Over 'Mike' At Dinner Given Last Night by Steel Man

YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP) A physician was called to the suite at the Ambassador Hotel today to attend Marie of Rumania, who was considerably ill after a strenuous day of speaking engagements yesterday.

Marie, who had been in the city since her arrival in New York, was said to be slightly improved, but her cough was still very bad. She was accompanied by her husband, Prince Nicholas, and her mother, Queen Marie of Rumania.

Queen Marie's condition was said to be serious and the doctor's prognosis was not very encouraging. She is expected to remain in the city for some time.

Marie's speech at the steel dinner last night was said to be one of her best. She spoke for about 15 minutes and was well received by the audience.

AIMEE PREDICTS EXONERATION OF STATE'S CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23.—(AP) Heartened by the trend of testimony in her case, Aimee Sengle McPherson, the evangelist, today predicted a complete defense victory and vindication for herself as she turned from the 18 day ordeal of her preliminary hearing on charges of conspiracy criminally to plunge into the week evidence at Angelus Temple.

Renewing the testimony of yesterday's court session, Mrs. McPherson declared it had been a "wonderful" day for service.

Mrs. McPherson said she was particularly jubilant over the testimony of Judge Carlos A. Hardy, a member of the superior court bench of California who also testified during the hearing.

Judge Hardy took the stand late yesterday. His testimony revealed conversation with Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, Mrs. McPherson's mother, concerning her dealings with the late R. A. McKinley, blind Longbeard attorney. Judge Hardy said that prior to Mrs. McPherson's return to Los Angeles after thirty days absence from Angelus Temple he informed her mother that McKinley had been approached by two mysterious men who offered to produce the then missing pastor for $25,000 ransom.

McKinley came to his office to tell the story, Judge Hardy explained. Being blind, McKinley was able to describe the men only by their voices, the mannerisms and the names which they gave, Judge Hardy told.

After learning about McKinley, Mrs. Kennedy went to Long Beach and consulted the police. Later, Judge Hardy said, he called on McKinley. At this time his informant told him he had heard from the strange men a second time. They accosted him on the street to ransom him that they could produce the missing pastor.

Shortly afterwards Mrs. McPherson reappeared at Douglas, Arizona, with her story of escape from kidnapers. The men still were willing to be of assistance and offered to furnish all the details of the kidnaping. At this stage of the negotiations McKinley was accidentally killed in an automobile accident. The hearing was adjourned yesterday until Monday morning when the trial will enter its fifth week.

Infant Son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Dies

Luther Howard Bryan, eight months old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie T. Bryan of 2480 South Palmetto Avenue, died at 5 o'clock this morning in the Fernald-Laughlin Memorial Hospital. A blood transfusion operation was performed in the Orange General Hospital of Orlando yesterday in a last attempt to save the baby's life. The infant had been ill for several months with the whooping cough and had recovered. An ear affection developed a few days ago and the infant gradually became weaker.

The infant is survived by two sisters, Martha and Laura and one brother, Tolar Bryan. Mr. Bryan is vice president of W. V. Wheeler, Inc., real estate agency.

PROBE OF NEW RELIGIOUS CULT ASKED IN EAST

Princeton Students Accuse Man of Practicing "Buchmanism" and Appealing to Sex Through His Teachings

Came to U. S. With Queen of Rumania

Prince Nicholas Said to Have Attended "Religious House Party" While in London

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP) Religious teachings of a "soul religion" who came to the United States recently on the Leviathan, with Queen Marie of Rumania, and who has headquarters in a mansion near Fifth Avenue owned by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., are under investigation by a committee appointed by Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton University.

Students at the university accuse the student Philadelphia Society there of practicing "undesirable Buchmanism" in accordance with the teachings of Dr. Frank Buchman, who was excluded from the Princeton campus two years ago. Dr. Buchman calls his philosophy "Scientific Christianity."

Dr. Hibben has appointed a committee of nine to investigate the society after an undergraduate forum by a vote of 253 to 85 accused the society's members of carrying out the taboos precepts of Dr. Buchman.

