Governor To Pick One This Week

Nine Now Seek Elections Supervisor Post

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

There are now nine candidates seeking to succeed 31-year veteran Seminole County Supervisor of Elections Camilla Bruce when her resignation becomes effective March 1.

Frank Alvarez, Gov. Bob Graham's deputy director for appointments, said he expects the governor to make a choice "I think this week would be a reasonable time," Alvarez

The two newest candidates are:

-Betty Flippen, 42, administrative assistant to County Librarian Jean Rhein, and

-Bonnie Bray, city clerk and administrative assistant in the city government of Apopka.

The others who submitted resumes for consideration in the appointment earlier are:

Sandra S. Goard, office manager for Mrs. Bruce. Mrs. Goard, 38, has been employed by the county for the past nine years, first in the county commission office from Nov. 1, 1973, until Oct. 1, 1977. She then accepted a position with Mrs. Bruce and has since been named office manager in the elections

-Gene Duffey, a resident of the unincorporated area near Longwood, who ran unsuccessfully for the Democratic nomination for clerk of the circuit court in 1980.

-Homer Sewell III, a real estate broker and an admirer of President Abraham Lincoln, who dresses up like the late president and gives lectures to public school students and -Frankie Godwin, 35, an aide to Sen. George Stuart, D-

-Pat Keough, 48, a deputy in Orange County Supervisor of Elections Betty Carter's office.

-Kathryn "Kit" Pepper, 26, who is an Independent public relations consultant, President of the Orange County Young Democrats and a member of the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee.

-Former Oviedo Councilman Steve West, who was elected to a two-year term in September 1980, but resigned before his term was up.

All are registered Democrats, except Mrs. Galwin and Mrs. Bruce, 68, said recently that Mrs. Goard now knows more about election laws than she does. She has been lobbying heavily for her assistant's appointment to the office.

Mrs. Bruce accepted the office of elections supervisor in 1931 when she was appointed by Gov. Fuller Warren after the resignation of Lourine Messinger. The mother of three children, Mrs. Bruce had returned to Seminole County after working for a time for the FBI in Washington, D.C. She was subsequently elected eight times.

Alvarez said when he presents the candidates' resumes to Graham next week, he also will present a tabulation of the supportive letters and telephone calls received by the governor's office for each of the candidates.

Mrs. Bruce, a state certified elections supervisor, is paid $36,819 annually. The new apps intee will be paid $34,819 annually until certified.

PENNEY CENTER

J.C. Penney Co.'s new credit office in Sabal Center, which will handle billings for its 6 million customers in the Eastern United States, today began accepting applicants for employment. According to the center's manager Terry Allen, exterior work is completed on the 68,000-square-foot building and interior work will be 95 percent complete within a week. The administrative staff already has moved into the new building, which is at 161 Wekiva Springs Road. The center will open March 23 with a limited force and by April 7 will have a staff of 100 persons. The center operation will expand further in July 1983 and by March 1984, when there will be 250-300 employees working there. Several managers and supervisors were transferred here. But 90 percent of the employees will be hired locally, Allen said.

Boater Fees For New Park Opposed

Seminole County's Parks and Recreation Advisory Board has expressed opposition to the use of $150,000 in state funds to buy land for a linear park near Paola.

The advisory board, which oversees programs and facilities at Seminole County parks, wrote a letter to county commissioners opposing the use of state boater improvement funds for the purchase.

Seminole County received $150,000 from the state Department of Natural Resources' fund to establish a linear park using the old Tavares Branch right-ofway. The right-of-way parallels State Road 46 west of Sanford and runs to the Wekiva River.

The park, which will be largely undeveloped, will be about three miles long and about 100 feet wide. It will contain hiking trails and a canoe launching facility. The launch will be accessible only to people carrying their craft the three miles to the river. But Mike Hattaway, former chairman of the advisory committee, said today the boater improvement funds "are not the proper source for funding a primarily inland park." The funds, collected from boat registrations and ramp fees, "could be best spent to improve boating areas," Hattaway said.

Hattaway said the committee is not opposed to the county establishing the park, only to using the boater fees for the purchase.

He said the county has enough boating-related needs on which to spend the money without using it for other things.

"Any time you're growing like Seminole County is you need to constantly upgrade your facilities," he

John Percy, director of public services and development, said the committee's concern was about depleting the available boater improvement

"The money would continue to come in," he said. "The board needed a source to front end construction of the park."

Percy added that commissioners plan to replace the funds over the next several years.

A letter from County Commission Chalrman Sandra Glenn to the advisory committee reaffirmed that commitment.

Commissioners are considering improvements to several of the county's "passive" parks. Those parks have a boat ramp and a picnic table or two and do not have a high intensity use, Percy said.

On Move Expected Late February Now

Results Of UCF Study

By MICHEAL BEHA Herald Staff Writer

A report on the feasibility of moving the Central Florida Zoo from near Sanford to Orlando will not be released until the end of February, the University of Central Florida professor in charge of the report said today. Dr. Peter Gillette of UCF's Dick Pope Center for Tourism said the study "is taking longer than we anticipated." The report, evaluating the feasibility of moving the zoo from its current nome on 21 acres near Sanford to Turkey Lake Park in Orlando, was originally scheduled to be given to the zoo's board of directors on Jan. 15. That date was pushed back a month and now has been delayed for at least another two weeks.

Gillette said he has made trips to several zoos around the country to gather information for the report, funded by Orlando, Orange County and the Dr. P. Phillips Foundation. He declined to reveal any contents that may be in

"I'm doing this as an extra assignment in addition to my regular teaching duties," he said explaining the delays. "I'm not getting any extra money for this. That's true of everyone working on it."

Newman Brock, zoo board president, said he had hoped to receive the report prior to a board meeting, which was held Saturday.

Brock insisted the board is not looking for a new home for the zoo. He said the report "is something that came to us. We felt obligated to

Zoo board members have complained that the zoo's present location presents a number of problems for development. Because it is surrounded by swamp much of the area is unsulted for use in zoo exhibits.

But if the area is developed it will be expensive. The zoo received about $100,000 in donations in 1982. That money already is pledged to setting up a reptile house and hooved animal exhibit.

