19 killed in helicopter crash

SEOUL, South Korea — A U.S. Marine Corps CH-53D helicopter taking part in joint U.S.-South Korean maneuvers crashed in a mountainous region early Monday, killing 19 Marines and injuring 15 others, a U.S. military spokesman said.

It was the second Marine Corps helicopter to crash during the Team Spirit '89 maneuvers, and the third U.S. military helicopter to go down in East Asia in a week. A Marine CH-46 helicopter taking part in the war games went down Friday, killing four Marines, and an Air Force HH-3 crashed last Tuesday off Okinawa, killing three crewmen.

Monday's crash occurred in an isolated region south of Pohang, 170 miles southeast of Seoul, the military spokesman said. He said the cause of the crash was not immediately known.

He said 34 Marines were aboard the helicopter and 19 died and 15 were injured. An additional Marine was injured during rescue operations.

Nine of the injured were in very serious condition and four others were listed as serious, the spokesman said. He said the condition of the remaining three had not been determined.

All of the injured were evacuated to the 121st U.S. Army Evacuation Hospital in Seoul.

14 killed in LA violence

LOS ANGELES — At least 14 people were killed and 16 others were wounded in weekend violence in Los Angeles and Orange counties, including a teenager ambushed after a birthday party, officials said Sunday.

A teenage youth was slain in a drive-by shooting in the Mid-City area about 7:30 p.m. Sunday, police said.

Less than an hour later and only six blocks away, two more people were shot and wounded in another drive-by shooting. Investigators did not immediately know if the crimes were related.

Duy Duc Vu, a 14-year-old Vietnamese immigrant, died about 5:20 p.m. Saturday of wounds suffered in a shooting outside a friend's home in Santa Ana, Sgt. Collie Provence said.

Crime force future in doubt

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Dick Thornburgh, apparently in favor of abolishing the nation's 24 regional strike forces set up to battle the Mafia, has not made a final decision on their fate, a Justice Department source says.

The New York Times reported Sunday, however, that Thornburgh has "tentatively decided" to abolish all or most of the 24 regional Organized Crime Strike Forces, set up decades ago to battle Mafia influence in American life.

Johnson improves steadily

Lake Brantley's Clint Johnson has steadily improved with each race since his freshman track season and has established himself as a state contender in the 100 meters this season.

Johnson, a junior, has run a 10.7 in the event and both he and his coach feel he can drop to as low as 10.4 by the end of the season.

Phelps teacher of year

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Krista Phelps, a teacher who works with the hearing impaired at Longwood Elementary School has been chosen as the Seminole County Teacher of the Year.

Phelps, a 1985 graduate of Flagler College, has been teaching at Longwood Elementary for four years.

"Her energy and commitment to her students sets her apart from other teachers," said Superintendent Robert Hughes who made the final selection. He said that all the teachers nominated by the district schools had outstanding

Krista Phelps

qualifications, but Phelps' dynamic work with her hearing impaired students distinguished her from the others.

A committee comprised of administrators, school board officials and parents sifted through the 44 nominees (one from each school and exceptional center), visited their top ten choices in their classrooms to observe them with their students and recommended three finalists to Hughes. The finalist represented elementary, middle/exceptional and high school teachers.

The three selected for the top spot at each level were Don Cannon, a math and political science teacher at Lyman High School, Chrystal Howard, an English teacher at Greenwood Lakes Middle School and Phelps.

Phelps not only teaches the regular school work to her hearing impaired students, she also works with them. Individually, to ensure their acquisition of social skills as well.

"She helps them become a part of the whole school," said Hughes. "The hearing impaired students are not kept separate. She mainstreams them as much as possible."

Hughes said that with the help of Phelps, and other teachers who work with the hearing impaired in Seminole County, the district has become a model for other districts in state.

"Teachers like Ms. Phelps have made possible what wouldn't have been possible otherwise."

Traffic accidents involving police get investigators' special attention

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The policeman on patrol typically drives 100 miles per workshift. Although he must follow the rules of the road, Sanford Police Chief Steven Harriett said, the patrolman has other functions to perform while driving, such as talking on the police radio and observing the activities of others.

This greater than typical number of hours on the road and the added complexities of operating a police car, may contribute to accidents that involve police cars, Harriett said.

To ensure that the investigation of any accident involving a police car that results in serious property damage or injury is objective, the Florida Highway Patrol is called to investigate in Seminole County.

Lt. Chuck Williams of the Florida Highway Patrol said some larger police agencies investigate their own in-house accidents. The state, he said, doesn't compile statistics on police accidents in individual counties. However, he said in 1987 there were 844 police vehicles involved in crashes in Florida. Ten persons riding in those police cars were killed and 458 injured. None of those fatalities occurred in Seminole County.

During 1987 there was a total of 240,429 traffic accidents investigated in the state, an average of 659 accidents each day. Williams said that helps put the number of police-related traffic accidents in the state into perspective. He said police probably drive twice as much as the average person, and are usually on the road at the most dangerous times — at night and during bad weather.

"If a Sanford police car is involved in an accident, the first key is to guarantee an impartial investigation," Harriett said. After that a panel of city employees will review the accident, as it reviews any accident involving a city vehicle, he said.

"They look at the accident to try to determine the cause and they may recommend action or discipline if any is called for," Harriett said.

If an officer is found to have caused a serious accident, Harriett said he or she may be disciplined.

Discovery returned in super shape

United Press International

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — The shuttle Discovery appears to have sailed through its ground-shaking launch and fiery re-entry in better shape than any shuttle to date, with no major damage and only a handful of tile "dings," officials said Sunday.

"I doubt we could ever find one that looks this good," said John "Tip" Talone, the Kennedy Space Center engineer in charge of Discovery's launch processing.

Shuttle skipper Michael Coats and co-pilot John Blaha guided Discovery to a precision Mojave Desert landing Saturday to close out the 28th shuttle flight, the third since the Challenger disaster and the first of seven planned for 1989.

Joining Coats and Blaha aboard Discovery were James Baglan, Robert Springer and James Buchli. All five astronauts flew back to Houston Saturday, leaving the orbiter in the care of engineers and technicians from the Kennedy Space Center in Florida who were thrilled with the shuttle's condition.

"It looks super. It really does," said NASA spokeswoman Lisa Malone.

Cindy Lodge, the Kennedy Space Center's lead tile engineer, said Discovery's heat-shield insulation system came through launch and re-entry in excellent condition with only 82 cases of damage — 88.4 percent fewer than was noted after the shuttle Atlantis's landing Dec. 6.

"Basically, this is one of the best yet," she said, adding that a complete assessment awaited a more detailed inspection. "We've had no major damage, a few dings around the nose cap, nothing severe at all. There's only ... about 10 replacements on tile. It's one of the best, definitely."

Asked if Discovery came through its flight in better condition than any shuttle to date, Talone replied: "As far as I can remember, that's true."

If all goes well, Discovery will be bolted to the back of a NASA 747 jumbo jet later this week and airlifted back to the Kennedy Space Center Friday for work to ready the ship for its next flight in August.

Coats and Blaha had wanted to get in a crosswind landing on a dry lakebed runway at Edwards Air Force Base, but the weather did not cooperate so instead, the pilots landed on a concrete runway in order to test the ship's redesigned brakes.

Shuttle brakes have suffered major problems in the past.

Fiber optics: echo of future heard now

By SANDRA BOUCHAHINE
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — The earth's quickly depleting supply of natural resources sometimes forces scientists to find alternative applications of available materials.

Sometimes their discoveries lead to a better quality of life and standard of living.

An example is the use of fiber to improve telecommunications. Hair-thin glass fiber is replacing the conventional copper cable to produce a more sophisticated network of telephone, cable television, data and video services.

In simplified terms, Southern Bell Community Relations Manager Warren Dove explained that fiber sends "pulses of light" generated by laser instead of electrical signals which travel in waves (analog signals) as copper does.

The result is an error-free signal that is not susceptible to atmospheric interference such as lightning and thunderstorms. Data can be transmitted at quicker speeds with a cleaner signal.

"That's where the industry's going. Probably by 2013 to 2015, everything will be converted to fiber optics," Dove said.

By the end of last year, Southern Bell had laid about 80,000 miles of fiber optic cable in Florida. A single-fiber optic cable of 30 strands, a half-inch in diameter and made of pure glass, can carry more telephone traffic than 94 cables of copper with a 3-inch diameter.

