And if you could take out an ace of king, you should bid the slam.

Jim: "I assume the bidding in the box shows this rule in operation. South would surely bid four spades without the ace of diamonds. So he invites the slam by bidding four diamonds. If North signed off at four spades South would probably rise up."

Oswald: "Right. But North cue bids in hearts and now South invites the slam strongly by bidding five spades. He isn't worried about aces. North has his full values and goes on to the full value six."

Ask the Jacobys

An Alberta reader says, "Playing at three notrump the deuce of hearts was led against me. Dummy held ♠Q6 and I held ♠A10. Should I have played the queen from dummy?"

The answer is no. The play of the six spot insures two tricks in the suit. If you rise with dummy's queen and the king covers you may only make one heart trick.

"Do you have a question for the Jacobys? Write 'Ask the Jacobys' care of this newspaper. The most interesting questions will be used. If you receive copies of JACOBY MODERN."

Jim: "How did you happen to think of the rule of the ace and the king?"

Oswald: "In the early Thirties slam bidding was a bit of a miss. I wanted a simple rule to tell when to invite or actually bid a slam. I came up with the idea that any time you could take a king out of your hand and still have enough for game, you should think of a slam and possibly make a mild slam invitation. If you could take out an ace, you should definitely invite a slam."

'Steal-To-Order' Testimony Heard Witness Admits To 50-100 Burglaries

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

A key state witness, reportedly being hidden by sheriff's agents because of threats on his life, has admitted taking part in between 50 and 100 area burglaries.

Calvin C. Yates Jr., in sworn testimony taken by defense lawyers for suspects arrested in connection with the multi-county "steal-to-order" theft ring, claims Seminole County Sheriff's detective Ralph Salerno intentionally violated his constitutional rights so Yates couldn't be prosecuted for his participation in the theft ring.

Yates, who said he received four years probation in Orange County in February 1973 after pleading no contest to a charge of buying, receiving, and concealing stolen property, told defense attorneys that he spent two months riding over Seminole, Orange, Brevard, Osceola and Lake Counties with law enforcement officers pointing out where the theft ring had stolen items from home and businesses over the last year and a half.

Assistant State Atty. Ralph Erickson admitted in a Monday circuit court hearing that Yates "is in hiding" because of threats on his life.

Defense attorney Tom Freeman said Yates "is being held in secret" by Salerno, who headed the three-month probe that led to the arrest of 13 suspects in connection with the theft ring that police say funded orders through the Rendezvous Bar at Altamonte Springs.

The death threats were revealed in a hearing in which Circuit Judge Joe A. Cowart Jr. continued trial for Donald Crowder, 44, operator of the bar, until the week of Oct. 27.

Freeman had sought the continuance because of the number of persons accused in connection with the theft ring and the complexity of charges against them.

Yates testified that he was arrested for contempt of court June 21 and after he bonded out of jail Salerno approached him with a statement that implicated him in the theft ring.

The contempt of court charge was dropped, Yates said, and he was told by sheriff's agents that if he couldn't afford a lawyer he wasn't going to get one.

Yates testified he realized his rights were being violated but that he was told it was to protect him—that what he told agents about the theft ring couldn't be used to prosecute (Continued on Page 2-A)

Title To Be Executive Assistant County's 'Rose' Gets A New Name

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

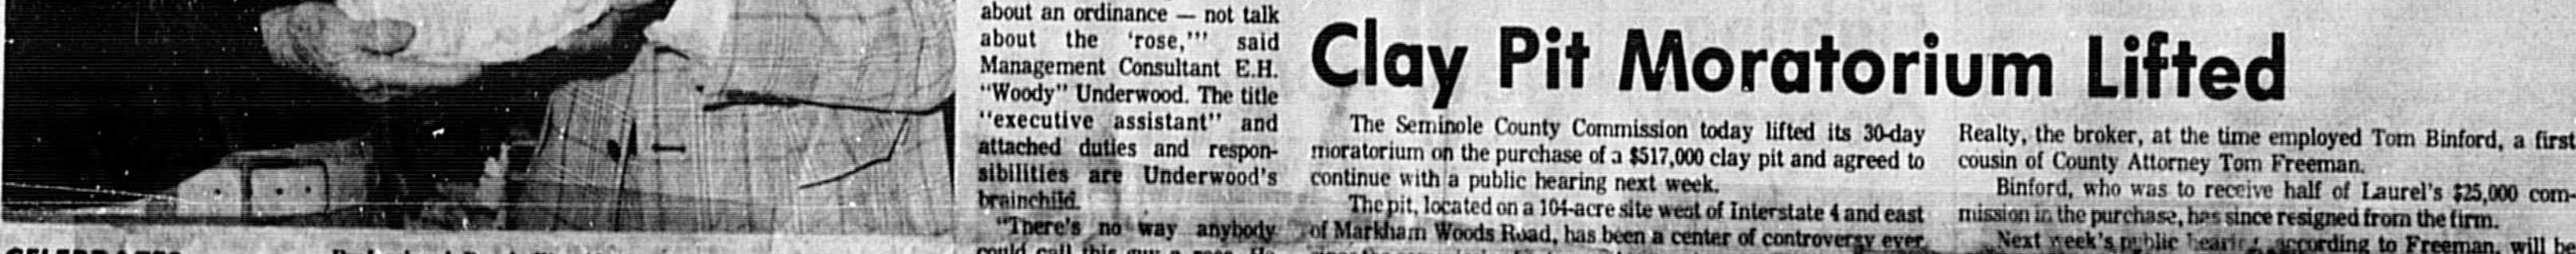

The "rose" on Monday shed its petals and grew into a full fledged "executive assistant" to the Seminole County Commission with the power to hire and fire.

"Rose" was the title given the soon-to-be created position before commissioners at a workshop finalized the title and formally agreed to consider the position at today's commission meeting.

"I think we ought to talk about an ordinance—not talk about the 'rose,'" said Management Consultant E.H. "Woody" Underwood. The title "executive assistant" and attached duties and responsibilities are Underwood's brainchild.

There's no way anybody could call this guy a rose. He celebrates his 90th birthday today. Beck, who lives at 1803 Sanford Ave., was surprised when neighbor Don Tabor (right) showed up with a cake to mark the occasion.

Action Comes Only After State Attorney's Office Queried Longwood City Council Corrects Minutes Of Aug. 21 Meeting

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD—In three separate votes Monday night, the city council unanimously amended the official minutes of the Aug. 21 budget workshop session to reflect that City Councilman Gerald Connell was present and City Accountant Harold Hartsock was not.

