

A Couple Of 'Somethings'

For the past several days, Sanford has taken center stage in the county. And not just as the county seat. The city has been the focal point for the continuation of something big.

Make that a couple of "something(s)."

The number 3 had been the charm behind it all. First, we had the third annual Golden Age Olympics, a unique program pitting seasoned citizens 55 and older in all kinds of competitions. The event was a smash and promises to grow and grow. Sooner or later it will be a nationwide event.

At about the same time the Olympics was winding up with an awards ceremony Saturday evening at the Sanford Civic Center, 800-plus performers in the bands of Seminole County's five high schools, along with the group from Orlando's Bishop Moore, were lining up to do their playing, strutting, marching, twirling thing.

The happy sounds of music reverberated from the Seminole High School stadium out into the surrounding area.

The young musicians showed what they can do with music in the third annual Seminole County Band Festival, sponsored by the Sanford Civitan Club and The Evening Herald.

It was an evening of entertainment to remember fondly. It was an evening, a show, that would be difficult to match anywhere. Even—or especially—on TV where more half-time football shows than not fall short of the mark.

Saturday evening's festival went over and beyond the mark.

The one question that was on the minds of many of the 2,000-plus in the stands was how those stately, stately majorettes and dancers were able to perform what for Florida was virtually Antartic-cold.

But they did it. And with smiles from ear to ear. And they warmed the entire audience.

The members of the Civitan Club, particularly coordinator Alex Serreas, deserve high praise for putting it all together. As for The Herald, we have been pleased and proud to help in this program and look forward to even greater programs.

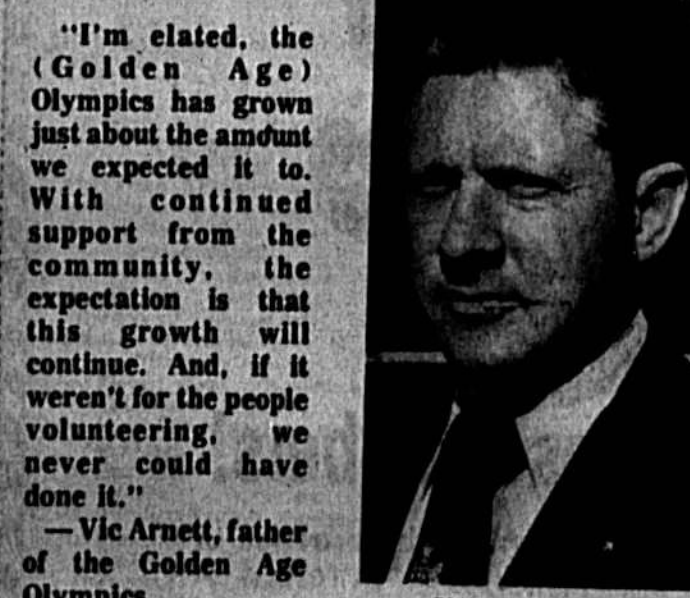

For, just as the future Golden Age Olympics is expected to grow, so is the Seminole County Band Festival. As a hint of things to come, seated in the stands Saturday were students from two Titusville schools, who will be participating in a similar festival at Merritt Island.

So that concept, too, is spreading.

Someday, it surely will be a statewide event, with schools sharing in the proceeds to be used for band uniforms, trips, etc.

And Sanford will have been the birthplace. It will be music to our ears.

ANGLE-WALTERS Uneasy With Brown

STOCKTON, Calif. — A random poll taken on the campus of the University of the Pacific here may lack the precision of a scientific survey, but it provides striking evidence of the clear division of opinion about California's Democratic governor, Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown Jr.

After three days of informally probing individual attitudes toward the controversial Brown, one inescapable conclusion emerges: Among those whose response typically includes a recitation of the fact that Brown has eschewed both living in the governor's mansion and traveling in chauffeured limousines.

Some faculty members provide more substantive reasons for continuing to enthusiastically support the governor. But there is a notable decline in confidence among others, even those who identify themselves as liberals and Democrats.

Among these erstwhile Brown backers, there are increasingly frequent and complimentary references to Brown's ostentatious symbolic gestures, his erratic personal behavior and his policy reversals on several crucial issues.

Behind that division along generational lines is the fact that Brown, at 59 years of age, is the first member of the generation whose ideology was shaped by post-World War II events to attain the stature of a nationally recognized political figure.

