

Year-Around Classes Are Catching On

By FRANK MACMORER
Copley News Service

Last summer was no great shakes for 12-year-old Robert Barton of St. Charles, Mo. In other years he had earned some pin money by picking strawberries at 12 cents a quart.

In the summer of 1971, however — and again this summer — Robert will be spending his vacation time attending the Becky-David Elementary School at St. Charles, confronted with such midyear problems as modern math, the language arts (probably Spanish) and social science.

Many educators favor it. Robert, you see, is one of the thousands of American students across the land whose schools now keep their doors open the year-round.

"I'd rather be out running," Robert says. So would a lot of other midsummer students be running, or doing something besides attending regular classes during the hot months. However, economic, educational and even sociological considerations are contributing to the spread of the 12-month school idea.

The parents, educators and taxpayers like it more than the students dislike it.

Businesses and taxpayers are being less sympathetic toward school problems when they see plants remaining idle for three months," explains Gene L. Schwick, a former school superintendent and now are voting down school bonds for new classroom construction.

The next best thing to a new building is to use present facilities a fourth to a third more by keeping them open all year.

George Jensen, former president of the Minneapolis school board and now chairman of the National School Study Calendar Committee, says at least 1,000 other districts are studying the wisdom of all-year instruction.

Probably the chief motive behind year-round schools is money — or lack of it, rather. Taxpayers all over the country vice president of the education-oriented Danforth Foundation.

The two most widely used variations of the 12-month school system are the "45-15" plan and the 12-week quarter program.

Under the first, students are divided into four groups, each of which attends school for nine-week periods followed by three-week vacations throughout the year.

The second approach, used mostly in high schools, involves four 12-week quarters, with students attending three of four terms on a suggested year-round basis.

Leonard Mendonca, an 11-year-old at Park Elementary School in Hayward, a suburb of San Francisco, says "it's a three-week break. Unlike the 45-15 plan, all Park students are in school and on vacation at the same time."

Not all communities, of course, favor the 12-month school plan.

"When I used to go to Winton Grove, I had my vacation all at one time. This way you don't forget everything."

Park School is on the quarter system. Youngsters attend school 10 weeks, then go on a three-week break. Unlike the 45-15 plan, all Park students are in school and on vacation at the same time.

Not all communities, of course, favor the 12-month school plan.

Board Hassles On 45-15 Plan

Question Raised On Sufficient Finances; Angel Promises To Deliver Facts At Next Meeting

She added the extended year concept was the "great answer" her, Angel said he would have all information on costs ready at the next board session.

Culpepper indicated he had plans to place the matter before the public in November when he explained, "I want all the facts."

However, acting on a recommendation from Angel, Culpepper withdrew his motion to await the superintendent's report.

The board voted to pay architect Eoghan Kelly a $9,800 bill for his study on costs to air condition classrooms in order to implement the 45-15 concept.

Board deleted a request for the purchase of a baby grand piano at new Lake Brantley High School after W. H. DeShazo, board aide, disclosed the schools have never purchased such an instrument for the other county schools.

This brought on an outcry from Angel, who didn't like the action to "arbitrarily" cut the plans without discussing it first with the new school's equipment committee.

Lone "nay" vote was cast by Culpepper as the board voted three-to-one to omit the instrument.

A P. Bule Jr., board member, failed to appear at the Monday session and, according to records, his last appearance at a board meeting was June 13.

But Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, R-Sargert Shriver, former director of the Peace Corps, and McGovern's close friend Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine head most speculators' lists of likely replacements for Eagleton, who became the first man in American history to give up a major party's nomination for vice president.

Julian Bond, a leader in the "Blacks for McGovern" campaign, quoted a high-placed McGovern aide as saying Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter is being considered to replace Eagleton.

As for a new choice for vice president, Kader expressed the opinion that Lawrence O'Brien, past chairman of the Democratic national committee and postmaster general in the Johnson administration, could aid the ticket greatly as vice presidential nominee, due to his work for and demonstrated loyalty for the party.

Dr. W. Vincent Roberts, former Sanford city commissioner and a prime mover in the recent presidential campaign effort of Sen Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota, said unequivocally he has no intention of supporting McGovern regardless of who is his running mate.

McGovern Dumps Eagleton

Unable to convince presidential candidate George McGovern that the issue of Eagleton's history as a psychiatric patient would go away, the Missouri senator sadly stepped down Monday night and cleared the way for McGovern to look for a new running mate.

Some Educators Favor Classes For 4s And 5s

By ROBERT BETTS
Copley News Service

Should the school-starting age be lowered?

There has been a great deal of discussion about having children attend public school before age 5 — at 4, say, or even earlier.

Many educators favor it. Scientific studies have indicated that the first five years of human life are crucial for learning. One conducted by Benjamin Bloom, a University of Chicago psychologist, attested that half of all growth in human intelligence takes place between birth and age four.

Other experts put the estimate even higher. "The increasing evidence from research, declaring that perhaps as much as 80 per cent of a child's intelligence is developed by age 4 or 5, has galvanized the interest of parents and educators alike in the importance of early childhood learning," said U.S. Education Commissioner Sidney P. Marland Jr.

There are 12.5 million 3, 4, and 5-year-olds in the United States. Some four million are enrolled in preprimary schools. They include children in nurseries, kindergartens, church operated preprimary schools, some combination nursery-day care and other private schools and federal preschools like Head Start.

Educators say 4-year-olds who attend nursery school appear to have an advantage over those who enter school for the first time at age 5 (kindergarten) or 6 (first grade).

The American Association of School Administrators has recommended "that schools, in appropriate fashion, serve all children from at least age four, not excluding those with special needs, who are under age four."

The Education Policies Commission of the National Education Association also believes "all children should have an opportunity to go to school at the public age beginning at age 4."

Other groups that have advocated for early childhood education include the American Federation of Teachers and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

In California, state Superintendent of Schools Wilson Riles has proposed an education program to expand the public schools to include classes for 4-year-olds and to revamp teaching from kindergarten through third grade.

Under the five-year, $51 million program, local school districts would shape their own plans, but Riles said they would be encouraged to use parents, trained aides and volunteers in classrooms to reduce the current pupil-teacher ratio from about 30-1 to about 16-1.

Parents would be given the option of sending their 4-year-olds to school in the same manner as 5-year-olds may now be sent to kindergarten.

Riles said his plan was intended to "turn on" California's youngsters to education so that by the third grade every child would be expected to perform adequately in reading, language and mathematical skills.

The growing preschool movement is, however, opposed by some teachers as well as by many parents.

In Illinois, where it is proposed to put noncompulsory preschool classes into public schools by 1976, several teachers said they thought too much value was being put on preschool education.

But the Welcome Wagon hostess can make it easier to adjust to your new surroundings, and maybe put a smile on your face!

Schools' Budget Record

Walter Teague, associate superintendent, said the new budget would increase during the course of the year to $28 million and added that last year's $24,991,586 budget was increased to $27 million before year's end.

In order to fund the new budget, which became effective July 1, 10 mills limit operating assessment was levied and in order to send 17 students to Forest Park School and 18 students to Park Lake School.

Another agreement approved was a continuation of the use of instructional television at $9,200 a year from Orange County.

The charge is based on one dollar each for all Seminole County students in grades kindergarten through five.

Teague said money was reserved for the two expenditures.

Teague said the board's total assets, including the ownership of schools, land, etc. was $54,282,360.10 June 30.

Boat Explodes; Girl Hurt

The Casselberry Volunteer Fire Department responded to the fire with fire fighting equipment and emergency vehicle.

Kimberly was taken to Orange Memorial Hospital in Orlando where she was treated and released.

Also in the 17-foot craft when the accident occurred were her half-sister, Brad Darby, and Peter Patchell, who was helping the family. Both dove overboard into Lake Kathryn to escape the fire ball which formed when the motor was switched on in the boat. They were not injured.

The youngsters had been riding on the lake and water skiing with the boat which belonged to a neighbor, Herman Joyce.

The boat and motor were a total loss and Joyce valued them at $1,600. Cause of the explosion has not been determined.

Whatever happened to Hank Bauer?

Twice within a three-year period, he was voted the best manager in the American League. The years were 1964 and 1966. He was managing Baltimore, and the Orioles were the best team in the league the last three years.

Bauer is struggling in Minor League oblivion... managing a team named Tidewater.