Meanwhile, the maintenance of facilities in the county park adjacent to the zoo, which are the responsibility of the zoo, is not being done. Zoo Director Al Rozon recently asked Seminole County commissioners for about $94,000 to upgrade a road leading into the zoo, repair a termite-infested picnic shelter and replace rotting planks in a nature trail. Commissioners determined the repairs could be made for less than $50,000 but decided to close the nature trail and the piculc shelter until the report is given to the zoo board. Commissioners promised to make repairs to the access road but not the extensive repairs

Rozon had sought. Brock said he "doesn't agree" with the board's decision to delay the repairs but can see why the decision was made. He reemphasized that the zoo board is not looking to move the zoo. Even if the report suggests the zoo should move, the board could decide to keep the zoo where it is.

Officials To Decide How To Spend Savings

City Of Sanford Saving At The Pump

Herald Staff Writer

The reduction in the pump prices of gasoline and diesel fuel will save the city of Sanford some $78,000 during the remaining seven months of the 1982-83 fiscal year, if prices remain down. City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowies is slated to tell the Sanford City Commission about the possible savings at a 7 p.m. meeting today at city hali, 300 N. Park Ave.

He will suggest the prospective savings be transferred to the commission's contingency account to pay for unbudgeted emergencies or other special problems that may come up during the year. In other business, the commission is scheduled to consider a notice from the Seminole County Commission that it intends to exercise its option to buy the 1917 vintage former post office building and current library at E. First Street and Palmetto Avenue from the city.

In addition, the commission is expected to make a decision on County Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather's request for more time to develop the 8.5-acre tract formerly owned by the city behind the Evening Herald Building and fronting on the Lake Monroe lakefront.

A STEEL STEEL

Knowles said the city's general government budget will save $50,450; the refuse department $15,976 and the utility department $11,594 in gasoline and diesel fuel purchases if prices for the petroleum products remains down.

If the county is to be allowed to exercise its option to purchase the library building for $10, Knowles will warn commissioners that the agreement must be timed to pass by April

Under the proposed agreement, the county will continue using the building for a library until April 17, 2003, or the property will revert to the city.

The county also has the option to purchase the property outright. In June 1961, the commission placed the value of $136,250 on the property.

If the value cannot be agreed upon, it is to be established by a board of three property appraisers. Knowles has suggested the commission refer the matter to City Attorney Bill Colbert for the proper procedure the city should follow in the agreement.

The city acquired the property from the federal government as surplus 20 years ago.

Feather asked the City Commission three weeks ago to permit modification of the agreement he has with the city that requires that the multi-million-dollar life-care center he proposes to build on the tract begin construction by March 1 of

The property was purchased from the city for $117,000 by an Altamonte Springa developer and acquired by Feather nine months ago. The agreement requires construction to begin by March 1 or gives the city the right to repurchase the land.

Feather asked the city to defer the construction date to March 1, 1964, with the city agreeing to an additional delay to Sept. 1, 1984, if Feather pays $5,000.

Feather, represented by Orlando attorney Edgerton van den Berg, also said if development of at least 240 apartment units is not completed by Dec. 31, 1986, he will pay the city an additional $10,000 on Feb. 1, 1987.

The county commissioner also asked the city to consider removing the city's right to repurchase the property from Feather if development deadlines aren't met.

Feather said it is difficult to obtain financing for his project with him owning the land but the city controlling it.

Jobs Bill In Congress' Hands, President Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) - As far as President Reagan is concerned, the burden is on Democratic congressional leaders to take the next step toward passage of an emergency jobs bill for which both sides will scramble to take credit.

Reagan, according to the official White House line, did his part in sending a high-level delegation to Capitol Hill last Thursday to talk about jobs programs with members of the House Democratic leadership.

What they offered was a $4.3 billion package that would go at least part way toward meeting the congressional demands for some form of short-term relief for unemployment.

The centerpiece of Reagan's proposal is the acceleration of selected federal construction projects, with emphasis on those in areas of worst unemployment, that had been scheduled to begin later this year and in fiscal 1984, which begins Oct. 1.

EPA Probe Heats Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)-Several House panels looking into different aspects of the Environmental Protection Agency continue hearings this week, with fired EPA official Rite Lavelle a potential star witness.

In addition, negotiations between an chairman seeking seath o EPA documents and the administration, aimed at avoiding further contempt action against EPA chief Anne Gorsuch, will continue. Mrs. Gorsuch, citing executive privilege and instructions from President Reagan, has refused to turn over the documents. The House voted her in contempt of Congress Dec. 16.

Cupid On Snowshoes

Cupid will not be snowed out in some parts of the blizzard-stricken Northeast. Officials in Massachusetts, Maryland and New York City are extending Valentines Day to Valentine's Week, primarily to help flower sales.

With snow preventing deliveries and shopping trips, Florists' Transworld Delivery said Sunday it wants other governors in the Northeast to do the same.

FTD Executive Vice President William Maas said the move would "help Cupid and florists and other gift retailers who have a sizable investment at stake."

'Squeal Rule' Fight Goes To Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Family planning groups hope a federal judge will rule against the administration's proposal to require federally funded clinics to tell parents if their teenage daughers are given birtl. control

Planned Parenthood and the National Family Planning and Reproductive privacy. Health Association were going to court today to ask U.S. District Judge Thomas Flannery to stop the government from imposing the new regulation Feb. 25.

The regulation, called the "squeal rule" by critics, would require the nation's 5,000 federally funded clinics to notify parents in writing when teenage

Parenthood, said the regulation violates a teenagers' constitutional right to "Our main argument is that the regulations are illegal," Ms. Buc said in a telephone interview. "Unless enjoined, teenagers will suffer irreparable injury ... and wind up getting pregnant."

She said the regulation, which potentially affects more than 400,000 teenage girls, makes no sense and "will girls age 17 or under are prescribed birth do nothing to encourage good family

The Justice Department, however, told Flannery in legal papers filed Feb. 4 the The family planning groups seek a regulation is legal and in line with the intent of Congress.

It said the regulation does not interfere with any constitutional "right of a teenage girl to obtain contraceptives, but provides only a condition for receiving a federally funded service."

"Because the regulations are intended to further parental involvement in the area of prescription contraceptives ... this court must weigh the interests of parents in the well-being of their children against the objections of those who object to the notification requirement," said the department's 77-page brief.

Plane Crashes Kill 3

United Press International

A pair of weekend airplane crashes in Central Florida claimed the lives of at least three people, authorities said.

