

CHINESE MELT BEFORE STERN RUSSIAN DRIVE

Red Advance Demoralizes Opposition On All Fronts Despite Reinforcement Plan

LONDON, Nov. 26—(INS)—Chinese resistance is melting steadily before the relentless advance of the Soviet forces in Manchuria, dispatches from the Far East indicated today.

Although 60,000 nationalist troops were reported en route to the Manchurian border to stem the Red advance, the demoralized Chinese forces are continuing to retreat on all fronts, according to dispatches to the Daily Mail.

According to a Shanghai dispatch received by the Morning Post today, the Russian invaders slaughtered 10,000 Chinese troops and civilians in capturing the city of Hailar.

Refugees from Hailar, which was reported in flames, are pouring into the city of Harbin in thousands. Consternation is felt in the latter city at the celebrity of the Russian advance, which, if it continues at its present pace will soon endanger the Manchurian railway center both from the east and west.

Although the Chinese and Eastern Railway is making every effort to evacuate both Chinese and Russian refugees from the Hailar district, it has been unable to accommodate thousands. Many of these are now thronging toward Harbin along the railway tracks.

Looting by Chinese troops, whose officers are not able to restrain them in the disorderly retreat, is widespread.

Chiang Kai Shek claims to have squelched the Kuomintang rebellion in Honan and Hupeh, according to dispatches from Shanghai.

Other dispatches from Hong Kong, however, stated rebel troops were advancing in the direction of Canton and that residents of that city were extremely uneasy.

County Files Suit To Collect Amount Owed It By Sanford

Suit was filed last Thursday by Seminole County through County Tax Collector John D. Jenkins against the City of Sanford for the amount of $100,000, to collect on a City tax warrant, which had been placed in the Tax Collector's office by the Seminole County Bank as security for the County's funds deposited in that institution, according to information received today from H. S. White, county attorney.

The case is expected to appear in the Spring session of Circuit Court, which begins in May. George DeCotte and his associates, including Eugene W. White, counsel for the City, while Mr. White will represent the County.

According to Mr. White, the City issued the tax warrant, amounting to $101,500 made payable to the Seminole County Bank on Nov. 16, 1926. The bank in turn transferred the warrant to the County Tax Collector as collateral for the county's funds which were deposited in the bank.

Jury Chosen Which Will Hear Case Of Ousted Clergyman

ROCKFORD, Ill., Nov. 26—(INS)—The jury which is to hear the $50,000 slander suit brought by the Rev. John A. L. Warren, Methodist minister at Durand, Ill., who was ousted following charges made by the daughter of a parishioner, was completed today.

Rev. Warren, turned laborer to earn a living since he was ousted, is bringing suit against seven churches whom he claimed induced Miss Hazel Lamf, now Mrs. Hazel Lathery, to issue her story which he charges brought about the church action. He appeared among his former parishioners in court yesterday in the rough garb of a laborer.

Special Deputies To Restrain Drinking At W & L Gridiron Game

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 26—(INS)—A cordon of special deputies will be on hand here Thursday at the Florida-W & L game to keep a watchful eye on the drinkers who step over the border-line. City and county authorities were called into a special meeting here to decide what would be done to keep down drunkenness at the game, following several complaints received after the recent Florida-Georgia encounter. Violators will not, under a decision reached by the officials, be arrested; but they will be taken to the box office, where their money will be refunded, and an officer will see to it that they go home. Soft drink vendors will be required to sell their beverages in cups instead of bottles—this, the authorities think, will stop the pastime of bottle-throwing.

WIDE SEARCH IS MADE FOR BANDIT WHO SEIZED LOOT

Daring Robber Wrecks Train And Escapes With Sizable Haul

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 26—(INS)—Authorities today organized a wide-spread man hunt for a daring young bandit who last night weakened the rails on the Union Pacific Line, derailling the west bound Portland Limited, and then proceeded to rob the terror-stricken passengers at the point of a revolver.

Trains hurtled from the weakened place in the track, and came to a stop leaning against an embankment.

