

Woman Sticks To Strange Vow After 'Inheriting' Burglar

LONDON (UPI)—A burglar... a stolen tweed suit... a solemn vow... and an unusual bequest. These were the ingredients that made up a true story stranger than most fictional plots dreamed up by the world's most famous mystery authors.

When the husband of Eibel Mannin, a well-known British writer, died two years ago, she "inherited" from him a burglar—a real live one with sticky fingers who had spent many years in her majesty's prisons.

The story of her inheritance was unveiled in court Monday. It all began in 1954, when Miss Mannin and her husband, Reginald Reynolds, were burglarized.

Police arrested ex-convict Frank Stanley for the theft and sent him to prison for seven years. Reynolds, moved by an impulse, went to the prison to talk to the man who had robbed him. From that first conversation, he regarded Stanley as "my burglar" and began to try to reform him.

The frequent visits appeared to have a good effect on Stanley. Reynolds told the convict that one of the suits stolen from his home was an Irish tweed garment that had great sentimental value. A few days later, Stanley sent Reynolds $28 to replace the suit.

Miss Mannin bought some tweed in Dublin and her husband had another suit made from the material.

Students Attend Rollins Festival

Twenty Spanish students of Seminole High School attended the annual Cervantes Festival at Rollins College Saturday under the supervision of their instructor, Mrs. Clay Williams.

Gathering at the Casa Iberia, the inter-American center at Rollins, the students were welcomed to the all-day festival by Professor Angela Campbell of the Rollins faculty who explained the Spanish program offered there.

Robert Bullard represented Seminole High in a Spanish quiz program.

After dinner, the students attended a play presented by the Rollins Spanish department, "An Hour with Don Quixote," in honor of Cervantes.

Those attending included Mrs. Williams, Mark Williams, Janet Ely, Peggy Powell, Michael Smith, Martha Wheeler, William Young, Larry Ann Ziegler, Richard Bruce, Larry Gilstrap, Cindy Lake, Linda Mills, Oscar Perez, Robert Bullard, John Westgate, Dennis Smith, Nancy Elkas, Ann Pharr, Jack Ceolo, Pam Jones and Stanley Hottelaw.

"Stanley told my husband he would go straight till the suit dropped off," Reginald," Miss Mannin said today.

After Miss Mannin inherited her husband's "interest" in Stanley, she visited him regularly. When he was released last October, she got him a job in a hospital which he kept until last January.

She remembered Stanley's vow to go straight as long as the tweed suit was being worn by her husband.

"So, instead of throwing it out when my husband died, I had it made into a suit for myself," she said. "I continued to wear it in the hope it would make him remember his promise. It is the suit I am wearing now. It has become a kind of symbol."

Miss Mannin wore the suit to court Monday. Stanley, now 58, pleaded guilty to robbing houses of property valued at $2,716. He told the court he was "ashamed and disgusted" to have betrayed Miss Mannin's trust in him.

The woman writer's eloquence in court won him a final chance for probation instead of a 14-year jail sentence.

Miss Mannin made it clear today that Stanley would never figure in any of her novels.

"He's simply my burglar," she said.

Foodstore Burglarized Of $450; Patrolman Hurt Rushing To Scene

The Little Giant Food Store on French Ave. was robbed of $450 early today and a Sanford Police patrolman was shaken up in an auto accident while speeding to the robbery, police reported.

Store Manager Robert Borsdorf told police that he stepped out of the backdoor of the place at about 8:45 and "that's the last thing I remember."

Police Chief Roy Williams said Borsdorf was found some 15 minutes later by Don Street an employee of the store bound and gagged and unconscious.

Borsdorf was taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital and is reported in good condition today.

The manager told police after he recovered, that he didn't remember anything that happened.

Williams reported that the money was taken from the cash register and that no merchandise is reported missing.

At the same time, a Sanford patrolman was shaken up and his patrol car demolished while rushing to the scene of the crime.

Williams said that Patrolman Fred Kelley received the call and while traveling on French Ave. swerved to avoid hitting a car making a turn on 12th St. Kelley missed the car but smashed into a concrete marker.

He was taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment after receiving a cut on the head.

The car was declared a total wreck.

Investigating the robbery along with Chief Williams today is Sgt. W. R. Cosgrove and Patrolman Joe Crane.

Probers Say Cape Wages 'Border On Subversion'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators, charging that missile base workers sometimes make so much money it "borders almost on subversion" summoned more contractors today to tell about soaring wages and inefficiency.

The Senate investigations subcommittee was told Wednesday that a $3.50 an hour electrician at Cape Canaveral, made $647 one week—$127 more than Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

They said common laborers made more than the nation's intensively-trained astronauts, and pipefitters at a California airbase got paid for doing nothing.

Chairman John L. McClellan, (D-Ark.), said accounts of slow-downs and walkouts at the test sites and missile bases were "almost revolting" in such vital programs. He said it "borders almost on subversion."

Henry Gable, president of Gable Electric Service of Dallas, told the subcommittee he had no doubt there was a deliberate slowdown by electricians at Cape Canaveral so they could make overtime. His company has six contracts there.

Gable, blasting the Cape Canaveral local of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said it had done more to damage missile programs than Russia could do by dropping an atomic bomb on the base.

Committee investigators told about Cape Canaveral electrician R. J. Cortez, who worked 84 hours one week in 1958 and made $647. For two hours before 8 a. m. and two hours after 4:30 p. m., he got time and a half. For all other hours, he got double time.

On top of that, he got "high" time for work done on structures high above the ground. Depending on the hours worked like this, Cortez's base pay was doubled, tripled, or even quadrupled.

DeGaulle Plans Army Purge

PARIS (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle plans a purge of the army and may dissolve the famed French Foreign Legion as a result of the abortive military revolt in Algeria, government sources said today.

The sources said the president intends to take "drastic" action to remove both left-wing and right-wing extremists from positions of power.

It was the Foreign Legion, created mainly for colonial wars, which provided rebellious army generals with the bulk of their support in the Algerian insurrection Saturday through Tuesday.

DeGaulle was reported pressing for swift justice for the leaders of the rebellion.

Meanwhile a vast plot in mainland France that was to have

Laos Reds Aim For Quick Victory

LIANG PRABANG, Laos (UPI)—The Communist-backed Pathet Lao hammered away for the fifth consecutive day Wednesday with Soviet mortars in an attempt to win a quick victory before the cease-fire goes into effect.

Diplomatic sources in London said they expected the pro-Western government to broadcast a direct appeal to the Reds today, suggesting a time and a place for a meeting to negotiate a cease-fire.

Gen. Bounleuth Sannanhan, commander-in-chief of the royal armed forces, said prospects of a cease-fire had not slowed the Communist attacks.

Bounleuth said the situation at Muong Sai, 40 miles north of this royal capital, was serious. He said government troops appear to be holding their own at Khou Cha Cham, 40 miles south of here. The army chief said the Reds, who overran Vang Vieng last Saturday, had been halted north of the Nam Lk River.

The Communist Chinese laid down stiff conditions that could disrupt efforts to establish an effective cease-fire in Laos.

No General Around Here, Legionnaire Tells French

ALGIERS (UPI)—Loyal French troops today surrounded the Foreign Legion paratroop base at nearby Zerakda where three of the generals who led the four-day rebellion against President Charles de Gaulle were reported hiding.

But a spokesman at the base said: "There isn't a general in the camp."

However, the generals — Raoul Salan, Edmond Jouhaud and Andre Zeller—have been stripped of their rank by the Paris government and now are referred to by the French as "ex-generals." The spokesman's remark could have been a quibble.

The fourth leader of the uprising, ex-Gen. Maurice Challe, is in Sante prison in Paris, charged with illegally assuming command and fomenting an insurrection.

The troops around Zerakda, 15 miles from Algiers, made no move against the paratroopers who took part in the abortive rebellion. They concentrated on cutting off the base, manning road-

Satellite Fired To Determine What Makes World 'Tick'

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—America today fired toward an earth orbit, a satellite carrying a space telescope to study mysterious gamma rays and get a better idea of what makes the universe tick.

The 94.8-pound moonlet, to be named "Explorer XI," was carried aloft by a four-stage rocket at 9:16 a. m.

It represented the first step in a U. S. program to use orbiting observatories to study the Milky Way and other star galaxies trillions of miles away.

The federal space agency announced nine minutes later that all three upper stages of the rocket had fired successfully.

Scientists hoped the little satellite would serve as the key to unlock some of the oldest mysteries about our universe. They were hoping to learn more about its makeup, its future and past.

Gamma radiations, space agency scientists explained, hold particular interest because they are associated with nuclear processes unmatched anywhere in nature.

Although little is known of them, they could be the product of galaxies building up or breaking down.

The satellite, a highly advanced machine of the future, physically resembles a top-heavy street lamp of the past. It was designed as an artificial "eye" through which scientists could look at gamma rays in space and trace them to their origin.

Area School Sets Spring Roundup

South Seminole Elementary School will conduct its pre-school roundup beginning at 8:30 a. m. May 4.

All children of the Casselberry area who are six years of age or who will be six before Jan. 1, should attend. Parents are requested to bring their children's birth certificates and immunization records.

Castro Easing Up On Executions

MIAMI (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro said early today in Havana he plans to execute only "two or three war criminals" among the captured invaders of Cuba despite "popular demand" that they all be put to death.

Castro told 200 to 300 captives massed in Havana's Sports Palace for a radio-TV propaganda spectacular that putting them all to death "would belittle our great victory."

He said the men he intends to execute already had charges pending against them, like Ramon Calvino "who committed many crimes during the Batista regime."

A hysterical woman and a furiously angry man accused Calvino of at least three murders when he was paraded before Castro's TV cameras Monday night. The woman said she wanted to be a member of the firing squad that probably will execute him.

Tax Roll Legislation Introduced For Sanford

Permissive legislation for Sanford to use the county tax roll was introduced into the house Wednesday, State Rep. Gordon Frederick said today.

The city could not use the county tax roll until 1962 as the bill would not become law until late summer.

Three months ago the city commission asked for the permissive bill as a time saving measure.

In other legislative business, a bill to prohibit road builders and their employees from contributing money to state political campaigns ran into opposition in the Senate Elections Committee today and was shunted into a subcommittee.

Sen. Ted David of Hollywood, who ran for governor last year, said the law would only drive such contributions "underground."

