POOR HEALTH HIKES INSURANCE. DEAR DR. LAMB - Rarely does one hear of the cause and effect of a "high pulse rate." This is my problem. My occupation involves office work and some tension and pressure are to be expected. I have gained excess weight from not being as active as I was in my previous occupation. Every time I get over anxious or make a trip to my doctor I get all nervous and my heart seems to beat more rapidly. Recently I had a physical which was necessary to secure life insurance. My doctor explained to me that this condition might be normal for me but the insurance company didn't like it. If this condition was cause for any great concern, or indicated some serious impending illness, why didn't my doctor prescribe some medical treatment? My insurance company informed me that I had a physical problem and that my premium would cost more than a well or normal person. Needless to say this has disturbed me and I would like to understand more about the nature of this condition. DEAR READER - Insurance companies write policies on the basis of statistics rather than individuals. The truth is that as a group, individuals with a resting heart rate higher than 70 beats per minute have several times the likelihood of having a heart attack or dropping dead as do people with a resting heart rate below 70. The reasons though are that a lot of those people with higher resting heart rates have them from smoking cigarettes, which can increase the rate to 20 beats per minute, drinking coffee or being in poor physical condition. Cigarettes and obesity with poor physical fitness also increase your risk

NATION IN BRIEF

Three Dead, Five Are Injured In Prison Muslim, Nazi Melee

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — San Quentin inmates were being kept in their cells in a lockdown today after Black Muslim and Nazi inmates fought with clubs and knives in racial clashes that left three convicts dead and injured five, authorities said.

The deaths and injuries came Tuesday in two separate attacks by members of the American National Socialist on members of a Black Muslim prison sect, officials said. The fights took place in the prison's west wing "honor block," which houses 364 men, as prisoners lounged outside their cells after meals, officials said.

Guards fired rifle shots to quell the disturbances.

Consumer Spending Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some economists are suggesting President Carter's decision to withdraw his proposed $50 tax rebate for each American may be having a poor psychological effect on the nation's economy.

These economists privately are citing figures showing that consumer spending has declined three months in a row, ever since the administration withdrew the rebate plan in April.

Human Rights Is Talk Topic

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration's human rights offensive will be a prime topic of talks this week between President Carter and West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt.

Diplomatic sources say Schmidt is believed to fear that continued emphasis on human rights is deteriorating East-West relations. He personally favors a cautious approach with the Soviet Union on human rights.

Congress To Eye $ Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — An agreement between the Carter administration and organized labor for a 35-cent-an-hour increase in the minimum wage apparently will spur Congress to act on the issue.

This is the prediction of Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., whose House Education and Labor Committee will consider the matter early next week. The present minimum wage is $2.30 an hour.

Italian PM To Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Giulio Andreotti of Italy will make a two-day official visit to Washington July 25-27, the White House announced Tuesday.

The announcement said Andreotti "will have an opportunity for talks with the President and other United States government officials on an extensive range of issues in the context of the friendship and alliance between Italy and the United States."

Hearings Scheduled On Development Plan

The Seminole County Commissioners Tuesday scheduled three public hearings on the planning department's draft of a short-range development plan and intergovernmental coordination statement, which will be components of the county's comprehensive plan.

The hearings will be July 28, Aug. 11, and Sept. 1.

The county commissioners will conduct hearings on the plan Sept. 13 and 27 and plan to adopt the comprehensive plan the night of the second hearing.

The commissioners also voted to distribute copies of the draft of the short-range development plan and intergovernmental coordination statement to Seminole's city government, surrounding counties, the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council and the state Division of Planning for their review and comment.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

5 More Counties Declared Disaster Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five more Florida counties have been declared drought-disaster areas following a severe rain shortage which officials estimate has resulted in more than $135 million in crop losses.

The five extra counties bring to 35 the number which have received the disaster designation from U.S. Agriculture Secretary Robert Bergland.

Bergland added the Northeast Florida counties of Bradford, Flagler, Putnam, St. Johns and Union to the list Tuesday.

Gov. Reubin Askew had requested those additions last week following the recommendations of the State Emergency Board.

Loudd Decision Delayed

ORLANDO (AP) — A circuit judge has delayed a decision on whether to release former pro football executive Rommie Loudd from prison while an appeals court considers whether he was jailed on false testimony.

Judge W. Rogers Turner asked opposing lawyers for written arguments on their interpretations of a state law governing appeal bonds for prisoners previously charged with other crimes.

Asst. State Atty. Donald Lykkebak argued before Turner Tuesday that the law prohibits Loudd from gaining his freedom on appeal because he committed a federal crime prior to the state drug violation which resulted in his 14-year prison sentence.

Developers See Upswing

MIAMI (AP) — Two Florida developers predict economic growth and increased home sales in Florida for several years to come, but they see little chance for a decrease in the cost of new homes.

"If inflation can be controlled and favorable mortgage rates maintained, I see the next three to five years as bright economic ones for the state of Florida in general and South Florida in particular," said Louis E. Fischer, president of General Development Corp.

Charles E. Cobb Jr., president of Arvida Corp., based his optimism on population growth.

He predicted an added 90,000 persons a year over the next five years would settle in the Dade-Broward-Palm Beach county area, requiring 40,000 new housing units a year.

Japanese Satellite On Pad

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP) — A Japanese satellite designed to provide better warning of typhoons in the Pacific will be launched here Thursday.

It will be Japan's first weather satellite, eventually to be positioned in a stationary orbit 22,300 miles from earth over the equator south of Tokyo.

A Delta rocket will be used to carry the 620-pound Geostationary Meteorological Satellite into space.

Budget Phone Service Due

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Some 64,000 customers of General Telephone Co. will get the first chance ever in Florida next month to obtain budget telephone service.

Members of the Public Service Commission said Tuesday that a much larger experiment involving more of the state isn't far behind.

Beginning Aug. 1, GenTel will offer eight per cent of its customers the option of taking the budget service, which will cut their bills by 40 per cent over the cost of one-party service.

However, those customers will be limited to 30 calls per month and must pay 10 cents for each additional call.

Crime, Pranks Forcing Man Legally Blind To Quit Job

MIAMI (AP) — Wayne Davis, a victim of crime, cruel pranks and starvation profits, is quitting the snack bar he runs under a state program to help the blind.

To add insult, he may have to repay the state $400 taken from him in a robbery.

Davis, 34, opened the stand at South Dade Skills Center in mid-December under sponsorship of the State Bureau of Blind Services.

Davis, though partially sighted, is classified legally blind.

He says someone once tossed a snake around his neck as he cleaned tables. Another time he reached into the refrigerator and found a smashed frog.

Burglars broke in and took food and equipment. Davis was recently robbed of $400 at gunpoint. The Bureau of Blind Services has no liability insurance so Davis is accountable for the money lost in the robbery, said Charles Hammond, state coordinator of the vending section.

The snack bar has no air conditioning and was hurt by competition that did. Davis said his paychecks for four weeks ranged from $8 to a one-time high of $30.

Davis said he asked for assignment to another stand, but was told he lacked seniority.

"I can't take it any more," he said Tuesday as he quit. "I have to make a living for my family."

19 Arrested As Police Seize $20 Million In Pot

NAPLES (AP) — At least 19 persons were arrested when police and federal agents busted up what they say was a drug-smuggling operation in the Gulf of Mexico and seized 10 to 20 tons of marijuana.

A Collier county sheriff's spokesman said the marijuana had an estimated street value of $20 million.

Three boats, including a 63-foot shrimp, were also confiscated. The marijuana was being unloaded from the larger ship to two smaller ones when the raid was made, police said.