Too many political observers have written off Brown's philosophy toward public affairs as a unique, individual quirk, perhaps picked up during an encounter in a Jesuit monastery or a Zen Buddhist lecture.

Brown himself may not have an especially bright political future, but an understanding of his importance to contemporary politics requires looking beyond the individual to his generation and its undoubted dominance of public affairs in the coming years.

Nobody is more aware of Brown's symbolic importance than President Carter, whose stewardship of the White House already reflects the countervailing pressures produced by disparate generational attitudes toward politics and its practitioners.

Tom Quinn, the governor's principal advisor on environmental matters and chairman of Brown's 1974 gubernatorial campaign committee, has been privately critical of the Carter administration's environmental goals and accomplishments.

Anti-Schlesinger Move On Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON — A growing number of votes on Capitol Hill is calling for the resignation of Energy Secretary James Schlesinger.

Members of the "dump-Schlesinger" movement feel the pipe-smoking energy czar's policies, compounded by his personal "arrogance" are alienating many congressmen and are hurting the White House on crucial energy votes. The failure to pass strong energy legislation, they fear, could damage the Democrats in the 1978 elections with ominous portents for 1980.

The House leadership has had no part in the rebellion against Schlesinger, but it is being orchestrated by powerful subcommittee chairmen on both sides of Capitol Hill. A number of complaints has been sent to the White House, but they have been returned to Schlesinger's office.

In an attempt to fire a salvo over Schlesinger's head, Rep. Richard Ottinger, D-N.Y., dispatched a private "Dear Stu" letter to White House domestic chief Stuart Eizenstat. Without explicitly naming Schlesinger, Ottinger charged that his department had been pushed through with Republican holdovers and pro-industry sympathizers.

"The implementation of the President's policy is being left largely in the hands of persons whose past experience and personal commitment is in a previous administration," Ottinger wrote. Their outlook is "diametrically opposed to the policies and programs of this administration."

The Finns And Lenin

By PHILIP M. STONE

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI) — With Finland also celebrating 60 years of independence this year, President Urho K. Kekkonen has reminded Finns they should be thankful to V.I. Lenin, leader of the Bolshevik revolution in Russia, for their freedom.

For after Lenin successfully led the 1917 October revolution against the czar, the autonomous grand duchy of Finland declared its independence from Russia on Dec. 6.

The new Soviet government, headed by Lenin, was the first to recognize Finnish independence on Dec. 31, 1917 — and that opened the door for similar actions by the western nations led by France.

A year ago, V.S. Stepanov, the Soviet ambassador to Finland, suggested the Russian revolution and Finland's independence had the same roots and civic organizations should celebrate the two anniversaries together.

The fiercely nationalist Finns did not take kindly to the suggestion and it was quietly dropped. But Kekkonen went to some lengths recently in a major speech marking the Soviet anniversary to point out that Finland owed a great debt to Lenin.

Although the Finns declared their independence on Dec. 6, no nation was willing to extend recognition until Finnish relations with the Russians were clarified. And the Finns were somewhat reluctant to correspond with the Russians.

But Dec. 31, the Finns finally approached Lenin and that same day he recognized Finnish independence.

"By these actions Lenin has earned the undivided respect of the Finnish people and a permanent place in Finnish history," Kekkonen said. "Giving him such acknowledgment has, to my mind, been quite unnecessarily avoided. Indeed, it has been flatly denied, but the facts are irrefutable."

Kekkonen, 77, president since 1956 and a certainty for reelection in January as the candidate of the six major political parties, chose the same speech to say how friendly relations with the Soviet Union have been a successful cornerstone of his foreign policy.

And he criticized his opponents who claimed the Soviet Union has too much influence in Finnish affairs.

"The Soviet Union is supposedly engaged in a determined effort to subvert the Finnish social system and the Finns are, so one hears, emigrating from the country for fear of such subversion," he said.

The accelerated benefits program would help to correct this inequity. It also would enable more veterans to go to college, which, after all, is why we have a GI Bill in the first place.

Big businessmen were given some good advice about health insurance in a speech in New York the other day by the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Joseph Califano.

If your company is paying too much for health insurance, Califano suggested, why not organize your own health care system for employees and provide better care at lower cost.

What the secretary has in mind is a national network of health maintenance organizations like the Kaiser-Permanente Plan now operating in California, Colorado, Ohio, and several other states.