One man was killed and two others seriously injured Sunday afternoon when a twin-engine turboprop aircraft ran off the runway during an attempted takeoff at Gilbert Field in Winter Haven, airport officials said.

The identity of the man was not released. while authorities tried to contact relatives. The injured were identified as Henry Espinoza, 29, of Florida City, and Frank Newball, 47, of Miami. Both were listed in serious condition at Winter Haven Hospital. There were no other passengers on the 11-seat aircraft. In eastern Lake County Saturday, two Florida men died when their single-engine plane crashed shortly after takeoff, officials

Richard Bishop, 35, of Ocala, and Fred Ward, 39, of McIntosh, were killed instantly, said a spokeswoman for the Lake County Sheriff's Department.

The plane took off from an airstrip at Frank's Farm in rainy, windy weather, deputies said. The aircraft crashed into muckland minutes later just east of Astatula.

Visibility was an estimated two miles at the time of the crash, said a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration in Atlanta. In Winter Haven, the twin-engine plane attempted takeoff shortly before 3 p.m. Sunday. A witness said the aircraft never left the ground, ran off the airstrip and crashed into a ditch about 600 feet beyond the runway.

"It didn't look like it was producing full power and the pilot tried to abort too late," said Bob Welborn, an airport employee.

The plane burst into flames when it hit the ditch. The two men who were injured suffered minor burns among their multiple injuries, said a spokeswoman at Winter Haven

Light rain was falling at the time of the crash. Officials said they did not know the plane's destination.

The FAA is investigating both crashes.

Reward Offered In Record $11 Million Gold Robbery

NORTH MIAMI (UPI) - Lloyds of London is offering a $100,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of two masked robbers who pulled off one of the largest gold heists in United States history.

Harold Smith, an adjuster for the international insurance firm, said the 900-pound stockpile of gold bars, sheets and wire stolen from a jewelry company's warehouse last week is worth $11 million. The new estimate, announced by Smith during the weekend, is at least $2 million more than originally estimated.

Pricetag For School Repairs $25 Billion

NEW YORK (UPI) - The nation's public school buildings are in "critical disrepair" and urgently need $25 billion worth of maintenance and capital improvements, a report said Saturday.

'We need assistance from the federal governs meet this critical need," said the joint report by the American Association of School Administrators, the Council of Great City Schools and the National School Boards Association.

Saying many school buildings are worn-out, shabby and unsafe, the report pointed out that construction and repair needs were highest in areas where unemployment is highest, "providing an ideal mesh between building needs and employment needs."

The report, "The Maintenance Gap: Deferred Repair and Renovation in the Nation's Elementary and Secondary Schools," was distributed Friday to U.S. representatives and senators.

It listed amounts needed to make repairs in each of 100 school systems, including innercity, suburban and rural. The survey was only representative; there are more than

How Can You Help The Unemployed?

The best way to help the 12 million unemployed is to get our economy going again as soon as possible. That means reducing the federal budget deficit and the high interest rates which are paralyzing industry.

An economic recovery would mean that idle factories would reopen, housing and construction would return to normal activity, service industries would flourish again and permanent jobs would open up for those seeking employment.

The worst way to help the jobless would be for the Congress to try to legislate temporary public service jobs for them, borrowing more money in order to pay for the jobs programs and plunging the federal budget even deeper into the red. That would only postpone and weaken the recovery that we all are waiting for.

There may be a middle way. A modest federal jobs program may be feasible. It should not add to the budget deficit. Funds for the program could be found by cutting other programs now in the budget, either civilian or military. Or a new tax revenue source could be found, as was done when the gasoline tax was raised recently in order to pay for a highway maintenance jobs program.

A majority of working Americans would probably be willing to defer the third year of their scheduled income tax cuts in order to provide some relief for those hurt hardest in the current recession, which has caused more Americans to lose their jobs than at any time since the Great Depression.

Recurring unemployment is the cruelest aspect of our capitalistic system, and as such is a common subject for Soviet propagandists. But some of the unemployment results from structural changes in the economy. The pain is no less real, but a real purpose is served when inefficient factories shut down in one region of the country or sector of the economy. Their workers are forced to move to a new job in another region or sector. where their labor will be more productive. This is the kind of dynamic change dictated by the free market which has made our economy the most efficient and productive on earth.

Some of the unemployment is cyclical, not structural. No effective way has been found to modulate the ups and downs of a free economy. The communists have found a way, but their way has produced some of the most dreadful and disappointing economies in the world. No consumer in his right mind would ever choose their way. A visit to a single grocery store in the Soviet Union is enough to disabuse the most naive ob-

Which leaves us with 12 million unemployed, an unemployment rate of nearly 11 percent continuing to rise and little prospect of an improvement during 1983.

The unemployment rate is less than half the peak of 1933, when we had 12 million unemployed out of a population numbering about half of our present population. And now more than half of the unemployed are in households with at least one working member. Today more than half of married women work-and in 1933 only one in 10 was employed. That fact further reduces the impact of today's unemployment rate when compared with 1933.

The worst statistic is the high rate of unemployment for minority youth just entering the labor market. Any federal jobs program should focus on them.

Now, despite the deepening unemployment, the federal deficit has become a bigger economic burden. Any federal jobs program must pay for itself by compensating budget cuts or revenue increases.

Members of the Seminole County Legislative delegation who were absent were: state Sen. Richard Langley of Clermont and Toni Jennings of Orlando and state Rep. Tom Drage of Orlando.

Law enforcement officials there, in addition to Polk were: Jim York, chief counsel for the Florida Sheriff's Association, Winter Park Police Chief Ray Beary, Winter Springs Chief John Govoruhk, Longwood Chief Greg Manning, Orlando Chief Bill Kolesar; Walter Israel of the state Police Standards Council; Edgewater Chief Stanley Lewis; Deputy Chief Joe Taylor of Apopka; Ron Seacrest, chief of security at the University of Central Florida; Larry Schultz,

ANTHONY HARRIGAN Maine's Comeback Foreseen

By DONNA ESTES

Many conservatives are enthused about socalled enterprise zones. The concept of the enterprise zone involves freedom from some of the regulatory red tape and taxation that makes it difficult for new businesses to get started. It is a flawed concept, however, for only specially designated areas would enjoy the opportunities that all enterprises should enjoy. It amounts to a special privilege for selected businesses.

The market economy offers much more promise in the long run. The rapid changeover to computer capitalism is creating all sorts of new business opportunities, including opportunities for revival of areas long in economic decline.