David said he knows for a fact that gambling and liquor interests, barred from financing campaigns under present law, are still contributing.

Cleveland Asks Stop To Abusing Confederate Flag

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—A bill went to the House calendar today making it unlawful to "mutilate, deface, defile or contemptuously abuse" the Confederate flag.

Rep. Mack Cleveland of Seminole County, who introduced the measure, said it was aimed at stopping use of the flag in "advertising, selling or promoting" sales of merchandise.

He said he had the backing of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

CD Prepares For Mock Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Civil Defense officials today began preparing relocation centers for Friday's mock nuclear attack on the United States.

The climax is scheduled for between 4 and 5 p. m. when it will be assumed the country is under attack by missiles and bombers.

It will involve all major civil defense units across the country.

When the attack starts, President Kennedy and other leaders will speak on a taped broadcast from an underground relocation center in the Washington area.

Peel Gets Life

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (UPI)—Joseph A. Peel Jr. was sentenced to life in prison Wednesday for planning the murder of Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth in 1933.

Peel was sentenced after a female garbage truck driver withdrew an affidavit stating she had seen Chillingworth several months after the disappearance of the judge and his wife, Marjorie, in June 1933.

Kennedy Spells Out Code Of Ethics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy announced a rigid new code of ethics for administration officials today and asked Congress to stiffen laws against improper use of federal posts for private gain.

In a special message on conflicts of interests, Kennedy also proposed outlawing private agencies in cases which must be decided through formal hearings.

The latter provision would apply to members of Congress. If administration officials have their way, it is doubtful that they will, since many lawmakers insist it is proper for them to talk to agencies about cases involving their constituents.

The recommended ban on "ex parte" contacts with agency officials was an echo of congressional hearings which were highlighted in 1958 by the resignation of Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams.

Kennedy named no one in Republican or Democratic administrations, but he said that "in the past two decades, incidents have occurred to remind us" that changes are needed in laws and regulations covering government ethics.

The President made a point of demanding that administration leaders set personal examples of conduct "above reproach." He promised to help, by such means as applying standards for property holdings and acceptance of gifts by presidential appointees.

"No president can excuse or pardon the slightest deviation from irrevocable standards of behavior on the part of any member of the executive branch," Kennedy said.

At the same time, he asked Congress to make it easier for private experts to risk the government without risking criminal charges under conflict of interest technicalities.

A bill being drafted by the administration would carry a possible fine of $10,000 or a year's imprisonment, or both, for violating proposed bans against:

- A regular government employee accepting outside pay for any transaction involving the government, or taking part in any federal business in which he has a financial stake without permission from his agency head.
- Ever "switching sides" from the government to a private party in a case upon which an official has worked, thus pinpointing and making permanent what is now a vague two-year prohibition.
- While calling for this and other congressional action, Kennedy said he would issue orders and memoranda of his own which would:
- Forbid presidential appointees from receiving pay "for any lecture, article, public appearance, etc., devoted to the work of the department or based on official information not yet a matter of common knowledge."

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—The 60,000-ton super aircraft carrier USS Independence and the ammunition ship Diamond Head collided in the Caribbean early today, the Navy reported.

The Independence received only "minor damage" and no personnel injuries were reported.

The ammunition ship was ordered to proceed to the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Sentencing Delayed
TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Circuit Court Judge Ben Willis Wednesday delayed sentencing Victor Ray DuCharme, 18-year-old Florida State University student who allegedly made a false report that a bomb had been placed in the State Senate Chamber. DuCharme, of Toledo, Ohio, who tearfully told Willis he made the whole thing up, pleaded guilty to making a false bomb report.

He was forced to abdicate by the Indian government in 1927 after Pakistani tribesmen invaded his mountain kingdom.

Strong Words
JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—Sen. George Smathers, (D-Fla.), said Wednesday President Kennedy's strong words condemning Cuban Premier Fidel Castro were not just political talk. He said he believed Kennedy stood behind some form of military action to solve the Cuban problem. A mere embargo on the island "would be like putting microchroms on a cancer," he said.

City Judge Urges Foster Home Plan

The most cherished product of our community is our children," Kenneth McIntosh, attorney, city judge and president of the Seminole County Juvenile Council told the Kiwanis Club, Wednesday.

"But those who are delinquent," he said, "are delinquent because of the people with whom they have to live."

The home is the breeding ground, McIntosh told the Kiwanis, where standards are set. There is where children, very early in life, learn virtue, morals and decency, respect for others and respect for property.

"Children have plenty of critics," said McIntosh. "What they need are models, for behavior is not an inherited trait, it is learned."

Yet, when their children get into trouble, he added, parents blame the schools, blame society, blame everyone and everything except themselves. And when they have failed their children they wring their hands and cry to society and the courts to "Do Something!"

McIntosh blasted television as contributing to the delinquency of children with the overwhelming trend of programs to violence, murder, sadism, rape and "frontier justice."

This constant diet of cruelty, drunkenness, and viciousness blunts children's sensibilities and destroys their natural feelings of sympathy, gentleness and love.

McIntosh called upon grandfathers, who through their years of living, should be mellowed and wise, to give help, use their influence and aid parents in instilling high standards and moral values in children.

He asked the Kiwanians to help urge and promote the establishment of a foster home plan in Seminole County to care for dependent children.

Citing the increase in major crimes committed by children under 17 in Seminole County, McIntosh related the following statistics:

In 1959, juvenile court cases numbered 167, but in 1960 the number of cases to come before the juvenile judge rose to 423. Citizens should be astounded by these figures, McIntosh said, and listed the main crimes as auto theft, breaking and entering, vandalism, unlawful entry and 17 major sex offenses.

"The most difficult season is ahead, when school is out and children have more freedom," said McIntosh.

He announced that in city court there would be no more "slapping of wrists" in traffic violations and urged that the Juvenile Council appeals through the news papers and through the courts for help with the delinquency be met with good response.

McIntosh urged that every parent take a renewed and searching look at their parental responsibility, not blame their problems on the schools, and endeavor to build a solid feeling of warmth, love and respect between themselves and their own children and then reach out to lend a helping hand to an unfortunate, needy and dependent child, whose own parents have failed him.

In other Kiwanis business, two new members were inducted into the organization. They were Carl-son Bliss, county engineer and L. Richard Clark, head of the Salvation Army here.

Ed Lane paid tribute to the state of Texas and called R. T. Milwee, Texas, to the front, while he outlined the history of the state.

Key Club delegates Buddy Kirk and Billy Musselwhite told the club about their work-day plan, where Key Club members spend part or all of Saturday working for Kiwanians, with all wages being contributed to the Club.

C. J. CABADAY, Adj. of VAH-3, is shown with the special wrenches he fabricated to ease the task required to torque the pylon shear bolts on A3D aircraft engines. The job formerly required the removal of the engines, modification of the pylons, and reinstallation of the engines which was done by several men and took approximately eighty man hours to accomplish. It is now done in minutes by Chief Cabaday's special wrenches. The wrenches are now in use by the A3D squadrons at Sanford and will soon be in use by the squadrons in the Pacific Fleet.

Diplomatic Reports Slow Up Eichmann Trial

JERUSALEM (UPI) — A 23-year-old diplomatic report by President Kennedy's father was brought into the Adolf Eichmann trial today. It was a report on the status of the German Jews which Joseph P. Kennedy sent to Washington in 1938 at the time he was U. S. ambassador to Great Britain.

Kennedy relayed the information that the Nazis considered the Jews to be "pickpockets, murderers and thieves."

to live in districts frequented by the criminal classes. They would be under police observation like other criminals. They would be forced to report to the police as other criminals are obliged to do.

A German secret police document, dated Oct. 1, 1943, listed the heads of the various departments and stated that Eichmann was in full charge of deporting the Europeans Jews and stripping them of their property.

Sixth Graders Make Food Study

Sanford To Host Witness Meeting

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, through its local spokesman, Rush Stafford, announced today that Sanford will be host to Jehovah's Witnesses for their spring circuit assembly which will be held at the Civic Center, May 19-21.

Stafford, presiding minister at the local congregation at 1621 W. First St. stated that the three day program will consist of a variety of talks on Bible subjects with demonstrations arranged to aid all in attendance to learn the essentials of Bible teaching.

According to Stafford the Witnesses of Florida Circuit No. 5 hold such an assembly twice a year. Their last assembly held in Sanford in 1948 was attended by over 1,400.

Appearing daily on the program will be J. A. Hinderer, district supervisor and J. L. Patrick, circuit supervisor, both working out of Jehovah's Witnesses world wide headquarters in Brooklyn, New York. Mr. Hinderer supervises approximately 10,000 ministers in Southeastern United States.

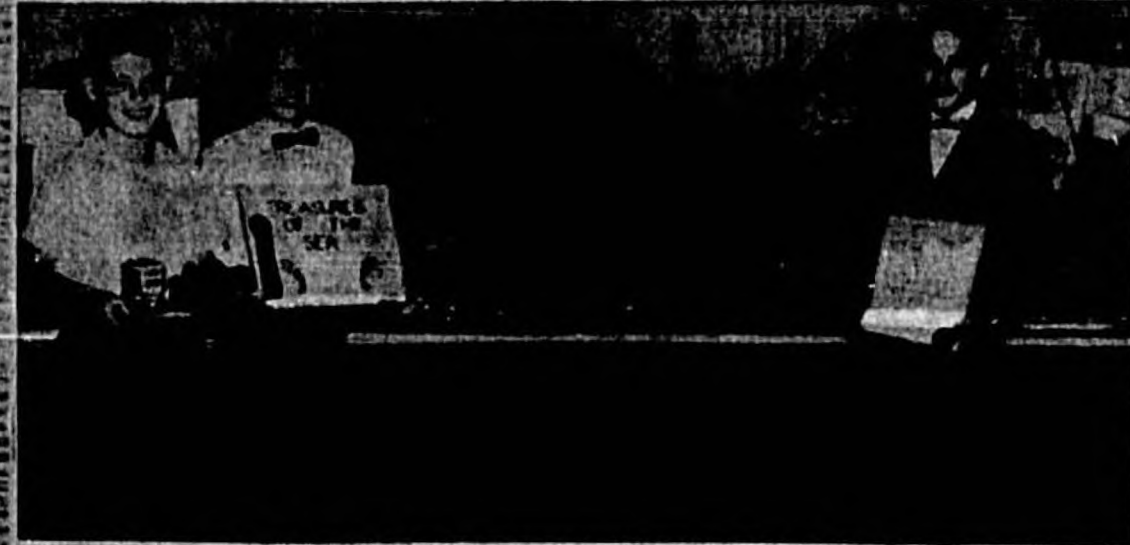

Hinderer will deliver the address of welcome Friday evening, based on the theme of the assembly, "Walk in the Name of Jehovah Forever." He then presides as chairman of the model Ministry School which is a training program for the ministry and is conducted weekly in each congregation.