Warren Fisha that the letters "were a big mistake. . . we blew it." He said the congressman's names have now been removed from the envelope.

GROUND — The Labor Department is preparing a major case against the glass Boeing Company charging age discrimination. Labor investigators believe that when setbacks in the aircraft industry caused massive layoffs, Boeing first released hundreds of older workers to save millions of dollars in salaries.

The probe has been dragging on for years because Boeing has "done everything in its power to frustrate, impede, limit and obstruct the . . . investigative activities," charges an Internal Labor Department report.

But the government has subpoenaed the information it needs and may soon file charges against the aircraft giant. "We don't feel guilty," a Boeing spokesman insisted. "We're very, very, clean."

VIEWPOINT

Sun Belt, GI Bill Inequity

By KENNETH ESKEY

We hope Congress sets aside its regional jealousies long enough to approve a new GI Bill that would make it easier for Vietnam veterans to attend colleges and technical schools in the East and Midwest.

The new legislation, already endorsed by the Senate, would permit a veteran to "accelerate" his benefits if he enrolls in a school or college requiring more than $700 a year tuition.

Instead of receiving $311 a month for as long as five academic years, an unmarried veteran could receive as much as $622 a month for two and one-half years if he were learning to be a computer programmer, for example, in an expensive technical school.

The bill also would permit a veteran to draw accelerated benefits to attend high-tuition private colleges like Bucknell or DePauw or DePaul, most of which are located in the older industrial states.

This approach is not popular with Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., and other congressmen from the Sun Belt states. And for obvious reasons. These states have spent billions of dollars over the years to develop low-cost, state-supported colleges and universities and have little sympathy for states in which education is more expensive.

What they overlook, however, is that many Eastern and Midwestern states have extremely high tax rates and a higher cost of living than states in the South and Southwest.

Because GI benefits are the same everywhere, the percentage of veterans able to afford college in New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania is lower than in states like California, Texas and Florida.

This wasn't true after World War II, when the GI Bill paid tuition in most cases, plus $75 a month. It's true now, though, because private colleges are too expensive for many ex-GIs.

The accelerated benefits program would help to correct this inequity. It also would enable more veterans to go to college, which, after all, is why we have a GI Bill in the first place.

Big businessmen were given some good advice about health insurance in a speech in New York the other day by the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Joseph Califano.

If your company is paying too much for health insurance, Califano suggested, why not organize your own health care system for employees and provide better care at lower cost.

Sadat Awalts Invite To Speak To Israel

By United Press International

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat says he will go to Jerusalem to address the Israeli Knesset (parliament) within a week if he is invited and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin says he will greet him at the airport.

Both Sadat and Begin said they would rely on the United States to convey a formal invitation from Israel to Egypt, since the two countries are still technically at war and do not have diplomatic relations.

Sadat's proposed trip apparently would be the first official visit to Israel by an Arab head of state since the founding of the Jewish state in 1948.

Shah Protests Feared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of Iran is meeting with President Carter today at the beginning of his state visit and the Secret Service and police are braced for possible confrontations between the visitor's supporters and critics.

After being cheered by several hundred Iranian supporters on his arrival for an overnight stay at Colonial Williamsburg Inn, hundreds of Iranian student demonstrators chanted "down with the shah" outside the inn late into the night while hundreds more carried protest signs in Washington.

Hospital Fire In London

LONDON (UPI) — An 86-year-old Scotsman died in a blaze and a hospital fire threatened the lives of patients on the first day of Britain's first firefighters strike.

The 35,000 firefighters went on strike for higher pay Monday, leaving British troops manning obsolete fire trucks to handle emergencies across the nation.

Ethiopia Power Struggle

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — The assassination of a member of Ethiopia's military council one day after the execution of the nation's No. 2 man has deepened a Marxist power struggle that is threatening to tear the capital of Addis Ababa apart.

Ethiopia Radio said Monday that "anti-revolutionaries" gunned down Lt. Solomon Geesese, a member of the provisional military administration council, or Dergue, the previous night.

S. Africa Cop: 'Biko Fell'

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI) — A South African police officer has testified black leader Steve Biko attacked his white questioners and "fell with his head against a wall" five days before he died of head injuries.

Maj. Harold Snyman, testifying Monday on the first day of an inquest into Biko's Sept. 12 death, said Biko was kept naked in a jail cell for 19 days and then bound with leg irons and handcuffs and chained to the bars of an interrogation room where he was kept for 50 hours.

