

Collins Ducks On Power Of Truman On Overseas Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. J. Lawton Collins told the Senate today he doesn't know whether two new pacts with West Germany would give President Truman the right to order American troops into an international army.

"That's out of my field," said the Army chief of staff.

He was testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which is holding hearings on the agreements that would let West Germany into the free world defense setup.

One committee member, Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Ia.), served notice earlier today that he would make a strong move to tack onto the agreements a provision denying the President the right to assign American troops without the consent of the Senate.

Collins told the committee there are no plans "under present conditions" of sending more American troops to Europe.

He was not asked whether those plans would be changed if world conditions worsened.

Another witness, Frank Nash, an assistant secretary of defense, said the two treaties "make no change in the status quo" on the controversial troops-for-Europe issue, the issue that set off "the great debate" last year.

Thus, Nash seemed to line up with Secretary of State Acheson who told the committee earlier he believes the President has the power to send American troops wherever necessary to protect the nation's security.

Both Collins and Nash urged swift enactment of the two pacts, one a peace contract with West Germany, the other an amendment to the North Atlantic Treaty that would give West Germany security guarantees along with the other allies.

Hickenlooper, who questioned Collins on the troops-for-Europe matter, told a reporter he believed the treaties could be interpreted as giving the President the power to send more soldiers abroad at his will.

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — The chief Communist negotiator in the stalled Korean truce talks today said the United Nations "is in no position to dictate anything, either on the battlefield or in this conference."

The blast by North Korean Gen. Nam II came at a 16-minute no-progress session at Panmunjom, one of the shortest in weeks. Otherwise, Nam used softer words for the second straight day but remained unyielding on the final issue blocking an armistice-prisoner exchange.

Mr. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief Allied negotiator, agreed to another session Saturday. But he hinted to newsmen afterward that the U. N. may impose another recess if the Reds continue their propaganda blasts.

A Red charge that three civilians inside the neutral zone were wounded by Allied artillery last week backfired on the Communists at meetings of truce officers before and after the main truce sessions. Marine Col. James C. Murray told the Reds they had been keeping combat troops within the zone. Another meeting of truce officers was set on his question, which was not discussed by the senior delegates.

During the junior delegate sessions, Murray warned the Reds: "The conference area was not established to protect your front-line troops."

He told newsmen the injured civilians were close to Red troops during a shelling June 3 and apparently drifted over into the neutral zone to avoid the barrage.

"Some of the fragments were very near the edge. Whether they were in or not, we still don't know," he added.

Col. Chang Chin San, Communist liaison officer, denied knowledge of combat troops within the conference area.

Murray said the Allies surveyed the zone after the Red protest. This apparently showed that three Red outposts on its northern perimeter actually were inside.

KOJE ISLAND, Korea (AP) — Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner said today he has cracked the resistance of Kojé Island's 80,000 once-defiant Red war prisoners.

Communist POWs knuckled under four times today to United Nations authority. Boatner, the tough prison camp commander, then suspended for two or three days operations to break up the large groups of prisoners. This was to permit construction of new enclosures.

Boatner would not go so far as to say that all resistance is ended. But it is "definitely on the ebb, and I believe the worst is over," he told a newsmen.

Hartsfield Backs Road Department Policy On Bidding

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — State Road Board Secretary Ralph Hartsfield said today the Road Department policy of withholding names of prime bidders on contracts until 24 hours before bids are opened is a long standing one and is in the public interest.

The Daytona Beach Builders Exchange Thursday criticized the department for declining to release the names of bidders and said it was a departure from the agency's usual practice.

Fred Fortes, secretary of the exchange, said the withholding made it too late for five Daytona Beach firms to bid on subcontracts on construction of the new $900,000 Ormond Beach Bridge. Subcontracts must be handled through the prime bidders.

Hartsfield said the question of earlier releasing names of prime bidders was taken up at a Road Board meeting May 22 and engineers then recommended continuation of the policy of withholding them until 24 hours before bid openings.

Quoting from the minutes of the meeting, Hartsfield said the policy "is in the public interest if contractors knew only one or two persons were interested in or prepared to bid on a job it would give an opportunity of collusion or some working agreement which could result in increased bid prices."

The board secretary said the policy had been in effect for as long as oldtimers in the Road Department could remember. He added it never before has appeared to hamper subcontractors in filling their bids.

Carey said he supported a statement by CIO President Philip Murray that legislation "is both unnecessary and unwise."

Instead of legislation, Carey suggested the Defense Department set up a committee composed of representatives of industry, labor and government agencies to determine whether a union representing employees of a contractor or a prospective contractor is a security risk.

If this committee found a union to be Communist-dominated, it would have authority to refuse or cancel a contract.

He said he regards the role as political but has not discussed it with the Pentagon which also has said it plans no action. Pressed about Army regulations banning political activities for its personnel, Mr. Truman said he would call down Army officials if he thought "out of line, wise and see, he said.

The President was asked about speculation that Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson might submit in a campaign to draft him for Democratic nomination. Scott Lucas, former Illinois senator, predicted after a White House call earlier that Stevenson would accept.

Mr. Truman said he just didn't know, that Lucas as an Illinoisan is in a better position to judge. Stevenson, who checked in at a Springfield hospital for a physical examination this week, has said repeatedly he is not seeking the Democratic presidential plum. He has not said, however, that he would spurn a draft.

Three Democrats who definitely are out for the nomination were making speeches today. Mutual Security Administrator W. Averell Harriman was at Ogden and Provo in Utah. Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma at Clarkburg, W. Va., and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee at Chattanooga and Knoxville in his home state.

A fourth, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, his road Saturday on a 15-state zipping tour.

Kefauver is ahead of the pack in pre-convention delegate strength. The Associated Press scoreboard credits him with 246, followed by Russell's 204 and Harriman's 834. It takes 616 to win Democratic nomination.

guaranteed by our Federal Constitution."

Specifically, Mr. Truman called for adoption of the full civil rights program he laid before Congress in 1948 — including a Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) with power to enforce its decrees against job discrimination based on race, creed or color.

"This is the issue that brought me to the Southern Front against the Democrats in the 1948 National Convention and election.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, seeking the Republican presidential nomination, at Abilene, Kan., last week stated his "unwavering support of fairness and equality among all types of American citizens" and added: "I really believe we can do more by leadership in getting the states to do it than to make it a federal compulsory thing."

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, now leading the delegate race for the GOP nomination, is on record as favoring a voluntary FEPC rather than a compulsory one.

"Of the candidates in Mr. Truman's camp, Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia is against a federal compulsory FEPC while Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee favors state action although he has said he would go along with whatever stand the National Convention takes.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, often mentioned as a possible Democratic candidate, has indicated he prefers state handling of the problem as a primary step, before the federal government should step in.

W. Averell Harriman and Sen. Brien McMahon of Connecticut, on the other hand, have spoken out along the same lines as Mr. Truman did today.

In discussing steps to integrate white and Negro troops in the armed forces, Mr. Truman commented that "some of our greatest generals have said that our forces had in have segregated units. But our experience has proved that this was nonsense.

Mr. Truman named no names in this connection, but on April 3, 1948, testifying to a Senate committee on universal military training, Eisenhower said "I personally have always stood since that time along the same lines as Mr. Truman did today.

"If you make a complete amalgamation," Eisenhower went on, "that you are going to have it in every company, the Negro is going to be relegated to the minor jobs, and he is never going to get his promotion to such grades as technical sergeant, master ser-gent, and so on because the competition is too tough. . . I believe he is entitled to the chance to show his wares.

Eisenhower also said he believed that in time there will be no problem, that "it will disappear through education, through mutual respect, and so on."

The President recalled in his speech that after World War I, "a wave of violence and Ku Kluxism swept over the country." Since then, he said, there has been great progress toward equal opportunity for minority groups.

He said this has been achieved without any of the disorder or disruption predicted by "the prophets of doom."

"Our country," Mr. Truman said, "is founded on the proposition that all men are created equal. This means that they should be equal before the law. They should enjoy political rights. And they should have equal opportunities for education, employment and decent living conditions."

