CUT PLANS OWNED UPON PRESIDENT

Proposed Cut Would Be Of Such Magni- tude That It Would Cause Big Deficit,

Def Is Uncertain About Size Of Cut

Debt Is So Large That Big Cut Is Im- possible, He Explains

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The proposal of the Federal States Chamber of Commerce that the coming fiscal year's budget be reduced by $1,000,000 to $400,000,000 to meet with the approval of President Coolidge, it is believed today at the White House.

Mr. Coolidge has not furnished with treasury figures and estimates and therefore cannot estimate the amount Congress should lay off the national burden. From past experience and indications, however, Mr. Coolidge has no doubt that it must be considerably lower than $300,000,000.

Throughout his discussion of taxation the President emphasized the great amount of the war and the necessity of reducing it. Answering the argument of those who urge to abolish all taxes, the President pointed out that the war debt is still $18,000,000,000.

The government, it was said, has additional expenditures because of flood control operations which are necessary, and cost of the national debt including new fighting vessels for the navy, additions to the air service program and army aviation program. It was also pointed out that there was a $68,000,000 in arrears in pension voted by the last Congress.

The President was represented as believing that unless Congress is liberal in its appropriations there will be no tax reduction at all.

Apparently referring to critics of treasury estimates it was pointed out that the surplus has been higher than the estimates, because of unexpected increases in the revenues and reduction of expenditures by refinancing operations.

HOSPITAL MONEY COULD HAVE BEEN SPENT IN 4 WAYS

$100,000 Fund Was Used For Payment Of Over-Expended Accounts, For Interest Or On Unfinished Paying Work

An explanation of "what became of the hospital money" one of many unanswered questions propounded during the recent municipal campaign, is offered by the firm of Hall and Pentland, which has recently completed the audit of the City's affairs.

It is impossible, it is declared, to determine the exact purpose for which the funds from this $100,000 issue of bonds were expended. The reason is given that the money could have been used for four different purposes which are briefly enumerated as follows:

1. For the projects which show over-expenditures.

2. To meet the deficiencies in cash in the paving projects for which bonds have been duly authorized, but for which only a portion has been sold.

3. To meet the interest expenses incurred by the fund, which could not be prorated against any particular funds.

4. On deposit in a closed bank.

It was further explained that since only a portion of bonds for a paving project may be sold when the work is started and that the remainder cannot be sold until completion of the project, there is the necessity of temporary financing which could have been affected by the use of moneys from the hospital fund or from any other available funds.

The hospital money could have been used in paying certain interest payments against the fund which could not be charged against any particular bond issue or it could have been deposited in closed banks, as the auditors indicated in their report.

The auditors' report says that City records show a balance in the hospital fund of $89,214.58. A study of the auditor's schedules reveals that a brokerage fee of $4,956 was paid on the sale of the hospital bonds and additional commitments ran the expenses to a total of $10,785.42, leaving the balance of $89,214.58. The commitments were listed for the following items and amounts: expenses of bond issue, $2,379.42; capital outlay, $3,800; interest on open market orders, $150.

DODGE'S DENIAL OF COLLUSION AMUSES REMUS

Former Bootlegger King Says Cache Should Contain More Than Million But Only Dodge Knows Amount That Left

"Liberty Box" Likely To Figure In Trial

"George Remus Not Squealer But Is Fighting For Life," Asserts Bootlegger In Cell

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 11.—(INS)—"So Franklin Dodge and my wife were not in collusion," challenged George L. Remus from his cell in the Hamilton county jail today.

"Discovered right in his home town—the cache," was the comment of the former bootlegger king as he anxiously awaited the return of George L. Connor, his secretary who discovered the supposed hiding place of the Remus fortune at Lansing, Mich., yesterday.

"There should be $1,800,000 worth of stocks, bonds and warehouse certificates in that vault, but Dodge only knows how much is left," said Remus when told of the discovery.

"However, it is not the contents of the vault that it is important to me, but to prove that they visited the vault together."

"George Remus will defend George Remus. I am own George Remus the lawyer not Geo. Remus the bootlegger," declared Geo. L. Remus, former bootlegger king in his cell at the Hamilton county jail.