Pinecrest P-TA Sets Friday Meet

The Pinecrest P-TA will hold a brief meeting Friday, sandwiched in between special programs by the fifth and sixth grades.

James Metheral's sixth grade will present the first part of the program at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium, with the production of a pageant entitled, "A Night on Mount Olympus." This pageant was written and produced by the students, who will take the parts of gods and goddesses. They have been studying Greek and Roman mythology and have designed and made the costumes that will be worn.

Following the pageant, the P-TA will hold a short business meeting to hear the recommendations of the nominating committee and elect officers for next year.

Then the fifth and sixth grade glee clubs, under the direction of music teachers, Mrs. E. B. Bolch and Mrs. Escar Neider will present their Spring Music program, featuring spirituals, religious and patriotic songs.

Planning Starts For Graduation Night Activity

Full scale plans are underway by parent committees for making the graduation night events, both formal and informal, the best ever for the 1961 graduating class at Seminole High School.

A group met with Capt. R. W. Sipe at the Naval Air Station to discuss plans for the Hawaiian luau, which will conclude the festivities to be held at the Lake Golden recreation area.

The luau was part of the entertainment voted on by the senior class as their preference and will include swimming, feasting and dancing under the stars to orchestral music in a realistic Hawaiian setting.

Capt. Sipe and the Navy have given permission and offered their aid in preparations for the giant party to chairman of the luau arrangements, John Kader.

Decorating co-chairmen are Mrs. Bill Kirk and Mrs. E. S. Higginbotham; food co-chairmen, Mrs. Sherwood Barbour and Mrs. Lee Trepanier; barbecue, Gordon Bradley and Jim Riser; lighting chairman, Arnold Hood. Clean-up co-chairmen, C. O. Jones and Louis Markham; favors, Mrs. C. G. Jones; set-up and serving chairmen, George Bullard and Mal. Ralph Wood.

How U.S. Savings Bonds help put millions of Americans into their own homes

Since the earliest pioneer days, Americans have traditionally owned their own homes. But not until recently did the tradition become truly national.

Today 35 million American families "pay rent" to themselves. This is almost twice as many as 15 years ago—a dramatic increase caused by a number of important factors, including the U.S. Savings Bond Program.

G. I. Joe comes back After the War, many returning soldiers picked up a stack of Bonds bought with their service pay—plus a stack their wives and sweethearts had bought. This reserve helped pay for college degrees, weddings, and helped start new businesses. And it also provided the down payment on a lot of new homes.

Thousands of Americans are still furnishing all or part of the down payment for their new homes with U.S. Savings Bonds.

Why Savings Bonds are such a good way to build your home

U.S. Savings Bonds guaranteed by the Government to grow $1 become $1.85 in 7 years, 9 months, and $1.95 in another ten years. You can get your money anytime, with interest. Your Bonds are replaced free, if they're lost or stolen. And you can buy them automatically on the installment plan when you work.

Every Savings Bond you buy helps assure a peaceful future by keeping our country strong. Why not join America's homeowners the Savings Bond way?

"The Home-building Industry is 100% behind the Bond Program," says Mr. E. J. Burie, Jr., of San Antonio, Texas, President, National Association of Home Builders

"Savings Bonds have helped make our country strong—and have made Americans the most home-owning people in the world. I'm sure I speak for everyone concerned with the industry—the architect, builder, lender, and purchaser—when I say we endorse Savings Bonds as a sound way to have an ownership for the individual, the community, and the Nation."

Pride... Yes

Evidently a good many qualified U. S. specialists, some admittedly closely involved in our own program, refuse to be downcast over Russia's achievements in space.

Dr. Frank Press, head of the seismological laboratory at California Institute of Technology, is one such specialist.

A veteran of U. S.-Soviet talks on detection of nuclear explosions, he has visited Russian laboratories and schools and has been deeply impressed by both the scale and intensity of Moscow's scientific effort.

Yet he is firmly persuaded that since 1957, when the first Soviet sputnik soared, the United States has made great strides of its own.

Describing that development, he said it was fair to assert there has been a real resurgence in education and science among our students and scholars. "We are making healthy progress, getting into prime position, moving fast."

His observations fit well with those of others who note it inaccurate and unfair to suggest we are "dragging" in the space field.

They insist we have telescoped much crucial effort in space development and with just a little luck could by early 1962 be no more than 12 to 18 months behind the Russians—though we started at least four years late.

Without for one second downgrading Soviet achievements, particularly the lifting of a man in space, our specialists say flatly that much of what we have done in the field already is more sophisticated, more useful scientifically than many things the Russians have accomplished.

In that connection, a broad view prevails that, whatever else it may mean, Russia's success with a man in space will bring only meager scientific returns. Men here feel an electronic and mechanical payload of equal size might be far more productive.

Yet they don't suggest we set aside our space-man effort, believing with many others that it is a symbolic necessity in this age of inescapable U. S.-Soviet competition.

All this can be more than a little heartening to those who may be feeling a creeping sense of panic at Soviet progress. Few of our top men think anything is to be gained by new "crash" programs.

On the other hand they see not the smallest justification for complacency. Russia has today twice as many individuals involved in basic scientific research as does the entire Atlantic community of nations. That's a statistic to keep us on our toes for a long time to come.

Worry Clinic

CASE H-470: Harry M., aged 28, is a big strapping youth, over 6 feet tall and weighing 190. "I'm tough," he boasted when arrested for assaulting a young woman in a Chicago Park.

"They call me one-punch Harry," he stated proudly. "But he was just a yellow punk! If he was so tough, why didn't he enter our Golden Gloves tournament?"

Or go out for wrestling, football or other standard American sports that weed out the men from the boys.

No, he got the distorted idea that it was a mark of toughness for him to attack a girl whose height was 5 ft. 3 in. and who weighed only 115 lbs.

Even then, he didn't have the guts to face her, but sneaked up in the park and gave her a rabbit punch from behind.

Other punks, in such situations, even use a knife or a gun to try to intimidate their women victims—and then have the gall to think they are tough!

It is time we exposed Harry's false idea of toughness. When two prize fighters are scheduled for a world championship bout, they are compared physically, as in parallel rows of figures.

"Suppose we applied that same idea to this so-called tough one-punch Harry. Notice the result:

	Harry	The Girl
Height	6' 1"	5' 2"
Weight	190	115
Biceps	16	11
	etc.	etc.

Such a punk as Harry would then be laughed out of town, even if he had the nerve to face the girl.

Being a yellow rat, Harry even then sneaked up from behind and struck the girl without warning.

He doesn't even merit the respect of a rattlesnake, for a rattlesnake at least warns before it attacks.

Harry is like a lot of other low-I. Q. folks, however, who seem to think it is a great mark of prestige to get their pictures in the local newspaper.

"My pals will see I'm tough," Harry boasted to the police who caught him.

Maybe we should puncture this supposed "glamour" that such cowardly punks attach to their pictures and place them in the stocks, as was the smart method of our Pilgrim ancestors.

A lot of delinquency is nowadays motivated by a desire for the limelight!

The crooks have such a distorted idea they think it means they are brave if they sneak up on a child or woman and stick a knife in her back or wave a loaded gun before her face.

From Rome

Henry McLemore

ROME — I turned private eyes yesterday to find out for myself if American tourists are what they are said to be, which is noisy, complaining, full of brag, and vulgar in their display of money.

This is a good time of year for such detective work because the tourists have started to pour in, but not in such large numbers that it is impossible to "tail" one or more of them through the crowd.

(I might add that I turned detective because I, myself, am an American tourist and I wanted to find out if I was as bad as some people would make me out to be.)

The first tourists I picked up were a middle-aged man and wife, as typical Americans as you'll find in Cincinnati, Buffalo, Atlanta, or Los Angeles. I started shadowing them in St. Peter's Square, where they were admiring the obelisk, and followed them to the Pantheon, the Coliseum, and a sidewalk cafe near the Piazza Venezia.

The man wore a conservative gray suit and black shoes, not a Hawaiian sports shirt and sandals, and his wife had on what I believe is known as a skirt and blouse.

They talked in moderate tones, read their guide books without moving their lips, and after they had had their coffee left a 20 lira tip (three and a half cents) and not a ten-dollar bill.

I managed to ease close to them during their tour of the Pantheon and they made what seemed sensible, knowing remarks about the structure. Neither wondered how much it cost, or how high it was, or how easily it could be turned into a rink for an Ice Follies.

While admiring the Colosseum neither the man nor the woman said it wasn't as big as he thought it would be, or that it was a shame such a nice building got so badly bombed in the war. This last remark, by the way is often attributed to American tourists.

I did my second "tailing" on a group of what I am sure were students, ranging in age from about 18 to 20. Two boys and three girls. The girls wore sweaters and skirts. There wasn't a skin-tight pair of jeans or a pair of shorts among them. The boys wore slacks and white, button-down shirts. They had on ties, too.

I picked them up at the Trevi Fountain. They laughed a lot, and their laughs were good, solid American ones, but I saw no Italians who thought this remarkable enough to turn around and stare at them.

The youngsters went from the fountain to a pizza hole-in-the-wall and had a bubbling pizza with "the works" on it — anchovies, cheese, pimento, and salami — and an orange drink. They didn't even play the juke box that was against the wall. They paid in small, carefully counted out change, and didn't leave any tip, much less a dollar bill.

They then discussed taking a carriage ride but decided it would cost too much. I left them strolling sedately toward the American Express to pick up their mail.

I then picked up another couple and headed for the Vatican Museum but I had to leave them in the map room. My feet gave out. Besides, there was no use in following such nice, well-behaved, and sensible people.

Conclusion: American tourists are not what they are cracked up to be.

Ed Koterba's

Assignment Washington

WASHINGTON — It's been a year that correspondent Al Riley gave up smoking through hypnosis.

