

A Quiet, Pretty Wedding

A very quiet wedding took place last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Martha B. Cust on Cameron avenue, when Mrs. Cust and Mr. Joshua Whiteside Harper were united in marriage. Rev. J. W. Wildman performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Cust's gown was a pretty light blue messaline over white silk, the bodice having a handsome Duchess lace fichu forming a surplice effect.

Mrs. Cust was assisted by Dr. and Mrs. Delamater and Mrs. Briggs of Deposit, N. Y. Mrs. Cust owns the pretty cement bungalow on Cameron avenue and is the daughter of Mr. R. C. Bradshaw who is one of our largest vegetable growers.

Mr. Harper is a fine business man and owns a celery farm on Beardall avenue. Both being popular they have the best wishes of their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper will be at home to their friends after May 15th at their home on Cameron avenue.

To the Voters of Sanford:

I desire to extend to the Sanford voters many thanks for the magnificent vote accorded me at their hands. Same will always be most highly appreciated.

Geo. A. DeCOTTER.

Underwood Leads in Florida

For presidential preference Oscar Underwood has a decided lead over Wilson and will be the high man, with a majority of between 3,000 and 4,000 votes.

Frank Clark Leads

Hon. Frank Clark has a good lead over Hilburn and Burr and may win in the first primary. Mr. Burr will retire to the Commissioner's job and draw his salary as usual. If Clark and Hilburn are forced to make the second primary there will be something doing.

At the Presbyterian Church

Rev. J. F. McKinnon will preach at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning. No service at night. All are cordially invited to attend.

Thanks from Donegan

To the Democrats of Orange county. In nominating me for your Senator you have done justice to Osceola County. And, in behalf of the people of my county, I sincerely thank you for your generous support.

ARTHUR E. DONEGAN.

Judge M. H. Mabry, arrived in the city Wednesday evening from Tampa, and with Mrs. Mabry and their little son Harton Washburn, they left Thursday afternoon for their home in Tallahassee, after Mrs. Mabry's visit of a week with her sister, Mrs. G. F. Smith.

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

A Budget of Opinion "Just Between You and Me"

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A Chief Is Among Ye Taking Notes and Faith, He'll Prent 'Em"—So Says Saunterer.

It was my pleasure to hear Mr. Whitner make an address last Sunday night at the theater in the Men and Religion Forward Movement, and I was greatly taken by all of it. Especially did his plea for unity impress me and it should have impressed all the audience. This fact is borne into my thoughts more and more every day that people are becoming so selfish and so taken up with their own affairs that they have no time for anything else. They have even forgotten how to be neighborly and live in peace "loving thy neighbor as thyself." It seems to be anything to beat the other fellow and in the mad scramble all the better thoughts and all our better natures are warped by the greed of gain. The old time feeling of arising in the morning and the first thought of helping some one even with a cheery greeting is fast passing away and the modern method is to stay up so late that we arise befogged and with just about enough energy to get to business there to commence the same old grind of making dollars. No thought for the rest of the world, no thought for religion, all for self, and all for worldly pleasure. It is almost impossible in this age to have a good friend for every man is arrayed against his neighbor in some manner and if anyone is getting the pleasure out of life that we used to get forty years ago I fail to see it. We old codgers who are on the down grade have our good old friends that no prosperity or adversity can shake but the younger generation cannot claim such riches as real friends for the race is too swift and to the victor belongs the spoils and the last man out gets nothing.

The Religion Forward Movement only will get us all back to the old regime where friendship will count more than riches, and good deeds than pearls, and whenever the present world can realize this the Men and Religion Forward Movement will have accomplished much good.

Some complaint has come regarding the giving of half the road in case of an automobile coming up behind a team. The parties claim that when they come up behind a fellow with a team he stubbornly refuses to give any of the road, no matter if there is plenty of room to turn out. Now the law recognizes the rights of both the man with the team and the man with auto, and these rights should be respected. There are plenty of men who are running autos who should be driving ox teams and vice versa, but all men should not be treated that way. The law says that when a man is overtaken by a faster vehicle, the man driving the slower vehicle shall turn out and give half of the beaten path.

Heaven help the man who imagines he can dodge enemies by trying to please everybody! If such an individual every succeeds pass him over here that I may have one look at his mortal remains ere he vanishes away for surely this earth cannot be his abiding place. Now I do not infer that one should be going through this world trying to find beams to knock and thump his head against, disputing every man's opinion, fighting and elbowing and crowding all who differ from him. That, again, is another extreme. Other people have their opinions, so have you. Don't fall into the error of supposing they will respect you more for turning your coat every day, to match the color of theirs.

Take five minutes off from candidates and politics, dear reader, and peruse the following which we find in an exchange. It is a little gold mine of truth important for every one to know:

"You will never find a busy man meddling with other people's business, nor one who is well versed in general knowledge. A well stored mind has not the room for gabbing, nor has the mind of a busy man space for the need of tale bearing. Education and business pre-occupy and lift humanity above such low and debasing depravity. It is the idler who becomes the gossip peddler. His brain is the veritable workshop of the devil. Backbiting, slandering, gossiping and lying are not the traits of busy, clean, intelligent minds. Take the coarse street loafer and the tough, the where and the vulgar, and you will find these traits dwell."