Got anybody else you've been wondering about?

Larry Verbeil, you ask? He's the gent who filled this chair a couple years back and did an outstanding job (why the folks even wanted to run him out of town on a number of occasions...)

Always the sign of success, I'm told... if you stick the needle in and strike a sore spot... somebody starts a petition to get rid of you.

Anyhow, Larry has recently been appointed to the public relations staff of J.F.P. & Associates in Duluth.

And when the mention Duluth you automatically tie in the name of Jen Paulucci.

Whatever happened to Jen Paulucci? (Last we heard, he was busy going around raising that $3 million to fight George McGovern...)

Which brings me to another puzzler. Presidential Assistant to Mr. Nixon? What was he doing here in Sanford last week? And in the company of local well-known Democrats, too?

McGovern Dumps Eagleton Eight Eyed For Veep Candidate

Kennedy, Massachusetts senator has steadfastly disavowed any interest in running for national office this year. But, following Eagleton's dramatic withdrawal Monday, McGovern could well go to Kennedy and argue that his chances have been damaged by the Eagleton affair and only a Kennedy on the ticket could preserve the Democrats' chances of beating President Nixon in November.

Whomever McGovern selects will require approval of the newly constituted 303 member Democratic National Committee. Eagleton went before the hot lights of a Monday night news conference to grimly announce he was withdrawing his candidacy. "My personal feelings are secondary to the necessity to unify the Democratic party and elect George McGovern," the Missouri senator said. He added later that he and McGovern reached the historic accord jointly "so as not to further divide the party that is already too much divided."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was sorry at the turn of events but called it a "decision that had to be made." He reiterated his faith in Eagleton. O'Brien, who is enlisting support of old-line Democrats in the McGovern cause, said he had talked with McGovern following Eagleton's announcement, but added that they did not discuss the choice of a new running mate. "This is definitely not my last press conference and Tom Eagleton is going to be around for a long, long time."

Grim-faced Eagleton staff members and supporters applauded almost defiantly as the Missouriian said: "This is definitely not my last press conference and Tom Eagleton is going to be around for a long, long time." The announcement followed a nearly two-hour meeting in the Marble Room of the Senate floor where, in the presence of Sen. Nelson, Eagleton began with a 15-minute defense of his case. He argued, he said later, that the issue of his three stints in the hospital for nervous exhaustion and fatigue—including electric shock treatment twice—would die away. Then, he said, the issues and the Nixon administration's record would again assume the spotlight in the campaign for the White House. McGovern disagreed. He said at the news conference: "It was not Sen. Eagleton's health that was the factor in this decision. It was the debate in the country, it was the furor in the country."

However, Morris submitted his resignation to council effective at 2 this morning. However, all of the evening's transactions were not on the main side, with Councilman Charles Rowell withdrawing his previous resignation of last Monday over the police department dispute.

Attorney Held In Baby Sale

MIAMI (AP)—A Miami Beach attorney accused of being a member of a "three-state adoption black market" has been arrested and charged with seven counts of luring and selling children, police said today. Walter H. Leibowitz was arrested Monday and the State Attorney's office said the investigation involved persons in Florida, New York and New Jersey. Assistant State Atty. Douglas Williams said Leibowitz was alleged to have conspired with Sonia Chernin of New Jersey and Martin Ginsberg, a Brooklyn, N.Y., attorney, to sell a baby to a New Jersey couple for $5,500. Williams identified the couple only as "M. and S. Kosmin," an engineer and schoolteacher. Officials said the New Jersey couple allegedly purchased the 4-year-old infant using travelers' checks.

YOUNG Rusty Raulerson of Chulotva is making a slow recovery from complications that followed an attack of the measles last March. He is now able to come home on weekends and enjoy the company of his sister Theresa, right, and cousin, Brenda Tugale.

Leibowitz also is charged with inducing the mother of two small children to commit perjury during a juvenile court hearing before Judge John V. Ferguson.

Melody Lane Paving Ok'd By Casselberry

CASSELLBERRY — City Council held a public hearing to set assessments for the paving of Melody Lane. Estimated total cost of the project is $16,000. The city will pay the full cost of draining the street, which will be identical in construction to Sunset Drive. Council agreed upon the assessment of $11.53 per front foot for property owners who face the street, and also agreed to allow this payment on the property

Stipulations For Density Decided At Casselberry

By KATHY NIBLACK
CASSELLBERRY — It took many City Council meetings and four different proposals, but the council has finally decided on density stipulations for B-3 zoned areas. Proposals have included unit per acre densities, square footage densities, and combinations of the two, but council had not been able to reach a decision on exactly what the requirements of the county. He reported to the council that the county adopted a Land Use Plan in October, 1970, which set up density regulations for all types of areas. The density allowed for apartments usually does not exceed 13 units per acre, but this has been exceeded in three instances since the adoption of the plan.

Review Ordinance, which was adopted since the moratorium on B-1 building was imposed. Gray's argument is that his property was zoned before this, and should not be affected by new requirements. He has been involved with the property for two years, and during this time has been in contact with the city constantly. Charles Gray, who owns 15 acres of land on Sunset Drive, was before the council requested that he not be required to comply with the Zoning Ordinance and Site Plan court because of its refusal to allow a developer to waive the latest density and review requirements.

Garage Sale U.S.A.

(If we have it in stock, you get it on sale.)

Remember, buckles, seat belt and shoulder belts are an idea you can't live without.
Last year over 6000 Chevy dealers all across America had one big Garage Sale. It was a big success. Because every new car and truck they had in inventory, they also had on sale. So they're doing it again this year. Right now, in fact. And it's your best chance of the year to save on a new Chevrolet.
Because your dealer has to move out all his '72s to make room for the '73s. (He gets a chance to clean house. You get a chance to clean up.) You'll find a good selection to choose from. In all shapes and sizes. And all priced to go. So see your friendly neighborhood Chevy dealer now while his Garage Sale is going on. See how much you can save. Then go and see some of the U.S.A.
Building a better way to see the U.S.A.

Ecological Common Sense Voiced

At a time when the clean-up of the political environment has stolen much of the spotlight from the formerly popular cry of the ecologist...

It arrives on our desk at a most welcome time. For the issue of the Cross-Florida Barge Canal has, quite properly, again been raised.

We have been supporters of this canal and still are. For in it is the promise of better economic health for all of Florida and, more especially, for Central Florida where its completion would allow the full expansion of the facilities of the Port of Sanford.

Dr. Wolman exposes some of the popular accepted ecological myths. He denies vehemently that "the world is running out of oxygen." He does not believe "that the increasing amounts of carbon dioxide, sulfur dioxide and particulate matter in the atmosphere will alter the world climate."

Offbeat Ruminations Envelope Opener-Awakening Tool

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: You use salt not only because your body needs it physically, but because it also helps make you feel good emotionally.

Now, however, there is more than a glimmer of light from the application of basic common sense to this extraordinary presidential order which nullified action by the Congress and thus again brought into debate the matter of the constitutional division of powers.

The article which is well worth much more thorough perusal than this comment allows is by Dr. Abel Wolman, consulting engineer with John Hopkins University with a distinguished record of awards and honors won by his professional achievements. The tone of his conclusions is set by an italicized line: "Making and keeping our environment habitable as necessary as everyone says it is— but it's not time yet to stop the world and get off."

Dr. Wolman exposes some of the popular accepted ecological myths. He denies vehemently that "the world is running out of oxygen." He does not believe "that the increasing amounts of carbon dioxide, sulfur dioxide and particulate matter in the atmosphere will alter the world climate."

He quoted an unnamed educated influential person as saying in conversation, "I don't care whether he killed a man or not. As far as I'm concerned, I'll vote for him again."

He added, two new military radars will be deployed at undisclosed sites between Tyndall Air Force Base at Panama City, Fla., and Houston, and other radars located at 21 Pan Am, Tex., Silver City, N.M., and Phoenix, Ariz., will be tied into the system.

High-finder radars will be collected at the sites to complete the southern defense network and the Air Force will provide interceptor aircraft in five minute readiness at four sites to support the mission, the Command said.

Global View North Viet Dikes As Bomb Targets

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Publicly, in the United States and around the world, President Nixon is being attacked daily for dike destruction in North Vietnam.

What isn't reported is that privately some officials in the Pentagon and in the White House are criticizing the President for not bombing the dikes "to bring the war to a quick end."