He referred to his civil rights proposals as "the trumpet blast outside the walls of Jericho—the crumbling walls of prejudice."

Commission Chairman Raymond Barnes announced the raises Thursday and said they were voted to bring employees' wages in line with increased living costs.

Lowest grade of employees will have a starting wage of $180 a month and a maximum of $220. Previously pay was $160 and $200.

The ninth grade, highest to which the increase applies, will have a starting pay of $450 and a maximum of $575. They were formerly $430 and $525.

Farm Editors Breakfast At Eisenhower's

General Promises To Use Finest Brains On Farm Problem; 19 Papers For Him

BY DON WHITEHEAD
DENVER (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower promised the nation's farm journal editors today that if elected President he would seek the "finest brains" in the country to help solve the problems of agriculture.

At an early morning breakfast meeting, Eisenhower said that he did not pretend to have specific answers to the specific problems that face America today.

Then he added:

"The most I have is a determination, if the people want me to do it, to approach the problems with the help of the finest brains in the country."

Then the general asked the editors to sit down with him sometime, and help him to understand all the problems that face the nation's farmers today.

He disclosed that he himself is a Hereford raiser—and expected to double his herd today.

"A partner and I have one very nice Hereford," the general said, and today we expect an increase that will give us two."

The breakfast meeting was Eisenhower's first public appearance since he arrived in Denver Sunday afternoon for his final drive for the Republican Presidential nomination.

The editors are members of the American Agricultural Editor's Association. They represent farm magazines and journals with a combined circulation of around 20 million. They are here in part of an annual tour of rural areas.

The general cancelled all other appearances for the day to devote some time to relaxing his golf game, a steak dinner with a few men and a quiet evening with his family.

Henry Simpson Talks To Rotary On Convention

Ladies Night Scheduled At Sanford Wednesday, June 25

Henry Simpson, alternate for the Sanford Rotary Club, today addressed local Rotarians on the recent Rotary International convention held in Mexico City. Ed Stowe, official delegate for the club, has not yet returned. Mr. Simpson was introduced by President Jack Rathjen.

Following a vote by the club members, President Rathjen announced that a Ladies Night supper will be held at the El Comodoro on the evening of Wednesday, June 25, and urged everyone to be present.

Pointing out that there were 1,500 guests at the convention in Mexico City, representing 64 different nationalities, Mr. Simpson said it was the finest convention he had ever attended, and that the guests were treated with every courtesy and hospitality by the Mexican people.

A wonderful program of entertainment for the delegates was arranged. Mr. Simpson said, ranging from musical program and dances to rodeos, horse races, jai al games and bull fights. Each of these was described as a brilliant spectacle of color.

Illustration of the hospitality of the Mexicans, Mr. Simpson said, was that on one evening all 7,400 delegates and alternates to the convention were entertained in the home of some Mexican family, about 20 to the home, and were given a special dinner.

Long Island Road Engineers Strike, 150,000 Stranded

NEW YORK (AP)—An engineers' strike shut down the Long Island Rail Road today, stranding 150,000 commuters who scurried for every other available sort of transportation.

Traffic was jammed bumper to bumper on the big parkways leading into the city after members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers (BLE) struck the nation's biggest commuter railroad.

The motormen and engineers began leaving their jobs shortly after 3 a. m. in a short time later the railroad announced that "all train service is suspended until further notice."

All available buses were pressed into service. All were crowded to the doors. One commuter described passengers as "hanging from the rafters."

Many commuters, taking a look at the crowded highways, simply turned around and went home without trying to get to their jobs in New York City.

The road carries a two-way total of about 300,000 daily riders, the vast majority of whom are commuters who live on Long Island and work in New York.

The New York City Board of Transportation had every available piece of equipment "standing by" at key points in Queens to pick up passengers who reached outlying areas by bus and auto.

Although the strike had been rumored for the last few weeks, it caught many commuters by surprise. It stems from the application of the National Railroad Agreement of last May 23 to the Long Island.

A union official said about 350 engineers and motormen were involved. He said the strike action was based on "a disagreement over operating rules, seniority and distinctions between freight and passenger duty."

In Washington, a spokesman for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers said that the Long Island was one of 64 railroads not included in the settlement reached last May.

At the brotherhood's headquarters in Cleveland, Grand Chief Engineer James F. Shields confirmed the strike.

Sheriff Sawyer Of Monroe County Is Exonerated

Gov. Warren Holds Hearings On Charges About Gambling

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Monroe County Sheriff Bern A. Sawyer today was given a clean bill of health in enforcement of gambling laws at a brief hearing before Gov. Fuller Warren here.

No one appeared against Sawyer at the hearing to determine whether he had neglected his duty to enforce the gambling laws. Warren called the hearing after an article appeared in the Miami Herald under the byline of a reporter whose name was not given.

Trumbull did not appear at the hearing. J. J. Elliott, special investigator for the governor's office, said he had invited the reporter, but Trumbull had replied it was against the policy of his newspaper to discuss the sources of news stories.

Elliott testified he spent three days in Key West on orders from the governor and had been unable to discover any gambling. He said he had driven a car with an out-of-state license tag and played the role of a vacationist seeking fun at the gambling tables.

He listed Wyke, the 114 Club, the Tropics, Happy Hours, the Weavers, Main Street, Imperial and Haven's Tea Room on Stock Island as places he had checked.

He said he visited these places repeatedly and "complained bitterly" about not being able to gain entrance to the gambling tables.

Kefauver And Taft's Views Vary Widely

Leading Contestants Agree On Only One Issue During Clash On Television Show

By The Associated Press

The two candidates leading the delegate races for the Presidential nomination made it clear by their face-to-face debate they are miles apart on both domestic and foreign issues.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Robert A. Taft of Ohio voiced agreement on only one thing: that out fighting in an government will be a major campaign issue.

They clashed on a television program which aired at 8 p. m. on Monday. Kefauver, a Democrat, and Taft, a Republican, were in a heated debate on the issue of the Korean war.

Kefauver argued that the United States should withdraw its troops from Korea. He said that the war had been a mistake and that the United States should seek a negotiated settlement.

Taft, on the other hand, argued that the United States should continue to support the South Korean government. He said that the war was necessary to prevent the spread of Communism.

The debate was watched by millions of Americans on television. It was one of the most watched events of the year.

Social Security Is Increased By House

Dependent Children And Old Age Fund Benefits Are Raised By $300 Millions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today passed approval of a bill boosting social security benefits by $300 million dollar. It postponed final passage until Tuesday.

More than two-thirds of the members indicated approval by a voice vote. Rep. Louis B. Nichols (D-Ill.) objected on the ground that a quorum was not present.

Speaker Carl Albert (D-Tex.) said that a roll call vote on the measure will be taken Tuesday. Nichols agreed not to take a roll call vote but he insisted on a quorum of members participating in the Maine primary election.

Chairman Douglas (D-Ill.) of the Ways and Means committee made an impassioned plea for support of the bill which was attacked by Rep. Fred (D-N.Y.) a step toward socialized medicine.

From the floor the acceptance of the bill would be a socialized medicine and never will be. He also insisted on a quorum of members participating in the Maine primary election.

The bill would increase the dependent children benefit by $100 million and the old age benefit by $200 million. It also would increase the maximum benefit payable to $100 a month.

34 Casualties Result In Blast At Munition Dump

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—An unarmored Swedish military plane was shot down today by two Russian MIG fighters. The seven-man crew was rescued later at sea by a German merchant ship.

The Swedish air force command announced that the plane, a four-engine Catalina bomber, had been downed by two Russian MIG fighters. The plane was shot down over the Baltic sea.

Two of the crew were reported wounded. The men said they had been attacked seven times by the Russian fighters.

5 Negroes Renew Effort To Enter State University

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Five Negroes, renewing their three-year-old suit for admission to the University of Florida, today filed suit in federal court to enter the state-supported Negro institution.

