Municipal Band Wins Enthusiastic Praise For Evening Program

The Thursday night concert on the balcony of the Hotel Valdez by the Sanford Municipal Band are growing more and more popular as was evidenced last night by the large number who listened to the entire program, and many were the expressions heard in praise of the selections made by Director Reizenstein. The program last evening embraced a wide range of selections and the members were beautifully rendered.

A descriptive number, "A Hunting Scene" from Bucalossi elicited much enthusiastic applause from music lovers in the audience. Director Reizenstein announced today that more than 50 boys and girls had enrolled in the juvenile band and that this number would be increased as soon as the schools closed. At a meeting held at the army this week, the director arranged the schedule of instruction for the boys and girls, and instructing them at his studio. Assembly instruction will be given at intervals as the groups make progress on the various instruments, he said.

SENIOR CHAMBER DISCUSSES CITY'S ELECTRICAL RATE

Mayor Lake And City Attorney DeCottis Explain Legal Status of Franchise and Eleven-Year Contract

An informal discussion of the recent offer to Sanford of a 20 per cent cut in electricity rates with an explanation of the legal status of the power company's franchise by Mayor Forrest Lake and City Attorney George A. DeCottis, was the feature of the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon.

Mayor Lake, who presided at the luncheon in place of President Edward Higgins, addressed the meeting and told of the offer made by the power company and of the unwillingness of that company to give up its franchise and to contract with the city, both of which have 11 years to run besides.

Mr. DeCottis explained the legal status, stating that there was no law in Florida which gave the city power to take over the electric system without the consent of the company.

Mayor Lake then stated that the American Electric Power and Light Company is planning to build a huge power plant in this territory and that it would be used for the city with a 11-year contract on its hands, to attempt to go into the electric business at this time.

The mayor said that he is now making efforts to have the company locate the plant in this county, and called on the real estate men and others to investigate and suggest locations which might be offered to the company for the erection of the plant in Seminole.

T. L. Long addressed the meeting declaring that eight cents was too high a rate to be charged the city of Sanford for electricity and asked the Chamber of Commerce and City Commission to investigate the cost of making electricity here. Mayor Lake told Mr. Long that the commission would be glad to pay engineers who would prove that his claim as to the cost of electricity were correct.

Four Defendants in Case Given Freedom

Secretary Says He Merely Introduced Michelson's Sister to the Attorney-General

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Twin Michelson, San Francisco attorney and three Chinese who were on trial with him, were acquitted in the United States District Court Thursday on a charge of conspiring to bribe a federal immigration inspector, after Grove L. Fink, the prosecutor, had charged that Secretary of the Navy Wilbur had "interfered" in the case.

Michelson is charged with attempting to bribe Immigration Inspector Patrick Farrelly to allow Chan Bing, a Chinese actor, to enter this country without proper credentials.

Fink made the following statement to the jury: "In a previous address to you I made inference that Curtis D. Wilbur, secretary of the navy, was attempting to interfere with prosecution of this case. I now withdraw this inference and make the direct statement that he is interfering."

Writes To Justice Head
"I sent a letter to John G. Sargent, Attorney General, in which he said that Attorney Michelson was being prosecuted on evidence not sufficient to warrant action. Secretary Wilbur should have known better than to do a thing of this sort."

"He has been a lawyer and a judge, and from the knowledge he gained from those positions he should have known that to that sort of thing is a direct act of interference."

"He took it upon himself to write this letter without direct knowledge of whether the charges were true or not."

Helped Sister Meet Sargent

WASHINGTON, May 22 Secretary Wilbur, who was accused by District Attorney Fink in federal court at San Francisco Thursday of having "interfered" in the case of Twain Michelson, asserted that his only connection with the matter was the introduction of Mrs. Philathia Martin, Michelson's sister, to Attorney General Sargent.