A friend of mine, who is a shrewd investor, is betting on the State of Maine. To most people, that is an unlikely area for growth.

This beautiful Northeastern state, once a center of maritime activity, has been going downhill for years. Its principal asset is tourism in the summer months. The climate is forbidding, and high energy costs have worked against the revival of Maine's handsome old towns.

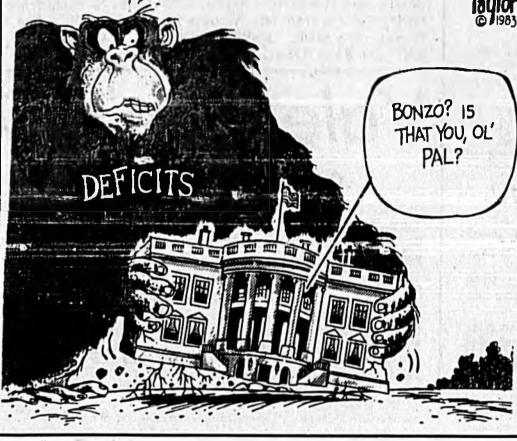

My investor friend sees much change in the future. He points out that the Boston area is the hub of high-tech businesses in the Eastern half of the country. This area is doing very well, despite the recession. Many observers of the business scene believe that the Boston area will become increasingly prosperous in the 1980s and 1990s. Among other things, the city will provide a show case center for high technology research and development.

As commercial rents rise in the Boston area, computer-related industries may look to areas not distant from the New England metropolis. It may well be that Maine will attract many companies that want to relocate. The affluent, sophisticated types associated with the computer industry are likely to enjoy what Maine has to offer-a beautiful setting, freedom from urban crowding and social pressures, a low crime rate, and inexpensive real estate.

If this hunch is correct, the State of Maine will regain much of the prosperity that it enjoyed in the 19th century when shipbuilding, coastal shipping, and forest industries provided a solid base for the good life. Already, the city of Portland has undergone an attractive restoration.

Thus, the economy of New England could enjoy a major boost-all without government subsidy or special privilege.

GOP Loses Remap Battle

LOS ANGELES (NEA)-California Republicans thought they'd put at least one major problem behind them in 1982.

In 1981, the Democrat-controlled state legislature pushed through a remap of California's legislative districts, which was required after the 1980 Census showed that the state was entitled to two new seats in the House of Representatives.

Since this population growth occurred in the suburbs-which are Republican territorythe Gop assumed that the two new seats would be theirs. But Democratic Rep. Phil Burton drew up an outrageously gerrymandered new set of district: not only did the plan protect all incumbent Democrats, but the two new districts received solid Democratic majorities, while the old districts held by three incumbent Republicans were all but dissolved.

In fact, in last November's election, all five of these districts—the two new districts and the three Republican-elected liberal Democrats by wide margins.

But the California state GOP fought back. Last summer, it forced onto the ballot a statewide referendum on the Burton plan. The Gop went all out, spent heavily and convinced 62 percent of the voters that the Burton plan was unfair.

The plan was thrown out, but the courts ruled that it was too late to redistrict for November. Therefore, the elections were held in the Burton districts, but it was ordered that new districts be set up before the 1984 elec-

The GOP tried a second tactic in the November elections. It again went the referendum route, asking approval of a plan that would take redistricting out of the state legislature's hands, making it the responsibility of a nonpartisan commission. Democrats bitterly opposed the measure and it was defeated.

But the Republicans thought they were safe. George Deukmejian was elected governor in that election, and the GOP reasoned that he could veto any new Democratic plan that would come through the legislature.

They were wrong: Outgoing Gov. Jerry Brown called the legislature into a special post-Christmas session to deal with a budget crisis and, during that meeting, the heavily Democratic legislature took up one other pience of business-another remap plan. This plan passed in the final hours of the special session, and Brown signed it into law on the day before he left offic

The new plan—which is being called "Burton I," some districts stretched halfway across the state, while some counties-or even neighborhoods-were split into two districts. In Burton II, the districts are at least considerably more compact; however, the new plan seems to preserve the six-seat Democratic gain that was won at the polls in November. California's new congressional delegation is 28-17 Democratic, and the new remap plan seems to protect all 28 Democrats by giving their new districts solid Democratic majorities.

The outraged California Republicans are calling the new plan "political genocide" for two reasons: First, the plan seems to guarantee that the state's congressional delegation will remain Democratic until the state remaps again after the 1990 census. Second, the Assembly and state Senate districts were drawn so as to almost ensure Democratic control of the state legislature for the rest of the decade.

How will the Republicans respond? According to sources high up in the California Republican Party, the GOP is leaning towards a new initiative effort. If the GOP can get enough signatures on petitions to bring voters, Deukmejian will call a special election on the issue.

If that effort fails, some Republicans believe that the new plan may be subject to court challenge. A 1969 California court decision held that no district can be more than I percent above the population average of all districts. Republicans charge that, under Burton II, there is a population variance of as high as 1.6 percent.

ROBERT WALTERS Lawmakers Dangerously Ignorant

WASHINGTON (NEA) -- At a time when the country desperately needs national leadership to guide its transition from an industrial to a technological society, this city's politicians generally remain oblivious to the importance of that issue.

Many members of Congress refuse to even acknowledge the fact that uncounted thousands of jobs in the auto, steel and other traditional "smokestack" industries have been irretrievably lost while employment opportunities in high-technology fields are becoming available at an accelerating ratebut can be filled only by those with the required training and skills.

The few farsighted legislators who have sought to focus public attention on the subject are derisively referred to (by members of both political parties) as "Atari Democrats."

President Reagan's lack of understanding of the profound change now underway in our society was embarrassingly obvious early in his term when he professed to be perplexed about why so many people were unemployed at a time when newspapers abounded with help wanted ads.

After belatedly discovering that the vast majority of the positions advertised required technical expertise not possessed by many lob-seckers, the president made a special trip. to the Boston area in late January to tour high-technology industries and Job retraining

But whatever concern the president may have expressed about what he accurately described as "a great transition period" was almost totally obliterated by his impromptuand highly controversial -auggestion during the tour that the federal tax on corporate income ought to be abolished. To further divert attention from the day's serious business, Reagan made a staged-fortelevision appearance at an Irish pub in Dorchester. As a result, the most memorable visual impressions of the trip were photos of the president hoisting aloft a mug of beer. Reagan was absent and only a few members of Congress were present just a few days later when the Government Research Corp. held a day-long conference here on "High Technology Industries: Public Policies for

"The :veakness of the U.S. educational system, the failure of U.S. companies to use their technological work-force efficiently and a lack of public understanding of the technological basis of the U.S. economy can make the United States decreasingly competitive in the global high technology race."