But, the action came only after Connell, insisting to no avail to his colleagues that the minutes as originally approved were not true, took his plight to Seminole-Brevard State Attorney Abbott Herring.

Herring said today Connell brought the matter to his attention and some evidence was received that the minutes were not correct.

The state attorney said he feels a public official has a right to have an accurate record kept of his attendance or lack of attendance and that minutes, public record, should be accurate.

Nothing he discussed the problem with Mayor James R. Lormann, Herring said as far as he is concerned the matter is now over with.

"I hope officials can keep the public in mind as far as differences are concerned," he said. "So many governing bodies have factions and the people are often the losers from internal fighting in such a body."

"It is a bad situation and I hope public officials place the citizen first and paramount rather than voting with a friend instead of an antagonist."

"Certainly Longwood has no monopoly on internal conflict. Many municipalities in the two counties keep my office jumping investigating," Herring said.

Mayor Lormann Monday recommended the city council amend the Aug. 21 minutes to reflect that Connell was present and Hartsock was not.

Schreiner first moved to expand the call of the special meeting Monday night to permit action on the minutes.

He then moved, with seconds from Councilman H. A. Scott, to include in the record that Connell arrived at the meeting at 7:30 p.m. and to delete any reference to Hartsock having been present.

Connell said it looked "supreme powers out of Sanford" to correct the minutes. He also asked for an apology from Grant for calling him a liar at a public meeting when he (Connell) insisted he had been present Aug. 21.

His request went unheeded. "I think the public record—the minutes—should reflect the truth," Connell said.

Oil Price Controls On Again; Ford Blames Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Price controls on domestic oil are officially in effect again, but President Ford says fuel costs will increase anyway and that only Congress is to blame.

Ford signed a compromise bill Monday, extending price controls on most domestic oil until Nov. 15. But he warned that the extension would not affect the newly increased prices of imported oil produced by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC).

"When the price of gasoline goes up at the service station, I want the American people to know exactly where the blame lies," Ford said. "Until Congress acts, there is nothing this country can do about arbitrary OPEC price hikes — and there may be still another fuel price increase next June."

The President accepted the price-control extension bill as a temporary compromise with Congress, but he said the measure "does nothing to reverse our growing oil dependence" on OPEC countries.

SLA Files, Weapons Found

Disease Victims Learn Fate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — While the remnants of the Symbionese Liberation Army enlarged their arsenal and gathered the makings of a bomb factory, they collected thick files of information on business and government activities and notes on corporate officials. Weapons, explosives and cryptically labeled file folders were listed in a 128-page inventory of items discovered at two apartments — one that had been occupied by Patricia Hearst and Wendy Yoshimura and the other by SLA members William and Emily Harris. In both apartments, agents found more than a dozen very large quantities of makeup and cosmetics and a wide variety of sunglasses and clothing. Many of the items were dated from 1962 to 1964 and identified as belonging to "Diana" and "Herb."

The sworn 95-page document became public Monday when it was put into the court file in the case charging Crowder in connection with the buying and selling of a stolen $15,000 motor home that agents seized when they arrested another suspect in raids Aug. 15 in south Seminoles.

"I told them everything they want to know," Yates said. "I am still talking," he said in a deposition taken by Freeman Sept. 25.

ROTARY HOSTS DIST. GOVERNOR

November Trial Set In Manslaughter

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

State troopers said the auto that struck the Montaner vehicle left the scene without stopping.

Lee was arrested by Florida Highway Patrol Sgt. J.A. Crews on Sept. 8 after troopers impounded a damaged auto, registered to Lee's employer, an Orlando auto sales firm. The impounded 1973 Mercury Cougar was taken to the Sanford Crime Lab for processing of evidence.

Lee was originally charged with leaving the scene of an accident with a death involved and careless driving. He was released from jail after posting $5,100 bond.

Court records indicate that those charges were dropped by State Atty. Abbott Herring's office in county court Friday and the felony charges filed in circuit court against Lee.

Other defendants pleading innocent when arraigned Monday included:

Donald Wayne Brown, 26, 1115 W. 13th St., and Gregory Lawson Vance, 18, 1010 Holly Ave., both Sanford, were arrested by Sanford police after beer, wine and cigarettes were taken by burglars at the Tiago Beer Tavern, 1013 W. 13th St., on Sept. 16.

— Trial was set for Nov. 17 for Jack J. Davis, 34, 400 Pine Ave., Sanford, on a charge of shooting into an occupied vehicle. Police arrested Davis in connection with the shotgun wounding of Lawrence Alexander on Sept. 29 in an incident at Locust Ave. and Seventh St., Sanford.

Animal Fighting Opposed Camp Weekend Followed For Scouts

State Sen. John Vogt has urged a bill that would prohibit animal fighting. He said the bill would prohibit animal fighting, but allow legitimate hunting.

Vogt said that while many people are "unaware" of the problems involved with animal fighting, a South Florida newspaper has pointed out Florida ranks among the top five states in dogfighting.

The Herald did last weekend. One of our staffers dusted off his old sleeping bag and spent one night and two days puffing along behind 10 to 17-year-olds, snapping photos and walking blind as a bat through the woods under stars that shone so bright it seemed you could hit them with a stick.

The campout was held on the 900 acre La-Ne-Che scout reservation near Paisley on beautiful Lake Norris. Some 30 Scouts and 50 prospective Scouts from Seminole and Volusia participated.

The weekend flew. Boys were assigned to patrol named Fox, Beaver, Panther, Bear and Bobcat and hustled off to a busy, but organized, schedule of swimming, archery, boating, riflery and a little football and old fashioned horselyplay thrown in to boys could be boys.

The meals were simple but good. Pancakes and french toast in the mornings, egg salad sandwiches and bean soup at noon and hot turkey, gravy and potatoes for dinner, with tempting desserts and beverages.

Saturday evening, all gathered around a huge campfire in a clearing surrounded by woods. The campers and sang songs, enjoyed skits and listened to tales tall and true.

The adult leaders offered a few subtle words on what Scouts are and are not, and after singing taps, all walked along leaf-carpeted trails to campfires where many of the younger boys spent their first night under the stars.

Animal sounds in the night, smells of the forest and air that felt good to breathe lulled all to sleep.

On Sunday, the boys had breakfast, went to services and an award ceremony, packed up and cleaned the camp area, and looked back as they left for home on a contact that would warm them through the years.

Boys wishing further information on scouting may contact Chris Elzea, district commissioner for the St. Johns District, Boy Scouts of America, at 325-1316.

Adults who are interested in working with the Boy Scouts are also invited to contact Elzea for details.

