

General MacArthur

moment while green-clad men moved in skirmish formation across the fields. Their tense caution was apparent through field glasses in MacArthur's plane 2,000 feet above. At Suncheon the first flight of 17 C-119s, each carrying 35 paratroopers with full gear, cut low across the Taedong River which winds upward from Pyongyang. Their wings glinted in the afternoon sunlight framed against rust red hills thrusting into the fields. From the swollen bellies of the transports, a handful of confetti seemed to drift downward. Then it became a snowfall of white and yellow circles growing in the wind and supporting beneath them little black dots that would become tense and efficient combat men. For a moment the parachutes hung suspended while the mothering planes hurried back to their seats. Then they drifted gently toward the earth. Heavier, slower and bigger parachutes settled to the ground with guns. And soon they were trained on a rugged hill to the eastward. The hill was a redoubt, which seemed to be slumbering in the distance. Spurts of flame began growing amid the scrub foliage of the hill about a mile and one half away. A skirmish line of troops moved toward it. The hill which dominates Suncheon was the first objective in the attack on that town, believe to be a Red army headquarters. Jet fighters and F-51 Mustangs dived and wheeled over the advancing troops like protective hawks. But there was no challenge from the sky and none originally from the ground. The troopers driving toward Suncheon landed about two miles north of the town and pushed southward. Navy carrier planes and light bombers threw a flank protection 11 miles northward, pounding the main junction town of Sinsaju where the Reds were believed to have a garrison and some aircraft. The capture of Suncheon would cut the main highway and railroad running through Sinsaju toward Antung on the Manchurian border. From Suncheon another main road and railway curve northward to the border. MacArthur watched the show intently. As it became apparent that the operation was successful, a wry little smile of satisfaction grew on his face. But through the looping, darting aircraft a midjet observation plane darted. Lieutenant General Walton H. Walker, 8th Army Commander, and Major General Earle E. Partridge, commander of the U. S. Fifth Air Force, were watching from this perch. Only the battle area seemed alive in the expanse of rusty hills and the mosaic of ricefields stretching below as MacArthur turned back toward Pyongyang and Tokyo. Nothing moved on the roads—except in Allied areas. Villages were drab and silent, fields grew untended. The clouds which had postponed what may be the final chess move of the campaign hung over much of Korea like day-old snow. But the clouds lifted above Pyongyang, a city of smoldering grey, and MacArthur spotted Allied aircraft on the airstrip in its center. "Our planes are on the field," he said. "Let's go in." He had been impatient to land at the fallen capital, but this morning his sides still were not sure the field was secure. When Lt. Col. Anthony Story of St. Louis wheeled the big and

The airman said the North Koreans replied: "We already got enough atrocities listed against us so a few more won't make any difference." Capt. Seventeen in the group were wounded when an American plane strafed their column, obviously mistaking them for Reds. The three survivors because they had hidden under the school. They said others of the group were marched north as the United Nations forces approached Pyongyang. Their fate was not known. On the bridge from Seoul to Pyongyang, the trio said the Reds shot those Americans who could not walk. Said one: "Some of the men were carrying their buddies on their backs. Guys who fell down were beaten and bayoneted by the Reds." Capt. Locke said the guards killed those Americans who could not continue marching. Kumdal said the North Koreans told him earlier the Americans were to be taken to Mamp'o, which is located along the Yalu River on the Korean-Manchurian border. The three survivors seemed to be in fair physical condition. They said they were in better shape than any of the Americans who were

Gov. Warren Goes To N. Y. To Sign Huge Bond Issue

TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 20.—Gov. Governor Fuller Warren is going to New York tomorrow (just) to sign his name 1,550 times to the latest batch of bonds in Florida history. He will lead a delegation of Florida officials who will deliver the $28,000,000 in bonds issued last month to help finance Jacksonville's $42,000,000 bridge and expressway project. The bonds—a ton of them—will be taken up unsigned. When they get there, the Governor, Improvement Commission Secretary Walter Keyes and Duval County Clerk L. W. Thomas will have to sign each of the $1,000 bonds. There are 28,000 of them, but the officials will use a multiple signature machine that can sign 18 at a time. There is no such signature machine in Florida, and it would take the Governor about 70 hours of constant signing at his usual rate of 100 signatures per hour to do them one at a time at home. He can do it in about four hours with the machine. Besides, it would cost about $5,000 for postage and insurance to send the signed bonds to New York. The delegation can travel less expensively than that. October 26 is the date set for delivery of the bonds to the New York bank which represents the syndicate that purchased them. To take care of any last-minute hitch that might delay the transaction—with interest running at the rate of $3,000 a day—the whole State Improvement Commission, its attorney, and representatives of the State Treasurer and State Board of Administration will go along. The Governor will return the middle of next week. He will just stay long enough to finish signing his name, then come back without waiting for the actual delivery. He marched out of here Saturday.

Former Mayor

He was Chicago's mayor from 1933 to 1947, longer than any other mayor, and one of the leading political forces contributing to the elections of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt as president. Kelly called himself "boss" of Chicago politics and never made any bones about having a powerful "machine."

26 New VA Hospitals Soon To Be Finished

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Veterans Administration said today it expects that 26 of 66 new VA hospitals planned for the postwar period will be completed by the end of this year. Twenty of the 26 are already finished, the VA said. The original program called for the construction of 91 new hospitals. But in January, 1949, President Truman ordered this program cut back to 66. And this year he ordered the Army's 611st General Hospital in Georgia transferred to the VA, at the same time cancelling construction of a new VA hospital in Atlanta. Thus, the number of new buildings was reduced to 66. In addition, the VA said, new facilities added to existing hospitals have provided 11,501 beds; facilities for 1,461 more beds are under construction, and additions for 500 beds are in the planning stage. The total cut-back—including elimination of 24 buildings and reductions in 14 others—reduced the VA hospital program 16,000 beds. But congressional pressure for restoration of the cut-back beds probably will continue. Many congressmen and veteran organiza-

DENTISTS SMILE S E A T T L E, Oct. 20.—(AP)—And now the University of Washington's Department of Pedodontics comes up with some advice for the dentist. It's: "Smile wider, please." The department, which has to do with dental problems of children, just made a survey of Seattle public school children as to why they did or did not like their dentists. And almost unanimously, those who liked their dentists, chorused that it was "because he smiles." Some liked his color comic books, too.

overloaded plane into the relative. By small strip, a crowd of American and British soldiers immediately gathered. The war was written over them in fatigue and layers of dust blending with their green uniforms. But they, too, were optimistic and confident. Half a dozen tanks were drawn up to the edge of the runway where bomb craters had been filled somewhat unevenly. Four transport planes and a number of observation craft squatted on one side of the field and the city rose ahead silently. MacArthur put his hands on Walker's shoulders and greeted him cordially. Speaking of Pyongyang's capture he asked: "Did you get any bigwigs?" Walker said no. After a brief conference during which MacArthur ordered South Korean forces hurried to the Manchurian border, the two walked down the strip. MacArthur had congratulations for all of his field commanders. And he awarded the Distinguished Service Cross on the spot to two of them: Maj. General William Tunner, commander of the gigantic airlift supplying advanced Allied forces, and Col. William S. Howen, commander of the paratroop regiment which jumped. Then MacArthur got an award. Lt. General George E. Stratemeyer, commander of the Far East Air Force, gave him the Distinguished Flying Cross for "outstanding heroism while participating" in four wartime flights to the combat zone. On each of these, Stratemeyer's citation said, the General's unarmed plane risked attack and "this risk was multiplied a hundred-fold in view of his personal stature and his position as commander in chief." These flights began June 29 with a hurried and yak-barraged flight to Suwon. He flew also to Taegu, to Seoul and today to North Korea in a series of battle visits that graphed the progress of the campaign.

But through the looping, darting aircraft a midjet observation plane darted. Lieutenant General Walton H. Walker, 8th Army Commander, and Major General Earle E. Partridge, commander of the U. S. ## Richardson Is Named To Red Control Board

Justice Department Begins Round-up Of Communist Aliens For Deportation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—(AP)—President Truman today appointed a five member Communist Control Board headed by Seth W. Richardson, a Washington lawyer and a Republican.