Optical fiber for communications now dominates transmission construction plans of the telecommunications industry with applications ranging from intercontinental undersea cables to the local loop between the telephone companies' switching office and a customer's home, according to Dove.

Heathrow near Lake Mary is the first community to receive fiber optic technology to the home with the introduction of the Integrated Services Digital Network (ISDN) where voice and data can be transmitted over a transmission line at the same time. The system was the joint effort of Southern Bell, Northern Telecom and Heathrow Telecommunications in 1987. It was the first time that this commercial application of fiber was introduced into the home.

Heathrow is an exclusive 3,000-acre community off Interstate 4 which is being developed by Jeno F. Paulucci and his family. About 700 people reside in the upscale community which is served by its own onsite fire, medical and rescue teams, shopping and international business center. Paulucci envisions his community as a state-of-the-art electronic workplace, according to information published by Heathrow Telecommunications, a marketing company which serves Heathrow.

"Presently we're putting plain, old telephone (POT) service over fiber and we're running ISDN. Later this year, we'll be running cable television over fiber instead of transporting it over copper, coaxial cable," Heathrow Telecommunications Manager Karen Sizemore said.

With ISDN, Dove said it is possible for individuals to carry on a conversation and transmit data over their computers to one another because with this system separate lines are unnecessary.

"You don't need a separate data line or modum because you are in the digital network," Dove said.

In the future, residents won't have to leave their home or use a VCR to watch a movie because cable television will be able to offer a videotape rental service where a tape can be transferred to homeowners' television sets.

Sizemore said that may be a service sometime in the future.

Boy critical after boating accident

MIAMI — A 5-year-old boy who was struck by a boat while riding a Jet Ski was hospitalized in critical but stable condition Sunday after undergoing emergency surgery.

Ami Misalka was airlifted to Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami following Saturday's accident on Little Maule Lake in northeast Dade County.

Four teenagers thought to be riding in the boat at the time of the collision were later escorted to shore, but officials from the Florida Marine Patrol refused to say whether the juveniles had been charged in connection with the incident.

Misalka suffered cuts to the face, shoulder and chest from the boat's propellers. A team of surgeons began working to repair the damage at 7 p.m. EST Saturday night, but a hospital administrator could not say how long the surgery lasted.

The boy's father watched from another vessel as the boat struck his son, witnesses said.

"He was screaming, 'My son! My son!' said Al Dillello, 20, who pulled the boy from the water and onto a boat belonging to a friend.

According to witnesses, Misalka was aboard the idling Jet Ski when a boat with five people aboard entered the lake towing a water skier. The driver of the boat made a turn around a group of four boats, and was looking back to see if he could make the turn when the boat struck the boy.

Witnesses said the teenagers in the 21-foot Chris Craft boat left the scene after the collision, but later returned and were escorted to shore by police.

The four teenagers in the boat ranged in age from 13 to 15.

A spokesman for the Florida Marine Patrol said no information about the youths would be released because they are juveniles.

Suit seeks $1 million from cemetery

FORT LAUDERDALE — A $1 million lawsuit has been filed against a cemetery by the family of a woman whose casket was damaged at her funeral, which was interrupted by an employee who ordered the Rabbi to move his car.

The suit says Pauline Rosenthal's foot was exposed when the casket popped open, then the coffin would not even fit in the vault. It says mourners tripped and fell on artificial carpet at the grave site, and the funeral was completely botched.

Arthur Rosenthal, the deceased's husband, her two children and their families filed the suit Friday in Broward County Circuit Court, seeking damages from Menorah Garden and Funeral Chapels for putting them through an emotional wringer.

Pauline Rosenthal died Jan. 25. A day later her husband contracted Menorah Gardens to handle the funeral.

Two days later, at the funeral, the grave site was "prepared in a sloppy and unkempt manner" and "chairs surrounding the grave site were filthy and rusty, and the scaffolding was uneven and covered with artificial carpet," causing mourners to "trip and stumble," the suit said.

Pallbearers were supposed to carry the coffin from a hearse to the grave site. Instead, "slovenly attired and unclean" cemetery workers did the job until family members insisted on completing the task themselves, the suit said.

During the service a cemetery employee stopped the rabbi and demanded that he move his car from a designated parking area. The rabbi said he would be finished in five minutes, but the employee insisted that the car be moved.

When the rabbi refused the employee wrapped a chain around the bumper of the car, "and a backhoe or other piece of heavy equipment backed within close range of the automobile," said the suit.

The casket slipped from a lowering device as it was being placed into a vault and two lids popped open, exposing the woman's foot with a white tag attached to it.

Then it was discovered that the casket would not fit into the vault and the straps supporting the casket could not be removed without more jarring of the casket and prying it with iron bars, the suit said.

Eastern advertises for new pilots

United Press International

MIAMI — Eastern Airlines began an advertising campaign Sunday aimed at luring new pilots to replace the 3,600 who are honoring a machinist strike that has crippled the financially strapped carrier.

Eastern has been using about 200 pilots to operate a limited schedule since the International Association of Machinists strike began March 4. Many of those pilots are from management, and a very few are those who have crossed IAM picket lines.

Eastern filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection March 9 after the Air Line Pilots Association refused to cross picket lines and has been operating only about 10 percent of its pre-strike schedule of 1,040 daily flights.

"We need pilots to start rebuilding," Eastern spokesman Robin Matell said. "We've waited patiently for them to come to their senses."

Eastern in a full-page ad placed in Sunday newspapers across the country said it is, "Down, But Certainly Not Out," but in a related statement admitted that new hires could have some problems.

"Understand, that given the current strike by the IAM, ALPA and TWU (Transport Workers Union), your assignment at Eastern may require you to perform the services of our ... employees involved in the labor dispute," the company said. "But also understand that this is an unprecedented opportunity for growth and success."

The pilots would start at $18,000 a year after six weeks training. Eastern pilots before the strike earned an average of $70,000 annually.

ALPA spokesman J.B. Stokes, citing a shortage of pilots in the industry, said there were several other reasons why it was not feasible for Eastern to hire new pilots.

"Where are they going to get the staff to train these people," he said. "All of their management pilots are out there trying to fly regular schedules."

ALPA lawyer James Linsey in New York, where the Chapter 11 petition was filed, said the union probably would challenge any hirings before U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Burton Lifland, who is scrutinizing most of the airline's expenditures.

Meanwhile, airline analysts said other major airlines are benefiting from Eastern's troubles, but are not rushing in to fill the void because they fear the risks of such expansion and lack extra planes and staff.

But analysts also say competing carriers are benefiting nonetheless from Eastern's problems just by booking passengers who once flew the strike-bound carrier.

The markets served by Eastern — including Florida, Latin America, the Caribbean and the Northeast — are considered lucrative, but airlines are still reluctant to move too quickly.

A spokesman for United Airlines said such expansion carries added risk, as long as an Eastern comeback is still possible.

"Where does that leave the carrier that's come in if Eastern cranks up again?" asked United spokesman Joe Hopkins.

The lack of available aircraft and manpower is also a factor.

Airlines typically commit their planes, crews and other resources to selected markets several months in advance, said Dave Shipley, a spokesman for USAir and Piedmont Airlines.

Although airlines have been slow to add flights on routes abandoned by Eastern, at least one airline, Delta, foresaw Eastern's troubles and planned ahead, adding service between Atlanta and four upstate New York cities earlier this year on routes previously served only by Eastern.

Because of the Eastern debacle, airlines "can keep their aircraft deployed right where they are and see their payloads increase," said Jordan Greene, president of Avmark Services Ltd.

be ordered to take a defensive driving course geared specifically toward techniques for driving a police patrol car.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies are assigned to take a defensive driving course, but it's not geared specifically to police patrol driving, Lt. Jerry Riggins said. After all deputies are trained through this program it will become mandatory for all deputies who are found to be at fault in a traffic accident to take the course again.

In a typical year the sheriff's department has about 80 cars assigned to patrol and about 30 cars are damaged in traffic accidents, or in other ways each year. Those cars are each usually driven 25,000 miles per year. The cost of damage repairs totals about $30,000 a year, with some of the cost covered by civilian drivers' insurance companies. Damage per incident may range from $25 to $4,000.