Building Permit Hassle Followed By Walkout

By JANE CASSELLBERRY Herald Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS — Angry rebuttals from the audience and a walkout by Councilman Irene Van Eppol followed a ruling by City Attorney Newman Brock and failure of the council to revoke a controversial building permit Monday night.

Mrs. Van Eppol charged Building Inspector Ray Bradshaw had issued the building permit illegally on Sept. 15, to John Laux for the west 175 feet of Lot 7, Block C, North Orlando Ranches.

The property is adjacent to Mrs. Van Eppol's home on Tradewinds Road and she said the 3.5 acre lot had been illegally split, with the other half having been sold to Walter Parkhurst for a home site in 1972.

She charged the lot being sold to Laux has not been replatted and recorded in the courthouse as required before a building permit can be issued.

Brock gave the legal opinion that the city could not deny a building permit on the property even though it had admittedly been split illegally. A previous city attorney had twice ruled nothing could be built on the split lot.

Brock said, "Somebody made an error in 1972 and a survey by a registered surveyor should have been forthcoming at that time. I don't think we can penalize a prospective buyer with property within the acre minimum lot size."

When Ranchland residents objected, challenging Brock's interpretation of the city ordinance, Brock said if they wanted to correct the original error "burning down Walter Parkhurst's house would be a simpler solution."

Richard DeFazio, a Ranchland resident, suggested since Hattaway Realty sold the half lot to Parkhurst for the owner, Hattaway should be responsible if the owner could not sell the split lot to Laux, because of not being able to obtain a building permit.

Brock replied, "The city cannot do that. It was appointed by Sen. John Vogt."

Seminole Man Awarded Education Doctorate

Dr. Harold Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.A. Stone of Osteen, recently received his PhD (Doctor's) degree in vocational education from Colorado State University and was named instructional supervisor for military programs at El Paso Community College (EPCC).

Stone is one of two Seminole High graduates known to have achieved a Ph.D. degree.

Graduating in 1959 from Seminole High he played on the football team when now County School Superintendent W.P. (Bud) Layer was assistant coach.

Stone received his bachelor's and masters degrees from Florida Atlantic University in Boca Raton. A former vocational guidance specialist at EPCC, he was selected as instructional supervisor for military programs in Europe and is responsible for certifying instructions and supervising program development.

Based in Weisbaden, Germany, he will work closely with instructional deans and department heads on the EPCC campus.

He was a member of the EPCC staff from 1970-72, then became a career center specialist for the State Board for Community Colleges and Occupational Education in Denver and later coordinator-director of the Stambaot Northwestern Community College.

He and his wife, Norma Jean and their two children visited this month before leaving for Germany.

Knife, Gun Reportedly Used Detectives Investigate Rape Report

Seminole and Volusia County Sheriff's detectives today were investigating the reported abduction, robbery and rape of a 19-year-old Jacksonville dancer.

The woman was reportedly dumped from a station wagon by two men at 14 and SR 46 west of Sanford early today after the alleged assault.

Seminole Sheriff's Detective George Hagood and Deputy Art Price reported the woman told them she had been at Deland when she was abducted. The two women argued and the dancer was left without transportation on U.S. 17-92.

She told deputies she was walking south on U.S. 17-92 when the station wagon occupied by two men approached and she refused to ride with the men. She said she was forced into the auto at knife and gunpoint and taken to an unknown dirt road where she was robbed and raped by both men at knifepoint.

Man Arrested

Sanford police jailed Irving Richard Beveritt, 23, of 904 Celery Ave., Sanford, early today after he was apprehended inside a burglarized bar.

Lt. Johnnie L. Parker reported he was on patrol when he noticed someone inside the Rex Bar, 410 S. Sanford Ave. The manager of the bar unlocked the establishment and officers entered. They said Beveritt was found hiding behind a door in a storeroom.

Police said the bar had been entered by breaking a window and a vending machine broken open. Officers said money and cigarettes were found in a paper bag near some beer inside the bar.

Sanford police today were searching for two male juveniles who snatched a purse from a Deltona woman Monday afternoon as she exited a foodery and a piggy bank, total value $500, were missing after a burglary at the 1367 Linnel Beach Road, Forest City, residence of Donald Roberts.

Deputy C.L. Nickle said the dwelling was entered by breaking a window and the house ransacked.

In other reports, deputies said a citizens band radio, antenna and tape deck, total value $250, were taken in the burglary of an auto at the residence of Bill Rev, 911 Spring Valley Road, Altamonte Springs.

Deputies reported Donald A. Redway, 31, of Oviedo, was treated and released from Florida Hospital North, Altamonte Springs, after he was accidentally shot in the right leg.

Deputy Charles Coffee reported that Redway said he was at a residence at 115 Manor Ave., Longwood, when he picked up his Derringer pistol from a dresser. Redway said he dropped the weapon and it fired, shooting him in the leg.

Arrested by Seminole County Sheriff's deputies today were: Harold Kastner Co., 423 W. 13th St. Police reported the thieves entered by prying open a door.

Florida Power Experiment Rewards, Punishes Customers

PALM BEACH GARDENS (AP) — Florida Power Corp. has been given the go ahead to reward or punish customers in an experiment aimed at slashing electrical consumption during hours of peak demand.

The Public Service Commission approved the year-long experiment on 200 volunteer customers Monday.

In other action, the commission approved a $1,995 million rate increase for the Winter Park Telephone Co., which serves 55,000 customers in north Orange and south Seminole counties.

The Florida Power experiment is designed to entice consumers to use their appliances during off-peak hours through the imposition of drastic rate cuts and increases.

During the experiment, customers will be charged 1.7 cents per kilowatt hour, about half the current rate, for plugging in during off-peak hours.

Students Face Transfer Wait

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Sen. Phil Lewis, D-West Palm Beach, says conflicting schedules have forced some community college graduates to wait weeks before transferring to state universities.

But community college spokesmen assured chairman Lewis and other members of the Florida Public Post-Secondary Education Finance Committee on Monday that conflicts have been solved by dovetailing schedules.

The committee, scheduled to resume today its discussions of higher education problems in Florida, was told Monday by Lewis that different time schedules for universities and community colleges are silly.

Community colleges operate on a modified semester system. State universities operate on a quarter system.

Foreign Laborers Take Jobs

MIAMI (AP) — Almost 5,000 foreign laborers are earning between $6 and $8 million in wages at northern apple farms that South Florida migrant workers should be earning instead, a state official says.