Sixty passengers were slightly shaken up by the bumping of cars, the tracks which had spread as a result of spikes being removed by the bandit.

Examination of the rails at the scene of the derailment indicated that the youth had toiled for hours, pulling up spikes that would cause the rails to spread when the weight of the rushing train passed over.

The engineer uncoupled the locomotive from the rest of the train and sped the four miles westward into Cheyenne to notify officials of the railroad. He reported that none had been badly injured in the crash. He was unable to estimate the losses suffered as the bandit stripped scores of passengers of their belongings.

Passengers were reporting losses ranging from 55 cents to $150. Climbing aboard the observation car, the young holdup man passed up the aisle, commanding all who were awake to "come on, dish it out and shake it up. I'm busy." He spoke in a deep, rough voice, passengers said.

He appeared nervous and in a hurry and disappeared in a few moments. "I've got a wife and two kids at home and the railroad won't give me work," some of the women passengers were heard him saying.

Meanwhile the engineer uncoupled the locomotive to keep it from being dragged from the rails and reported the robbery. Sheriff G. H. Romsa and all peace officers in Southern Wyoming, Northern Colorado and Western Kansas joined in a widespread manhunt.

The case is expected to appear in the Spring session of Circuit Court, which begins in May. George DeCotte and his associates, including Eugene W. White, counsel for the City, while Mr. White will represent the County.

Takes Breathing Spell To View What Business Conferences Have Accomplished

By George R. Holmes
International News Service
Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—President Hoover took a breathing spell today from the business conferences which have occupied him almost exclusively for the past 10 days, as he sought ways and means to overcome the depressing effect of a giddy stock market, and to insure a winter of good business.

Expressively, Mr. Hoover leaned back in his chair and surveyed these accomplishments:

1. Federal and state governments are co-operating in the greatest public building and public improvement program ever attempted—a program that will all for the expenditure of well over $1,000,000,000.

2. Railroads have been energized to proceed with a billion dollar program of expansion and equipment improvement.

3. The utilities interests of the country have in the making expansion and improvement projects that will call for the expenditure of almost another billion during the next year.

4. The menace of strikes and extensive lay-offs has been averted by the promise of industrial leaders that there will be no "cutting" and of labor leaders that there will be no wage agitation while the business situation is uncertain.

5. Agriculture, long a sore spot in the general business situation, gives definite promise of getting more firmly on its feet than at any time since the post-war depression period. The new farm legislation has had a vitalizing and steadying effect, and grain prices are improving.

6. Money is easy and becoming easier, assuring ample credit facilities for business growth and expansion.

There are the highlights of what has been accomplished since the acrobatics of the stock market shivers of apprehension during the spring of business, and with it of administration officials the "hard times."

There have been other developments contributing to the maintenance of renewed confidence, such as the government's slashing $100,000,000 from federal taxes, the government's embarkation upon a $250,000,000 rebuilding program, Henry Ford's announcement that he is raising wages instead of retrenching, and others, which he headed.

Peters began his attempt at self destruction here yesterday, throwing himself under a truck. This failed and he threw himself under another truck, then slashed his wrists, swallowed poison and tried to hurl himself under a train. All attempts were made within six hours.

The defunct trust company was one of Omaha's oldest financial institutions and believed to be one of the strongest. Bankruptcy proceedings came as a complete surprise.

Close business associates of Peters said he had lost a half million dollars of his own money in the stock market, but insisted his personal losses had nothing to do with the crash of the trust company. Physicians said the real cause of Peters' death was the combined effect of poison and injuries caused by the fall.

Banker Kills Self On Fifth Attempt Following Failure

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 26—(INS)—Reed C. Peters, one of Omaha's wealthiest and most prominent citizens, died today from the effects of five attempts to commit suicide, following the failure of the Peters Trust Company, which he headed.

Woman Congressman Will Fire 1st Gun In Annual Prohibition Battle

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—(INS)—The first big gun in the annual congressional battle over prohibition will be fired upon the reconvening of Congress next week by a woman—Mrs. Florence Kahn, Republican congresswoman of California when she demands approval of a bill 16 indemnify families of innocent victims of dry bullets.

