash, and have not visited our store, we shall appreciate a call. The fact that we are doing more business selling for cash than we previously did on time, and for cash, is convincing proof that our lower scale of prices is bringing the trade our way.

Pay Cash — Cash Pays

It's the real thrift game, that makes man careful, comfortable and contented. Careful about what he spends and what he gets for what he spends. Comfortable because he pays for what he gets. Contented because he buys at the lowest market price.

Don't miss seeing the Twins on display Saturday in Thrasher & Garner's show window. Go in and take a guess. It won't cost you a penny, and you may be the prize getter.

Don't be alarmed, you do not have to take them if you do not want them.