His case, reported here last summer, has brought this column more mail over the months than anything written before or since. People—mostly prisoners of the habit—are curious to learn about the practicality of it.

Did the distaste for smoking—created for Riley while under a hypnotic spell—actually continue through the year?

When I saw Al the other day, his cheeks were rosier than they'd been a year before. He walked with a lift. He seemed to move faster than he did a year ago.

But, most interesting of all, Al, a correspondent for the Atlanta Constitution, has not had a real desire to puff another cigarette. Riley used to smoke like a fiend—two or three packs a day. Twenty years he smoked. He went from regulars to filters, but his mouth felt just as dry and tired. So he changed to filtered-menthols. No help.

He tried giving it up on his own. In fact, his doctor had recommended it. But Al was near collapse from nervous tension after nine days.

In the meantime, he learned how another journalist stopped his four-packs-a-day habit almost overnight—through hypnosis.

The treatment was given by a psychiatrist, who put Al under a partial spell at first, then into deeper trances on subsequent visits.

Each time the doctor had Al take a whiff of a stale cigarette. He would say: "This is poison." Eventually, the odor of nicotine—or just the mention of it—made Al quiver and shake.

He hasn't touched a cigarette since. Doesn't he ever get the urge? Curiously enough, I'd given up smoking—as did the first lady of our house—two years ago, the hard way, and to this day there is still a yearning for an occasional smoke, usually after a meal. But the anxiety last but a fleeting second.

That's the way it is with Al. But it is no real yen. It leaves almost immediately. However, said Al, if he ever felt he was slipping, he'd make a return visit to the doctor for a hypnotic booster shot.

Al's taste buds, of course, have taken on a fresh acuteness. "Everything has a flavor now," he said, "even bread."

But Al did gain weight—15 pounds. A few weeks ago he stopped eating bread and dessert with his meals, and he's gone back down—in weight. But his spirits are higher than ever.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— The best advice being given to the Peace Corps now being set up in the Kennedy administration under the President's brother-in-law, R. Sargent Shriver, is to go slow the first two years, feeling the way until successful working methods are established.

Young volunteer workers must be picked with the greatest care. On top of that, supervisors must have the necessary experience to give the right kind of leadership for overseas operations.

This advice comes from the real daddy of the Peace Corps idea. If this advice is not accepted, it is predicted that the program will run into difficulties or even fail.

Just a year ago, a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, reporting on U. S. foreign aid projects, made brief mention of the exceptional work being done in the hills of Viet Nam by several young American agricultural college graduates, resettling war refugees.

"It is to such projects that the study mission gives its heartiest approval," said the report. "The American youth referred to are selected, trained and assigned by International Voluntary Services, under contract to International Cooperation Administration. They receive $60 a month, plus food, clothing and simple quarters at the site of their work. The entire project has not cost as much as one mile of superhighway."

Within a week after this report came out, Rep. Henry Reuss (D-Wis.) had an assistant in the Washington office of Dr. J. S. Noffsinger, executive director of IVS, studying his operation. A short time later Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) had a man there. The legislation which these two congressmen introduced, proposing establishment of a Peace Corps by the U. S. government, was the real start of this program.

Kennedy made a campaign speech in San Francisco, supporting the idea, but he is really a Johnny-come-lately in this field. IVS has been in it for eight years.

In 1953 Noffsinger and a small group of Americans who had wide experience in foreign missions and education came to the conclusion that, while the U. S. foreign aid programs were good, they were necessarily limited to a government-to-government approach. What was needed was a supplement or complement was something that would have direct people-to-people contacts.

In its first six years, IVS sent only 250 hand-picked people abroad for 11 projects in nine foreign countries. Having thus found out the hard way to do this job, they are now stepping up their operations.

This year they will send out 150 more volunteers. Their contracts with the U. S. International Cooperation Administration foreign aid programs now run $3.5 million a year.

But IVS finds it can send a man abroad for an average of $5,000 a year. It costs the government four times that, operating on standards that don't work as well. When an AFL-CIO representative recently said the labor organization wasn't interested in the Peace Corps unless it could send 10,000 volunteer workers abroad the first year, he was talking big, but not necessarily talking sense.

Shriver, the new Peace Corps administrator, has talked of sending from 500 to 1,000 volunteers abroad by the end of 1961. This is a more reasonable goal, but still a big undertaking.

Contrary to some assumptions, the peace corpsmen aren't going to be welcomed everywhere. They will have to be sent only where there are projects for which they have been specially trained.

LETTERS to the Editor

Editor: Referring to an article in the Sanford Herald on Friday, April 21st, reporting on the previous Longwood town council meetings:

Why didn't chairman R. C. Carlson and Mayor, realtor and former candidate for County Commission, Al Lormann explain to their people that their problems of city streets and city drainage ditches is their's and not the county's?

Or the real reason for the county's participation in paying Church St. and Wildmer Ave. and "trying since 1950 to get the county's participation in paving Orange Ave.?" Or which streets would be next on the list?

Why didn't they tell them that each year one-half of the Road and Bridge Fund county tax (less than one-fifth of the total tax) collected within a municipality is paid back in one lump sum to the municipality, "for use in maintenance of city streets" as required by law?

Or that the remaining half is to be used outside municipalities for "county purposes" also required by law?

Last year the above one-half referred to was in the following amounts:

Sanford—$29,323.30; Oviedo—$2,267.57; Longwood—$3,253.01; Altamonte Springs—$1,523.16 and Casselberry—$4,907.83.

This was collected on a 2 mill levy for 1950 tax. Some increase of the above return should be expected for the year from the 1960 taxes, due to new construction or annexation, even though the millage was reduced to 1.87 mills.

As to Mayor Lormann's reference to the extension of Wildmer "time after time and got nothing but promises." Commission minutes show that I received the board approval on this project on Oct. 29, 1959.

Promises are all that will be received on many other requested projects, until the board adopts a more PLANNED, ORGANIZED-COORDINATED AND SCHEDULED PROGRAM.

This has been strongly advocated and requested by me on many occasions during the past two years. However, Wildmer's extension to 17-92 was started under reconstruction yesterday.

 COUNTY SEAT TALLAHASSEE

Leon County, located in Northwest Florida, was formed in 1824 and named for the Spanish explorer, Ponce de Leon. The capital of the Apalachee Indian nation was located here when Hernando De Soto visited the area in 1539.

The town of Tallahassee was established by Seminole Indians, and in 1823, two years after the United States took possession of Florida, it was selected as the state capital. Today it is the seat of government for the great state of Florida and is the site of two large state educational institutions.

In progressive Leon County, and throughout Florida, the United States Brewers Association works constantly to maintain the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interest of the people of Florida, the Association stresses close cooperation with the Armed Forces, law enforcement and governing officials.

Babe Ruth Loop To Begin Play Monday

The Babe Ruth League's inaugural games will be played on the Memorial field diamonds south of Eighth St. Monday at 8:00 p. m. Kiwanis will be opposed by Lake Mary in one tilt while Civitan and Oviedo will tangle in the other.

The season will close July 14 under a schedule adopted by the managers at a meeting held at the Civic Center with Pres. George Touby and Director Buck Meils in charge.

The boys who have been selected for the teams include those who are still under 15 years of age and were on the roster last year and others to make up a squad of 15 selected at a draft session held previously. Birth certificates must be in the office by May 15.

The eight teams sponsored by Kiwanis, Lake Mary, Civitan, Oviedo, CPO, Rotary, Elks, Shrine will be divided into two leagues of four teams each, thus qualifying two all-star clubs for state tournament play. During the season, however, the lines will meet each other three times.

The schedule for the first week: May 1, Kiwanis-Lake Mary; Civitan-Oviedo; May 2, CPO-Rotary; May 3, Civitan-Elks; Shrine-Shrine; May 4, Oviedo-Shrine; May 5, CPO Kiwanis; Lake Mary-Elks.

Palatka Suffers First FSL Loss

By United Press International Orlando dealt Palatka its first loss of the Infant Florida State League season Wednesday night with a 1-5 drubbing at Orlando.

A six-run outburst in the seventh inning sewed up the game for Orlando. The big blow was a bases-loaded double by centerfielder Fred Lawhon that broke a 3-3 tie.

The win kept Orlando in a third place tie with Tampa, which whipped cellar-dwelling Sarasota 4-1. Third baseman Marty Rossell paced Tampa's attack with three singles good for a pair of runs.

Leesburg dropped to sixth place by dropping a doubleheader. Daytona Beach scored 13 runs in the first inning enroute to a 17-5 victory and St. Petersburg took the second game 7-1.

A total of 18 Daytona players went to bat in the first inning of the first game as Leesburg tried three pitchers. In the second game, St. Petersburg scored five runs in the first three innings and coasted the rest of the way.

Kipp Named Kegler Loop President

More than 14 couples met Friday at the Jet Lanes for a familiarization night during which time they were introduced to one another and plans were made for the coming summer league.

An election of officers was held and Mrs. Marjorie Kipp was elected president, with Hal Mallo, vice-president and Dick Richards secretary-treasurer.

The league will officially begin on May 5 and continue through the month of August.

Hornsby Marks Birthday; Gets New Assignment

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rogers Hornsby briefly observed his 68th birthday today and packed his bags for an eastern trip to discuss his new assignment as scout for the New York National League baseball team.

"I suppose you fellows will be calling this a return to baseball for me, or something like that," said the great Hall of Fame hitter, who has no plans for collecting Social Security benefits.

Arnold Palmer Opens Defense Of Rugged Texas Golf Crown

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Back in 1928-29, when the Texas Open was in the early years of its 40-year history, a gent named Wild Bill Methorn put championships back to back. No one has been able to turn the trick since.

Many have tried, including such illustrious names over the past two decades as Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Sam Snead, Dutch Harrison, Lawson Little, Chick Harbert, Porky Oliver, Jackie Burke, Mike Souchak and Jay Hebert.

Now, another of the "name players" is getting a run at the task today as 1960 golfer of the year Arnold Palmer opens defense of his Texas Open crown.

Palmer won here a year ago to start his string of three straight tourney titles en route to the greatest money winning season any pro ever had.

One of his chief rivals here—and the man considered most likely to snuff out Palmer's repeat hopes — is Gary Player, who has been even more successful at raking in the golden chips this year than was Palmer at this stage of the 1960 tour. To date, Player has collected $45,385 to Palmer's $32,925 this season.