Named to serve with Richardson were: Peter Campbell Brown, Brooklyn lawyer and now special assistant to the Attorney General, a Democrat.

Charles M. LaFollette, former Indiana Republican congressman and now executive director of Americans for Democratic Action.

David J. Coddia, Boston and Haverhill, Mass., attorney, a Republican.

Dr. Kathryn McHale, Lugansport, Ind., educator and psychologist. She is a sister of Frank McHale, Democratic National Committee chairman from Indiana.

Richardson is chairman of the government's present Loyalty Review Board, an agency of the national security set up several years ago for a check on the loyalty of federal employees.

The new board is called for under the anti-subversive law enacted by Congress over President Truman's veto.

Among other things, the law requires that Communist and Communist front organizations register with the Attorney General.

Any group the Attorney General should register is entitled to a hearing before the anti-subversive, or so-called Communist control, board. Decisions of the board can be appealed to the courts.

Under the law, today is the last day for the American Communist Party, and its members, to register.

U. N. Flag Will Be Shown By Home Groups Tomorrow

A United Nations flag, made by the members of the Sanford Home Demonstration Club, will be displayed tomorrow on one of the flag poles in the downtown section in celebration of United Nations Day.

Mr. Carl Williams, president of the club, announced today.

Six other home demonstration clubs have made UN flags with which to celebrate for the first time in Seminole County a United Nations Day.

The Lake Mary, Lake Monroe and Paola clubs will fly their UN and American flags at the school buildings. In Geneva, the UN flag will be flown near the Post Office and in Longwood and Oviedo in the downtown sections.

United Nations Day marks the anniversary of that day in 1945 when the United Nations Charter came into force as world law, expressing the mandate of the peoples of the world that "where shall be peace."

The United Nations has brought the governments of the world together in history's greatest co-operative, international effort to master underlying economic and social problems, poverty, hunger and disease. It has helped to solve political issues such as in Palestine, Indonesia, and the former Italian colonies.

Avrett Services Held Sunday P. M.

Funeral services were held at the graveside in Lake View Cemetery yesterday at 2:00 P. M. for Mrs. Mary Catherine Avrett, 65, who died in the local hospital Saturday morning after a short illness. The Rev. S. L. Whaley officiated.

Born Jan. 22, 1885 in Washington County, Ala., Mrs. Avrett came to Sanford with her husband from Apopka eight years ago. She is survived by the husband, E. N. Avrett; four sons, Ellis C. Sanford; Oscar of Apopka; Emory of Forest Park, Ga.; and Robert of Jacksonville; four daughters, Mrs. Eleanor Parker, Jacksonville; Mrs. Tillie Baxter and Mrs. Lois Sharon of Apopka; and Mrs. Hester Boyer of Newport, Fla.; also 18 grandchildren.

HARRY WRIGHT AWAY

John Krider Is Elected Head Of Baseball League

Peter Schaal, Former Statistician, Returns To Figures

By VERNON HARDIN
John Krider, Sanford city commissioner and New York Giants' local business manager, was unanimously elected to the office of President for the 1951 season, at the annual meeting of the Florida State League's Board of Directors yesterday at the Angelbilt Hotel in Orlando.

After a luncheon served in the Angelbilt Dining Room, the delegation of league directors, newspaper sports editors and radio sportscasters related to the assembly room where outgoing President Earl Bussey called the business meeting to order.

President Bussey expressed his appreciation for the co-operation shown him in the past season by the board of directors and the newspaper and radio sports editors.

President Bussey asked the directors of the clubs to indicate whether their clubs would be able to operate next year.

Only one club, St. Augustine, was in doubt of its ability to produce a club for the coming season. Jack Dempsey, St. Augustine director, revealed that he could not make a definite statement until the next meeting at Crescent City on Dec. 10.

President Bussey praised the directors for their optimism, saying that with the present international situation as it is, "it is good to see men still striving to live with an air of optimism."

After a short recess to discuss offices, the board of directors returned to the assembly room and Jack Dempsey nominated Mr. Krider.

Actor Errol Flynn Marries For Third Time In Riviera Ceremony

By CARTER DAVIDSON
MONTE CARLO, Monaco, Oct. 23—(AP)—Movie actor Errol Flynn was married "for the third and last time" today in an 18-minute civil ceremony in the Monaco City Hall. Actress Patricia Wynore was the bride.

The couple said "out" before Mayor Charles Palmara as more than 100 guests watched and a crowd of 3,000 chattered excitedly in the city hall courtyard.

It was a typical Riviera day—with a warm sun and the beautiful blue Mediterranean for a background.

The best man for the Australian-born, 41-year-old Flynn was his fellow countryman, yachtsman Fred McEvoy. McEvoy's wife, Claude, was matron of honor for the 34-year-old bride from Malina, Kansas.

There was no mob scene at the wedding, though Monaco's police had been mobilized to handle 10,000 persons. Newsman and photographers far outnumbered the guests at the ceremony, on which the Monte Carlo radio station ran a running broadcast.

This afternoon the couple was to drive to Nice, 20 miles away, for a religious wedding (at 10 A. M. EST) in the Lutheran Church of the transfiguration.

Neither Prince Rainier III, Ruler of Monaco, nor Prince Igor Troubetsky, estranged husband of Barbara Hutton, showed up for the civil ceremony. Both had been expected.

The crowd in the City Hall courtyard threw rice at the couple as they entered for the ceremony. The tall, red-headed Miss Wynore wore a light, straddled length wool dress in an off white shade. She carried a bouquet of pink and white flowers.

Flynn wore a dark blue suit and a black knit tie.

Rok Force Is Only 50 Miles From Border

Broken Communists Flee Northward; Hundreds Of Prisoners Found Dead

SEOUL, Korea, Oct. 23—(AP)—South Korean forces swept within 50 miles or less of the Manchurian border today.

Shattered remnants of the Red Korean army were fleeing frantically toward the mountain triangle north of Kanngye. It was there that the Red chieftain, Kim Il Sung, carried out his guerrilla war against the Japanese before Russian occupation forces installed him as premier of North Korea after World War II.

Kanngye is about 20 miles from the border in the center of the peninsula.

Three South Korean (ROK) Divisions were driving for the Manchurian border to finish the four-month war.

Observers said the ROKs, who can make 30 miles a day in forced marches, were capable of reaching the Yalu River on the border sometime Tuesday.

(General MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo was non-committal. A spokesman said only that the Army "had several estimates of when Allied troops were expected to reach the Manchurian border.")

On the north bank of the river, Red China troops guard Manchuria.

The desperate Red Koreans were fleeing northward, a fact that they no longer could hide all their Allied prisoners along with them.

Many POWs were escaping to the safety of Allied lines. Other prisoners were massacred by the Reds in a brutal last show of defiance. Sixty-six Americans were found machinegunned 40 miles north of Pyongyang, the North Red capital. Two others died, but 21 survived the ruthless slaughter.

Five hundred South Koreans were reported murdered at Yonhung, on North Korea's east coast.

An Army intelligence office in Tokyo said the Red Koreans had put up "no real organized resistance in the last 24 hours."

Hard-Hit Growers May Be Eligible For Disaster Aid

Efforts to arrange disaster loans to growers of Seminole County who have suffered losses due to destruction of their vegetable crops in the recent storm are now under way, County Agent C. R. Dawson announced this morning following a conference with State Representative M. B. "T-Bone" Smith.

George D. Livingston of the Farmers Home Administration office, Orlando, administrator of disaster loans in this area, visited Mr. Dawson this morning and stated that in co-operation with the Korean Army can cope with any guerrilla problem remaining after the war.

"We handled them so well by destroying most of the guerrillas last year that the only way the Communists could figure out to try to overthrow the republic was to open war upon it," he said.

"Our Army is well experienced in routing guerrillas out of mountainous areas," he said.

