

Windjammers Sail Main Once More; Now Being Used As Movie Ships

SAN PEDRO, Feb. 23. (AP)—Davey Jones, late of deep sea points, is holding open house here these days. And he rubs his hands and chuckles right gleefully for the ghosts of dead ships are sailing the Main.

Almost a score of famous old windjammers which made history a couple of generations ago are limping into the harbor under tattered sails. From rotting wharves where they have been tied up for years, or from mud banks where they have been aground and forgotten, these grey beards of the sea are coming here for a new lease on life and promise of success in new careers.

James Cruze, Paramount director, will use them in a production featuring the story of the frigate Constitution, famous in the first years of the nineteenth century as "Old Ironsides." Thereafter, in the fashion of motion picture props, they probably will run the gamut from doubling for the Leviathan, to a part of that fleet of a thousand once launched against Troy.

Among the first of the old time ships to arrive were the "William Irwin," the "Morse" and "Castle." Each had a remarkable history in sailing days and each before being abandoned on the Pacific Coast, was known in ports of the world.

Grizzled sailing men who sat on the docks here as the old craft limped up the channel, slapped their legs and told of memorable trips "around the horn," of adventures in a thousand ports and heroic seamanship. These ships will become the "Constitution," the "Constellation" and the "Philadelphia" of that early American navy.

Of the ships to join this unique movie colony, ten are coming from the Atlantic seaboard. Each is fully manned and coming under its own sail. Upon their arrival the property man will turn them into men o'war.

In addition to these large vessels, a score of smaller antiquated craft, mostly former fishing vessels, are on their way here and will swarm with pirates in movie-land's stories of the sea.

May Run

Mrs. John E. Baker, widow of the late Congressman Baker of California, may run to succeed him in the house of representatives, according to reports at Washington.

LETTERS BY SLEIGH

CAPPERCLEUCH, Scotland, Feb. 22.—Owing to the roads being blocked by snow the mails to this town are being conveyed by a horse-drawn sleigh over the field, and in other quarters goods are being conveyed by men on horseback. Several arenas on the Scottish borders have been cut off by snow and sheep farmers have suffered serious losses.

WILKINS TO FACE CRITICAL TEST AT POINT BARROW

Airplane Polar Expedition Flight Will Encounter Most Difficulties In Trip From Fairbanks To Point

DETROIT, Feb. 23. (AP)—The critical test of the Wilkins Arctic Expedition will come in the flight of the two planes from Fairbanks to Point Barrow, Alaska, in the opinion of Major Thomas G. Lanphier, who will accompany the expedition as unofficial observer.

The success or failure of the whole flight across Arctic seas will hinge upon the semi-experimental flight from Fairbanks, where the plans will be assembled, he said.

If the test flight gives good results, Major Lanphier believes a successful transoceanic trip will be presaged thereby.

"Any undertaking similar to this is more or less of a gamble," he declared, "but I believe we will have good fortune."

Four month leave of absence from Selfridge field, near here, where he is in command of the First Pursuit Squadron, and permission to accompany Capt. George H. Wilkins, were granted Major Lanphier by the war department.

May Claim Lands

Though lacking official credentials, deputizing him to act specifically, Major Lanphier believes his position as an officer in the United States Army will automatically empower him to lay claim on behalf of his country to any land the expedition might discover.

Oceanographers and students of arctic phenomena believe there is land in the vicinage of the North Pole, and though it is not a primary purpose to search for land, it is insisted that any found shall be claimed for the United States.

In the event that land is discovered, the first plane will continue its flight to Spitzbergen, as planned, while the second one will embark from Point Barrow to explore the find.

The winter maneuvers of the First Pursuit Squadron, of which Major Lanphier had charge and which were recently completed, were prolific of data and experience in the operation of planes in winter conditions. The effect of frigid weather on ignition and carburetion was studied closely, and great likelihood Alaskan conditions will closely approach those under which his squadron operated in Michigan.

Temperatures of ten and fifteen degrees below zero were reached frequently, especially at elevations of 5,000 feet and above. The taking-off and landing of planes on snow-covered fields and on the ice of rivers and lakes also were studied. This, Lanphier believes, will also be of value in accompanying the Arctic fliers.

Capt. Vincent Dixon, second in command, will be in charge at Selfridge during Lanphier's absence.

TIME TO CLOSE
"How's business going?"
"Like clockwork."
"Why, I heard you had failed."
"So I have. They've just wound up the business."

HIS TOUGH LUCK

"I'll never ask another woman to marry me as long as I live."
"Refused again?"
"No, accepted."

CHINESE OATH

MANCHESTER, Feb. 22.—"You shall tell the truth, and the whole truth. The saucer is cracked, and if you lie your soul shall be cracked like the saucer." This was the form of oath administered to four Chinese at Manchester yesterday in a case requiring their testimony. As the oath was administered to each, a saucer was broken on the floor of the witness box.