"In this little green box I call my 'liberty box' I have my freedom," he declared, exhibiting a small carrying case filled with legal looking documents, photostatic copies of letters, other papers and notes.

"This little liberty box has a good chance of becoming as famous as the black bag in the tea pot dome scandal."

"I undoubtedly will have to use many of these documents to prove my charges."

Friends and relatives are attempting to influence Remus to engage counsel but the former Chicago lawyer is insistent that he will defend himself.

Ramole Remus, his daughter, is outwardly worried about her father's prospects if he defends himself. "The public and jury may construe my father's action as theatrics," was her comment, prior to her departure for Chicago last night. "I do hope he changes his mind."

Local Ministers To Permit Use Of Hymn, 'Beautiful Isle Of Somewhere' At Funerals

Sanford devotees of the hymn "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" will be interested to know that the clergy of Sanford will permit the use of this song at funerals.

Considerable interest has been expressed concerning the use of this hymn at funerals by its recent prohibition by Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Boston. Cardinal O'Connell declared the hymn to be "frivolous" and "vulgar."

Protestant ministers everywhere are largely in accord with the Cardinal's sentiments, according to press reports.

The clergy of Sanford are unanimous in their opinion that the song is light and sentimental. They all stated, however, that should a layman request the singing of this hymn it would of course be used.

Rev. M. C. Clasy of the All Souls Catholic Church stated that he was certain it had been used in his congregation. According to Rev. Clasy, Cardinal O'Connell's prohibition only applies to the diocese of Boston and that should he have a request for this song at a funeral at All Souls Church that it would be used.

Dr. F. D. King of the First Baptist Church stated to a representative of The Herald, "The criticism of The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere is not new. Long ago it was declared by many to be light and sentimental. I think the song has some 'sweet sentiment' and has therefore an appeal to people in 'distress.'"

Rev. Mortimer Glover, rector of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church, said in an interview "I do not consider The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere either good poetry or good music. It is not included in the church hymnal, however, I should certainly permit its use should it be requested. I do not consider" continued the rector "that the idea contained in this hymn is the Christian idea of either Heaven or death."

Dr. E. D. Brownlee of the First Presbyterian Church stated that while he had not given very much thought to the matter, he certainly would permit the use of the song in question should it be requested by the family of a deceased member of his congregation.

When interviewed, Rev. W. P. Burkman, pastor of the First Methodist Church, expressed himself as not being in favor of the hymn. It appeals chiefly to the emotion," said the Rev. Burkman, "the words are soft and sweet, but do not carry very much thought. Of course, if it should be requested for a funeral, I should certainly permit its use."

WIDOW FURIOUS AT DETENTION ON MURDER CHARGE

Mrs. Lillendahl Reiterated Her Indignance As She Accuses Authorities Of Making Little Effort To Get Real Slayers

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Oct. 11.—(INS)—Mrs. Margaret Lillendahl held without bail in the Atlantic county jail here pending her trial with William Beach on November 23 for the murder of Mrs. Lillendahl's late husband, Dr. William Lillendahl, paced her cell furiously today as she asserted her innocence.

Beach, who with Mrs. Lillendahl pleaded not guilty, was quietly still outside, not making a word.

"It's an outrage," screamed Mrs. Lillendahl. "The authorities haven't made a real effort to get the murderers. Instead they've taken the easiest path and tried to hang it all on two innocent persons."

Mrs. Lillendahl had paced the floor of her cell for hours. She is the only white person in the jail. She does not work, and she is not allowed to see her mother, who lives with relatives in Bridgeport, Conn., unaware of his mother's imprisonment.

Richard Black, special investigator, reported to chief of county detectives Frank Harold that they had exploded at least part of Mrs. Lillendahl's explanation of what she was doing in the lonely station house at the time of the murder.