Four Negroes Hurt In Automobile Crash

Four Negroes suffered minor injuries at 4:00 o'clock Sunday morning when the 1941 Chevrolet sedan in which they were riding north on Park Avenue at high speed left the road at the railroad crossing at Fifteenth Street and hit a light pole, then kept right on going.

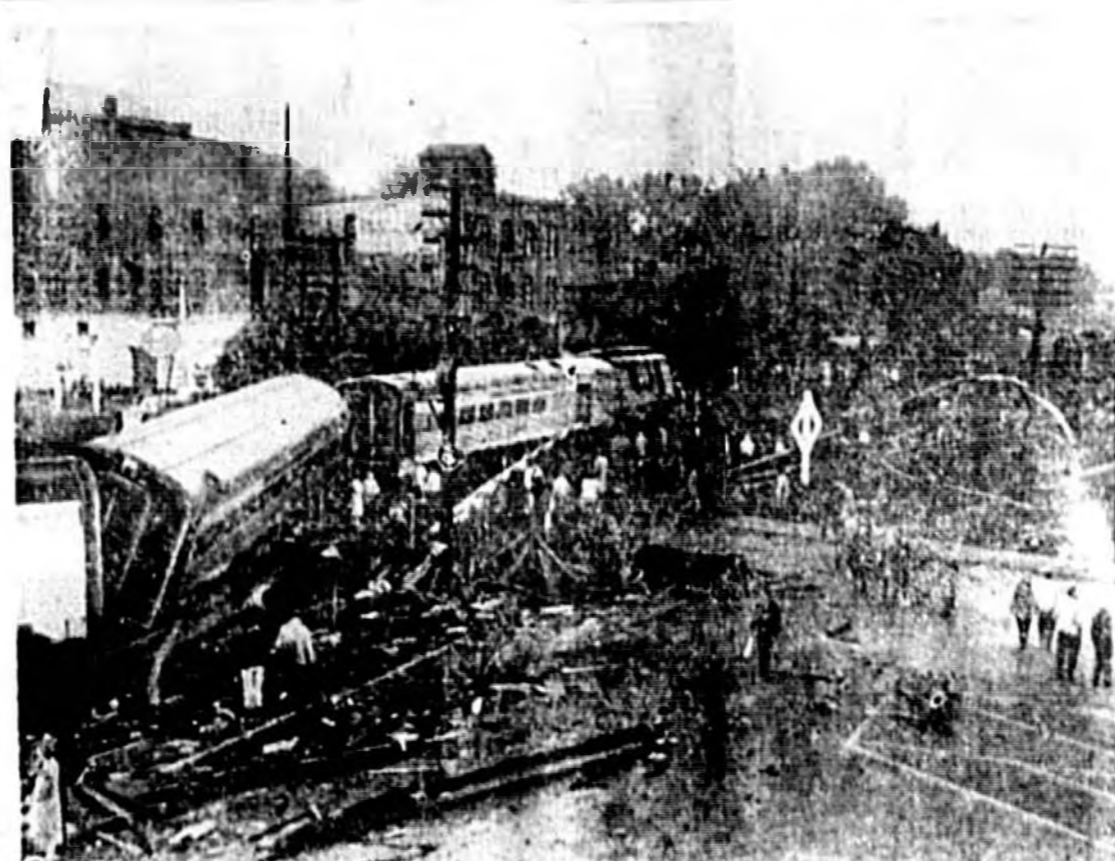

Police arrested the driver, Elijah Hamilton, Midway, who is charged with careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. Charlie Wilson, one of the three passengers, had a cut over the eye, Willie Gibson a cut lip, and Bernard Stapler, who had a bitten tongue required hospital attention.

The 1947 Buick of J. S. Lee was damaged to the extent of about $400, and a parked Willys Station Wagon was damaged at an estimated $300 following a collision on Park Avenue at Eleventh Street Saturday night. Lee was overtaken by Sheriff P. A. Mero and Deputy Sheriff Bob Browning who happened along at the time, took up the pursuit and chased him through alleys. He is charged with careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. The Willys belongs to Florida Fashionists.

LANNING ELECTED
Porter H. Lanning of Sanford was elected president of the Florida Wildlife Federation at its convention during the week-end at Sportsman's Lodge in Welaka.

Mr. Lanning, the president of the Seminole County Sportsman Association, and Robert T. Johnson, attended the convention as delegates from the fifth district.

Scene Of Derailment In Which Two Died And 20 Were Injured

A crowd gathers about the wreckage of the New York Central's passenger train, North Star, following a gruesome derailing at Ontario, N. ## Business Woman Of 1950 Honored For Her Work In Culinary Arts

By WILEARD CONNOLLY
Mrs. M. D. Gatchel, caterer selected by popular vote last week as the "Sanford Business Woman of 1950" won this honor by serving more than 45,000 perfect meals during the past four years.

"I was never so surprised in my life," said Mrs. Gatchel "when the Business and Professional Women's Club informed me that I was guest of honor at their dinner at the Longwood Hotel, and had been named the 'Sanford Business Woman of 1950'."

But Sanford's leading business men and women, members of civic clubs and church groups, who have enjoyed Mrs. Gatchel's fine cooking were not a bit surprised.

A big grin spread over the face of Kwanan Ed Lane Saturday when he was informed Mrs. Gatchel had won the honor. "None I could be for," he declared.

Although Mrs. Gatchel has been catering for 15 years, it was four years ago in time that she started serving Kwanan's club, the Mayfair Inn. Other clubs followed suit with the result that Mrs. Gatchel has served more than 150 meals a week in civic clubs alone, and altogether over 750 meals a month.

Clubs served by her include Kiwanis, 25 and Jaycees, 25 (the fourth Tuesday of the month), the 30 women of the Pilot Club. The meetings were held before last year at Longwood Center and are now held at the Yacht Club.

Mrs. Gatchel also serves the Presbyterian Men's Club, averaging about 30, once a month; the Baptist Men's Club, with about 100, once a month; the Episcopalians of Wednesday nights; and the Methodists occasionally.

National League Umpire George Barr once rose at Kiwanis meeting, declared he had eaten at the leading hotels and restaurants of America, but had never eaten such good fried chicken as Mrs. Gatchel served. Other club visitors are credited with the statement.

Born in Sumter county near Wildwood, Mrs. Gatchel, the former Roberta Lynch, came with her family to Elder Springs at the age of 10. She is a native of a little settlement which was located south of the present (Continued on Page Three)

Rumbley Is Assigned To Farm Placement

Robert A. Rumbley, who has been in charge of the Florida State Employment office since it reopened on July 1 on Palm Bay Avenue, has been promoted to a new assignment as Farm Placement representative. Tom Lawton, Jr., manager of the Orlando office of the service, announced this morning.

Although Mr. Rumbley will retain his headquarters at the local office, the scope of his work will include Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties, said Mr. Lawton.

Ralph Prescott, formerly of the Orlando office, today took over his duties as manager of the local office. He intends to bring his wife and son here as soon as he finds accommodations.

The State Employment Service is expanding its program due to a considerable increase in farm workers, particularly in the Zellwood section, Mr. Lawton pointed out.

W. F. RANKIN DIES
Friends here of W. F. Rankin will regret to learn of his death which occurred on Sunday, Oct. 15, at his home in Quincy following a long illness. He was 73 years old.

Mr. Rankin lived in Sanford from 1921 to 1943 when he moved to Quincy. He is survived by the widow and two sons, W. E. and M. P. Rankin of Quincy; three daughters, Miss Lydia Rankin, Tallahassee; Mrs. J. G. Haderer of Sanford; and Mrs. W. T. Thursday of Orange City.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Catholic Church in Tallahassee and burial was in Oakland Cemetery there.

Last Rites Are Held At Church For Ed Higgins

Manager Of Chamber Of Commerce And Former Mayor Died On Sunday Morning

Funeral services for Edward Higgins, former Mayor of Sanford and manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, who died at 7:22 a.m. Sunday morning, were conducted at 10:00 a.m. today at All Saints Catholic Church in the presence of friends and relatives from all over Central Florida.

The requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father William Nachtrab before a crowded altar. He was assisted by Monsignor John Bishop, pastor of the St. James Catholic Church, Orlando. Grave side services were held at Evergreen Cemetery with Father Nachtrab officiating.

Surviving relatives pallbearers were W. A. Patrick, H. N. Sawyer, Jack Hall, John Lee, John Kree, and Dr. Vincent Roberts.

Honorary pallbearers were A. W. Lee, Gene Kammlid, H. H. Coleman, Arthur Towell, George D. Bishop, Leo R. Fisher, W. V. Balfour, W. A. Laffler, J. G. Kilpatrick, J. Roy Bower, Fred W. Bender and Andrew Caraway.

Born in Baltimore, Md., Sept. 12, 1886, Mr. Higgins was the eldest son of a large family. They moved to Wilmington, N. C., where he attended public schools, and later to Florence, S. C., to attend a school in dentistry. His father was the late James C. Higgins, a superintendent of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, who was transferred in 1904 to Sanford. His mother was the former Mary Ellen Curtis.

After working for a short time in the V. C. L. shop as a machinist, Mr. Higgins left here to work as a master mechanic in the plant where the late James C. Higgins was a superintendent of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, who was transferred in 1904 to Sanford. His mother was the former Mary Ellen Curtis.

Returning to Sanford in 1910 Mr. Higgins operated the Sanford Machine Co. and later opened an automobile agency for E.M.F. Export cars.

From 1919 through 1934 he operated the Ford Agency, located at one time at the site of the present South Florida Co. Cafeteria. Mr. Higgins erected the building where the Hunt Mercury Agency is now located at Palm-tree and Commercial Avenue and moved the agency there. In 1929 he opened the Seminole Security Co., an automobile finance agency, and moved to an assistant H. N. Sawyer, the present city clerk.

During 1934 and 1935, Mr. Higgins was associated with Dr. Sam Eubank in the real estate development of the city.

Sanford Rotary Pays Tribute To Edward Higgins

Unselfish Activity In Club, Community Stressed By Touhy

The Rotary Club dedicated a special luncheon today out of respect to the memory of Edward Higgins, a charter member and past president of the club who died Sunday morning. A fitting tribute to Mr. Higgins was paid by George Touhy who pointed out Mr. Higgins' work in the Rotary Club as well in community activities.

"All of us know that sooner or later our summons will come as it has to Mr. Higgins," said Mr. Touhy, "and we would like to have so conducted ourselves that in our final hour we will find our friends saying of us that they have lost a real friend and that we will be greatly missed."

Mr. Higgins was truly a friendly and affable man. There were times when he found himself not in agreement with others, but his personal relationship with them always remained on a friendly basis.

"He went out of his way to do a good job on whatever task might be assigned to him. He was a good Rotarian. He was a charter member, a past president, and an active committee chairman at all times.

"Community service was where he earned his greatest distinction. Who has given more time to the affairs of the city and the progress of the community than Ed Higgins was an unselfish devotee to the welfare of the town. Being mayor of Sanford simultaneously, manager of the Chamber of Commerce during the war was perhaps his period of his greatest achievement.

"He was a man of ideas, all of which were designed to make this city grow and prosper. He had remarkable success in putting these plans into action. He (Continued on Page Eight)

Crop Damage Less Than Expected In Hurricane Regions

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 23—(AP)—Specially selected inspectors from the Florida State Farm Bureau report that crop damage in the hurricane regions was less than expected.

While some corn fields in the hurricane belt were damaged, the damage was not as severe as reported. The Florida State Farm Bureau report that the damage to the crops was less than expected.

Three "Explorers" And Dog Found After 12 Hours In Eerie Cavern

By JIM HOLTON
HARLANSBURG, Pa., Oct. 23—(AP)—Three young "explorers" and a small dog were rescued today after their flashlight-lit while they wandered through the maze-like passageways of a new-found cavern.

Apparently none the wiser for their 12-hour stay in the bat-filled tunnels of the cave were: Herbert Harkless, 12; Eddie McClelland, 14-year-old son of a funeral director; and a small dog, a construction company employee, and "Andy," year old cocker spaniel owned by young McClelland.

The only note of concern was expressed by the Harkless boy, whose first comment was: "Heck, I guess I'll have to go to school today as usual."

His mother, overjoyed at his safe return, was quick to assure him he could take a couple of days off, if he wanted to.

The plight of the three turned this western Pennsylvania town of 500 out in full force to aid in the search. About 1,500 men and women from surrounding com-

Fried Chicken And Steak Concern G. I.s As War Danger Decreases

By HAL BOYLE
 SEOU, Korea, Oct. 23—(AP)—Letter to Frances: Start dusting out the kitchen right now and shove out twin beds and the radio into that beautiful room. Fill up the wash. Stock the pantry with all the wonderful foods in the world. Put in a direct telephone line to the grocery store. And you'd better get down that beaten up old textbook on cooking you salvaged from college.

Thank heavens they taught you more about cooking than about international law or the history of early Roman hand instruments.

For you and I are going to live in our kitchen the entire first month after I get back from Korea. We are going to explore that cook-book page by page menu by menu. I'll phone the grocer and say:

"Just send over everything you've got on your first shelf today. Tomorrow send over everything on the second shelf. The next day send over everything on the third shelf. And when you run out of shelves just let me know."

All you'll have to do is cook. I promise. Never mind the twin beds. When they get dirty I'll lie in bed and sail them out the windows at the pigeons—and buy you some more.

This may sound like a pretty dull postwar homestead to you. But later we can go to Bermuda, Florida, Shangai-la or Sheephead Bay. First I want a chance to get as tired of home-cooked food as I now am of canned army chow.

That is a major ambition right now with many American troops over here. And that is a good sign. The shooting is about over in Korea—the big shooting. I mean. For there's an old Army saying that a war is won when the soldiers spend more time griping about their chow than worrying about their personal safety.

The American Army has lived up again to its boast that its troops are the best fed in the world. Its field ration in the Korean campaign had more variety than in the last World War. But unlike in Europe there weren't so many cows around to provide fresh meat for the boys by walking suitably in front of a cook-stove because of the lack of sanitation. The Army has hesitated to use many native fresh grown vegetables.

That probably avoided any large epidemic. But it has a lot of men who are getting around now with hurt looks. Because no matter how much nutrition or vitamins are built into a can, the customers get tired of reading the can's old labels after more than three months. And some have been unkind enough to imply that the mess sergeants simply empty the cans in the daytime and then fill them up again at night.

One veteran says the government ought to issue fresh stomachs each time it asks a soldier to fight in another war. And a middle aged lieutenant colonel complained the other day:

"Army chow is all right to fight on—but nobody was ever meant to live on it."

Everyone is talking now about what he wants for his first big meal when he gets home. Naturally most want fried chicken or a half pound thick steak so tender it will melt if you just throw it at it.

But I want an all-American meal, and I want it ready the moment I step in the front door. Here's what you do:

Mash up a bucket of Idaho potatoes. Fry three of the prettiest feathered chicken in New Jersey. Fry four dozen gleaming white Connecticut eggs. Pop and crack open a pack of Chesapeake Bay oysters. Peel five pounds of New Orleans shrimp and an overgrown Maine lobster.

Roil half a Kansas Steer and barbecue a side of pork from Iowa. Slice a bushel of great Red Washington apples. Freeze a tubful of vanilla ice cream, and down a Wisconsin cheese and stew a gallon of rice in Maryland tomatoes.

Slice me a large bucketful of fresh fruit salad—with Oregon pears, California oranges, Arizona avocados, Texas grapefruit—and dripping with Florida lemon juice. Toss me another large bucketful of all the wonderful fresh leafy vegetables that grow in America.

Now take all this and have the janitor help you dump it in the bathtub. Pour in five gallons of cold Vermont milk. Then go away and let me alone for five hours.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Talk is cheap. We honor God most by our lives...

Evidently Joe Stalin doesn't think much of Harold Stassen...

The Young Women's Christian Association of New York City last week announced a gift of $520,000...