The undergraduates charge that Buchmanism is "an appeal to man's religious inner nature through an exaggerated emotional excitement," and that it stresses sex too highly. Discussion of the society came up in considering its annual appeal for $25,000 to be distributed to charity. The society is 100 years old.

Dr. Buchman says that there are no salaries in connection with his establishment and that many of his students are lawyers, pastors and business men.

He describes "scientific Christianity" as normal, first century "Christianity renewed."

"We offer no newism," he insists. He arranges what he calls "religious house parties" at which guests spend week ends. They are free to smoke.

Queen Marie expressed approval of Dr. Buchman's teachings while on the Leviathan. Her son, Prince Nicholas, attended one of the "religious house parties," in London.

Another Arrest Is Made In Pittsburgh Bond Theft Query

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—(AP) Eddie Goodfellow, of Pittsburgh, was under detention today, held on a technical charge by police who are seeking evidence to discredit the story of Charles E. Knapp that he was robbed of the $320,000 given him for the purchase of bonds.

Goodfellow, the latest person to be arrested in connection with the alleged bond swindle which forced the Brotherhood Savings and Trust Company here to close its doors, received a telephone call from Knapp last Saturday, police declared. The call was said to have been made from the home of Mrs. Knapp's cousin at Vandegrift, Pa., the day after Knapp's disappearance allegedly with the money. Goodfellow, following his arrest last night, denied receiving the call and disclaimed knowledge of the swindle.

Senate Campaign Funds Committee Is To Meet In Kansas City Next Week

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 23.—(AP) Having almost completed its investigation of charges of Ku Klux Klan control of politics in Indiana, the state campaign funds committee stood in adjournment today until next Monday when it will reconvene at Kansas City.

Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, the chairman, who has been carrying on the inquiry at Chicago and here by himself, because other members of the committee could not be present, hopes to wind up his work Monday or Tuesday and devote the remainder of the week to political campaigning in his home state.

Only three witnesses have been called thus far for the Kansas City meeting. They are Mrs. Vivian Tracy Wheatcraft, a woman Republican leader, Joseph Meyers, formerly of Indianapolis, but now of Princeton, Missouri, and Frederick J. Libby, New York.

Testimony before the committee has been that Mrs. Wheatcraft formed a woman's organization in Indiana to support the candidacy of Senator Watson in the primary campaign early this year, and she is to be questioned about that. A. Clyde Wald, chairman of the Indiana state Republican committee, has testified that Meyers was the head of an organization which disseminated League of Nations and World Court propaganda in this state but witnesses who appeared here yesterday declared that he had little funds, so far as they knew, and no office force while he was in Indianapolis.

OFFICERS FAIL TO SOLVE MYSTERY OF GIRLS' DEATH IN HOLY LANDS

Investigation Into Apparent Murder Is Being Continued By U. S. Authorities Who Hope To Find Companions

CINCINNATI, Oct. 23.—(AP) Authorities of Hamilton County investigating the death of Beulah Purvis, 19, Lawrenceburg, Indiana, today were apparently no nearer a solution of the mystery than scantly clad and badly beaten up, in the river near Cleves, Ohio, when the girl's body was found, last Wednesday.

Deputies investigating the case learned that on Sunday night October 10, Miss Purvis went to a skating rink at Harrison, Ohio, with Miss June Dooneworth of Harrison, and Ray Liming and Richard Ratz, of Carmel, Indiana. Miss Dooneworth said she and the two men left the Purvis girl at the rink.

The next trace of her was picked up at Brookville, Indiana, where she was said to have boarded a traction car October 15 for Valley Junction, not far from the spot where her body was found. There all trace of the girl was lost, and it was there the authorities took up the trail today, hoping to be able to trace her movements of five days back to the starting point.

John Purvis, father of Beulah, told officials here yesterday that he had been married twice and was the father of 25 children. His first wife, the mother of seven of his offspring, burned to death when she fell over a stove with a babe in her arms. The child died a few days later.

All Sponge Packing Plants Swept Away

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP) Every sponge packing plant except one at Batabano, on the southern coast of Cuba was swept away by the hurricane, said a cablegram received by the American Sponge and Chamois Company today from its agent at Havana. This company's plant was the only one not swept away, said the cable.