Palmer and Player ranked as co-favorites here, although they both finished in a five-way tie for ninth place at Houston last weekend when Ken Venturi and Jay Hebert stole the spotlight by tying for the lead. Hebert went on to win in a 18-hole playoff.

In addition to Player, Venturi and Hebert, Palmer's list of rivals here is the gauntlet in many years for the $30,000 Texas Open which launched the so-called winter tour back in 1922.

Located east of Highway 17-92, on Shepard Road, the new layout is one of the most complete in the Southeast, comprising three separate circuits, 14, 2/10 and 2/10 mile lengths. The latter two can be combined to form the only half mile road course in Florida.

The track consists of 14 unbanked turns which lead into 10 straightaways ranging in length from 80 feet to 275 feet. The last named enters a tricky chicane and then goes into another straight of 175 feet before entering the north-west turn. On this stretch the big G class karts reach 70 mph.

Among the leading attractions Sunday afternoon will be a feature race between factory teams, who will come from all over the country to demonstrate the speed and handling qualities of their karts as driven by experts.

NFL Starts New Disaster Plan For '61

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—With a rich TV contract in its pocket, money in the bank and millions of dollars worth of player contracts on file, the National Football League today completes plans on a new "disaster plan" to protect its investment in case of an emergency.

Executives of the 14 clubs in the NFL expect to complete plans on a program to cover any emergency that might come as the result of a plane crash, hotel fire, etc., that might wipe out the player personnel of one team.

The club leaders worked on the problem for a while Wednesday after first signing a $4,650,000 per year TV contract with the CBS-TV.

The contract, considered one of the richest ever signed in sports, is for a two-year period and will pay each of the 14 teams more than $300,000 per year for the televising of all games.

"It's a complicated set-up," said Bill MacPhail, vice president in charge of sports for CBS-TV. "We'll be televising seven games at the same time from seven different cities each weekend. Each NFL city will be receiving its own away-from-home games."

misguided multi-millionaire who was supposed to have gummied up the whole works for the Chicago Cubs.

Sure it's still early yet and a lot of things can happen between now and Oct. 1, but all those experts who predicted doom for the Cubs after Wrigley introduced his "no-manager plan" can chew some of these facts awhile:

—The Cubs are only 1 1/2 games out of first place.

—They have, in reliever Don Elyson, the pitcher with the best record in the major leagues (4-0).

—And in little Don Zimmer, they have suddenly discovered not only a long-sought "take charge" guy but also a long-ball threat with a newly found faculty for breaking up extra-inning games.

Zimmer did just that Wednesday, enabling new manager Harry Craft to break in with a victory after taking over for Vedic Himsel in Wrigley's novel set-up of using one coach as a manager for a while and then another.

Zimmer picked on a three-and-two pitch with one out in the 10th inning and smashed it over the left field screen at Wrigley Field to beat the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2.

Jim Maloney was the victim of Zimmer's wallop.

Only last Saturday, Zimmer brought the Cubs a 6-4 victory over the Phillies with an 11th-inning homer.

Elyson picked up his fourth straight victory when he took over for starter Glen Hobbie in the 10th and held the Reds hitless. Elyson has appeared in five games so far and hasn't given up an earned run yet.

San Francisco retained the National League lead with a 6-5 triumph over Los Angeles, while Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia, 3-2, and Milwaukee downed St. Louis, 8-1.

In the American League, the New York Yankees ended Detroit's eight-game winning streak, 13-11, in 10 innings; Cleveland beat Baltimore, 6-3, and Washington nipped Boston, 2-1, in the only other game scheduled.

Errors by Wally Moon and Maury Wills helped the Giants to three unearned runs in a four-run eighth inning.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell scored his second victory for the Pirates by holding the Phillies to eight hits and striking out seven.

Hank Aaron drove in three runs with as many hits for the Braves and John Dameron and Roy McMillan each contributed home runs in the victory over the Cardinals.

The Tigers retired Mickey Mantle his first four times up but he ruined them after that. In his fifth trip to the plate in the eighth inning Mantle, batting lefthanded against rookie right-hander Jim Donohue, slammed a two-run homer to tie the score at 11-all.

Then won the game in the 10th when he rocketed another two-run homer off southpaw Hank Aguirre while batting righthanded. The homers were his sixth and seventh.

An error by Baltimore first baseman Jim Gentile set up three unearned runs for Cleveland in the fourth inning and decided the ball game right then and there. The Orioles had a 3-1 lead until then.

Three ex-teammates did the Red Sox dirt in their loss to the Senators. Willie Tasby singled home the winning run for Washington, winning pitcher Tom Sturdivant limited Boston to three hits in 7 1/3 innings and reliever Dave Sisler held the Red Sox hitless over the final 1 2/3 innings.

HODGES BRINGS BOOM, NO TAX BOOST TO N. C.
Governor Luther Hodges of North Carolina, probably the next Secretary of Commerce, has given his state prosperity and higher education standards without an increase in taxes, the December Readers' Digest reports.

North Carolina now leads the Southern states in new capital investment by a large margin. Expenditures on education at all levels from primary grades through college level have doubled in the past decade; welfare services have increased 125 percent. Much of the state's debt has been paid off. And it all was accomplished without a tax increase, because growing prosperity has rapidly expanded state revenues.

Miss June Wester, 14 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wester of 2012 Palmetto Ave., is the latest student to win distinction. She won the top award for the best essay on safety in the State of Florida!

June is a ninth grade student of Mr. Flowers English class, which entered the state competition. She moved to Sanford in February from Chicago, Ill., but she was born and spent her early years in Orlando.

She received a letter from the Director of Public Safety, Edward Lawson of the State Highway Safety Commission, with a request to appear before the state legislature on April 21 to receive her awards and honors.

However, she was not able to go, so the awards, a $100 savings bond, a gold plaque and a certificate were sent to her in the mail and the announcement of her winning was made to the legislature.

The best guarantee against moth damage, according to home economists is cleanliness. If wool clothes have been washed or dry cleaned recently, put them in a clothes dryer to be tumbled with fresh air. HOW HOT IS HOT WATER?
The most important factor in removing dirt from clothes is hot water. Experts say that having the right water temperature is more important than using generous amounts of laundry products and water conditioners. For best results the water should be 120 to 160 degrees in the automatic washing machine. Modern water heaters have a temperature control dial that can be turned to these temperature levels on wash days.

New Baby Fashions By Young Designers

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Once a career woman, always a career woman. Or, so it would seem in the case of three young women who had successful jobs, quit to marry and start families, became bored with the "just a housewife" role, and pooled their talents to form a fashion manufacturing concern.

They specialize in boutique items for babies — "Grandma bait," as some retailers call these specialties. And for whom else, when among the three there are five small children?

The women are Patricia Perry and Evelyn Robbins, both of Manhattan, and Jane Darby of Westbury, N. Y., a suburb. Six months ago, the three — all in their 30's — decided to penetrate the booming baby market with items which were useful, and still fetching to the eye.

The first design was a reversible carriage cover and pillow case of serise velvet. Mrs. Robbins, wife of a publishing house editor, took the sample to the buyer of a New York specialty shop. It became one of the store's best selling Christmas items.

So far, the three-way partnership operates from the residences of the women. Mrs. Robbins, who has worked in advertising and as an editor of women's magazines, does some of the fabric shopping and most of the selling.

Chicken Becomes
Most Popular
Barbecue Meat

A presidential election year provides a good opportunity to take a look at barbecuing, because barbecuing became an American institution as an adjunct to political gatherings. Describing the situation at the end of the last century, Harper's Weekly observed that many people would consider it the duty of a man in a political year "to holler right, vote straight and eat as much barbecue as any other man in the country."

While the political barbecue, which attracted hundreds of people, has not completely passed from the scene, the small-scale, or family, barbecue has overtaken and outdistanced it as a popular diversion.

There has been another important change, too. Formerly, beef, lamb, and pork were the favored meats for barbecuing. Now, chicken leads the parade to such an extent that a barbecue is more often than not a Chick-N-Que.

People have discovered that a chicken can be more easily divided into serving pieces and more easily consumed outdoors than any other main dish. It requires no carving; nor does it require knives and forks. Eating outdoors invites informality and puts eating with the fingers well within the ground rules of etiquette.

Barbecue sauces, though remarkably numerous, have the same basic point of departure and begin with a combination of corn oil and vinegar or lemon juice. There are conservative and radical schools of spice, varying from plain salt and pepper to a fiery mixture of every hot condiment obtainable. But the chicken, ever an obliging bird, is amenable to all shades of sauce from tomato red to molasses brown and cool to flaming hot.

PUDDING AND PIE TIP
Mixes for pudding and pie fillings must be cooked to a full boil over a high flame. If the boiling point is not reached they will not thicken as they should. Home economists suggest cooking directly over the flame in a saucepan rather than a double boiler. When bubbles break over the surface, or a giant bubble appears in the center of the pan, the boiling point has been reached. This takes only five minutes in flame cookery.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when a boy calls you his "buddy" but you want to be closer than that?

This boy calls me almost every night. He always tells me his troubles and asks my advice. But when a school dance or something like that comes along, he always asks another girl to go. What should I do?

ONLY A BUDDY

DEAR "BUDDY": Rarely does a romance bud between a young man and the girl he calls his "buddy." Accept the probability that this boy likes you like a "sister," and don't hope for anything more. Don't drop him because the more "buddies" a girl has, the better her chances are for a boy friend. Every buddy has a buddy, and one of these buddies can become your beau!

DEAR ABBY: After 8 months of marriage I am seriously considering filing for divorce, but I want to know if you think I am right.

My husband was married before and has a ten-year-old son. The child lives with his mother. She refuses to accept the fact that she is no longer married to the boy's father. She will call here during the week to tell my husband that "Billy talked back" or "Billy said a naughty word." It seems to me that she should be able to handle these trivial matters herself.

Then, too, my husband goes to his ex-wife's apartment every Sunday to see the boy. He spends the entire day there, takes them to dinner, and comes home very late. All this time I sit alone, burning. I just can't take it any more. Is my marriage worth fighting for? SECOND WIFE

DEAR SECOND WIFE: Why not ask your husband of eight months if he wants to go back to his first wife and son? Tell him why you ask, and be kindly about it if you can. Don't be bitter or resentful. The gravitational pull of a child is very strong, as it should be.