In recent weeks, this reporter has listened to off the record "why not bomb the dikes" arguments in fairly high circles in the government and to complaints that Mr. Nixon has recently given (renewed) "the strictest orders" that North Vietnam dikes are not to be targets.

So what, then, is the truth? This reporter understands from contacts in the Pentagon that the prevailing opinion among Defense Secretary Melvin Laird and military advisers, including the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is that deliberate bombing of dikes would not be good military strategy. It would be counter-productive and would not bring the war to a quick end.

Even putting moral considerations aside, there is strong belief the dikes are not the most effective targets in this type of war.

One thing is certain. If the Air Force and Navy air were ordered to systematically destroy North Vietnam's dike system, the flooding this season would be tremendous and horrible to behold. There would be no hiding the fact that North Vietnam would be a fan of the dike.

Women today are two thirds of the agricultural labor force in North Vietnam and that force has been stretched paper-thin. Because the Chinese withdrew their thousands of labor troops and because heavy casualties in the war in the South have depleted available manpower, dike repair has lagged. There have not been enough workers to spare.

Yet dikes historically have taken great amounts of manpower. In the olden days, it is reported, farmers were required to labor 60 to 120 days a year on public works to protect the dikes.

This year's rains have further weakened dikes that last year's floods softened up. Even if there was no bombing in 1972, there still would be floods and considerable destruction in North Vietnam.

Southern Air Defense Bolstered

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The U.S. Aerospace Defense Command (ADC), impulsively surprised last October when 23 Cubans flew uncharted to the New Orleans airport aboard a Russian built turboprop plane, announced Monday it will bolster air defenses across the southern United States with existing and new radars and jet interceptors.

The system will be partly operational by early October and fully operational by June 1973, the ADC said. It will use existing Federal Aviation Administration radars at New Orleans, Houston Air Force Base at Houston, Tex., Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio, Tex., and at O'Hare and Orland, Ill.

In addition, two new military radars will be deployed at undisclosed sites between Tyndall Air Force Base at Panama City, Fla., and Houston, and other radars located at 21 Pan Am, Tex., Silver City, N.M., and Phoenix, Ariz., will be tied into the system.

New Record

Hal Holloway, 20, a Texas Tech student, has given us another reason to believe that this college generation is the hope of the future.

He set a new world record by taking a shower for 169 hours. This beat the old record by an hour. Right down the drain, if you will.

The new champion says he didn't even come out of his shower for meals. And he slept on an air mattress in the show. We thought for sure it would be a water bed.

But enough of details. The feat is the thing. This is a persistent, durable and apparently shrink-proof generation. And most of us over-20 old-timers long ago gave up asking who in the hell used the hot water. — Charlotte (N.C.) Observer

One Man's Opinion Credit Cards: We Use, Disapprove

By DON OAKLEY You may love them or you may hate them, but chances are you've got at least one of them—those little pieces of plastic called credit cards.

Today, one out of every two families uses at least one credit card, reports Lewis Mandell, who directed the first comprehensive examination of credit card use in the United States for the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research.

The survey found that if a family uses credit cards at all, it generally uses several. Three credit cards is the median number for those families that use them, and a sizable proportion use six cards or more.

The interesting thing is that while credit cards are widely used, they are not widely approved of. "Few Americans tend to think of credit cards as a good thing, whether they use them or not," says Mandell, who found that 75 per cent of all persons interviewed thought that credit cards make it too easy to buy things they may not really want or can't really afford.

It's the credit card replacing money or checks? Mandell's findings indicate it is not. Families using credit cards tend to write more checks per month than families who do not use such cards.

The conclusion is that credit cards are taking a place in America's financial life, but are not making the pace of traditional methods of incurring debts or paying bills.

Americana Presidential Candidate Interview

somebody else was poised to come across a lot louder and clearer, like maybe my city editor.

Rather had not yet exhausted his vocabulary, nor his evaluation of the Stewart line.

"That's going on," he demanded. Rather and I gave a simulcast of our respective chances, which brought a chuckle from the teased one, Wendell Wilkie, of course.

"So you want an interview for the home-town paper?" he said, smiling. "Well, we'll be here for six weeks or so, and we don't want the local press mad at us, do we?"

Fred's comment was unintelligible. "Come on," said Wilkie, and there ensued a chat which somehow was transferred to type to make an only slightly deflated afternoon edition.

It was one of those things that had a happy ending all around. My city editor was happy, the visiting reporter got starting times on the Broadmoor course, Wilkie and I became good friends. Rather and I became good friends and my job was safe for another week, anyway.

It was a pretty good story, especially on such short notice, and I eschewed politics in writing it, which pleased Rather and all the out-towners. And brought home a journalistic lesson for all.

If at first you don't succeed, try the freight elevator.

Four Die In Jail Blaze

STUART, Fla. (AP) — Four southern inmates were killed when a fire swept through an enclosed maximum security jail at Martin County Jail late Monday night, trapping the victims inside their locked cells, police said.

Sheriff Robert L. Crowder said preliminary investigation indicated that three of the victims apparently were sleeping in their cells when the blaze broke out.

The fourth victim, the only prisoner in the upstairs cellblock, was confined in an adjacent cell, the sheriff said.

Crowder identified only one of the dead inmates — Robert Lassat, age 19 or 20, of Indianola, Fla. Identity of the other three victims was withheld pending notification of relatives. All victims were in their late teens or early 20s, the sheriff said.

Lassat had been jailed on forged charges, Crowder said. The sheriff said another victim was charged with auto theft and a third was serving a year's term for armed robbery.

The fourth inmate was awaiting transfer to Raiford State Prison after being convicted of second degree murder, he said.

Crowder said smoke from the blaze prevented a jailer from reaching an electrical switch which could have opened the door in the second floor cellblock. He said the jailer attempted to douse the flames with a fire extinguisher until volunteer fire units arrived.

The jail, a modern $500,000, two-story cement block structure opened less than a year ago, was not equipped with an overhead sprinkler system, the sheriff said. He said the building was fireproofed, however.

Open Wide

Gov. Edwin W. Edwards has decreed that all state boards and commissions under his administration's control are to keep their meetings open to the press and public. In short, the boards and agencies are to comply with the law, says the governor.

On the face of it, it seems ridiculous to commend a public official for decreeing that state agencies shall obey the law. But closed-door sessions among state boards and commissions have been seen too many times in the past to make the governor's order laughable.

State boards and commissions are to be open and above board in their dealings with the public and the media "so that the public can have the assurance of free access to the public's business," the governor declared.

His order was inspired, the governor said, by the belief that an open administration is vital to restoring confidence in state government. We think the governor is right and we welcome his reaffirmation of the open-meeting principle.

Faces St. Pete Azalea Seminole LL Opens Bid For State Title

By HERKY CUSH
Herald Sports Writer

TAMPA—Seminole's Little League All-Stars return to the road they hope will wind up in Williamsport, Pennsylvania as the Little League World Series as they battle St. Petersburg Azaleas tonight in a 5:30 p. m. contest in Tampa.

Tonight's tourney contest will be carried by Sanford radio station WTRR.

Thirteen teams from various sections of the state arrived in this area Monday to begin their quest for state tourney honors. Two have already had their day out short in games they lost last night.

St. Petersburg ousted Mims Little League by a 3-1 count while another east coast entry, Vero Beach blanked Sarasota 3-0 in another first round battle.

The Seminole-St. Pete Azaleas contest is one of four on the agenda today. Other games will have Tampa Town and Country meeting Miami Dade North, Vero Beach playing Jacksonville and Tampa Temple Terrace taking on Ft. Lauderdale Winston Manor.

Seminole manager Jerry McCalvin has a tough choice to make today and that has to do with his starting pitcher.

Timmy Raines is a veteran of tourney action both this year and last year and has pitched very well again this year. One of his best efforts was a no-hitter in the Area 2 final. But then there's Jim Whitrow who has a pair of tourney complete game victories to his credit this season. Whitrow has been more effective overall than Raines.

The prevailing Whitrow fanned 13 batters in an effort against Maitland. And in his next tourney appearance Whitrow fired a two-hitter at Conway, outting Seminole into the District 3 final. During that Conway game Whitrow showed plenty of money after he gave up a home run to the first batter, Seminole's Bruce Prieser also a possible starter in the outfield depending on whom gets the starting mound assignment.