CUT WASTE IN STATE AFFAIRS HOOVER URGES

Secretary of Commerce In Address, Says Government Should Be Reorganized To Prevent Overlapping Duties

3 Primary Reforms Are Given In Talk

Cabinet Head Declares 200 Bureaus at Present Could Be Very Easily Reduced

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Elimination of waste in overlapping governmental agencies through reorganization of administrative functions was advocated by Secretary Hoover in a prepared address at Thursday night's session of the annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

"What we need," said Mr. Hoover, "is three primary reforms: First, to group together all agencies having the same predominant major purpose under the same administrative supervision; second to separate the semi-judicial and the semi-legislative and advisory functions from the administrative functions, placing the former under joint minds, the latter under single responsibility, and third, we should relieve the president of a vast amount of direct administrative labor."

Opposition to some vested habit and the offending of some organized minority, with paid propagandists aroused, the commerce secretary asserted, have thwarted such a program, although "every president from Roosevelt to Coolidge has urged upon congress reorganization of the executive arm of the government."

DEFENSE ASKS SPEEDY TRIAL FOR SHEPHERD

Only Two Jurors Are Detained Out of 70 Veniremen Quizzed Since Trial Opened

Jury Tampering Charge Is Denied

Private Detective Is Grilled By Crowe In Investigating Case

CHICAGO, May 22.—Determination to speed up selection of a jury to try William Darling Shepherd on an indictment charging he fed typhoid germs and subtle poisons to his wife's youthful ward, William Nelson McClintock, so that he might obtain the youth's $1,500,000 estate, was expressed late Thursday by defense counsel, but adjournment of court found their intentions negated. Only two tentative jurors were backed up overnight instead of the three as on each of the preceding days of the trial.

The first panel of four jurors apparently was agreed upon late yesterday when William Scott Stewart, of defense counsel, accepted their tender by assistant State's Attorney Gorman, but the prosecution immediately reconsidered and removed one of the men by exercising its fourth peremptory challenge. In accepting the four men, Stewart refused to question one of them and that man also was removed by a state peremptory challenge just prior to adjournment.

"I will demonstrate by actions that I want this case put through to a decision" said Stewart. "I will accept the first 12 men tendered me by the prosecution. I want this talk of jury tampering halted. We believe any 12 men the state decides are sufficiently honorable for them to pass as jurors will satisfy our demands also. We have nothing to fear as to the outcome of this trial."

Philto Barry, called as a venireman, reported to Robert E. Crowe, the state attorney, that he was "approached" by a man who said he was acting in behalf of Shepherd's defense. Detectives from the state's attorney's office were sent to search for the man referred to only as "Cal."

The county grand jury, which indicted Shepherd for the murder of young McClintock and refused to name Mrs. Shepherd, met in special session again today to investigate further the disappearance of Robert White, claimed by both prosecution and state as a material witness.

JACKSONVILLE, May 20—Governor John W. Martin is heartily in sympathy with the American Legion Endowment Campaign for disabled men and orphans of veterans and for the establishment and maintenance of a Chair of Americanism in the University of Florida. This announcement was made by Col. William E. Kay, state chairman of the Florida, upon receipt of a letter from the chief executive.

Governor Martin, in his letter to Col. Kay said, "I am heartily in sympathy with the movement and it would give me great pleasure to see the citizens of Florida as they have always done when called upon to support a great cause, come forward with a generous response."

The letter in full, follows:—"I have learned with great satisfaction of your selection as state chairman of The American Legion Endowment Fund Committee and of your acceptance. The great work which the American Legion is carrying on to aid the Veterans suffering from wartime hardships, to procure aid and protection for the orphans and to establish a chair of Americanism in our State University is most commendable. Your selection to head the movement in Florida will prove to be a wise one for the great cause and will afford you an opportunity to perform a service for which you are well equipped and in which you will put your heart and soul. I am sure the good people of the state will respond generously to the appeal of the committee. No more worthy cause could be presented. Channel War Wrecks Menace to Fishermen