Well, we must be getting old. We see where Connie Mack has finally retired...

In the state of Florida getting away from its professed intention of practicing "frontier frugality"...

It seems a little odd that the United States was shipping oil to Communist China after the war with Korea began...

Bernard Baruch again calls for all out controls to prevent continued rise of wages and prices...

A Wisconsin professor says that arrangements should be provided at colleges and universities so that young couples can enjoy the blessings of romance without danger of interference...

The New York Zoological Society has just dedicated a $360,000 estate for apes at the Bronx Zoo...

Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing's prediction that Negroes will be admitted freely to all American universities within a year is perhaps a little misleading...

Liaison In Washington

It is reported that the more troublesome differences between the State Department and the Department of Defense have already been ironed out...

There is hardly room for question, however, that the nation is better off in these troubled times with smooth liaison and close understanding between these two departments...

Whether we like it or not, the relations of nations are still governed by power politics. Those who hold that power politics is wrong have not presented an effective substitute...

Peace Conference Lost

"We have won every war and lost every peace conference." So former Minnesota Governor Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania, told the Philadelphia convention of the General Society of the War of 1812...

Presumably Stassen was thinking chiefly of the conferences which ended the two world wars, and whose merits are still in dispute. He could have made a real case if he had discussed the peace conference that ended the Spanish-American War...

It sounds almost as if our negotiators had been hoodwinked by the wily Spaniards, something that Stassen seems to suggest happens whenever we confer with other diplomats. Actually Spain was loath to surrender any territory...

Bramble-Tangle

"Bramble-tangle" is what a group of British traffic officials, visiting New York, think of motor regulation in our largest city. They singled out, as chief causes of confusion, parked cars and brilliant electric signs which distract drivers from traffic signals...

How does London solve parking problems? The law is really tough for violators. A fine of 100 pounds ($280) or three months imprisonment is the possible penalty. And unlike American practice, these penalties are enforced. It may be easier to do so because England has far fewer cars, and therefore fewer violators...

Such severe punishment would take the heart out of our bold illegal parkers. It might be hard, however, to get it adopted here. Too many habitual illegal parkers have influential friends. They already go to considerable lengths to fix a traffic ticket for which the fine is a trifling sum. To avoid a $280 fine, they would doubtless move heaven and earth...

Problems Of The Newspapers

Probably you haven't seen this in your favorite daily newspaper, since publishers seem to be a shy lot where their own business is concerned and seldom air their troubles in public. They are having their difficulties, nevertheless, as attested by Editor & Publisher, the newspaper's bible, which keeps close account of matters affecting this important industry...

In the twenty-year period since 1929, for instance, some 747 American daily newspapers have suspended publication. Some have quit entirely; others have gone into mergers or retired to the weekly field. Of the casualties, about half were established newspapers, some of them fine old institutions like the New York Sun, a 1950 casualty. Of the 598 new dailies started from 1930 to 1949, on the other hand, 375 have either merged or suspended...

This doesn't look so good, and it may explain why your own publisher, instead of being out at the country club this evening, may be down at the office worrying over the books. The trend toward fewer and fewer live newspapers has others in the business worried, too, and quite naturally so, since their jobs are involved. In 1929 there were 1944 dailies publishing in the United States, according to E. & P. At the end of 1949 there were only 1780—down 164—and during 1950 there have been about a dozen additional fold-ups...

Admitting that the country ought to have a free and economically healthy press, representing varied interests and shades of opinion, what is being done about it, and what is likely to be done? Right now, the attack on the problem seems to be in what the Army might call the "appreciation" stage. Surveys are being made; facts are coming out. The American Newspaper Publishers Association, for example, presents to members a comprehensive study showing tremendous increases in costs of newsprint and printing man-hours. Since 1945, it appears, pulpwood newsprint has gone up from $10 to $101 per ton, and composing-room costs have risen by more than 100 per cent. At its July convention, the American Newspaper Guild mulled over the merger problem at length, even proposing that $50,000 be set aside for possible investment in co-operation with other labor unions. There have been accusations laid and forth between management and employees regarding this new type of ownership. They haven't solved the problem, but may serve to clear the air. The best hope for everyone, including the sometimes-forgotten reader, lies within the American "free enterprise system" itself—

THE WORLD TODAY

By DeWitt MacKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The United Nations' adoption of the plan to halt aggression anywhere and everywhere, by force if necessary, represents the most powerful organized peace move ever made.

It tacitly recognizes that until human nature is changed mankind is going to resort to war at times and must be restrained. In effect it acknowledges that there will be occasions when only force, or a display of force, can turn the trick.

This far-reaching project is given teeth by a provision requiring that U. N. members place specified units of their armed forces at the disposal of the organization to meet crisis. It represents a perpetuation of the emergency measure under which the U. N. was able to send its own forces into Korea to end the aggression from the north. True, the program still has to go through the formality of being passed by the General Assembly. However, the big majority by which it was adopted in the Assembly's Political Committee ensures its passage in the larger body.

It's just over 50 years ago that the world saw the first meeting of nations ever assembled to discuss ways and means of maintaining peace. That was in 1899 when 26 countries met at the Hague and produced the "Convention for the Pacific Settlement of International Disputes."

This was followed in 1907 by the "second peace conference" when 44 states representing virtually all the independent nations of the globe reaffirmed the convention and added to it. The convention provided for mediation, arbitration and international commissions of inquiry into situations likely to lead to war. The next step—and it was seven-league stride—was the creation of the League of Nations at the end of World War I. That did some good work—but it failed in the great emergency because it lacked the courage (and the means) to take forceful action against aggressors. In an effort to isolate the League, the Locarno Pact was forced in 1925, with the primary idea of preventing any further German-French upheavals. Then in 1928, because the League of Nations didn't completely abolish war, 50 of the 64 independent nations of the world signed the Paris Peace Pact for "renunciation of war."

These peace moves were followed by disarmament conferences. And of course much has been done in the interests of peace in the Western Hemisphere by the various Pan American Conferences. Probably it has required all this patient and persistent spade work to prepare the way for the historic employment of sanctions by force to halt aggression. In any event, it has remained for the United Nations to make the first concerted application of such sanctions. Now this daring but fortunately successful experiment is leading to the adoption of permanent measures that will provide the U. N. with the machinery to deal with aggression. Perhaps it is too much to hope that this will prevent any further aggression. But it is the most powerful move in that direction yet made. Certainly it will encourage small and weak nations to go ahead in working out their own destinies without fear of assault by great powers with evil designs.

Three Explorers

Left in pitch darkness, they drilled to sit down and wait for daylight. They told me it was about midnight. Herbie Harkless said, 'and I was tired and cold. Then I heard some yelling later and I knew they were coming to get me. I felt better.' One of five rescue groups, using twin safety lines to permit a safe return to the entrance came on the little group. They were in a large chamber about 25 feet from floor to ceiling—a weird setting of stalagmites, stalactites and whirling lava. The news that they were safe was greeted by a cheer from the hundreds gathered at the cave mouth. Young Herbie Harkless was given some soup and put to bed immediately. His other companions stayed up a little longer to tell the tale of their adventure to a wide awake town. 'Andy,' the little cucker spaniel, and the two bloodhounds used in the search, each got a bone and some sleep.

Miss Mary Kenis Is Ven To Wallace Tyre

Miss Mary Kenis, daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Kenis of this city, was married to Wallace Tyre, son of Mrs. Virginia Lee Tyre and Claude G. Tyre, also of Sanford, on Saturday evening at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church with the Rev. H. Livingston Zimmerman officiating.

The church was decorated with myriads of turning tapers and baskets of white gladiolus and white tulips, and a large crowd of guests gathered for the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, George Samuel Kenis of Monticello, Fla., was gowned in cream tulle and carried a large bouquet of long-stemmed flowers. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a large bouquet of long-stemmed flowers.

The bride's attendants were Miss Betty Jo Holloway, Miss Peggy Howell, Mrs. C. E. McKee, Jr., Miss Jane Ford, Miss Joan Humphrey and Miss Carol Jean Merivether. Little Pat Smith, flower girl, wore a hoop skirt gown and carried a basket of rose petals.