H. E. Hill, Daytona Beach Negro attorney for the five, asked the Supreme Court to enter a final order compelling their admission to the all-white university on the basis of pleadings filed in the Supreme Court in 1949.

He asked the court to establish conditions for admission of the five Negroes to the University of Florida. He also asked the court to establish conditions for admission of the five Negroes to the University of Florida.

Hill maintained the question of whether the new Florida A. & M. schools satisfy the federal constitutional requirement of equal opportunities for all races is not at issue in the case and argued that any form of professional school segregation at the universities had long been unconstitutional.

Hill asked the court to give him any kind of order, even adverse ruling, that will let him appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

J. Frank Heintz, assistant Florida attorney general, said he had no objection to entry of a final order in the case. He contended it could only be dismissal of the Negroes' suits.

He said the five Negroes never completed their applications for admission to the university in compliance with normal regulations and a plan for Negro education approved by the Supreme Court.

A bond of $3,000 has been posted for Florence M. Dustin, arrested Saturday on a charge of selling Cuba tickets, Chief Roy G. Williams said today. Bail has been set at $3,000 for William Dustin, her husband, on a charge of the possession of Cuba tickets.

The arrest of Mrs. Dustin took place during a raid Saturday morning on Bill Dustin's Trading Post on Sanford Avenue. An envelope of 19 tickets were found concealed under a pile of ladies' underwear on a counter of the Trading Post, a general store.

A book of Cuba tickets and $47.46 found in a cash register at the store were also seized by Chief Williams. Police Officers Joe Hickson and S. B. Suenes and Deputy Sheriff Buford Brown, a warrant against the Bill Dustin Trading Post had been issued previous to the raid by County Judge Douglas Riekenstein. The sale of the tickets had been conducted by means of marked currency, Chief Williams said.

Whitehair Foresees Possibility DeLand May Get Air Base

DELAND (AP)—Undersecretary of the Navy Francis Whitehair today said he believes the armed services may find a way to justify reactivating the former V-1 base here.

He came here on an inspection trip and told a big hometown crowd at a breakfast here that "light austerity with funds spent where needed most," effort was being made to determine if the base could be reactivated as a major corps or navy installation.

Secretary Whitehair, a member of the DeLand law firm, stepped from his personal plane at the base accompanied by navy and marine corps aides to the blazing Florida sun at approximately 11 a. m. The plane bore a painted undersecretary of navy's flag, four stars and an anchor on a red.

The undersecretary was greeted officially by Earl Brown, former mayor and members of the Chamber of Commerce's military affairs committee, who said:

Shriners Meet At Miami In 67th Imperial Council

MIAMI (AP)—This resort city was taken over by a gay merry-making throng of 40,000 red-tipped nobles today as the 78th annual session of the Shrine's Imperial Council got under way. They will arrive today, coming in aboard special trains at half hour intervals. They will join an estimated 20,000 who came in Sunday, plus another 10,000 early arrivals.

Sunday's throng came aboard 11 special trains loaded with shriners and their families, band instruments, uniforms, horses and equipment.

Special planes and inter-state buses also arrived during the day and the 55 Florida bought 400 nobles of Aladdin Temple, Columbia, O., back from a pre-convention trip to Havana.

Registration desks will be open throughout the day and recorders of the various temples, representing all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico, will hold an all-day meeting.

There will be three band concerts during the afternoon in Miami's Bayfront Park handball, with grand opening of the convention set for 8 p. m. in the Orange Bowl.

An hour of pre-arranged entertainment will precede the program, which will feature 4,500 persons and elaborate bands, bands, pretty girls, movie kiosk and elaborate formations in a riot of color and pageantry.

A fireworks display will be held in Bayfront Park along the Miami waterfront, followed by the Shrine Jubilee and street dancing.

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHTS

There are still many who do not understand that God is a tender father and wishes us only good. They cried aloud, and cut themselves after their manner with knives and lancets, till the blood gushed out upon them. — 1 K 18:22

There is the man who is a lot more intelligent than he appears to be, there is the man who appears to be a lot more intelligent than he is, and then there is the man who is intelligent, period.

"I always trade my car in after two years," said a friend of ours the other day. "They are no good after that." How wrong can a fellow be? Do you know that there are today 17 million automobiles being operated in the United States that are at least nine years old and that on the average they have been driven 73,020 miles. Someone must be getting a lot of good out of them after two years.

Congratulations to Herman Morris on his selection as "Father of the Year." Mr. Morris is nothing if he is not a father. He not only has two fine boys of his own, but he fathers about 500 other young people at Seminole High School every year, and as if that were not enough—does nothing wear their men out?—he conducts a boys' camp every summer. If being with young people will keep a man young, and we certainly believe it helps, Mr. Morris should live to be a hundred.

More information on the way Harry Truman's mind works at a press conference is revealed by his reactions to the appointment of MacArthur to keynote the G.O.P. Convention. Army regulations forbid a man with MacArthur's official Army status from engaging in political activity. The Army has said that it is considering no action in connection with the prospective MacArthur speech. On all this, Harry says: 1) Keynoting a political convention is political activity. 2) But the matter is up to the Army and he will not interfere in their handling of it. 3) and he approves the Army's handling of the matter thus far or he would have done something about it. Follow that, if you can.

Maybe the fellow who looks at you with that mean look is just naturally that way, maybe he had a bad night or maybe he is suffering from momentary depression, but whatever it is don't get the idea he doesn't like you, for the chances are that his face does not reveal the true feeling in his heart. Most of us at one time or another have harbored and expanded upon some fancied slight due to a grim expression of one of our friends, when all the time we were being overly sensitive and thought we detected a meaning that wasn't there.

The construction figures on the new oceanic liner "The United States" are interesting. In justifying the $42 million which the American taxpayer contributed to building the $70 million ship, an official of the U. S. Lines, which is to own and operate it, pointed out that $27 million of the government money went to pay for features of the liner which could have been eliminated, were it not intended to requisition the boat as a troop transport in wartime. This sounds reasonable, we guess, but then he tells us that $16 million of the taxpayers' money went as a straight government subsidy to the American construction industry. That $16 million could have been used by the U. S. Lines had built the ship in England where costs are lower. This seems a little odd.

After all the money we have spent to build up the United States, it is not surprising that we have no money to spend on our own people. The average man in the United States has a net worth of $1,000. The average man in England has a net worth of $10,000. The average man in Sweden has a net worth of $20,000. The average man in Norway has a net worth of $30,000. The average man in Denmark has a net worth of $40,000. The average man in the Netherlands has a net worth of $50,000. The average man in Belgium has a net worth of $60,000. The average man in France has a net worth of $70,000. The average man in Germany has a net worth of $80,000. The average man in Italy has a net worth of $90,000. The average man in Japan has a net worth of $100,000. The average man in the United States has a net worth of $1,000.

Puritan and Grafter

Chile must be very like some parts of the United States. They have many excellent laws, but enforcement leaves something to be desired. This is the report of Miss Felina Gonzalez, a section chief in Chile's National Department of Labor, who is undergoing six months training on American labor laws.

It is perhaps a typical American failing to insist that undesirable practices should be forbidden by law, even when enforcement is almost impossible. So a failure of prohibition in our large cities showed the drawbacks of this idea, and many think it almost equally impracticable to forbid gambling, whatever may be done about its commercialization. Josiah Flynt, a writer on social affairs half a century ago, alluded to this persistent attempt to forbid evils and let it go at that, when he spoke of "the alliance between the Puritan and the grafter." The Puritan wishes to have the law books take a moral stand; he did not always take the trouble to see that the laws were enforced. The grafter, on the other hand, did not care what the law said, so long as he was allowed to break it and make money out of the violation. This unspoken alliance between two radically different elements may be one of the chief causes of civic corruption today.