Police said the men on the shrimp boat tried to throw the pot overboard as officers closed in. One of the small boats fled but was caught after a chase, police said.

The shrimp boat has been identified as the "Captain Salty," registered in Brunswick, Ga., police said. They said it apparently brought the marijuana from South America.

Police did not release the names of the other boats. They said they were tracing ownership of all three boats.

Two vans also were taken and the drivers arrested, police said.

Two of those arrested were identified as Rolando Soas, 30, of Miami, and William Pillaiba, 42.

Whipsawed Foreign Policy

The other day the House of Representatives mauled the President's foreign aid package. The House did so with such glibness — "we'd better tie the President's hands a little bit," said one congressman — that we wonder whether the House is at all capable of deferring to the White House on foreign policy.

We understand that recent events — notably Vietnam and Watergate — have stimulated Congress to reduce the power of the White House and reassert its own. This development fits democratic theory nicely, but only to the point where the theory itself goes lame. In general, domestic policy is better for the workmanship of 555 congressmen, but congressional foreign policy is headed for chaos, since a congressman necessarily attends to parochial matters. Even Jefferson, who sometimes seemed to want the rest of the world just to go away, understood this limit of Congress, conceding that foreign matters ought to be left, for better or worse, to presidents.

This is the solution that democracy inevitably must embrace. It is untidy and sometimes practical results have been uneven — although never finally destructive. Presidents have made mistakes. In the wake of those mistakes the temptation is to think Congress can do better, but usually it probably will do worse. Recently the House clearly did so.

The House voted overwhimingly to prohibit any international institution from using American money for aid to seven countries — Cuba, Angola, Mozambique, Uganda, Vietnam, Cambodia, and Laos. The decision would affect the World Bank, the United Nations Development Fund, and the other regional banks.

Mr. Carter's major foreign policy failing — that he hasn't explained to Congress and the public how the balancing should be executed — how he decided that Thailand gets aid but Argentina does not.

We understand that Congress is supposed to represent the people of the United States, not the world. It has done a good job on human rights in the United States. It is impossible for Congress to do the same for the whole world over which it has no jurisdiction. Our advice to the House is that it defer on human rights in foreign policy to the President. Mr. Carter may not have a coherent foreign policy, but at least he's groping toward one. The House appears to be just groping.

A Nice Address

My favorite commencement address of mine is one given at Lake Forest (Ill.) College by an author of children's books, Ted "Dr. Seuss" Geisel. Its duration was 75 seconds and it was met with a deafening ovation. We think it is worth reprinting here in full: "It seems to be beboven upon me to bring forth words of wisdom to this graduating class as it leaves these cloistered halls to enter the outside world beyond. Fortunately for you of the graduating class, my wisdom is in very short supply. And I have managed to condense everything I know into an epic poem consisting of 14 lines. If I can find it under this underwear, I will read it quickly and then sit down. The epic poem is entitled:

My Uncle Terwilliger

On the Art of Eating Popovers

My uncle ordered popovers from the restaurant's bill of fare. And, when they were served, he regarded them with a penetrating stare... Then he spoke great words of wisdom as he sat there on that chair: "To eat these things," said my uncle, "you must exercise great care. You may swallow down what's solid... BUT... you must spit out the air!" And... as you partake of the world's bill of fare, do a lot of spitting out the hot air. And be careful what you swallow."

BERRY'S WORLD

WASHINGTON — The transformation of Ervil LeBaron into a messianic writer is an unfinished story still being written in blood. It's the story of a religious fanatic who sees himself as God's avenger and sends armed women to strike down the nonbelievers. The saga came out of the desert, claiming to be prophets in the Moses tradition. Two of them reemerged the Cain and Abel story, with Ervil doing in his brother Joel. Then Ervil sent his women, armed with shotguns and firebrands, to destroy Joel's followers, such as the Israelites fell upon the false prophets of Babel. The trouble began with the practice of polygamy by a few early Mormons in their isolated desert communities. A disapproving federal government outlawed polygamy, and the church responded by abolishing the practice in 1890.

Exit B-1 Enter The New Cruise

WASHINGTON — Politics invariably intrudes upon every major government policy decision, especially those made in the White House — and President Carter's termination of the B-1 bomber program was no exception to that rule.

Carter's decision to forego production of the B-1 was notable in that regard because there is every reason to believe it was principally the product of conclusions reached after an intensive presidential analysis of substance and fact. But political considerations were absent in dealing with the merits of the issue, their presence was quite apparent in the brilliantly orchestrated propaganda campaign during the weeks immediately prior to the B-1 announcement.

As a result, the President's deft handling of the B-1 issue had a profound effect on his love-hate relationship with the liberal wing of the Democratic party in two crucial respects: First, the stage-managed effort which established the announcement impression that Carter was prepared to authorize B-1 production earned the President invaluable credit among liberal Democrats when he finally disclosed his contrary position.

Second, Carter adroitly maneuvered many of those same liberals — among the most strident critics of major new Pentagon weapons systems of the past decade — into a position where they will be hard-pressed to oppose what probably will be the Defense Department's most important weapon program of the next five years, the cruise missile.

Without the month-long buildup hinting at a pro-B-1 decision, Carter would have received little credit from the liberals on the grounds that he was merely making good on a campaign promise. Instead, the President built a "straw man," then earned the liberals' gratitude by destroying his own creation.

He could afford that luxury because there was little likelihood of a conservative backlash on the issue. While the B-1 program in recent months as a major test of public policy for liberals, conservatives were transfixed by other issues such as abortion, gun control and the death penalty.

But the liberal Democrats already have paid the price for Carter's elimination of the B-1 program. In those weeks just before he disclosed his decision, some of the most vocal Pentagon critics in the President's party emerged in the unexpected role of cruise promoters.

"Perhaps the most frequently cited argument against the B-1 was the fact that the cruise could perform virtually the same mission in a far more efficient, economical and sophisticated manner than the controversial bomber.

The cruise is, by all accounts, the most powerful of military hardware since the advent of the jeep. It is a plane drone, less than 21 feet long and 21 inches in diameter.

When you don't pay your electric bill, the power company can cut off your power until you pay up. In order to make the situation more fair to consumers, the state Public Service Commission (PSC) adopted a rule in January that power companies couldn't cut off power from Friday at noon through Sunday.

The power companies didn't like the rule and went to court to challenge it. Attorneys for Florida Power Corp. of St. Petersburg, Gulf Power Co. and Tampa Electric Co. argued before the Florida Supreme Court last Friday the rule was established without proper evidence.

The issue raises important questions about how far these huge companies can go in pursuing a profit.

In the first place, the power companies are a bit different from other types of businesses. Power companies operate without the benefit of competition. There can only be one electric company operating within a given geographical area.

This fact puts these companies in a unique position, and the PSC regulates the companies which are not regulated by the invisible hand of competition. In the second place, it would not be fair to cut off power for a time period in which the customer would be unable to pay his bill, thereby restoring service.

The real dispute between the PSC and the power companies is about Friday afternoon. Current power company policy prohibits weekend shutoffs, but the PSC rule prohibits shutoffs on Friday afternoon.

Power company attorneys argued the PSC based its rule on the testimony of one staffer. This hardly seems like a valid objection if the staffer knew he was talking about.

An attorney for Gulf Power said the commission based its ruling on six complaints over an 18-month period from the more than three million utility customers in Florida. To the lawyer, such a small number of complaints indicates "no need has been shown."