THREE BUILDERS

Which man of these, most nobly built? The hand that put the final gilt At last upon the final spire? Or he who swept away the mire And found the rock on which to rear The first firm wall? Or one who here Strengthened the structure when the gale Blew hard upon it? Each would fall Without the other. Who shall say, Which was the greatest? Lincoln's day Or Roosevelt's or Washington's? Which noblest of these noble ones? Though well a Washington may build, We need a Roosevelt to glid With his ideals, and brotherhood. The structure, built however good, And, when the lightning bolts make men cow'd, God give us Lincoln in that hour! Doubt if Lincoln could have done The task that fell to Washington, Doubt if Washington had death's sturdy blows of Roosevelt, Doubt if either of the two, Could do what Lincoln had to do. We need not make our great all things. For each to every structure brings The needed hand the needed time. Aye, there are Roosevelts to climb And gild the spire when spires are dim. And Lincoln, something gave us him. When only Lincoln's simple ways Could bring us through our saddest days, And in each storm, in each dire stress, His nation may recall and bless His Washington, the first of all, Who found the rock and laid the wall. —Douglas Malloch.

We are now more convinced than ever that it prevails, especially since we learned that Charlie Britt is carrying banners on his automobile advertising the Ku Klux Klan circus that is to be held here next week.

Sanford's Regatta

For years Sanford people have looked forward to the time when Lake Monroe would be the scene of a big mid-winter regatta. There have been many of us who have often wished that in some way Sanford's wonderful lake could be brought to the attention of the sportsmen who spend the winter months in Florida with their yachts and their speed boats.

The dream of many will be realized Friday when the first yachting event of the recently organized yacht club is held and when the first annual speed boat races take place. Lake Monroe will be filled with boats, and Sanford will take on the appearance of a yachtman's playground. Friday will be a notable day in the history of this city for at that time Sanford takes its rightful place along with other great resorts that offer facilities for boating. The big event of the week will bring to the attention of yachtsmen all over our state and in many parts of the nation the advantages this city has to offer.

Yachts and speed boats will come from all parts of Florida to participate in the races over the Lake Monroe course. With these boats will come strangers to this part of the state; and undoubtedly many of them will see Sanford for the first time. Many will be so favorably impressed with our city they will return to spend other seasons with us.

Sanford is truly becoming a great tourist city. It has come to the point where it can offer a variety of amusements for those who spend the winter here. With a fine new tourist hotel ranking with the best in the state, with an eighteen-hole golf course as good as any in Florida, with hunting and fishing on all sides, with the beautiful St. Johns River and Lake Monroe at the city's very door, with recreational facilities on all sides, what more could any winter visitor ask?

Lake Monroe offers protected waters such as are to be found in few other spots in Florida, and with such a body of water as we have, there is no reason why this city cannot become one of the most favored spots in the state as far as yachting is concerned. This is the goal which Commodore Emory and his fellow members of the yacht club are working toward and in their efforts to make it possible, they should have the hearty support and co-operation of all our people.

The Value of Conservatism

At this time when we must reluctantly admit that much Florida advertising matter is replete with rhetorical soaring and embellishments, with sometimes only a thin stratum of truth beneath a mass of fiction, those who are entrusted with the administration of Sanford's latest advertising campaign are acting wisely in their determination to place before the people of the state nothing but Sanford facts.

There are very few communities in any part of the nation that can boast of a more substantial development than that of Sanford. We have facts here concerning the resources of this section that cannot be paralleled in any other part of the nation, and the plan of the Chamber of Commerce to present these facts in their undressed form is an admirable one in many respects.

Sanford descriptive matter needs no dressing up to profoundly impress the reader with the assured future of this section. Sanford statistics of celery shipments and soil fertility tell a more convincing tale of this community's prosperity than the most select words in the "puffer's" vocabulary could ever do, and by confining the coming campaign to a strictly legitimate basis, Sanford will profit in two major respects.

First, the very fact that Sanford's advertising matter will contain conservative rather than superlative statements will appeal to the wearied reader of breath-taking advertisements as something different, something welcome by virtue of its uniqueness.

Second, the facts that Sanford will seek to impress on the nation, namely, its annual eight million dollar celery crop, its non-inflation of values and soil productivity are most effective in their naked form. Hard cold facts, accurate percentages and irrefutable statistics are what appeal to the investor today, particularly the Florida investor. The days of buying property on the strength of booklet's pipe dream description of "mass festooned oaks of centuries and placid, turquoise lakes" is gone forever. The present day buyer wants proof of continued prosperity, concrete evidence of substantiality. Sanford has the facts that appeal to prospective investors and the Chamber of Commerce will be acting wisely to publish these facts "as is."

Dressing the Part

Those of us who wish to make Sanford a tourist city cannot do so by merely wishing. While much progress toward this end has been made, there are many things yet to be done. We must talk for Sanford, give for Sanford and finally, dress for Sanford. This last point is possibly one that has never been seriously considered, but it is a point eminently worthy of consideration by many of us who, by our mode of dress, are unintentionally hurting this city's chances of being included in the category of popular resorts.

The character of a city is to a large extent reflected in the character of its citizens' dress. A tourist city is easily identified by the type of wearing apparel seen on the streets and the veteran transient in Florida for recreation knows this fact and often passes on the community where existing fashions clearly show that few tourists are present.