More Russian Trouble

The Russians are dissatisfied with the state of affairs in the Ukraine, the immensely fertile province along the Black Sea. Local Communist leaders have severely criticized the party Central Committee, and dismissed two officials. Though the complaints range from the backward planting of spring beets to faulty propaganda, these may conceal the real cause for alarm, the persistence of Ukrainian nationalism. Though related to the Russians, the Ukrainians are not Russian, and their language, though similar, is not the same. They have dreamed of independence, and for a time after World War I enjoyed considerable freedom of action.

The Ukrainians are many of them descendants of the Cossacks, who in the 17th century revolted from Poland and after several years of war offered their allegiance to Moscow. Their national hero, Bogdan Khmelnytsky, who led the revolt against the Poles, was the chief figure of an opera, produced in 1951 and immediately suppressed by the Russians. If his memory was still alive only last year, it may still inspire the Ukrainians with thoughts of what might be if they were free.

Vestiges Of Empire

India is so big and has so many problems from excess population that she hardly seems to need either more territory or more people. Yet she is not satisfied. There are still French and Portuguese possessions left in India, and the Hindus will not be content until these are taken over.

The existence of a French India and a Portuguese India is unknown to many. They are in fact quite tiny, the Portuguese possessions of Goa, Damão and Diu on India's west coast comprising only 1,637 square miles. French India on the east coast is even smaller. The area of Pondicherry, Karikal, Chandernagore, Mahe and Yanam is only 100 square miles. Yet small as they are, India would like to annex them, and threatens to put on economic pressure to force them to join.

Both Portuguese and French India are scanty remains of past greatness. In early modern times, shortly after the Portuguese Vasco da Gama rounded the Cape of Good Hope and sailed all the way from Portugal to India, his country built up a great commercial empire in India and came near having a great land dominion as well. Portugal did not, however, have enough population to maintain great overseas colonies in India, and gradually lost all but these few remaining fragments.

The same is true of France, except that she had more resources with which to hold India and might well have done so instead of England. Incompetent kings like Louis XV, who failed to support their subordinates in the East may be blamed for India's not being French.

Portugal and France value their small Indian possessions, and will be loath to lose them.

Other Sanford girls attending the camp are Herriet Redding, Nancy Roundtree, Jean Southward, Rose Southward, Martha Blomberg, Dottie Williams, and Elizabeth Woodruff. Eunice Elizabeth Brewster of St. Petersburg also is among the campers.

The camp's meals are personally planned and supervised by Mrs. Morris, who was born and raised on a cattle ranch in Arizona. Mr. Morris was born at Dennison, Texas, and grew up in a cattle-raising atmosphere. Their son, Robert, who is to have charge of the waterfront and all aquatic sports at the camp, has just returned from Brevard, N. C., where he attended the National American Red Cross Aquatic school. Robert received instruction at this school from the best American instructors in boating and waterfront activities.

Assisting the Morris' will be Bobbe Blalock, Ellen Ditzinger, Margaret Morrison and Miriam Moyer. They will serve as foreman, keeping order in the bunkhouses, having had several years of Girl Scout leader experience and been outstanding in Seminole High School activities.

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Infantrymen of the U. S. 45th Division today smashed an artillery-supported Chinese attack on a hill formation in the Western Front. The five-day old battle has cost the Reds more than 1,000 casualties.

The reinforced Americans knocked back about 750 Chinese in a bitter seven-hour scrap. The Red objective was the bottom part of a T-shaped hill west of Chorwon. U. S. troops held three knobs of the hill.

American Sabre jet pilots reported three Communist jets destroyed and one damaged in two flights south of the Manchurian border.

Second Lt. James Law, Sausalito, Calif., only six months out of pilot school, shot down one and became America's 17th jet ace with a total of five MIG kills. He has been in Korea only six weeks.

Baltic fishermen have reported that hundreds of Russian jets, submarines and surface warships have been operating in the Eastern Baltic, between Danzig and Finland, apparently in vast combined exercises.

The air force announcement gave this account: "The Catalina's pilot reported at 4:10 a. m. (10:10 p. m. Sunday, EST) that he was being attacked and would try to return to his base. He said he then was about 30 miles northwest of the Russian-held island of Hilo (Dago)."

Another Swedish aircraft reported seeing the Catalina at 4:18 a. m. flying low in a westerly direction. The report gave a position indicating the plane then was about 30 miles west of the point at which the pilot had said he was attacked.

Two years ago a U. S. Air Force Privateer aircraft disappeared in the same Baltic area. The Russians later admitted their fighters downed it.

Capt. Sven Gustaf Toerngren, crew chief of the Swedish Catalina, said in a telephoned report from the Swedish consulate at Hango that the Russians made a nine-minute attack on his craft. "We were attacked by two MIGs, but only one of them shot at us," Toerngren said. "Our radio apparatus was hit by the Russian bullets and damaged after the second series of shots from the firing of the Russian MIG-15. Our left wing motor was also hit and damaged."

MOSQUITOES OUT

SANIBEL ISLAND, Fla. (AP)—Biologists plan to release more than 1,500,000 mosquitoes here today to study the range and habits of the aedes triseriatus, the notorious biter from the coastal marshes, according to Dr. Maurice Provost.

They've been made radio active by a soluble uranium by-product. Biologists hope they'll wind up in the marshes, 40 miles south, through Alva, 41 miles east, to Punta Gorda, 40 miles north.

The wedding took place at Knowles Memorial Chapel on the Rollins College campus with Dr. Marshall C. Denny officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The chancel was beautifully decorated with palms and myriads of white daisies softly lighted with tall white tapers. The ribbon section was marked with sprays of the white blossoms tied with satin ribbon.

Prior to the marriage Dr. Herman F. Stewart, organist, rendered a number of nuptial selections. Glenn Ingram, soloist, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Love Thee".

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a lovely white gown of imported Swiss organza, delicately accented with exquisite floral embroidery. The embroidered bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline and the skirt, giving a redingote-like effect, ended in a lovely cathedral train. Her veil of imported illusion fell from a satin and Alencon lace cap. She wore a strand of pearls, a large white orchid corsage, and carried a hand-made lace handkerchief, a gift from her grandmother, the late Mrs. Charles Alexander. Her bridal bouquet was a large white orchid encircled with small white moans and orange blossoms.

The maid of honor, Miss Winifred Stubble, wore a yellow gown of all over embroidered organza, fashioned with a detachable stole. The dress featured a full-length length bouffant skirt over hoopeds, taffeta peek-a-boo petticoat. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of blue daisies with the same colored flowers in her hair. The bridesmaids, the Misses Lois Miller, Helen Chapman, JoAnn Laughinghouse and Barbara Walden, wore gowns of heavenly blue, styled after the motif of the bride's, and carried bouquets of white blue daisies with matching flowers in their hair.

Charles Alexander, brother of the bride, served as best man, and groomsmen were Sidney Swape Jr., Edwin Kiser, E. A. Howard, Kissen of Orlando, and Porter Lansing III, Eugene Harper and Robert Hodges of Sanford.

The bride's mother wore a full-length gown of gray chiffon featuring pink double hibernia and an orchid corsage at her shoulder. The mother of the bridegroom was gowned in a full-length dress of fresh colored marquisette with a white tucker and an orchid corsage.

Reception was held at the Almond House at Rollins where arrangements of white flowers and other Reed daisies were used in decorating. The bride's table was overlaid with a linen and cloth featuring the traditional bride's cake with miniature bride and groom, decorated with white flowers. A decorative candle glowed from the center of a unique arrangement of table and lily of the valley flowers.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Ralph L. Miller, Mrs. George W. Chapman, Mrs. E. A. Howard, Mrs. George Sherouse, Mrs. Jonathan Adams, Mrs. Beatrice Little, Mrs. Frank Lilly, Mrs. Wilker J. Lindeman, Mrs. E. A. Hursey, Mrs. E. L. Wood, Mrs. Paul Fague, Mrs. Glenn Ingram, Mrs. John Liphroth, Mrs. Dale M. Carey and Mrs. C. N. Prather. Also the Misses Phoebe Miller, Sally Sherouse, Ellen Lindeman, Geten, Evelyn Patrick and Sally Hudson.