Traffic accidents involving Seminole County sheriff's deputies are investigated by the Florida Highway Patrol and the direct supervisor of the deputy involved, Capt. Roy Hughey said. The investigative findings are reviewed by an accident review board, comprised of the patrol captain, the driver's direct supervisor, and a board representative elected by his or her fellow deputies.

If the board finds the deputy at fault, each board member will assign points against the deputy. Those points will be averaged and if they total 10 or more the officer may be suspended for no more than five days.

If the officer has had more than one accident and the accrued points against him total 20 or more he could be suspended for up to 30 days or fired, Hughey said.

Sheriff's deputies study the accident board's findings to determine if there is a pattern to the accidents. Hughey, who served on the board for several years as patrol captain, said the trend he noticed was that deputies were most likely to damage their cars when they were forced to take a route that isn't usually traveled by others. In pursuing suspects or investigating reported incidents, he said deputies often must drive off the road or onto little traveled routes, where they may drive into obstructions hidden by weeds. In such cases, Hughey said, it is hard to find fault. "They were forced to take a car where normal traffic doesn't go, by the nature of the job," he said.

Fiber

Heathrow Telecommunications also owns and operates a card access security system. A central station receives alarms and dispatches security personnel. This system is designed to handle fire, intrusion and environmental alarms with 24-hour security patrols, according to a company brochure.

Another leader in the fiber-optic industry is Stromberg-Carlson, a GEC Plessey Telecommunications Company that employs 1,900 at its Lake Mary location on Rinehart Road, and 25,000 worldwide. Its corporate headquarters are in Great Britain.

Stromberg-Carlson was not involved in the Heathrow project, although the British headquarters are researching fiber optics to households on an economic basis for the 1990s.

"We are involved with providing fiber optic solutions which provide fiber optics all the way to the home," Products Planning Manager Bob Boggs said.

"Optics to the home right now is in the early stage of market development," he said.

Dove said the advantage of fiber is its extremely high useful capacity and relatively small size. Its capacity is growing because of improved fiber and improved laser which means faster transmission, he said. The fiber optic cable is less prone to water damage. Also, fiber segments can be spliced in the field with almost no signal loss.

The capacity of a single fiber optic cable is about 1.2 billion digital bits-per-second or the equivalent of 16,000 simultaneous voice conversations on one pair of fibers, Dove said.

Southern Bell is using optical fiber in all parts of its network. Almost all cabling between different central offices is fiber and additional fiber is being added to its local loops through a fiber optic digital loop carrier system. This system carries voice and data traffic as digital signals over fiber from the central office to a point close to residential development or office parks. The traffic is then sent to homes and offices over individual copper wire pairs, according to Dove.

Presently, conversations are carried by a combination of copper and fiber, with Heathrow being the first community to have fiber in the home.

"As the technology is improving and as price comes down, you will see more and more fiber optic cable come into offices and homes. Copper wires coming into homes and businesses will be replaced by fiber optics. From voice to video will be possible over the local telephone network," Dove said.

"It's the gateway to the information age."

been a few years ago," said Hughes. "Until a couple of years ago, hearing impaired students from Seminole County were bused to a special center in Orange County."

Phelps will now be nominated for the honor of Florida Teacher of the Year. If she is chosen as a finalist her classroom will be visited again, this time by the state-wide committee.

"We are confident that if we can get them to visit her classroom, she'll be named Florida's Teacher of the Year," said director of community relations Karen Coleman.

The three finalists receive a $500 bonus from the school district. Phelps will receive an additional $500 from the state Department of Education.

The award was presented to Phelps in her classroom this morning.

Said Coleman, "We like to present the award where it was earned — with the students."

POLICE BRIEFS

Man arrested for burning clothes

CASSELBERRY — Randy A. Bross, 29, of Jupiter, was charged with second degree arson Sunday after being accused of burning another man's clothing which he found at the house of his estranged wife in rural Casselberry at about 7 p.m. Friday.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies who investigated the incident, along with fire inspectors, said clothing was doused with a flammable liquid and set afire in a den and outside the woman's house at 510 Ivanhoe Way.

The burning of the clothing was an apparent act of revenge against the man who lives with the suspect's estranged wife and his child.

Bond for Bross is $3,000.

Cigarette theft brings charges

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — A man who allegedly struggled with three witnesses who tried to stop his flight after he reportedly stole a cigarette from a pack picked up in Albertson's Liquor store, State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, was charged with strong armed robbery after the witnesses held him for police.

A clerk at the store said she first noticed the man putting a bottle of liquor in his pants. When he saw he was being watched he put the bottle back, but allegedly stole the cigarette and tried to flee.

He was followed and caught outside the store. Kenneth Albert Griffin, 38, of Orlando, was arrested at the store by Altamonte Springs police at 8:25 p.m. Sunday. Bond is $2,000.

Man arrested for threatening wife

CASSELBERRY — A man who allegedly threatened his ex-wife and stabbed the waterbed on which he reportedly had thrown her was arrested Sunday morning by Seminole County sheriff's deputies.

Webster Bennett Ott, 34, of 2305 Driftwood Drive, Fern Park, was arrested at home after the reported attack on Tanya D. Botnick at 1945 Lake Drive, rural Casselberry.

Botnick told deputies Ott threatened to kill her and stabbed the bed near where her head lay. The attack occurred Saturday and Ott was arrested at about 7 a.m. Sunday. He is charged with aggravated assault. Bond is $1,000.

Several charged with DUI

SANFORD — The following persons face a charge of driving under the influence in Seminole County:

• Carl Anthony Rosy, 28, of Berwyn, Ill., was arrested at 2:16 a.m. today after his car, with one headlight out, hit a curb on State Road 436, Altamonte Springs.

• Ned Hoyt Palmer, 27, of 108 Crystal View, Sanford, was arrested at 1:41 a.m. today after he drove on the wrong side of County Road 46-A, Lake Mary. He is also charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, and driving with a suspended license.

• Charlie Lee Foster, 44, of Orlando, was arrested at 10:10 p.m. Sunday after he drove in the emergency lane of Interstate 4 and almost collided with two cars his car passed on the right. He is also charged with driving with a suspended license.

• Tina Louise Read, 29, of Longwood, was arrested Sunday after her car traveling at about 10 mph on Lake Howell Road was seen weaving. The car apparently also had a flat tire.

• Robert Dean Whitmarsh, 25, of DeLand, was arrested at 3 p.m. Saturday after his car was clocked traveling 85 mph eastbound on Interstate 4.

• Bruce Paul Rigolizzo, 36, of 669 Sabal Palm Circle, Altamonte Springs, was arrested at 12:48 a.m. Sunday on Maitland Avenue after police stopped his car because it has a broken taillight!

SANFORD — Seminole County sheriff's deputies have a partial identification of a man seen entering woods in Lock Arbor, rural Sanford, about 30 minutes before a brush fire was discovered off Tangelo Drive at about 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

A witness reported seeing the man drive a van into the woods and staying in the woods for about 15 minutes. About 15 minutes after the suspect left the fire was discovered. The witness said he had seen the same man in the same area before a similar fire was found in the same area March 12.

Deputies have a possible first name of the suspect, his address and a description of his vehicle.

Alert motorist notified officials of burning house

By SANDRA BOUCHAHINE
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — A passing motorist alerted officials of a house fire 7:25 a.m. Sunday morning at 259 E. Lake Mary Ave. at which no injuries were reported.

Lake Mary Fire Chief Robert Stoddard said this morning that defective wiring caused the blaze which started in the attic of the single-story frame home.

Stoddard said fire was shooting out of the windows even though fire fighters responded two minutes after being alerted.

"The structure was fully involved. The interior was totally gutted out," he said.

Two engines and a rescue unit arrived at the scene and fire fighters had the blaze under control within 30 minutes. There were no injuries either to civilians or to personnel, Stoddard said. The owners of the home were away at the time of the blaze. No estimate has been made of the damages.

In an unrelated incident, the fire department responded this morning to an accident on Interstate 4, 1/2 mile west of the Lake Mary exit. The accident involved four vehicles which collided.

Man aims for roach, stabs self in chest

OVIDO — Andrew L. Muller, 56, of Oviedo thought a cockroach was crawling on him as he lay in bed Sunday night.

Muller grabbed a steak knife and stabbed at the roach.