Fred Staff, program coordinator for the state's Migrant-Laborer program, said growers in upstate New York, Virginia and West Virginia hired foreign laborers, many of them from Jamaica, despite high U.S. unemployment and the availability of 4,000 Floridians certified in April for farm work.

Staff charged that U.S. workers "got cheated out of the jobs, and taxpayers have to pick up the tab" in part because the federal Rural Manpower Administration failed to help the Florida workers find jobs until it was too late.

Lewis Blasts Probe Critics

ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — Comptroller Gerald Lewis has challenged critics of his public statements on his investigation of a multimillion-dollar mortgage securities fraud.

"Those who are complaining about all this publicity would be better served by helping clean their own house, instead of trying to cover up this shameful mess," Lewis told the Florida State Democratic Executive Committee here Monday.

Florida Chamber of Commerce officials had complained that land sales were hurt because Lewis' statements or the matter last May suggested that land sales were involved when the fraud actually involved mortgage securities.

Parole Appointment Shakey

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The expected reappointment of Chairman Ray Howard to the Parole and Probation Commission at today's hurricane-delayed Cabinet meeting may not assure his remaining in the post.

Senate Ways and Means Chairman Jack Gordon, D-Miami Beach, said the Senate would take a close look at the "inappropriate" appointment when it comes up for confirmation next spring.

Also scheduled for action today were requests from the Natural Resources Department for emergency action on beach restoration from Hurricane Eloise damage on the county's Business Regulation Department on changing rules to allow quicker suspensions of jeeps.

Turlington Wants Feedback

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington wants students and teachers at state universities and community colleges to tell him what's on their minds.

He announced Monday a tour of the nine state universities and 28 community colleges, beginning with a Wednesday visit to New College in Sarasota.

"I will meet with as many faculty members as possible in one meeting and with as many students as possible in another in order to get direct, personal exposure to the issues and problems of each university and to the opinions these groups have concerning the future of higher education in Florida," Turlington said in a news release.

Williams To Rule On Pension

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Lt. Gov. Jim Williams said he decided quickly to appeal a decision allowing former Education Commissioner Floyd Christian to keep his pension. Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin says.

In a memo to Williams, Shevin said the state should not be in a position of paying a $25,000-a-year pension to a person who has admitted his guilt in the Christian bribery in a judicial position.

Christian has been judged guilty in state court of receiving kickbacks in connection with his official duties and is in federal prison for income tax evasion.

However, Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. said that there has been a lawsuit filed in opposition to the purchase. But, Freeman said pending litigation is against the Board of Adjustment and not the county commission.

Hallway re-emphasized today his position that the 30-day moratorium was to "clear the air" and the commissioner said "we can proceed with the project at this time."

The brief flurry of attention paid the controversial clay pit purchase came after Bob Andrew, the county director of public works, asked the commission for direction.

"The 30-day moratorium is up," Andrew said. "Which way do we proceed?"

Homeowners Don't Want Industry Zoning Battle Aired Fifth Time

LONGWOOD — Lake Ruth South subdivision homeowners continued their fight Monday night against the proposed rezoning of the Lake Ruth Widdis tract east of SR 427.

At the fifth public hearing on the issue this year — two hearings before the zoning board and three before the city council — the homeowners were told by Council Chairman J.R. Grant a sixth public hearing will be held Oct. 13.

Before city council votes on the issue, the first attempt by Mrs. Widdis to change the zoning on her property early this year failed after the Lake Ruth residents introduced testimony by a property appraiser that the industrial zoning would devalue the value of their homes separated from the Widdis property by a 200 feet wide strip of residentially zoned land.

In the latest rezoning effort, Mrs. Widdis deleted a portion of her property from the request to place the Lake Ruth South property more than 500 feet away and thus removed the necessity for those homeowners being officially notified of the proposed zoning change.

The portion of the Widdis tract abutting SR 427 has been requested changed to B-1 (business district).

At the hearing Monday night, realtor Bob Simpson, appearing on Mrs. Widdis' behalf, said the rezoning proposal would not decrease the value of the Lake Ruth homes.

In answer to a question from council member June Lorman, several of the homeowners indicated they would prefer any type of residential development to the industrial zoning.

Grant said the city had called a moratorium on the construction of duplexes in the community, adding this action would not hold up against a challenge. City Clerk Omnie Shonate, however, agreed with the contention by a Lake Ruth homeowner that duplex construction had been eliminated from the city's residential zones.

In other business, council:

- Granted a special exception to permit the continued operation of a landscape nursery south of SR 431 for 3½ years as requested.
- Approved a request for water service to a building site on which a duplex is under construction on the west side of Clifford Street and south of Florida Avenue, outside the city limits, if water lines of sufficient size are serving the area or if the builder pays all costs in the event lines of sufficient size are not available.
- Adopted on second reading a new election code, following the guidelines of state law in absentee voting.
- Passed on first reading an ordinance to rezone the Reams property west of the E.E. Williamson Road from residential to commercial. A public hearing was set for 8 p.m., Oct. 26.

Longwood Okays Budget, Tax Levy For Fiscal Year

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — City council Monday night approved ordinances setting a budget and property tax levy for the 1973-74 fiscal year, but only after City Attorney Ned Julian Jr. gave a ruling on the state neapoliem law and his views on official minutes of the city council meetings.

The ordinances, as adopted, call for a budget of $531,243 for general operation and $218,000 for utility department operation and a property tax levy of 2.81 percent on the level certified by Seminole County Property Appraiser Terry Goebel (one mill equals $1 per $100, non-exempt property valuation).

The new fiscal year begins Wednesday.

The property tax levy was unanimously approved by the five-member council, but the budget ordinance passed on a 4-1 vote with Councilman Gerard Connell casting the only negative vote.

Connell, explaining his negative vote for the record: "Questioned whether brothers working in the fire department, with one of them a supervisor, violates the city's adopted personnel policy."

— Contended the city bookkeeper, who also serves as a utility clerk, shouldn't have received a 40 percent raise in salary during the year, adding that a floating clerk, whose salary is federally funded under the Comprehensive Education and Training Act (CETA) is actually doing much of the water billing work.

— Insisted a five per cent pay raise should have been granted to the public works department's lower-salaried employees.

Connell suggested, however, that the city tape recorder is not always in operation during meetings and had been known malfunctioning on occasion when it was in operation.

Julian added that the fact council approves a budget which may include relatives hired by someone other than the council does not make the governing body guilty of nepotism.

Julian said the state neapoliem law is not designed to prevent relatives from working for relatives. It deals primarily with the proposed zoning change. The portion of the Widdis tract abutting SR 427 has been requested changed to B-1 (business district).