Mrs. Kahn will open her campaign for legislation with a demand for hearing by the House judiciary committee and will carry the offensive to the House floor with an appeal for support.

Having voiced her opinion that the government should pay damages to families of innocent victims of "dry bullets" following the killing of Henry Virkula in Northern Minnesota by customs officers several months ago, Mrs. Kahn has returned for the new session more determined than ever to press her bill to enactment.

"My proposed bill would give $25,000 damages to the dependent, or innocent victims of federal prohibition enforcement officers, who have already killed scores of people without the slightest excuse," said Mrs. Kahn.

"I am not seeking to protect the law-breaker or his family, however sorry I may be for the plight which families of law-breakers often must face. But I do think that a great government should expect its officers to exercise common sense in their duties, and the government should be ready to make amends to the families of persons who are made destitute by the failure of officers to conduct themselves as officers should."

Allegation Con t ends 100 Negroes Died Be- cause Of Cold When Deprived Of Covers

CHATTANOOCHEE, Fla., Nov. 26—(INS)—Findings in connection with their probe of the alleged "reign of horror" at the state asylum here today were held under the advisement of the board of commissioners of state institutions.

The astounding charges against the institution's administration include the allegation that 100 negroes died from the effects of intense cold when their blankets were taken from them. This was done, according to the charges, on the order of S. W. Hall, superintendent in charge of the negro division.

Other allegations in the charge of irregularities at the institution include that bookkeeping was allowed to be carried on within the grounds of the asylum; that Chief Librarian John L. Davis permitted a C. in his department, that certain employees were using state funds and facilities in conducting private industry.

The inquiry now was completed by the board after quizzing half a dozen subordinates and employees, including Dr. J. Q. Feldner, whose resignation, effective Dec. 4, is the subject of the communications.

Dr. J. L. Lamm, undertaker at the institution, testified that Bradley Madison of Tampa, a special investigator appointed by Governor Cullen, had told him "efforts are being made to wire out Dr. Feldner."

G. F. Wright, supervisor of the communications, declared that details encountered in obtaining supplies at one time forced the hospital to make arrangements with outside parties for supplies.

Madison, secretary to the Governor and secretary of the board, had reprimanded him for talking about the matter with a member of the board instead of himself, Wright asserted.

The various charges, filed in affidavits by the board, were categorically denied by the list of employees headed by Dr. Feldner. Dr. Feldner told the board that only 20 "formal number" of cases occurred during his administration. He pointed out that the hospital during his administration had gone some thousand dollars under the budget allowed it by the state legislature.

State Of Indiana Holding Spotlight Of Football As Notre Dame, Purdue Shine

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service
Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—There seems to be nothing for it today but to render unto Indiana the things that are distinctly Indiana's, starting with a couple of football teams that appear to have the situation beaten, to a bleary ruin. A productive country, this. It gave James Whitcomb Riley to verse; McCutcheon to pen and ink renown; George Ade and Booth Tarkington to belles lettres and Thomas Riley Marshall, vice president in the Wilson cabinet, to the defense of the five-cent cigar. And all of the time it was holding back or out or both. It wasn't until this year that it gave two teams like Notre Dame and Purdue to the world of intercollegiate football.

What, for example, are you going to do with a team that beats the East, Middle West, South and West Coast and then gives one of its strongest opponents the worst defeat the latter has acquired this season? You are going to do about what you would do with a team that wins the Big Ten race a week before it ends and then finishes an undefeated season by giving its arch-rival its worst defeat of the year.

You are not going to do anything with teams like these. Everybody has tried. And everybody has failed.

Pittsburg, Utah, Tennessee and Tulane, among the national contenders did not play on Saturday and so their status remains unchanged. Notre Dame and Purdue did and the only thing that happened to their status was that it was enhanced accordingly. Notre Dame was every inch a champion in leading a strong Northwestern team, 26 to 6, and the same yardstick measure Purdue in its 22 to 0 victory over Indiana as its parting gesture to the 1929 season.