The bride couple left for a trip down the East Coast to go by plane from Miami to Nassau. The bride's travel ensemble was a white Shrovetery suit, apron, accessories and the white veil from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return on June 20 they plan to make their home at 2401 1/2 Park Avenue at the Stimpfhor cottage.

Among those from Sanford attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Lansing Jr., Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Lansing III, Mr. and Mrs. O. Tottering Seminole Blues Face Leesburg Here Tonight

Sanford Beats Red Hats Then Loses 3 In Row To Fall Into Fifth Place

By KENT CHELAIN
Sanford's Seminole Blues, recently saved from collapse by the fans, were unable to crash through on the field over the weekend as they defeated DeLand in the opening of a twin bill and then dropped the nightcap going on to lose to Palatka, 4-2, Saturday night and fall to Jax Beach 10 innings, 8-6, yesterday.

The Blues now have a three-game lead in the Memorial Stadium. In a three-game series going into tonight's fray with the Leesburg Packers ended a disastrous five-game losing streak. Sanford lost its last eight games in the last nine play-

Tonight's pitching choice for the Blues is not yet known, though there is reason to believe the Seminoles may try a new pitcher when they fell from the first division in fourth place to fifth only a half game ahead of Daytona Beach in sixth.

The week-end proved equally ill-fated for Sanford when it lost its big gun, "Hammering" Chuck Aleno, who was suspended by league President John Krider for his vicious argument with umpires Ken Burkhardt and Bill Berkhart last Saturday in the Palatka game. The loss of Aleno, who was leading the FSL in runs batted in and tied with Ed Levy for the most homers in the circuit, was and will be sorely felt.

Yesterday, George Kenis batted nine and one-third innings before big George Smith took over in the 10th with the Jax Beach Sea Birds winning 8-5, the margin of the final outcome. Kenis was rapped for 18 hits and all 8 runs.

The Blues took the lead in the fifth when Paul Eskew, newcomer Sody Grant, Joe Parise and Bill Godwin singled in succession followed by Sody Grant's fly and a single by Ted Brooklyn to score three runs. This made the count read at the end of five, Sanford 5, Jax Beach 3.

The Sea Birds picked up one run in the sixth when pitcher Joe Angel abetted his own cause with a one-run homer. Angel figured in the tying run in the eighth after he doubled and Manager Lou Lopat pitched to pulling for some time. Angel yielded 11 hits for the first five frames but turned around and blanked the Blues on no hits the rest of the way.

Sody Grant, the full-blooded Indian veteran, cracked out three singles in five trips to give him a .429 batting average in the first two contests he has played for the Seminoles.

Joe Parise acted as the managerial replacement for the suspended Aleno yesterday.

Blues Manager, Chuck Aleno, Is Given Indefinite Suspension

Action Comes After Saturday Night's Fracas With Umps In Palatka Game

Manager Chuck Aleno and his powerful bat will be lost to the Seminole Blues for an indefinite period of time after his suspension last Saturday night at the conclusion of the Palatka Sanford game played in the Memorial Stadium in which the Blues lost 4-2.

The suspension grew out of Aleno's vociferous protest of banishment of injured star John Imbra from the dugout in the seventh inning of last Saturday night's game with Palatka. Seminoles manager John Krider and the period of his suspension was termed "indefinite" and will remain so until both umpires' reports are in.

Seminoles manager John Krider and the period of his suspension was termed "indefinite" and will remain so until both umpires' reports are in.

The departure of Aleno and Imbra was followed by ouster of George Kenis, Murray Byrd and George Smith in the eighth. Bill Burkhardt and Bill Berkhart were the two umpires who all but cleared the Sanford bench in the 7th inning.

Aleno was leading the FSL in RBI's and tied with Ed Levy for the most homers in the loop at the time of his suspension. President Joel Field stated this morning that additional player help may be here soon. "We will know something definite today," he said.

New York Giants Blow 11-Run Lead As Reds Triumph

Yanks Defeat Twice, 8-2 And 3-1 For 69,468 Fans

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Imagine a big league baseball team dissipating an 11-run lead. Sounds incredible, doesn't it?

It happened, though. No later than Sunday and by none other than the National League Champion New York Giants.

Sunday produced lots of excitement as the New York Yankees increased their first place lead in the American League with two victories over the Cleveland Indians. The Boston Braves chilled the red hot Chicago Cubs with a double defeat and the Cincinnati Reds won their first game of the season from the Brooklyn Dodgers. Nothing, however, matched St. Louis Cardinals' feat of overcoming the Giants' 11-0 lead to win 14-12.

The Yankees opened up a game and a half lead in the American League by the Indians twice, 8-2 and 4-3. The first contest, watched by the Yankees in their 12th and 13th games in 15 starts, Ed Lopat pitched a five-hitter for the Yankees in the first complete game of the season.

The second place Red Sox fought back for a split with a second game 3-2 triumph after Saul Rogers had pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 7-2 win in Chicago. Buck Gerner's first major league homer with a mate aboard, provided the Red Sox winning margin.

The St. Louis Browns won their first doubleheader of the season, whipping the Athletics, 6-3 and 7-1 in 11 innings. Outfielder George Schrems drove in Jim Rivera with the winning run in the nightcap.

Ned Garver pitched his fourth victory in the first contest, 6-3, as Detroit and Washington split. Home runs by Vic Wertz, Gerry Priddy, Fred Hatfield and Pat Mullin won the first game, 6-3. The Cardinals' first complete game, pitching his first complete game in two years, spaced eight hits for a 4-2 Washington win in the nightcap.

Howie Pollet hurled the last place Pittsburgh Pirates to a five-game triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies, out hitting Jim Konstanty came back to throttle the Pirates, 6-4 on four hits in the nightcap.

Aleno Drops From Big Ten While Roberts Threatens His RBI Lead

The current slump of the Seminole Blues was reflected in the release of this past week's averages as Chuck Aleno fell from the exclusive "Top Ten" batting circle. Meanwhile, Aleno's runs-batted-in domination was cut to a scant three - tally edge over DeLand's Red Roberts.

Aleno has 74 RBI's to Roberts' 71. The giant Sanford pilot dropped from the Top Ten hitters of the Florida State League for the first time this year as his average went .369 to .336.

The Seminole Blues Manager did succeed in cracking out a homer to tie Ed Levy at 13 for the FSL leadership. Utility gem Paul Eskew recorded the largest individual gain among the Sanford batters rising from 250 to 316 to place second to Aleno among the active Blue players.

Roberts was the big noise in the Class B Florida State League for the week ending at midnight Thursday June 12. It is revealed in official averages released at league headquarters here today.

Roberts not only maintained his loop batting lead by a three point margin over Manager Red Treadway but moved away out front with six straight wins against no defeats, and undisciplined leader in earned runs allowed, hits with 100, and doubles with 20. Not only that, he is second to Chuck Aleno in RBI's, having 71.

It will be the first appearance of organized baseball in the southernmost city in the country.

The big fellow all but pitched the DeLand Red Hats into undisputed leadership during the first half of the season that ends with games of next Thursday night for when he whipped second place Jax Beach twice in the year's first "Iron man" stunt during the past week, he broke the back of the Hats' only real threat.

Clubwise, there were stirrings of financial difficulty at Sanford but loyal fans raised over 35,000 and, meeting League President John Krider, "This should assure Sanford's finishing the season."

The Leesburg Packers moved out of the cellar when Don Anderson, former Gainesville pilot, seeing out here and adding new material there, was able to come up with seven wins in his first 12 starts with the Packers. They won six out of seven during the week, and had five straight through Thursday midnight.

At that hour, the Hats had a three and one-half game lead over Jax Beach and Orlando and the Palatka Azaleas, winning four of eight while Sanford was losing six of seven, but moved into fourth place by half a game.

Roberts became the loop's first player to get 100 hits, but Cade was only three away, and Treadway was only nine away.

State's Competing Citrus Areas Have Seen Difficulties

LAKELAND — Florida citrus men, who have had their price worries this season, can be assured competing areas have had troubles too.