At the hearing Monday night, realtor Bob Simpson, appearing on Mrs. Widdis' behalf, said the rezoning proposal would not decrease the value of the Lake Ruth homes.

In answer to a question from council member June Lorman, several of the homeowners indicated they would prefer any type of residential development to the industrial zoning.

Grant said the city had called a moratorium on the construction of duplexes in the community, adding this action would not hold up against a challenge. City Clerk Omnie Shonate, however, agreed with the contention by a Lake Ruth homeowner that duplex construction had been eliminated from the city's residential zones.

In other business, council:

- Granted a special exception to permit the continued operation of a landscape nursery south of SR 431 for 3½ years as requested.
- Approved a request for water service to a building site on which a duplex is under construction on the west side of Clifford Street and south of Florida Avenue, outside the city limits, if water lines of sufficient size are serving the area or if the builder pays all costs in the event lines of sufficient size are not available.
- Adopted on second reading a new election code, following the guidelines of state law in absentee voting.
- Passed on first reading an ordinance to rezone the Reams property west of the E.E. Williamson Road from residential to commercial. A public hearing was set for 8 p.m., Oct. 26.

Suit Threatened Over Rate Hikes

CASELBERY — An attorney representing a group of apartment owners threatened to take the city to court at Monday night's council meeting.

James Wharton, representing owners of apartment complexes Serrano, North Sedgfield, Sundance, and Lake Howell Arms, said the apartment owners need emergency utility relief from recent utility rate increases. The attorney said if emergency relief was not granted, "we will seek other forms of rectifying the inequities."

Wharton listed four major areas in which the apartment owners feel they are getting unfair treatment:

- A 25 per cent surcharge levied by the city on customers outside the city limits.
- An ordinance that requires apartment units be charged rates equivalent to single family residences, despite the state Public Service Commission's (PSC) approval of a policy that calls for apartment units to be charged two-thirds the single family rate.
- The city's policy of "double taxation" of apartment owners who built their own utility systems donated them to General Waterworks, which was acquired by the city, which in turn boosted utility rates.
- Wharton added, "If some kind of utility restructuring, we'll have to take the city to court."

City Attorney Ken McIntosh suggested that Utility Director John Lane be sent immediately to Ft. Lauderdale to confer with utility rate expert Howard Osterman, whose firm, Diversified Utility Services, Inc. had moments before received council approval to conduct a utility rate study for Caselberry.

Councilman Sal Orlando introduced a motion incorporating McIntosh's suggestion which passed 4-1, with John Zacc Denton dissenting.

Lane said if the meeting is arranged, he will report back to the city council later in the week.

McIntosh said the results of seeking Osterman's advice might keep the city from having to go to court "bright and early Monday morning."

In other action, the council placed on next week's agenda the question of whether to discontinue Group 7 as the city's constraints for federal grants. The council also put proposals for state legislation on next week's agenda.

Other vehicles in the firehouse include a '47 Ford truck "starts every time," Beasley said; a '52 Studebaker and a '57 Ford. The volunteers are using money they receive for weekly drills to pay for a 1974 rescue van. The department's original rescue van was stolen and burned a few months ago.

Beasley said he expects the Oviedo Fire Department to expand in the future, especially if a planned unit development (PUD) scheduled for construction south of town becomes a reality.

"The department would have to grow to supply the needs of those thousands of people," Beasley said.

"I think Oviedo is already in need of at least four full-time firemen. We need a man to be here at any hour of the day or night."

"The main problem with fighting fires is getting people out of the house and onto the streets," Beasley said.

Lebanese Violence Endangers Peace

New flareups of sectarian violence in the tiny country of Lebanon inject a dangerous new ingredient into the cauldron of tensions that threaten peace in the Middle East. Christians are fighting Muslims in the country bracketed by Syria and Israel at the east end of the Mediterranean Sea. The unrest is heightened by the presence of 300,000 predominantly Moslem Palestinians in the country. The Palestinians are backed by the Moslem left which urges the government to take a more active role on the side of the Arabs in confrontations with Israel. But right-wing Christians, especially the ultranationalist Phalangist party, want no part of any Middle East war. Moslem-Christian warfare, which left 2,200 dead and wounded in Beirut alone in three rounds of fighting earlier this year, is attributed largely to Moslem challenges to the so-called "Lebanese Formula" invoked as unwritten law at the time of independence from France in 1943. The Christians were in a slight majority at independence and received a six-to-five ratio edge in parliamentary seats. Today the Muslims contend that a census would show they are in the majority in a population of 2.5 million Lebanese. The fighting threatens another gentlemen's agreement between the two religions. This provided that the president of Lebanon would always be a Maronite Christian; the prime minister a majority Sunni Moslem; and the speaker of the parliament a minority Shia Moslem. Fighting has raged in Tripoli, home of Premier Rashid Karami, a Sunni Moslem. His supporters have clashed with rightists in nearby Zgharta, home of Maronite President Suleiman Franjeh. Moslem Karami talks about flouting the unwritten law and running for president in the 1976 elections. The Christians show no inclination of wanting to yield on their six-to-five power edge. If the current fighting escalates into civil war, it would do nothing to make Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's peace-making task in the Middle East any easier.

Congress Listens

Congress got the message. A bill restoring Veterans Day to its proper date on the calendar has been sent to President Ford by his signature. On Nov. 11, 1976, federal observance will coincide with that of most of the states. In the years preceding World War II, Americans would pause at the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month to pay tribute to the men who died in the first "war to end all wars" and to those who survived. And the traditional observance of the anniversary of the World War I armistice was expanded in more recent years to recognize the veterans of all wars and their contribution to the defense of American freedoms. But in 1968, Congress blurred the significance of Armistice Day—now known as Veterans Day—by lumping it with other holidays in a package creating a number of three-day weekends. The holiday was observed nationally and in most states on the fourth Monday of October. The people rebelled. No less than 27 states have since voted to return to the Nov. 11 observance. So much for tinkering with patriotism.

Curbing The IRS

The Internal Revenue Service must have the proper tools to make sure that taxpayers pay their equitable share of the cost of government. But abuse should not be one of them. A bill repealing allegations of harassment and intimidation by IRS agents. The Federal Taxpayer's Rights Act of 1975 provides safeguards against the application of jeopardy assessments, the arbitrary seizure of property without due process of law and other unfair treatment of taxpayers involved in audits or litigation. It provides a means of procuring complaints against IRS methods and service and guaranteeing assistance for the taxpayer in dealing with IRS challenges. The legislation proposes a "Taxpayer's Bill of Rights" pamphlet, acknowledging, perhaps for the first time, that the citizen is entitled to the same constitutional privileges in dealing with the IRS that he enjoys in other areas of our free society.