Apparently the power company lawyers have never had to throw out a refrigerator full of spoiled food. Supreme Court Justice Joseph Boyd has, however. He said he had electricity cut off to a weekend cabin even though he had called a check paying the bill. Boyd is one of the justices hearing the case.

If only six people every 18 months can be protected from such actions by Florida's power companies, the rule is worth preserving. It is understandable that a well paid lawyer representing a multimillion dollar corporation might look at the situation differently, but the power companies are supposed to serve the public. We serve the power companies sufficiently by paying our bills.

Power company attorneys estimated it would cost $50,000 to comply with the rule because it would mean a half day of lost work for field employees. The companies have three million customers statewide.

Assuming the lawyers haven't overstated the case, that works out to an added financial burden of 16 cents per customer yearly or less than 2 cents per customer per month. This is hardly an overwhelming price to pay for insuring no weekend power cutoffs while our payment checks are in the mail.

Apparently the power company lawyers have never had to throw out a refrigerator full of spoiled

Proposed Oil Price Freeze Meets Oilmen Opposition

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Opposition developed within the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries today to a proposal by Saudi Arabia and Iran that oil prices be frozen in 1978. A spokesman for Algeria, one of the most radical members of the oil cartel, said "some corrections" would have to be made in prices. He said Venezuela agreed with this position.

Interviews Set For Top USF Post

TALLAHASSEE, (AP) — The five finalists being considered for president of the University of South Florida will be interviewed by a Board of Regents selection committee Friday.

A regents official announced Tuesday a one-hour questioning session will be conducted by the three-member selection committee.

The finalists include Dr. N. Edd Miller, president of the University of Maine at Portland-Gorham; Dr. Trevor Colburn, vice president for academic affairs at the University of South Florida.

Lake Mary Applying For Water System Grant

The City of Lake Mary is applying for another $5 million federal money to complete its water system and build a sewer system in the community.

A scheduled workshop of the city council Tuesday with only two councilmen — Harry Terry and DeLores Lash — and Mayor Walter Sorenson attending, Sorenson called a special meeting of the board for noon Thursday to formulate the pre-application for the money.

Deadline for submission to the U.S. department of Agriculture is Friday.

Sorenson said the federal grant would provide money to complete the water system and enable the city to serve all properties within the community and a major portion of the city with sanitary sewers.

The federal grant would also provide money for related sewer and water facilities.

Insurance Law

Karns added that "anyone who buys PIP from me will have to sign a form indicating they understand exactly what they have bought — it's not something that will give them any protection, just something that lets you get your car insured."

Two other agents speculated that premiums on PIP insurance would be so high that auto owners would be discouraged from purchasing this type of coverage.

Manpower Offices To Move To Downtown Sanford Site

The Seminole County Commissioners Tuesday voted to lease office space in downtown Sanford to house the county's rapidly-expanding manpower program but did not decide on a specific location.

The county's manpower office is now located at Seminole Plaza, but about 5,000 square feet of additional office space is needed, said Bob Ellis, county director of administrative services.

"We need about 7,500 square feet for the manpower program," Ellis said. The commissioners recently approved the hiring of 37 additional employees for the manpower program, but no additional personnel will be hired until there is sufficient

According To Disclosure Forms

After 6 Years, Governor Worth $119,004

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — After more than six years as Florida's governor, Reubin Askew owns neither car nor home and has a relatively modest net worth of $119,004.

A check of financial disclosure forms on Tuesday showed that Askew was among the first high state officials to report his holdings this year.

The deadline for disclosure was either July 1 or 15, depending on which of two categories officials fall into, but the Ethics Commission has voted to suspend enforcement of the law until Aug. 1.

The panel acted because of confusion just before the July 1 deadline as to whether Askew would sign a tough disclosure bill. He finally voted the measure, saying it would have imposed too much disclosure on too many local officials.

Askew, meanwhile, was one of the first officials to file full disclosure in the form mandated by the Sunshine Amendment, which the voters approved last year. The amendment requires full disclosure for the first time by elected state and county officials.

The governor's assets included $40,330 in Tallahassee and Pensacola bank accounts, eight insurance policies worth $26,446, a $9,500 Pensacola lot, a $4,700 Pensacola country plot, a $8,611 coin collection, $20,889 in retirement contributions, $3,873 in savings bonds, a $3,190 interest in his mother's home and a $1,000 honorarium from Randolph-Macon College. The only liability reported by Askew was the $4,008 he owed on his mother's home in Warrenton.

Askew's net worth increased by about $15,000 over last year's report but remained relatively modest for a lawyer of his age and experience.

Askew's report shows that he owns neither house nor a car, an oddity for a man of his standing.

Secretary of State Bruce Smathers, for example, included a $4,500 station wagon and a $3,100 sedan among his assets. Smathers still owes $4,825 on the newer auto.

His assets include a $63,000 Tallahassee home, a $30,000 interest in his family's North Carolina home, $20,000 in personal effects, $20,000 in retirement funds, 100 Wisconsin shares worth $4,200 and 190 Flanagan BancCorp. and 190 First National Bank of Florida shares worth $1,000.

Smathers' assets totaled $117,000, but he reported $73,250 in liabilities for a net worth of $43,750. His liabilities included $50,740 on his home mortgage and bank notes of $13,225 and $4,400.

The other major official to report so far was Education Commissioner Ralph Turington. He said his net worth was $350,201. He listed $434,018 in assets and $83,727 in liabilities.

Turington's assets included large stock holdings in many major corporations, with the total value pegged at $143,403. He listed $21,141 in banks, $65,089 in receivables from the State Farm Insurance agency he used to own in Gainesville and, sale of his former house, a $125,000 Tallahassee home and $62,290 in retirement benefits.

Daniel's budget carries a $103.595 tax levy, hence the $103.595 tax rate, while Florida's proposed budget which would set a $135.094 levy which would set the rate at $2.40 per $100 assessed valuation.

"We also are going to have one of the largest increases ever in building permit fees. We're growing so fast we can't keep up with it," Pland pointed out.

The current property tax rate in Winter Springs is $2.43 per $1,000 assessed valuation, according to Pland, which said figures indicate that Daniel's budget is adopted as proposed the rate would drop to $1.85 per $1,000 assessed valuation, and that if the mayor's is accepted instead, the tax rate would be lowered, but only to $2.40 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

The current tax rate of $2.43 was set to raise $129,000 in property taxes toward the total current budget of more than $700,000, according to Pland.

He said the city originally budgeted $524,222 to provide its services, but that the city will spend this fiscal year about $700,000 because it received additional state and federal grants.

Although Pland's and Daniel's budgets approach similar spending for city government for next fiscal year, anticipated increases in federal and state revenue sharing will account for needing less property tax monies, the mayor explained. "We also are going to have one of the largest increases ever in building permit fees. We're growing so fast we can't keep up with it," Pland pointed out.

One of the major differences between Pland's and Daniel's proposed budgets is in the capital improvements section. Pland said Daniels proposed budgeting a total of $25,000 for that item, while the mayor wants to spend $37,713 for capital improvements.

"In my construction, or capital improvements proposal, I call for some major street paving. Our Edgemoor Avenue needs to be paved at the north and south ends, and that's estimated at $21,000 alone," Pland said.

The mayor said he also feels it's time to begin resurfacing streets within the city limits. "And that's figured at about $11,000."

In his budget Daniels calls for an additional fireman and policeman, one police car and truck for public works.

Daniel also asks for increased payments to volunteer firemen to $4,800 and a pay

2 Budgets In Winter Springs

Monday. What they'll find is a proposed budget of $795,617 submitted by Daniels and one for $12,589 turned in by Mayor Pland.