SEVEN ACTIONS TAKEN BY U.S. IN OIL SCANDALS

Court Steps Designed To End Famous Scandals Of Presi- dent Harding's Regime, Are Taken By Federal Attorneys

Fall And Sinclair's Trial To Begin Soon

End Of Teapot Dome Receiver- ship Is Sought And Early Trial Of Fall, Doherty Asked

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—With the navy's great oil reserve finally restored to it by the Supreme Court's decision in the Teapot Dome Case, government counsel today set in motion a half dozen actions designed to write the final chapters in the famous "oil scandals" of the Harding administration.

These steps include:

1. Government counsel made final preparations for criminal trial of ex-secretary of the interior Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair, on charges of defrauding the government in the Teapot Dome lease, in district supreme court on Oct. 17.

2. The government prepared to move the end of the Teapot Dome receivership in the federal court of Wyoming and to receive an accounting from Sinclair's Mammoth Oil Company for oil taken from Teapot Dome before a receiver was named.

3. Final steps were expected to be taken in district supreme court for the appeal of Harry F. Sinclair from conviction by a jury on charges of contempt of the Senate in refusing to answer questions of the Walsh "oil scandal" committee.

4. Navy department may ask federal court in Wyoming to close down Teapot Dome wells without waiting legal formalities, according to the supreme court's decision, are complied with. Secretary Wilbur reiterated the navy's policy of conserving oil in the ground.

5. President Coolidge is expected to cancel the executive order of the late President Harding, transferring Teapot Dome to ex-Secretary Fall's jurisdiction, in conformity with the Supreme Court decision.

6. Atlee Pomerene, government special counsel, announced that an early trial of Fall and Edward L. Doherty, oil magnate, on bribery charges, growing out of the Elk Hills, Calif. Lease, would be sought.

7. Navy Department officials announced that they were considering a request to congress for authority to trade part of the Elk Hills reserve to private oil companies in order to make the government reserve a solid block and prevent possibility of drainage.

With criminal actions still unsettled, the government today was $22,000,000 richer as the result of the action of Fall in leasing the Elk Hills and Teapot Dome navy oil reserves to the Doherty and Sinclair companies. It was estimated by Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, special counsel, engaged to break the leases.

The government received $24,000,000 in cash from the Elk Hills operations, while in Doherty's hands, together with oil storage tanks built at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, Sinclair's mammoth oil company, officials estimated, would lose $8,000,000 on the Teapot Dome lease.

With the restoration of the reserves, the navy now has enough oil in the ground to last it 185 years on a peacetime basis; it was said. Revised estimates have shown 720,000,000 barrels of oil in the Elk Hills reserve. The estimated production of Teapot Dome, originally placed at 30,000,000 barrels, may be increased as a result of the discovery of a third oil bearing sand in this area, officials said.

One Near Death, 13 Hurt In Gun Battle

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 11.—(INS)—One deputy sheriff is near death and nine other police officers and four civilians are nursing birdshot wounds today, following a pitched battle between law forces and Charles Pinkston, a negro, in the heart of Birmingham late yesterday.

More than five hundred shots were fired, before the negro sought refuge after cutting George Korchoff, sanitary inspector, who came to inspect the ice cream in the negro's place of business.

LAKELAND GIRL READY FOR HOP ACROSS OCEAN

Miss Ruth Elder And George Haldeman Ready For The Take Off This Afternoon

Not Nervous But Excited, Says Girl

Preparations Finished For Trip That Was Halted By Weather

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Perched on the historic runway that started half a dozen men on trans-Atlantic flights—some to glory and some to death—the flaming orange monoplane "American Girl," which was to carry the dauntless Ruth Elder of Lakeland, Florida, and her pilot, Capt. George Haldeman to Paris, was poised for the takeoff her this afternoon.

At 1:30, the ship had been provisioned, final radio tests had been completed, and the two fliers were standing by for a favorable breeze. "We will go this afternoon," Miss Elder said. She was obviously impatient and anxious to start, she had lunched at noon with her pilot and returned immediately to the field, garbed in a multi-hued sweater and gray knickers.

"I'm not nervous, just a little excited," she said. Some distance away from the runway, radio experts had raised a huge kite, equipped with the "American Girl" emergency radio set. From the kite were sent signals which receivers readily picked up in Garden City. The radio was then stored conveniently aboard the plane. The high test gas aboard the "American Girl" is a special grade, refined exclusively for this trip, Miss Elder said.