Baseball has lost another hero. Charles Dillon Stengel, better known as 'Casey', died early today in Glendale Memorial Hospital, Glendale, Calif.

To say he knew Casey well would be wrong. We did know him and conversed with him many times while covering major league spring training bases on Florida's West Coast for the better part of 15 years. However, it's doubtful if anyone really knew Stengel well. In the first place, you had to be a magician to figure out what it was he saying. He was famed for his 'Stengelese,' a language he and he alone understood. Not even an interpreter from the United Nations could make heads or tails of what he was saying. When you asked him a question, such as who he was going to use as his starting pitcher the following day, he might well have gone into a lengthy diatribe as to why he couldn't love to use everyone else on the roster. You wouldn't help but love the guy. Especially during those years when he guided the New York Yankees to pennant after pennant. And, when he got the axe from the Yankees,

JOHN CUNIFF Many Jobs Still Going Unfilled

NEW YORK (AP)—Throughout the recession, with its accompanying high unemployment rate, there have been recurring reports from employers of job openings they have been unable to fill. A survey by the National Federation of Independent Business, for example, showed thousands of small and medium-size businesses seeking vainly for workers at the very peak of employment. Various reasons are provided to explain the situation: They prefer to collect benefits, they decline to take certain jobs because they expect to be recalled by their previous employer, the jobs are inconvenient geographically. Some frustrated employers suggest another reason: Workers today, they say, don't want just any job to help them through hard times; they want the ideal job or they won't work at all. Whatever the reason, the phenomenon continues. The Bureau of National Affairs, a private research and publishing concern, found in a survey just published that shortages of workers continue to be reported. The bureau surveyed the employment situation of a selected list of 300 companies, and found that: "Office positions, particularly secretaries and stenographers, are difficult to fill in 8 per cent of the companies, and shortages of technical and professional persons are noted by 28 per cent." In the latter category, the majority of jobs mentioned are in engineering, with 16 companies listing electronic data processing programmers or analysts.

Territorial Florida had a Samuel Pepps of its very own. He was Robert Raymond Reid, judge and governor, who came from Georgia to find here a sense of wonder at his adopted home. Gov. Reid told all about it in his amazing diary. Like that of Pepps, it was an intimate and detailed account of his daily life. It was also sprinkled with pungent comments about state and national figures and affairs. Unlike the famous English diarist, however, Gov. Reid was deeply religious and had considerable talent as a writer. Unintentionally, perhaps, he left a vivid record of developing Florida, its people and places. As federal judge for East Florida for six years, as territorial governor for a troubled 15 months, and as presiding officer of the convention that drew the first state constitution, Robert Raymond Reid was, as a Tallahassee editor wrote in this obituary, "part and parcel of the history of Florida." Reid came to Florida almost by chance. President Jackson wanted to upgrade the quality of the territorial judiciary. During the process of negotiation as attorney and jurist in Augusta, Ga., Reid was given the appointment and moved to St. Augustine. As had happened to so many before and after him, he lost his heart to the new land. "Somehow or other there is a charm in Florida which attaches me to the country," he wrote in his diary shortly after his arrival in 1823. "In St. Augustine it is the Morisco-Spanish architecture, the venerable castle, the orange groves, the moon and the stars."

Windows adjacent to the driver and rear windows shall not be treated with any material which would make them highly reflective or give them a mirrored appearance...

There is also a provision in this law which became effective July 1, 1975, making it unlawful for any person to knowingly sell material which, when installed, would be in violation of the new law. Also coming into effect on Wednesday is the new law which deals with check checks. Under the law, if a check, however, the merchant accepting the check must notify the maker of the check by certified or registered mail that he intends to prosecute if full payment and prescribed service charges are not paid within 20 days. The law also provides that if merchants cannot be held civilly liable for the notification of intent to prosecute. There are many more new laws which take effect on Oct. 1, so it might be well to keep posted as to what's going on around you in way of legislative acts. And remember, ignorance of the law is no excuse. —Bill Currie

RAY CROMLEY Tiny Spark Can Ignite Sinai War

The problem with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's Egyptian-Israeli trade agreement is not that 200 U.S. technicians will be stationed on the front lines. It's not even the multibillions we will give in aid, as our commitment to this agreement, however wobbly, much that aid assistance will be. It's that the settlement may well increase the tensions between Israel and the Arabs beyond all hope of reconciliation. The treaty sets well now because of the courage of one man—Anwar Sadat of Egypt, who has risen above ancient hatreds. But Sadat's neck is stretched far out, ripe now for an assassin's bullet. Egypt's top man has the official backing of the moderates who rule Saudi Arabia and a number of other rich and powerful Middle East states. But he has incurred the wrath of the extremists who will not hesitate to kill—and die—for their beliefs. The moderate rulers, themselves, are on difficult ground. Being absolute and old-fashioned monarchs, they know full well there are determined forces working to overthrow them. The aides have said as much to friends of mine. These opposition forces are strongly assisted by Leonid Brezhnev's men in the Kremlin, and abetted by Arab fanatics on the one hand and, on the other, by returning Westernized liberal and leftist scientists, engineers and technicians. They are small today but growing steadily. They've seen what happened to their colleague in Libya. They know of the constant threats to the life of King Hussein of Jordan. They are all too well aware of what is happening in tiny Oman. And, at home, in Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Abu Dhabi and even in non-Arab—but Moslem—Iran, they read the signs. This means those rulers cannot give Sadat full support in case Israel has a show-down with another Arab country—most importantly, Syria. And Syria is where the problem lies. Sadat, for all his courage, has left the shaky rulers of Syria well out on a weak limb. In order to hold to their power, built on little more than sand, they must get some sort of a favorable deal with Israel that will cut the strength of their opposition. Lacking major concessions by 'Tel Aviv they must conceivably attack Israel in order to prove their right to rule and to prove they will not allow the Israeli permanently to govern Syria land. Syria has been well armed by the Soviet Union for just this eventuality. Now a Syrian-Israeli agreement is more difficult for them than an Egyptian-Israeli truce.

Don Oakley Luck Is Not Enough

A grotesque and unenviable record has been set, one that all Americans hope will never be surpassed or even approached. One of the bestiked and most personable presidents in many years, Gerald R. Ford is nevertheless the first to have had two assassins made on his life—both in the same month and in the same state, and both by women. Again, an incalculable element of luck saved the nation from tragedy. Despite extra-strong security precautions instituted in San Francisco because of the assault against Mr. Ford in Sacramento some two weeks previously, another unbalanced person got close enough to the President—a gun—yep—to again have changed the course of history. Is there someone else out there who even now is thinking about making the third try a charm?