Thurston Tyre, brother of the groom, was best man, and Richard Bass, Bobby Humphrey, Eugene Harper, Richard McNabb, John Keeling and Charles Pace served as ushers. Bill Kirchhoff and Wally Pope were acolytes.

Mrs. Kenis, mother of the bride, wore a teal blue dress, with matching accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid. Mrs. Tyre, the groom's mother, wore a rose lace dress with matching accessories. White camellias formed her corsage.

Mrs. W. E. Kirchhoff and Mrs. Fred Pope received the guests at the Parish House door for the reception. Mrs. Roy Holler and Mrs. Peter Baker served the cake. Mrs. Keith Westfall and Mrs. Joe Cusby the punch, and Miss Martha Grogan presided at the bride's table. Miss Hazel Raines, Miss Mary Ann Baker, Miss Joyce

Square Dance Given By Bath, Tennis Club

A buffet supper and square dancing was given Saturday night by the Bath and Tennis Club at the Mayfair tennis courts as the last social event of the summer season.

New Members Are Welcomed Into Club

Mrs. M. W. Castle, Jr., Mrs. Donald Jones, Mrs. Lester Guthrie, Mr. Arthur Beckwith, Jr., and Mrs. Marvin Lohm were welcomed as new members to the American Home Department of the Woman's Club at the first meeting of the year Tuesday at the Club House.

Mrs. C. E. Carlson, chairman, presided over the meeting. The budget for the coming year was discussed and Mrs. Harry Robson was elected membership chairman. Mrs. S. G. Harriman was in charge of the program, having as the theme "Get Together". She offered several readings and led the group in games and songs.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. I. A. Johnson, Mrs. R. W. Williams, Mrs. Ted Williams, Mrs. Gordon Hradley, Mrs. H. L. Zimmerman and Mrs. Ernest Southward to the following: Mrs. Carlton, Mrs. E. J. Moughton, Jr., Mrs. John Lee, Mrs. C. W. Johnson, Mrs. Clayton Smith, Mrs. John Kader, Mrs. D. Cooper, Mrs. J. E. Lewis, Mrs. F. B. Watkins, Mrs. David Gatchel, Mrs. Willis Teacock, Mrs. Hlaka Sawyer, Mrs. Harriman, Mrs. George Dixon, and Mr. John Robert Karns, Mrs. Max Funder, H. Abrahams.

Mrs. Peterson Named Head Of Baptist Group

The Baptist Women's Mission Union of Seminole Association composed of 27 churches, met Friday at the Calvary Baptist Church in Daytona Beach to their annual conference.

An interesting program was presented and a "Method Clinic" conducted by a board of experts. Miss Elizabeth Provenza, Florida Young People's Secretary, was the guest speaker and used as her topic "Advancing with Christ Now," this emphasizing the challenge to move forward at once in every phase of work as Christians, especially with young people.

New officers were installed and among them were Mrs. A. J. Peterson, president and Mrs. M. S. Cleveland, secretary, of Sanford. Those who attended from the First Baptist Church were Mrs. Moughton, Jr., Mrs. John Lee, Mrs. C. W. Johnson, Mrs. Clayton Smith, Mrs. John Kader, Mrs. D. Cooper, Mrs. J. E. Lewis, Mrs. F. B. Watkins, Mrs. David Gatchel, Mrs. Willis Teacock, Mrs. Hlaka Sawyer, Mrs. Harriman, Mrs. George Dixon, and Mr. John Robert Karns, Mrs. Max Funder, H. Abrahams.

Hints To Housewives

The time and labor-saving advantages of automatic washing machines have had such an appeal for the homemaker in recent years that the advantages of non-automatic often have been overlooked by prospective purchasers. A preliminary report of studies for both machines at the Purdue Experiment Station notes that the number and kinds of automatics have been increasing and that the newer, non-automatic types, which cost less, are being improved.

Time studies showed that the total time required for the whole process of family washing is longer in the automatic than in the non-automatic type machines, but that the homemaker must spend about an hour more in using a non-automatic.

The preliminary studies also showed that automatics require about two and a half times as much water and one and a half times as much soap as other dependent on non-automatic in doing a family washing of three loads.

In general, the hotter the water the more soil was removed in these tests. In non-automatics, the water for general washing should be as hot as the housewife's hands can endure. For washing cottons in automatics, the temperature setting should be highest.

The study also showed that the type of agitation determines the wear on fabric during washing and not the type of machine.

IN MEMORIAM

Whereas Alvin H. Wright, late of Sanford, Fla., died on October 18, 1950, at his home in Sanford, Fla., and he was a member of the Garden Club, first President of the Garden Club, first President of the Garden Club, and honorary member to be with him.

Whereas his friends and co-workers share with his family a great loss and commit them to the tender care of a loving Comforter.

His interest in the work, the knowledge he had shared so generously and freely with both young and old gardeners, his faithful performance of her duties as officer and member in his springing presence at meetings, his helpfulness, his noble character and his successful leadership shall greatly be missed, not only by the Garden Club, but by all those who have known and worked with her through the years.

Therefore, be resolved that a page in the minutes of the Garden Club be appropriated to her name and that the resolution be inscribed therein, a copy be sent to her loved ones, with the assurance that her loss will be felt and our regret in her passing.

Unanimously adopted at the regular General Meeting of the Garden Club of Sanford, Florida, this seventeenth day of October 1950.

Maragon Perjury Conviction Upheld By Appeals Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals today affirmed the perjury conviction of John F. Maragon, who once had White House connections.

The one-time friend of presidential aide Maj. General Harry Vaughan was convicted here last May of having lied to Senate investigators who were looking into alleged peddling of influence in Washington.

The government failed to convict him of lying about business negotiations with government agencies but did get a conviction on two charges:

That he lied in saying he had only a Washington bank account when he had another in San Antonio, Texas.

That he committed perjury in saying he no longer was on the payroll of a Chicago importing firm when he took a temporary job overseas with the State Department.

On those counts he got a prison sentence of eight months to two years.

One of the contentions raised in Maragon's appeal to the higher court was that there was insufficient testimony to establish perjury in relation to his 1943 and 1946 bank accounts.

The appeals court said, however, that the government had offered "an accumulation of uncontroverted documentary evidence" to establish the existence of the San Antonio account.

The tribunal said it found an error in this or any other angle of the trial challenged on appeal.

turning inland in their retreat before the advancing United Nations forces. Officers said they were entering an area dotted with ancient walled cities.

These will not offer much defense, a spokesman said. "With what we have learned we can take care of those without any trouble."

The spokesman said American forces had learned much in assaulting the walled city north of Taegu in southeastern Korea.

Air attacks "will take care of them," he explained. But ground assaults may be necessary to flush out all enemy resistance.

As the Allied tide rolled northward, the lag of Red Korean prisoners swollen past the 120,000 mark, the equivalent of 12 divisions.

United Nations forces captured 20,000 North Korean troops in the past 24 hours.

South Korean Eighth Division troops met the stiffest Red resistance of the day. An enemy battalion supported by artillery attempted to slow the ROK advance in the Pukchang area, 50 miles northeast of Pyongyang, the fallen Red capital.

But a spokesman at U. S. Eighth Army headquarters said a ROK column had thrust north of Huihung, almost another 50 miles north of Pukchang in the center of the peninsula.