She talked about the plans nervously and occasionally made a suggestion to workmen and mechanics—was vigorously rebuffed. The red nose of the monoplane and the take-off was expected momentarily.

However, just before 3 P. M. Capt. Haldeman announced that he would wait another hour for a favorable tail breeze, and if the wind was still adverse, he would move the plane down to the opposite end of the field and take off at once.

It is expected that this meeting, which is declared to be one of the most important ever held incident to the Longwood Religious development will be widely attended. Preparations are being made for a large crowd at the meeting at the City Hall tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

With the prominent speakers connected with this movement, many are expected to attend from surrounding towns. Among the speakers to address the Longwood Bible Conference Meeting is Dr. Robert H. Glover, associate pastor of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Cleveland, Ohio, head of the Erie Bible Conference, and pastor of a missionary church.

FEDERAL TROOPS ARE LOOKING FOR FLEEING LEADERS

Mexican Scour Woods For 2 Generals Who Disappeared When Troops Were Routed; Believed To Be In Mountains

LAREDO, Tex., Oct. 11.—(INS)—Mexican federal troops today were scouring the country in the vicinity of the state of Vera Cruz searching for Generals Arunfo Gomez and Hecto Almada, anti-revolutionists, who fled after their forces were routed in a battle with loyal troops.

According to advices from Mexico City, the generals and a handful of supporters were believed to be hiding in the mountains awaiting an opportunity to slip into the United States. Mexican officials declared the capture of Gomez and Almada was only a matter of hours and that their execution probably would follow immediately.

More than a thousand men who formed the Gomez force have scattered in the hills, but are surrounded by the federals, who number approximately 10,000 with 5,000 reserves coming up.

The battle which ended in the rout of the Gomez forces took place Sunday afternoon near Perote, according to word from Mexico City. The Gomez forces were surrounded by federal troops led by general Escobar and during the fighting, the Gomez faction was reported to have lost about 800 men.

The engagement is looked upon by Mexican officials as the final blow in the suppression of the revolutionary movement in the country which began a week ago and which has resulted in scores of executions. Officials along the border were of the opinion that only Gomez's capture was necessary to close the rebel incident completely.

Following the execution of General Serrano, general Gomez loomed as the strongest man in the anti-revolutionist movement. He rallied his supporters in the state of Vera Cruz and prepared to meet federal forces which were sent against him. Several times his execution was reported, but each time he bobbed up near Vera Cruz.

Baby Girl Is Born Today To Princess Astrid Of Belgium

BRUSSELS, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Princess Astrid, wife of the Belgian Crown Prince Leopold, gave birth to a daughter today at 8 A. M. Josephine Charlotte. Her godmother will be the grand duchess of Luxembourg and Albert, king of the Belgians, will be her godfather.

Although the royal child was born at 8 o'clock, the chancellor of the royal palace did not announce the event until an hour and three quarters later.

Princess Ingeborg, mother of Princess Astrid, and Queen Elizabeth, mother of Leopold, remained with two nurses and Dr. Spesse in the room with the young mother. Leopold was in an adjoining room. King Albert was absent in France.

For 15 days the royal infant will occupy the "Royal Castle," after that another will be provided.

All the city was decorated with flags, and the streets were filled with holiday crowds, recalling the wedding day of Leopold and Astrid. When a salvo of 25 guns proclaimed the birth of a princess, a large crowd gathered in front of the Royal Palace and filed inside to inscribe their congratulations in the book provided for that purpose.

British Girl Swims Channel In 13 Hours And 10 Minutes To Break Old Record

Carey and Capt. Adams, of the Royal navy, who accompanied the swimmer in a boat finally settled the conflicting reports by announcing that Miss McLennan entered the water at 7:40 o'clock last night and landed at Folkestone at 8:50 o'clock this morning.

Miss McLennan told International News Service that the water was very cold and that her feet and legs became numb at one time. She said she used the breast and backstroke during the greater part of the swim.