"Clothes That Satisfy"

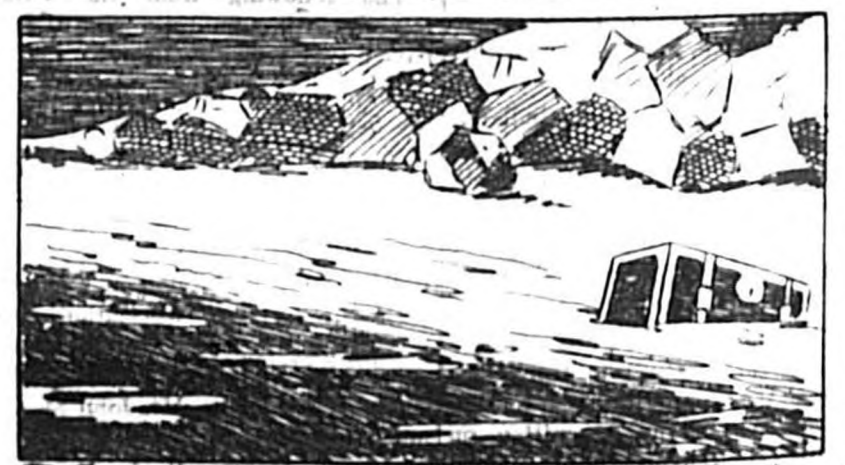

The election is over now and it would be a good plan for all of the alleged and otherwise politicians to put in some time on making a city here. If there was as much time spent on making improvements here as there is in gushing hot air on politics Sanford would be a city of 12,000 people and all the improvements and other appurtenances needed in a first-class city. It is the hardest kind of a job to get any interest aroused in improvements of any kind but just start a campaign in politics and people will fall over themselves to carry torches and get water for the elephant and they tear their shirt 24 hours out of the 26 to talk and plan and campaign and all for nought. When the smoke has cleared away there is nothing gained—I say nothing but in reality there is always enmity and bitter feeling and the old town is torn up more than ever before. It is all right to have a little politics injected into public life now and then but this old thing of wasting all your energy and shooting empty charges of powder and then when the real game hoves in sight have an empty gun is growing monotonous. If Bill Jones voted for so and so in the last election then Bill Jones can never hope to ever put anything over in the way of improvements because the people who did not favor Bill Jones will never help him along no matter how good his scheme may be and our town suffers in consequence. An election should be forgotten the day after, and an election is not such a serious thing that whole families should fall out about it. There is real work to do in Sanford and politics should be relegated to the rear. The man who makes a business of stirring up factional feelings to the exclusion of every thing else is a dangerous citizen and ought to be ignored by those who are broad-minded enough to fight squarely and then forget about it.

The Everglades.
There seems to be a never-ending maze of mystery, of assertion and counter-assertion, scandal and apology, charge and defense concerning that region that for so many years was a physical mystery in itself, the Everglades.

The Times has the information from an official of high position at the state capital that there is not now remaining unsold enough acreage in the Everglades to pay the expense of bringing the drainage enterprise to a conclusion if that acreage were sold at the highest price heretofore realized.

If this be true—and we see no reason to doubt it—the question naturally suggests itself, from what source is the balance necessary to meet the bill to be derived? The enterprise that has already cost the state so much, not only in dollars and cents but in damage to her good name among the people of the country, cannot be abandoned. It must be finished. Would the legislature be justified in appropriating from any fund in the state treasury the amount necessary to carry this gigantic project to a successful issue? Would such action be constitutional, and if attacked, as it inevitably would be? It is our own opinion that both of these questions should be answered in the negative.

The mind of a Broward conceived the possibility of draining this tremendous swamp and, after overcoming apparently insurmountable difficulties successfully commenced the gigantic work; but it begins to be manifest that he left no successor upon whom his mantle of executive ability fell.—Tampa Times.

Most Furs Wear Long With Care.
Most furs are durable, experts say, and will last for a long time if guarded from moths, high temperatures and spring sunshine. A less durable fur is squirrel, as it is taken from young animals. Chinchilla and ermine are also delicate, both in color and texture, and should be carefully treated. Places that make a specialty of storing furs keep them at a uniform winter temperature.

Marriage a Failure?
The statisticians inform us that there is an increasing tendency toward divorce, but the very worst divorce tables show that 12 couples out of every 100 get divorced within 20 years of the marriage day. But only look at this statement from another angle. There are 88 couples who do not get divorced. And so, is marriage a failure? Hardly!

Heredity.
Some very pretty things are being said, for no special reason whatever, about genealogy and heredity. Naturally this is associated with the names and life of what is called the "nobility." Yet no commentator has quoted the couplet of Pope, which reads rawly that "His ancient but ignoble blood has crept through scoundrels ever since the flood."

A Paraphrase.
"What is the meaning of that quotation, 'There is a divinity that shapes our ends, rough hew them as we may'?" "Well," replied Senator Borah, "the proposition is something like this: It's easy enough to pass a law, but you don't know what it's going to do until the Supreme court gets through with it."

Many Fish Were Blind.
More than 17,000 yellowtail were caught by Japanese fishermen at the long wharf recently. This is the largest catch for one day's fishing ever recorded in the bay district. Among the many specimens were several deep sea fish, which, when brought to the surface, were found to be totally blind.—Los Angeles Tribune.

Opportunities Always Present.
"It is not a single opportunity which comes to a man, it is a train. It is a never-ending procession, some smaller and more insignificant as the years flow on, but ever and always opportunities too numerous, too great, and too large for us to utilize fully."—Prof. James, University of Illinois.

Overcured.
Doctor—"You admit that I cured you of insomnia, then why don't you pay my bill?" Patient—"Sorry, doc, but I sleep so soundly now that my wife goes through my pockets nights and takes every cent."—Boston Transcript.

The Real Question.
"The Arabs have a proverb that 'a wise man's day is worth a fool's life.' It isn't a matter of how long you have been in business, but how much business are you now doing."—Profitable Advertising.

Bliss.
Willie Wayback—"My pa says in New York they have buildings 40 stories high." Tommy Rural—"Ain't that fine! A kid could spend most all his life sliding down the banisters, couldn't he?"

Self-Confidence.
"Self-confidence is not egotism. It is knowledge, and it comes from the consciousness of possessing the ability requisite for what one undertakes. Civilization today rests upon self-confidence."—Orison Swett Marden.

One Satisfaction.
In after years a woman may be sorry she married the man in the case, but she's always glad that "that other woman" didn't get him.—Chicago News.

Wednesday Club.
The Wednesday Club held their regular meeting at the residence of Mrs. J. N. Whitner Wednesday afternoon.
After reading the minutes the secretary, Mrs. S. O. Chase read an invitation to the Wednesday Club from the executive committee of the Men and Religion Forward Movement to be represented by delegates at a conference to be held at the Masonic Hall at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 12th, to discuss and, if found advisable, to formulate plans for the organization of the various charities of the city. Mrs. L. R. Phillips and Mrs. Henry Wight were appointed to represent the Wednesday Club at the conference.