A. J. Sloss, president of the American Sponge and Chamois Company, said there were eight or nine sponge packing plants at Batabano, of a total value which he estimated at $200,000. There probably also was a heavy loss of life among sponge fishermen he said.

Batabano is one of the principal sponge shipping points of Cuba.

DRUNK FATHER KILLS THREE OF OWN CHILDREN

Victims Are All Girls, While a Fourth Escapes to Call Aid; Man Says He Didn't Want To See Daughters Burned

Axe Is Used to Slay Girls As They Sleep

Liquor-Crazed Man Has Long Police Record for Intoxication; Mother is Dead

BROCKTON, Mass., Oct. 23.—(AP) A liquor-crazed father killed his three daughters with an axe as they slept in their home this morning. He was James Stoddard, 36, a laborer, and the girls were Mildred, 7, Florence, 13, and Edna, 11. Marion, 4, the fourth daughter escaped.

"I didn't want them burned," Stoddard told police who broke into the house in response to a frantic call from a pedestrian who met Marion fleeing from the scene.

The man had suffered from a hallucination that his daughters were to be taken from him, police said.

The girl's mother had been dead several years. The father has a long police record for intoxication and had once been under observation to determine his sanity.

Marion, the fourth daughter, who was in bed with Edna, awoke as her father struck her sister and grappled with him. Breaking from his grasp, she fled to the street where a pedestrian gave the alarm that brought police.

A squad of officers found Stoddard, axe in hand, apparently about to leave the house. "I just killed my three kids and I want to get the other one," he told them as they disarmed him.

Stoddard declared he had been drinking for two weeks prior to last Sunday when he decided to quit. A hallucination that a former employer had chased the children home and was preparing to "burn" them or otherwise cause them harm made him resolve to kill them himself, he asserted in an incoherent narrative at police headquarters.

He had been chopping wood with the axe in the afternoon and in the evening his mind became dazed. "In order to have the children from being burned the thought came to me while I was sitting in the rocking chair by the stove that I had better kill them myself," said the rambling statement.

"I got up out of the chair and went to the outside of the porch and got the axe hanging there. Then I went into Marion and Edna's room and hit Edna with the axe. Marion got up and ran away and I went into the room of Florence and Mildred and killed them. Then I went and got a glass of water and I thought I might have made a mistake and did not know what to do."

Police discovered the bodies in the blood spattered beds of the cheaply furnished rooms. Little Mildred still clasped a rag doll to her bosom. The three children apparently had died instantly.

NOTED ARCHITECT FREE ON BOND IN MANN ACT CASE

Arrange of Charges and Counter Charges Are Filed by Counsel for Frank Wright and His Estranged Wife

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—(AP) Frank Lloyd Wright, architect, and Madame Olga Milkoff, were at liberty on bond and in seclusion today pending hearing of charges against them, but attorneys for Wright's estranged wife and the architect's counsel continued a barrage of charges and counter charges.

Harold Jackson, of Chicago, attorney for Mrs. Miriam Wright, the estranged wife, said he would request an investigation into deaths at Wright's home in Spring Green, Wisconsin, charged to a crazed negro who ran amuck and burned the architect's $90,000 bungalow in 1914. He said he would go before authorities at Dodgeville, Wisconsin in the next few days to press his demands.

William Nash, Wright's counsel, countered with a declaration that Jackson's statements were "only a part of a plan to persecute Mr. Wright."

Included in several deaths mentioned by the Chicago attorney were those of Mrs. Mammoth Borthwick Cheney, with whom Wright eloped in 1909, and her two children. They were slain by the negro who set fire to Wright's home. Records show that for men were slain at the same time, one the son of the manager of the estate, and another an assistant to Wright in his architectural work. The negro, Julian Carlton, was held for the slayings but died in jail.

Threats Are Made In Notes Received By 2 Negro Women

Threatened with expulsion from their community, two negro women appeared at the office of M. W. Lovell, justice of the peace this morning and asked him to help them. The threats were contained in different letters received by them.