BRIXHAM, Eng., May 20—The severe losses to trawling gear which the fishermen of this port have suffered through fouling war wrecks in the English Channel threaten to sadly deplete the fishing fleet. In some cases sets of gear valued at hundreds of pounds have been destroyed. At a meeting organized by the Brixham Council it was decided to suggest to the government the creation of a compensation scheme out of the German reparations payments on the basis that the fund should bear 50 per cent of the losses and the smack owner should run a personal risk of 40 per cent and contribute a 10 per cent premium for insurance benefits. Reuben King, a smack-owner, stated that one owner in two years in two years lost five sets of trawling gear and additional losses amounting to the equivalent of two more sets—seven sets in all. Within a distance of 20 miles from shore there were so many war wrecks that it was not safe to use fishing gear, he said. James Blackmore, president of the Smack-Owners Society, declared that the losses for 12 months amounted to $27,000 and even then some 40 or 50 owners did not account for their losses.

Coral Gables Display At New York Exposition Attracts Much Interest

CORAL GABLES, May 22.—The Exposition which is held in Grand Central Palace, New York City registered for its week's attendance the greatest number of people who have entered an exposition of this character.

The Coral Gables immense display is the largest of any exhibition, and is one of the most popular displays shown as it was the official representation from Florida, and pictured the Coral Gables in its truest Southern Exposition evident. It is considered to be one of the successes ever attended in the metropolis as practically every paper carried many columns of descriptive matter, and feature sections were filled with pictures of scenes from this exposition.

Coral Gables seems to have attracted the camera man possibly more than any of the exhibits is the result of the many pictures appearing in the press and is every indication as to the popularity of this section of the south.

The Southern Exposition continues throughout this week with especially arranged feature events that make it one of the most attractive places for visitors to New York and for New Yorkers to go even though they are not especially interested in the development of the south.

The Coral Gables display contribution also includes orchestra concerts by Jan Gaber and his Coral Gables Orchestra, dance features by Tina and Kharida and lectures by the "Tah" Whisker Jennings Bryan.

Several small coins, dated in the fifties, and the remains of an old tinback marker were all that remained with the bones of a pioneer found in a hollow tree on the Missouri Valley River bottom near Hamburg, Iowa. It is believed he hid in the crevice to escape Indians and was unable to climb up to the entrance hole from the inside of the tree.

ANAEMIA

A remarkable discovery has enabled thousands of worn-out, tired, nervous, anaemic people to increase their strength and energy, often in two weeks' time, and to quickly change their leaden pallor and listless look to the pink skin, rosy lips and sparkling eyes of glowing health. Formerly they were given the old-fashioned tinctures and pills made from mineral iron, which many doctors now say are scarcely assimilated at all, and so give little benefit. But since the discovery of a new combination of organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which keeps the oxygen in our own blood, is promptly taken up by the blood, thousands have found that they can banish every trace of tiredness and distress, these peculiar pains and that nervousness incident to old age, in a few short weeks. Furthermore, Nuxated Iron does not injure the teeth or disturb the stomach. It quickly helps build up rich, red blood that carries new strength, vitality and youth to your whole body. No matter how weak and ill you feel, or how many other medicines you have tried in vain, make this convincing test: Take Nuxated Iron for just two weeks, and if you do not notice a wonderful improvement in strength and energy and look years younger, the druggist will promptly refund your money. Nuxated Iron is sold under this absolute guarantee by all good druggists.

HIS GIFT TO ME

I thank God for His Gift to me, It's just as I need it can be, And in His word I always find, Rest for my body, soul and mind. It's taught me that I need not strive, That He in me is now alive. And, oh, I praise His precious Name, That as a little Babe He came, And took a body just like ours, And in it conquered Satan's powers. That He was wounded, bruised, and torn, That through His death we might be born, That into death itself He went, That He was willing to be spent, But He did something more, praise God, For on the jaw of death He trod, And to the devil gave his due, And put the "kibosh" on him too. Now, surely He, who conquered all, Can care for us, whatever befall. And mid the trials that annoy, I know He gives us peace and joy.