Clothes help make a community just as certainly as they help make the man, and Sanford should keep this fact in mind. The Herald is not advocating the general adoption of knickerbocker street wear, there are still enough real estate operators about town. Neither is it necessary to go to the extreme in sport wear and parade the avenues in costumes as resplendent as an Easter egg. What is advisable, and even necessary to a certain extent is the appearance on our streets of men and women clad in spring and summer clothing whenever the weather permits. On beautiful days like today spring bonnets and straw hats, light colored suits, white trousers, should feature the dress of our people.

On Friday several hundred visitors are expected for the first annual regatta of the Sanford Yacht Club. It is hoped Sanford citizens will bear in mind the advisability of dressing to impress these visitors with the fact that Sanford is the popular type of Florida community where linen suits and straws are worn for practically the entire year.

The presence of a few old felts and dark colored suits in the crowds Friday will not be conducive to Sanford's reputation as a resort.

LIFE CREATES THE form of each man in the fashion of his thought. One becomes predominantly what his prevailing thought dictates; he determines the mold within himself that life shall fill. With his mentality wide open to the One Life, and increasingly receptive to the divine inflow, his thoughts are in harmony with the Universal Mind and he manifests ease.—Eugene Del Mar.

DISEASE DENOTES FALSE thinking, and it is recognized generally by the physical symptoms that it produces. Of necessity, this physical evidence corresponds in character with the thought that originates it.—Eugene Del Mar.

As Brisbane Sees It

Advertising Pays. Yes, He Drinks Beer. The Horrible Universe. What a Size. By ARTHUR BRISBANE copyright 1926, by Star Co.

WITH COMMON sense Secretary Davis says to the Countess Cathcart, "Come on in." Strong-minded American women were indignant because Lord Craven was admitted here without question, whereas the Countess Cathcart was shut out. These were the two whose eloquence shocked our pure authorities. The double sex standard proved too much for our clean-minded, strong-minded women.

OBSERVE THE power of advertising, even when it isn't very good advertising. The countess lands from Ellis Island with a contract to appear on the stage at a high salary. She wouldn't have got that without the assistance of Uncle Sam.

In Washington city, on Washington's birthday one thousand men and women gathered to fight prohibition. They determined to change the Volstead law. They probably will not succeed with Coolidge in the White House, which means that they will have to postpone operations until after 1932.

THE DRYS mourn because somebody has proved that George Washington not only drank beer but brewed beer. It can't be denied because a recipe for brewing beer, excellent in all respects except that he put in too much maces and powdered insufficient time for aging.

YOU NEED not change your opinion of Washington on account of the beer. At least he drank good beer and light wines, taking whiskey rarely. He did what others did in his day, including some things that the pure don't do now. He kept slaves and other things.

IF WASHINGTON needs any excuse let it be remembered, however painful the memory may be to the bone dries, that the list of history's thousand greatest men that ever lived, contains not one teetotaler. In fact you couldn't find a teetotaler among the ten thousand greatest men in history. Mohammed was a pretended teetotaler. All the Latin races, all the peoples along the Mediterranean, drank wine and were proud of it. Takes in all the Greeks and Romans, Spaniards, Italians and French. You know about the Germans, British, Scandinavians.

THE FOUNDER of Christianity himself was not a total abstainer. At a wedding when there was not fact the host stood at receptions with his hands behind his back, to avoid shaking hands with his dear fellow Americans, what is the greatest thing in Washington's character?

It was unbreakable persistent courage, the greatest thing in any character except philosophical or inventive genius. Washington was great and he discouraged. Defeated time after time abandoned by many of his brave Americans, Washington went on.

He was made of iron, the majority of men are made of mush.

TO ASK "Are you interested in the universe in which your solar system is an atom," seems like asking a cosmopolitan whether anything interests him except his own little front yard in South Brooklyn.

But among the sixteen hundred million human beings on the earth, more than fifteen hundred millions are directly not interested in the universe, and at best four hundred and fifty millions do not know that there is any such thing as a universe.

They think this earth is all, with heaven above, hell below, the sun, moon and stars, created to fight us on our way, or help us to get to our fortune.

IF THE universe does interest you, with its billions of suns and planets in our little corner of space which we call the Milky Way, make a note of Dr. Hinde, able astronomer from Germany. He tells you that our solar system and consequently your corner lot and golf club happen to be almost exactly in the center of the Milky Way.

The nearest sun to our sun is relatively close by, only three light years from us, the distance that light going 186,000 miles per second would travel in three years, whereas Andromeda, the nearest of the outside universe, is one million light years away.

TERRIBLE, BUT considering the vastness of the universe, this earth will exist, warmed and lighted by the sun for at least one hundred million years more, giving the human race millions of years to work.

Many mistakes can be repaired in one hundred million years, even the great war.