The old record for women was held by Gertrude Ederie, of New York, who swam the channel in 14 hours and 34 minutes.

There was considerable confusion about Miss McLennan's time, but it was reported as to the time of the swim.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY
THE UNSEARCHABLE.—O Lord, how great are Thy works and Thy thoughts are very deep.

O Hills, My Hills—
Those who were dropped in plain or valley
Are never wholly at heart's ease;

When the sky roars over the last bent trees.
They scuttle for walls and a hunt's stooped ceiling.

O hills, my hills, it is you I shield me
And quietly fold me again to your breast.

When my heart is done at last with the valley,
And I look to the hilly heights for rest.

Bright at the end of a long tired groping
The hour for sleeping, and you and the bed,

With the sun-wide green of the trees to cover
Over and over the quiet head.

If you "choose to run" for president in Mexico, you are likely to be assassinated for your trouble.

Do not understand it, Jacksonville, "out on the dog" in its reception to Col. Charles Lindbergh.

No, it's not another grave that they are digging in front of our office. The City is just laying some stone markers.

Bothway's political opponents are making capital of his proposed loss of two million dollars to the State Highway Department.

Will the city have to make good those unauthorized securities held by the Chase National Bank? Not if a stiff legal fight will prevent it.

The Florida Gators will meet the Kentucky Wildcats next Saturday at Jacksonville. Wildcats make excellent meat for hungry gators.

Florida Methodists have a right to be proud of the new girls' dormitory which has just been completed at the orange at Benson Springs.

Husbands who value their lives will steer clear of New Jersey. The climate up there doesn't seem to be of the kind that makes wives love their husbands more.

It appears that there were so many places that the hospital money had been expended that the mayor never knew exactly what the mayor did do with it.

Mr. Amos had closed the Bank when it should have been closed, those unauthorized securities would have never been used to borrow money to keep the institution operating.

The Herald is grateful to City Manager W. B. Williams and his assistants for their courtesy in extending the use of benches for baseball fans who attended the baseball matinee last week.

James M. Carson of Miami is waging a great fight to keep the race track operators from again violating the laws of Florida by holding races here this winter.

The navy advocates want to build at least two hundred and fifty million on cruisers and submarines. That amount of money will be used for schools and hospitals in the country.—Sanford Herald.

And it might save the necessities of a lot of hospitals and nursing homes.—Palm Beach Post.

He Helped To Enforce The Law

The little town of Monticello, Georgia, several days ago took occasion to honor Burney Key, an old negro of many years' residence. At a mass meeting of the citizens at the court house, Key was placed in the judge's chair while his white neighbors extolled him for his exemplary citizenship.

While poses scored the woods for the fiend. Burney Key went about the same task in his own way. He knew the accused and knew his habits. He was certain he knew where to locate his man and he set out to get him.

The protection, however, which Key gave Clark was in his cellar, to which he held the key, and in front of which he sat with his gun until the sheriff arrived in response to a summons which Key had sent by a friend.

Through all the praises showered upon him, Key sat at his high place in the court room protesting that he did not deserve all the words of commendation. But we believe he did. Burney Key is a credit to his race.

If all of us were as anxious to see the law enforced as was Burney Key we would have fewer violations. We have too many people closing one eye and winking the other at flagrant violations.

Is It Constitutional?

The constitutionality of the one-cent additional gasoline tax recently imposed on the state of Florida by the legislature has become a question for widespread discussion. The debate has received added impetus from a declaration by Judge Robles of Hillsborough county.

It was argued at the time of the enactment of the one-cent gasoline tax for school purposes that it would stand the test of the courts, because school funds could not be legally raised in that way.

Able lawyers declare that the decision of Judge Robles would apply equal force to this tax. The methods of raising school revenues are clearly defined by law and court decisions, and a gasoline tax is not one of them.

We are not prepared to say whether or not extra tax is constitutional but The Herald stated at the time of its enactment and reiterated now that it was an extremely unwise piece of legislation. It came at a time when the state was in the midst of a retrenchment period when a tax levied in this manner was an added hardship.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE ORLANDO REPORTER-STAR

That the Reporter-Star is a good advertising medium was again shown by the reproduction of the little leaflet gotten out by the Florida Press on "Let's Swap."