The executive committee of the club through the secretary called the attention of the club to Article 5, Sec. 1 of the constitution, which reads thus: "Active members will be required to attend regularly enough to do a full share of the work and pay an annual fee of one dollar." The committee does not consider that clause to mean that a member's full share of the work is the payment of one dollar, writing a paper, and attending but two or three meetings during the year. There are often questions arising requiring the club's opinion, committees needed, and moreover the simple presence of an interested member is a strength to the club. It is asked that in joining the active membership list careful consideration will be taken of the above article and section.

The program was then taken up. The secretary read a most interesting and able paper on the "Present Political Status of Women and How it has Been Achieved," prepared by Mrs. A. C. Brown, a non-resident member of the club who was unable to be present. The paper had reference to the women of Norway and Sweden. Mrs. Brown gave a sketch of Frederica Bremer, paying a glowing tribute to her and her pioneer work for the betterment and uplift of the women of her beloved country.

The president then requested Mrs. L. R. Phillips to take the chair while the club proceeded to elect their new officers for the next year. It was the pleasure and gratification of the club to give a visible proof of their satisfaction and appreciation of the present officers of the club by unanimously re-electing them: Mrs. Maria, president; Mrs. Chase, secretary, and Mrs. Key, treasurer. The club heartily congratulated themselves that they are again to have for their new officers such efficient and charming women.

It was moved that the club give the present program committee a rising vote of thanks for their work in preparing the Scandinavian program just concluded.

The club have been invited to hold their last meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Chase next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Each and every member of the club is requested to be present.

Come in the Summer Time
Persons interested in Florida or who intend to buy land here, should come in the summer time; we very strongly recommend this.

In the summer you see the land at its very worst. If there is ever a chance of water standing on land it will show in the summer time. This is the period of rains. It rains quite heavily almost every afternoon from June to October.

This is, of course, the hottest period. Come down and be convinced that Florida in the summer is not nearly as warm as in your northern cities during heated spells. We have continued warm weather day after day, but it never gets hot in the sense that you know it at times in the north. The evenings are always comfortably cool. If there are any mosquitoes they are present in the summer time. Plan to make your inspection between June and October.

You will not find the farmers very busy during that period. Florida raises vegetables when you of the north are not producing them. She could not compete with your home grown vegetables in summer. We only raise enough for local consumption during the heated spell. During the summer we raise forage crops, such as corn, sugar cane, beggar weed, velvet beans, etc. The citrus season will be over and all packing houses closed. The tourists will have all left and the big hotels will be closed. It will be quiet, but the best time for inspection.—Lakeland Telegram.

Grover Cleveland's full name was Stephen Grover Cleveland, but he dropped the Stephen when he became a candidate. Wilson's full name was Woodrow Wilson but he has dropped the Thomas. He ought to make it Woodrun after he drops the nomination.

Old Ocean's caprices are grim and arbitrary. The leaky old Mayflower of 1620, in which today you would scarcely dare to sail the Mississippi river, crossed all right, while the $10,000,000 modern palace with complete scientific equipment goes to the bottom.

Isn't it a pity that corporations controlling necessities are so poorly paid? The net profits of the electric light plant at Jacksonville last year was $252,806; while the poor water company could show a net profit of but $99,126! These reports were net profits; not receipts but NET!

Should this city own its public utilities?—Palm Beach County.

Recent elections demonstrate that in primaries the office never seeks the man. Men who entered primaries in this state and other states and spent no money did not run worth a cent.—Pensacola News.

How about Park Trammell?

Burr can now retire to his job of railroad commissioner, and very lucky for him that he held on to one job while trying to win another. Mr. Burr made complaint that Frank Clark was neglecting his office to make a campaign. The case was entirely different. Clark is trying to hold his job and naturally has the right to fight for it. Burr held one job while trying to get another. After the smoke of the second primary battle has drifted away Clark will still hold his job and so will Hillburn, who is now a private citizen.

Sanford is growing rapidly and substantially. The Herald last week told of the record for April and it was one that would be creditable to a city much larger than Sanford. The record shows over $25,000 in new buildings last month and the Herald says that "indications for a substantial building boom ought to have no time to take a siesta."—Times Union.

The Miami Metropolis has ceased firing on Frank Clark and is now running lady-like editorials about the weather and kindred topics. The Metropolis assisted materially in polling the large vote for Frank Clark. There is such a thing as saying too much.

SANFORD IS NOT SELFISH

The Reporter-Star in Friday's issue comes out strong for Kirkwood for Sheriff and says: "Remember that Jim Kirkwood is an Orlando man and that his job is in jeopardy."

This is very commendable on the part of our "steamed" contemporary to support the Orlando man and we could ask nothing else from the Orlando papers but the rest of Orange county is entitled to a look in on the job and the R. B. should remember that Orange county is not bounded by Orlando, although that cute little village composed of tourists and court houses has always endeavored to direct the destinies of the county and do the thinking for all the inhabitants thereof. We people down here who live by toiling in the fields are apt to think for ourselves and so is the rest of the tillers of Orange county and they number quite a few votes. The Herald does not call upon the people of Orange county to support Charlie Hand because he is a Sanford man but because he more fully represents the whole of Orange county and has all his life, though he claims this city as his home, but his hand his heart have always been in the work of building up Orange county as a whole and sectional feeling has never had a place in his thoughts. He is absolutely free and untrammelled in his affiliations and when elected as he will be in the second primary will assume the office as an ORANGE COUNTY SHERIFF, AND NOT AN ORLANDO SHERIFF, OR A SANFORD SHERIFF.

We fully agree with the Reporter-Star that Kirkwood's job is in jeopardy spelled with a big J and that old man quite a part in this campaign. Meantime the voter of Orange county will go ahead and vote for their favorite, regardless of whether he represents Orlando, Sanford or Soldier Creek and we are willing to abide by the result.