MY FAVORITE STORIES By IRVIN S. COBB. When Sherman, after his march from Atlanta to the sea, turned his column northward he was temporarily halted just below Fayetteville, N. C., while his engineers threw a temporary bridge across a swollen creek, the Confederates in falling back having destroyed the only bridge which spanned the stream. The retreating Southern army had left behind in Fayetteville a population made up almost altogether of women, children, boys too young to fight and men too old for service.

Social Department Of Woman's Club Is Entertained By Mrs. A. W. Epps

The members of the Social Department of the Woman's Club were most delightfully entertained on Tuesday afternoon at a George Washington birthday party. Mrs. A. W. Epps was the charming hostess for the afternoon.

Baskets of red roses and sweet peas were used to advantage, while many large American flags were draped on the walls. At one end of the room was a large portrait of George Washington, with national flags and emblems on either side. Streamers of red, white and blue were festooned from the balconies and entwined the numerous columns.

The curtains of the stage were drawn, and a huge American flag was hung from the center.

Scores were kept with pretty pencils topped with heads of George and Martha Washington, and after several progressions, the prize for high score, a framed Colonial picture, was awarded Mrs. A. C. Foster.

Refreshments of patriotic brick ice cream, individual angel food cakes in the forms of miniature hachets embossed with tiny green cherries, were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. W. D. Gardiner and Mrs. C. W. Nelson of Eastis.

There were 10 tables of players.

The WOMAN'S DAY

Well, That's News.

Aha, the pie-faced girls will have their inning! The whole sisterhood must wear big hats if it doesn't want to ruin its looks and its eyes by squinting.

So says a medical savant, speaking before a ladies' hat association. So, it's a case of "us girls" wearing big hats to save our faces. For the savant explains that squinting hardens face muscles and ruins the pretties physiognomy.

A woman store detective, who has worked at the business for nearly 25 years, says she never yet has found the woman who stole because of necessity.

"It's vanity cases and pearl beads and fans and bead bags that we watch," she says, "not woolen underwear and warm stockings for the children."

Women can endure the lack of necessities for both themselves and theirs, but they can't endure the lack of style.

It's Being Done This Year.

When a man is introduced to a woman he never offers to shake hands. This is the woman's move. If she is a hostess, or if the introduction is not made only in passing, she does so. Otherwise, a bow and smile are enough.

These four little initials in three lower corner of an invitation, "R. S. V. P." are from the French sense.

Thousands Of Fish Buyers Assemble In Jap Markets Daily

It is the largest in the country and occupies 480,000 square feet. The market is an association of 750 wholesalers and 552 brokers who operate under the supervision of municipal authorities.

Two thousand fish mongers and buyers from numerous hotels and restaurants assemble at this market every morning between 5 and 10 o'clock and carry away with them from 800 to 1,200 tons of fish.

Dressing Well

The main color in your costume should never overshadow your own coloring. Your auburn hair and brown eyes should be brought out by your costume, not killed. Dressing to match or contrast with the eyes is a good rule, say authorities.

Bright colors emphasize size, age and skin blemishes. Light colors suggest gaiety and youth. Browns and tans are bad for sallow complexions and dull eyes. Bright shade, especially red, should be shunned by florid people.

A Tasty Recipe.

Bake a whole ham, and have on hand for suppers and sandwiches and the unexpected guest. Wash ham and place uncovered in a moderate oven to bake. Baste with the pickle syrup.

MARKETS

WALL STREET OPENING NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The sharp break in prices toward the close of yesterday's market resulted in a large overnight accumulation of selling orders, the extension today of which gave the opening prices a heavy tone. New York common sagged to a new low at 127 1/2. Pan American opened 1 1/2 points higher.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Cotton futures opened steady, March 20 1/2; May 18 1/2; July 18 1/2; October 18 1/2; December 17 1/2.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Bar silver 66, Mexican dollars, 51 1/2.

Retention of the five per cent renewal rate for call loans and higher figures for time loans—caused selling furies here and there but a considerable number of stocks reflected staunch support.

Some of the recently weak shares rebounded by the development of new weak spots. New York Canners, Cushman and United Fruit declined five points, Coca-Cola 3 1/2 and S. S. Kresge 3 1/2.

American Woolen preferred moved up 5 and the common stock, Montana Power and Remington typewriter 2 1/2. Railroads embraced in the Van Sweringen merger were strong, Chesapeake jumping 3 and Nickel Plate 5 points.

Prices were carried down 1 to 5 points in more than a score of issues in the first wave of selling. Resumption of bullish operations in the motors turned the course of prices upward again soon after the opening.

General Electric quickly made up all but a fraction of its five point break; American, after selling off 2 1/2 points, rallied a point above last night's close and Jordan Motors sold 2 points higher. Hudson, Studebaker, California Packing, Remington Typewriter, Woolworth, and several others moved up a point or so before end of the first half hour.

The market apparently paid little attention to outside news development, the chief of which was the passage of the tax bill by the House by an overwhelming majority. Several of the industrialists touched new low levels for the year in the initial outbreak of selling.