California also played but not much. It finished behind Stanford by 21 to 6 and, while it is not altogether without status, this no longer is a national character. Another contender, Detroit likewise bowed itself out as a result of losing to Oregon. Arguably, it is the Argies here and the team that acted so creditably with N. Y. U. last year. They ought to make a point of coming East once a year, just for the good of their vanity. Incidentally, it was Detroit's first defeat since 1927 and there wasn't anything unorthodox about it, either.

The withdrawal of California and Detroit left the major unbeaten list to Notre Dame, Purdue, Pittsburg, Tulane, Tennessee, Texas, Christian, Southern Methodist, Utah, Fordham and St. Mary's. However, not all of these latter actually belong, any more than Harvard does, as a result of its well-deserved 10 to 6 decision over Yale or that Illinois does because it beat Ohio State, 27 to 0, to achieve second place in the Big Ten's final struggle.

Jack Dempsey Again Dons Boxing Gloves

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—(INS)—Possibility of a Pacific coast post-season football game between Notre Dame and St. Mary's loomed today as the board of supervisors prepared to meet. Supervisor A. J. Gallagher announced that he would introduce a resolution asking that the contest be scheduled between the two colleges.

He plans to ask that the public welfare committee of the board communicate with football authorities of both schools and determine if such a game could be held in San Francisco, he said.

St. Mary's And Irish May Meet For Title

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(INS)—Jack Dempsey has put on the gloves again! The former heavyweight champion surprised ring followers here yesterday when he went to a gymnasium, dug up an old pair of trunks and laced on the gloves for four rounds of sparring with a gymnasium employee.

The Manassa Mauler maintained a lively gait throughout the exhibition. Dempsey made it known at his appearance held no special significance, but was done only for exercise.