Other members of the team include Mike Walstead, Kevin Bedsole, David Hill, Steve McKenne and Mike Anderson.

In yesterday's game between Sarasota and Vero Beach, Mark Routt struck out 12 batters and fired a strong one-hit shutout for Vero. He had no-hitter until the fifth. Losing pitcher Jeff Swindell also had a no-hitter until the fifth when Vero Beach managed its two hits and all three runs.

Andy Bellbound of St. Pete also was whiffed 13 and limited Mims to a pair of hits. Bellbound also socked a home run as St. Pete spotted Mims a 1-0 lead in the first inning.

On four hits and broke up a no-hitter by Stan Bahnen with a two-out single in the eighth inning.

Oakland's Blue, striving to regain the 1971 form that earned him the AL's Most Valuable Player and Cy Young Awards, lost his no-hitter when Texas pitcher Rich Hand led to a punt with two out in the sixth. The Rangers' only other hit was Tony Hurray's pinch single in the ninth.

Blue also scored Oakland's first run, racing home all the way from second base in the third inning when left fielder Ted Ford caught Joe Judge's fly ball and trotted toward the dugout thinking the inning was over.

Detroit's Toltch did not have everything Blue had—"I was struggling all night," he said-but managed to lead the Red Sox despite yielding seven hits, including Carl Yastrzemski's second homer of the season, and walking five. Aurelio Riquelme and Bill Freshen tossed two-run homers for the Tigers, with Freshen's snapping a 2-2 tie in the fifth.

The triumph boosted Detroit's lead over Baltimore in the AL East to 2½ games.

Baltimore skipper Earl Weaver, who bypassed New York's relief ace Sparky Lyle for last week's All-Star Game, could only sit and watch as Lyle won two scoreless innings in each game, saving the opener for Fritz Peterson and the nightcap for Hol Gardner, his 30th and 31st rescue jobs.

"Take that, Earl Weaver," muttered Yankee catcher Thurman Munson. "Pick somebody else for your All-Star team."

The Yankees rallied to win both games, scoring five runs in the seventh inning of the opener on five scratch hits, two errors, a walk, a fielder's choice and one solid single and capturing the nightcap on Bobby Murcer's two-out, two-run single in the eighth.

Chicago's Allen matched the record of two inside-the-park homers in a game set in 1932 by New York's Ben Chapman. His first, with two mates aboard in the first inning, Dick Tidwell batted a free-hit shot for Cleveland.

"I just swing and run," said Allen.

Cleveland's Jack Brainerd led off the 19th inning with a home run to win the first game for the Indians and they took the nightcap on a bases-loaded throwing error by Milwaukee pitcher Gary Ryerson in the ninth inning. Dick Tidwell batted a free-hit shot for Cleveland.

SAFE OR OUT? — It's hard to tell whether Sanford's Robert Smith has beat out throw or not as umpire Bobby Lundquist has yet to give a sign during recent tourney final between Sanford and Ormond Beach. First baseman for Ormond Beach is Story Brosz while Clark Gallagher is first base coach. Sanford won game, 5-2 and will compete in the state tourney next week at Tallahassee.

Thomas Traded Again

Unsigned Namath Won't Play

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — When he's not running drills and participating in scrimmages on the practice field, quarterback Joe Namath is huddling with New York Jets' management over his contract.

With the Jets' first preseason National Football League game against San Francisco only four days away, Namath still is unsigned, although he has remained in camp. Broadway Joe has participated in the Jets' preseason training regimen but says he will not play in exhibition or regular season games without a contract.

Asked about the negotiations, Jets President Phil Ilesin replied, "The hard part is over. We haven't agreed on the money."

Several hours later, however, the Jets' public relations staff announced a news conference today, saying only, "It will be an item of major importance."

Meanwhile, the Jets said they still had not heard from their No. 1 draft selection, wide receiver Jerome Barkum of Jackson State, and that all attempts to contact him have been unsuccessful.

At Thousand Oaks, Calif., late Monday night, the Dallas Cowboys traded controversial wide receiver Duane Thomas to the San Diego Chargers for wide receiver Billy Parks and running back Mike Montgomery, both second-year players.

The trade, rumored for weeks, was announced about 11 p.m., PDT, by Tex Schramm, president and general manager of the Cowboys.

The Chargers then traded fullback Jeff Queen to the Oakland Raiders for a No. 3 draft choice in 1973. The Cowboys also sent wide receiver Glover Richardson to Oakland for an undrafted draft pick.

Elsewhere in pro football, the Minnesota Vikings remained at odds with three of their holdovers—running back Clint Jones, St. Louis punter, veteran St. Louis quarterback, and wide receiver Gene Washington and defensive back Charlie West.

Jones and Washington had been scheduled to rejoin the team at its Manly State camp Monday, but failed to report.

The Cleveland Browns traded tackle Mitch Johnson, plus a 1974 eighth-round draft choice, to the Redskins for the New Orleans Saints' 1973 third-round pick, previously acquired by Washington.

The New England Patriots acquired punter John Benen from the Detroit Lions for a future draft choice.

The San Francisco 49ers swapped tight end Bob Windsor to New England for a first-round 1974 draft pick.

Allen's performance Monday shot him into good contention for baseball's three jewels. His 27 home runs and 77 RBIs give Allen runaway leads in those departments, and his .216 batting average is near the best in the league.

Tanner even alluded to the racing's triple crown to make a point about his first baseman who ran his way into the major league record books Monday against the Minnesota Twins with two inside-the-park home runs.

"He's better than Riva Ridge," Tanner loomed after Allen drove in five runs in an 8-1 White Sox romp. "I think we can win everything. If he gets better than two out of three, that's pretty good."

Riva Ridge was this spring's top 3-year-old with two victories in the three big races—Kentucky Derby, Belmont and Preakness.

Classic here was just another day at work.

"Sure I'm pleased to win the tournament, and I thought I played well," said Ashe. "But on this pro circuit you've always got to keep looking toward tomorrow."

Ashe won't have much time to savor his Louisville victory, which netted him $10,000. He meets Cox again today in the opening round of the U.S. Pro Championships at Boston.

"He'll probably beat the hell out of me up there," said Ashe.

It was the first tournament of the year for Ashe and only his second in 23 matches on the pro tour which is in its third year.

For the first time women's events in track and field were included in the Olympic program. The first Olympic champions were Elizabeth Robinson (USA) in the 100-meter, Lina Radke (Germany) in the 800-meter, Helena Konopacka (Poland) in the discus, Ethel Catherwood (Canada) in the high jump.

For the first time, the Olympic flame was lit in Olympia, Greece, and carried to the site of the Games.

Runners bore the torches through Greece, Yugoslavia, Austria and Germany on its way to the Netherlands.

Loses 1-Hitter Nolan Ryan Throws Too Hard

American League batters had a tough time hitting Nolan Ryan this season but Monday night his own first baseman couldn't handle him, and it cost him a ballgame.

The freethinking right-hander, who once struck out 21 batters in a minor league game but lost 2-1 on two steals of home, had lightning strike again when Amos Otis stole home with an unearned run in the fourth inning after Ryan's wild pickoff throw to give Kansas City a 1-0 victory over the California Angels.

The Royals didn't get a hit until Steve Hovley's firstpitch single in the eighth.

Up to that point, Ryan was threatening to become the second pitcher in modern baseball history to lose a complete-game no-hitter.

Elsewhere, Oakland's Vida Blue retired the first 17 Texas batters and hurled a two-hit 2-0 triumph over the Rangers. Detroit's Mickey Lolich became the majors' first 18-game winner by turning back Boston 5-2. The New York Yankees swept a doubleheader in Baltimore for the first time in 16 years 5-2 and 2-1. Chicago's Dick Allen became only the second modern pitcher to hit two inside-the-park home runs in one game on the White Sox whipped Milwaukee 8-1 and Cleveland swept Milwaukee for the second straight day 3-2 in 10 innings and 2-1.

Ryan allowed only Hovley's single and struck out 11 before allowing for a pinch hitter in the eighth. But he issued one of six walks to Otis leading off the fourth and then threw wildly past first—one of three such errors during the game—allowing Otis to race to third.

St. Louis' Ed Garlick struck out Lou Piniella, bounced back to Ryan but then he surprised everyone by stealing home as John Mayberry watched a 3-2 pitch sail low for ball four.