Foreign exchanges opened irregular. Demand Sterling held firm around $1.85 1/2. French francs were slightly higher at $3.65 1/2 but Norwegian Krone broke 25 points to 21.40 cancelling yesterday's gain.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Live poultry firm, broilers by freight 48; ditto by express 55; fowls by freight 31; ditto by express 31 1/2; geese by freight 32; dressed poultry irregular; fowls frozen 23 1/2@24.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 24.—Wheat prices showed an early upward trend today, but enlarged selling on the part of houses with eastern connections, led quickly to declines. Initial strength was due to unexpectedly firmness of Liverpool quotations, together with drought reports from Australia and India, as well as word that Germany had ceased offering wheat. On the other hand, very little North American wheat appeared to have been taken overnight for Europe. Chicago opening prices, unchanged to 1/2c higher, May, new, 1.09 1/2 to 1.70 and July 1.47 to 1 1/2 were followed by gains all around and then set back to well below yesterday's finish.

Corn and oats were relatively firm. Arrivals of corn here, 167 cars today, showed a decided falling off in volume. After opening unchanged to 1/2c lower, May 2 1/2 to 3 cents, the corn market eased down a little further, and then scored material gains all around. Oats started unchanged to 1/2c higher, May 4 1/2 to 4 1/2c, and later held near to the opening figures.

In line with hog values, the provision market was weak.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 24.—(A) As immigration inspectors prepared deportation proceedings against a dozen aliens taken in raids on "Little Italy" and planned to renew their roundup next week, a man identified as Boldelli, "the Eagle," was found shot to death in an alley today.

He was the forty-first victim of gang warfare in recent years. The man had been shot and apparently carried to the spot in an automobile. In his clothing was found a notice that his application for admittance into a society was refused.

A card found in his pocket was that of a partner of Grazio Troppen, the "burglar" whose assassin-nation climaxed others, precipitated the action of the immigration authorities to weed out undesirable aliens.

Police called attention to the fact that despite the drive, a lull of only one day had brought a killing. The immigration authorities after arresting 121 in raids on Monday night, suspended further roundups until next week. The officials made it plain they were not working against law abiding citizens of any racial groups but rather against certain undesirables whose operations brought disrepute to their countrymen.

Eastern Star Show Draws Good House To See Local Talent

The musical play, "Rosetime" was presented at the High School auditorium last night by members of the Eastern Star Lodge before a well filled house, and many hits were scored by the players and by the musical numbers during the three acts of the show.

The scenery, especially designed for the production, was declared by many in the audience to be especially attractive for a local stage offering and the producers were commended for their efforts toward making it a decided success from every standpoint.

"Sweethearts of the Screen," and "The Vamp Chorus" were two of the musical features of the evening and the chorus, in presenting these numbers, won a place in the hearts of the audience.

Special features were presented between the acts, one of which was an exhibition of the "Charleston" dance, by Miss Pearl Robson.

Every member of the cast was commended by the audience for the excellent manner in which the parts were filled. The production was reported to be a financial success by officials of the lodge.

Following is the cast of characters: Pa Perkins, Joe Graham; Ma Perkins, Mrs. R. C. Maxwell; Rose Perkins, Mrs. Rosamond Alford; Jerry Brown, Leon Parron; J. Dillingham Jones, E. Nelson Lane; Mile Jacqueline Deauville, Miss Frances Cherry; Props O'Reilly, L. C. Bebout; Babe Brunette, Miss Margaret Cowan; Penny Peabody, Clarence Priest; Squint Smith, Andrew Carraway.

INVESTIGATION IS ASKED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(A) Investigation of the activities of the Hungarian Minister to the United States and a detective agency alleged to have been employed by him in connection with the exclusion from this country of the Countess of Karoly was asked today by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana.

The aggressive spirit of the city has become a marvel of the state. Never before in the history of Sanford has there been such a display of civic pride and progressiveness as has been shown in the past few months. The continuance of this spirit will only shorten the time when Sanford will take its place as the foremost metropolis of Central Florida.

The featuring of the regatta will mean much to the progress of the city. We take this means of congratulating the Sanford Yacht Club for making possible the featuring of this initial water attraction.

Man Who 'Discovered' Diamond Field Wanted In Florida For Fraud

OSYKA, Miss., Feb. 24.—(AP)—The stock of G. W. Deland, a Chicago geologist and "discoverer" of a "diamond field" in the vicinity of this little town, has slumped considerably since yesterday when Sheriff G. W. Guy announced that he holds a warrant for the geologist's arrest.

The warrant, the sheriff said, was from Graceville, Fla., and charged Deland with having obtained money under false pretenses. Those who were closest to Deland, however, insist that he will return and "make good" on his claims that diamonds were to be mined.

Deland left here 36 hours after making the announcement that he had discovered the precious stones, stating that he was going for equipment, and would begin operations within 10 days.

His friends told Sheriff Guy yesterday that they were confident Deland would return to face the charge.

WARTS

If so, let food prices advance, by ever so little—and what a well by of course they may advance, independently of the Ward outfit. Weather, crops and other considerations, beyond human control, play their part in establishing the prices of all kinds of food. The "trust" will be blamed, if they do advance, anyway.

THEN it will be up to the officials who permitted such an organization to explain why they did permit it.