In another paper prepared for the conference, Pat Choate, a senior policy analyst for TRW, Inc., noted:

Costa Rican Scheme Gets Support

WASHINGTON-The Reagan administration, with Israel as a partner, is quietly working on a multimillion-dollar landdevelopment plan in Costa Rica. The scheme involves buying up land along the Nicaraguan-Costa Rican border, clearing roads through the wilderness and moving in thousands of settlers.

Although the development plan is being promoted strictly on economic grounds, there are secret political considerations behind it. The Costa Rican border settlement, combined with the military buildup in Honduras, would create a giant strategic pincers physically isolating Nicaragua by land.

The U.S. Agency for International Development will ask Congress for about $10 million to finance the settlement for the first year. Israel will provide the technical expertise, presumably based on its experience with settlements in the West Bank area. (An Israeli source bristled at the use of the word "settlement" in connection with the project, but other sources said the term is ap-

The eventual cost of the land development will run more than $100 million, the Costa Ricans estimate. One source put the final figure at $500 million.

AID officials will try to sell the plan to Congress on its economic merits. They have given it the innocuous title, "Northern Zone Infrastructure Development." But the geopolitical motive was laid out candidly in a cable last month to the State Department from our ambassador to Costa Rica, Francis McNeil. The confidential cable, seen by my associate Bob Sherman, explains the real reason for the ambitious settlement

"The GOCR (Government of Costa Rica) has been extremely concerned with developing its northern zone because of continuing: 1) incursions into Costa Rican territory by armed bands from Nicaragua; 2) 'stop and search' incidents involving Costa Rican boat traffic on the San Juan River...3) saturation of the area by extremely powerful signals from Nicaraguan radio and television stations," the cable said. Incursions from leftist Nicaragua "have made the Costa Ricans extremely nervous." McNeil cabled, adding: "Development of the region has become a number one priority of the (Government of Costa Rica) which they hope will address what they consider a serious immediate and long-term security problem."

The border settlements plan has involved negotiations at the very top. President Reagan discussed the project with Costa Rican President Luis Alberto Monge last June, and again on Reagan's Latin American tour in December, Reagan pledged his support in a letter to Monge dated last Scot. 20.

Late last year, a special task force chaired by Costa Rican Vice President Alberto Fait, with representatives from the United States and Israel, was organized to begin detailed planning. In addition to Israeli Ambassador David Tourgeman, experts from an Israeli firm, Tahal Consulting Engineers, have been involved in the project for months.

It is hard to justify the ambitious settlement operation on economic grounds. Though Costa Rica has problems, overpopulation is

Furthermore, the northern areas that are to be opened up for settlers are mostly marginal land that will have to be drained or otherwise improved before it is suitable for agriculture. Yet the plan calls for supporting up to 1,000 families on each 50 acres of land along the

In fact, one administration source acknowledged that AID would never have given such an economically risky project top priority if it weren't for the political implications.

Ambassador McNeil recognized this in his confidential cable, when he warned: "It is essential that the land purchases be expeditiously and quietly carried out to ... avoid land invasions organized by leftists which would nullify the project's geopolitical ob-

In other words, though the administration evidently hopes to hide from the American public the political point of the settlement program, it does not expect Nicaragua's leftist sympathizers to be fooled.

Matadors Stick Sword In Raiders' Hospitality Hopes

By SAM COOK Herald Sports Editor

"It's time to gas up the vans because the way we're playing, we're going to Jacksonville."

Seminole Community College Florida Junior basketball coach Bill Payne wasn't real pleased with the Raider showing Saturday night at home against Valencia.

SCC, 17-11 and 7-5, messed around with underdog Valencia Community College long enough to get upset by an Emanuel Gordon three-pointer with four seconds to play, 90-87, in Mid-Florida Conference cage play.

The setback — only the second at home this year (the other was to powerhouse Lake City) - puts a definite crimp in Payne's post-season plans. The secondplace finisher in the conference hosts the post-season tournament involving the rest of the conference teams. The survivor also gets a berth in the state

After Saturday, there are FOUR second-place teams. Here's a look at the standings with two games to go:

Seminole Daytona Beach Central Florida Valencia The Raiders travel to Sante Fe Wednesday and host Daytona Saturday. Daytona travels to Central Florida Wednesday. Central Florida goes to winless St. Johns Wednesday and to Florida Junior Saturday, Florida Junior treks to Valencia Wednesday.

Despite the loss to a team the Raiders had beaten twice already, Payne wasn't surprised. "We can either beat anybody or lose to anybody," he said. "It just depends on what night it is."

The Raiders were further hampered by the absence of 6-10 center Rudy Kuiper. Kuiper reportedly called for a ride to the game but no one picked him up, acJ.C. Basketball cording to Payne.

Regardless, it didn't appear as the Raiders would need much help in subduing the much-shorter Matadors. After Gordon hit four jumpers to stake VCC to a 10-7 lead, freshman Jim Haher came off the bench to hit three jump shots to pull the Raiders within one.

Four minutes later, Bernard Merthie, Ricky Sutton and David Gallagher hit a string of nine straight free throws to move SCC up, 32-26. Keith Whitney and a Jimmy Payton three-pointer, along with a basket by Delvin Everett, helped the Raiders establish a 39-34 halftime lead. After Whitney hit two jumper three minutes into the second half. SCC appeared to have 11-18 and 6-6 VCC on the ropes, but 6-2 Darryl Massey came off the bench to hit two shots and pull VCC back within one.

With 10 minutes to go, the Raiders spurted again behind 6-6 Luis Phelps and Merthle to take a 63-55 lead but Mike Jacobs and Harold Jenkins revived the Matadors to within three points.

Again with five minutes to play, Sutton hit two free throws and jump shot for a 77-72 lead. With 2:20 to play, Phelps worked inside for a bucket to tle the game at 81-81 before Keith Lemon and Sutton trades baskets with 1:40 to go.