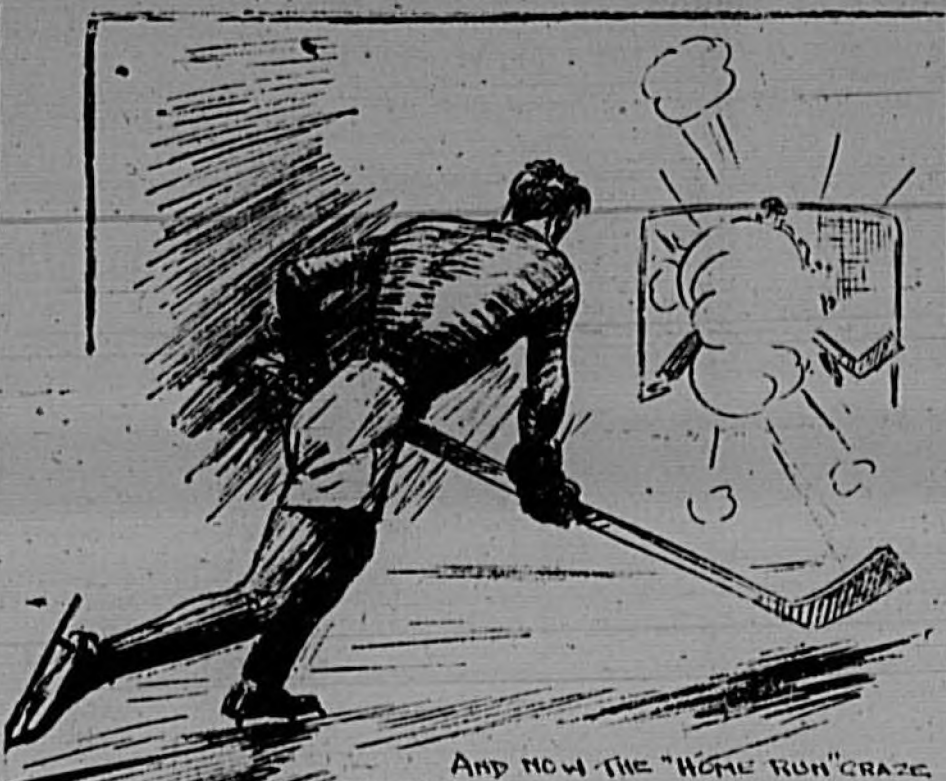

Few teams, indeed, belong with Notre Dame outfit that can take Indiana, Navy, Wisconsin, Carnegie Tech, Georgia Tech, Wake, Southern California and Northwestern in stride. Nobody has played a schedule as nationally exacting as this one and, if the Irish win their finale from West Point, they will be entitled to about everything they see fit to claim. But Purdue, having eaten Indiana worse than Notre Dame, Chicago, Minnesota and State did, has an arguing privilege, at least.

So has Texas Christian, topping the Southwest conference, undefeated and united and the winner over Baylor on Saturday by 41 to 7. So has Pittsburg, in its more than the Christians, who are playing a purely local schedule. This is the trouble with the championship of the Rocky Mountain title, with St. Mary's, which now becomes unofficial champion of the coast with the only undefeated goal line and goal bar in the country. The Saints beat Nevada by a cross-country score on Friday while the conference ended in a three-way tie with the California Stanford result.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(INS)—Al Martin's Dartmouth backfield, despite his enforced idleness, today seems assured of winning the individual football scoring honors. The injured Green star had amassed a total of 108 points before his injury three weeks ago and still leads his nearest competitor, Ringle of Ga. laudet, by 25 points.

Freak Football Plays

THE OFFICIAL TOOK THE COUNT

The Yale-Princeton game of For instance, Princeton had the ball in position to score twice in the first half. Each time the first half Princeton played in Yale luck and Yale played in Princeton luck. Usually, in past years, Yale fumbled games away in the second period one of those to the Tigers, but not this time.

dom seen in major football. After the touchdown the teams lined up for the try for goal. McLennan was back in position to drop-kick for the extra point. The ball whizzed back to him and the Tigers rushed in to block his kick. McLennan poked the ball until the Princeton boys were almost on him, then seeing they were caught flatfooted, out of position, he side-stepped to the right and tossed a neat forward pass to Taylor, who had drifted through to the right to receive it.

This forward pass and one other in the fourth quarter, Taylor to Hickok, resulting in Yale's last touchdown, were the only passes the Blue tried all afternoon. The fact that they completed all of their passes, two, and scored on both of them, is more than a freak, it has probably never happened in football since the forward pass has been introduced.

Another absurdity happened toward the close of the first half. Lowry of Princeton kicked to McLennan, who took the ball prettily and brought it back for 20 yards. The thundering head of Tipton and Ellis stampeded on the play, and in their wake lay an official, out for their count.

Other officials rushed to his assistance and rubbed his injuries until he was able to recover. The whole howl roared with laughter at the official's unhappy plight, then, bigharted, gave him a hand as he got up.

LAW IS UPHOLD
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(INS)—The supreme court today had constitutional a Connecticut law providing that a guest passenger in an automobile cannot hold the owner and driver liable for damages in an accident unless the accident was intentional. The decision was given in the appeal of Mrs. Silber, who sued her husband, after she was injured when he was driving his car in New Haven county, Silver, it is understood, carried liability insurance.

Sea Surrenders Its Secret About Lost Vessel, Mary Farr
WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 25.—(INS)—The sea at last has given up its secret of the fate of the missing steamer, Mary G. Farr. She cleared from Philadelphia New Year's Day back in '86 with a cargo of corn for Providence, R. I., and manned by a crew of seven. The fate of the vessel was never learned, although the bodies of some of the members of the crew were washed ashore, until the finding of a barnacle-encrusted gin bottle a few days ago on the banks of the Delaware near Cape May by liquor raiders.

Barnacle On Bottle
The bottle with its message out of the dim past was uncovered by Sheriff Forrest Rice, of Cape May County, while digging up bottles from the hidden cache of a moonshiner along the river.