Nicklaus' last tournament appearance was in the British Open, where Trevino destroyed his glory dream of a pro golfer's Grand Slam with a miracle finish that brought a one-stroke victory for the Super Mex from El Paso, Tex.

Now it's come down to the last of the year's four major championships and Trevino is standard role as favorite.

"You just can't imagine how good I'm hitting the ball," Trevino said after posting a practice round of 65. He and partner Ray Floyd failed to qualify for the final two rounds in last week's team championship and Trevino took advantage of the unexpected extra time to get a head-start on his practice defending his PGA title he won some 18 months ago in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.

In his 10 years as a pro he's accumulated almost every honor or the game can offer. He recently matched the late Bobby Jones' record of 13 major titles.

STREET SCENE — Wherever young people congregate in Europe these days, there is growing concern that local authorities may make a bust. Getting caught with drugs is no joke, especially if you're an American tourist. (CNS Photo)

Europe's Drug Scene No Joke When Caught

By CLYDE STEINER
Copley News Service
ROME — There are now more than 1,500 Americans in European jails. Two-thirds of them are held on drug charges. That is 50 per cent increase over last year.
Almost all of the drug arrests are for possession or use of marijuana or hashish. Whether the Americans are hiding their drugs in London's Pentonville Prison or Rome's Regina Coeli (Queen of Heaven) Jail, their incarceration is a result of miscalculating the European approach to drugs.
The European attitude can best be summed up by the recent statement of a Salerno judge who told reporters, "Half a gram or half a kilo. It's all the same to me."
Indeed, the Italian Supreme Court recently ruled in a drug appeal case that there should be no difference under the law between those arrested for dealing in drugs and those arrested with small quantities for their personal use.
Ever England, with its reputation for leniency toward drug users and a free heroin program for addicts, is now incorporating the occasional in-policing tourist John W., a young Canadian, for example, was picked up at the London airport recently and is now serving a five-year sentence for importing hashish into the country.
The Italian and Spanish scenes are more brutal. William B. was placed in an Italian institution for the insane when he and his wife were arrested for the possession of a half-gram (seven-hundredths of an ounce) of hash.
Confinement in a mental hospital is not uncommon in Latin countries, where drugs are considered a strange mental aberration.
In Rome, "drugged youths," as the authorities call them, are treated with electric shock. Electrodes are taped to the drug user's head and current is applied. The electricity is apparently intended to provide the stimulus that will return the LSD user from his "trip" or the pot smoker from his "high." William B.'s wife, Carol, said she was "placed" in an Italian women's prison. She underwent an emergency operation and died there, two days later. She was buried a month before her case was scheduled for trial.
The severity of the European approach is far removed from the sophisticated and tolerant attitude taken toward the pot smoker in many American communities such as Ann Arbor, Mich., where pot smokers are now only subject to a $5 fine modeled after a parking ticket.

Arthur Bremer Identified As Wallace's Assailant

By TOM STUCKEY
Associated Press Writer
UPPER MERLBORO, N.J. (AP) — Two witnesses to the assassination attempt on George C. Wallace have identified Arthur B. Bremer in court as the man who wounded the Alabama governor.
Three other witnesses to the shooting failed to make a courtroom identification.
Bremer has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to 17 charges.
Wallace, seeking the Democratic nomination for president, and other persons were wounded in a volley of shots as the governor wound up a campaign rally May 15 at a Laurel, Md., shopping center.
Bremer was identified by two witnesses who identified Bremer's walk into the spectators' section of the Circuit Court trial room at Monday's opening session to identify the assassin. Bremer's shoulder that was the man they had seen point a gun at Wallace.
Bremer was seated on the fourth row between two other men, one of whom was dressed in civilian clothes. His hair was somewhat longer than the last time he was seen publicly and he was wearing a new beard. He did not acknowledge the identification.
There was no testimony to the 21-year-old defendant directly to the 38 caliber revolver found at the scene or that it was the weapon with which the governor, one of his campaign workers, a Secret Service agent and an Alabama state trooper were wounded.

Double Ring Rites Unite Neva Nix, Douglass Jurrs

Miss Neva Nix, daughter of C. Nix of Deland, and the bride's brother, James Underwood, of Deland, were united in Holy Matrimony, June 24, in a double ring ceremony at the Northside Baptist Church in Deland.
Rev. James Underwood officiated and the nuptial music was presented by Mrs. W. A. Fickling, aunt of the bride, and the bride's father, and Steven Wood were the soloists.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of silk organza, designed with a scalloped neckline and long sheer sleeves. Lace motifs enhanced the bodice, sleeves and bouffant skirt. A half crown sweepers held her full length veil of illusion and she carried a white Bible topped with carnations, white roses and an orchid.
Miss Cheryl Spores of Sebring attended the bride as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Jayleen Nix, the bride's sister, from Deland; Miss Georgiana Rice of Sebring, and Miss Cindy Jurrs, sister of the groom, of Deland.
Brides attendants were floor length gowns in pastel colors and carried bouquets of mixed blossoms.
Master Andy Nix, nephew of the bride, acted as ring bearer. Dr. J. Kellogg of Belleview, was best man and the ushers were John and Richard Jurrs, bride's brothers of the groom, and Gary Nix, the bride's brother.
Assisting in serving the guests at the reception in following Hall at the church were Miss Jeanette Biel of Sarasota, and Miss Janice Palston and Miss Sally O'Brian of Sebring.
Miss Tari Jurrs kept the bride's book.
After traveling, the bride selected a rose floral print dress and wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.
The couple is at home in Deland. The bridegroom is the owner of "Hummer Agency" and also employed at Winterchester Mobile Homes in Sanford.

How's Your Gyp I.Q.? Beware! 20 Ways Not To Be Gyped

By DOUG WILLIAMS
Society Editor
Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services Division has released a publication, "20 Ways Not To Be Gyped" as a public service.
According to the publication, no matter how much money you spend, you run the risk of being gyped out of half of it by paying too much, exorbitant interest, shoddy merchandise, poor service and fraudulent schemes.
Beware! Gyps are everywhere! Learn to spot them because once you sign a contract or make a purchase, you may never get it off the hook.
Briefly, the 20 ways of not getting gyped are as follows:
1 — Avoid "unclaimed" or "repossessed" merchandise, unless you know the dealer. You probably will be shown items that are damaged, seconds or mislabeled, then switched to something more expensive.
2 — Beware of "puzzle contests." Single solutions are often lures to get you to sell magazines, cosmetics or other goods. Your "prize" may be a "coupon" to get you to buy an overpriced item.
3 — Forget the "freezer food plan" that promises a free freezer, wholesale food or to pay for itself out of savings. Chances are you'll be dissatisfied with the food and stuck with freezer prices that are often double what they should be.
4 — If you should use a price, it should cover cost you money to collect. A store credit "good for $50" is often "good for nothing" because prices are usually raised to offset it.
5 — Watch "Selling Out" sales carefully. Some stores have "take" sales just to get you into the store. Be sure the merchant is really selling out.
6 — Beware of "private party sales." Such ads are often run by "residence dealers." They operate "stuffed flats," selling furs, jewelry and furniture. Prices are sometimes high and goods are often misrepresented.
7 — Resist tempting "deals" for your car. The salesman's loss may deny offer after you're "hooked." The price of a used car is often inflated so that the dealer can appear to give you a "real good deal" on your car.
8 — Don't fall for the "sympathy" approach. It's often a "line" to get you to sign up for magazines or other merchandise. Organized crews are trained to tell sob stories, such as "I'm working my way through college."
9 — Widows, beware of "obituary gyps." Gyps sometimes read obituary notices and send widows bills for nonexistent debts, such as a gift for your "dear departed" ordered just before he died. Don't pay until you're sure.
10 — Watch out for final big payment financing. It's called "balloon note" financing — then a final, unexpected big payment.
11 — Suspect those offers for "free inspections." Furnaces, chimneys, roofs and trees are all subject to gyp "free inspection" deals that may cost you money. It's better to do business with a reputable local dealer.
12 — Don't pay for a neighbor's package unless you've been told to accept it. It may turn out to be unordered junk.
13 — Would you believe you can cut your gasoline bills in half? Never! Fuel savings devices for your car are often fakes. The U.S. Attorney's office received 15,000 complaints about one "fuel-saving" gadget. There are also others on the market.
14 — There's no "easy way to earn money at home." Most schemes require you to buy something in order to earn.
15 — Beware of leads to unexpected inheritances. Gyps have collected millions of dollars in false "expenses" by leading persons to believe they can inherit money from estates of distant relatives.
16 — You risk your life or your money on quick "cures" if you are worried about your health see your doctor.
17 — Watch out for high interest rates. Compare the cash price and the total cost when all interest and finance charges are included. Know the true annual interest rate.
18 — Nanny can cost you money or health. There is no known product or service than can cure your hair, make you taller, remove or prevent wrinkles, develop your bust, or reduce your weight by massages, creams, belts, circles or sweat bands.
19 — Avoid "bait and switch" ads, such as three room of furniture at a given price. Such deals are often "come-ons" to lure you into the store to switch to over-priced items.
20 — Read and understand everything before you sign. Ask yourself these questions: Is the guarantee specific? Are all blank spaces filled in? Are all promises in writing? Have you been told to accept it. It may turn out to be unordered junk.
Head the small print, beware of legal double talk and remember "as is" means no warranty.
If you think you've been gyped, complain to Doyle Conner, Commissioner of Agriculture and Consumer Services, The Capitol, Tallahassee, 32304.
During the month of June Consumer Services handled 360 new consumer complaints. This involved the mailing of 1,053 letters from the Division. There were 131 complaints resolved to the complete satisfaction of the consumer.
Saves consumers so far this year is just under $300,000, not including $340,000 in refunds obtained for Cuban investors in "Dare To Be Great."
Now that you know the gyp signs, happy shopping.