The roach survived, but Muller stabbed himself in the left chest.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies said Muller who appeared "very intoxicated" at the time of the incident, appeared to have suffered a minor and superficial wound near his ribs.

He was treated in the emergency room of Winter Park Memorial Hospital.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

U.S. Gov't Approves Patent Claims for New Diet Pill

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" you steady fat loss and calorie reduction by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

The U.S. government has just approved the doctors claims for a hard-to-get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fat-bonding pill process before." It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough and is revolutionizing the weight loss industry.

You Can "Eat Normally" Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire without exercising."

Flushes Fat Out of Body The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated. "Automatically" Lose Fat According to one of the inventors, Dr. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine at UCLA medical school, "the new fat-bonding process is a "lazy way" to lose weight because the pills alone "automatically" reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat. It is 100% safe and not a drug."

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slimmer, trimmer and more attractive again.

Now Available to the Public If you are trying to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "no-risk" highly successful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only (includes optional calorie-reduction plan for even better results). Send $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$3 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. W246, Beverly Hills, CA 90211. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. (Send card number, expire date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call anytime 24 hours, toll free 1(800) 527-9700, ext. W246.

150 rescued from Disneyland gondolas

United Press International

ANAHEIM, Calif. — Some 150 riders on Disneyland's Skyway aerial gondola had to be individually removed from dozens of the suspended cars after the popular ride suddenly shut down Saturday night, officials said.

Four Fire Department ladder trucks were used to remove the scores of riders stranded in the four-person gondolas, some which stopped inside a tunnel that passes through the theme park's Matterhorn roller coaster, authorities said.

"There were no injuries, just some very tired and cold people," Disneyland Bob McTyre said.

The attraction's automatic shut-off system was activated at 5:53 p.m. by some passengers who had taken to "severely" rocking one of the cars back and forth, McTyre said.

"A witness told us the car was swaying some five feet to each side," he said.

The evacuation came to an end shortly after 10 p.m. local time when the last rider was brought safely down to the ground, he said.

The ride consists of 42 gondolas suspended by a cable that enables riders a bird-eye view of Disneyland as they travel 30 to 50 feet above ground from Fantasyland to Tomorrowland, two of Disneyland's major theme areas.

Those stranded on the ride will receive free admittance to the park at another time, Disneyland spokesman Bob Roth said.

Franking farce

An enormous perquisite enjoyed by members of Congress is the controversial frank, or taxpayer-paid mailing privilege. Actually, this is an incumbency protection system, a propaganda machine for senators and congressmen. In 1988, for example, senators sent out $38 million worth of franked mailings. Most of these were self-promotions sent to constituents disguised as Washington newsletters.

Under a new rule adopted recently, senators will be able to increase their franked mail five-fold, spending as much as $160 million for mailing 13-cent newsletters to heads of households and business addresses and an additional $20 million individually addressed mailings. Each senator can send six state-wide newsletter mailings annually under the new budget the Senate has approved for itself.

As senators voted for this outrageous, self-service boondoggle, where was all the concern about the runaway federal deficit? Predictably the measure increasing senatorial privilege sailed through, even though Sen. Pete Wilson, R-Calif., offered an amendment to limit the mailings to last year's level. The omnibus-funding resolution was so obscurely written that Sen. Wilson learned of the huge increase in franking from the Capitol Hill newspaper Roll Call. Sen. Wilson can boast of not dispatching a state-wide newsletter since 1985.

Even with their attention drawn to the shameful increase, the Senate defeated the Wilson motion 50-47. Forty-one Democrats and nine Republicans voted for unlimited franking.

This example of unbridled spending has brought to light a kind of competition in extravagance between the houses of Congress. Reason ruled the Senate in 1987, when the mail budget was held to a seven-year low of $19 million. Then, spending soared in the House of Representatives to $77.9 million in 1988. Not to be outstep, the Senate majority retaliated, casting restraint to the wind.

Unfortunately, there is no opportunity to curb the Senate's disgraceful excess, by veto or by any other means. The soaring bill for franking simply will be paid out of tax funds already provided for Senate expenses by a legislative appropriations bill. And, when that runs short, the deficit will be covered by a supplemental appropriation, just as though the Senate had an unlimited credit card guaranteed by the taxpayers.

Sen. Sam Nunn has lost his halo

The Senate's rejection of President Bush's nomination of John Tower for secretary of defense is simply the latest development in the widening war between Republican presidents and Congress, which it evidently amuses the American people to leave in Democratic hands. The public, in short, voted for this sort of thing.

What, after all, is a red-blooded Democratic Senate expected to do with the Cabinet nominations of a newly elected Republican president? They can't reject them all, or even very many of them, without seeming objectionably partisan. But they can single out one.

But why John Tower? As a former senator himself, he stood to benefit from the tradition that senators practically never reject their own former colleagues. And certainly Tower, as a former longtime member and chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, had formidable expertise in defense matters.

In focusing on Tower, however, the Democrats had unexpected help. The Bush administration, after letting it be known that Tower was their choice, hemmed and hawed around for a solid month before submitting his name to the Senate — thereby suggesting that they themselves were assailed by doubts about his fitness. And then the first major witness to testify publicly against Tower before the Armed Services Committee was Paul Weyrich, a highly respected, ultra-conservative political activist. When he swore that he had seen Sen. Tower inebriated and frolicking with women not his wife, it must have occurred to the Senate Democrats that John Tower was being turned over to them in pretty damaged condition.

The rest was inevitable. The Armed Services Committee's hearings were prolonged week after week, while the FBI was sent on one wild goose chase after another. Selected tidbits from the bureau's raw files were leaked to the media without the slightest regard to their truth or inherent plausibility. Slowly, Tower was suffocated in a tissue of lies, half-truths and irrelevancies.

As cynics pointed out, Tower was condemned as a drunkard by senators who everyone knew to be far more guilty of the charge than he. But the charge, though deadly, was essentially irrelevant — as demonstrated when Tower offered not to drink at all if confirmed, and his critics simply switched, without missing a beat, to complaints about his dealings with defense contractors.

Who wins and who loses by this whole affair? John Tower loses, of course, though he can undoubtedly still make a very comfortable living in the private sector as a consultant to defense contractors. President Bush loses, too, to some extent, the Senate having stingingly rejected his nominee and thereby reminded everyone that the president is far from being the undisputed boss in Washington.

Senator Sam Nunn, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, is currently being billed by the media as the big winner — Vanquisher of Presidents, Terror of the Pentagon. But I am inclined to think that, in keeping with the Law of Unintended Consequences, Nunn may actually have wound up hurting himself.

A coalition of brimstone and Perrier

BOSTON — So much for the battle. Tower has been toppled. The would-be Secretary of Defense couldn't defend himself successfully. He will go down in the annals of military history as a man defeated by the troops of the New Morality.

Gary Hart and the A-word, Douglas Ginsburg and marijuana, John Tower and wine and women. Is there now a sin screen to public office? Has the country turned right and righteous?

The reports from the siege of John Tower were extraordinary. A true confession of adultery: "As a matter of fact I have broken wedding vows." A pledge of sobriety: "I hereby swear and undertake that if confirmed... I will not consume beverage alcohol of any type or form." More than one enemy reported Tower in the act of "womanizing." More than one saw the man pickled. He was even accused of the vice of avarice.

Now the Tower defeat raises the question again. Is this a teetotal society choosing leaders that way they might choose a designated driver? What has happened to change our rules?

Up through the 1950s, most men in public life (and they were mostly men) were covered by a kind of double standard. They were expected to hold up the traditional flag of piety in public. But they were allowed to hide behind the flag of privacy in their personal lives. A subclause of the gentleman's agreement assumed that there was little connection between the private and public man.

The generation of the late Sixties condemned this double standard as two-faced. They didn't care what anybody did as long as they didn't lie about it. They were open-minded about every "sin" except the sin of hypocrisy. As for sex, drugs and rock-and-roll in high places: Who cared?

And now? The late 1980s has seen a new set of allies emerge out of the mostly unlikely odd enemies. A coalition of brimstone and Perrier. It's the coalition that doomed John Tower.

Today, the Bible Belt brigade calls womanizing an evil. The Rolling Stone regiments describe it as tacky or exploitive. For one, it's a sin of the flesh; for the other, a breach of equality. The fundamentalists may regard boozing as a sinful activity. The new age describes it as self-destructive. But they both vote against it.