Now, in these days when men deny, That Jesus came for us to die, And trample underneath their feet, That Blood, which is our sure retreat, I KNOW His blood has made me whole, And that He's living in my soul. Mrs. L. A. Wilcox.

"You do not need to go abroad to study. We have just as good teachers right here in this America, as they have abroad. I'll have all these foreign teachers on my rack for saying it—but it's true and I'll stick to it," says Madame Schumann-Heink. And Sanford boys and girls don't need to go away to expensive preparatory schools to learn anything either. They can learn just as much in Sanford High School if they will study.

Yes, We All Need Comparison

It could not be done, perhaps except in the case of defenseless children or dependents who could not "answer back", but wouldn't it be comforting if you could take the chronic complainers of your acquaintance and compel them to view with understanding the anguish and unhappiness of people who have real suffering and sorrow?

The woman who demands vast sympathy because her head is aching, the man who talks dolefully of his dimming sight—what a list of "bellyachers" could be made from people who are fairly staggering under the abundance of their blessings.

A girl we know went into a storm of tears not long ago because her naughty brother clipped an enticing curl from the back of her head. She wept until she was ill. She upset all the family's peace, and for days she went about with a face that would call an undertaker from his long sleep. The girl vowed that her beauty was ruined. Her whole life, she felt, was marred and broken. It would have been laughable, if she did not happen to have miserable ways of working out her gloom upon her relatives.

And down the street was another girl all twisted from a terrible accident in her childhood. Out of her beautiful eyes looks a beautiful soul. Her tears never come except as she weeps over other people's troubles. Somehow back there in the awful weeks following her accident, she learned to suffer alone, learned that it is small and cowardly to load one's grief upon other people, or permit one's sadness to darken other people's lives. But this girl's misshapen body was no sermon to the other girl.

The girl of the missing curl is a child of Fortune. Everything seems to have been showered upon her, loving parents, a luxurious home, beauty, riches, talents—but she regards them as a matter of course. She does not count her blessings. She is never especially grateful. She gets sympathetic listeners to her complaints because she is young and pretty. But as she grows older, her complaining habits will find scant patience. Where her friends now go to almost any trouble to relieve her fancied troubles, "friends" of her later life will avoid her. Even when her troubles become real, she will find that people have set her down as a chronic whiner and all the bitterness of indifference and neglect will be her punishment.

What we all need is comparison. We all need to measure our troubles alongside the big troubles of other people. We all need to magnify our appreciation of the good things that come our way, and to minimize the alleged ailments and disasters we think we have encountered.

But, as we said in the beginning, it isn't often possible to make the chronic whiner take an understanding look at people who have real suffering and misfortune to bear. The chronic whiner refuses to be shamed into silence. He knows nothing about taking stock of his compensating blessings. Each of us can examine his own case, and see just how it goes.

Just Another of Today's Wonders

What's this going to do to the fruit-growing industry in Florida? Scientists report the successful use of a "rubber cover" for fully-ripened fruit which shuts out all air and thus prevents decomposition.

The fully ripened fruit is dipped into a rubber composition which hardens sufficiently to make a complete cover. When quite cold, the cover becomes brittle and can easily be removed, leaving the fruit in the condition it was in when packed. Mangos from India, sugar-apples from South-Sea Islands, delicate-skinned tropical fruits of equatorial lands are to travel to northern markets, safely protected against decay in transit by their rubber coats!

The Herald hasn't seen any of this fruit in its rubber cover. It hasn't even seen a lengthy description of the possibilities of this method of preserving fruit. But if it is to work, it does not require much imagination to see to what extent that kind of fruit-packing could serve mankind. If fruit in such a covering can be kept in good shape indefinitely, why can't all other perishable food products? If there is no chance for microbes to work from the inside if air is excluded, it would seem that there is no limit to the possibilities of the rubber coverings.