Blacks Boycott S. Africa

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Black Africa is calling for a total economic boycott of South Africa in a "final and decisive struggle" to strangle the white supremacist government.

In the opening session of a weeklong U.N. General Assembly debate Monday, Nigerian Foreign Minister Brig. J.N. Garba challenged the Western powers to join in the effort for "the immediate dismantling of apartheid."

Philippine Fire Toll: 47

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Rescuers today pulled three more bodies from the rubble of one of the worst hotel fires in the Philippines' history, pushing the death toll to 47, officials said.

The fire broke out in the early morning hours Monday at the seven-story Filipinas Hotel across the street from the U.S. Embassy, while Manila was being battered by Typhoon Kim with 110 mph winds. The typhoon itself killed 21 people.

Princess Bears 7-Lb. Son

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth's only daughter, Princess Anne, gave birth today to a 7-pound son — fifth in line to the British throne, and the first grandchild of a ruling sovereign to be born a commoner.

Buckingham Palace said Princess Anne — Mrs. Mark Phillips — was "fine" and resting comfortably after giving birth at 10.46 am at St. Mary's Hospital in the Paddington area of London.

CHRISTMAS BOUTIQUE

A fun-filled evening to usher in the festive holiday season is being planned at the Nov. 17th meeting of the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford, according to President Linda Reek (right). Nancy Julian, junior club's second vice-president (left), is chairman of the Christmas Boutique which will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. Laurie Dickey (center) will auction off Christmas items made or donated by the junior members. Husband and guests are invited to attend. Proceeds will go to various community projects that the club has adopted for the year.

In And Around Sanford

Autumn Is Vacation Time

Rev. and Mrs. Harry E. Boyer of Bram Towers have returned from an exciting three-week tour of Home, Istanbul, Egypt, Jordan, Syria, Israel and Greece.

Highlight of the tour was visiting areas and landmarks covering events of the Old and New Testaments, and also areas of the beginnings of Mohammedanism, including many of the Mosques.

While in Rome, they attended the Papal Audience with the Pope and viewed the city from the dome of St. Peter's basilica, a 346 step climb.

A one-day excursion by bus and horseback took them to the Valley of the Kings and the ancient ruins of the City of Petra. The couple spent the last three days in Greece touring the Greek Islands.

Spending a Sunday in Plains, Ga. was one of the events on the itinerary of Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Karkaker, 1226 Randolph St., while the were on a two-month vacation.

The couple traveled 6,000 miles and covered 24 states. Their sightseeing on the East Coast included Cape Cod, Chesapeake Bay bridge and tunnel drive, New York and the Statue of Liberty.

They spent a week visiting the Amish Country in and around Lancaster, Pa. before going to Kansas where they visited their grandchildren, great grandchildren, other relatives and friends.

In Little Rock, Ark., they reunited with friends and visited with their son Bob in Fitzgerald, Ga.

Mrs. Karkaker is currently convalescing from a virus which hospitalized her at Jess Parrish Memorial Hospital.

Robert H. Reely, of 701 Mellenville Ave., stopped by to make sure his wife, Mary E. Reely, gets congratulated on her birthday, Nov. 21.

At the United Way Victory Dinner, former campaign chairmen were honored. Arriving from Clearwater for the event were Richard and Etta Jane Keogh. Richard is a former vice president of the National Convention in Honolulu. Another three days were spent at Maui for R and H (rest and relaxation).

Irene and Roy Brown are back on their jobs after visiting Los Angeles and Hawaii. Three days of the trip including time attending the Bank Marketing National Convention in Honolulu. Another three days were spent at Maui for R and H (rest and relaxation).

Garden Circles

DeBarry Club

President Ruby Peterson presided over the November meeting of DeBarry Garden Club. It was announced that, since the District 6 meeting, three members of the DeBarry Club are on the District Committee.

Mrs. Alberta Cox reported on the meeting and said the keynotes were "getting involved" and "growing in membership."

It was announced that the Club will have a plant sale for sale at $3.00 a pound. Anyone wishing to order some may contact Mrs. Cora Middleton at 688-8772.

The next horticultural committee meeting will be held on Nov. 21 at the DeBarry Methodist Church. A talk on "Poisonous Plants" will be given by Edith Wickens.