The expression "food trust" grates on the ear, at best. Everybody knows all about food, too—and what it costs. The average man doesn't care a hoot about the world court, super-taxation and foreign debt settlements, but let his food cost him a trifle more and he's right on the job. His wife, likewise.

NEEDLESS to say, if any such thing happens, the public will be reminded, aplenty, what administration was responsible.

So the "food trust" is likely to be heard from considerably hereafter.

So are some other things that "big business" and the "old guard" are wishing onto the country just now. If anybody's called on the carpet for it later, by the voters, the anti-administration "old guardmen" will try to wiggle out, on the ground that it wasn't their administration. Just now it's all in the name of "non-partisanship."

Everybody Agrees That Highland Park

Best Class Development in Sanford. There is no other with so many attractive features.

PRICES IN HIGHLAND PARK ARE NOT HIGH

Contrary, you can buy some of the most desirable

lots in Highland Park for actually less than prices asked for lots close to Highland Park are without any restriction whatever and that are wholly lacking in the features which set Highland Park apart in a class by itself.

Payment for lots in Highland Park are easy. Inducements, both in prices and terms, are extended to builders of high class homes.

Design of Highland Park gives a great diversity in the size and shape of lots ranging from 50 to 100 feet frontage and many are more than 150 feet wide. Some have areas two or three times that of the usual city lot, so do not be misled. Parties cite the prices on these as the prices of lots without calling attention to size or as in many cases to their strategic location. Come and see for yourself. Drive you over the property and show you some of the most desirable lots. And do not forget that prices of lots in Highland Park include sidewalks fully paid for and planting of grass, flowers and tropical shrubs between the curb and sidewalk; note the restrictions which give protection against any undesirable feature and insure the development of property along harmonious and artistic lines. If you are looking for cheap lots, you will not find them in Highland Park; but if you are expecting to find high prices, you will be exceedingly disappointed, and when you consider WHAT YOU GET, prices are exceedingly low and not half what they will be in a year from now. City utilities all over the property are already in—sewers, water mains, etc. The paving of every foot of the drives has already been contracted for. Highland Park is high and dry, close in and convenient to schools, churches, stores and their delivery routes, only ten minutes walk to the city and labor supply of Goldsboro and yet with an approach direct to town through its best residential section, free from every objectionable feature with many distinctive features of its own which you can find no where else.

What may happen to land and town lot booms, close in, high class stuff is present, but steadily on its unequalled agricultural and industrial and commercial into its destined place as one of the two largest cities of interior Florida. Buy edge property, close in, and you can never lose, but are sure to make big profits.

Buy the best you can get, for there is always a demand for the increasing prices. And in Sanford, that is Highland Park. Telephone 777 and we will take you all over Highland Park and explain all its attractive features.

Highland Park is a quarter mile square and lies between French and Oak Avenues and Franklin Streets.

1ST ANNUAL REGATTA OPENS FRIDAY

Sanford Yacht Club Plans Extensive Program For 1926

Organization Is To Top Interest in Regatta Pursuits

Regatta Chairman

As head of the special committee appointed to handle details of the regatta, P. A. Mero has been instrumental in bringing to Sanford some of the fastest craft in Florida waters.

YACHT BASIN IS VALUABLE AID TO VISITING CRAFT

Numerous Visiting Boats Make Use of Modern Facilities For Docking and Taking on Water and Other Supplies

The yacht basin at the foot of Park Avenue, built by the City of Sanford along the plans suggested by the authorities on boat and harbor construction, has been the first of its kind in the interior lakes of Florida and is becoming more popular daily as a place for craft plying the waters of Lake Monroe and the St. Johns river.

Almost square in shape, the basin is sufficiently deep to accommodate boats with a draught of up to four feet and is provided with the latest improvements for docking at a modern landing stage, with platforms and steps built on the concrete bulkhead. Pipes for water and rawing are expected to be added to the existing conveniences within a very short time.

The city recently installed the latest improvements for docking at a modern landing stage, with platforms and steps built on the concrete bulkhead. Pipes for water and rawing are expected to be added to the existing conveniences within a very short time.

Entering the basin from the north, boats may tie up at any point of the enclosure without danger of marring their finish on either bow or stern, and tying poles are in sufficient number to insure even the largest deck cruiser being securely moored.

The landing stage has been constructed in such manner as to make for the convenience of passengers alighting thereon, without danger of falling or of slipping off into the water. The platform is connected by steel rods to the concrete bulkhead.

Debris of any kind never enters the basin owing to the location of the opening. This feature insures cleanliness of the water at all times.

Popular With Tourists
The basin has proven very popular with visiting yachtsmen in the past six months and many boats have been tied here for various lengths of time. Several northern parties, who learned in Jacksonville of the wonderful views to be seen on a trip up the river, have cruised the waters of the St. Johns to Sanford and expressed themselves as being delighted with the trip and with the facilities offered them at the local basin.

When the St. Johns-Indian river canal bill was passed, the city of Sanford was the only one in Florida which had an aviation field built here.