Taking it all in all, these miracle days in which we are living are wonderfully interesting. Never in the history of the world were there so many thinkers engaged in searching things. We have learned to regard the Magellans, the De Sotos, the Columbuses of the ages as the great discoverers, but there are as worthy discoverers living today.

Luscious ripe pineapples clad in rubber coats traveled to the North Pole country in the cabin of an air-ship slipping along two hundred miles an hour! Oh, Isabella of Spain what jewels would you give for that!

MY FAVORITE STORIES

BY IRVIN S. COBB

In Baltimore, years ago, there was a shot tower that stood up in the air to a considerable height. Almost at the base of the shot tower a serious-minded German ran a saloon.

Eugene Havez, afterwards a New York theatrical man in California, lived in Baltimore when the shot tower stood there. One day Havez and a friend of his found themselves in the vicinity of the shot works. Both were thirsty and both, as it happened, without funds. Havez had an idea.

He outlined it to his companion and then they entered the saloon in a violent argument with each other. "I'll bet you anything I'm right," Havez declared.

"You're wrong," stated his friend stubbornly, "you're just natural."

NEEDED: COMMON SENSE

ST. PETERSBURG TIMES

Dean Inge's preference for an autocratic form of government may be explained by situations like the deadlock over the 17 oil tanks at Pearl Harbor, the Hawaiian naval base. It exemplifies, to an irritating degree, the impotence that sometimes manacles government by the people.

The 17 tanks were built by E. L. Doherty under the terms of his lease of the Elks Hills oil reserve. The validity of the lease has been attacked by the United States in the Teapot Dome suit, recently heard before a California judge. Fearful that acquiescence might be construed as accepting the lease, the government has not permitted Doherty to fill the tanks with oil. In consequence exposure is damaging them. During the recent maneuvers in Hawaii naval officers found that corrosion had made considerable headway, and pointed out that it could be halted if enough oil to cover the bottom were turned into the tanks. This could be done by turning a single valve connecting these tanks with a num-

A $2,000,000,000 WORD. THE ROOSTER KILLED HIM. WHY SHOULD FORD BUY IT? STANDARD OIL IN THE AIR. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

MR. WOODBRIDGE, new head of the Advertising club of the World, says the daily newspaper is the "premier advertising medium for selling merchandise quickly."

To the real business man it is more than that. It is the ONLY advertising force that can BUILD UP A NAME. Reputation is Reputation.

And only the daily newspaper, morning and evening can give to a REPUTATION the REPETITION that creates value. Dollars put into brick, mortar, steel and glass time will wear down. Money invested in the advertising, building up a name WORTHY to be advertised, will outlast all your factories.

Ford's factories perhaps are worth fifty or a hundred millions. The one word "FORD" is worth at least TWO THOUSAND MILLIONS.

ANDRES MACARDO, a Filipino gentleman, whiled away dull hours at cock fighting. As he sat in the cockpit, where a fine bird belonging to him had just killed another bird, the victorious cock turned and buried the steel gaffs, fastened to his legs, in the stomach of Mr. Macardo. That gentleman soon died.

IF THAT happened often, cock fighting would lose its charm. In the future wars, fought from the air, kings and other rulers that used to START the wars, and then stay at home, will know how Mr. Macardo felt when the rooster turned on him. Then wars will lose THEIR charm.

SOMEBODY SAID Henry Ford wanted to buy the biggest United States steamship, Leviathan. The "authorities," whoever they may be, say, "Nonsense, Ford could not possibly use the Leviathan."

WHY COULDN'T HE? MR. FORD might want to organize trips to Europe at reduced rates for public school teachers and high school students.

Might it not interest him to say, "I will give thousands of American boys and girls the chance to see the world that I didn't have my youth."

"And, sending teachers with them, I shall remind the people that public school teachers deserve the nation's gratitude."

THIS IS good news. Standard Oil will maintain a fleet of flying machines, for commercial use. Flying for the headquarters of the great oil machine in different states, and later in foreign countries.