Jenkins countered inside for the Matadors who were now playing without a head coach, Tom Garcia having left the bench because close encounters give the veteran coach trouble with his heart. He suffered a heart attack several years ago. Lemon followed with two free throws for an 87-83 edge. Phelps, however, came back with two clutch jumpers to tie the game with 39 seconds

Gordon fired a long-range jumper with 20 seconds to go but the rebound came long and VCC assistant John E. Hightower signaled for a time out.

The Matadors moved the ball around until Gordon tossed up a 23-footer which hit the bottom of the net with four seconds to play. SCC immediately signaled time out as just three seconds remained.

The Raiders inbounded the ball to Whitney who fired a hurried 40-footer. The ball hit the backboard at the base of the rim but didn't go down.

Phelps, who sat out 15 minutes of the first half, hit 9 of 13 shots and a free throw for 19 points. Whitney hit just 7 of 18 for 16 points while Everett and Sutton added 14.

Phelps led in rebounds with eight while Everett and Merthie collected seven each. Merthie, making his first start, played a brilliant game defensively, coming up with five steals.

The VCC guards killed SCC. Renardo Sneed tossed in 20 points while hero Gordon added 23.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) - Julius Erving is 32 years old and therefore must be heading into the twilight of a dazzling career. But it's hard to believe while he's in the midst of a spinning, triple-pump slam dunk.

Isiah Thomas is 21, not four years out of high school, and therefore must be casy prey for NBA veterans. But no one who has seen his lightning speed and brilliant raw talent believes that either. Sunday, against the cream of the NBA crop, the old man and the kid got together and put on an electrifying show.

Erving, the oldest player on the team. and Thomas, the youngest, combined for 44 points to lead the East to a 132-123 victory over the West in the 33rd NBA All-Star Game.

Erving, the Philadelphia 76ers' star forward, was named the game's Most Valuable Player, recapturing the award 25 points and helped shut down a West comeback bid in the closing minutes with a pair of typically spectacular baskets. Ervin, appearing in his seventh All-Star Game in as many NBA seasons, also had six rebounds as the East won for the fourth consecutive year.

'Hounds Out-Race Field; Clark Claims Another Title

Wrestling of Seminole High School

Lake Howell (LH) Seminole (5) DeLand (D) Lake Brantley (LB) Mainland (M) Apopka (A) Spruce Creek (SC)

> By CHRIS FISTER Herald Sports Writer

the District 4A-9 Wrestling Tournament came down to the wire, there were no Cinderellas or darkhorses to be found. This year's district championship at Seminole High, was a dogfight between two Seminole County powers, Lyman and Lake Howell. Lyman placed six of 12 wrestlers in the finals (all 12 made the semi-finals) while the Silver Hawks had seven finalists. In three of the final matches, with the title still (mathematically) up for grabs, the two teams' grapplers went head-to-head.

But, it was in the wrestlebacks that the Greyhounds did the most damage. Four of the six wrestlers who made the consolation finals for Lyman came out victorious as the 'Hounds took a 26 point lead into the final round and came away with the district crown with 158 points compared to 134 for Lake Howell.

"We had six guys in the wrestlebacks and they (Lake Howell) only had one," Lyman coach Skip Pletzer said. "That put Lake Howell way behind and they would have needed five victories and a couple of pins to win in the finals."

The key match for the 'Hounds in the consolations was at the 149-pound weight class in which Lyman's Mike Wasserman went un against Lake Howell's Paul Wood. The match went into overtime and Wasserman came away with a 43 vic-

"Wasserman's win was important for us." Pletzer said. "He beat one of Lake Howell's guvs head-to-head, that gave up points and prevented Lake Howell from getting any in the consolations."

The head-to-head battles in the finals came at the 159, 171 and 189 pound weight classes. At 159, Lyman's Robert Quisenberry went up against rugged

Prep Wrestling

Paul Knoblauch. After a nip-and-tuck match, Knoblauch finally took control and defeated Quisenberry, 10-5, to keep Lake Howell's slim title hopes alive.

However, the Silver Hawks hopes were washed away after the match between Lyman's Shane Harwell and the Hawks' Steve Cina at 171. After a grueling struggle, Harwell escaped with a narrow 9-8 victory to clinch the title for the 'Hounds.

"We only had to win one in the finals and Lake Howell was mathematically eliminated." Pletzer said. "It was a great team effort, all 12 of our guys placed and I didn't expect that."

Lyman's Dirk Smith continued his impressive showing at the 189-pound weight class as he pinned Lake Howell's Mark Pafford at 3:28 to claim the district title. Smith is 23-0 this year with three championships.

Consolation winners for the 'Hounds included Wasserman (149), Battle (102), Jay Hunziker (130) and Mike Hill (224). Although Seminole's grapplers were not strong or deep enough to win districts, the Tribe turned in a gutsy effort and came away with one district champion, two runners up and six consolation winners.

For the second year in a row, Seminole's Vince Clark proved he is one of the best wrestlers in the Central Florida area. Clark defeated Lyman's Donny Lockwood, 9-3, to claim the district title at the 142-pound weight class and advance to this weekend's regionals. The top four wrestlers in each class advance.

"Vince (Clark) pretty much dominated his match," said Tribe coach Scott Sherman. "He led, 2-1, after the first period, then put the guy (Lockwood) on his back in the second period and came out with a five points and a 7-1 lead. He (Clark) had it under control from the start."

Seminole's Tony Brown had a rematch with DeLand's Eric Brown in the finals at the 130-weight class. Seminole's Brown had defeated DeLand's Brown the last time the two met, but, the latter came out on top this time, 11-9.

The Tribe's Tony Turner also made the finals, but lost out to Lake Brantley's tenacious Billy Brucato, 8-3, at the 149pound class.

In the consolation finals, Seminole got victories from Mike Clark (109), Ronnie Watson (116), Kevin Tapscott (136), Vince Williams (159), Gary Gonterman (171) and James Morgan (189). Watson, looking forward to a grudge match with 116-pound champ Jamie Offenberger, was surprised in Saturday morning's semi-finals by Lyman's Juwan Lee.

"The guys did an outstanding job," Seminole coach Scott Sherman said. "Third place is exceptional for the number of people we have (Seminole only had 10 wrestlers) and 9 out of 10 of our guys placed."

Lake Brantley's Patriots finished in fourth place with 64 points, but the Patriots had three district champions. At the 109-pound weight class, Brantley's Scott Roth added the district title to his list of accomplishments as he defeated Lyman's Pat Bell, 11-8.