NEW CITY PIER IS ATTRACTING MANY VISITORS

Tourists Delight in Fishing Off Big Concrete Structure at Foot of Park Avenue; Band Stand Now Being Built

Dancing Pavilion To Be Built Soon

City Beautification Committee Plans Elaborate Program For Dock's Improvement

The municipal pier at the foot of Park Avenue was designed with features incorporated in its construction which are believed to be essential toward making the pier both useful from a marine standpoint and at the same time conforming to the standards of beautification outlined by the city planning board and by the city beautification committee.

Seen from the air, or from a distance on land or water, the pier presents a picture of magnificence even in its state of incompleteness, and will hold many added attractions after the work of planting trees and shrubbery has been finished. The $15,000 bond shell which the city is erecting on the north end of the pier will further enhance the natural beauties of the pier and of the surrounding lake front, it is believed.

Not only is a band shell to be built, but a dancing pavilion is to be constructed, and will connect with the shell in such manner as to make the two structures appear as one. The architecture is to be distinctly that typical of all new construction in Florida, city manager W. H. Williams stated.

The beautification committee has ordered work to proceed immediately on the planting of shrubbery, grasses, flowers and trees on the parts of the pier not covered with walks. Seeds and plants have been ordered and the work is to get under way following the front layout of the shell and concrete walks.

Concrete is being used along the edges of the bulkheading and shell is to be used on the interior pathways.

The pier will probably not be used for commercial purposes at first, but the work is being allowed to use of the landing and anchoring facilities provided along the bulkhead, Mr. Williams said.

Due to some slight defects in the bulkheading of the pier, some of the sand in the enclosure began to slip a short time ago and the holes created had to be filled and allowed to settle properly before any work could be started. It is believed that no more trouble will be experienced due to shifting of the sands.

The pier has proved a very popular place for fishermen during the past few months. At all daylight hours many men can be seen sitting at the north end of the pier angling for the channel cat and perch. A number of good catches have been reported.

A strong wooden railing around the pier prevents water craft from being torn by the concrete wall in landing and also provides a good place for fishermen to spend their spare time.

Youngberg To Hear Bridge Petitions

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 24.—A public hearing on the application of the Atlantic Coast Line to the war department for permission to reconstruct a bridge across McQueen creek, six miles south of this city, will be held on Friday, February 26. It has been announced by Colonel Gilbert A. Youngberg, United States district attorney of Florida, who will conduct the hearing.

Plans show a vertical lift span approach with a horizontal clearance of 40 feet and vertical clearance of two feet above mean high water and 3.2 feet above mean low water.

PLAY IS DENOUNCED

LONDON, Feb. 24.—After a private performance of a play by Lord Lathom, critics are denouncing it as glorification of the oldest profession. The author admits it must be torn down for public performance, but says he has heaps of American offers.

Commodore J. R. Emory, whose untiring efforts in connection with the establishment of a yacht club at Sanford have resulted in the opening of a new era in this city's sporting history.

Construction Of Proposed City Freight Basin Would Improve Waterfront View

Beautification of the lake front between Park Avenue and the new water slips, bulkheading the deep canal, is expected to receive added impetus if the plans for the building of a new municipal harbor and warehouse for the storage of freight brought here by the transportation companies now operating and those expected to inaugurate service between here and Jacksonville. Other business is expected to materialize upon the completion of the St. Johns Indian river canal.

M. B. Hutton, who conceived the idea of building a protected harbor, has been enthusiastic in his statements regarding the benefits which would, he states, accrue from the city's operation of such a project. The plan, as proposed, would call for the dredging of deep water slips, bulkheading the deep canal, is expected to receive added impetus if the plans for the building of a new municipal harbor and warehouse for the storage of freight brought here by the transportation companies now operating and those expected to inaugurate service between here and Jacksonville. Other business is expected to materialize upon the completion of the St. Johns Indian river canal.

The necessity of the lake for yachts from the lower east coast will soon be furthered by the dredging of the St. Johns-Indian river canal and when that project is completed the lake will stand out as one of the finest inland motor boat racing courses in the United States.

Few lakes present such ideal facilities and such a channel for power boat operation as does Lake Monroe. Officials claim there is practically no limit to the speed a boat might make owing to the fact that no obstructions are jutting out into the course and no unuseful bars are present upon which there is a chance of grounding.

Visiting yachtsmen and spectators to the races to be held Friday are expected to carry away the impression that Lake Monroe holds not only charm through its beauty, but that as a body of inland water sports, cruisers and power boats may expect to find in it a safe, convenient, large and sporty course, unequalled anywhere in the country. City Manager W. H. Williams said today.

Blacksmith Trade Failing In England
ALFORD, England, Feb. 24.—The prospect of possessing a brown arm, standing romantically under a spreading chestnut tree, and going to church on Sunday, no longer appeals to English country lands. So few are being coming blacksmiths that the trade is faced with extinction.

Of 183 blacksmiths in this section of England only nine have apprentices. English wheelwrights and saddlers find equal difficulty in obtaining young men to carry on their craft.

Lake City—This city will soon have new brown scenery.