Florida Citrus Mutual reports that the Texas grapefruit industry, hard hit by freezes in 1950 and 1951, received another setback from drought this spring.

"Recent rains have given grapefruit trees there a shot in the limb from a growth standpoint but it is too late for them to develop a late bloom fruit," J. C. Strickland, Mutual's fresh fruit expert, said.

Present indications are their crop will be lighter than next season, even on the trees that survived the freezes and were expected to produce a normal crop.

Strickland said California's Valencia oranges are extremely small again this season.

There is an acute shortage of labor in California citrus groves which makes harvesting these small sizes difficult, Strickland said.

California citrus men are finding a good market for some of these small oranges in Canada and abroad, he added.

With Florida's season nearly over, most varieties did well at auction last week.

Indian River oranges advanced 17 cents a box to average $3.82.

Oranges from the interior brought $3.61, a cent less than the week before.

The major grapefruit varieties both showed good gains. White seedless from the interior was up 21 cents a box to $3.18, and Indian River white seedless was 24 cents higher at $4.17.

that the Long Island was one of the 64 and that he had authorized the strike call.

Of the 64 there were 11 — including the Long Island — which agreed to place their cases in mediation under the Railway Labor Act immediately after the pay settlement, which covered 180 major roads.

Shields, in a statement, indicated strike action would be used, if necessary, to obtain agreements with the rest of the carriers.

"We want it clear that we now will turn the full weight of our organization toward the consummation of agreements with those 64 carriers on terms at least as favorable as those we got at the White House," he said.

But Ross Barr of the National Mediation Board, who has been trying to resolve differences which led to the strike, said the walkout "looks like a more or less wildcat affair."

He added, "We're making every effort to get the parties together."

Later Barr reported that National Mediation Chairman Leverett Edwards had joined in efforts to end the strike.

Barr said he was trying to arrange a meeting between the union and the company later today.

Commuters grumbled and did the best they could to get to work.

Rails Praised By Governor Talmadge

SAVANNAH, Ga. — Gov. Herman Talmadge said today rapid and efficient transportation has been "the very life blood for phenomenal growth in the Southern region has enjoyed during recent years."

He spoke at the southeastern convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"Efforts of the railroads in the South, their wide contacts, their ever-present willingness to assist and co-operate with new business and industry, their reliability, all of these have been important and indispensable factors in promoting the growth of our region," Talmadge declared.

21 Racehorses Die In Belmont Park Blaze

BELMONT, N. Y. — A groom and 21 racehorses were burned to death early today in a spectacular fire which destroyed half of a big barn at Belmont Park racetrack.

The groom, found burned to a crisp, apparently had been kicked unconscious by a horse. He was trying to save the horse when he was killed.

Police said Alfred Mitchell, 28, Laurel, Md.

Dozens of horses could be heard bawling away, Long Island Racecourse officials said.

Belmont's General Post Office building was closed for several hours as firemen worked to contain the blaze.

2 Of 7 Escaped Convicts Captured

POMPANO — Two of seven white convicts who fled a state prison camp near here were back in custody today.

Blood hounds were helping police in the search for the other five.

Capt. J. B. Kirby, in charge of the camp, said the seven men cut their way through wire mesh at the camp about 8:15 p. m. Sunday.

Kirby said James Ward, 18, was picked up near Oakland Park and attempting to steal an automobile. James Roger Hill, 27, was captured a few hours later.

The search continued in farm-lands and undeveloped areas near the Seaboard Railroad and the power line road on which the camp is located.

Those still at large were identified as William Edward Newhill, alias William Ford, 20; Joseph Borio, 20; Junior (alias Julius) Stealey, 21; William Barley alias Burdell, 30; and Joseph Dimaco, alias Demaro, 21.

Ybor City Becomes 'Independent' With Joking Overtones

TAMPA — Ybor City is no longer a city within a city — it's a country within a country.

Ybor City is a predominantly Latin section of Tampa. Within a few days it has rocketed to a status where "it" has its own national flag, an air force (one plane), an army (all generals), a navy (all admirals), a delegate to the United Nations and a bureaucracy which can compare with that of the United States.

It all began when some one at an Ybor City Rotary Club meeting suggested the section should have an honorary mayor. Tony Pizzo, sales manager for a wine company, was elected.

He took it as a joke, but many people didn't. They began asking him for jobs, making complaints, and seeking all the kinds of help they normally address to Tampa's Mayor Curtis Ilixon.

No Pizzo decided he might as well do things right. He created a seal, spent half a day planning a flag which combined the colors of those of the United States, Cuba, Spain and Italy; and soon expanded his administration from mere city functions to those of a nation.

Now he's so busy he complains he doesn't have time to make a living. The more posts he creates, the more people get interested and want to have a part in this birth of a nation.

Two recent additions to the Monkey Island population of the Sanford zoo are a buck and doe born to Billy on June 11, inspecting the fawns. The 2 1/2 year old Sharon Hoover of Forrest City, Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoover. The hands which comfort and confine the rambunctious deer on the right belong to Jack Davis, keeper of the zoo.

New Arrivals Add To Excitement On Monkey Island At Municipal Zoo

The Sanford Municipal Zoo community has been excited recently by several new arrivals, some strange, some quite natural.

The most peculiar new resident of the animal village on the shore of beautiful Lake Monroe is the guinea. This creature you have probably never seen before, nor anything like him. He is the child of a camel and a llama and looks like nothing else in heaven or earth.

Recently purchased from a circus by Jack Davis, the guinea is accompanied by his pal, Billy, a goat, which climbs high wires for fun. Unfortunately there are no high wires as yet at the zoo, and very few wires at all, so Billy has not been able to practice up very much of late. However, according to Mr. Davis, it has climbed everything within reach, and would undoubtedly be only too ready to climb a high wire again, if it had one.

The most exciting recent entries in the zoo's social register are the two young children of Billy, a Florida white tail deer, residing among the monkeys on Monkey Island. Huck and Joe, they are the youngest members of the zoo community, born June 11. They have not aroused quite so much curiosity among the anthropoid majority of the island as the birth of a previous fawn did last year, Mr. Davis revealed. Apparently, the monkeys are getting used to this sort of thing.

Another new arrival is a young grizzly bear raised from a cub by the mayor of South Daytona. This grizzly is not yet so fierce as the great grizzly tradition would lead us to believe he'll be one day, and he is happily at home in the bear denelle across the street from the police station.

By the way Peggy Ann, the famous dancing bear, was letting the newcomers know that he better watch out, he isn't a dancer, because when she dances only too often these people who had promised her a peanut for her trouble, went merrily on their way and tossed the promised peanut to those disgusting hunking geese across the way. Peggy Ann said she was thinking of cutting out this whole dancing affair if business didn't improve.

Former British Mata Hari Found Stabbed To Death

By HAL COOPER

LONDON — A beautiful Polish noblewoman who served brilliantly as a wartime British spy was found stabbed to death early today in a Kensington hotel.

Scotland Yard said a porter confessed to the killing.

The victim was Countess Krzyzanka Skarbek, 37, who served in France in actual combat under the French Masludars and accomplished daring feats of sabotage against the Nazis.

Police brought Dennis G. Muldowney, 41, a porter, to court to be charged formally with murder.

Chief Inspector G. W. Jennings of Scotland Yard told the court that when he accused Muldowney, the porter blurted out: "Let's get away from here and get it over quickly."

Muldowney was ordered held for a hearing July 1.

Hotel guests who heard the countess screaming, "get him off me!" found her lying dead in a hall with a gaping knife wound in her chest.

The countess, who became a naturalized Briton in 1947, signed on the liner Winchester Castle six weeks ago as a stewardess. Recently she had been using the name "Christine Granville" — one of her pseudonyms in the days when she matched wits with the Nazi Gestapo.

A former beauty queen in her native Poland, the countess offered her services to British military intelligence at the outbreak of the war.

She was first sent to Hungary to set up communications with underground groups in Poland and occupied Central Europe. Twice she fell into the hands of the Gestapo, but escaped unaided.