At 116, Lake Brantley's Offenberger defeated Lyman's Lee, 5-0.

Other than Knoblauch's victory at 159, Lake Howell had two more district champions. At the 123-pound class, the Hawks' fine freshman Roger Hutchins took care of Apopka's Ellison, 7-5, and Dan Rae won the 224-pound class as he defeated Apopka's Joe Carter, 13-5.

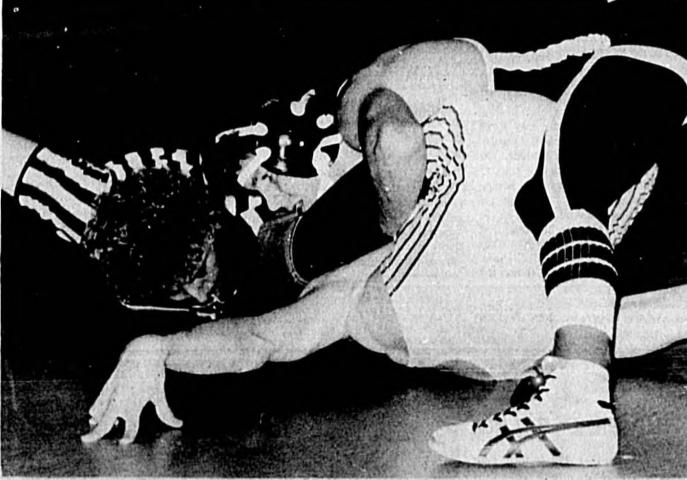

The regionals are next at Jacksonville's Orange Park High this Friday and

Seminole Free Throws Hold Off Colonial

Alexander Throws In Miraculous 75-Foot Shot For 2-Point Halftime Advantage

One thing you can expect to see a lot of in the Colonial High gym is free throws. But, it's not often that an opponent beats the Grenadiers at the line.

Saturday night, Seminole High made 10 straight free throws in the fourth quarter en route to a 57-44 victory over Colonial, the Tribe's third win over the Grenadiers this season. "They (Colonial) made 10 of 17 free throws in the first half and that kept them in the game," Seminole coach Chris Marlette said. "We came out and played good defense in the third quarter and outscored them 18-9. With about four minutes left in the game, we went to our spread offense and they had to foul."

Seminole now stands 19-9 overall and 11-3 in the Five Star Conference while Colonial fell to 2-19.

Seminole's Steve Alexander received the inbounds pass near the top of the key of Colonial's basket, he turned and let loose with a 75-foot shot that hit the backboard and went in to give the 'Noles a 26-24 halftime lead.

"I told the guys at halftime, that we had to disregard the officials, play good defense and hit our free throws when we got them." Seminole finally shot its first free throw with three minutes left in the third quarter.

Seminole held a 10-point or better lead for most of the fourth quarter. Included throws while the Tribe didn't step to the . in the 10 straight free throws were 4 of 4

Jack Likens (right), Lake Mary's 109-pound wrestler, maneuvers Ovledo's Shawn Knapp onto his back for two points in their championship battle Saturday night. Likens ran his record to 28-0 with a 10-1 decision for the Region 3A-2 title. The blond-haired junior has won four championships this season. He and 328-pound teammate Robert Rawls will represent the Rams in the state tournament this weekend at Haines City.

Likens, Rawls Reign At Region, Oviedo — 6th

By SAM COOK Herald Sports Editor

Lake Mary's Mutt and Jeff combination did it again Saturday night in the Region 3A-2 Championships at Lake

Mary High School. Junior Jack Likens, a fiesty 109pounder, subdued Oviedo's Shawn Knapp for the third time this season, 10-1, to capture his fourth title and a favorite's spot in this weekend's state tournament at Haines City. Junior Robert Rawls, a 6-9, 328-pound unlimited grappler, pinned Hernando's Blair Harris at 2:29 to claim his third title of the year. Rawls, just in his second year on the mat, pinned all four victims during the two-day tournament.

The Rams finished 10th with 6012 points. Kissimmee-Osceola, second in the district, upstaged district winner Bishop Moore and defending region champ Suwannee to win the team crown with 108 points. Bishop Moore (100), Suwannee (99), Ocala Forest (9212), Crystal River (8612) and surprising Oviedo (80) were next in line.

For coach John Horn's aggressive Lions, it was the highest region finish in the school's history. And the Oviedo grapplers did it by bringing just six wrestlers to the meet, five of which finished third or better.

"We trained to peak for the region and state," said Horn whose team covered the first six weight classes. 'The change in training after the conference meet really helped up. We had more energy on the mat and the kids really noticed it."

Energy on the mat was also a factor in Likens' blitz of four opponents. Likens opened Friday's preliminary rounds with quick pins before posting an 11-0 win Saturday morning against Osceola's Russ Mason.

Prep Wrestling

Knapp, meanwhile, Nord past Springstead's Mark Harig to set the state for the All-Seminole County finale. Likens had beaten Knapp, 6-4 and 8-2, in previous battles.

Likens, though, saved his best effort for Saturday. He dominated the Oviedo junior, building up points on takedowns and back points for the 10-1 decision. Likens is 28-0 in his weight class.

"This is the best tournament," e ever had," said Likens. "I've beaten him (Knapp) before but never by this much. This is the best I've ever wrestled. I hope I can keep it up next week."

Rawls would like to keep it up too. Unlike Likens and the Oviedo gang, the Sanford behemoth didn't expend too much energy .Pins Friday came in 32 and 54 seconds. Saturday morning in the semi-finals, Rawls smashed Todd Filer in just over a minute.

"The semi-final was the key match," said Lake Mary coach Frank Schwartz. "Filer was really tough and Robert" really showed us something in that match."

Rawls really showed something in the championship against Blair Harris of Hernando - but it wasn't exactly what coaches Schwartz and Doug Peters had in mind.

Uncharacteristically, the friendly giant shot at Harris' legs to open the match. Rawls knocked the surprised Harris off his pins, but the Hernando heavyweight landed on top of Rawls for a takedown and a 2-0 lead.

"I wasn't worried, though," Rawls quickly pointed out after the match. "I knew I was going to catch him in that roll 'cause he kept suckering for it."

And a minute and one-half into the second period, Rawls rolled over like a beached whale and smothered the sucker for good. The victory improved his record to 27-1 with the only loss coming to Colonial football all-stater Tom Blanchard.