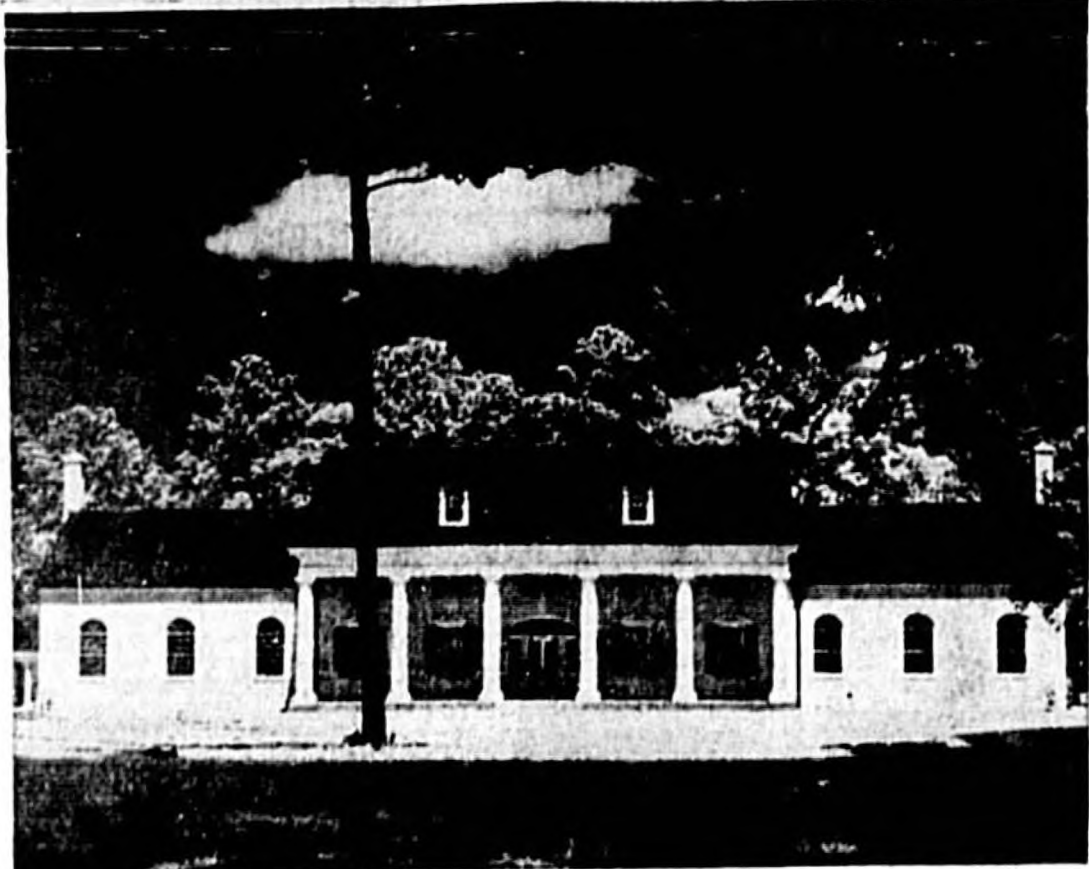

This column was within 50 miles or less of the Manchurian border.

The South Korean Sixth Division was pursuing the Reds on a new escape route toward Kanggye, reported to be Red Premier Kim's new army command headquarters.

Leading ROK Sixth Division elements were in Wonham, 18 miles southwest of Huihung.

The Fifth Air Force reported troops on foot moving north from heavy traffic in vehicles and Huihung toward Kanggye.

The South Korean First Division moved in strength into Kunu, on the Chongchon River north of Sunchon. It faced a crossing of the broad river before it could continue on toward the Manchurian border about 70 air line miles away.

The Museum Building of the Stephen Foster Memorial Park at White Springs, Fla., is located on U. S. Route 11, eleven miles north of Lake City. The park was dedicated by Governor Warren and nationally known dignitaries on Oct. 4. The Museum Building houses eight animated dioramas depicting Foster songs as well as many original Foster manuscripts and relics.

consideration by the GOP. If Dewey had wanted to support Eisenhower, Anderson said, "He'd let him lay back awhile while some of the brighter young men ran and then would have had Eisenhower to the front."

A Senate subcommittee probed an early discussion, meanwhile, on whether to go ahead with a formal inquiry into circumstances surrounding Dewey's decision to seek a third term as New York Governor following the withdrawal of Lt. Governor Joe R. Hanley.

Hanley last week made public a letter in which he said he had been assured he could clean up personal debts within 30 days if he agreed to run for the Senate. He did, withdrawing as a candidate for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, and Dewey then announced he would run again.

Democrats have contended this meant Hanley was "paid off" by Dewey and Hanley have denied it.

American Labor Party officials in New York have called on a Senate subcommittee headed by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) to investigate Gillette flew here from Iowa over the weekend to look into the situation.

Senators Anderson and Guy George Gadrelson, chairman of the Republican National Committee, put out the customary conflicting forecasts last week about how their parties would fare in the November congressional elections.

In the wake of their disagreement, some experienced political observers in Washington agreed yesterday that control of the Senate may hinge on 11 close contests and that Republicans may need to win all of them to take control.

Gadrelson has not claimed enough gains for his party to win control of Congress, and these observers said privately they believe the odds now favor retention of control by the Democrats in both Senate and House.

They regarded as the key contests two Senate races each in Connecticut and Idaho and one each in Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, development that prompted the Loch Arroyo and Rose Court sections.

At one time he was also associated in real estate with W. C. Smith and Hal Wright, with offices at the present site of the J. C. Tenney Co.

He became a city commissioner in 1937 and remained on the commission through 1946. He served as mayor for six years, from 1937 through 1943, and 1945 through 1946.

Mr. Higgins succeeded Ralph Bagwell as manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce in 1939. He had previously served it as president in 1934, 1935 and 1936.

His record of achievement, both as a city official and as manager of the Chamber of Commerce, has been impressive and vital to the recovery of Sanford from depression set-backs.

Among his outstanding achievements were his efforts in effecting a solution to the City's bonded indebtedness, which had been in default since July 1, 1929 and which was refunded in 1937.

Foreseeing that aviation might play a vital part in Sanford's future, Mr. Higgins worked to aid the development of a large airport at Ginderville. When this project was blocked due to railroad holdings, he gave his attention to acquiring and developing through the WPA and CAA the large acreage south of Geneva Avenue for a municipal airport which later became the Sanford Naval Air Station.

One of his principal post war projects, has been the deepening of the St. Johns River Channel from Sanford to Palatka as a prelude to the construction of a large waterfront terminal, a project now entering its financing stage. He was also largely responsible for the cutting of the Woodruff Creek Channel, and has promoted for some time the St. John-Indian River Canal.

In 1941, Mr. Higgins initiated a plan for a public housing project. This had to be discontinued during the war, but he revived it last year, and construction of the Castle Brewer housing units will soon start in Goldsboro.

The coming of the New York Giants with their farm teams and their purchase of the Mayfair Inn, was a project upon which Mr. Higgins co-operated with Commissioner John Krider.

At the recent meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Higgins was reappointed manager.

In addition to his many other civic activities, Mr. Higgins was a Rotarian, a member of All Souls Catholic Church and of the Knights of Columbus, and belonged to the Sanford Lodge of Elks.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Julia M. Higgins; four sons, John E. James C. J. Malcolm and Edward Higgins, Jr., all of Sanford; three daughters, Mrs. Wally Dietrich and Mrs. John W. Williams of Bayside, Long Island, N. Y.; 17 grandchildren; one brother, James Higgins of Haines City, and five sisters; ter voluntarily; that is without the government's having to resort to board procedure in an effort to force registration.

Apparently the Communists were going to let Red pass without action, ignore the laws, and see what the government would do about it.

Meanwhile, the Justice Department disclosed, it has begun a roundup of top alien Communists in the United States, and has arrested 10.

Those already in custody were described as "the most important" of about 80 persons scheduled for prompt pick up and deportation if deportation is possible.

Officials said the 10 are those who have been most active in the fields of Communist propaganda.

The Department announced these arrests and gave these descriptions of those in custody.

At San Francisco—Nathan Yanich, alias Noyach Vanishevsky, 41, of Russia here since 1917, a member of the Friends of Abraham Lincoln Brigade against whom deportation proceedings have been pending since 1946.

Ernest Otto Fuchs, alias Fox, 44, of Germany, here since 1910, active in maritime unions. (No relation to Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the jailed British atomic scientist).

At New York—Franjo or Frank Borich or Boric, 50, of Yugoslavia, here since 1913, a labor organizer, associated with the National Miners Union, described by the department as an affiliate of "Red International of Labor Unions," secretary of the National Council of Americans of Croatian Descent. He successfully fought deportation in 1932.