DEAR ABBY: My husband wrote me a letter from the Hawaiian Islands, where he is stationed. He said all the women there had "moo moos" and he was bringing one home for me. It that some sort of PETTY CHIEF'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: No, it is a loose-fitting ladies' garment. And if the fad continues to spread, so will the ladies.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that "let idiots marry idiots" idiot to be certain to follow his own advice and marry another idiot. I hope she turns out to be a "yeaser" like his mother, as it's quite apparent he's like his father and needs someone to make him feel like a "big man." C. K.

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet

By analyzing patients' voices through special tape recordings a psychiatrist has found that there are four different types.

They are: "sharp," "hollow," "flat," and "robust." The sharp voice, I'm sorry to report came mostly from adult women.

That's not really surprising, however. Just consider the way in which women sharpen their voices.

They let them grow sharp with children. Sometimes it seems that the harder they try to be reasonable and logical with sis or junior, the sharper their voices get.

Some women sharpen their voices on their husbands, too. Men call this "nagging." Nagging isn't what a woman says, but the tone of voice she uses. The words can be sweetly reasonable, but if the voice is sharp the woman is nagging, so far as a man is concerned.

Some women sharpen their voices in being overly critical of everything and everybody. Just listen to the sound of a woman when she's complaining about anything or pointing out flaws in another woman. You'll notice a not-so-nice cutting edge that makes words sound harsher than they are.

The trouble is, though we dislike sharp voices in others we forget to listen to the sound of our own voice. Unchecked, it grows sharper and sharper.

It's not enough to listen to others. We women ought to listen to ourselves—not just to the words, but to the tone of voice we use habitually.

Westerns Are Tall Gals' Dish It Seems

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — We have with us today Miss Joan Shawlee who would like to take the stand and testify that TV westerns were not created just to serve as robot baby sitters to keep dad and the kids out of mischief while ma's in the kitchen. The TV western, insists Joan, is also a convenient device to improve the lot of shapely, king-size actresses.

Joan is shapely and king-size, standing 6 feet with heels, and when she first arrived in Hollywood there was hardly a leading man around tall enough to put an arm around her.

"One look at me," Joan kids, "and actors would start yelling, 'Take me to your ladder.' For a long time it practically ruined my career as an actress."

Then the Tall Men came to the TV west—men Joan could look up to. She had to stand on tiptoes to kiss 6 foot 8 Chuck

Connors as "The Lonesome Bride" in "The Rifleman" episode May 2 on ABC-TV and she says:

"I almost swooned with joy. The crew thought I'd flipped my lid. They didn't know how many times I'd lost roles because I would have looked silly leaning over and kissing the hero on top of his head."

It was a problem for Joan the day she arrived in Hollywood as a Broadway show girl signed for movie roles by Universal.

"No wonder the studio didn't know what to do with me. In my first movie the leading man had to stand on a box to put us at eye level."

Joan then decided maybe she'd have better luck with television, which at the time still hadn't gone western. TV producers were just as baffled by tall girls as were movie producers.

"All of them," says Joan, "had the same brilliant idea. Put a tall girl with a comedian and you've got a laugh."

The first time she worked with a comedian the audience laughed but Joan didn't. The late Lou Costello shoved a pie into her face. She played it so straight she was typed and worked with practically every top comic in the business.

She stood straight—and tall—for Bob Hope, Dean Martin, Jerry Lewis, Mickey Rooney, Danny Thomas, Eddie Cantor, Paul Gilbert and others.

"I just stood around while they made jokes," Joan tells it. "All of a sudden I had a reputation as a comedienne."

As a comedienne she won some good movie roles—the office phone girl who does a Christmas party strip tease in "The Apartment" and the big blonde bandleader in "Some Like It Hot."

"I was resigned to my fate, I thought," she says. "Romance wasn't for me. I even thought I was happy just because I was working."

Then the tall men came to TV westerns — and Joan's career started looking up.

"The Lonesome Bride" opposite Connors is her best romantic role to date. She was the only girl in Hollywood tall enough for the role, her agent pointed out when she won the part.

"I could have kissed him," says Joan, "but I didn't. After all, he's only five feet four." After all, who wants to lean over to kiss a hero on the top of his head?

The angler's custom of spitting on bait may really help him catch fish. Studies have shown that human saliva stimulates the taste buds of some fish.

TV Key Previews

Thursday's top television shows as previewed and selected by TV Key's staff of experts who attend rehearsals, watch screenings, and analyze scripts in New York and Hollywood.

Summer Sports Spectacular. (premiere)—"All Star Figure Skating Tribute." For its opening performance, this hour-long series on sports recalls the brilliance of the team of U. S. skaters who lost their lives in the plane crash last February, and honors their memory of the skates of their fellow champions.

The highlight of the show is a tribute by Jon Jackson of Canada with his version of "Rhapsody in Blue" on ice. Also numbers by former American champion Dick Hutton, and current olympic champion David Jenkins, plus a tribute by President Kennedy read by his brother Edward. 7:30 p. m. CBS.

Family classics.—"Jane Eyre." Michael Dyne's adaptation of Charlotte Bronte's deeply moving novel about a strange and tortured love, tries to be true to the over-all spirit of the tale even if it can't rise above its bare outlines. There's so much plot involved in the story of the orphaned governess who falls in love with her wealthy but doomed employer, that most of the hour is spent on action rather than character development. If, however, you happen to have missed this tale in book, movie or stage form, Sally Ann Howes and Zachary Scott will probably hold your attention tonight. 9:00 p. m. CBS.

My Three Sons.—"The National Pastime." Cute show. Chip is a flop at baseball, so all the members of his family become coaches. He finally gets back on the team and the big game at the end is adorable since his father is its umpire. 9:00 p. m. ABS.

Ernie Ford—Second Banana. Joe Flynn plays an army psychiatrist and gets some big laughs from the Army audience. Flynn pokes fun at the new Army Fitness Program, and Ford sings

"Sleepy-eyed John" and the hymn, "God Dips His Fingers In The Water." (color) 9:30 p. m. NBC.

The Untouchables.—"Death for Sale." Interesting character study about a brash young punk who has made the big time and is pushing dope. Young James MacArthur does a fine job as the cocky kid and fans will want Elliot Ness to get him quickly. Elliot doesn't, so the whole show holds up nicely. A good production, as usual, and not too much violence. 9:30 p. m. ABC.

CBS Reports—"Why Man In Space?" The title of this report is more than just a heading, it's the essence of the study it sets out to make. Through conversations with a group of top scientists engaged in the exploration of space, you'll hear of the program behind the ten-year program being outlined by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. You'll see the vehicles and instruments by which they hope to fathom the surface of the moon, Venus Mars and Jupiter; hear a debate on the advisability of using instruments alone or using men as well; and listen to discussions of the long-range values a long-term space program may have for mankind. 10 p. m. CBS.

Close-Up—"C'est La Guerre." Taken as an isolated incident in the war in Algeria that makes no attempt at discussing the war as a whole, this is an extraordinary picture of a single operation of an FLN Rebel Patrol. The films are the real thing taken in action, and the efficiency, dedication, organization, and determination with which this guerrilla band goes its quiet methodical way toward achieving its end of freeing a group of refugees from their "enemy," makes this a half hour of grim reality. 10:30 ABS.

Let's Dance

NEW YORK (UPI) — The latest rival of the mambo and the cha-cha is called the "pachanga", according to Latin American dance enthusiasts who saw it introduced recently in New York. The dance involves swaying, hopping and something that neither of its predecessors did—the furious manipulation of handkerchiefs. The pachanga, sometimes called the charanga, after the musical tempo, has been described as the nearest thing to a cross between the cha-cha and the charleston. It involves less physical exertion than the mam-

County Asks Cost Estimates On Roads

The County Commission has authorized cost estimates on a joint participation basis on roads in Longwood, Casselberry and Oviedo.

The roads are Winter Park Drive in Casselberry, the access road to the Jackson Heights school at Oviedo and Orange Ave. in Longwood.

District 3 County Commissioner James P. Avery urged the board Tuesday on the need to pave Orange Ave. because "it is a dangerous traffic and safety hazard." He explained that the main burden of the cost will be borne by the city of Longwood and the county school board.

The board asked Avery to bring up the matter next week but authorized County Engineer Carlton Bliss to come up with cost estimates on what the county's share of labor would be.

Graham Wilson, chairman of the Casselberry Road Committee, appeared before the commission and said that a previous commission had committed itself to the paving of Winter Park Drive.

However, District 4 Commissioner Vernon Dunn opposed the joint participation plan with the contention "If you approve one job, what about other cities?"

District 2 Commissioner Ted Williams said he would go along with these two projects if the board would also consider the access road to the Oviedo Negro school.

The board agreed to get cost estimates on all three jobs.

Lyman School To Begin Experimental Program

By JULIA WELLS

A Seminole County School next term will begin an experimental project aimed at keeping pace with the nation's growing demands for an accelerated teaching program handling more and more pupils each year.

Ralph Diggs, principal of Lyman High, has announced that his school will conduct the first Mass Instruction Classes in this county in its seventh and eighth grade social studies courses. He says that a number of schools have been trying the method which has as many as 150 students attending a class at one time. The social studies departments were chosen, he said, because in this subject, the progress rate is more nearly the same for all students.

Utilizing the frequently unused auditorium, equipment costs for instituting this new form of teaching have been set at approximately $2,500. Included in the necessary purchases will be an overhead projector, an opaque projector, a 16 mm projector, film strips and accompanying paper supplies.

The overhead projector reproduces subjected material to a mammoth screen on the platform with the teacher who uses it much as today's classroom blackboard is used. Controlled by the touch of a button, it can serve a variety of demonstration purposes.

The opaque projector shows on the screen, several times magnified, any subject matter introduced under its lens.

Other equipment is standard in most classrooms today.

Supt. of Schools R. T. Milwee says that another advantage of the program is its adaptability to include educational television.

Diggs, who attended a recent conference in Melbourne on the mass method, says "really, it's nothing new... the Army has used it successfully for years."

On the school level, the program will employ one fully qualified teacher with two adult aides for each class. By utilizing the now unused space throughout the entire school day, a teacher can handle the increase in students for which four-and-one-half new classrooms would be needed. Estimated cost for building a single new classroom is set at $10,000.