Later she took parachute training and was dropped into France to work with resistance groups. She was officially credited with taking part in several actual battles against Nazi troops.

The slim, dark-haired noblewoman also directed underground sabotage teams which blew up bridges, derailed trains and raided various German headquarters.

The British government awarded her the George medal for valor and made her a member of the Order of the British Empire.

Taft said any such cut was impossible. President Truman said the same thing in a speech Saturday, and Kefauver said Eisenhower must have been thinking of something else when he made the remark.

But Eisenhower insisted he meant what he said: The cut could be made by reducing all government spending, including military outlays.

Taft made two other references to Eisenhower in his TV appearance. He said, like Eisenhower, he "has made no deals" and does not know of any political debts he owes. And he said he doesn't believe the general has won a single new delegate since his return from Europe early this summer.

Before setting out on a final drive for the GOP nomination, Eisenhower scheduled a relatively quiet day in Denver today.

MacArthur Is Unshackled By Army's Ruling

Five-Star General Is Not Subject To Restrictions Against Political Activity

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today ruled in effect that Gen. Douglas MacArthur is not subject to regulations banning political activity by members of the armed forces.

The Army didn't mention MacArthur by name, but it issued a statement discussing the status of 5-star generals which made MacArthur's status clear.

The Army said when "officers holding this rank and not assigned any duties, they are considered to be in status similar to retired officers and therefore not subject to the prohibitions of A. R. 600-1 relating to political activities."

MacArthur's status had been widely discussed since he was selected as keynote speaker for the Republican National Convention in Chicago next month. The 5-star general has openly supported Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the Republican presidential nomination.

MacArthur has remained on the Army's active list but has not been assigned any specific duties since his ouster by President Truman as Far Eastern commander.

The Department of the Army in reply to queries from the press today made the following statement with respect to the obligation of A. R. 600-1 to persons in the Army who might engage in political activities:

"These regulations are designed to limit the political activities of persons who are engaged either in the formulation of military policy or in the execution of any of the tasks of the Army. They do not apply to retired personnel who are specifically exempted from their provisions."

"The act of Congress approved June 25, 1949, provides expressly that officers of the Army appointed to the permanent grade of general of the Army do not have to retire."

Engineer Students Study Diesels At Vocational School

Thirty-five students in the diesel engineering section of the Sanford Vocational School are engaged in three full year courses preparatory to their graduation as engineers, Mrs. R. C. Maxwell, principal of the school, said today.

The engineering courses include the study of diesel engines and machinery and elementary and advanced physics. Three examinations must be passed by the students before they are full-fledged railroad engineers. The courses are taught by three instructors during the day and three at night for the students who are employed during the day.

Although ordinarily all the pupils at the vocational school are adults, Mrs. Maxwell reported that present the school is busy providing make-up work for high school students and that the school also admits young people who for health reasons are unable to attend the public schools.

Adult classes in spelling, stenography and shorthand, provided at the school both during the day and at night, Mrs. Maxwell added, and a number of Navy men at the Sanford Naval Air Station are now students in these classes.

Mrs. Maxwell related the story of a number of adult veterans who wish to attend the school shortly following the war and who at that time could hardly read or write.

Now most of them, she said, are ready for high school, and one of whom, who had always been interested in machinery, is now reading very advanced books on physics.

The school also provides an employment bureau for stenographers, typists and bookkeepers. Mrs. Maxwell said that her only regret was that there are not usually enough students to fill the available jobs.

Shot By Cop In Car Chase

"DILLINGER," so-called by his pals, lies wounded on a Brooklyn, N. Y. street after he and two others were captured by Patrolman Raymond Herial. Though badly injured, Herial refused to quit after being dragged for two blocks, dangling from a window of the speeding auto. Herial's hand was caught when one of the men rolled the window on it as he reached inside for the driver's license after stopping the car for going through a red light. As they rolled the window down again, the cop fell to the ground and shot and hit "Dillinger." (International)

Steel Strike Is Figuring Deeply In U. S. Economy

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The 2-week-old steel strike slashed deeper than ever into the nation's economy today as some plants making war munitions reported curtailments never because of a shortage of steel.

In addition to the 620,000 U.S. United Steelworkers, who walked out June 2 when the U. S. Supreme Court ruled President Truman had no right to seize the industry, more than 100,000 workers in allied industries are idle.

These include nearly 50,000 coal miners in seven states and more than 30,000 railroad employees employed by a dozen carriers.

Nearly 25,000 more are idle in industries dependent on steel. These include sailors on Great Lakes ore boats, ore miners, coke workers, river boat crews, oil and gas pipeline workers, construction crews and workers in other steel-related fields.

Announcements that three companies will be forced to stop making munitions this week came as the government and the USW sought to work out a plan to start enough steel flowing from the struck mills to prevent a crippling halt in the production of weapons.

In Cleveland, Lemco Products Inc. said it was forced to halt making mortar shells today because of steel shortages and to lay off 600 employees on the shift.

Lemco had been producing 4,500 mortar shells a day.

The Ordnance Division of General Motors said a shortage of seamless steel tubing will force it to curtail production.

Brewster Of Maine Beaten In Vote Race

Veteran Solon Loses In Bid For Re-Election As Republican Nominee For Senate

By The Associated Press

The presidential race, already in somewhat of a lull, was overshadowed today by the Maine primaries in which Sen. Owen Brewster lost his bid for Republican renomination after 30 years in public life.

Brewster, 63, was defeated by Gov. Francis B. Cook on the basis of returns from all but eight of Maine's 625 precincts. Payne had a 3,000 vote margin and there were not enough votes counted to make up the difference.

Unofficial tallies gave Payne 68,485, Brewster 65,337.

Monday's total of 131,281 set a Republican senatorial primary record in Maine.

There were presidential campaign overtones to the Maine battle. Payne is a supporter of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower. Brewster is for Ohio Sen. Robert Taft—but the issue played little part in it.

Eisenhower and Taft, top contenders for the GOP presidential nomination, were slowed down in a walk after last week's furious quelling for delegate support.

Taft was in Washington, attending to his Senate duties. Eisenhower, in Denver, meets with convention delegations from three West states—Colorado, Wyoming and Utah.

Of Colorado's 18 delegates, 15 are for Eisenhower, two are for Taft and one is for Harold Stassen of Minnesota first and Eisenhower second. Half of Wyoming's 12 delegates are for Eisenhower.

The break in the heat wave over the Midwest came after several days of temperatures in the 90s and above 100.

The cool air mass from the Pacific Northwest, with refreshing showers, first hit the Plains states and temporarily ended the week-long siege of collar-wringing weather. Temperatures were from 15 to 25 degrees lower Monday from the Dakotas southward to the Texas Panhandle.

The heat-snapping air mass moved into other hot spots in the Midwest during the night. Chicago, limp from two straight days of 95 temperatures, received the cool air and showers shortly before midnight. The temperature dropped in the high 60s after the hottest day in nearly three years.

Jet Fighters Of Sweden Convoy Search Planes

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Swedish jet fighters today searched for a missing transport plane and sent along jet fighters and people over the shooting. The traditionally neutral nation's action reflected the anger expressed by the government and people over the shooting down Monday of an unarmed Swedish flying boat by two Soviet MiG-15 jet fighters.

The seven crew members — two of them wounded — were picked up from the sea by a small German freighter and taken to Haaga, Finland.

They had been searching for a Swedish jet transport missing since Friday with eight men aboard. It was assumed here the Russians had shot down that craft also but the search continued today.

A Swedish air force spokesman announced early today that all aircraft participating in the continuing search have been supplied with jet fighter escort. He said the fighter had been told to return if it attacked.

Some 2,000 furious Swedes, jeering, shouting "We will see Stalin hanged" and "Down with the Communists" gathered in front of the Russian embassy Monday night in protest against the attack.

The government handed Russian Ambassador Constantine Rodionov a "strong protest" against the "act of violence" and demanded "swift punishment of those responsible for the outrage."