The old-time sin watchers always judged the private behavior of public people in religious grounds. Now the new-timers judge the private behavior of public people on the grounds of psychology or character. What we are seeing, as baby-boom watcher Ralph Whitehead, Jr., puts it, as an unexpected merger of "the Puritanism of the Bible Belt and the sadder-but-wiser abstemiousness of a younger generation."

The signs of abstemiousness are all around us. In this month's Glamour magazine, two young women wear T-shirts bearing the slogan of their generation. One says Abstinence. The other says Moderation. The Calvin Klein perfume ads once featured sexual proponents of Obsession. Now they promote parent-and-child images of Eternity.

It is easy for a generation that has given up cocktails at night so they can work in the morning to make a link between alcohol and job performance. Especially for a Secretary of Defense who is literally never off work.

Repentance is also ripe among this secular crowd. You cannot read a magazine or watch a talk-show without confronting the dramas of people who freed themselves of addictions, drugs, smoking, drinking. Hallelujah! If John Tower's pledge to stop drinking failed to impress this new audience, it was because he coupled it with denial rather than confession.

The old moralists may worry about damnation. The new ones worry about health, mental and physical. They each judge the people in public life according to their values. In this controversy, Whitehead says, "The 'dries' may think of Tower as a hopeless wet. The young may think that if you haven't moved out of fossil fuels and into your own endorphins, you aren't smart enough to run the Pentagon." Wet or dumb, they both judged Tower lacking.

The rallying cries of this bitter Senate fight came over words like "fitness," "judgment," "character." More than one senator warned the others that they were raising the moral ante, the standards by which they too may be judged. They can count on it.

The handwriting on the wall is written in two very distinct styles. But it's writ large enough for everyone in public life to see.

They were expected to hold up the traditional flag of piety in public.

Colombian official points finger at U.S.

WASHINGTON — Colombia's dark, scowling attorney general, Horacio Serpa, points an accusing finger at the United States — American cocaine users, he says, are primarily to blame for the drug scourge.

The American appetite for illicit pills and powders has spawned a devastating crime wave that first struck Colombia and is now coming home to roost in the United States.

Taking time out from an official visit to Washington, D.C., Serpa told us that cocaine users finance three powerful criminal organizations in Colombia that corrupt and intimidate government authorities wherever they operate. The largest, the Medellin cartel, is also the most ruthless. It now pays Colombian terrorists to kill and maim anyone who gets in its way, he said.

Sanchez refused to be intimidated.

Serpa knows firsthand of what he speaks. He is on the cartel's hit list. His predecessor, the late attorney general Carlos Mauro Hoyos, was assassinated by the cartel on Jan. 25, 1988. Hundreds of Colombian government officials, judges and police officers have been gunned down or blown up for trying to enforce drug laws.

Others have been forced to flee for their lives, and at least one who fled to the United States has found no safe haven even here. Serpa told us about the brave judge, Consuelo Sanchez, who dared to indict the cartel's chief enforcer Pablo Escobar on a charge that he had murdered a Colombian newspaper editor.

Sanchez was warned by the cartel that every person in her family would be wiped out if she signed the arrest warrant for Escobar. The cartel boldly put the threat in a letter to Sanchez: "If you call Mr. Escobar to trial, you can be sure that all the members of your family tree — ancestors and offspring — will be eliminated. We are capable of executing you anywhere on this planet. There is no place you can hide."

Sanchez refused to be intimidated. She was new on the bench, only seven months into her term, but she had the courage to indict Escobar. Then she had to flee to the United States under the protection of the Drug Enforcement Administration and the State Department.

Sanchez was living with her husband under an assumed name in Detroit when a Detroit newspaper found out she was there. Last month, the paper wrote a story about Sanchez, without pinpointing exactly where she was in the city. The story explored the pros and cons of hiding an enemy of the violent cartel in Detroit without telling the woman's neighbors that they might be in danger. Even the U.S. attorney did not know she was there.

The plight of Sanchez, an official who stood up for justice, rankles the Colombians who have been the object of criticism because of the cocaine trade in their country — a cocaine trade that would not exist without the American appetite that it feeds.

The U.S. government has made Colombia the front line in America's war against drugs. But of the $2.5 billion that Congress appropriated to fight the drug menace this year, only a paltry $10 million was allotted to Colombia to battle the narco-terrorists in the trenches.

Last year, the Colombian national police arrested 5,174 drug traffickers and eradicated 14,070 acres of coca leaf.

Victor Mosquera, Colombian ambassador to the United States, said the war on drugs must begin with the users. It will do little good for Colombia to crack down on the producers of cocaine, he said, if the United States remains lenient toward the consumers.

FINANCIAL

Stocks open lower

United Press International

NEW YORK — Prices opened lower Monday in moderate early trading of New York Stock Exchange issues as players extended a sell-off that began early in the previous session in response to an unfavorable report on inflation.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which plunged 48.57 Friday, was off 8.57 to 2283.57 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 500-207 among the 1,122 issues crossing the NYSE tape. Early turnover amounted to about 6,640,000 shares.

Stock prices took their worst beating in 11 months Friday after a disappointing report on inflation and the expiration of March futures and options sparked a blitz of heavy selling.

The market plunged at the opening and remained sharply lower after the government said the February Producer Price index shot up 1 percent, matching January's gain and shattering forecasts of a 0.4 percent to 0.5 percent increase.

Not since April 14, 1988, when the Dow fell 101.46 points, had the blue-chip index posted such a sharp loss.

Dollar and gold higher

United Press International

The dollar was mostly higher Monday in light trading against key foreign currencies. Gold was also higher.

In Tokyo, briefly testing the 132-yen level, the dollar continued its pressure on the Japanese yen, closing at 131.92 yen, up 0.85 from 131.07 yen Friday.

The dollar's close was the highest since Oct. 7, 1988 when the dollar finished at 133.50 yen.

A dealer at a major commercial bank said the U.S. currency is likely to continue rising against the yen in the short term in anticipation of a further rise in U.S. interest rates.

Rising crude oil prices also contributed to the dollar's advance, dealers said.

The expectations among market players of higher U.S. interest rates followed Friday's announcement of a larger-than-expected 1 percent month-to-month rise in the U.S. producer price index for February.

The jump was largely interpreted as likely to lead to further credit-tightening by the U.S. Federal Reserve Board, dealers said.

All Japanese banks will be closed Tuesday for the national holiday of Spring Equinox. Trading will resume Wednesday.

The dollar closed higher in Singapore at 1.9395 Singapore dollars, up from 1.9385, but eased in Hong Kong to 7.7955 Hong Kong dollars, down from 7.787 Friday.

Gas prices increasing

United Press International

LOS ANGELES — Gasoline prices continued to climb at pumps nationwide, rising more than a penny over the last two weeks in an upward price trend driven by higher wholesale prices, an industry analyst said Sunday.

The Lundberg Survey found that the average price of a gallon of gasoline inched up to 100.37 cents by March 17, when 12,000 stations nationwide were surveyed.

That was up from 99.22 cents reported in the Lundberg's March 3 survey, which had noted an increase over the Feb. 17 average price of 98.78 cents.

"The increase, although not driven by seasonal consumption this time of year, is a direct result of higher crude oil prices and higher refined product prices," said Trilby Lundberg.

"During the two-week period between March 3 and March 17, retailers' buying prices (from their wholesale suppliers) rose even more which means that if the trend continues pump prices could rise even further," she said.

Gunman kills hostage, self

United Press International

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — A gunman shot and killed one of his hostages, wounded another and then shot and killed himself Sunday moments before police stormed a house where the victims had been held since Friday, authorities said.

Police fired two volleys of tear gas and moved in at 5:40 p.m. CST after negotiations broke down and it appeared the gunman was close to harming his hostages, said Springfield Police Chief Michael Walton.

Officers from a special tactical team found the two victims underneath a quilt by the front door and the gunman lying on top of them, Walton said.

The gunman, Douglas Thomas, 20, died from a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the chest. A woman he had dated in the past, Karen Lambert, 20, also died from a gunshot wound to the chest, Walton said. Lambert's younger sister, Nicole, 14, was undergoing surgery for a gunshot wound to the neck. She was reported in critical condition at St. John's Hospital.