The current property tax rate in Winter Springs is $2.43 per $1,000 assessed valuation, according to Pland, which said figures indicate that Daniel's budget is adopted as proposed the rate would drop to $1.85 per $1,000 assessed valuation, and that if the mayor's is accepted instead, the tax rate would be lowered, but only to $2.40 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Exit B-1 Enter The New Cruise

MARYLIN K. SHEDDAN Have You Been There?

The town was new to me. I had never visited it before, never seen a map, never seen a photograph of it. It was in an area of the country that had called to me for years, and finally I took my vacation there.

When I first arrived a sense of familiarity started me. The hotel where I stayed, the streets I walked, even the shops and buses and little parks looked familiar.

Unable to shake the strange sensation I decided to challenge it: with a concentrated effort at not noticing what way I turned, where I went or how far I walked I determined to get myself lost. I could not. Four hours later I was back at the hotel, having arrived there by exactly the route I "knew" despite having walked alone to the suburbs of the small mountain town.

The experience is called "deja vu," a French term meaning "already seen." It is interesting, odd, and not an unpleasant sensation. It is a feeling of "I have been here before," or "I have seen this before," or "I have said this before." Sooner or later it happens to almost everyone.

But what good is it? Does it serve any purpose that might make it worth cultivating? An deja vu experience is worth noting, because if given you nothing will give you some insight into what is going on in your subconscious mind.

The next time you realize, halfway through a conversation, that you feel you have said all those things (and heard the responses) already, stop talking. Excuse yourself if possible, and give some thought to what importance this conversation has that would cause your mind to have "set it up" ahead of time.

It is an opportunity to make a breakthrough in communications with someone you have had difficulty reaching? Is it a chance to clarify ideas, opinions or concepts you have been trying to get across to someone?

Mundane as the conversation may seem at the moment you experience deja vu something has made it important to your subconscious mind.

If you cannot take "time out" from the conversation, make a mental note to go back over it later. Somehow, sometime it will have an importance you might not otherwise have suspected.

Deja vu experiences concerning places are more difficult to analyze, because their cause may vary from time to time. Nonetheless, each time you encounter a place you "know" you have been before, note the details of what happens to you there. It will be important to your future.

JOHN D. LOFTON, JR. Soviet Aid To Terrorism Is Ignored

WASHINGTON — In preparing recently for hearings on terrorism, which were to be held before the Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., whose aide Harold Zarembo was shot and killed at a Turkish airport last year in a Turkish airport — wrote to Ambassador Douglas Heck, the State Dept.'s Coordinator for Combating Terrorism. What Sen. Javits requested was a report setting forth in detail the operations, assistance and methods that Libya and "any other countries" have pursued in furtherance of terrorists and terrorism.

In response, Sen. Javits was provided information concerning four countries: Libya, Iraq, Aden, and Somalia. Reading this report, I thought: Can this be the whole story? Are there no Communist countries that aid and abet terrorists and terrorism? What about the Soviet Union and Cuba? I put this question to Ambassador Heck.

Well, the ambassador replied, the question I raised was one that calls for "a careful review

President Carter Carter's Way With Words Stymies Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is causing problems for those who edit his public pronouncements for official publication. He uses unfamiliar words that send them to their dictionaries.

A veteran editor of the "Weekly Compilation of Presidential Documents," published by the Office of the Federal Register, said in an interview that Carter's vocabulary eclipses that of any other president since the first issue came off the press at the Government Printing Office in August 1965.

By her measure, Carter has a greater command of language than Lyndon B. Johnson, Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford. One can only speculate how she would have rated John F. Kennedy, who had an impressive way with words.

The editor, Margaret Donohue, credited Carter with eliminating one problem that was commonplace in some other administrations — finding an appropriate heading to place above each separate question-and-answer in news conference transcripts.

With some presidents, she related, there often was a tenuous relationship between questions and responses.

"Do you base the heading on the question that was asked or on the question that was answered?" she mused.

In Carter's case, she related, the response is usually closely related to the question, so there's no problem. Without mentioning names, she said some others seemed to prefer to respond to a question they wished they'd been asked, but weren't.

Reporters often found that to be the case with LBJ and, at times, Nixon.

The "Weekly Compilation" contains all of Carter's public remarks, selected documents such as messages to Congress, his daily schedule and a digest of White House announcements. Anyone can order a subscription from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, for $15 a year.

The publication is in the news now because, starting this month, it comes out in a smaller format — 9 1/2 by 6 1/2 inches instead of 11 1/2 by 8 1/2.

There's a reason for the shrinkage, but not the one you might guess. The aim is to save type, not paper.

It seems that many of the items printed in the "Weekly Compilation" also appear in annual hardcover volumes of collected presidential papers. By having the page size of weekly issues match that of the books, the government saves a lot of typesetting.

It took Uncle Sam only 12 years to discover the fact.

Carter has a youthful staff, which may go far toward explaining his associates' zest for softball. The White House team plays often, takes the game seriously and, if you believe its members, wins more often than it loses.

One of those losses came Sunday when the White House team bowed 8 to 7 after being challenged by an Indiana team that journeyed here from Indianapolis by chartered bus. The bus ride alone, by some two dozen players, might suggest that the Hoosiers' enthusiasm for softball more than matched that of the home team.

The Indiana team represented the Indianapolis Star and warmed up for the big contest with the Carter folks by losing a Saturday contest in the Washington Post 23 to 11.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell played shortstop for his team while his wife, Nan, was at second base. The severity of the Powell family seemingly was not disturbed when Mrs. Powell missed a throw from her husband that seemed sure to prestage an easy putout.

Producing People-Catchers, Nail Guides

Latter-Day Thomas Edisons Still At It

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — David Gutman finally perfected his pedestrian-catching bumper. He doesn't own a car, so Gutman bolted the bumper to a kitchen table and ran headlong into the object.

"It works. It works good. It pushes in, then pushes right back out," Gutman said.

Gutman, 66, is one of thousands of backyard inventors, people with ideas for doing something and the mechanical ability to carry them out. Many of these latter-day Thomas Edisons troop to the U.S. Patent Office to register their creations as officially their own.

Gutman is a Russian who moved here 25 years ago from New York, where he had worked in a machine shop. His inventions include a fire escape that lowers a person to the ground, a nail guide that prevents battered thumbs and two car bumpers designed to protect pedestrians.

"I don't drive," Gutman said, explaining why he spends so much time on bumpers to protect pedestrians. "I used to, but I'd get lost or I'd lose the car or something. So now I walk."

Gutman's inventions, like many designed in backyard workshops, are unusual in appearance. Take the car bumper, consisting of two tempered steel rods that curve down and out from the bumper. The rods are connected by a crosspiece that theoretically acts as a "cow-catcher," scooping the pedestrian up and onto the hood.

His fire escape, which can also be used as a window washer, drops down one side at a time, with a cam arrangement preventing it from coming down out of control. Gutman tested the crude-looking prototype by descending it on from the roof his house.

The only invention to make him any money is the nail holder. It is designed primarily for small nails and tacks that can't be held and hammered without damage to the fingers, and Gutman put these into production himself. He said he made about $1,000 — just enough to pay the cost of getting the patent.

An official of the U.S. Patent office said that about a quarter of the patents issued go to people like Gutman. "The independent inventor is still a force to be reckoned with," said Isaac Fleischmann, director of Information Services for the U.S. Office of Patents and Trademarks.

"There are some who do make money," he said. "The wouldn't do it if there weren't the promise of some remuneration. There is still a need for inventors."