Lula Shaw, young, and carrying a baby in her arms, was described by the letter writer, who signed the note, "K. K. K." as a "liar," and "destruction maker," in the neighborhood. She was advised that if she wished to live here, she had "better attend to your own business." Lula lives at 1105 Tenth Street.

Carrie Hayward, living at 1107 Tenth Street, is charged by the anonymous writer with making "confusion" in the community. "Now if you keep this up we are coming to see you." The same threat was also made to Lula.

Mr. Lovell said he was going to "turn the letters over to the police. The women were perturbed over the letters. They said they knew the identity of the writer, who they said was a woman in their neighborhood.

Over 200 Reported Be Injured on

Havana, Oct. 23.—(AP) The picturesque little of Pines paid a heavy toll of deaths, injured and material damage when the Caribbean hurricane passed Wednesday morning on its way to Cuba. The death toll was reported to be 17 Americans, that more than 38 persons were injured and other losses will amount to $50,000,000.

The steamer Cristobal, brought to Batabano, Cuba, injured persons. Some villages in the hills were destroyed.

There were fatalities in Gerona, Santa Fe and San Felice.

Many wealthy American homes in the isle, which is a home of about 900 square miles miles from Cuba. Citrus crops have been ruined, with physicians, food and other necessities being sent from Batabano.

Reports from various parts of Cuba visited by the hurricane served to add to the material damage done in the republic. The number of fatalities estimated at under 1,000. It has been impossible to calculate the number of injured. The damage is estimated at $50,000,000.

The bodies of 25 persons been found at Batabano, reports placed the death toll at 800. A check-up in the Havana reveals a possible 157 lives, but five bodies have been recovered from the wreckage of aggregating some 80 men, including incoming vessels, including 48 bodies floating in the sea. The loss of life in the city is estimated at between sixty and one hundred.

Communication by railroad wire to devastated districts thus far crippled.

In the provinces of Havana, Matanzas, and in some sections of Pinar del Rio, the sugar and tobacco crops and sugar mills sustained extensive damage.

In Havana street cars service has been resumed and a limited amount of water is available to all parts of the city. Only the main lines remain out of commission.

The Cuban Red Cross has not received full reports on the extent of the storm and is unable to state the exact number of the injured will never be determined. The population of Havana, about 150,000, was hard hit clearing up the debris and recovering the bodies of those killed when buildings collapsed.

Elsewhere in the east the weather was fair.

In the West pressure was high, with the center of high barometer over Montana. Mostly fair weather prevailed with lower temperatures in the Northwest. At Williston N. D., the mercury stood at 18 and freezing temperatures occurred in Nevada and Montana.

Big Ten Elevens Are Camping At Door Of Their Saturday Rivals

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Four western conference football teams camped at the home they occupied in preparation for the Big Ten battles, while two others braced against invasions from outside the conference.

A goodly share of the mid-West's interest in the encounters trailed down to the Ohio State Stadium, where will be made the 1922 Big Ten debut of the Ohio eleven that swept Columbia off its feet at New York a week ago.

The happily varied attack of the Buckeyes made an auspicious start, bow, and, with the conference race still anybody's much attention centered on its fortune against a Iowa game regarded as highly dangerous despite a first downfall at the hands of Illinois.

No Loafing' Sign Hung Out In Bear Camp By The Coach

"No loafing" is the slogan of the Mercer Bears, according to word from the football camp at Macon, Ga. Some of the followers of the Bears intimated after the fine victory over Florida Saturday that there would be a tendency to "take things easy" this week.

Mercer clashes with Rollins in Sanford, Armistice Day. But Bernice Moore, head coach of Mercer, was not taken into consideration. Mercer's affable member is another Josh Cody who it comes to believing in preparation.

The two rusty pullers holding the tackling dummies at Alumni Field creaked from early until late yesterday. And the Bears ran plays and dummy scrimmages and the perspiration from their knaves formed a little stream that trickled away to somewhere.

The Bears play Howard Saturday. They rate Howard as strong, if not stronger than Florida. The Bulldogs trounced Oglethorpe, 21 to 0.