MORE FARMERS NEEDED

Now let us turn from the monotonous field of mere office-seeking politics, of which the people of Florida are heartily tired, and give more space in the columns of our state papers to matters which concern the material development of our state. We don't need more politicians, but we need more producers, and the way to get more producers is to get more farmers to come here from other states and locate. No state can be great and prosperous without a large and thrifty rural population, and from the St. Cloud Tribune we take the following sensible view of the subject:

"Florida wants a rural population such as has made the west and middle west the great country that it is today. For settlers that will give stability, sturdy growth and permanent development there are great advantages here without the discomforts experienced by the pioneers of the west.

Nowhere else today can lands so fertile be had at so low a price, where climate and productiveness and closeness to markets are considered. Their reality assures not only comfort, but guarantees substantial increase in value. The last census announces the density of population as only 13.7 persons to the square mile. There's an abundance of elbow room for a million or two more people.

"Farm life in Florida is pleasant. There are good roads, good schools, churches, telephones, transportation facilities, and, above all, an all-the-year-round outdoor life where fishing, hunting and picnicing can be enjoyed. There are no mornings when the pump is frozen and one has to milk the cows with the thermometer registering 29 below zero; no chopping of wood all fall for winter supply; no blizzards; no droughts, no, hail and no heat that kills stock."

BOUQUET FOR ORANGE COUNTY

Orange county is so far ahead of Volusia county in road-building that it makes a Volusia county citizen ashamed to use the roads around Sanford and Orlando. We have the same kind of material in Volusia as has been used in Orange, but we have been so busy looking after good fellows whose votes were wanted that we have not had time to build roads. Between Orlando and Sanford is a stretch of country of 23 miles. There is not a foot of the road between these two towns on which it is not safe to travel in an auto at the rate of fifteen to twenty miles an hour. Some of the road between these two towns is built of marl, but the most of it is of clay. The marl road is as smooth as the smoothest of our shell roads and this is the roughest part of the entire road. The clay makes by far the best road. There is very little grading and practically no crowning. We have been informed that no roller is used on the clay roads, but a heavy scraper is run over the road every week or so. In Volusia county, we spend about one-fourth of our road money to carry off the overburden of sand and clay so that we can get the poorer material—shell—to put on our roads. We spend $3,000 to $4,000 a mile and then have no road. We have been informed that the 23 miles of road between Orlando and Sanford cost $700 a mile, or about $16,000. In Volusia county we have spent about $100,000 for a road" between Daytona and DeLand—22 miles—or about $5,000 a mile, and we have no road now. Volusia should borrow the Orange county road superintendent for a month and "turn him loose" on our so-called roads. We have been throwing away too much money; giving it out in chunks to politicians. Let's quit it and get down to work.

HAD DATES MIXED

The announcement in last Friday's paper that Sunday was Mother's Day was rather premature, but our date was taken from the announcement that services would be held that day at the Congregational church. Next Sunday is the day legally but the Congregationalists had their day and the Herald had it's day and next Sunday we can all help celebrate at the other churches. The sentiment is all right and never mind the date. Mother is not getting any more homage than rightfully belongs to her even if we set aside every Sunday in the year for her.

JUGGLING THE TRUTH.

Sanford's member of the Orange County Board of Commissioners is acting rather small about his portion of the road leading to the new ferry inaugurated by the Volusia county board. Roy Harden has built a good piece of road on the Volusia county side, leading from the Orange City-Enterprise road to Beck's ferry; he has inaugurated a very good ferry system and has built safe approaches. On the Orange county side there is about a half-mile of sand that is almost impassable in dry weather, and two or three really dangerous turns. For $200 this piece of road could be put in good shape. But a few of the Sanford people have invested in Coronado Beach lands and are developing them to place on the market, and these people of course desire to turn all the travel possible from Daytona and the west side of Volusia county to New Smyrna and the east side of the county. These people have doubtless brought pressure to bear on the Sanford commissioner, who is ruining Orange county's reputation for good roads by permitting this small stretch of road in his district to remain in its present condition. Perhaps the Sanford commissioner may look upon things differently now that the primary election is over.—DeLand News.

Bro. Codrington does Commissioner Woodruff an injustice in the above article. Mr. Woodruff has thousands of acres of land near the Monroe ferry spoken of, and has nothing in common with the other way round. If his own personal interests were considered he would have the road gang busy at the Monroe end all the time but he has unselfishly devoted his time to other sections and favored the Osteen ferry because Orange county had already spent considerable money not only on their own side but on the Volusia county side, and like the business man that he is, Mr. Woodruff wished to complete what had been started. We take issue with Bro. Codrington on the statement that the new road built at the Monroe ferry by Volusia county is a good one for all the miserable roads this so-called Volusia road is the worst. Any one contemplating an ocean trip this summer can save the trip by taking this new road to the beach and all the delightful effects of the rolling ocean can be had at little expense save a few springs and broken autos. If this road was really a road and not a cow trail, much time could have been saved, but at the present time, "O You Oceana Roll!"

In conclusion we wish to remark that Mr. Woodruff is not the whole board and many improvements that he would like to make cannot be made and when it comes to a selfish spirit Volusia county commissioners have everything else tied hand and foot. In the next year Sanford hopes to have a road district and brick roads will be built to both ferries and then let Bro. Codrington and his short sights get busy and build some more cow trails to connect with our good roads or maybe ask us to build them for Volusia as they have in the past.

Meantime Bro. Codrington, you owe Frank Woodruff an apology for you have misrepresented him.

ANOTHER ORANGE COUNTY PAPER

Some time this month a new paper will be started at Winter Garden to be known as the Times, and will be under the guidance of Ben F. Davis, who has been publishing the Groveland Times, but ceased for lack of patronage. This will make six weekly papers for Orange County and the people will not lack for reading matter.

The Herald welcomes Mr. Davis into Orange county fold and hopes that his paper will be as good as his name.

TAKING OFF THE SHINE

Hon. W. Eaton Shine lately elected County Solicitor by the assistance of moving pictures writes the following to the Herald:

"In the editorial column of your issue of the 3rd inst. you say: 'Eaton Shine says that one term as County Solicitor is enough for anyone and after that you can retire on a fortune.'