Anticipating parents' concern over lack of individual attention and student discipline, the principal says that tests have proven there actually is more opportunity

Chuluota Legion Holds Election, Gets New Members

George Packard was elected commander of the Chuluota American Legion George M. Jacobs Memorial Post 225, at a meeting on April 19.

Other officers named were C. R. Pentz, first vice commander; Robert Boyle, second vice commander; Rev. Charles Swaggerty, chaplain; Hal Barton, finance officer; Vincent Chambers, sergeant at arms; L. Executive committee members include Dan Brooks, George C. Madden, Mr. Rieps, William Stiver, Packard, Pentz, Boyle and Swaggerty.

New members joining the Post during the month were Robert Johnston, George Boulden, William Stiver, Otto Woods and Lonnie Harris.

Pentz and William Stoits received 15 year stars this month and plans were made for another Post barbecue to be held June 25 with Pentz again made chairman of a committee to plan the event.

A $50 check was accepted, with appreciation, from the Chuluota Women's Club and will be used for purchase of a Legion flag.

Members voted to give meritorious service awards to a member of the Little League team each week during the playing season with the players making the selections.

Recognition was given Bob Boyle who has donated frames, charters and awards for Post use.

Lyman Appoints Majorette Corps

Lyman High Majorettes for the next school term have been appointed by instructor Michael Fisher.

Heading the group will be Barbara Diggs and members of the regular corps will be Jilly Gamage, Gail Chandler, Eileen Kler, Sandra Howe, Sylvia Chambers, Sharon Smith, Judy Lambert, Dicki Christensen, Sara Reid, Lawrence Deans, Jackie Atchison and Kathleen Sundy.

Alternates are Noreen Simano, Nancy Copeland, Diana Keene, Jeannette Harmon, Jane Kent and Kay Fisher.

Of the 12 regulars, six will be flag majorettes.

Both Junior and Senior Band members will participate in the Armed Forces Day Parade in Sanford.

Lyman Seniors Plan Annual Trip

Lyman High Seniors will travel by Greyhound Scenicrider to Silver Springs on May 22 for their annual class trip.

Individual costs will cover all attractions and swimming charges with the buses and lunches to be paid from the class treasury.

Chaperoning the group will be Mrs. Simpkins, Mrs. Landerville, Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. Layer, Mrs. Gilpin and Principal Ralph Diggs.

Geneva Society Plans Annual Picnic, Meeting

Former residents of Geneva, Fla., with the report of the nominating committee, election and installation of officers. Committee reports and other orders of business will be followed by a program of film strips taken at the past meeting of the Society which was formed last year.

The festivities begin at noon May 6 with a picnic lunch and fish fry in Fort Lane Park at Lake Harney. The old-fashioned ways will prevail as members and visitors bring all sorts of delicious food in baskets and drink from an old-fashioned lemonade barrel.

After the feasting, entertainment will be provided by the newly organized Geneva Band under the direction of Director W. L. Seig.

Saturday at 7:30 p. m. the Society will have its annual business meeting at the Community

Babe Ruth Parents Meet In Longwood

Parents of Longwood's Babe Ruth Baseball Team met at Shadydale Park to plan the season's activity last Thursday.

Russell Grant, president of the parent's association, informed the group that all games will be played in Winter Park and that the local team will participate in the Winter Park League.

Coaching the boys will be Walt Dururus of Lyman High.

Mrs. D. D. Smith, elected secretary-treasurer of the association, reports that an outstanding $40 debt exists and that the group needs at least $150 to purchase equipment.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Job Well Done

One group that usually gets little notice in the county is the 4-H club girls. But last week the girls participated in a county dress review and girls from South Seminole and Sanford will now compete in the state review in Tallahassee in June.

We compliment these girls who did such an outstanding job, including Barbara Kanner of the Sanford Club, Carla Lommler of the Longwood Club, Mary Hampton of the Lake Mary Club and Linda Mitchell, club at large.

We hope they will continue their good job and make us all proud of them in the state contest.

Survival Course Set For Altamonte

The final Personal Survival Course to be conducted this term for Altamonte Springs residents will begin at the school Tuesday.

Four consecutive meetings, from 7 p. m. until 10 p. m. on Tuesday of each week, will be conducted by instructor Tom Richaw.

All persons interested in registering for the course are requested to contact Mrs. Charles Pasternack at TR 8-4641 or at ME 4-6564 by Friday.

South Seminole Chamber Plans Are Underway

Plans are underway to organize a South Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, Longwood Mayor A. R. Lormann said today.

Lormann said a special committee is working on plans to hold the first organizational meeting of the group.

The committee is comprised of Lormann, Mayor Wilber Hawkins of Altamonte Springs and Ruth Hamilton of Longwood.

The chamber would be made up of representation from Longwood, North Orlando, Casselberry, Altamonte Springs, Fern Park and parts of Maitland.

Lormann said the group hopes to ask the County Commission to help finance its work, with the rest of the funds to come from memberships and donations.

The main purpose of the chamber will be to promote commercial industry, Lormann said.

Mize To Discuss Juvenile Problems At Casselberry Club

County Judge Vernon Mize Jr. will discuss South Seminole County's juvenile problems at a meeting scheduled in the Casselberry Women's Club Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Betty McCord, Women's Club president, says "Every parent should hear this enlightening talk and lend hand and heart in supporting Judge Mize and his staff in their program to curb the problem."

She requests that all club and organization leaders urge their members to attend the open meeting.

Lyman Beta Club Convention Bound

Twenty-seven of 28 Lyman Beta Club members will attend the annual Beta Convention in Jacksonville on Friday and Saturday.

Leaving the school at 1:30 p. m. Friday by car for Jacksonville, the group will stay at the George Washington Hotel there.

Business sessions are scheduled for Friday night and Saturday afternoon and on Saturday night the annual Beta Ball is the big event. Members will return home on Sunday.

Making the trip will be Alice Ann Hull, Camilla Kirkland, Gail Lovelace, Bill Maher, Kaye Clark, Eddie Spelman, Pam Stebbins, Adrien Wahlbert, Betty Wayne, Judy Petroskii.

Paula Andrews, David Blanchard, Sharon Clingan, Sharon Hardesty, Thomas Heuring, Darlene Shea, Faye Jones, Betty Newman, Patricia Walsh, Irene Deak, Carol Dorothy, Betty Field, David House, Virginia Humes, Gilda Pettinati, Sandra Unley and Lynett Werner.

Unable to attend the convention is Wanda Gaddie.

Scout Mothers Honored At Coffee

Mothers of North Orlando Girl Scouts were honored at a coffee recently by Patrol Leader Mrs. J. D. Grinstead.

Following personal introductions from each mother present, Mrs. Nance Russell, leader of Troop 338, spoke on the importance of having a troop in the community.

She explained that help from parents is needed in order for the girls to fulfill their duty requirements and received offers of future assistance when needed.

She also explained that the group, still a patrol of Longwood Troop 338 would remain in this category until next October when a new troop of the North Orlando girls will be formed. Membership is open to girls from 10 to 18 years of age and weekly meetings are held with Mrs. Grinstead on Wednesdays at 4:30 p. m.

Upon completion of Mrs. Russell's talk, hot coffee, cake, coffee and soft drinks were served by the hostess.

Mothers attending were Mrs. Robert Derum, Mrs. Robert Dean, Mrs. Glenn Atchison, Mrs. Robert Davis, Mrs. W. W. Anderson and Mrs. Frank Bailey.

85 Attend Teenage Hop

By MONA GRINSTEAD

The second Teenage Hop, under auspices of the North Orlando Catholic Women's Society, was attended by more than 85 young people of the community last Saturday.

Another is planned this Saturday from 7:30 p. m. until 11 p. m. in front of the Village Hall on Fairfax Ave.

Mrs. Leo Ginchreau, Mrs. George Sommers and Mrs. E. D. Jones, members of the Society committee who plan the dances, say there is a need for volunteer chaperones. Parents also are invited to attend and lend assistance and Police Officer Jack Sutton is present on a standby basis.

If sufficient interest continues, the Hop will be a weekly event, committee members say. A small admission is charged and refreshments are sold to help defray expenses. Dancing is done to recorded music.

Longwood Tax Bill Mailing Set

Mrs. Ounie R. Rockett, Longwood town clerk, advised residents at a public hearing on property owners' tax assessments for paving of Wilma, Palmetto and Grant streets that their tax bills would be in the mail by May 15.

Under the payment plan called for in the original paving resolution, full cash payments will be due within 30 days after bills are mailed.

Residents preferring the interest bearing deferred payment plan will have one year from the mailing date before their first payment is due.

Paving on the three streets was completed last summer.

New Directory Set For Casselberry

Casselberry Volunteer Fire (Chief Paul) Bates announced today that the department members have completed plans to publish a new residential directory for the town.

Firemen estimate that the book, when completed, will prove Casselberry to be the fastest growing community in South Seminole County and say that the directory will contain about 40 pages.

Included will be an alphabetical listing of all families living in the town and listing of all streets and their boundaries plus directions for locating them, Bates said. It also will contain a listing of all house numbers and residents of each.

He estimates that the directory, expected to be completed in May, will save much time and labor in making merchandise deliveries and will assist tourists and relatives in locating residents.

Millions Lost In Cape Jobs, Probers Find

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators said today the Air Force could save $3 million by having plugs stuck on electric cords at the factory instead of letting workers do it at missile sites.

But workers at Cape Canaveral and other missile bases have walked out when such equipment was used, resulting in heavy overtime bills.

The Senate investigations subcommittee today called spokesmen for several unions at Cape Canaveral to answer contractors' charges that the workers refuse to turn out eight hours of work a day.

According to previous testimony, they make so much overtime that they occasionally earn more money in a week than Cabinet officials.

The subcommittee's staff presented an estimate that more economical factory terminations for electric cables would save nearly $250,000 at each of the 12 proposed Titan missile squadrons. Each missile has thousands of the soldered connections in its many plugs.

Dry Spell Taking Serious Toll On County Groves

County Agent Cecil Tucker said today that approximately five percent of the county's $4 million citrus crop has wilted because of the dry weather and reported that growers in South Seminole have already started irrigating their groves to prevent heavy damages.

Tucker called the situation "serious" and urged all growers to take the proper precautions to see that their groves are watered.