Police stormed the house after attempts to have relatives talk to Thomas failed and Thomas threw the telephone out the window, Walton said. Police fired no shots during the assault.

"Negotiations got to the point where it wasn't negotiations anymore," Walton said. "I think he was mentally deranged."

Police said Thomas, whose motives were unknown, could be heard singing after the tear gas was fired.

Once inside, police found the victims and two handguns, a .357-caliber Colt and a .22-caliber Rohn, Walton said. Thomas also had heavily barricaded the doors and windows, he said.

Thomas did not make any demands during the ordeal that began at about 11 p.m. Friday when he took four people hostage, police Cmdr. David Searcy said. During negotiations, Thomas threatened to kill his hostages and told police he was taking cocaine.

By Sunday morning, Thomas had released two of the original hostages, a 2 1/2-month-old baby and a 4-year-old girl. The baby was released Saturday after extended negotiations, Cmdr. Jim Burton said.

Shuttle

during past landings and during Discovery's "rollout" Saturday down runway 22, puffs of blue smoke could be seen coming from the main landing gear on at least two occasions as Coats pumped the brakes.

"The brakes looked the best ever, no sign of any heat ... damage whatsoever," Talone said. "We're starting to turn the corner on the brake problems."

"We know that the landing was to exercise the brakes this time and obviously, on TV you could see that he did. But that was good and the brakes looked good coming out of that. The tires looked good. One of the tires was worn a little bit more than the others. The others looked (normal)."

NASA officials were especially pleased about Discovery's condition because of the extensive damage suffered by Atlantis during launch Dec. 2. A detailed inspection after landing revealed 707 chips and dings in the ship's heat-shield tile system, nearly all of which occurred on the orbiter's lower right fuselage and right rear orbital maneuvering system rocket pod.

The damage ultimately was blamed on loose insulation over the right-side booster's nose cap that pulled away during launch, striking the right side of the shuttle. A different insulation material was used for Discovery's boosters and there was little damage.

"Obviously, all the work done by the debris guys to try to minimize the hits really makes a lot of difference," Talone said.

Meanwhile, back at the Kennedy Space Center, engineers are gearing up to haul Atlantis to launch pad 39B starting at 12:01 a.m. EST Wednesday.

IN BRIEF

BASKETBALL

Knicks bomb Milwaukee

The New York Knicks, the leading 3-point shooting team in the NBA, rediscovered their long-range touch Sunday night against a weary Milwaukee Bucks squad.

Kiki Vandeweghe scored 20 points and the Knicks connected on 8 of 15 shots from 3-point range, cruising to a 128-104 victory over the Bucks, who were playing their seventh game in the last 10 days.

New York, which broke a two-game skid, hit just 5 of 30 3-pointers in their previous three games. But the Knicks used the 3-pointer as its major weapon in the second quarter, hitting four as they outscored Milwaukee 30-17 to take control.

In other NBA action Sunday night, Golden State defeated Charlotte 124-117, Cleveland ripped New Jersey 101-91 and Atlanta upended the Los Angeles Lakers 113-111.

COLLEGE HOOPS

Tigers, Orangemen set to clash

The Missouri Tigers and Syracuse Orangemen advanced to the NCAA regional semifinals thanks to a very important factor.

They were the best teams. Although the NCAA tournament has so often shown in the past that the best team doesn't always win, the overwhelming superiority of the Orangemen and Tigers provided them relatively easy triumphs Sunday.

That set up what should be an entertaining contest next Friday night in Minneapolis between Sunday's two winners from the Midwest Region. In the other game at Minneapolis, Louisville meets top seed Illinois, making the Midwest semifinals perhaps the toughest of the four regions.

Missouri got 32 points from sophomore center Doug Smith and shot 60 percent in rolling past the Texas Longhorns in Sunday's second round, 108-89.

BASEBALL

Rangers bought by Bush's son

A group headed by the son of President Bush announced Saturday the purchase of a majority interest in the Texas Rangers, taking a cue from the president's campaign speeches and pledging to mix public service with business.

George W. Bush and partners Edward "Rusty" Rose III and Richard Rainwater paid an undisclosed sum for the 53 percent interest in the club owned by oilman Eddie Chiles. Details of the deal were not disclosed.

Bush told a news conference his ownership of the Rangers is "a business investment with a civic dividend."

"I just want people when they say 'Texas Rangers,' that they think here's a group of people trying to improve somebody's life," Bush said.

Bush said he talked to the president, a first baseman during his college days at Yale, by telephone about the transaction earlier Saturday.

HOCKEY

Oilers add to Islanders' woes

EDMONTON, Alberta — Mark Messier drilled in a 45-foot slap shot to spark a three-goal outburst in the second period that sent the Edmonton Oilers to a 3-2 victory over the New York Islanders.

The victory snapped a six-game winless streak for Edmonton and moved the Oilers into a tie with the Los Angeles Kings for second place in the Smythe Division. The Oilers, however, have only five games remaining while the Kings have seven. The teams square off in Edmonton Tuesday.

The Islanders, who have won only seven road games this season, are last overall in league standings with 53 points.

In other games in the NHL on Sunday, Hartford edged Boston 3-2, Philadelphia outshot Toronto 8-6 and Chicago got past Detroit 5-3.

Locals miss by a mile

From staff reports

Seminole High School's girls track team and the Lyman boys' track team both dropped narrow decisions to the Jacksonville-Raines Raiders in the Bob Hayes Invitational this past Saturday night at Jacksonville Raines High School.

The Lady Raiders finished with a team score of 45 points compared to Seminole's 43 in a meet that came down to the final event, the mile relay, which Raines won with a 3:59.8 clocking compared to Seminole's time of 4:01.1.

In the boys' competition, it also came down to the final event as the Raiders held a one-point lead over Lyman's Greyhounds going into the mile relay. Raines won the event, picking up 10 points, while Lyman did not place, making the final margin 52-41.

"This meet tells us where we are and what we have to do," Seminole coach Emory Blake said. "Raines is the team for us to beat in the state and we know what we have to do to catch them."

Michelle Pearson continued to sparkle for the Lady Tribe as she won the 110 low hurdles with a state leading time of 14.3. Adrian Hillsman won the long jump with a leap of 17-9 for Seminole's only top place finisher. Hillsman also took second in the 330 intermediate hurdles of 45.6.

Shariene Millwood placed second in the 440 yard dash with a nice time of 58.6. Keisha Ward took fourth in the same event at 60.1.

Chineta Gilchrist took fourth in the shot put to give Seminole power in the field events with a throw of 35-6. Mechelle Toombs added a fourth place finish in the triple jump at 35-6.

The mile relay team which placed second was made up of Ward, Millwood, Yolanda Baker and Hillsman.

For Lyman, Teddy Mitchell lead the way as he was named the outstanding male performer in the meet. Mitchell won both the mile and two-mile runs while running a leg on Lyman's two-mile relay team that finished third.

Other first place finishers for the Greyhounds were Darren Marshall (taking the pole vault with an effort of 13-0 as well as a fifth in the 330 intermediate hurdles) and Octavius Holiday (posting a time of 1:58.1 to win the 880 run). Lyman also received points from John Sencerp (fifth in the discus) and James Flint (fourth in the long jump). Holiday, Marshall and Flint also joined Mitchell.

Hard work has Johnson running with the best

By MARK BLYTHE
Herald sports writer

Lake Brantley's Clint Johnson has steadily improved with each race since his freshman track season and has established himself as a state contender in the 100 meters this season.

Johnson, a junior, has run a 10.7 in the event and both he and his coach feel he can drop to as low as 10.4 by the end of the season.

"I feel he can run anywhere between 10.4 and 10.6 at the end of the year," said Brantley track coach Charlie Harris. "We just have to concentrate on having him peak at the right time."

Johnson who has nearly reached the state meet in each of his first two seasons as he placed sixth in the region as a freshman and fifth as a sophomore. This year, Johnson would like to reach the state meet and fare well.

"I'd like to reach state and win," Johnson said. "I need to continue listening to Coach Harris and concentrate on my technique to keep improving."

Johnson has worked extremely hard since becoming a top sprinter with the Patriots two years ago. Johnson, who also excels in football, has also matured and has become much stronger since his first days at Lake Brantley.

"Clint has become much more confident as a sprinter over the past two years," Harris said. "He's much stronger and more flexible. He also knows how to react in a race situation and how to use his strength to his advantage."