60 Die As Airliner Crashes Into Shark-Infested Waters. BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A Hungarian jetliner with 60 persons reported aboard crashed into a shark-infested area of the Mediterranean off the Lebanese coast early today, and rescue workers said there appeared to be no survivors. "The sea is full of sharks," said a boat owner who visited the crash site. "They're tearing into the bodies, making recovery work very difficult." Airport officials said the passenger list carried the names of 35 Arabs and 15 foreigners, at least one of them thought to be an American. There were 10 Hungarian crew members. Port authorities said Lebanese navy boats had recovered 23 bodies by midmorning. The Soviet-built Tupolev of Hungary's Maavel airline was on a flight from Budapest to Beirut. A government statement said it crashed into the sea six miles northwest of Beirut at 2:32 a.m. as it was making its approach to land.

FRANCO TO IGNORE PROTESTS. MADRID, Spain (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government is believed planning to go ahead with trials of 15 Basque guerrillas and death penalties for some of them despite the thunderous foreign protests against the execution of five terrorists last week. The government denied new trials were imminent. But lawyers for 10 men and five women held on terrorist charges said they had been told to prepare for the trials before military courts. The 15 ETA militants were arrested Sept. 19 in a roundup in Madrid. They were charged with the death sentence to demand the death sentence for at least four of the male defendants. London Siege In Third Day

LONDON (AP)—A police siege of three gunmen holding six Italians hostage in a downtown restaurant's tiny basement storeroom went into the third day today with no end in sight. "We're staying put," one of the gunmen shouted Monday night through a hole drilled in the wall of the 10-by-12-foot room after Scotland Yard twice refused their demands for a plane and safe passage out of Britain. "They ain't going nowhere," declared Deputy Asst. Comm. Ernest Bond.

Woman Urges Surrender

LONDON (AP)—A woman member of the Black Liberation Front told three gunmen besieged in the basement of a restaurant today that they had been disowned by the immigrant organization and should free their six Italian hostages and give themselves up. The woman, reportedly a friend of the gunman known as Sister Yemmi, said they had no chance of escaping the police net around the downtown restaurant or of being flown out of Britain. "You are on your own. Give yourselves up," she said.

Sanford BPW Names 'Little Miss' For '75

The pomp and pageantry of a Miss America contest was probably not nearly as exciting for 35 area girls who competed in the fourth annual Sanford Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) "Little Miss BPW" contest Saturday night at the Sanford Civic Center. Contestants were escorted on stage by Sanford Naval Academy cadets Jay Cook and George Sprout.

Youngsters Can Learn From Nature

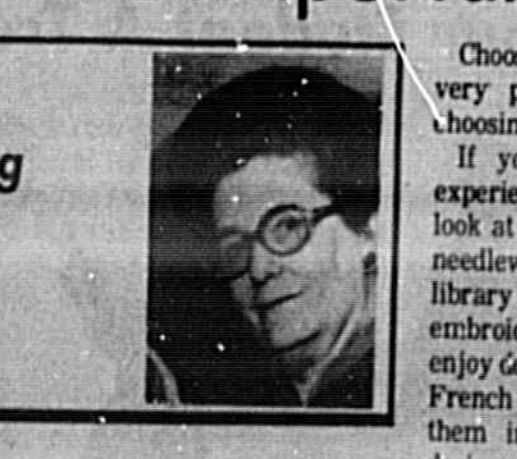

When your children get around to asking questions — and they always do — about the world around them — what will be your answer?

You needn't worry, because you have a great deal of help in preparing a response. Child psychologists report that by watching nature perform, a youngster can learn much about the wonders of growth and development.

Remember that in order for bulbs to bloom in the Spring, you must plant them this Fall.

By observing and understanding plant growth, children can see first hand the basic patterns of nature's miracles. They can also develop an appreciation of the life around us that is too often taken for granted in our concrete and plastic world.

Embroidery Touches Are Important

When I talk to a group of dedicated needlewomen about the art of embroidery I always make it a point to remind them how important the finishing touches are to the look of their work.

Choosing your own colors is very pleasurable and so is choosing your own stitches. If you haven't had much experience, take the time to look at examples in your local needlework shop or go to the library and look at books on embroidery.

TV Snobbery Irks Reader

DEAR ABBY: Why are people ashamed to admit that they watch television?

That kind of snobbery irks me to no end. What's with these phonies, anyway?

DEAR ABBY: Move the extra firm mattress to another room and pleasant dreams.

Ali Fires Off Final Taunts As Frazier Does Slow Burn

MANILA (AP) — Muhammad Ali fired off his final taunts and Joe Frazier let the smoke burn inside himself Monday in the smoldering hours before their 15-round rubber battle for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world.

Joe Frazier may sit down before you do. "This fight will be the complete annihilation of Joe Frazier. It may end before the first round."

People may watch this fight, said Don King, the flamboyant, imaginative one-time Ohio numbers king and former convict who has emerged as boxing's modern P.T. Barnum.

Ali can take home as much as $9 million and Frazier $5 million. Ali, is the 5-1 favorite based on his eight-round knockout of big George Foreman to regain the title in Zaire last Oct. 30 and subsequent victories in the past year over Chuck Wepner, Ron Lytle and Joe Bugner.

Tribe Faces Formidable Task At DeLand

By JIM HAYNES
Herald Sports Editor

Tackle to tackle. That's the biggest problem facing Seminole High School's football team Friday night as it faces the task of attempting to remain undefeated against long-time rival DeLand.

Without a doubt, DeLand is the toughest opponent on our schedule," declared Seminole coach Jerry Posey. "The toughest by far."

By comparison, the same Gainesville team made few mistakes in humiliating Lake Brantley last week in Forest City, 45-3.

"I'd love to hear what Charles Dillon Stengel says as he encounters his first angel." "Could I have used you to chase some of those high pop flies Marvella Mary couldn't hold because the fans would have loved it, but they loved it anyway, they would have loved it and we could have won more games but not the pennant but who never know and anyway that other guy out there wasn't had but not like some of the guys who were in pinstripes, but then they had a lot of other guys in pinstripes beside them," is what I imagine Casey saying.

Sooners Still Tops; Gators Drop To 20th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
After telling it like it is, Barry Switzer is telling it like it will be.

Meanwhile, Florida dropped from No. 19 to No. 20, despite a 27-10 win over Mississippi State in Jackson Saturday night. The Gators are 2-1 for the season.