WASHINGTON WAS able to take care of the British in 1776 because, in the regular course of their lives, shooting bears, deer, wolves and Indians, American farmers were accustomed to handling a rifle.

This country will be prepared against all attacks, within twenty-five years, because employees of great industrial units, steel, oil, sugar, wholesale firms of all kinds, in the regular course of their business, will know how to handle flying machines. And the flying machines will number tens of thousands.

That will discourage invasion, as the shipbuilders and daring sea captains of the British Isles protected them from invasion.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, Jr., and Edsel Ford, sons of the world's two richest men, may some day do for this country, with their flying ships, what Jacques Cousteau, the great French merchant, did with his money and ships for his ungrateful King, Charles the Seventh, 500 years ago.

SOUTH AFRICA, land that produces gold, returns to the gold standard, imitating old Mother England. Down there, below the equator, under the hot sun, tens of thousands rush to a new gold field. About ten times as many blacks as whites are in the rush. But, needless to say, when the dust settles the whites will have the gold dust.

What would happen to the gold standard and the world's finance if this new gold field should suddenly multiply by two, or ten, or twenty the world's gold supply? That, however, will surely not happen.

All through the ages, white men have cut each other's throats to get them, gold and silver have maintained their value, based on scarcity, with slight fluctuations. Providence seems to have arranged that for its mysterious reasons.

DEAN INGE, who doesn't like to be called "bloomy," is in London, describing America. He says our "rushing energy is mostly pose" and the language we speak is something like the English language. On the whole, the dean is friendly.