Fleischmann said the patent office employs 1,000 engineers to investigate the 102,000 applications made each year. If

'Po$turing Nonsen$e?'

Pavings Pondered By Longwood Panel

REP. UDALL

Longwood City Council is studying recommendations of the paving and sidewalk committee for long and short-term goals in the city.

Listed in order of priority for paving in the next five years are the following streets: Wayman, West Warren, Land, Longwood Hills, Lakeview, Oak, Georgia, Slade, and Oxford. Sidewalks and bikepaths were recommended for 427 from SR 434 to Lyman High; from Orange to 434 on Grand Street; from Range Line to 427 on E.E. Williamson Road and all new paved streets at time of paving.

The assault took place on Sept. 17, 1944, and involved more than 1,000 fighters, bombers and transports, and more than 2,500 gliders. One of the pilots was Maj. Howard Cannon.

Cannon's plane was shot down shortly after the paratroopers on board had bailed out. Cannon and Lt. Col. Frank Krebs, then bailed out behind enemy lines.

When Howard Cannon, D-Nav., sees the movie "A Bridge Too Far," he reacts a little differently than most viewers. The movie tells the story of Operation Market-Garden during World War II, the airborne assault on Nazi-occupied Holland.

The committee recommended resurfacing for Church, Orange, and Wilma Streets and Devonshire Boulevard, which it said would be lost without immediate attention. The committee suggested all existing streets be surveyed by competent personnel and brought up to acceptable conditions, and within a 10-year period all streets should be paved with sidewalks or bikepaths accompanying the residential (R2), which would mean a decrease in density for the property. Eighty one and two-story homes in the 200-400 class are planned for the development. Final plat approval was set for Sept. 1.

Councilwoman June Lormann said Sanford City Residential Communities, developers of Windtree West on E.E. Williamson Road, to act as consultant to Longwood in preparation for the budget (RM) for the coming fiscal year.

Plan Format Gets Nod

Casselberry City Council has approved the format for the city's comprehensive land-use plan and found that the city's land-planning agency held public hearings on the proposed format to fulfill the requirements of the state law and due process. City Attorney Ken Mcintosh said four public hearings were held by the planning agency and additional hearings will be held by council before the plan's adoption in late September.

Mcintosh also told council that preparation is under way to repeal the city manager ordinance and to develop a format for a full-time mayor's responsibilities in line with the city's recent referendum.

New rates make saving electricity more important than ever.

WE'RE CONCERNED.

The state regulatory agency has concluded that FPL's new rates will be based on a conservation incentive: If you use more than a base amount of electricity per month, the rate per kilowatt hour will go up. We're concerned, because your bill may increase more than you expect. We want our customers to have the facts—and to have ample opportunity to determine wise energy management.

AFTER YOU USE 750 KILOWATT HOURS IN A MONTH, THE RATE PER KILOWATT HOUR GOES UP.

According to the regulatory agency's order, FPL will, for the first time, have an "inverted rate" structure. This means that the first 750 kilowatt hours you use in any month will be at one rate, and all electricity you use above that, during the monthly billing period, will be at a higher rate.

Kilowatt Hours	Old Rate	New Costs (Inverted Structure)	Increase	New Costs, If Historic Rate Structure Applied	Increase
750	$ 27.27	$ 29.01	6.4%	$ 31.36	15%
1200	40.78	46.96	15.2%	46.90	15%
2000	64.82	78.87	21.7%	74.51	14.9%
3000	94.85	118.75	25.2%	109.04	15%
4000	124.89	158.64	27%	143.56	14.9%

All the above figures include applicable franchise fees.

Americans Led By Von Herbulis

Brett Von Herbulis led Sanford's American League All-Stars, both offensively and defensively as Sanford advanced to the finals of the sub-district Florida Little Major League championship Tuesday.

Von Herbulis was brilliant on the mound, mowing down the side in order three out of six innings.

Von Herbulis allowed just one hit, that coming with two out in the fourth inning when Scott Andrews drilled a home run.

Von Herbulis was equally effective with the bat, rapping out a double and a pair of singles in three official trips to the plate.

But Von Herbulis was not the only one who had a good night. Paul Griffin, Mike Rotundo and Wilbert Gordon each added two base knocks to the winners total of 12 hits.

Tracy Walker, Andy Griffith, and Stanley Hogan also had hits for Sanford.

The game was decided in the second when Sanford scored three runs, enough to win. After a pair of singles by Rotundo and Gordon, Walker batted a three-run homer.

The victory advanced Sanford into the finals tonight against Kissimmee's American League Stars in Kissimmee. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Steinbrenner: Tough, Fair

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — They say one test of a boss is the people who leave him. But a better test of that man is what the defectors say about him after they cash their last paycheck.

Four former New York Yankees employees took the stand today and promised to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth — so help me George Steinbrenner.

"George is very demanding," said Ray Appel, who quit his job as Yankee public relations director last year to become a players' agent. "There were times you'd want to put your fist through a wall in anguish and frustration. But then you'd realize this is New York, and the man had a right to expect the best job possible."

Appel's business partner, Joe Garagiola, Jr., a former Yankee lawyer, found Steinbrenner a tough, but fair boss.

"This is New York, the big league, the fastest track," said Garagiola. "His theory of management is to push people to get the most out of them. He won't accept second best from people, so he looks to other people in the same way."

Bob Fishel, Appel's predecessor in the job of public relations director, left to become an administrative assistant to American League President Lee MacPhail, who had earlier left Steinbrenner's Yankees.

"I got along swell with him and still do," said Fishel. "He's a charming guy. I have nothing but respect and admiration for him. Pat Gillick, director of player personnel for the Yankees, left after the 1976 season for a position with the expansion Toronto Blue Jays.

Gillick said: "He was very difficult, but very fair. I don't particularly agree with some of his methods. But I never had any trouble with him. In fact, I admired him and the way he rebuilt the Yankees."

Steinbrenner has come under fire recently for alleged interference on and off the field. Yankees manager Billy Martin says emphatically that Steinbrenner has not dictated the team's lineup cards, as charged.

And Steinbrenner bristles at the assertion that former Yankee officials didn't leave the team, they left the owner.

Steinbrenner says his relations remain excellent with other ex-Yankee personnel, including MacPhail, Detroit Tiger Manager Ralph Houk and partner Joe Iglehart.

"Show me one other team in this expansion era that has gone from sixth place (actually they were fourth) to a pennant in three years," Steinbrenner said. "When I look over the club in 1973 I said, 'Give me three years and support us for three years and we're gonna give you a championship.'"

"I think the fact is what the record is."

Will Grimsley is on vacation.

12 1/2 Million Votes Decided All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Maybe it was Rod Carew's near-400 batting average. Perhaps the close races in the American League divisions caused it. Or maybe the major league baseball is just more popular than ever.

The Yankees' will have another starter in the AL lineup in second baseman Willie Randolph, an easy winner with 2,046, 478 selections (2,053,542 for Don Money of Milwaukee.

In the closest race in five years, defending league champion New York just missed having another starter at shortstop when Rick Burdick of the Yankees edged Lucky Dent of the Yankees by 3,428 votes. It will be the first start in the game for Burdick.

George Scott, who leads the AL in home runs, finished third in the balloting at first base and RBI leader Larry Hale of Milwaukee was a somewhat overlooked sixth in the outfield voting.

The pitchers and the reserves for the American League team will be announced later this week.

