So it went. One finds its ancestor in army basic training. I remember it went something like this in the dear old first summer of the Korean War. We were ordered to have clean sheets for Saturday inspection. But one week we were given no clean sheets from the Post laundry so we slept on our mattress covers, which got dirty. After inspection, the platoon was restricted to quarters. "You didn't have clean sheets," our sergeant said. "How could we have clean sheets if the clean sheets didn't sergeant. "The regulations say you gotta have clean sheets."

"But we can't have clean sheets if there are no clean sheets." "That," said the sergeant, "is tough."

Anyway, I lay on the beach reading Burke, thinking how the Republican Party has been wheelin' and dealin' . . . and about the DEMOKirks and how disillusioned they must be thinking about Claude Kirk's campaign promises in November - "The best man for the job regardless of party affiliation . . .