SWEATERS Big Hit On Night Scene
By BETH MOHR
Copley News Service
One of the most important fashion items for the coming year will be the sweater.
Any sweater you have ever worn, plus some you have yet to see, will be fashionable for fall and winter. They will be designed for sports, day and evening wear.
Sweaters also will come in sets with matching cardigans and pullovers. Sets will be in elegant, cashmere and luxurious angoras for evening and in smooth and nubby wool and synthetic yarns for sporty occasions.
It again will be smart to wear cardigans through, over the shoulders, with sleeves cascading or looped casually in front, bringing back that "town and country" debaucher's "mutilance considered so chic in the 30s and 40s.

Monroe Harbour At Holiday Isle One-Stop Boating Facility

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI

"Let's take a boat to Niagara, let's take a yawl to St. Paul, let's take a kayak to ..."
Aw, let's just be smart and go down to Monroe Harbour in Sanford and take a Cobia or an Invader down the St. Johns River and get away from it all. Smiling Jack Rathmel, vice president and general manager of Monroe Harbour, Inc., has a full stock of absolutely beautiful Cobia and Invader Boats just waiting for your examination and purchase. You do know, of course, that the Cobia franchise for the Sanford area is at Monroe Harbour. And the best of the motors, Johnson, is a feature at Monroe Harbour as well as Onan Generators.

For boating fans, it is important to know where to go for service, docking, storage and information. Well in this area, Monroe Harbour is the place and Jack Rathmel and his staff of 15 extremely well qualified personnel (most are retired veterans) are the people who can help you the most. And Monroe Harbour is the authorized service center for OMC and Mercruiser.

For Monroe Harbour is really a one-stop boating facility. You can purchase your boat there; have it kept in dry or wet storage; there are excellent launching facilities; pull up to the gasoline pumps and get it serviced; if your boat has a problem, it can be repaired there; and if you have a problem while you are out in your boat, you can call Monroe Harbour and find that search and rescue service is also available.

At Monroe Harbour, you will find all the accessories to boating that you could possibly ever need. There are even complete water skis, supplies — some really jazy water skis, and Coast Guard approved life jackets and boat cushions. Macke no-tox trailer locks which covers the coupler when it is unattached. This item fits all the popular trailer couplers.

And if you want to clean your boat yourself instead of letting Jack do it, then you will find all the very best cleaning and polishing solutions and waxes at Monroe Harbour. You fishermen take note too that you can purchase your depth guide-fish finder at Monroe Harbour.

Q—Several months ago I bought an old house that had no gutters to carry off rainfall. Recent rains made it clear to me that gutters are needed. I have just finished putting out wood gutters, but have not finished on them. Can you recommend a good wood preservative?

A—There are a number of good wood preservatives on the market. You can use either linseed oil or paint, both of which will do a good job. However, once you select either, you must continue to use the same thing when renewing the coating. Linseed oil must be reapplied about twice a year. Paint — get the kind made especially for use on gutters — must be reapplied once every two years at the least, preferably once a year. No wood preservative will last indefinitely.

If you haven't already done so, use debris traps at the points where the gutters are attached to the downspouts. The gutters should be cleaned of leaves and other matter twice a year.

Two Gulf Stations Dekle Service Best

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI

"Mr. Friendly" — that's the way Mel Dekle is known all over Seminole County. And the corner of French (17-92) and Santa Barbara Drive, is probably the friendliest corner around anywhere.

Why? Cause that is where Dekle's Gulf Station is located. It's open 24 hours a day. From 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., you can get full service. From 6 p.m. to 7 a.m. the next morning, service is limited to gas and oil and minor problems.

Mel Dekle employs a full crew of qualified service attendants and four mechanics at the French Avenue operation. He has another good staff at the station located at Sanford Airport.

All service jobs include the parts for the job, so don't waste your time running around trying to find the right parts for your car — as a matter of fact, Mel and his men really prefer that you let them figure out your problem and take care of it for you.

There is an unusually large inventory of Gulf products always in stock. He carries tires, batteries and all of the accessories needed for just about any make or model of car.

At Dekle's, quick, efficient (and not to be underrated) courteous service is the order of the day. And he never overlooks the comfort of his customer.

For as the car is being serviced, you can wait in a spacious, comfortable and cool lounge area and watch your favorite daytime television program, and enjoy a cold drink at the same time. Sorta makes the time fly, you know?

Now, wouldn't you just know Mel would think of everything? If you have a really serious problem and the old "tin lizzies" won't run at all, well, don't get up tight about it. Dekle's is the area representative for King Car rentals.

All you have to do is pick out the car you want to drive, and sign up for the keys, and go your merry way. When your car is ready, then just return the rental and drive your own car home.

You can also rent a variety of sizes of trucks for big or little hauling or moving jobs.

So for good, efficient, friendly and quick service for your car, go by the most convenient corner in Seminole County, at French Avenue and Santa Barbara Drive, and see the smiling folks at Dekle's Gulf Station. Tell 'em we sent you — it'll get you an extra smile.

Hijackers Escape With $1 Million

ALGIERS (AP) — A U.S. airliner taken over by hijackers who collected $1 million ransom landed today in Algiers.

American diplomatic officials said the Delta Air Lines DC3 landed safely at Maison Blanche Airport and no one aboard was hurt during the transatlantic flight from Boston.

Algerian security men took the 13 adults and three children aboard the plane into the airport for screening. It and the crew would be allowed to return to the United States without delay.

Allan Davis, acting head of the American diplomatic mission in Algiers, was on hand when the airliner landed.

The FBI said three men from Detroit took over the Delta airliner Monday on a flight from Detroit to Miami. The hijackers, reportedly armed, were accompanied by two women and three children.

The hijackers let the 87 other passengers get off at Miami and took aboard a suitcase containing the $1 million ransom, which had been collected from Miami banks. With a crew of seven, the DC3 flew to Boston, loaded fuel and food and took aboard an international navigator. Then it flew to Algeria.

The eight passengers, all from Detroit, who remained on the plane were identified by the FBI in Detroit as Larry Burgess, Jean McNair, Yahari and Ayona McNair, both children; Joyce Tillerson, a child named Kenya Tillerson, Melvin McNair, and Harry Singleton. Burgess was listed as Rev. L. Burgess.

There was speculation that the Algerian government would return the $1 million as well as the plane. In a similar case two months ago, an American couple hijacked a Western Air Lines Boeing 720 to Algiers after collecting $500,000. The Algerians seized the ransom money and returned it to the United States.

After two hours of radio negotiations between the hijackers and FBI agents, two men in bathing suits delivered the money to the plane.

After the money was hoisted into the plane with a rope, the passengers got off, and the plane departed for Boston. There were no injuries.

As the plane flew to Boston, Delta officials repeatedly asked the FBI not to try to thwart the hijackers, according to a spokesman for the Massachusetts Port Authority, which operates Boston's Logan International Airport.