"I wish to state that I never made a statement to the above effect nor was I ever under that impression; I shall therefore expect you to make the proper correction in your next issue.

Yours truly,

Of course you didn't say it Eaton, and no one ever imagined for a minute that you said it. THAT WAS A JOKE, J-O-K-E, and you may as well get accustomed to them now that you are an official. Don't take life too seriously, Dear Eaton, because other people have held the job down before you had it and the statement that one term is enough still holds good unless you smile with us. Don't cloud up, but Shine!

POTATO BLIGHT AT HASTINGS

Growers Are Uneasy Over Condition of Season's Crop.

Much alarm is being felt at Hastings because of the blight which has appeared among the fields of potatoes at that place. It was thought three weeks ago when the blight first began that by spraying thoroughly the attack could be fought off. Experts from the State and National government were on the grounds and gave the farmers directions as to how to proceed.

Unfortunately the continued wet weather has made their efforts of small avail, and it looks now as though at least twenty-five per cent of the crop would be lost. The fields have been soaking wet for a couple of weeks, and only dry weather, it is thought, will be able to stop the onslaught of this disease.

It is said that the blight will not hurt the carrying quality of the potatoes, as no scab has appeared. The Hastings section is known as the most famous potato growing section in the state of Florida, and a great deal of interest is manifested in market circles regarding the condition of the crop.

The movement last week was 9 cars of 1,688 bushels. The movement this week will total about 16 cars. Prices have been good, local shipments bringing $7.50 for No. 1, $6 for No. 2, and $4 for culls. Crop sales have been reported from $8.50 to $4.50, according to date of movement and stock of potatoes. Two of the first three cars shipped were loaded by John Nix & Co., and one by the Potato Exchange. Smith & Holden and J. H. Nahrenburg Bro. & Co. are also heavy factors in the deal.

Reports from New York indicate that the market for Florida potatoes is on a boom there and $8 a barrel was the established price this week for the best No. 1 stock coming. This price tapered down to $6 for poor No. 2s. About 3 to 5 cars by boat and rail were received a day. Receivers of Bermuda potatoes are getting as high as $8.50, but the Hastings spud is said to be a much superior article and Bermuda will have to take a back seat just as soon as the buyers get better acquainted with Hastings product of this year.

An especial demand was made for the Florida potato this year because of the shortage of 2 million and a half bushels of potatoes throughout the U. S. last year. Foreign importations have been very heavy this winter. Last week the receipts of foreign shipments in New York were about 125,000 bags. The week before receipts were about 248,000 bags.

BETTER GET A MONOTYPE

Confound an old linotype operator, anyway! The other day a dyed-in-the-wool old bachelor brought in a neat little bit of rhyme and wanted to see a proof of it. The real thing read in one of the verses like this:

"When I shall lie calmly within a shroud,

With a weeping willow by my side."

Well, what d' you s'pose the operator did? He don't know poetry from pottery—but he thought he did; and this is the way those lines ran when he was through with 'em:

"When I shall lie calmly within a shawl,

With a weeping widow by my side."

And when the author, who fears the fair sex as much as I do, or even more, saw that first proof, he grabbed the whole thing and flew out the door with it! As I said before confound a linotype man, anyway!—Palm Beach County.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

SARASOTA, Fla., May 6.—(Special)—Paul Drymon, the seventeen year old son of Zach Drymon, of Little Sarasota Key, was accidentally shot and instantly killed this afternoon by Kit Mahone, a boy friend. The Mahone boy and S. T. Sigler, of Elkins, W. Va., were fishing from an anchored boat when the Drymon boy came along side in another boat and entered into conversation.

Mahone was holding a shotgun in his hands which was accidentally discharged, the load of shot striking Drymon in the throat, almost severing his head from the body. The Drymon family were among the first settlers on Sarasota Bay and the beautiful Oaks on the Zach Drymon homestead on Little Sarasota Key will be remembered by all who are familiar with Sarasota Bay.

ON ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

An Organized Effort Should be Made by Citizens of Sanford

Mr. Editor: Your story in Friday's paper, of the local preacher of benevolent inclinations appealed very strongly to me, and emphasizes the need of an association of charities in Sanford. His experience is that of other individuals who have undertaken relief work without some sort of an organization to back them up. It is easy enough to arouse a spasmodic sympathy, easy to pick up a dollar here and there for an emergency case, but sometimes money has to be advanced to tide over a crisis, and then when interest simmers out—as it inevitably does in such affairs, the man who institutes the effort is left with the whole responsibility to carry, as it is a different thing to ask for money for a sufferer, from appealing for reimbursement when one has advanced the necessary amount. Aside from the injustice of allowing one person to carry an undue share of what should be regarded as a community duty, such instances are all too likely to deter future effort on the part of those whose active sympathy has to submit to the limitations of leisure time and financial ability. I have lived in Sanford long enough to have no doubt left in my mind, as to the generosity, and good will of its people to the less fortunate, and I know that this city would certainly not allow cases of need to go unrelieved if such were made known, but in the numerous instances that have come up within the past year, the necessity for systematic handling has been made very apparent. What's everybody's business is likely to be nobody's, and the community has no right to shove its own burdens off to one man's shoulder, without so much as "by your leave," no matter how broad and willing those shoulders may happen to be.

Let us by all means have some simple form of Associated Charities—though I do wish that word "charity" could be eliminated, or substituted by something like "Sanford League for Social Service," so that the organization might include other social needs than the disbursing of relief. Let us not be niggardly—we wish to provide the necessary help for the needy, let us understand also that we can afford to pay a worker for the time and thought devoted to community problems. Sometimes we feel a bit aggrieved at being asked repeatedly for money—how about repeatedly asking an individual to give hours of study—miles of tramping in delicate investigations, without a word, even of thanks? More than this, we would own a paid worker, the support of a strong working and visiting committee to assist in the solution of the questions that daily engage us in the making of a better Sanford, not only for the stranger left stranded at our gates, but for the boys and girls—our citizens of tomorrow that are being left very much to their own devices in the way of amusements and recreation.