The unusual number of barnacles clinging to the bottle attracted the sheriff's attention and he broke the flask. Out tumbled like a voice from the past a crumpled bit of oil skin carrying its message of the fate of the crew and ship.

The scarcely legible note had been scribbled on a strip torn apparently from the sticker of one of the members of the missing crew. It read:

"Aboard the Mary G. Farr. Fire gaining in the hold. Can no longer ride out the gale. About to take to long boat. "God help us all."

Studied By Historian
The note was turned over to Lewis Stevens, Cape May historian, who learned the history of the missing vessel from the records of the U. S. Life Saving Service. It will be given to Mrs. Charlotte Wilson, of Milford, Del., a daughter of the captain of the ship. A son lives in Philadelphia. The ship apparently was wrecked by fire and gales. Bodies of some of the members of the crew were found months afterwards as far north as Albany Park. The captain and steward's forms were frozen on the beach at Spring Lake, N. J.

TENNESSEE AND TULANE LEAD IN SOUTHERN RACE
Many Dixie Teams Are Girding Armor For Turkey Day Games
By Gordon Pulliam
International News Service
Staff Correspondent
ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 25.—The Volunteers of Tennessee and the Green Wave of Tulane today led the big parade of southern conference teams toward the big tent where on next Thursday afternoon an array of spectators will conclude the "run" of 1929.

For 13 of the conference eleven it will be the grand finale, and every one of the combatants will focus that long ago established themselves as nothing short of worthy, gallant and valiant.

The head-liners will be Georgia Tech vs. Auburn at Atlanta; Virginia vs. North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Vanderbilt vs. Sewanee at Nashville; Georgia vs. Alabama at Birmingham; Tulane vs. L. S. U. at Baton Rouge and Kentucky vs. Tennessee at Lexington.

Only a glutton for punishment would attempt to burn midnight oil over the past records of the above listed machines, and only by magic could a comprehensive forecast of the probable outcome of these half-dozen combats be figured upon previous performances and a close comparison of relative strengths.

The Tech-Auburn collision will see the shells of two great eleven in common conflict. It has been a who's boy of years since the Tigers of the plains offered formidable resistance to any offensive; and the once-powerful Golden Tornado has fallen from its pedestal of glory to be dragged through the mire of gridiron's this season.

But amid a blaze of color and rivalry these facts will be obliterated from memory, entered upon the ledger as history, and the two teams will, it can confidently be expected, enter into a battle so furious that nothing might foretell the outcome.

The same situation will be found at Birmingham where teams which have tasted both the bitterness of defeat and the sweetness of victory lack horns. No hue is lacking in the Alabama-Georgia game.

Virginia and North Carolina will settle a dispute that has existed over more than two decades. Another bitter combat will be between Vanderbilt and the small but troublesome Tiger of Sewanee. Vandy, however, rules the favorite.

Anxious to ring down the curtain with a clean slate, Tulane expects—and no doubt will find—a multiplicity of complex in the nature of the Staters. Still, doubt might be held that Louisiana can cope with the mighty Banker and Armstrong, and if fate forgets its vengeful ways, the Green Wave this year should realize a long cherished ambition.

More than 100 boys are "out for boxing" at the University of Florida this year. There is sentiment in favor of it being elevated to major sport rank.

By Will B. Johnstone

Some real freaks occurred in the second half. To start with, Yale made six first downs in succession for a touchdown without the assistance of Albie Booth, Don McLennan ghosting for the little back in blue.

Then Yale puffed something sel-

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. The crocote in Creomulsion is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for soothing the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Camels have made smoking a national pleasure!

With years of steady growth behind them, Camels continue to grow. They are smoked today by more millions than ever before.

The increasing popularity of smoking in the United States exactly parallels the growth of Camel Cigarettes. Camel has given smokers a cigarette of genuine quality . . . a marvelous blend of choicest tobaccos . . . mild, fragrant, satisfying. This is the quality that smokers depend upon, and they can rest assured it will never be sacrificed. Taste in smoking, as the real pleasure of smoking is experienced, leads directly to Camel quality.

when they learn the difference they flock to Camels