Johnson will hope his confidence level will continue to go up and his success increase as it has in the past. Johnson has the potential to reach the low 10's as a senior which would put him at the national level of competition.

Right now, though, he's looking to break 10.7 and work his way down slowly throughout the season and move into position for a state title.

"He has the potential to play both football and run track in college," Harris said. "He'll probably go with football but he definitely has the talent to run at that level."

Johnson, who carries a 2.8 grade point average at Brantley, is looking to concentrate on football and academics when he reaches the college ranks.

"I want to play football and work on my academics," Johnson said. "With all that going on I don't think there'll be time to run track."

At this point Johnson is looking to go to a major university to further his career in football and academics and is being heavily recruited by several top name colleges.

"Florida State has been showing a great deal of interest in me so far," Johnson said. "If I don't attend there I'd like to go to either Auburn or Georgia."

Johnson will also look to become a state leader in the 220 yard dash along with the 440 yard run. Johnson and Harris will hope he can get under 22 in the 220 and 60 in the 440.

"He's proven himself as a sprinter this year," Harris said. "He's proven he can run the 100, the 220 and the 440 and be competitive in each one. That's quite a feat for anyone to attempt and for him to run all three strong is a tribute to his strength and endurance."

Kevin Monahan (No. 6, sliding) gave Seminole Community College an early lead against Lake City on Saturday when he and teammate Dale Stevens both scored on an error in the fourth inning. But the Raiders squandered the advantage, losing the game in 11 innings.

'Wolves squeeze win away from struggling Raiders

By DEAN SMITH
Herald correspondent

LAKE CITY — Tony Linhart's squeeze bunt with one out in the bottom of the eleventh inning scored Jose Diaz and gave the Lake City Community College Timberwolves a 4-3 victory over the Seminole Community College Raiders in Mid-Florida Conference baseball action Saturday afternoon.

The win moved Lake City to 5-13 and Seminole fell to 4-18 and 1-9 in conference play.

Seminole travels to Ft. Pierce today to take on the Pioneers of Indian River Community College before returning home to play Long Island University of New York Tuesday. Tuesday's game is scheduled to start at 3:00 p.m. and will be played at Raider Field on the Seminole Community College campus.

The loss overshadowed another excellent pitching performance by Raider sophomore right-hander Jim Waring. The former Lake Brantley Patriot went the distance giving up three earned runs on nine hits while striking out seven and walking only two men.

But Lake City's Linhart was just as tough, scattering six hits and giving up only one earned run over 10 1/3 innings before Ed Merideth came in to get the final out of the inning and pick up the win.

David Leugers was the only Raider to pick up two hits on the afternoon as he went 2-for-4 and drove in a run. Dale Stevens, Brei Rutzebeck, Byron Overstreet, and Mike Turner added one hit each for Seminole.

After Linhart retired the first nine men he faced, SCC finally broke through in the fourth. Kevin Monahan drew a walk and Stevens singled. Rutzebeck laid down a bunt that Linhart threw away. Monahan and Stevens both scored.

Waring, meanwhile, was cruising along with a two-hitter until the fifth when Lake City came up with two to tie the score. Long walked and stole second before scoring on a double by Troutman. Troutman tied the game when he scored on a throwing error with two outs.

Seminole retook the lead in the seventh when pinch hitter Steve Roberts drew a walk. David Fenick sacrificed him to second, and Leugers delivered a two-out, rbi single.

Ortizano hit a lead-off home run in the seventh for the Timberwolves to tie the score at three and send the game to extra innings.

Lake City came up with the winning run in the eleventh.

Patriots rally for SAC victory

From staff reports

DELAND — Using a nine-run fourth inning, the Lake Brantley Patriots scored a 16-9 win over the host DeLand Bulldogs in Seminole Athletic Conference baseball action on Saturday night.

The win evened Lake Brantley's overall record at 7-7 and improved its SAC mark to 4-2. DeLand fell to 0-11, 0-5.

Daulton Reed, who threw a perfect game the last time he pitched against DeLand, wasn't as lucky Saturday and left after three-and-two-thirds innings. He was relieved by Tim Krier, who won the rest of the way for the win.

Lake Brantley opened the scoring with two runs in the top of the first, but DeLand tied the game with two in the home half of the first. After the Patriots had taken a 4-3 lead in the top of the third, DeLand exploded for six runs in the bottom of the third. Then, in the top of the fourth, Lake Brantley returned the salvo.

Jason Veritek led the Patriot attack by going 4-for-5 with a triple and three rbi. Other hitting stars for Lake Brantley were Ed Zarembo (1-for-2, a triple and an rbi), Greg Thomas (2-for-4 with a double and an rbi), Jim Morse (a double and two rbi), Reed (2-for-4 with a double and four rbi) and Shawn Burke (2-for-3 with a double and two rbi).

Lake Brantley returns to action on Wednesday when the Patriots host Seminole in another SAC clash. DeLand plays again today, traveling to Lake Mary for another SAC game.

Lake Mary 11, Deltona 1

DELTONA — Andy Anson struck out eight, did not walk a batter and allowed just two hits to pitch the Lake Mary Rams past the Deltona Wolves in prep baseball action on Saturday.

Lake Mary scored solo runs in the first and second, then sandwiched a pair of four-run innings in the fourth and sixth around a one-run fifth.

Oliver Burckhalter sets a mole trap, his favorite tactic for combatting moles.

Try these weapons if moles try your patience

If you have large mounds of sand 4 to 6 inches high tunneling around your lawn, then chances are you have moles in your yard.

Moles commonly live underground in lawns and gardens in Florida. With their oversized spade-like feet, they can do considerable damage.

Moles can be considered beneficial, though, because they eat the larvae of many common lawn and garden insects including chinch bugs, sod webworms and mole crickets, which in turn attack our beautiful lawns, vegetables and ornamentals.

The tunneling is of two types: permanent tunnels used as a nest, which extend as deep as 2 feet below the surface, and feeding tunnels, which give homeowners a headache!

It is not as easy to control moles as you would think, but you do have a few options from which to choose. Since there is no effective repellent or toxicant to kill moles, the best technique is to cut off their food supply by applying an insecticide to your lawn and garden. When moles are deprived of food, they will go elsewhere for it.

Another less expensive method for control of moles is to trap them in their burrows. Traps are available at local garden centers and hardware stores, but call first to see if they're in stock. Traps can be either a harpoon or choke type.

To be successful in trapping moles, you must understand their feeding habits and locate actively used tunnels. These tunnels can be identified by stepping on short sections on tunnels, which the moles will repair in a few hours. The traps are then set in active tunnels.

Oliver Burckhalter, Seminole County Master Gardener, has tried numerous poisons and baits and never seemed to get any results.

"With a trap, you have positive evidence everytime you get one," Burckhalter said.

Fencing, the third option for controlling moles, works best in small areas like flower beds, small lawns and gardens. An impenetrable fence along the perimeter of the area can be made of sheet metal or small mesh (1/4 inch or less) hardware cloth. Bury the material at least 2 feet beneath the surface with all joints and corners securely sealed. Extend the fence several inches above the ground as well.

Seaman's yard has all but bluegrass

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

LAKE MONROE — You can take an old man of the sea like Robert S. "Curley" Giles away from the sea, as an injury to nerves in his back did. He doesn't think he'll be able to return.

But 65-year-old Giles can step out the front door of his white house with sea-blue trim on Riverview Avenue in Lake Monroe and glimpse a reminder of his seafaring days—the mini-lighthouse he built in his front yard as a welcoming beacon when he used to come home from the sea.

Giles, who was a tug boat captain for 40 years, said he's not overly sentimental about the lighthouse. However, he said, a sailor is always happy to spot a lighthouse that can lead him safely to shore.

"You want to see that lighthouse flashing. You want to know where you are," said white-haired Giles.

Always a handyman with tools and wood, Giles said he built the 12-foot-tall beacon about nine years ago, one year after he moved into that house. The lighthouse is painted white with sea-blue trim and has a flashing light, which he sometimes shines.

"I had no plans. I started out with an idea in my head and built and changed it as I went along. I fooled around with it four or five days," he said.

The first version of the lighthouse was of wood. It rotted and Giles replaced it with the metal version that today stands watch at the front edge of his front yard.