That leaflet appeared in an editorial in the Reporter-Star with credit given to the Water Rose office, and immediately we had a visit from Bob Bly, of the Florida Press, insisting that the joke was on us.

But how are ordinary editors going to know that there are two clever publicity writers in one family and keep so much alike and write so much alike?

The philosophy of the leaflet is so good, that we are glad of the opportunity of calling attention to it the second time. We admit, however, that we should have had sense enough to know that that philosophy didn't apply particularly to Walter Rose organization.

A LESSON IN TUNNEY'S RECOVERY PUNTA GORDA HERALD

Gene Tunney says he learned something from the knockdown administered by the old slugger Jack Dempsey. It was the first time Gene had been knocked off his feet until he became champion of the world.

Many a man gets his worst jolt just as he thinks he is sitting on top of the world. Confidence, backed up by aggressiveness, brings success in any line of work, but when the goal reached the momentum of years of confidence can only lead to overconfidence.

Florida and Punta Gorda thought they were sitting on top of the boom two years ago. But our defence against the binder boys and swindlers that crowded in with the buyers and developers was weak and we took a tumble.

body got up and started plugging away, dazed and financially weak, but still game. The seventh round is now over and we have retained our title as champion state of the world for health and happiness.

As Brisbane Sees It

Monkey-Super-Men. This Is Fire Week. The Richest Don't Shoot. Industry and Science.

PROFESSOR VORONOFF HAS made old men seem younger with the help of monkey glands, has made science take him seriously.

Now he proposes to create super-men, such as Nietzsche dreamed of, by using animal glands on young children of exceptional talent. He believes that he will create geniuses such as earth never saw, in the children thus treated.

ALSO A RACE of super-men is just what the world does not want. Tall men like short women, thin women admire fat men, genius marries mediocrity, all proof that nature wants us to march along side by side about even, not a few ahead of the others, or riding on the backs of inferiors.

THIS IS FIRE prevention week. Fire destroys more than five hundred million of property yearly. Carelessness with matches, cigarettes, imperfect electric wiring, etc., causes more than $300,000,000 of the loss.

LAWS SHOULD DISCOURAGE carelessness. Impunity for good behavior nonsense, should punish incendiarism. Property owners insure for full value or more, and then neglect fire precautions.

PREMIER BALDWIN SAYS Britain and America will never fight. They may not always agree, but they will thresh out differences or differ like friends and gentlemen.

IN ADDITION, BRITAIN and America have all they want and more than they want. Why should they fight? Ford, Rockefeller, Baker, Mellon, are the four richest men in the world.

GREAT INDUSTRIES NOT content with gigantic production work constantly to produce better methods of which the public gets the benefit. Standard Oil spends on research work, producing no immediate profit, more money every year than Mr. Rockefeller had when he was already considered a very rich man.

THE TUBE WORKS department of United States Steel making annually thousands of miles of steel and iron pipe for every conceivable purpose, spends large sums on the fight against corrosion, studying, testing methods for protecting iron against rust and destruction by chemicals in the ground.

It costs millions to renew pipe lines for the great oil companies every year. Find a way to protect iron from rust as copper protects itself and you will save for this country enough to pay the national debt in 20 years.

The Du Pont de Nemours Company, which leads in important chemical research, announces discovery of a new chemical called "nozone" that protects rubber from deterioration through exposure to air.

Rubber loses its elasticity, becoming brittle and worthless because of oxygen's effect upon the rubber. First the chemists proved that oxygen really does the damage. Now they announce a chemical discovery an "anti-oxidant" that will make all rubber, from tires to top balloons and overshoes last longer.

A slight addition to the rubber of a "negative catalyst substance" gives results that will save millions in the last 27 years men have learned before, in all their hundreds of thousands of thousands of years on earth. There is no limit to knowledge, it is only beginning.