Mrs. Edna Lewis of the DeLand Council on Aging spoke on "Aging Gracefully" and said it was important for senior citizens to keep busy physically and mentally. They have less energy but more wisdom and experience which is important in many fields.

The Club will hold a flea market, open to the public, on Nov. 12 from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce grounds on 17-92. Anything saleable will be welcomed and should be donated to Mrs. Marguerite Hubbard, 246 Bayou Vista Street, 668-4512.

Phi Phi Logan is co-hostess. Mrs. Elmer Norton, president of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, will meet Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Joseph Orlit. Mrs. Phillip Logan is co-hostess.

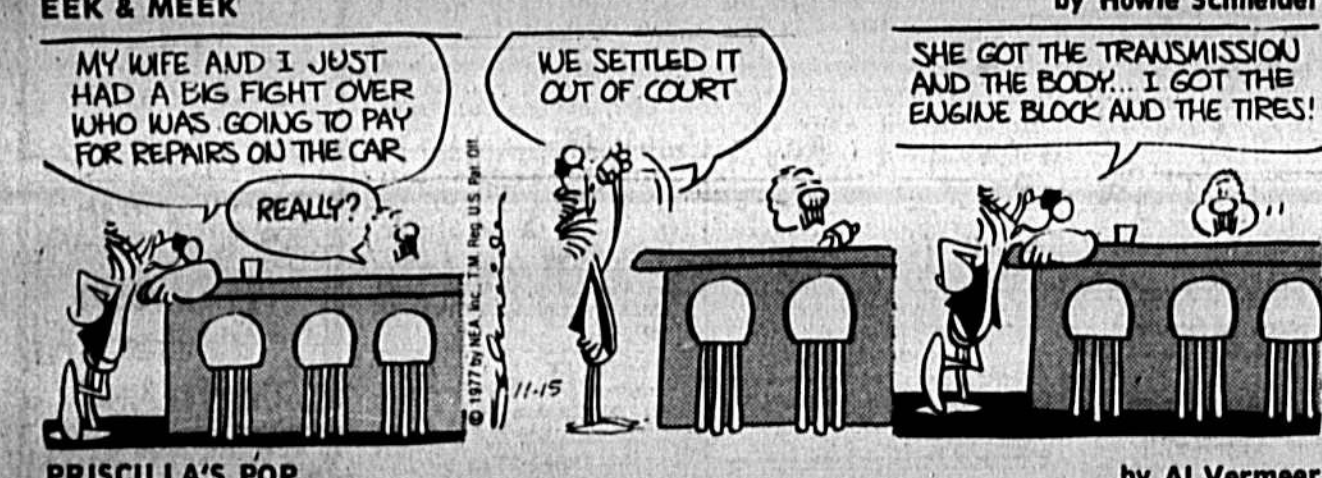

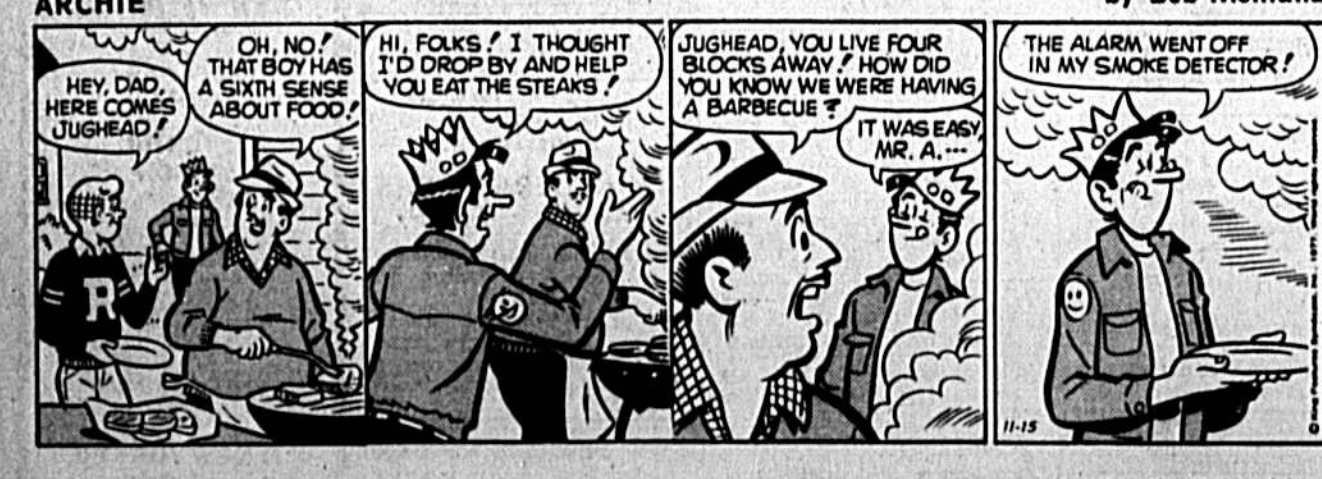

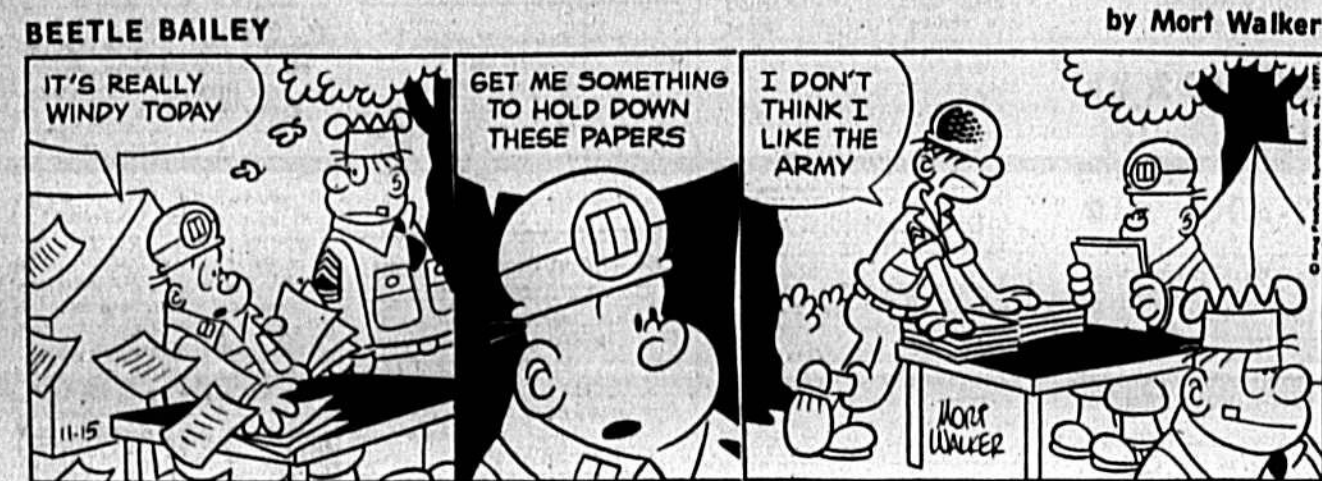

Epilone Sigma Omicron, reading group of Sanford Woman's Club, will meet Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Joseph Orlit. Mrs. Phillip Logan is co-hostess.

HOROSCOPE
By BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Wednesday, Nov. 16, 1977

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Nov. 16, 1977