While the Bears did not actual scrimmaging yesterday, Coach Moore intends scrimmaging his men at least two days this week. No injuries of a serious nature resulted from the Florida game.

Sanford Football Team Engages In Light Scrimmage

While students were watching the Shriners celebration Wednesday afternoon, the Sanford High football squad was hard at work under Coach Welch's wing.

Light scrimmage was on the program and the way the boys tore into it was a fitting description of the way they will play Saturday when they play St. Cloud. The team is now in mid-season form and many of the mistakes that the team has been guilty of making in the games that have been played so far will not be repeated.

One of the things that has been a constant draw back to the team this season has been the frequent fumbling in the back field. This was not seen so much in the Orlando game as in the preceding games. Another big draw back has been the inconsistent passing by center, this is also being overcome and in the remaining games it will be hard for the back to find fault with the way the center gives them the ball.

Jimmie Yards is working hard to eliminate this and there is a great improvement in his work. This is his first year as a football player and so can not be blamed for his mistakes.

The coming of Fordham to Sanford High has strengthened the right side of the line to a considerable extent. Fordham played guard and weighs well over 200 pounds. The right side of the line was very much in need of an experienced man and the coming of Fordham has given it just the thing that it needed most, both weight and experience.

Clemson Game to Attract Big Crowd

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 21. (AP)—Clemson College and the University of South Carolina came to grips today at South Carolina's annual football classic, played at the climax of late fall week.

Last workouts yesterday showed both teams in good form, for the encounter, which will be witnessed by more than 15,000 persons. The game will affect the conference standing of one of the teams as both of the contenders have one victory and one defeat so far this season.

If St. Louis was mad about baseball before the series started it was madder than ever when the series ended.

Mercer Meets The Powerful Bulldogs Of Howard College

Mercer's Bears make the final stand of their 1922 home season tomorrow against the powerful Bulldogs of Howard College. This will be the last opportunity for Macon fans to see the phantom-like Phoney Smith gliding around his would-be tacklers, "Five Tards," Skelton rip the line and "Big Six," Salter running the interference.

One of Mercer's weaknesses after winning big football games in the past has been over-confidence. Coach Bernice Moore is guarding against this insidious disease this time. Mercer came through the Florida game without any injuries to players of serious nature.

The Mercer squad is well aware of the strength of Howard and is leaving no loopholes for Billy Bancroft to shoot through. Bancroft, besides being a good carrier of the ball is a deadly passer as well. Bancroft's flinging of the oval for 30 and 40 yards is what wrecked the Oglethorpe Petrels 21 to 0, after the latter's team triumph over Georgia Tech.

Naval Heads to See Illini-Michigan Clash

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Louis M. Moulton, superintendent of the Naval Academy, and Commander James H. Ingram, director of athletics, will leave here Friday for Ann Arbor, Michigan, to witness the Michigan-Illinois football game as guests of Coach Yost. The Wolverines meet Navy in Baltimore October 20.

Next Monday the officers will confer with the Chicago Park Commission regarding the Army Navy tilt, to be held on Soldier's Field.

Lee Fohl May Head Pirates Next Year

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—(AP)—A conference between Lee Fohl, and Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has set baseball observers to wondering whether the Boston Red Sox manager will come here next year to replace Bill McKenzie, dismissed last Monday as manager of the Pirates.

Fohl and Dreyfuss were in conference yesterday, but the latter when asked whether Fohl had come to seek a managerial post, said the Boston pilot merely had paid him a friendly visit, while en route to his home in Cleveland. Fohl spent only a short time here.

Arthur Fletcher, the Peppery manager who has piloted the team for several years, has been released, President William A. Parker has notified him that his contract expiring this fall will not be renewed.

Fletcher, at his home in Collinsville, Illinois, informed friends here of Mr. Parker's action and said that he had no definite plans for the future. Speculation as to Fletcher's successor was rife today. Many fans believed that Stuffy Melvin would get the call.

Soviet May Force 'Y' From Russia

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—A note interpreted as complete expulsion of the Young Men's Christian Association from Russia has been taken by the Soviet government. It was indicated today at the offices of the national council of the organization.