The starting squad for the National League was announced Monday. In addition to Garvey, the Dodgers placed first place in the four-member club of Boston with 4,78,203 and Thurman Munson of the Yankees with 3,362,177. Seniors Ousted

DAYTONA BEACH—The Sanford Senior League All-Stars were defeated by unlearned runners again Tuesday night, being eliminated from the district tournament by Daytona Beach, 6-3.

Dwayne Hoglin has two hits and Bill Griffin hurled a four-hitter, but six unlearned runs spelled the difference.

Carew easily outdistanced first base runner Chris Chambliss of New York, nearly doubling Chambliss' 2,773,908 votes. Carew received 15,005 votes more than National League leader Steve Garvey, the Dodgers' first baseman.

Before this season, just three players had reached the three million mark in selections. The two next highest vote-earners in the AL were catchers Carlton Fisk of Boston with 4,78,203 and Thurman Munson of the Yankees with 3,362,177. Outfielder Carl Yastrzemski of Boston and third baseman George Brett of Kansas City also topped the three million players.

Joining Yastrzemski in the starting outfield for the game,

Jim Crawford Gets 'Bird' Salute

By The Associated Press

Jim Crawford felt like Mark Fidrych, the way the crowd saluted him. He also looked like Mark Fidrych, the way he showed himself after the game, yelling: "I was Crawford! We were Crawford!"

"It was a nice feeling," the left-hander said in reference to a Fidrych-type ovation he received after Detroit's 2-1 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays Tuesday night.

The crowd's 3,000 at Tiger Stadium had originally come to cheer "The Bird," but the Detroit pitching hero suffered a sore shoulder and was gone from the game with merely two outs in the first inning.

Crawford came in at this juncture and established his commanding presence right away, silencing the Toronto batters on four singles and no runs the rest of the way.

The Tiger Stadium audience then turned their affection to Crawford.

They chanted for Crawford to show himself after the game, yelling: "I was Crawford! We were Crawford!"

"I was Crawford! We were Crawford!"

The pitcher eventually came on the field to acknowledge the applause.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Cleveland Indians routed the Boston Red Sox 7-1; the Kansas City Royals turned back the Chicago White Sox 4-2; the New York Yankees beat the Milwaukee Brewers 4-3; the Texas Rangers edged the Baltimore Orioles 4-3; the Oakland Athletics beat the Seattle Mariners 5-2 in 10 innings and the California Angels blanked the Minnesota Twins 3-0.

Santore Stops McLendon

ORLANDO — Doc McLendon came to Orlando with the reputation of being a world class lightweight and never having been knocked out or stopped.

But the performance he put on for a "Jackpot Night" crowd at the Orlando Sports Stadium showed him to be an out of shape "runner" who allowed himself to be stopped in the fourth session by Orlando's Frankie Santore.

McLendon spent most of the first three sessions yelling at Santore, lying on the ropes and in general doing little in the way of fighting.

But in the third his knee gave way on him and he was forced to concede, as he was unable to put any weight on it.

Lake Howell's James Salerno celebrated his 16th birthday with a hard fought six round decision over Georgia's Leon Futch.

The win was Salerno's fifth as an undefeated 140-lb. in kick-carrier Orlando's Rocky Black won a questionable decision over Georgia's Babe Clark to remain undefeated.

Constitution Panel Alternates: Did Askew Bend Rules?

TALLHASSEE, (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew and legislative leaders bent the Constitution a wee bit when they appointed four alternates to the 37-member Constitution Revision Commission.

The alternates are Charlotte Hubbard of Dunedin, former Ethics Commission member; Sybil Mobley, Florida University business professor; Warren Morgan, aide to House Speaker Donald Tucker; and Elliott Messer, Tallahassee attorney.

Commissioners voted at the action, authorizing travel by their pinch hitters to about nine hearings around the state at public expense.

The commission has thus "revised" the Constitution some 16 months before its proposals are to be presented to the voters for ratification or rejection.

The Constitution makes no mention of alternates. It simply provides for the appointment of 37 commission members by the governor, Senate president, House speaker and chief justice of the Florida Supreme Court.

Some time later in the appointment game, Askew decided that it would be a good idea to name alternates to step in in case some of the commission members quit, died or lost interest.

To do so required nothing more than a liberal interpretation of the Constitution, which says "vacancies in the membership of the commission shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointments."

Jim Tall, Askew's chief aide, said the naming of alternates was "just a designation, but it's not legally binding at all. It's just a clear statement by the appointing authority who would appoint if there was a vacancy."

Steve Uhlfelder, commission director and a member of the alternates, said he will be familiar with issues under consideration by the panel.

There was opposition to paying the expenses of alternates when the issue came up during a commission meeting last week. Several commissioners pointed out that there was no legal basis for naming alternates.

But the commission compromised by passing a motion giving Chairman Talbot "a special authority to exercise authority to pay the expenses of alternates from commission funds."

Her Voice Speaks To Millions
CLEVELAND (AP) — When Ohio Bell Telephone Co. workers walked off the job for a few days last year, one woman's voice worked on, handling thousands of calls 24 hours a day, answering each with the same impeccable voice.

"The number you have called... has been changed. The new number is... Please make note of it." Or one of a score of other messages, coupled with precise, instantaneous information on the number you dialed.

If you are a normal telephone user in a Bell Telephone system almost anywhere, the same voice speaks to you regularly, when you dial nonworking numbers.

Audichron Co., Atlanta, Ga., makes the recordings for telephone and other systems. The firm says the same voice talks to more people in one day than any other human in the world.

She is Jane Barbe, an Atlanta housewife, and when you talk to her on the telephone she has the same charming manner that comes through on Ohio Bell's Automated Intercept System — AIS — or the "time at the tone" message used by hundreds of telephone exchanges around the country.

In addition to making AIS recordings "in bits and pieces that the computer puts together," she said, she does time and temperature recordings, commercials and service information recordings for other agencies, including one for television.

For the AIS system put together by Western Electric, the Bell system's technical arm, Mrs. Barbe records individual numerals, one to zero, plus a series of message fragments such as "in the file area," "in the Canton area," and so forth.

These are recorded on electronic chips mounted in two 28-chip computer drums.

The heart of AIS is housed in a cabinet the size of a household refrigerator.

Ruth Long: Booked Up Solid For The Summer

By MARVYN K. SHEDDAN
Herald Writer

Just exactly who is responsible for deciding what textbooks your child will use in school? And why don't you have any say in the selection?

First, a committee of nine is ultimately responsible for which textbooks are available to teachers. Second, you may — sometimes — have a say in what is chosen.

Since there are 10,000 textbook titles available right now to teachers, all of which are "state-adopted," the books your child uses in school may not even remotely resemble those used by a friend's child at a school across town.

The last time Seminole County participated, she recalls, was three years ago. At that time publishers' representatives made available samples of every book they had available in the chosen categories.

Cook Of The Week

By DORIS DIETRICH
Herald Correspondent

Mrs. Roy G. (Ruby) Williams has spent more than half a century perfecting culinary specialties. She says she really enjoys cooking and entertaining.

The elegance that many have been abandoned for a trend toward the casual is still very much evident in Ruby's lifestyle. Surrounded by lovely antiques (her hobby), our Cook of the Week said she enjoys using all of her collection of china and crystal.

Originally from Boise, Idaho, Ruby remembers many happy years in Sanford. In August she and her husband will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. When they were married he was the Sanford Chief of Police, a position he held for 46 years until his retirement in 1968.

During 15 of her working years in Sanford, Ruby was surrounded by the luxury of the Mayfair Inn where she advanced from secretary to assistant manager. She well remembers when the New York Giants owned the historical landmark and wintered in Sanford.