Don't be discouraged this coming year if you get off to a few unproductive starts in projects that you undertake. Your finish will be strong. That is what really counts.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Patience, pace and second effort are important words to keep in mind today. Things you do hastily are apt to go awry. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 469, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10101. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You could be in for some heated objections today from people who usually go along with your way of doing things. Meeting fire with fire isn't the answer.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Be security-conscious today. Don't leave valuable things lying about to tempt the lightfingered.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Faux pas you make today will linger in the memory of others. Conduct yourself so as to leave potential detractors wordless.

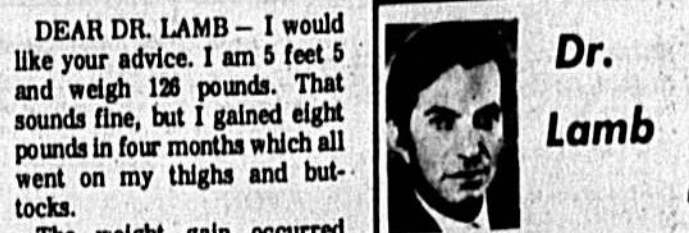

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
There are no standbys in the way you do things today. Certain affairs you'll manage with ease and excellence. In other areas, the opposite is true.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
There is nothing wrong with your judgment or insights today, yet you may ignore them completely and do something erratic and costly.

SPIDER-MAN
It was 7:50 late to grab the phone!
She oughta be back from Miami by now and about time, too!