After the plane landed about 7 p.m., it taxied to a remote apron adjacent to Boston Harbor. A large contingent of FBI agents clustered to watch from the quarter mile station about a quarter mile away.

Withdraws As Veep Candidate Sen. Eagleton 'Not Bitter'

By BROOKS JACKSON Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas Eagleton said today he is "not bitter" after agreeing to Sen. George McGovern's wishes that he withdraw as the Democratic party's vice-presidential candidate.

He announced, meantime, that he will seek re-election to the Senate from Missouri in 1974.

"I'm not bitter; I'm not going to get bitter," Eagleton said on a CBS television show. He made the comment when asked his reaction to his announcement Monday night that he was withdrawing as McGovern's running mate.

He said McGovern, the party's presidential candidate, "could not have been finer. But I've been momentarily troubled momentarily by one or two members of Sen. McGovern's staff who were doing more backgrounding than they should have been doing."

He said they were "too busy backgrounding reporters that Eagleton should get off the ticket." He did not name the staff members.

Asked whether he thought the controversy over his having been hospitalized three times in the past few weeks was "political fatigue" had hurt his political future, Eagleton said:

"I'm absolutely satisfied about my health... the last six years I've been sound as a dollar. I have every confidence in my health and my capacity." As for his political future, he said, "Time will only tell."

Then he announced, "I'm going to run for re-election in 1974. I'll give you a scoop on that. I'm going to run."

He also said he had not promised any position in the McGovern administration should the South Dakota senator defeat President Nixon in the November election.

Eagleton said he knew support for his position on the ticket was waning Saturday night when, in South Dakota, McGovern table-hopped, talking with newsmen about the "Eagleton issue, the Eagleton problem," whatever you wish to call it.

Eagleton, 42, said he agreed to withdraw from the race only at the personal urging of McGovern.

The two met for 1 1/2 hours in one of the Senate's inner sanctums, the Marble Room in the Senate floor.

Demos To Select New VP Nominee

By DON McLEOD AP Political Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Echoes of one-settled procedural arguments loom before the Democratic National Committee as it sets out to choose a replacement for Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton as the vice-presidential nominee.

The solution, too, probably will have a familiar ring with the committee because known by presidential candidate George McGovern.

Prior to the party's national convention, arguments droned on for days as competing delegations fought for the right to be seated, but in most disputes, McGovern's wishes prevailed.

Now, as the committee prepared to replay the convention in Miami, new rules governing selection of committee members have led to the same sort of seating challenges.

Adding to the sense of déjà vu, the number of members eligible to vote has surfaced as a key question in the committee as it was at one point during the convention.

Eagleton's withdrawal Monday night, an unprecedented move prompted by the pressure stemming from his disclosure of psychiatric treatment on three occasions between 1960 and 1966, left the task of filling out the ticket to the revamped and somewhat confused national committee.

The complications arise from the new national committee structure formulated by the convention last month in Miami Beach. Yet this new-style committee must function under earlier rules tailored to the old committee.

Convention rules provide that in the event of a vacancy, the national committee is authorized to select the replacement.

"By a majority of the total number of votes provided at the convention."

This means that representatives of each state would cast proxy votes to total 3,016, same as the convention total.

But the new formula adds a lot of extra members to a committee once composed of one man and one woman from each state, territory and the District of Columbia.

About one-third of the new members haven't been elected yet, and staff members say that could take another two weeks.

O'Brien Winning Support

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Florida's two members of the Democratic National Committee said Monday night they would support former committee chairman Lawrence O'Brien as the party's vice-presidential nominee if his name is put forward by Sen. George McGovern.

But state committeewoman Hazel T. Evans and committee man T. Wayne Bailey disagreed over how Florida should select two other representatives for the vote on a successor to Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri.

"The more I think about it, the more I like O'Brien for vice president," Mrs. Evans said in St. Petersburg after presidential nominee McGovern announced Eagleton was stepping down as the Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

Bailey said in Deland that he would vote for the candidate preferred by McGovern, but he would respond enthusiastically if O'Brien was McGovern's choice for the No. 2 spot on the ticket.

Florida will have four votes under complicated new Democratic National Committee rules for selection of the new vice-presidential candidate.

There's no wasted space inside Maverick. At the same time, none of that small-crowded feeling.

Maintenance: Even simpler, more convenient than the little imports.

VW, for example, recommends normal service every 3000 miles or three months, whichever comes first. On Maverick, it's 6000 miles or six months. So Maverick's recommended service interval is twice as long as Volkswagen's.

We also designed Maverick to be a simple machine to care for. In fact, we've even prepared a manual which tells you how to do many maintenance jobs yourself.

One more convenience: there are over 5,600 Ford dealers in the country. VW has about 1100.

There's so much that I could say about the current McGovern-Eagleton fiasco (and probably land in jail for some of my personal thoughts on the matter)... and rather than be couped-up in either Sheriff Polk's bustle, or that bug-infested relic called a Sanford jail which Chief Ben Butler will take no claim, thank you! Instead, permit me to reprint some of the thoughts of others.

Nope, I can't stand it... just gotta get this one out of my craw.

The issue was built around "stress" and the possibility of "cracking-up," etc.

Well, as far as I'm concerned, the one who cracked was Senator McGovern — not Eagleton!

How can you go from "1000 per cent behind the man" to removing him as your running mate because, "It was not Sen. Eagleton's health that was the factor in this decision. It was the debate in the country, it was the furor in the country."

In a word, Senator, "Bull!"

Let someone else take a crack at it, now... from a reader opinion poll published by the CLEVELAND PRESS: "I am a Democrat and I think the vice-presidential candidate should not remove himself. It appears he may be the only sane running mate."

(Attaboy, fellah...)

New York Democratic leader Max Baerling on the rift between party leaders and presidential candidate Sen. George McGovern: "If we are not careful, we'll come out of this with two Democratic parties in November."

To prove that I am not showing any partiality, let's repeat the quote by President Nixon: "We have had a substantial success in our battle against inflation we inherited in 1969."

"Inherited from whom, illustrious leader? What was the percentage of unemployment in '68? and would you care to discuss the cost of living index?"

Maybe Ole George Meany was right after all... he ain't gonna support either of the two options?

So help me, it's the truth!

On page 216 of ROAD AND TRUCK magazine there's a picture of a Polish race driver as he prepares for battle, while seated in his race car.

Some drivers do wear the medical gauge over their mouth and nose to keep the dust from entering... BUT, this guy in the photo has it all the way up over his eyes!

What the heck, I don't blame him... I can't stand the sight of an accident, either; or at least now he'll have an answer to that crummy Polack joke about the driver who got lost on the race track, eh?

The car was later found abandoned in the parking lot of the K-Mart store. Police said the man apparently switched vehicles there.

Thomas told police he managed to free himself and call for help.

Yesterday's high 91 low 69. Partly cloudy today and Thursday with a chance of an afternoon or evening thundershowers.

Highs 88 to 94. Low tonight in the 70s. Rain probability 30 per cent today and 30 per cent Thursday.

The outer Bahama Islands were put on alert today as a tropical depression located about 400 miles north of Puerto Rico moved westward at 15 miles per hour.

The present dilapidated narrow bridge will be dismantled but the concrete sections will be left for use as fishing and recreational aids.

Also, it was disclosed that present environmental might suffer if the concrete is removed, since it has been in place for approximately 50 years.

Present vehicular traffic on the bridge is placed at 2,500 cars a day but, according to OCALA, Fla. (AP) — Ocala police say they have no leads so far in the extortion of $6,500 from a local businessman whose family was held hostage.

"This could have been one man involved or a dozen. We just don't know," said Ocala Police Lt. Jim Parker.

Parker said a man entered the home of Ocala businessman Fred Thomas Tuesday and tied up his wife and two children. The man then had Thomas' wife call him at the K-Mart store where he is manager and tell him to "bring all the money in the safe."

Thomas told police he too was bound and gagged when he arrived home minutes later and handed over $6,500 to the extortionist. The man escaped in Thomas' late-model Cadillac.

Sen. Muskie Now Looms As McGovern's Choice

By GREGG HERRINGTON Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — George McGovern, the Democratic presidential candidate, says he will announce within a few days his choice of a running mate to replace Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri.

McGovern reportedly is checking a half-dozen or so names with other leading Democrats to determine the acceptability and background—of those under consideration.