Motion Is Denied By Judge Smith In Lillian Clark Case

A motion by the Householder Associates, defense attorneys for Lillian Clark, who is charged with embezzlement of $9,671 from the County of Duval, was denied today by Judge J. M. Smith to require the State prosecutor to amend the bill of particulars in the case filed on June 6, was denied this morning at a hearing by Circuit Judge J. M. Smith.

Householder gave the defense council until June 27 to consult with the state auditors and to check records in connection with the case. On that date talk will be resumed about determining the exact date for the trial, it was denied.

Present at the hearing with Judge Smith was State Attorney Murray Overstreet, who had filed the bill of particulars, and Ernest P. Householder, attorney for the defense.

Completion of the State's bill of particulars in the case had been delayed for months due to the illness of Charles Parlin, state auditor, who having recovered, was present at the previous hearing on June 9.

Anti-aircraft Is Being Set Up At Strategic Spots

Army Reveals Action Being Taken To Protect Vital Places

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today revealed that it has sent anti-aircraft batteries to defensive positions about some strategic industrial plants, big cities and Air Force centers.

An announcement said the move "has no special significance" but it came on the heels of Air Force orders for an around-the-clock watch for possible enemy planes.

Civilian defense workers will keep the 24-hour watch, beginning July 15, Maj. Gen. Frederic H. Smith Jr., deputy director of the Air Defense Command, said it is necessary because "the Soviets have had the capability for some time to attack us in a conventional manner."

The Army said it has deployed anti-aircraft units to field positions to provide "an increased state of operational readiness" for the nation's defense.

The exact locations of batteries were not disclosed, but the Army said they have been placed so as to "provide maximum defense against attack from any direction."

The announcement continued: "The move to on-site positions is a step in continuing the deployment of the United States air defense system."

The Army emphasized that units had moved to these positions periodically for more than a year and that the current move has no special significance.

"In the air defense setup, fighter interceptors will be the first to engage invading air bombers. Aircraft which get through the interceptors will be engaged by anti-aircraft batteries near vital target areas."

Despite the increased effectiveness of the air defense system, it is expected that a determined attack would result in some enemy aircraft getting through to their assigned targets.

Smith's assertion that Russia has the capability of attacking the U. S. was made at a Pentagon news conference late Monday.

To which Gen. Nathan F. Twining, acting chief of staff for the Air Force, added:

"We can have no assurance of a complete forewarning of a decision by the Kremlin to attempt an assault on us. The lack of a thorough 24-hour watch is a weak link in the first of the three defense rings."

Twining said intelligence with more than 400 engine bombers loaded with high bombs, atomic and otherwise, is based at U. S. metropolitan industrial target areas.

Progress Is Being Made In Plans For Longwood Road

Progress in securing quit claim deeds for the proposed new road link between Longwood and Sanford Springs was reported today by County Commissioner O. E. Fouracre.

Only about 14 parcels of land are needed for the new right-of-way required and it is hoped to have the complete number of right-of-way deeds by July 1, he stated.

He added that he also hoped that everything will be in readiness for the securing of road contracts in August.

The new connecting link, three miles long, will run from the Longwood Road to the corner where Herman Lemke's filling station is located to join the present Longwood Sanford Springs road which is about three miles long.

Right-of-ways within Longwood will be about 80 feet wide, and outside the city will be 100 feet wide, said Mr. Fouracre. The width of the paving will be 20 to 22 feet.

Two right angle turns and two curves will be eliminated by the new road link, and the rest of the road to the springs will be widened and improved, he pointed out.

This road will be a part of a paved road connecting Oviedo and Forest City, said Mr. Fouracre. The County Commission recently approved recommendations by M. C. Hagan, surveyor, for the route into Forest City, on provision that the road be accepted as a primary project by the State.

More than 1,500 people a day, riding in about 600 automobiles, are visiting Sanford Springs daily, said Mr. Fouracre.

Big improvements and extensions are planned at the springs by E. Robinson, lessee, he declared. The pool at the springs will be made three to four times larger and will include another spring. In addition, the stream on which electrically propelled boats will be made navigable for more distance.

Another improvement under way is the installation of a new municipal park with water and sewer facilities. Of interest to visitors are the 10 acres of camellia plantings in the park area. Jack Butts is acting manager.

Top Military Strategist Emphasizes Deterrent Factor Of Atomic Superiority

WASHINGTON (AP) — This nation's top military strategist was on record today as saying Russia could overturn Europe now if the so-called "Reds" wished.

The statement was made by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who added that he believes the Soviet Union has the capability to make a move against Europe for these two reasons:

1. The resources United States superiority in atomic weapons would make her pay a very different price at home if she were to undertake a wholesale respect for U. S. military capacity.

Bradley's statement was made at a secret session of a Senate appropriations subcommittee May 14. Maj. Gen. Frederic H. Smith Jr., deputy director of the Air Defense Command, said it is necessary because "the Soviets have had the capability for some time to attack us in a conventional manner."

The Army said it has deployed anti-aircraft units to field positions to provide "an increased state of operational readiness" for the nation's defense.

Legion Post Joins Central Florida War Vet Council

The Sanford Post No. 33, the American Legion, voted last night to join the Central Florida War Veterans Council, an organization formed to coordinate the activities of veterans groups throughout the section of the State.

The action followed an explanation of the purpose and objectives of the Council by its commander, Carolyn M. Ford, Orlando, who is also adjunct of Post 227. She was accompanied to the meeting by another leader, woman Legionnaire, Florence Mae Bradley, adjunct of the Council, and commander of Post 227, an Orlando women's post.

Final total of plans of the Council for celebrations on V. E. Day, the 10th of July, Armistice Day and Armed Forces Day, 1952, were announced by Judge Douglas Steinstrom for his official handling of the Boys State program here. Five high school seniors are due to leave here by early Sunday morning. Judge Steinstrom reported.

Adjutant Jim Singletary reported that three local persons had been honored Sunday at the Sixth District Legion meeting in Orlando.

It was there, he said, that James Quincy "Slim" Galloway was informed that being a constable in Seminole County would not interfere with holding a job and office. Mr. Galloway's election as Grand Chemist of the 10th and 8th in the Sixth District followed. He is a post commander of the Sanford Post, and during the past year was chairman of the Legion Fair Committee.

Adjutant Singletary himself was elected as a Sixth District Committeeman, he revealed. He also stated that Mrs. Charles Webster, president of the local Auxiliary Unit, had been elected president of the Sixth District of the Auxiliary.

Claude H. Knight, member of the Sanford Fire Department, and Thomas L. Dillard, fisherman, were accepted as new members.

Big Shrine Parade In Miami Features Many Contraptions

MIAMI (AP) — Some 13,000 nobles, 111 bands, 300 horses, eight Missouri mules and scores of wind contraptions marched under a hot sun today in the first of the Shrine convention's two big parades.

The 6-hour, 8-block procession from a point west of the main business district through the Orange Bowl, moved off at 9:30 a. m.

It proceeded so smoothly that Miami police assigned to the parade had little to do. Regular vehicular traffic flowed "easily" something that rarely happens during Miami's busy parades.

No cases of heat prostration were reported in spite of the sun. The 80-degree heat was tempered by a slight breeze off the ocean.

The crowd that watched the start of the huge parade wasn't as large as expected, but as the hours went by the number of spectators along Flagler Street and in the Orange Bowl increased by thousands.

Imperial Potentate Robert Gardner Wilson Jr., Boston, and other imperial dignitaries reviewed the procession from a tented city in the Orange Bowl.

At 11 a. m., the parade through the big stadium was interrupted while 300 homing pigeons were released in fly home with messages expressing the Shrine's hope for world peace.

Wilson released the first pigeon, which carried this message to the mayor of Boston:

"May tyranny, oppression, prejudice, selfishness and hatred among the great nations of the earth and among all mankind be put aside; and may eternal peace, throughout the world, be prayed and hope of all Shrinedom."

The other birds were released together. They circled the stadium, then headed northward in a single formation.
