Humpty-Dumpty

In younger days it seems to us we memorized a few lines which went something like this:

Humpty-dumpty sat on the wall; Humpty-dumpty had a big fall.

Couldn't put Humpty-dumpty together again.

In Truth About Florida --Charles Donald Fox Says:

"In comparing Sanford with other cities in Florida, the subject of popfation should always be considered: With this thought in mind, it can be conservatively stated that few towns of a similar population throughout the state can show more modern development than is found in Sanford."

Loch Arbor is adding much to the advancement of Sanford. On every hand throughout the development great activity is evident. Improvements are being installed with all possible energy. Homes are being built and the entire development is a scene of great activity that will lend much to the progress and advancement of the city.

The eyes of the States are on Sanford and Seminole County. Its substance is being broadcast widely and from every state in the union thousands will come to make their homes, some to recreate, others to rest, and still others will come to engage in business adding to the profit of Sanford, the development of the city that Loch Arbor is an actual part.

> We want the people of the city to see Loch Arbor and invest there before the enevitable demand soars the prices upward. Profit that is sure to come is within your reach. Talk to our representatives—In no other way will you acquire a true appreciation of the Arbor.

Confidence--

To have secured the confidence of so many prominent people in such a short time speaks highly of Druid Park. It is comparatively easy matter to interest a few men in any project, but to sell dozens of the highest type of residents and visitors, necessitates the offering of a substantial, beautiful and a money-making property. These attributes are possessed in the fullest measure at Druid Park, where advantageous location, enduring charm and scenic attractiveness unite to create homesites which are possibly unsurpassed.

Our representatives are eager to furnish you with detail information of this property. We advise a trip to Druid Park that you will better understand the opportunities it offers.

-Mars will travel 22 million miles toward the earth during con-atter a day—and by April 1, will be have, neighborly enough to outshine his rival Antares. Even then it will be one hundred and sixty-six million of miles away. A buleltin by the American Na-ture Association also brings out the origin of "Dog Days" heard about in summer.

Canis Major, meaning Greater Dog, is the name of the constella-tion following immediately after Orion and visible in the southeast so in the early evening hours of February. To the northeast of Canis Major and not far distant is Canis Minor, The Lesser Dog. These two constellations represent the two hounds that follow close on the heels of Orion as he strides across the heavens facing Taurus, The Sirius and Procyon, the bright-est stars of these two constellations, often are called the Dog Star. Canis Minor is a very inconspicuous constellation. Canis Major however, contains in addition to Sirius, the brightest of all the stars in the heavens, four stars of the second magnitude and two of Egyptians as the Nile Star and the third. Sirius marks the nose of the dog, the star Beta is in his uplifted forepaw. Sirius was known to the Egyptians as the Nile Star and was an object of worship. As it then rose with the sun at the summer solstice, just before the annual overflow of the ile, its influence was believed to be very favorable to agriculture. Among the Greeks and Romans it was looked upon with disfavor beause it rose with the sun during the torrid heat of summer and to its influence was attributed all the vils of that season. The unhealthy summer period in Italy, from early in July until well nto August, received its name of the "Dog Days" from the supposed evil influence of the Dog Star, and even down to the present time this