J. D. Anderson, an American Y. M. C. A. secretary directing physical instruction in Russia has been forced out of the country by the Soviet and his property confiscated, according to the announcement.

This amounted to complete expulsion of the Y. M. C. A. from Russia," said the announcement.

The New York Bowling Commission has decided that Monte Moran must not fight any more slumps. This automatically bars him from a match with Dempsey.

The honor which is being so abundantly accorded these few persons has not come through great achievements in the world of letters or of art. No Ed, none of these things count any more. Those upon whose brows have been placed the laurel wreaths of accomplishment and of fame are those whose feet can best weave through the mystic mazes of the Charleston and whose knees can vibrate most rhythmically to the appointed jazz.

The town that has not selected its champion Charlestonians is so far behind the procession that it may that it could never catch up, even if it were riding in an open coach.

There's one thing you can say about the Charleston. It has variety. No two people dance it just alike. It's as individual as hand writing, and some of it is just about as bad.

I would be enough if only you knew how to dance the Charleston you attempted it. But to

THEY should then remain under cover until the entire town has passed. They should remember that in the center of a hurricane is a full which lasts for about an hour and the storm will soon begin again with renewed fury.

IF they take these reasonable and sane precautions, they head off. It cannot hurt them. And the chances are all ways might good that the hurricane will not come. No matter where you happen to be in Florida, an approaching hurricane almost always veers off or manages to miss you, but course there are notable exceptions like the storm which hit Miami in September, and the one which hit Tampa in 1921.

SO don't run. Don't be like the young couple in Miami who jumped on a motorcycle and side-car in a wild endeavor to escape the approaching hurricane, and then crashed into a tree, while the hurricane swerved off and missed Miami altogether.

Expel the Criminals," Dr. Murphree

University of Florida men are to "curb" liquor drinking. In an earnest appeal to the fraternity men of the University, Dr. Murphree called for cooperation with recommendations laid down by the faculty committee to curb the sale of liquor, to eliminate opportunities for a repetition of some of the disgraceful things that occurred at fraternal entertainments last spring.

Dr. Murphree is quoted as telling the assembled fraternity men that "it is an utter impossibility to absolutely check liquor drinking as long as there is liquor made." He seemed to think that the habit might be "curbed" if everybody would help.

In the dispatches reporting Dr. Murphree's address we have seen no report of just what those faculty recommendations are, and they may embody some actual rigid dealing with penalties to be provided for University of Florida students who violate the laws of their country. The point is that here we have an "appeal" to students to be law-abiding citizens, when it would seem to be a simple question of expulsion from the University for any man convicted of buying, selling, or drinking beverages that have been outlawed by his government.

The Herald knows that A. A. Murphree averages among the best. He measures up with the top men in university work. But we are disappointed in his attitude in university work among college students. The Herald would like to see him take a flat stand against the bootlegger student and the equally criminal students who buy or drink the illicit stuff.

Leave the disgraceful actions of rowdy students entirely out of the question. Leave out any consideration of whether drunken students injure the reputation of the university. Leave out any of the moral questions associated with the use of intoxicating liquor. Just let the University of Florida come out four-square for obedience to the laws of the United States, and the liquor-drinking problem of the school will be solved.

Let Dr. Murphree employ detectives, collect evidence, then call upon the federal authorities to bring about the arrest of the man arrested for bootlegging. He automatically expelled from the University, and with him all the "bootlegger" students who have patronized the liquor-seller or drunk his customers' stuff.

Perhaps this sounds drastic. But it is drastic action that is needed. The idle, unproductive, unproductive, unproductive students eliminated. They could be eliminated by paying for loyalty to the government of their country and obedience to its laws.

A RICH MAN'S WILL.

The following is an excerpt from the will of a Wall Street man, which has been probated recently in the New York courts.

"To my wife, I leave her love and the knowledge that I wasn't the fool she thought I was."

"To my son, I leave the pleasure of earning a living. For thirty-five years he has thought that the pleasure was in the money. He was mistaken."

"To my daughter, I leave $100,000. She will need it. The only good piece of business her husband ever did was to marry her."