DOONESBURY
And you will never find it off of your nose and your nose is not a nose!
Oh, sure, I figured I'd probably use Grandpa for the dead fish.

Quit Smoking, Added Weight

DEAR DR. LAMB - I would like your advice. I am 5 feet 5 and weigh 126 pounds. That sounds fine, but I gained eight pounds in four months which all went on my thighs and buttocks. The weight gain occurred because I stopped smoking 10 months ago. I had smoked 35 years, and am quite proud of myself as I stopped completely in one day and haven't had the desire since but I want to eat constantly. A month ago, I started walking a mile a day and put myself on a diet, not a crash diet, but a sensible one of 1200 calories. In a month's time, I put on a couple more pounds. A few days ago I found out why. I thought that if a half grapefruit was good for you, grapefruit juice (unsweetened) would be even better. I was wrong. I thought about food, I would drink a big glass of orange or grapefruit juice. I never dawned on me to look up the calories in the orange and grapefruit juices. I'm afraid if I don't get this weight off now, I will continue putting more and more on, so I need your help.

DEAR READER - As you already know, an eight-ounce glass of orange juice or grapefruit juice is about 90 calories. Assuming you drank six glasses a day, and you may have drunk more, that would be 540 calories a day. In a month, that would be about 16,200 calories - or, the number of calories found in four and a half pounds of body fat. So, if you only gained two pounds a month, you may have been doing well.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, that you can use as a guide to your weight control program. Walk every day as that is a big help, and the more you can increase your walking, the better you will do. Others

WIN AT BRIDGE

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
come down to ace-queen of spades and queen of diamonds in dummy. East would be down to a singleton king and a guarded king and all South would have to do would be to guess which was the singleton.

South found a better play. He ruffed dummy's last club, played a few rounds of trumps, led his last diamond to dummy's 10 and left East on lead with no way to do anything but give up.

Of course, West could have beaten the hand if he had led his diamond at trick two, but West was not looking at all the cards.

We have had several questions on party bridge scoring. There are no definite rules, but the simplest way is to score as in rubber bridge except that the first game on a rubber gets a 300-point bonus and the second game a 500-point bonus while if a player has a part score at the end he gets a final 50-point bonus.

Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" are of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.

Jewelry Salesman Robbed Of $8,000 In Lake Mary

It was back to the books at Longwood Elementary School today for Scott Kaley, 10, (above) and Randy Graybill, 9 (below), "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," as they called themselves, had wandered into Welkva Springs State Park Sunday and weren't found until about 24 hours later - bug-bitten, hungry, muddy, but well.

Broward Official Will Accept County Attorney Post, If, If ...

Unless he receives any unexpected information on the salary or complexity and size of the workload of the Seminole County Attorney's job, Harry A. Stewart is likely to accept a Tuesday offer from the county commissioners to be Seminole County's full-time county attorney.

Stewart said he was wanted to talk with Mount about the "size and complexity" of the county attorney's office workload. In his job interview with commissioners and County Administrator Roger Neiswander, Stewart said he favored the county's hiring a second assistant county attorney.

Lake Mary police stepped up their investigation today into the armed robbery-abduction of a self-employed jewelry salesman shortly before noon Tuesday in which $8,000 cash was taken. Lake Mary Police Lt. George Myers said the incident occurred about 11:43 a.m. as the businessman, Louis Gill Cuddehe, 25, of 247 Lakeview Ave., Lake Mary, was driving his car on Old Lake Mary Road heading for home from Sanford.

"Cuddehe told us he slowed down for a stop sign at Old Lake Mary Road and Airport Boulevard when another car pulled up along side his," Lt. Myers reported. He said Cuddehe told police a man in his early 20s jumped from the other car and into his on the passenger's side and "ordered" him at gunpoint to drive on. Cuddehe said the young assailant, wearing blue jeans and a beige T-shirt ordered him to drive from that point of the abduction in an unincorporated area of Seminole County to an orange grove off Country Club Road at Ridge Road within the city limits of Lake Mary.

Police said Cuddehe had gone to Sanford for lunch but changed his mind and headed for home. "There was no jewelry in the car at the time," according to Lt. Myers. Cuddehe is not married, according to police. Police said Cuddehe had gone to Sanford for lunch but changed his mind and headed for home. "There was no jewelry in the car at the time," according to Lt. Myers.