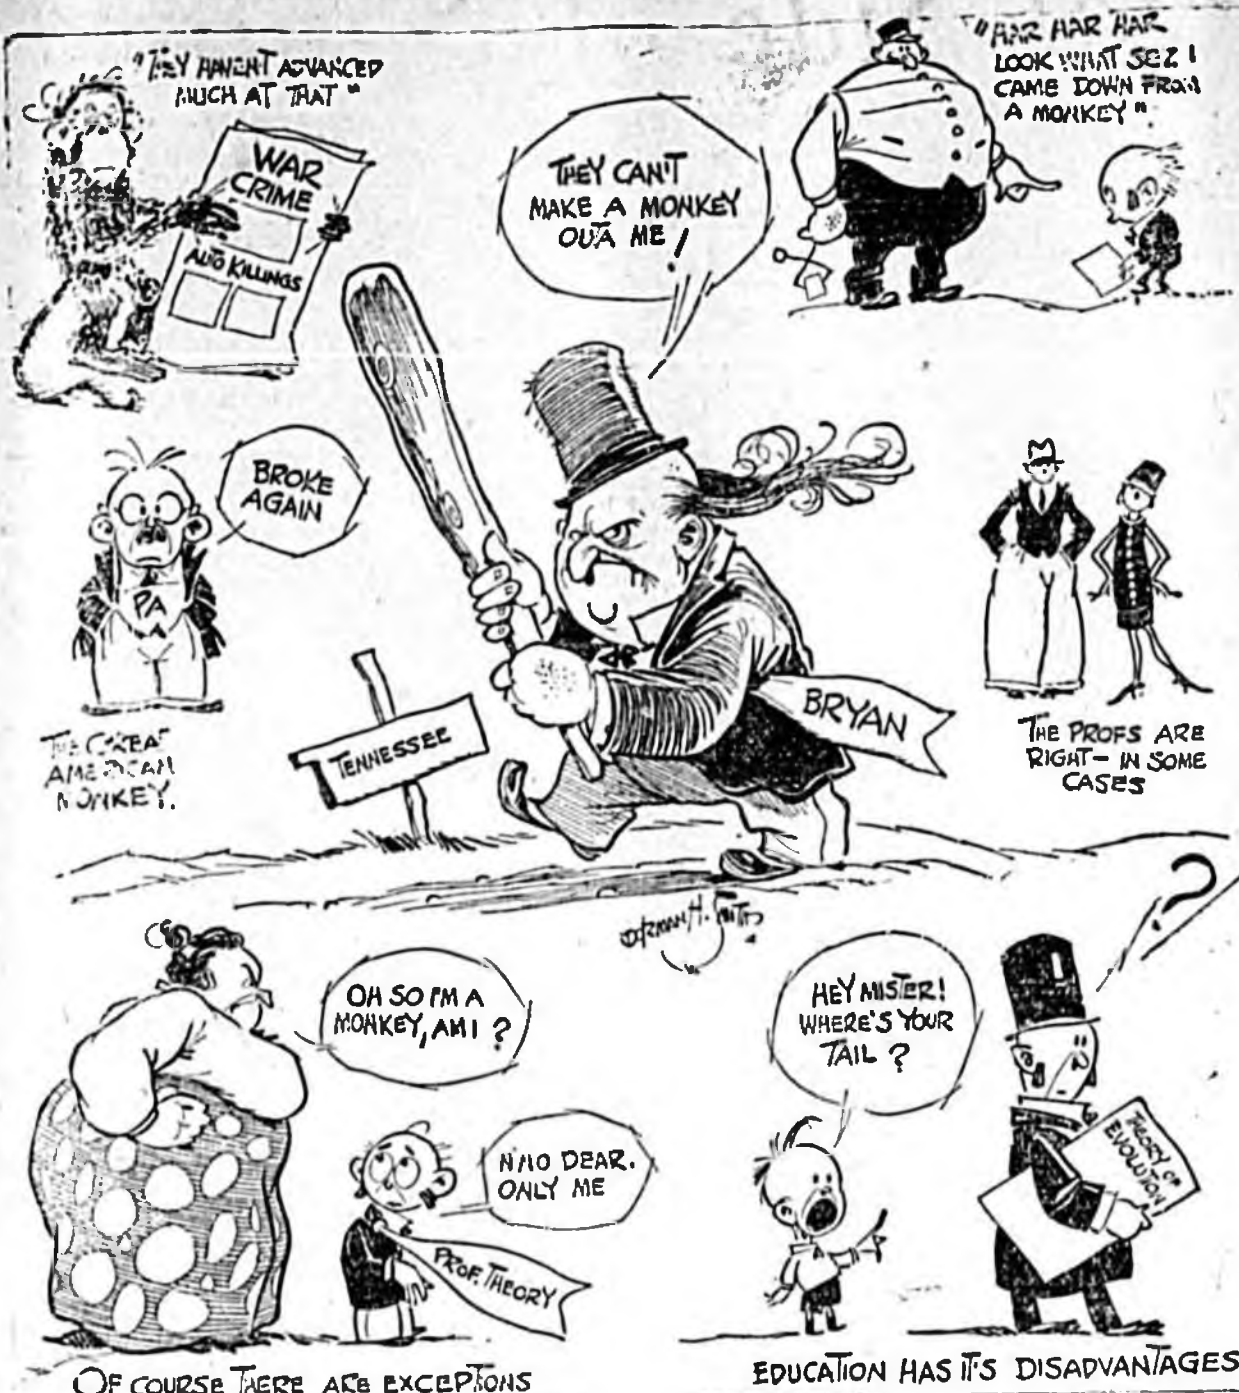

In one of his essays he tells you that when St. Paul thought he was inspired he was really suffering an attack of epilepsy.

If St. Paul could stand that, we ought to be able to stand criticism of our Yankee language.

MONKEY BUSINESS

THE SEERS OF NATURE

MIAMI TRIBUNE

For those who live so largely out of doors as do the people of Florida, in peculiar intimacy with landscape and sea, with sky and stars, there comes a wealth of opportunity for study and reflection about nature not known to many other parts of the world.

In the midst of the coming of various institutions, some day there will be found in Greater Miami an astronomical observatory in which the peculiar beauties of the southern heavens will be revealed as an added attraction to our already rich endowment of privileges.