At the same time, forest rangers in the south end of the county have been on alert through the driest April since the early 1940s.

Some citrus from next season's crop is dropping from the trees because of the drought. The dropping is not extensive yet but is increasing as the dry spell hangs on.

The forestry service reported that dry weather is increasing the danger of fires. Already, fires are above average for this time of year. An average of one fire per day was reported.

Civilians Mark 3rd Anniversary

"History is a moving force, part of today and tomorrow," said president-elect John Brunley, of the Sanford Civilians Club, in opening his speech to Civilians and honored guests at their birthday celebration Thursday at the Sea Shell Restaurant.

In listing the aims and objectives of the organization for the next year, Brunley said that the history of the group had been one of service to the community and to groups which needed help. He said that Civilians plan to continue, enlarge and promote their Citizenship Essay Contest, to help youth to understand what it means to be a good citizen.

He spoke of the School for Mentally Retarded Children which Civilians has helped back and promote and urged other club and organizations whose presidents were present to consider lending their moral and financial support to this needed program.

La. Gov. Gene Kissam spoke to the club and commended them for their enthusiasm and hard work, and outlined a brief history of Civilians which is celebrating their 41st anniversary, along with the local clubs' third anniversary.

Castro Willing To Seek Settlement With U. S.

MIAMI (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime said today it is willing to seek a negotiated settlement of its differences with the United States despite what it called U. S. plans for "direct armed aggression" against Cuba.

Radio Havana said President Osvaldo Dorticos handed the latest Castro charge of "U. S. aggression" to foreign diplomats summoned from their beds to a pre-dawn meeting at his official residence.

The broadcast said that Dorticos made the charge through diplomatic channels because of the "exceptional and dramatic circumstances."

Dorticos said the Castro regime is willing to try to negotiate a settlement with the United States "but we will fight . . . to the last drop of our blood if they attack us," the radio reported.

The broadcast quoted a note signed by Castro and Dorticos citing "American press reports" as the basis for the charge that the "ruling circles of the United States" are openly preparing for war against Cuba.

It mentioned reports of U. S. "consultations and soundings" of other Latin American nations for "seeking aid for direct armed action against our country."

The broadcast charged that last week's invasion of Cuba by anti-Castro refugees was "organized, equipped, directed and militarily aided by the government of the U.S.A."

No Politics In Plan, Commissioner Says

County Commissioner James P. Avery today said that politics will never have any bearing on any proposed redistricting movement in Seminole County.

Avery was critical of a statement by City Manager W. E. Knowles and said "how anyone can call any redistricting proposal dirty politics is beyond me."

Earlier this week, Knowles called the proposed redistricting, which would realign Sanford, "dirty politics."

Avery said "redistricting is recommended every 10 years, or after every census. If the county commission districts are out of proportion."

Avery pointed out that this problem was given to an impartial committee comprised of County Zoning Director Robert Brown, County Engineer Carlton Bliss and Supervisor of Registration Camilla Bruce.

"These three have done a commendable job," Avery said. "At no time was any influence displayed to the committee after the preliminary sketches were presented to the board."

The County Commission by a 2-2 vote today refused a request by Commissioner John Fitzpatrick that Knowles be put on the committee studying redistricting the county.

Fitzpatrick said "since the city manager has been critical of the committee he should be asked to work with them on the solution."

Voicing against Fitzpatrick's request were Commissioners James P. Avery, Vernon Dunn and Chairman J. C. Hutchison. District 3 Commissioner Ted Williams, who represents the city district on the board, voted with Fitzpatrick.

Witness Tells Of Nazi Brutality

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Thirty-two Jewish men were taken that day.

Q. Did they take the males on a truck?

A. They were first photographed and the names recorded and then they were marched to the market place and forced to cry out "We are traitors to the people" in the German language.

Q. Did you see this with your own eyes?

A. Yes.

Q. What happened to those males?

A. They were put onto trucks and taken away. With a young lady who was to be my sister-in-law, we ran after the trucks. Her father, two brothers and a brother-in-law were taken from her house. We ran as far as a small forest at Kaschitz.

Q. What did you see?

A. All the men were dead on the ground. Among them was my father. He was shot in many places in his body. All were stretched out on the ground in groups of five men.

Q. What did you do?

A. I kissed my father. He was as cold as ice because he had bled profusely although it was only one hour after they had been taken. When I arrived back in town, I went to the council of the community and begged for help to bury our dead.

She succeeded in escaping to Cracow, she said, but in November the Nazis struck at the Jews there. Jewish homes were searched and the occupants were ordered out into the streets.

"We had a neighbor, an old orthodox man. They put a ham in his hand and ordered him to dance and say prayers. Then he was told to pretend he was choking a German and this was photographed. Many were shot and killed."

Mrs. Lichtman said that in her home town of Wieliczka synagogues were used as places of execution.

"There they were slaughtered by shooting," she said. "Those who tried to escape from the windows were shot on the spot outside."

Opinion Asked On Tax Errors

The County Commission today, in a special session, asked Acting County Attorney Harold Johnson to get a written legal opinion on what constitutes a clerical error on a tax roll.

The board took the action after a one hour conference with Tax Assessor Mary Earle Walker on certain clerical errors on the 1960 tax roll.

The board called the meeting after they rescinded some 18 tax roll corrections earlier in the week after District 3 Commissioner James P. Avery said that it "appeared that some of the errors were more than clerical."

Mrs. Walker went over each of the errors this morning and cited that the majority were made by not allowing enough for developers' discounts, front footage prices and calculating machine failures.

"They are strictly clerical errors and not changes in any valuation," Mrs. Walker said.

District 4 Commissioner Vernon Dunn said "these changes seem to come up on the 11th hour. Why weren't they made when the board of equalization met?"

"What's the purpose of the equalization board?" Dunn queried.

Chairman J. C. Hutchison asked for a legal opinion to guide the commission on future policies.

Johnson said he would study the matter and ask the attorney general's office for some guidance.

Bryant Undecided On Race Track Bill

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant is still trying to make up his mind whether to approve or veto bills authorizing harness racing tracks in Seminole and Broward counties.

Bryant said Thursday he is against extending legalized gambling in the state and that the bills "seems to me to be an extension. But my mind is open and my staff will study them before I make a decision."

A congressional redistricting bill to give Duval, Hillsborough and Pinellas each a congressman, and Dade County two, was introduced today by Republic Sen. W. C. Young of St. Petersburg.

The bill went to the Government Reorganization Committee for a hearing Monday.

The bill splits Congressman Bob Sikes' big Northwest Florida district to form two districts, and makes a district for Seminole, Orange and Brevard. Volusia would go into a district with Clay, St. Johns, Putnam, Flagler, Levy, Marion, Citrus, Sumter, Lake, Hernando and Pasco counties.

Also introduced today were bills to hike the sales tax on beer and whisky and put a highway commissioner in charge of the Road Department — both opposed by Gov. Farris Bryant.

Spacecraft Passes Tough Test Flight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Mercury spacecraft was blasted aloft today in a tough and apparently successful test of its escape system, although the rocket did not reach the expected altitude.

The test, last of a series before an American astronaut is to be rocketed into suborbital flight next week, was conducted at the federal space agency's experimental station at Wallops Island, Va.

The agency reported that the rocket reached only 14,000 feet, instead of 40,000 as planned. But a spokesman said the escape system designed to enable an astronaut to escape from a rocket failure appeared to have worked well.

The escape was triggered under much more severe conditions than will occur during either the manned Mercury-Redstone suborbital or Atlas-boosted orbital flights," the space agency said.

The capsule fired at 9:01 was recovered at 9:14 a. m. and appeared to be in good condition.

Why Not?

A Herald Editorial

Governor Bryant was reported today trying to make up his mind whether to sign the bill passed by the legislature approving a harness track permit in Seminole County.

It looks like he would go ahead and sign the bill, which we believe expresses again the wishes of a three-to-one majority of the voting residents of the county, who approved it at the polls when the question was put to them before.

The Seminole County legislators supported it strongly on the basis of public interest in its passage. They told the committees that the people had voted for it and still manifested that favor. They told the House and Senate the same thing and the committees and the legislature passed the bill on their recommendation.

The only opposition was from the greyhound racing interests, which also operate in Seminole County. That is a natural opposition, but not one to sway the public desire.

We say to Gov. Bryant: The harness training track in this county is attracting more horsemen and more attention to the county than ever before. Why not give it a chance to become a real Central Florida attraction by growing into a full-fledged harness track?

And as for the betting—if it's legal on the dogs, why not on the pacers and trotters if the people want it?

Amendment Introduced Changing State Elections

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The State Senate received a series of amendments today that would switch state election to odd years to avoid holding them in presidential election years.

Sen. Dewey Johnson of Quincy, who threw in the bills, said he wanted them considered along with a package revision of the state Constitution soon to be introduced.

Purpose of the switch would be to prevent candidates, particularly Republicans, from riding into state office on the coattails of a popular presidential candidate.

The bill would affect all elections for state and county offices. The first election under the new proposal would be held in 1964.

It would enable the governor elected in 1964 to seek re-election to a full four-year term and, if re-elected, give Florida its second six-year governor. Thereafter the ban against a governor succeeding himself would go back into effect.

The proposed new constitution, which would go before the voters in 1962 if passed by the Legislature, would give the state a lieutenant governor and give all 87 counties a limited amount of "home rule."

The revision also proposed to make penalties imposed by administrative agencies subject to judicial review; provide for local option elections on whether to make county school superintendents appointive instead of elective; make all seven Cabinet officials members of all major state boards; broaden the power of the Legislature to amend the constitution.

Reds Threaten Laos Peace Pact

United Press International

A heavy Communist-supported offensive against pro-Western troops in Laos today threatened international efforts to bring peace to the little jungle kingdom.

The situation was growing so critical that the United States again considered the possibility of military intervention.

Moscow Radio accused the United States of "endangering a peaceful settlement in Laos." But dispatches from Vientiane said Soviet-built Ilyushin planes were continuing to airlift supplies to rebel troops on the Plain of Jars.

Communist China broadcast terms for a cease-fire that the West considered unacceptable—that the United States pull out all the military advisers and equipment with which it has been siding the Laotian government.

Russia agreed with the West Monday to call for a cease-fire in Laos. Messages of agreement came from both the Vientiane government and the rebel forces it is fighting.