She recalls that the inn's guest registry read like a "Who's Who of Visiting V.I.P.s." Annually a formal ball and sit down dinner at the inn ushered in the winter social season in Sanford.

And Ruby is aware of today. She and her husband enjoy travel and entertaining. She shares several family recipes for a venture in superb dining.

$140,000 Bachelor: Too Old To Be Eligible?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 61-year-old bachelor who never married because I took care of my widowed mother who just died at the age of 93.

Dear Abby

I am somewhat withdrawn and never had any girlfriends, although I'm told I'm above average in looks.

I am acquainted with a gal who looks about 30 and used to work in my bank. We were both invited to the same party last Christmas, and I haven't seen her since because she's not at the bank anymore.

I don't want to be walking around with some of my parts missing, do you? Can you advise me?

I am somewhat withdrawn and never had any girlfriends, although I'm told I'm above average in looks.

DEAR ABBY: A young mother whose baby had died considered eligible?

I have about $140,000 in the bank so I could probably find another wife if I could get one. Or do you think I'm too old to be

DEAR BASHFUL: I think you're too ELIGIBLE to be considered OLD. From her note I would say she is planning to date you. Don't waste any more precious time. Call and ask her to dinner!

DEAR ABBY: I've been hearing so much lately about being after death, and since I've donated my eyes and kidneys to the organ banks I'm kind of thinking about finding another man. I just wanted to get over my grief.

Up to her eyebrows in text books, Ruth Long has next year's school curriculum in mind. (Herald Photo by Marvyn K. Sheddan) proved titles in these areas include "American Women Today: Free or Frustrated?" and "Racial and Ethnic Relations."

"If there are books left," says Mrs. Long, "we give them away."

YOUR BIRTHDAY
July 14, 1977
A lot of things are in store for you this coming year, especially socially. However, be careful about entering into speculative ventures with people you meet.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
While you're certainly not a loner today, you should choose your company carefully. A pal prone to be silly could do something you'll have to pay for.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
In family situations today you're better off to go along with what the majority wants to do. Let compassion overrule your logic.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Keep an air of mystery about you if you meet someone new today. If you let her know a little bit, she'll be eager to learn more.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Friends may think an idea of yours is a hare-brained scheme. If you feel strongly about it, go ahead—you could have the last laugh!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Where others may fail, you have the knack today for adding a little touch to what you do. It could be the factor that spells success.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You're better off not asking people for favors today. Your needs are already known—they'd rather act of their own volition.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
An unsuitable associate or one whose ideas clash with yours could mar your chances for success today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
An unsuitable associate or one whose ideas clash with yours could mar your chances for success today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Praise goes a long way with those working for you today. A few encouraging words will do more good than a bonus.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
The end results could be less than satisfactory to you today. You could well make last-minute changes and foul up the deal.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Praise goes a long way with those working for you today. A few encouraging words will do more good than a bonus.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
You might have an idea for a do-it-yourself project today. Study it before beginning, for you could come up with a money-saving method.

SPIDER-MAN

by Stan Lee and John Romita

HI, MR. ROBINSON! IS THIS JUST LISTENING TO ME OR ARE YOU TRYING TO TALK TO ME?
I DON'T WANT EXCLUSIVES! I WANT PICTURES OF THE RATTLE!
DON'T TELL ME YOU CAN'T FIND HIM!
BEFORE I GETS ANGRY, I'D BETTER SPEAK TO HIM!
TELL THE LIAISON OFFICE YOU BURN!

DOONESBURY

by Garry Trudeau

DEAR, WE JUST SENT OUT A QUESTIONNAIRE TO ALL MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE. WERE BEING ASKED TO LIST ANY CASH OR GIFTS THEY MAY HAVE ACCEPTED FROM THE KOREAN LIBRARY.
I'LL BE SENING THE RETURNS OVER TO YOU AS THEY COME IN. I'VE HAD THEM THOROUGHLY CHECKED TOGETHER. THE RESULTS FOR US?
NOT AT ALL LAZY, BUT HOW LIKELY IS IT THAT A MEMBER OF CONGRESS WOULD VOLUNTARILY PUT AWAY HIS HAVING ACCEPTED DROBES?
OH, I JUST DON'T WANT YOU TO BE DISAPPOINTED.

Disease Causes Mental Confusion

DEAR DR. LAMB: Will you please write about hardening of the arteries? Every time my husband is in the hospital or in bed for a few days he gets confused, doesn't know where he is or what he sees or says. It's awful.

He is 74 years old and has been sick for a long time with several different things. I would like to know all I can about the confusion he gets. You can't reason with him at home when he is.

Good medical care helps. Any anemia may decrease the ability to supply oxygen to the brain and make matters worse. Careful attention to nutrition and providing as normal an environment as possible is about the best that can be done.

The best approach is to prevent these problems in so far as possible. That means preventing atherosclerosis, the fatty-cholesterol deposits. Small strokes may also cause this condition and can be prevented by controlling high blood pressure, avoiding obesity, eating a low-fat low-cholesterol diet, avoiding cigarettes and having a sensible exercise program.

There are studies being done on how to cope with these conditions but I must say there is very little that can be done at present. It is probably important to spend time trying to help the person relate to reality. Be firm in saying what the facts really are. In other words insist that he is home when his mind is playing tricks on him and he thinks he is not. Enforce the idea that a visitor is not.

I am sending you the Health Letter number 2-5 (Stroke: Cerebral Vascular Accident - Cerebral Thrombosis) to give you more information on problems of circulation to the brain. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019

COBB SALAD

Make Salad A Specialty

Do you ever think of the salad as your signature dish? The Cobb Salad, for example, invention of a California restaurateur, traditionally combines chunky bits of chicken with greens, eggs, bacon, and avocado, served with dressing. And that's where your creative genius blooms - in the dressing.

One pleasing way to top this main dish salad is with a poppy French dressing made with blue cheese, oil, vinegar, and seasonings all brightened with pepper sauce, which enhances almost any salad with its lively warm taste and aroma.

COBB SALAD WITH PEPPY FRENCH DRESSING
1 med. head lettuce, coarsely broken
2 cups coarsely chopped watercress leaves
3 hard-cooked eggs, quartered
1 lb. bacon, cooked and crumbled
3 med. avocados, peeled, pitted and sliced
2 1/2 cups cut-up cooked chicken
1 med. chopped onion
Combine all ingredients in bowl; mix lightly. Line large or individual salad bowls with crisp lettuce. Add salad mixture. If desired, garnish with tomato wedges. Serve with Peppy French Dressing, and, if desired, additional pepper sauce.
YIELD: 4 quarts, about 8 to 10 servings.

School Board Okays Wekiva School Plans

By MARILYN SHEDDAN Herald Writer

Preliminary plans for the new Wekiva Elementary School were approved by the Seminole County School Board Wednesday night.

The school, expected to open in the fall of 1978, will house 750 students in grades K-5.

Plans approved by the board last night will now go to the Florida Dept. of Education for approval. Architect for the $11 million school is Larry Derryberry of the Dalmwood, Derryberry, Pavelchak Partnership, Casselberry.

Approval of the plans by Tallahassee is expected to take three to four weeks said Hugh Carlton, director of auxiliary services.

The school will be built on a 15-acre tract located at the intersection of U.S. 17 and the Wekiva Hunt Club. Carlton estimated the value of the property at $15-$20,000 per acre.

Also approved by the board was a one-year experimental effort in using computers in conjunction with six other central Florida counties. The policy under consideration would eliminate the countywide advisory committee, currently made up of 15 persons appointed by the school board.