Switzer, whose team reclaimed the No. 1 position in the AP's weekly poll Monday despite an unimpressive 20-17 victory over the Hurricanes, is going into an intensive huddle with his coaches for the upcoming match with Colorado.

Switzer wasn't worried about position this week — just Colorado. "I'm not really concerned about the polls," he said. "I won't last year and I'm not this year. Last year we were No. 1 the first week and the second week we weren't. But at the end of the year we were there. Ask me again after it's all over."

Piano Teachers To Meet

WINTER PARK — The Rollins College School of Creative Arts will host the Second Annual Pace Conference on Saturday, Oct. 11 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the R.D. Keene Hall Music Building.

The name "Pacesters" is used on an international level to identify teachers who teach Pace group piano and who meet on a regular basis to further their facility and understanding of the Pace approach.

According to Mrs. Bertha Anderson, Assistant Director of the Rollins College School of Creative Arts, this year's meeting will feature a 4-hour Jazz Lecture-Workshop which will be conducted by local jazz history as well as give practical suggestions as to its use with piano students.

All piano teachers, as well as high school and college students are invited to attend. For cost and further information on the Conference call the School of Creative Arts at 646-2211.

Choosing interesting hardware for the top and bottom of bellows helps set it off handsomely. Or if you prefer, use a luxurious, fat tassel at the bottom and mount the pull on a picture hook. A major drawback is a tapestry should have a special bar inserted at the top so it will hang smoothly.

Florida Hearing Aid Center Let George Do It For You

There are a number of shops in Seminole County offering hearing aid sales and service, but the many satisfied customers of Florida Hearing Aid Center believe that it is one of a kind, the best kind.

There are a number of reasons for this belief. First, Florida Hearing Aid Center is located in an easy-to-find, easy-to-get-to building, Suite 106, Cass Bldg., Casselberry. Second is convenience; all of the operations at the center are programmed with the convenience of the client in mind. Third is quality; only the best products are offered. Next is service; expert service backed by 15 years in Central Florida and experience in fitting thousands of persons with hearing deficiencies.

In order to meet the growing needs of the hard of hearing, Florida Hearing Aid Center is expanding its services to make it available over wider areas. Mr. Berne Fisher recently joined Florida Hearing Aid Center and will act as a field representative for their service centers. These service centers are located at Bob's Radio & Television, 209 S. Florida Avenue, DeLand, and at Shipes Jewelers, 411 N. Donnelly, Mt. Dora. Berne will be at Bob's every Tuesday morning and at Shipes Jewelers every Thursday morning. Berne will be available to make house calls for those who are unable to leave home.

The most important reason for the esteem in which Florida Hearing Center is held however, is George C. Hearn, age 75, an active, energetic businessman — an audiologist. George has been in the hearing aid business for 20 years, and he says he is the only hearing aid specialist in Seminole County who wears a hearing aid. Hence his motto, "Ask the man who wears one." He has been heard of hearing since birth, but didn't find that he had a hearing deficiency until he was 19 years old. His hearing trouble caused him years of being handicapped in the classroom and in outside activities, and was all unnecessary, says George.

From this personal experience in the handicaps of hearing problems George urges all young persons to have examinations to ensure that they do not have a hearing deficiency that is increasing all the time, according to Hearn.

with the results. There is no charge for these two services, and if the examination reveals that surgery may be necessary, Hearn refers the case on to medical professionals.

If a hearing aid can help, Florida Hearing Aid Center carries all makes, styles and types. The client can choose one that best fits his needs and the C.E. electric mike is virtually shock proof and the stainless steel contacts are corrosion resistant. It resists humidity and related breakdowns which are a major cause of hearing aid failures. The C.E. is made to order, is individually molded to fit the hollows and contours of your ear, is worn comfortably and

High Unemployment Rate Sparks Action

Commission Seeks Federal Aid For County

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer
The county commission Tuesday designated Seminole County an economic redevelopment area eligible for federal assistance.

Once that happens, he says, he will push for a "viable work program" that "will create employment in Seminole County."

The national unemployment rate for August was 8.4 per cent. And the law states a county may apply for aid after the rate stays higher than national figures for a year's time.

Checks Shorted By Error

Paychecks for 39 Seminole County employees will be short by a total of about $12,000 this week because county commissioners Tuesday "forgot" to correct a "foulup" in the clerk's office.

"It's a mistake, and it's unfortunate. Some people are getting only 20 or 30 cents because of a mistake in the clerk's office," Commission Chairman Sid Vilhen Jr. said.

Budget Disapproval At Issue

The commission had three choices: Okay an advance, offer a temporary salary increase, or just forget about it. Early in the meeting commissioners asked Ashby Jones, deputy circuit court clerk, for additional information, but the issue before Tuesday's meeting ended. And Tuesday was the final meeting of this fiscal year.

Burglary Jury Hears Taped Conversation

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer
After a legal battle between prosecution and defense attorneys, a circuit court jury today heard a tape recording of a "bugged" conversation between a Longwood man accused of buying, receiving and concealing stolen property and an admitted professional burglar-turned police informant.

Yates testified that One told him of the burglary and that (Yates) had been to the Benton house several days prior to the break-in and had told One that break-in would "be a bad risk" since the windows of the residence were covered with burglar bars.

Onie earlier identified the Benson color television set in evidence as the one stolen from his home and Yates said today, "It's either the one Onie had or one exactly like it."

Cleveland Named To Fight Polk's Lawsuit

In that fight South Seminole residents sought to have the courthouse built in the south part of the county, but the courts ruled in favor of the commission and the courthouse is now in Sanford.

When Kimbrough first asked that Cleveland be appointed to deal with the sheriff, he told a reporter that Freeman's reply to the sheriff's appeal was "inadequate" in that it contained language of a "political nature" rather than sticking strictly to the legal aspect of Polk's appeal.

Kimbrough feared Polk's attorney, Doug Stenstrom, would take advantage of working in Freeman's appeal.

Expert Panel Details Seniors' Medical Care

Florida Manor, addressed the seminar on the subject of nursing homes. Harris reminded the audience that a nursing home is not a place one goes to die.

September Rain Nearly 10 Inches Above Average
If you're tired of rain day after day, you are probably glad the month of September is over.

Other members of the panel: Bea Fitch, a Social Security representative; Audrey LaMirance, of the Division of Family Services; Don Holdaway, manager, Orlando Branch, Blue Cross and Blue Shield; Mary Lou Knight and Betty Todd, R.N., both of Seminole Memorial Hospital.