Apparently, on the basis of hints and speculation, the most likely replacement for Eagleton is Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

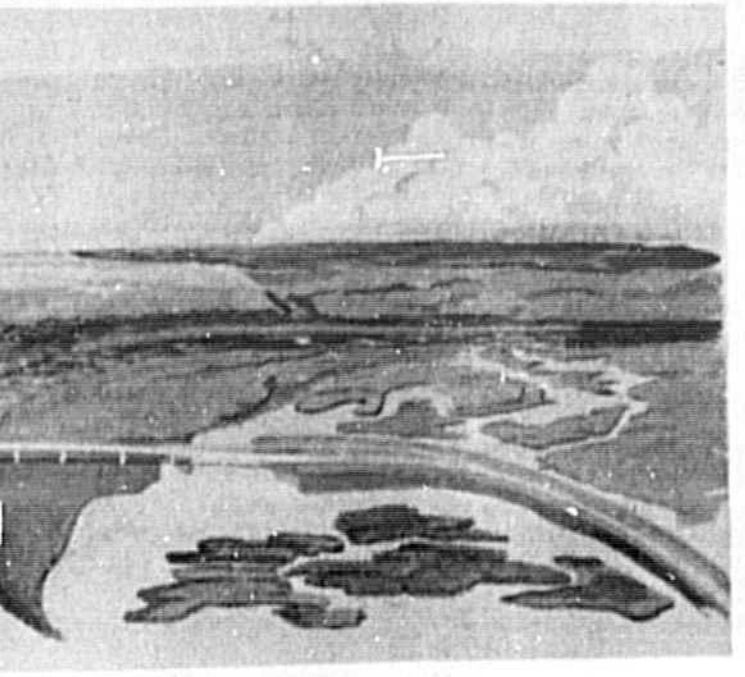

The 1968 Democratic vice-presidential candidate is generally acceptable to all elements of the party, and he is already well known nationally. Muskie, a Catholic and a New Englander, would provide balance for McGovern, a Methodist.

Idaho's Sen. Frank Church, a Protestant, seemed to throw cold water on speculation he might receive the nod. He recommended McGovern find someone who would add more variety to the ticket.

Besides Muskie and Church, speculation has centered on former Democratic National Committee Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, Boston Mayor Kevin White and R. Sargent Shriver, one-time Peace Corps director. And the name of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy—who says he doesn't want the job—continues to crop up.

Eagleton turned out to be too controversial following disclosure last week that he had been hospitalized for mental depression in 1969, 1964 and 1966 stemming from nervous exhaustion and fatigue.

His withdrawal from the Democratic ticket Monday night following a nearly two-hour meeting with McGovern made him the first major-party candidate for the vice presidency to accept and then give up the nomination.

PROPOSED BRIDGE OVER ST. JOHNS RIVER ON SR 415

Osteen Span Delay To Late 1975 Is Told

By BILL SCOTT
 Unless a way is found to prod the State Department of Transportation (DOT) it will be late 1975 before the new Osteen Bridge spanning the St. Johns River and uniting Seminole and Volusia Counties is completed.

The DOT official stated the length of the proposed project would be 1.63 miles, uniting SR 415, 415A and SR 46 in a 12.7-mile span.

The DOT engineers to draft the bridge design at their Tallahassee office, according to information from Jewell.

The DOT official stated the length of the proposed project would be 1.63 miles, uniting SR 415, 415A and SR 46 in a 12.7-mile span.

The DOT engineers to draft the bridge design at their Tallahassee office, according to information from Jewell.

Approval by the federal board is expected by late October. This will allow title searches to start by November and the technical design of the bridge will start at Tallahassee when right-of-way are expected to start in June, 1973.

By January, 1974, the actual bridge construction is to begin, according to the timetable, with an estimated 14-16 months required in construction time, Jewell reported.

Appearing at the session to speak in favor of the bridge was Douglas Stenstrom, Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce chairman, Sanford city commissioner Gordon Meyer and Julian Stenstrom, State Rep. Eugene Mooney and James Young, representing Senator Kenneth Plante.

Lone Bandit Robs French Ave. Shop

An armed bandit wearing a paper bag mask Tuesday night robbed Solik's Sandwich Shop, French Avenue near 25th Street, of $90.99 in cash and escaped out the rear door on foot, according to a report from Det. Sgt. William Lykens.

Lykens said the thief entered by the back door at approximately 9 p.m. and, holding a pistol, ordered Patty Walker, 18, of Oviedo, Charlotte Turner, 20, of Park Avenue, and Lance Reigrod, 21, of Delbart, store employees, to "hand over the contents of the cash register."

Polk said such actions constitute a law violation and advised his stickers are found by anyone on signs, they should call him and he will remove them.

McCall Trial To Ocala Venue Change Granted

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Saying suspended Sheriff Willis McCall's reelection campaign in Lake County could be "fraught with emotion," the Florida Supreme Court Tuesday ordered McCall's second-degree murder trial moved from hand for the Aug. 15 trial.

Justice Adkins said reports of prejudice for and against McCall were not sufficient grounds for a change of venue. But he added that McCall's campaign for reelection—which would coincide with the trial—could be "fraught with emotion" and justify for the transfer.

Adkins has asked Circuit Judge D. R. Smith of Ocala to have 100 prospective jurors on hand for the Aug. 15 trial.

The justice, who is acting as trial judge, read a statement to the news media that McCall's campaign for reelection—which would coincide with the trial—could be "fraught with emotion" and justify for the transfer.

Adkins has asked Circuit Judge D. R. Smith of Ocala to have 100 prospective jurors on hand for the Aug. 15 trial.

Officials At Odds Over 'Lot Of Noise'

Lake Orienta Controversy Brings Divergent Views From Altamonte Mayor And State Attorney's Aide

By MARION BETHEA ALTAMONTE, SPRINGS — Contending that "a lot of noise was made over nothing," Mayor Lawrence Swafford reported to City Council yesterday on the controversy over illegal dredging in Lake Orienta.

Mayor Swafford said he had met with the state attorney's office and a representative from the State Internal Improvement Fund and that there was difficulty in determining where the shore line was when the property was annexed. The annexation ordinance, he said, indicated the city had annexed to the water and, therefore, had no authority over the lake waters. The dredging operation commenced in conjunction with development of a condominium project on a tract of land adjacent to the lake.

In a statement to the Herald, Mayor Swafford said he had met with the state attorney's office, said the issue with the illegal dredging is "far from settled" with respect to that office.

Fulwider noted that in the Friday meeting, the representative of the trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund had been in touch with Tallahassee in working out a solution to settlement relative to the fill taken from the lake but that such had not at that time, been effected. State Attorney Abbott Herring, Fulwider said, has been waiting to get in touch with the Internal Improvement Fund since the case had been filed in settlement proceedings prior to filing injunctive proceedings.

Fulwider discounted the 20 cents per yard settlement, noting that when the state sells, fill, 50 cents per yard is charged and when illegal dredging is involved the 50 cents is charged plus a penalty for taking the fill without a permit. This, Fulwider said, has been known to go as high as $1.50 per yard.

Fulwider emphatically stressed, "I would say it's a lot of noise over nothing." He said he would not be involved in the case for four years, then it would be assumed maintenance of both the strip and the road in response to inquiry by Zacco. McIntosh told him that it would be a good idea to send a letter to the county informing them that the city was doing the paving, but not intending to maintain the road.

To Mow, Not To Mow Is Question

By KATHY NIBLACK
 Council Chairman Edith Duerr opposed the city's mowing of the strip, and recommended that the city ask the county to maintain the strip. "I don't understand why you simply won't have it mowed," Zacco said. "How long are you going to wait for an answer from the county?" He went on to say: "To wait for the county and to play a waiting game is ridiculous."

Duncan Charges Dismissed

The civil case of Seminole County vs. W. Hugh Duncan, former Justice of the Peace, 4th District, was dismissed Monday by Judge Volie Williams for lack of prosecution.

The county had filed suit against Duncan over two years ago to recover an alleged overcharge of $3,351.33, charging that the defendant had exceeded his jurisdiction over the period of several years collecting fees to which he was not entitled.

Duncan was first suspended by Gov. Claude Kirk in November, 1967, after an audit uncovered irregularities, but was reinstated three times by the state senate. "I believed all along it was right in contesting the audit and now it's been proven through the proper courts," Duncan told The Herald.