At Philadelphia—Vinco Kamasovitch, 41, of Yugoslavia, associated with National Miners Union, and under deportation orders since 1932.

Hard Hit Growers

William T. Shaddick, state director of the FFA, is making a survey to determine the extent of the losses.

If so designated by the Secretary of Agriculture as a disaster area, farmers of this section who have suffered direct losses due to the hurricane and are not able to get other financing, will have loans made available to them.

The loans will be available to farmers throughout Seminole County.

In the Zellwood section of Orange county where tender beans were hard hit by the storm and heavy rains, most growers will not replant, said Mr. Livingston. In fact, he added, many will not plant any new crops to replace those damaged until spring.

Heavy damage to tender green beans and to cabbage and other crops on the West Side was reported today, by Gus Schmah vegetable grower.

He declared that it is doubtful if farmers can risk replanting beans, due to frost danger, but pointed out that such crops as cabbage, lettuce, carrots, escarole, broccoli, lettuce and tomato could be planted.

Truman Proposes Disarmament Plan On UN Anniversary

Russians Challenged To Agree To International Regulation Of All Arms
FLUSHING MEADOW, New York, Oct. 24 (AP)—President Truman proposed today a unanimous agreement among nations upon a "fool proof" disarmament plan to pave the way for a concerted war against war.

The President made it clear he feels the United States and other free nations have no choice except to use their collective strength to curb aggression as long as "there are some who will resort to war" if it suits their ends.

A "fool proof" disarmament plan, he told the United Nations General Assembly, must outlaw not only atomic and hydrogen bombs but cover conventional war weapons as well.

Given a rousing welcome on the fifth anniversary of the day the U. N. charter came into force, Mr. Truman advised naming Russia and its Communist satellites, Andrei V. Vishinsky, Soviet Foreign Minister and chief Russian delegate, was among those who greeted him upon his arrival at the assembly hall.

His speech was a thinly-veiled challenge to Russia to agree to his disarmament plan, which called for international inspection to assure compliance.

The United States and other free nations, Mr. Truman said, will continue to build up their military forces as long as they are not met with an equal reduction of arms and armed forces.

He left the door open for another peace talks, but said a reference he did not expand on, but said the free nations have learned the hard way that negotiation alone will not preserve peace.

There must be armed strength to back up the peace talks, he said, to resist aggression.

Scientists Deny McCarthy Charge Of Red Sympathy

Senator Demands Relentless Examination Into AEC
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Half a dozen scientists last night assailed an assertion by Senator McCarthy that the ranks of U. S. scientists "have been infiltrated to an alarming degree by the Communist enemies" of this country.

Calling for "a relentless examination" of the attitude of the Atomic Energy Commission with respect to Communism, the Wisconsin Republican said in a statement in the Congressional Record:

"This real threat to the nation's security is a matter which either has been ignored by the Atomic Energy Commission or treated far too lightly by this vital administrative agency of the government."

For the commission, chairman Gordon Dean replied in a statement that since the AEC took over control of the nation's atomic program on an 1, 1947, "No person employed by the commission or its contractors nor any of the commission's consultants or advisers has ever been arrested or indicted much less convicted of any act of disloyalty."

Plieven Proposes European Army To Include Germans
PARIS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Premier Rene Plieven proposed today to the French National Assembly today that a European Army be established with German soldiers and officers included. But at the same time he warned against the resurrection of German militarism.

The army would be supra-national—responsible to all participating nations but not to any one nation individually.

Before the premier spoke on the touchy subject—there is great opposition in France to rearming the Germans—his information minister told a specially called news conference the proposed European Army would include men recruited from Germany.

In his speech to the jam-packed session of the assembly, Plieven said:

Political Opponents Get Together

Political Analysts Figure Dewey Is In For Tough Re-Election Fight

By HARRY O'DONNELL
ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—Astute partisan observers on both sides of New York's political fence figure Governor Thomas E. Dewey is facing the real fight of his life in seeking re-election Nov. 7.

Key Democratic chiefs believe the Governor will lose to Rep. Walter A. Lynch because, they claim, Lynch has "knocked Tom Dewey off his pedestal."

But the most aggressive and typically wherever they appear on the scene that this world, under God, will have a new birth of freedom.

Many of the people, who had come by foot, bicycle, streetcar and every other means to the first meeting of the fall on 11, N. Y. Day, were waiting to hear the bell. Others heard it electrically, and then as the tones died away, they went into loud applause.

But the most optimistic experts of both parties make no predictions of sweeping majorities.

Republican cockiness of other years is gone.

It will be no runaway, they say. "We never have thought this election was in the bag and haven't played it that way and never will." Confidently, the GOP forecasters concede Dewey probably will do a little worse than expected in traditionally Republican territory.

One self-styled pessimist among top Democratic strategists says the Democratic camp is generally optimistic. In contrast, he points to the 1942 and 1946 gubernatorial campaigns, when Dewey won before election day.

Freedom Bell Dedicated By Clay In Berlin

Half Million Watch As General Rings Bell Symbolizing Western Liberties

BERLIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—The challenging tones of the Freedom Bell rang out for United Nations Day today in this "only spot of freedom behind the Iron Curtain." Its message of hope was echoed a round the world.

The Communists tried frantically to drown out its voice. Within two miles of the dedication site they held a big demonstration.

Angry Communist agitators denounced the bell as "a war bell, a hunger bell, a death bell."

But a crowd of nearly a half million Berliners jammed city hall square and overflowed into the streets. General Lucian D. Clay, his voice hoarse with emotion, solemnly dedicated the resonant bronze symbol, set in the 200-foot tower of West Berlin's city hall, with this pledge:

"To resist aggression and tyranny wherever they appear on earth that this world, under God, will have a new birth of freedom."

Many of the people, who had come by foot, bicycle, streetcar and every other means to the first meeting of the fall on 11, N. Y. Day, were waiting to hear the bell. Others heard it electrically, and then as the tones died away, they went into loud applause.

Chinese Reds Fire On Marine Planes Flying 5 Miles From Border

South Korean Troops Drive On Toward Manchurian Border In Forced Marches

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—General Omar Bradley told military leaders of the U. S. North Atlantic treaty powers today that mutual bases for common defense must be created now "or we may be forced to improvise them in the face of enemy attack later."

The chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff sounded this note of urgency in welcoming members of the military committee of the North Atlantic treaty organization, composed of the chiefs of staff of each of the 12 nations, to lay the groundwork of a three-day session of defense ministers of the nations, starting Saturday.

Bradley, in his first prepared text, emphasized that "now is the time for action."

He noted that this was the third session of the military committee. In Paris last December, he said, "We forged the strategic concept." At the Hague in April, he said, we "solidified our common tactical plan and adopted the principle of balanced forces."

While Bradley made no further mention of this point, he did mention of "balanced forces" may produce differing views when the military and defense ministers session begins trying to translate it into divisions, navies and air forces.

The United States understands the meaning of this term is that balanced and active forces mean that each nation should contribute what it is best equipped to do.

As an example, the Netherlands is expanding its Navy, but under the "strategic concept" of which Bradley speaks, the major contribution is the major (Continued on Page Six)

PROBE TO KILL
TAMPA, Oct. 24 (AP)—The second trial of five persons accused of plotting to kill Sheriff Hugh D. O'Connell moved along slowly today on the same note of dispute that marked the first hearing.

About as fast as counting out a question, one of the three defense attorneys would be on his feet with a question or objection.

As a result, the only evidence the state produced at the morning session was that telling how two of the defendants, John Thomas and his wife, Virginia, returned to Tampa from Chicago last winter about the time the alleged plot was hatched.

COMMUNIST ARRESTED
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—An executive committee member of the Communist Party was taken into custody today in the Detroit department's continuing search for alleged Communist leaders.

At least half a dozen other arrests were made.

The newest arrests, took place in the one-quarter, mark the second set of 36 foreigners the department describes as among the most active Communist organizers, lecturers and propagandists in the United States.