Very cordially yours,
Susie Bouchelle Wight

Keeping a Fortune.

It is one of the significant signs of the times that there is an ever-increasing business of "looking after" estates, insuring and dispensing incomes to the idle heirs and the incompetent. The question is often asked, "Why should he work? His father left him rich." The work of keeping a fortune is, in reality, a business in itself, and sometimes it is more difficult than the making. To be employed in that business is nobler than haunting hotel lobbies or sitting in club windows.—New York Mail.

The Youth in Politics.

Professor Blackie was in favor of a higher age limit for parliamentary candidates than is at present enforced. "I remain decidedly of opinion," he writes, "that no man ought to open his mouth on the hustings or at public dinners till he is at least 30 years of age. Young men are absolutely incapable of political wisdom; it is the fruit of time and cannot be extemporized from the young ebullience of the brain like a brilliant lyric poem or a dashing novel."

One Hair's Breadth.

A "hair's breadth" is 17-10,000 of an inch. For the purpose of such fine and delicate measurement tool makers use what is called a micrometer caliper. The hair's breadth is something that is to be taken into consideration in the manufacture of a thousand and one things in the machine maker's art. Close calculation of this sort must be done on the doors of bank vaults, for example, where every part must fit to the nicest degree.—Harper's Weekly.

Sun-Worn Curtains. In cases where a pair of curtains must do for another season and they are too sun-worn in the middle to serve, cut away the sun-worn portions and sew across, then where worn use a cord or ribbon, and, if neither of these are at hand, make a couple of strips of old linen, and use them to tie the curtains back at the place they are spotted. Old linen bows, well starched, are neat.

In the Barber's Chair. A big fat man stretched himself out in a barber's chair. The barber, following the usual custom, soaked his face in a 212 degree towel, while he whetted his razor. When he took the towel off the man inquired if he had a fork handy. "I am pretty sure my face is done, but if you have a fork handy you might stick it in and see." -Atchison Globe.

Living for Others. There is light and sanity, safety and beauty in thinking, planning, working, living for others. It leads not to sin but away. It is a guide to peace, health and safety of the mind and the soul alike. But self-coddling, self-exaltation, self-interest run mad—that distortion of human nature is a potent lure to destruction. It is of the very essence of crime.—Exchange.

Purse With Money in a Cod. A housekeeper at Queenstown, Ireland, constabulary barracks while cleaning a codfish about 30 pounds in weight discovered inside the fish a purse containing a number of silver coins of the reign of Queen Victoria. Retort Discourteous. A Pertinent Question. There are great men who cannot spell, and small people who object to them. "Spell 'cat,'" said the teacher to the boy at the tail end of the class. "K-a-t," replied the boy. College Girl Suggestion.

Popularity is like some of the other good things of life, the one who speaks it seldom finds it. However, a hint is that it follows respect. College study is more deceptive than school work. The first few months often seem easy. That is why many girls join the social whirl. When the midyears come they pay the penalty, unless temporary, artificial, flitting "cramming" comes to their aid. Therefore, at the very beginning do the necessary work each day.

It isn't enough to hit the nail on the head—there must be some force behind the blow.

Bostonian Learns Something.

The folly of interfering with a newsboy was illustrated on Hanover street. A well-dressed man took to task a newsboy who was crying a fake extra and read the riot act to him in fine style.

Claim the Oldest Language.

It is asserted by the Basques that their language, which bears a strong resemblance to certain North American dialects, is the oldest one in the world, and was spoken by Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden.

Quinine in the Good Old Days.

There is a whole lot of difference in the price of quinine now and 50 years ago. Then it sold for $5 and sometimes more an ounce. Now it can be bought for one-tenth of that amount.

Much Timber in Reserve.

The rich forests of the Caucasus offer a wide field for future development, although the walnut forests and the boxwood forests along the coast have been fully exploited.

New Excuse for Husbands.

Husbands who spend their evenings hitting the high spots, encounter difficulties in finding the domestic keyhole and hang their boots on the gas fixtures, may now explain that they have been afflicted with ethereal asphyxia.

Pedagogue at His Worst.

An Ohio schoolteacher has declared that both the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution are lacking in literary style. It would be too great a risk to trust that man with either the first chapter of Genesis or the Gettysburg speech.

Fish Has Vocal Organs.

Perhaps the most conspicuous example of the fishes that are capable of utterance is the drumfish, so called by reason of the deep, booming noise it produces at will.

Begin to Do It Today.

Mankind is always happier for having been happy; so that if you make them happy now, you make them happy twenty years hence, by the memory of it.—Sidney Smith.

Her Motive.

Pretty well all the big things women do are done for men, I believe. Foolish it may be, but I suppose it's human nature. We are made so, and must put up with it.—Robert Hichens.

Avoid Fits of Passion.

The very instant you perceive yourself in a passion, shut your mouth and keep it shut until your blood cools. This advice, if always followed, would save many a life of bitterness and of deep, incurable anguish.

To Cure Neuralgia.

For neuralgia, try wet cloths of alcohol and water or laudanum and water, laid on a hot water bottle and the part steamed over.

Willing to Oblige.

"I want recognition as a taxpayer," said the irate citizen. "All right," said the municipal boss; "we'll send the assessor around to see you again."

Procrastination's Value.

Procrastination sometimes saves a man from making a fool of himself.—Florida Times-Union.

Attribute of Great Soldier.

The greatest general is he who knows when to retreat and dares to do it.

Too Often.

The sea of matrimony frequently turns out to be a dismal swamp.

Got the Wrong Ferry Boat. John Wygers boarded at Antwerp on Dec. 9 what he supposed was a ferryboat that would land him at his home town on the left bank of the Scheldt, says the New York Sun. He had been indulging in schnapps and fell asleep. John slept only one day, which shows that the strength of schnapps has deteriorated since Rip Van Winkle's time. He woke up on the Red Star liner Lapland, in the other day from Antwerp, and asked somebody when the ferryboat would get across. Then they told him that he would land in New York in about nine days. He said he wondered what his wife and nine children in Antwerp would say. He was put to work and was glad to get it. He will go back to the Scheldt by the Lapland, not having the slightest desire to camp on either bank of the Hudson.