IN GERMANY, SENTIMENT against capital punishment is strong. One hundred legal specialists to legislate against "the futile cruelty" of taking human life. Murderers in Germany are beheaded, in the old style, by hand, not by machinery, as in France.

IF THE HEADSMAN, with axe or sword disdains intelligent Germans, how much should Americans be ashamed of their electric chair with science doing the hangman's work.

A nation intelligent enough to harness lightning should be too decent to use it killing miserable, often mentally irresponsible human beings.

BONES OF EARLY MAN BROUGHT TO THIS CONTINENT

Dr. George L. Collie, Famous Anthropologist, Brings Back Bones Which He Discovered in British Africa, Algeria

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Bones believed to be those of the earliest members of the human race, of persons who inhabited the earth between 20,000 and 25,000 years ago have been brought to this country.

They have arrived as part of the discoveries made by Dr. George L. Collie, famous anthropologist, Belmont College professor.

From the Kenya Colony in what was formerly British East Africa and Algeria, the bones have been brought here in hopes that they will throw important light on the earliest of humans.

Chief among the collection is a skull, unearthed in a stone age deposit at Mechtah-el-Abi, Algeria, which the best authorities agree is approximately 25,000 years old and convincing proof of the long-maintained theory of many scientists that Africa and not Asia, was man's first home.

Found Seven Skulls
The Kenya discovery, Dr. Collie reports, was made by L. S. Leakey, leading the Cutler-Dinosaur expedition at Tananganyika. During six weeks of excavating this expedition unearthed seven skulls at Nakuru in a stone age deposit. A complete human skeleton, that of a man six feet tall, buried six feet under ground, with more than 100 stone tools beside it, also was uncovered.

Further details concerning the discoveries are being withheld at present at the request of Mr. Leakey, pending official reports to be made late this fall. Dr. Collie, however, stresses the importance of the find because of the apparent inexhaustible supply of these remains and also the fact that traces of dinosaurs were found.

Although Dr. Collie had not intended to engage further in personally searching the sources of the early man in Africa, he announces that he probably will return to assist the Kenya workers.

"The skull I bring with me is entirely different from any other of the Aurignacian period. I have never seen," Dr. Collie said upon his arrival from Africa. "It was found by M. A. Debruge, our French colleague, of Constantine, Algeria, who gave most grudging permission for the bringing of the skull to this country. It is held as priceless."

"After I had gone to Algeria Debruge was on the point of refusing to allow the skull out of his possession and only after the most ardent persuasion was I able to change his mind."

Will Return Skull
The skull must be returned to Algeria in February. Between now and the time for its return it will be examined by leading anthropologists in the middle west, including Dr. Fay Cooper Cole, of the University of Chicago and Professor K. Boeser, noted paleontologist of the same institution.

It is the most perfect specimen of paleolithic skulls ever found according to Dr. Collie and the absence of Negroid characteristics makes it all the more interesting he said. Although men of that period seem to have lived mostly on snails, there is ample evidence that the Sahara desert was not then the formidable area that it is now and that Northern Africa abounded in game.

"This skull, Dr. Collie said, has a tremendous development of the glabella, the section of the skull above the nose, but the eye ridges are low. He had a large face with an overdeveloped jawbone apparently for the insertion of huge muscles. It scarcely seems to be that of a man content on snails, but a hunter of big game in the days when it abounded North of the Sahara."

Human Cancer On Decrease, Asserts Coolidge's Doctor

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Major James F. Coupal, the White House physician contributes an article in the September issue of the American journal of surgery, out today, in which he asserts human cancer is on the decrease.

"Just what the absolute increase amounts to is difficult to determine," he writes. "The figures advanced by the various authorities differ in so far as they have been compiled from different sources and angles of approach."

The highest percentages of increase have been derived from the census mortality; the lowest have usually been obtained from the clinical, biopsy, and post-mortem data.

Mexican Federal Forces Are Taking Steps To Stamp Out Fire Of Present Rebellion

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 11 (INS)—With the execution of more than three score of revolutionists reported from different sections of Mexico, federal forces at Nogales, Sonora, today launched concerted efforts to stamp out the fire of rebellion that has kindled during the past two weeks.