"To my valet, I leave the clothes that he has been stealing from me regularly for the last ten years. Also my fur coat that he wore last winter when I was in Palm Beach."

"To my chauffeur, I leave my cars. He almost ruined Job."

"To my partner, I leave the suggestion that he take some other clever man in with him at once if he expects to do any business."

NEW LIGHT ON THE DAWES PLAN

DEARBORN INDEPENDENT

There are at least two certain points of interest, in the operation of the Dawes Plan, one of which is the little matter of international bank loans. Always more or less of a mystery to the average man, they are arranged, J. H. Keynes, the famous British economist, has said he had finally got it for him.

ALSO Mr. Mellon bears that J. P. Morgan does that he signed an agreement with the Dawes Plan cut appeal. That comforted Wall Street. Down there, they are interested in Morgan, an English banker, who is interested in the Dawes Plan. He is interested in the Dawes Plan. He is interested in the Dawes Plan.

THE WORLD sympathizes with Cuba, and the beautiful city of Havana is a terrible power with loss of life and property damage reported at the capital.

THE CUBANS will quickly repair the damage and be ready to receive the American troops when they come again.

IT HAS come in some places. Northern Vermont was out of the outside world yesterday, snow and sleet storms yesterday, four market were deprived of electric light.

AT that time, electric light failed in New York, New York, where John J. Sullivan was the chief investor.

BEFORE six years ago, and now it is a different story. It is a different story, it is a different story.

THEY should then remain under cover until the entire town has passed. They should remember that in the center of a hurricane is a full which lasts for about an hour and the storm will soon begin again with renewed fury.

IF they take these reasonable and sane precautions, they head off. It cannot hurt them. And the chances are all ways might good that the hurricane will not come. No matter where you happen to be in Florida, an approaching hurricane almost always veers off or manages to miss you, but course there are notable exceptions like the storm which hit Miami in September, and the one which hit Tampa in 1921.

Mrs. Earle Edward Jones

Mrs. Jones, who weds Miss Lillian Cook Shindholer, became the bride of Earle E. Jones Friday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the First Methodist church at what was considered one of the prettiest weddings of the year.

MISS LILLIAN COOK SHINDHOLER IS BRIDE OF EARLE E. JONES

A most beautiful and impressive wedding was that of Friday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, when Miss Lillian Cook Shindholer became the bride of Earle Edward Jones, of the Methodist church at what was considered one of the prettiest weddings of the year.

The church, which lends itself so well to the decorator's hand, was never more artistically decorated than on this occasion. The choir loft, chancel and back of the altar, were banked solidly with many pot-pourri, plants and bouquets of flowers. The altar was draped with a rich, dark background of light yellow tulle, and the chancel rail was decorated with garlands of pink and white flowers. The altar was draped with a rich, dark background of light yellow tulle, and the chancel rail was decorated with garlands of pink and white flowers.

While the guests were assembling, a program of nuptial music was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Edith M. Jones, organist, assisted by Dr. W. R. Barker, tenor. This included, "Sea Gardens" (James Francis Cooper), "Andantino" (Charles Chabrier), Dr. Barker's numbers were "I Love You" (Carrie Jacobs-Bond) and "You Dear, and" (words by Margaretta Hall, music by Robert Clarke). During the ceremony, Master Howard Berg, a young son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Berg, wearing a black velvet suit, made with floral decorations, holding a ring, carried the ring in the heart of a pink rose bud.

Frank Wright, of Jacksonville, fraternity brother of the groom, acted as best man. The bride, who is a striking brunette, entered alone and was never more lovely than in her wedding gown of soft white crepe. Her hair was enhanced by her period gown of American beauty tulle, with tight bodice, the bouffant collar and the full skirt. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for Jacksonville where they called today for New York and other points in the East. They will spend several weeks there and upon their return will be at home to their friends at the Clements Apartments on Park Avenue.

For traveling, the bride wore a smart frock of midnight blue and white, with trimmings of red and white. Her hair was styled in an unusual scalloped collar, and accented with a large white bow. Her slippers were of white and silver. Her slippers were of white and silver.