Nearby is buoy No. 2, a red marker on the right side of the driveway, which is a companion to black buoy No. 1, on the other side of the driveway entrance. Both are creations in metal by Giles, who has a workshop in the back of his house.

A black, antique-style anchor, which Giles made of wood to support his mailboxes, is the remaining nautical creation in his yard.

Inside his house there are no signs of his life at sea. However, Giles plans to put his sextant, which is stored away, on display inside his house, after he builds a display case.

"I don't want to overdo things out front," he said.

Giles' wife of eight years, Betty, is the tender of the grounds and flowerbeds, for which she says he is "too heavy-handed" to tend, according to Giles. Mrs. Giles has added an old farmhouse bell on a post beside their garage and a collection of conch shells and rocks to accent planting areas.

The nautical yard displays, which need to be refurbished about every three years, are due for repainting, Giles said.

A newer creation is a wooden weathervane of a mountain man chopping wood. That is a reminder of Giles' boyhood in the landlocked Ozark Mountains in Missouri, where, he said, "we chopped lots of wood."

As a boy, Giles said, he didn't dream of a life at sea. "I was way out in the sticks. I didn't have no idea. When I was a young boy, I was more interested in airplanes."

Serving in the U.S. Navy in World War II brought out his love for the sea. He said that love will never die, even if he never goes back to sea. He loved his work, he said, and could never stand to have a 9-to-5 job where he had to continually see the same people and follow the same daily routine.

Instead, he chose the life of a tugboat captain, working the east coast to Maine and "near foreign" shores. He would spend 21 days at sea followed by 21 days off. "It's kind of a rough life, but I always looked forward to going to work," Giles said. He added that he had no great adventures or close calls at sea, and said the only mermaids he saw were on shore.

Giles said that because of surgery on his back in September, he's afraid he's landlocked. But his love of the sea won't fade.

"It gets in you and you can't get away from it. I tried to come ashore one time. It lasted about one year. I said that's it. I'm coming out to sea and I'm not coming back no more," Giles said.

But for now, Giles, is at home in his workshop, waiting to refurbish his little bit of the seashore created for his own front yard.

Red Cross needs a hand of aid from public

DEAR READERS: March is the month for national fundraising for the American Red Cross. Most of the local chapters have letter-writing campaigns. (Thank you, Red Cross, for not soliciting me by telephone.)

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Most people believe that the Red Cross is funded by the government. It is not. The various chapters raise money through drives, bake sales, auctions, special events, etc. (It's no piece of cake going hat in hand to the public when so many other organizations are doing the same thing.)

The Red Cross is not a "social organization"—it provides help for those who need food, clothing, shelter and furnishings following disasters such as fires, floods, tornados, train wrecks, explosions, etc.

The Red Cross conducts blood banks. It teaches first aid, CPR, lifesaving, water safety and physical fitness. It contacts those serving in the military when an emergency arises at home. (I know. When I gave birth to my son prematurely during World War II, the Red Cross flew my husband home while he was serving in the infantry.)

President Bush, in his inaugural address, called on those who were favored with wealth and power to take on the reciprocal obligation of helping those who lack the ability to take care of themselves.

You never know when you will need the Red Cross. Right now, it needs you, so please send a check to your local American Red Cross office today. The address is in the white pages of your telephone book. And thank you for reading this "magilla."

DEAR ABBY:

Your answer to "Mad in Montana" made me "Mad in New York." Mad's wife works in a factory where his best friend works. Mad and his wife are close friends with this guy and his wife. The guy becomes his wife's supervisor. As a "boss" he treats everybody harshly—including his best friend's wife—then comes the weekend and he wants the four of them to party together like "old times."

How could you, Abby? When a "friend" becomes your boss, he ceases to be your friend. No man can serve two masters. A friendship cannot survive where there is a business relationship. I learned long ago that you can't do business with a relative or close friend. To do so is the surest way to end a friendship. Surely, common sense should have taught you this.

WALLACE A. KRAPP

DEAR MR. KRAPP: You could be right. You could also be wrong. If this sounds like a copout, it's not. There are no absolutes in business relationships or family ties. Furthermore, all generalities are dangerous—including this one.

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential.)

Infected hip doesn't rule out replaced joint

DEAR DR. GOTT: Sixteen years ago I broke my right hip. It became infected with staphylococcus, and I was hospitalized for nine months. I was told I could never have an artificial hip because of the infection. Now I see my friends going around so well with their artificial hips, I'm wondering if I should risk it. I'm 65.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Stereotyping; being "masculine" is not consistent with requiring medical help. In my experience, this trend is being reversed. If you eliminate routine female examinations, Pap tests and pregnancy, the male-female ratio appears to be more equal. So, although women have traditionally been more inclined to get help for illness, more men are now doing so.

DEAR READER: One of the absolute contraindications to joint replacement is septic arthritis, the presence of infection in or near the joint. To replace a joint under these circumstances is an invitation to failure because the bacteria will dislodge the prosthesis.

I do not know whether you are a candidate for surgery; this decision should be made by an orthopedic surgeon who is familiar with your case. However, using today's newer, more powerful antibiotics, doctors can often treat bone infection and cure it. Therefore, joint replacement could be considered. The specialist can advise you.

For more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach to Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 92369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Do you think men or women are more likely to see a doctor for pain or illness? Why do you think there is a difference?

DEAR READER: Customarily, women tend to seek medical attention more often than men. However, the data may be misleading because normal pregnancy is often included in studies of gender-related medical visits. Thus, women have been unfairly represented in the statistics.

Even taking this into account, men are less likely to visit medical facilities. This is probably due to cultural, sex-role

Even if North and South did not play five-card majors, South should probably have bid four spades, not five clubs, over East's four hearts. Not satisfied that South was able to muster up a bid, North carried on to six — a rash action that produced an interesting problem in play. West failed to lead a heart for an obvious reason. So declarer won dummy's diamond king, cashed the club king, played a club back to his ace and led another club. West won the queen and continued diamonds. Now South came to his hand with the king of spades, picked up the remaining trump, and played the spade 10. Of course West covered with the jack, and declarer had no way of returning to his hand to take a spade finesse to dummy's eight-spot.

South overlooked the play that would have succeeded. When he led the third round of clubs, he should have discarded the diamond ace from dummy. Now West can return a diamond as before, but declarer will win with his jack. He can then pick up the remaining trump and, to improve his count of the hand, cash his other high diamond. He will then know that East started with one club, eight hearts and at least three diamonds. That makes it a percentage play for South to now lead the spade 10 from his hand. The play loses only when East's singleton is the jack, and wins against all other combinations. Should West cover, declarer comes back to his king and then plays up to the A-8 in dummy to bring in the suit.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
 March 21, 1989

Successful developments are likely in the year ahead either with or through people you've helped in the past. Something rather outstanding could happen because you were once kind enough to care.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today you may go out of your way to help someone who won't be fully appreciative of your efforts. Don't let this individual's ingratitude sour you on the rest of the world. Major changes are ahead for Aries in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) An acquaintance who isn't too well received socially might try to butt into your affairs today and identify with you in a matter that is important to you. Keep your distance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's to your benefit today to dress and conduct yourself in harmony with your peers. Deliberately setting yourself apart in any manner could be an error in judgment.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Guard against tendencies today to follow the path of least resistance in both work or play. If you don't put forth your best efforts, it will be reflected in the results.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Carefully check the credentials of anyone you permit to handle your financial or business affairs today. An improper delegate could end up costing you more than you gained.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Showering an associate with unearned perks today could set a bad precedent. This treatment may be expected as standard procedure from now on.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Usually you are tasteful, artistic and imaginative, but today these qualities might be dormant and you could behave or dress in ways that will not enhance your image.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be extremely careful how you handle a sensitive friend today who holds you in high esteem. Feelings will be wounded if this person is taken for granted.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Being yourself today will be far more effective and becoming than trying to imitate someone else's style. Don't attempt to play a role that doesn't suit you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Everyone enjoys hearing nice things said about themselves, but be careful today, because you may not be able to discern between sincerity and manipulative flattery.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you are presently spending more than your budget allows, it would be wise to remember the bills will eventually come due. Don't set yourself up for a case of spender's remorse.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) People you treat politely will respond similarly today, but be prepared for rude reactions from those to whom you forget to say please or thank you.