Brown Bread Baker. Mayor Gaynor was talking to an advertising agent about advertisement writing. "I like the literary style of the average advertisements," he said. "Even when advertisements exaggerate, they are written in good style. The best advertisements don't exaggerate; but there are some few advertisement writers who seem to think that in their line of work, a little exaggeration does no harm. They remind me, in their mistaken views, of a baker. The baker was passing a bakery with a friend, and in front of the bakery stood a very untidy baker. 'Gee,' said the baker's friend, pointing his pipe at the baker disgustedly—'gee, what a dirty looking chap to be a baker, eh?' But the baker explained with a smile: 'Oh, that's all right. He's just the fellow, you know, that makes the brown bread.'"

Four is Their Limit. A close observer has definitely established the fact that magpies and rooks cannot count further than four. A rook never returns to its nest until it is quite satisfied that there is no danger near. When four hunters or less departed in succession from a nest by log cabin the rook would return to its nest after the last had gone out of sight. But whenever there were more the bird lost count and returned to its nest even while some were still in the but. Similarly, apes do not count further than four, and the Hoers of the Transvaal, when they want to hunt these animals, hide in numbers exceeding four. Four depart in succession in such a manner as to be noticed by the apes, who then come forth and are easily captured.

Message of the Gulls. Have you not a great sea gull beating lazily up-river, his wide stretched wings upbearing him as if he were no heavier than a drifting flower petal? Perhaps the gulls do not come as far as Lewiston, but eight or ten miles down the river they are often to be seen. Who knows what they come for—clams, very likely or a chance to make fun of the landlubbers. But they always seem like a message from the sea—as if a wild gray wave had taken wing to tell us that there are places where the world is wide and wonderful, and we might see the beat of restless waters clear to the edge of the world.—Lewiston (Me.) Sun.

Beautiful Hand. Two charming women were discussing one day what it is which constitutes beauty in the hand. They differed in opinion as much as the shape of the beautiful member whose merits they were discussing. A gentleman friend presented himself, and by common consent the question was referred to him. It was a delicate matter. He thought of Paris and the three goddesses. Glancing from one to the other of the beautiful white hands presented for his examination, he replied at last: "I give it up; the question is too hard for me. But as the poor, and they will tell you the most beautiful hand in the world is the hand that gives."

Began Campaigning Early. Robert Luce, the newly elected lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts, might be said to have begun campaigning at the age of 7, and has been in politics all his life. He was a precocious child and his father took him along on numerous campaigns, with the result that the lad showed a man's capacity for reasoning and work long before his majority. At 17 he went to Harvard and found the studies so easy that he took up newspaper work for a Boston daily, besides doing a large amount of literary work.

Choice of Friends. Much certainty of the happiness and purity of our lives depends on our making a wise choice of our companions and friends. It is well and right, indeed, to be courteous and considerate to every one with whom one is thrown in contact, but to choose them as real friends is another matter. . . . If our friends are badly chosen they may drag us down; if well they will raise us up.—Sir John Lubbock.

Sudden End of Aged Pair. Two old folks at Olympia, Queensland, Australia, died with pathetic suddenness a few days ago. When Arthur Morgan, aged seventy years, saw fire break out at some of his farm fencing, he excitedly ran to extinguish it, but after hurrying a few paces, the old man dropped dead. His aged wife ran to see what had happened, but the shock of finding him dead was too much for her, and she too dropped lifeless close to her husband's body.

Excellent Mexican Shrimps. The shrimps from the coast of the Gulf of Mexico are of good size, generally fully three inches in length and frequently exceeding this measurement. They are much larger than those caught on the British coast and the north Atlantic coast of the United States. They are in fine condition the year round and may be caught in the lagoons any season of the year without fear of interruption by northerly, at least not for more than a day or so during any time of the year.

Valid Objection. One of the funniest things that has been said in Richmond lately was overheard the other day in West Franklin street. Two colored women were talking. One of them said: "I wouldn't go to North Carolina." "Why wouldn't you go to North Carolina?" asked the other, and this surprising answer came to the question: "I wouldn't go to North Carolina because North Carolina is so close to South Carolina."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Priceless Manuscript Found. Professor Kennedy of Edinburgh university describes a hitherto unknown MSS. of the Old Testament, which he names the Codex Edinburgensis, which he has discovered in the Advocates Library, Edinburgh. It is said that for size, conditions and calligraphy it has few rivals among similar MSS. in any library in the world.

Shocked the Clergyman. A Maine clergyman, living at the hotel in his town, ordered a typewriter and had it sent to his rooms. It came when the clergyman was out, and the proprietor took charge of it. When the minister returned the proprietor led him behind the desk and whispered: "That case of yours is on the ice, parson. I guess it will be all right by dinner time."

Autoist Thrown Into Tree. When an automobile collided with a telegraph post at Theford, Norfolk, England, a few days ago and turned a complete somersault, one of the occupants had an extraordinary experience, being flung high into a tree, from a bough of which he hung suspended by his clothes until rescued by a motorcyclist.

Little Left. "What's the matter here?" asked the caller, noticing the barren appearance of the house. "Sent your goods away to be stored?" "No," replied the hostess. "Not at all. My daughter was married last week and she has merely taken away the things that she thought belonged to her."

Sewing Machines in Japan. The Japanese government has three modern factories equipped with sewing machines to produce uniforms and other clothing, etc., required in the various branches of its service. Tailors are large users of the sewing machine and shoemakers are finding it a profitable assistant.

Slam at Hotel "Music." A Seattle woman who wrote to the Gotham the other day, reserving rooms must have nerves. She said she wanted quarters so far away from the cafe that she could not hear the music. The orchestra leader prides himself on being an artist too.—New York Sun.

Metal Shingles. A man in South Carolina has patented a shingle made of metal which resembles the wooden ones in size and shape. But the metal shingles interlock by means of a series of ribs and channels.