LAKE MONROE OFFERS IDEAL RACE COURSE

Five By Seven Mile Expanse Of Deep Water: Hailed By Yachting Enthusiasts As Unparalleled Regatta Stage

Entire Course Is Visible From Pier

Completion St. Johns-Indian River Waterway Expected To Increase Lake's Value

Lake Monroe, as a field for water sports, presents one of the finest bodies of water for yachting, fishing, bathing and other features of outdoor life to be found in the United States. In the opinion of those who have studied its many advantages from every standpoint of the sportsman.

Visiting yachtsmen, who have made the scenic trip up the St. Johns from Jacksonville enter the broad expanse of the lake with something akin to awe, and they view in its placid waters an ideal course for holding regatta and gala water sports the year round.

Excellent Racing Course
Presenting a seven mile straight stretch of smooth and sufficiently deep water, with an unobstructed view from practically every part of the north and south shores, the lake is admirably adapted to the staging of such races as are to be held over the course on Friday of this week.

Arrangements for the starting of all the races at a central point on the course, near the new clubhouse, in view of the fact that spectators on the entire lake front between the new hotel and the docks of the St. Johns Transportation Company may be able to witness not only the start, but the finish of all the scheduled events.

The absence of water hyacinths in sufficient quantities to interfere with motor boating is regarded as one of the best arguments favoring the local course possible to set forth. At no time of the year are there plants noticeable except in very small clusters and then only during the course of their journey down toward the mouth of the river.

Being the head of navigation on the St. Johns, the waters of the lake are unusually free from contamination the year round, and the building of swimming pools and beaches on the southeast end of the lake is now being proposed.

Canal to Improve Lake
The necessity of the lake for yachts from the lower east coast will soon be furthered by the dredging of the St. Johns-Indian river canal and when that project is completed the lake will stand out as one of the finest inland motor boat racing courses in the United States.

Few lakes present such ideal facilities and such a channel for power boat operation as does Lake Monroe. Officials claim there is practically no limit to the speed a boat might make owing to the fact that no obstructions are jutting out into the course and no unuseful bars are present upon which there is a chance of grounding.

Florida's Fastest Boats To Compete For $5,000 Prizes

Smiling Dan III To Be Brought Here With Baby Mine, Pluto And Other Racers

Many Sanford Boats Entered

Formal Invitational Ball At New Hotel To Follow Regatta

Opening a new era in the tourist and sporting histories of Sanford, the first annual regatta of the local yacht club will be held on Friday with some of the fastest craft in southern waters competing for prizes totalling $5,000.

With entries pouring in from practically every Florida port city and many inland towns, the regatta has grown beyond the bounds of a sectional affair into an event of state-wide interest. Racers from Tampa, St. Petersburg and Palm Beach will be matched against the best boats of central and northern Florida clubs, and sports writers from many of the state's major newspapers will be on hand in addition to the editors of both "Motor Boating" and "The Rudder."

Record Holder Coming Here
The "Smiling Dan III," speedily California power boat which recently established a world's record for a mile straightaway at the Palm Beach regatta will be entered with its sister shell, "Baby Mine," and the record shattering "Pluto," owned by Commodore H. W. Willett of Mount Dora will be another of the 18 speedsters of the state to vie for the handsomest of the many loving cups offered.

Plans Completed
At a special meeting of the regatta committee held today final plans for the all day event were worked out and details discussed with visiting commodores who have come here for the purpose of assisting the local club in classifying and successfully handling the first water meet ever held on Lake Monroe.

The races will be staged under the auspices of the American Power Boat Association, the Florida Power Boat Association and the Mississippi Power Boat Association. Commodore J. R. Emory announced this morning. Officials of all three organizations will be in attendance, he added, and leading boating enthusiasts in many sections of the state and in some parts of Georgia have wired in for reservations at local hotels, which are expected to be filled to capacity over the week end.

City Engineer Fred T. Williams and his staff were busy this morning laying out the course that will be marked off on Lake Monroe's five by seven mile expanse of protected water within a short distance of the new city pier where a band stand is being erected for a concert during the races. Special arrangements for seating the thousands of visitors expected have been made, club officials announced today, and no difficulty in this connection is anticipated.

In addition to the special events for high powered boats of the 151 class, races for outboard motors, craft, sailing vessels, cabin cruisers and runabouts are on the program, and the meet is expected to consume the greater portion of the day, beginning at 10 o'clock and lasting well into the afternoon.

Many Local Boats Entered
Dr. C. J. Marshall, W. E. Brown and several other Sanford sportsmen left for Jacksonville today to return with various types of boats constructed for local enthusiasts in Jacksonville this year. Commodore Emory said this morning, a feature of the program will be the sloop race which the Sanford Yacht Club is banking strongly on winning from the Jacksonville entry of the Gibbs Gas Engine Company and boats from other sections.

Several will also be competing in the 151 class, which is the standard for high powered boats of the 151 class, races for outboard motors, craft, sailing vessels, cabin cruisers and runabouts are on the program, and the meet is expected to consume the greater portion of the day, beginning at 10 o'clock and lasting well into the afternoon.