"Our school system needs all the help it can get," former chairman of the countywide advisory committee, Bill McLaughlin told the group.

He said the group was made up of people "who are interested only in the finest possible education for their children and other people's children and they are willing to pay the price," he added, noting how much time and effort has gone into the committee.

The board agreed to take the matter under consideration after hearing from McLaughlin and a representative of the League of Women Voters, who also made an appeal on behalf of the countywide committee.

Final action on the issue will take place at the board meeting in Altamonte Springs on July 27.

In other action, the board: — Approved bids on repairs to roofs at Teague Middle and Idylwild Elementary schools.

— Approved bids of $45,188.91 for dumpster service from Dump-A-All; $150,000 for food items; $13,300 for the removal of 20 portable units to schools where they are needed; $8,940 for detergent; and $123,457 for disposable supplies including napkins, aluminum foil, drink cups and related items.

— Heard and accepted an offer from the League of Women Voters to research possible changes in school board districts so that board members would comply with a new law mandating that they represent nearly equal portions of the population.

ARSON PROBE
Lake Mary Mayor Walter Sorenson (left) and City Councilman Lillian Griffin discuss log cabin fire with volunteer firefighter Carol Hoffman as other firefighters probe remains of blaze that gutted structure off Longwood-Lake Mary Rd. Wednesday. Police said arson is suspected. No arrest has been made. Officers said an unidentified man who lived in the cabin reportedly is visiting elsewhere with relatives and couldn't be contacted. Officer D.E. Higginbotham reported one fire was apparently set in the cabin and another 30 yards away in a wooded area.

$16,000 Mayor Salary Set

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Casselberry City Councilmen at their first workshop on Monday set a salary for the mayor's office in 1978.

The budget calls for an increase in property taxes from $2.41 per $1,000 valuation of property to $2.42.

The $2.42 level was certified by Seminole County Property Appraiser Terry Goebel.

Council Chairman Nathan Van Meter started the move to eliminate a proposed eight per cent pay raise for the city council members, saying he "personally sees this as doing our civic duty."

"If the current $150 monthly pay to councilmen helps pay expenses. We just about receive back our expenses for the service to the community," he said.

Van Meter said he had nothing to do with placing a pay raise for the council in the budget proposal. Milton Kast, the city's finance director, said, "I guess I'm the culprit," explaining that he had included the pay raise for the council on the same basis as all other city employees.

The council agreed to raise its monthly car allowances from $50 to $75.

The sum to budget for the mayor's salary beginning in 1978, after the December city elections, was thoroughly discussed. The figure settled upon by the board is $18,000 annually, in addition to a $1,200 annual car allowance and fringe benefits.

The council determined that fringe benefits - insurance, state retirement etc. - adds another 22 per cent to salary costs.

Councilman Carl Robertson Jr. again expressed his philosophy that the mayor, the chief executive of the community, should receive a salary at least $1 higher than the highest paid employee. But, he got no support for his proposal.

The city's voters last month chose a full-time mayor-council form of government. The council pledged to implement the choice of the people within 90 days of the election. The setting of a mayoral salary is one of the first steps in following through on the pledge.

Currently, Mayor Gerald Christensen is paid $3,000 annual salary with a $1,200 car allowance.

Councilman Don Willson Wednesday night interpreted the portion of the special election in which a resolution, granting Christensen full-time status and a $17,000 salary, was repealed as the voters' preference that the mayor's pay be continued at its current level.

Former Council Chairman Sal Orlando insisted, however, that to designate the salary of a full-time mayor at $8,000, as suggested in the proposed budget, would make the city a "laughing stock."

New York City Closed By Power Outage

NEW YORK (AP) - New York City was closed today, paralyzed in daylight as in darkness by a massive, lightning-triggered blackout.

As dawn broke the first light in hours to the 10 million residents who endured the hot summer night without power.

Mayor Abraham D. Beame told the people who live and work here:

"It will not be possible to operate a normal day. I urge you to stay home until the emergency has been resolved."

By about 9 a.m. power was restored to about 650,000 of Con Edison's 2.8 million customers. Among areas restored were parts of Staten Island and Queens, the Lenox Hill section of Manhattan's East Side and most of Westchester County north of the city. But in the heart of the nation's biggest city, there was barely a trickle of electricity.

Beame declared a state of emergency and called for an investigation, saying, "We can not tolerate in this age of modern technology a power system that can shut down the nation's largest city."

That shutdown precipitated a long hunt for the cause of the power outage. Police said 2,000 persons were arrested on that charge; 70 police officers were reported injured, including one who was shot.

Traffic in the city was extremely light as residents and workers apparently heeded Beame's request to stay home. Cabs and buses were operating, although no traffic signals worked. Police directed traffic only at major intersections. As others, drivers uncharacteristically edged through.

A resulting explosion forced the nuclear plant to shut down, increasing the load for other power plants. Con Ed officials stressed that there was no damage to the plant and no danger to nearby residents.

There were no reports of injuries in the explosion.

Fat Adult, Fat Kid?

Memories... and the stuff they are made of are sometimes the stuff a fat adult is made of. Ever add a little about early childhood memories? I have - and this is what I heard.

"Howard Johnson's and all 28 flavors. It was a regular Sunday treat with my family."

"Sunday dinner with everyone there and plenty of roast beef, mashed potatoes, and gravy."

"Birthday parties - I loved the refreshments. Ice cream and cake at the same time. Boy, was that living."

"My mother saying to me eat all of your meal and you may have dessert. I usually had two or three helpings so that I was certain to get that dessert."

You are setting the pattern for your child's future with the eating habits and emphasis that you teach. Did you know that 85 per cent of obese children go on to become obese adults? And did you know that obese adults are discriminated against in the field of education, employment, and social life?

Happy mealtime should be an important ingredient in any child's memories - that I don't deny. Only let your emphasis be on the happy, not the meal. Don't feed your child a future of misery. Nourish your family with food that makes them happy and adjusted for both the present and the days to come. That doesn't mean there won't be treats. Perhaps this diet dessert will convince you as no words can:

APPLE CAKE
4 med. apples, peeled & sliced
4 egg yolks
2 tsp. almond extract
7 1/2 cups artificial sweetener
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 cup evaporated skim milk
8 slices diet-sliced bread tossed

4 egg whites
1/4 tsp. butter flavoring
Line 8" square Pam-sprayed pan with apple slices. Place toast in blender and reduce to crumbs. Place crumbs in mixing bowl, add egg yolks, and mix well. Add butter flavoring, extract, milk, and cinnamon to batter mix. Add sweetener. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. Fold gently into batter and pour over apple slices. Bake at 350 for 45 to 55 minutes or until golden brown. Serve apple side up. If you wish sprinkle with cinnamon and sweetener. Eat one portion - three times for later.

BANANA PLUS SHERBET
My sister Phyllis's version of one of my favorite recipes; she cut the sugar and that's all to the good!

2 large eggs
1-3rd cup sugar
1/4 cup light corn syrup
2 cups buttermilk
6-ounce can frozen orange juice concentrate, undiluted and thawed
1/4 cup puréed ripe bananas
Beat the eggs slightly; gradually beat in the sugar and corn syrup, then add the buttermilk and concentrate and beat to blend. Pour into 2 freezing trays and freeze until almost firm - about 2 hours. Turn into a large mixing bowl and break up into small pieces; beat, without melting, just until consistency is uniform. Stir in bananas - it should be served just before using. Return freezer tray and freeze until firm - 1 to 2 hours. Makes about 1 quart.