Explanation. "Barker is supported in affluence and luxury by his children." "Yes, I heard he had a family of daughters."—Harper's Bazar.

Chronic Grumblers. Some of the most miserable discontented grumblers are richly endowed with the good things of this life.

Smiles. A man's smile at best is a grin idealized, but a woman's smile includes every shade of emotion of which she is capable.—Florida Times-Union.

"Preserving" the Baby.

Young James had seen some fish pickled, and was at once impressed and puzzled by the explanation, elicited by a long and steady fire of questions, that the salting process was to make the fish "keep." A little later he attended the baptism of an infant friend and was still puzzled. But at last a light broke in upon him, and in a shrill tone that could be heard all over the sacred edifice he exclaimed: "Oh, now I know all about it, mother. The water is to make the baby keep!"

Some Fence.

A New York banker who feels that the privacy of his town residence has been invaded by the construction of apartment houses on adjacent property has filed plans with the building department of that city for a fence 150 feet high. A nine-story apartment building is to be built on the lot west of the home of this banker, who is J. M. Francolini, and he figures that a fence 150 feet high will be required to keep its future occupants from looking down upon him.—Popular Mechanics.

Sounds Made by Fish.

The skate, when caught, grunts, groans and gasps pretty much after the manner of a human being in distress. Carp and gold fish frequently utter curious sounds, but hardly sounds in the meaning of the term here used, inasmuch as their sounds are produced by approaching the surface of the water and blowing out air in bubbles until a rippling noise is heard.

Natural Stimulant.

Following is from "As It Is," by M. J. Rodermund, M. D.: "If you are very tired, but must perform a few more hours of hard work, lie down, close your eyes, and breathe deeply and a little faster than normal for half an hour, and see how refreshed and clear your brain will be and how refreshed the body feels, and how easily you can finish your work."

English College for Women.

One of the flourishing women's colleges in England is Bedford college, which existed for many years in Baker street, London, and is now transferred to a beautiful new building in the middle of Regent's park, looking out to the lake, and surrounded by lovely lawns and flower gardens, almost a realization of Tennyson's "Princess"

One Instance in His Mind.

She: And you say that you have always avoided blaming me. I'd like to have you mention one instance. He: With pleasure. Remember, right after we were married, I ate a pie you baked, and when the doctor came I told him it was clams.

Brazilian Eager for News.

Travelers in Brazil remark that not only in Rio de Janeiro, but in the large cities throughout the republic, the public awaits the daily news budget with an eagerness no less pronounced than is the case in the United States and on the continent of Europe.

Much Harder Question.

"What," said an interviewer to a candidate, "do you intend to do if you are elected?" "My goodness," said the poor fellow, "what shall I do if I'm not elected?"

The Rank Majority.

It is stated on reliable authority that there are more than a million and a half different brands of cigars. Yet there are only two kinds of cigars made, good and bad—mostly the latter.

Horrible Thought.

Alleged Humorist—Can you imagine anything worse than a graffe with a sore throat? Proven One—Bure! A centipede with corns.—Texas Coyote.

Saws Without Teeth.

The development of circular disks of iron, turning with great velocity, but possessing no teeth on the edge, for sawing material, is common in many workshops.

Why One Still Lived.

"How many deaths?" asked the hospital physician, while going his rounds. "None," "Why, I ordered medicine for ten." "Yes, but one wouldn't take it."

Evidently Not.

Mrs. Malaprop—No, I never was strong on literature. To save my life I couldn't tell you who wrote Gray's Elegy.—Life.

Through Sorrow to Joy.

In labor lies health of body and soul; in suffering and difficulty is the seed of all virtue and all wisdom.—Cassidy.

Impossible to Imitate Opal. Alone among jewels the opal defies the ingenuity of the imitator. It owes its charm not so much to its own intrinsic merits as to the splendor of the rays of light that it reflects.

When Every Man Was an Enemy. During the medieval period doors were small and narrow, so that only one person could pass through at a time, owing to the universal need for protection against attack.

Philosophy of Health. This philosophy of health may be summed up in three words: "Work, wash and pray." The greatest blessing that man enjoys—as is realized—is his ability and opportunity to work.

Natural Death Intervened. A woman's natural death in the act of trying to hang herself formed the subject of an inquest at Liverpool, England, recently. Sarah Stafford, thirty-six, widow of a ship laborer, was found hanging in her bedroom by a belt attached to the rail of the bed, but it was established by medical evidence that she died from heart failure before she could actually commit suicide.

Paper Box Industry Large. Paper box making, one of the new but very important industries of this country, has made its greatest progress during the last half century, and particularly within the last twenty years, after modern machinery had been introduced.

When Cleaning Furniture. When cleaning upholstered furniture it is often either impossible or inconvenient to move it outdoors. In such a case place a damp cloth over the piece of furniture and then beat it, changing the cloth several times during the process.

Child's Costly Plaything. A six-year-old Edinburgh (Scotland) child has had a rare privilege for a day or two of banging about a $500 diamond-studded watch as a plaything. He found it in the street, and neither his father nor his mother dreamed of its value till they saw an advertisement for its recovery.

Delicacy Known to the Ancients. The raised meat pies, so dear to the heart of the Englishman, and the no less delicious deep pies, made in pastry-lined bowls, were well known to Apicius, and he even gives explicit instructions about leaving a hole in the upper crust through which the steam may escape.

Bad Both Ways. "A man should not seek an election to the senate with a view to making money." "No," replied Senator Borah, "and on the other hand, he'll be criticised just the same if he accumulates money with a view to getting into the senate."

Food After the Flood. Every moving thing that liveth shall be food for you; as the green herb have I given you all. But flesh with the life thereof, which is the blood thereof, shall ye not eat.—Genesis ix;8-4.

Combine Against the Genius. When a true genius appears in the world, you may know him by this sign, that the dunces are all in confederacy against him.—Swift.

Recipe for Happier World. If people thought less about their own digestions and more about the welfare of other people it would be a healthier and a happier world.

Epitaph Worth Striving For. His heart was as great as the world, but there was no room in it to hold the memory of a wrong.—Emerson.