General Arnulfo R. Gomez, presidential candidate and leader of the revolution since the killing of his co-worker General Francisco Serrano, is reported to have established himself with four thousand men on garrison near Perote, state of Vera Cruz. Here in an ancient citadel the insurgent leader is said to be endeavoring to brace a diminishing morale for a last stand against the troops representing the Calles government. It is conjectured here that Gomez will eventually clash with the federal forces if possible and may seek safety in flight.

Reports reaching here that four generals of the Carranza regime have aligned with the Gomez forces in Durango state are not viewed as of special military significance by military leaders at Nogales, Sonora.

Alexander Korda Revives Memories In "Stolen Bride"

For all those who recall the dear, dear days when Prohibition was just a bogey-man used to frighten little children, there are scenes of tender memory in "The Stolen Bride," First National's production starring Billie Dove which comes to the Milne Theatre today.

A wine cellar, supposedly a part of a grand, old castle in Hungary, is one of the unusual settings which appears in the picture and in designing and decorating it, Alexander Korda, the director, Carey Wilson, the producer, and their aides spent an amount of time and care hardly compatible with the importance of the sequence in the completed picture.

The wine-room towers to a high ceiling, and on four sides is covered with great racks, each space just large enough for one bottle. On the floor and in convenient alcoves are barrels, demi-johns, vats, jugs, hogheads, cases, all labelled with names and trademarks which are now mere memories as far as America is concerned.

In support of the story in "The Stolen Bride" is an unusually large cast headed by Lloyd Hughes, Lilyan Tashan, Armand Kalis, Cleve Moore, Frank Beal, Winston Miller, Bert Sproutte and others.

POLICE TRIALS OPEN

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 11.—(INS)—Trial for their jobs was started today for 38 police officers suspended in connection with the graft investigation of the John Bellomoni payoff book. The first to be tried by a police board were three sergeants whose hearings were being held today.

Ten days will be consumed in the trials as the suspended men have asked to be tried separately. Newspaper men will be allowed to cover the hearings.

Individuals reaching toward the end of the period covered, as shown by the decrease in the upper age groups, would tend, the writer stated, to produce a false decrease in the total percentage increase of cancer.

Strategic Point Is Reported Captured By Chang's Soldiers

PEKING, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Headquarters of the Chang-Tso-Lin forces here today announced the capture of Shih-Chiach-Wang, the eastern terminus of the Shansi forces 60 miles down the railway within 24 hours.

Referring to the new offensive, a spokesman for Chang said: "Our successful offensive once again renders North China free from the Bolshevik menace."

He added that the Peking forces now plan to disregard Kalgan and move westward instead to attack Tatung.

Mussolini Scheme Of Muzzling Radio May Cause Trouble

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Premier Mussolini's plan to give Italian radio listeners bed-time stories of at calls after 10 o'clock might result in real international complications, it was learned today at the world radiotelegraph convention.

For the protection of their morals Italian radio listeners should be in bed at ten o'clock, instead of hearing "contaminating" jazz music, according to Mussolini.

To meet the situation the Premier has announced that he will close Italian stations at the self-ordained bed-time hour. By broadcasting powerful electric waves at ten, Mussolini proposes to blot out receptions from French and other European stations, forcing the Italian listeners to go to bed in disgust.

Experts at the world convention, however, pointed out that Mussolini may be an iron-man in Italy but that if his plan upsets radio communication and reception in other European countries he may have a little problem of international relations to solve.

The jazz-destroying waves proposed by the Premier cannot be confined to Italy, according to experts. If sufficiently powerful impulses were broadcast reception in nearby countries and possibly all of Europe might suffer, as well as sea signals, transmitted on frequencies close to the broadcast bands.

The radio convention of 1912, ratified by the Italian government, provided that "the working of radio stations shall be organized so far as possible, in such a manner, as not to disturb the service of other stations."

Here's "Slip" Madigan, coach of the St. Mary's eleven that gave Stanford a 14-0 defeat early in October. Madigan says it didn't surprise him in the least when his boys beat Pop Warner's boys. Both were undefeated last year.