"If a man would be alone," said Emerson, "let him look at the stars." For those who have a seeing eye the stars are particularly wonderful from our South Florida vantage point. It is difficult to describe just what a love of the stars accomplishes for the thoughtful and imaginative person. They seem to separate us from earthly things, giving a distinct cut-off between the care and struggles of the mundane world, affording the spirit of man a chance to breathe and expand. The stars are entering of beauty to the seeing eye.

They lighten the universe of night with a sublime relation to the universe. Men acquire an original relation to the universe. There is a new sun, a new sky, and new stars in every day and every night for him who would see them.

"To him who in the love of nature holds communion with the various forms. She speaks a various language."

Hermetic said that you cannot bathe twice in the same river. Every natural object acquires new aspects through our change of mood. The wealth of inspiration in the landscape, in the water and in the sky, belongs only to those who have trained their eyes and imagination to see them.

Nature in this part of the world takes on some of her most hospitable forms. In such sunshine as one finds here a man casts off his years. In the breath of this springtime as perpetual youth. The sun is the great restorer. It is the handmaid of nature in her great repair shop.

In the tranquil mornings before the land breezes change off with the ocean winds, in the rustle of the palm leaves filled with the

A NAVY OR PIRACY

TAMPA TIMES

The average American citizen has become so accustomed to maritime warfare as conducted under rules of humanity and civilization by great armed fleets that he does not realize the conditions which would prevail if the regular navies of the world were abolished and war should come upon a world unprepared.

To wage war under such conditions the nations engaged would be compelled to arm all the merchantmen and send them out priveteeing with undisciplined crews and irresponsible untrained officers. History is full of accounts of the horrors of war waged under such conditions. Piracy and outrage has followed in the track of privateers in all the world's past wars. Massacred non-combatants and burned cities were the fruits of the privateer system; it will appear again in future wars if the regular navies of the world are altogether abolished and nations are forced to rely on armed merchantmen in case there should come a war.

In case of such a war the nation which has the greatest number of merchant ships would automatically gain control of the sea. At present one of the great powers of the world has over 1,000 merchant ships—more, in fact, than ourselves and the three next combined. This would give com-

West Coastal Highway Bill Is Before Solons

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 20: A proposed state west-coastal highway between Miami and Pensacola by the way of Tallahassee is before the legislature in a bill introduced in the senate.

This highway would follow the Tamiami Trail from Miami to Tampa and, from the connection there with St. Petersburg, would trace the west coast through Clearwater, Crystal River, Cedar Keys, and Hampton Springs, connecting at the latter point with State Road No. 19 into Tallahassee.

From Tallahassee the road would run south to St. Marks, thence to Apalachicola and from there along the coast through Port St. Joe, Panama City, Camp Walton and Milton, connecting there with State Road No. 1 into Pensacola.

Wallace And Cox Fight To Draw In Bout Which Opens Boxing Programs At Armory

Young Wallace, of New Orleans, and Bobby Cox, of Jacksonville were given a draw decision last night in their bout, which opened the boxing season here under the management of "Seaman" Mitchell at the National Guard Armory.

Many of the fans were of the opinion that Cox was the winner due to the fact that he was the aggressor throughout and kept Wallace leaning back on the ropes most of the time. Cox began carrying the fight from the very first and for several rounds it appeared as if he had Wallace at his mercy, but Wallace from his position on the ropes found many openings which he used to advantage in getting at Cox's face and body. In one round only Wallace was willing to get out in the ring and slug.

Captured Flag Is Returned

After 60 years in strange hands, an old battle flag of the Tenth Louisiana Regiment, captured at Cold Harbor by the Eleventh Connecticut Regiment in 1864 has been returned by its captors to New Orleans and placed in Memorial Hall. Captain James Dinkins, youngest Confederate officer of that rank, is shown receiving the tattered banner from Commander Ira R. Wildman of Connecticut.