While Likens and Rawls were taking care of the individual championships, Oviedo's sophomores and juniors turned in some spectacular showings in the consolation and championship finals.

Along with Knapp (21-5), sophomore Brian Smith (116) also took a second place. Smith decisioned Scott Helm of Crystal River, 11-9, in the semis before losing to Osceola's Mike Hirocheta, 10-4. Hirocheta is the 100-pound defending region champ. Three other Lions - Jerry Jordan (102), Mike Hilgar (123) and Steve Berg (130) - took consolation titles. Jordan, a sophomore brother of former Lion standout Doug, lost to eventual champ Barry Hyde of Bishop Moore in the semis before sticking Springstead's Paul King in 3:16 in the third-place match. Jordan's only four losses this year in 23 matches have been to Hyde.

At 123, district kingpin Mike Hilgar showed the ceiling to Juann Tubbs of Gainesville in 58 seconds. Hilgar, a junior, lost to eventual champ Troy Wiseman of Ocala Forest by a narrow 6-4 margin in the semis.

Berg, another junior with a 21-5-1 record, also lost to an eventual champion, dropping a 5-1 decision to Walt Poole of Ocala Forest. Poole went on to stun Bishop Moore's talented Dennis McKechnie in the finals, 3-2. Berg stopped Springstead's Neil Allen, 4-1, for his consolation title.

Aoki's Spectacular Chip Wins Hawaiian

HONOLULU (UPI) - Isao Aoki's entry into the PGA Tour's championship rolls may be the most spectacular recorded by a foreigner.

The 40-year-old professional from Japan, who had to post a birdie to tie, bounced in an eagle three - from 128 yards away and in the rough - on the final hole Sunday to capture the $325,000 Hawaiian Open.

Jack Renner, playing in the threesome ahead, had moved in front of Aoki with a birdie on the 18th to finish at 19-underpar

But as Renner filled out his score card, Aoki ended the tournament with his dramatic shot that gave him a final round 67 and a 268 total, only three strokes shy of the tournament record.

"I knew Renner was at 19 under par and I had to make a birdie," he said. "I hit a pitching wedge and was just hoping it would get close."

It wasn't close — it went into the cup on one bounce - to make him the first player from Japan to win a PGA Tour

"I saw it go in," he said. "It was the greatest thrill of my career."

Other foreigners have come from South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and Spain.

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) - Drivers sought a break in the weather and a record time at the Daytona International Speedway, where pole-position qualifying for next week's $1 million Daytona 500 was rescheduled for today.

Steady rains over the weekend washed out practice runs Saturday and qualifying Sunday. The $300,000 Busch Clash and the ARCA 200 Late Model Stock car race also were rescheduled for Seventy-six drivers were scheduled to make a run for the top two starting spots for next Sunday's 25th annual 500 classic. The remainder of the qualifying will be set during two qualifying races Thursday.

Some observers expect the top qualifiers to break the 2.5-mile trioval's grand national record of 196.317 mph and was halted, was to resume play at the possibly crack the 200-mph barrier - a

School Tea To Honor Dividends

Gatrell

Winter Springs

Sterling Park Elementary will hold a Dividends Tea on Feb. 17, at 10 a.m. in the media center, in honor of the Dividends to show appreciation for the many hours of volunteer work they unselfishly give.

Feb. 14-18 has been designated as Friendship Week at Sterling Park and classroom activities will be centered around the idea of being friendly and having friends.

Hopefully the project will extend into the homes of the children. Here are some suggestions from Sterling Park that we all might like to try.

The children are asked to sit down with family members and to look through photo albums, exchange jobs around the house so each member can appreciate each other's responsibilities, draw names of each family member for a secret pal and do nice things for their secret pals without giving away their identity, have a family dinner where each family member fixes one part of the meal, and finally, have each member say something nice about each other.

Sound good? Try It in your family.

DEAR ABBY: A wedding is taking place because of you. Four years ago I wrote the following letter to you: "Dear Abby: For years I have suffered from an inferiority complex because of my height. It has ruined my whole life. I am a woman, 5 feet 9. I love to dance, but in heels I'm taller than the average man, and I feel like a fool

ABOUT A MAN-EATING LION THAT TERRORIZES A NATIVE VILLAGE

DEAR DR. LAMB - Many months ago my doctor told me to take four aspirin a day. He said they have a tendency to prevent blood clotting. I'm an 84-year-old male. The aspirin caused me to get pains in my stomach so he advised me to take Tylenol instead.

Does Tylenol have the same effect as aspirin? I'm in fairly good health except for arthritic pains now and then.

DEAR READER - Both aspirin and Tylenol are useful pain relievers. That is why Tylenol may be substituted for aspirin for the control of mild arthritic pain, as occurs from osteoarthritis.

But Tylenol does not have the same effect in preventing clumping of platelets or on the blood clotting mechanism that aspirin has. It will increase the action of anticlotting medicines if a person is taking those. It follows that Tylenol is not recommended for whatever benefits one might expect from aspirin in the prevention of recurrence of strokes or heart attacks.

I suspect your doctor wants you to have medicine to control the arthritic pain you have "now and then."

pain-relieving medications do affect prostaglandin formation. Prostaglandin helps protect the lining of the stomach. That is why aspirin and such medicines may induce stomach irritation or even erosion and bleeding.

You can minimize the adverse effects of aspirin on the stomach by grinding up the aspirin into a powder and taking it with food or with a half cup of milk. Or you can arthritis. But heparin obtain a preparation that is (another anticlotting already a powder and mix it in milk.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I had a stroke five years ago. The doctors believe it may be related to damage of my heart valves from rheumatic fever as a child. I was 52 at the time of the stroke. For five years I have been on Cournadin and the doctors say I must stay on it the rest of my life.

What are the side effects of Coumadin? Will it affect arthritis of the spine? At the time of my stroke I was also diagnosed as having degenerative arthritis of the Aspirin and many other spine. Will it cause blood in my stool? Is it addictive? Would it cause my heart to beat too fast?

> DEAR READER -Cournadin prevents the formation of blood clots. Your doctors evidently think you heart valve damage led to a clot being formed in the heart and released into the arteries causing the stroke.

Coumadin will not affect medicine) will cause loss of calcium and increase osteoporosis (bone

Yes, too much Coumadin can cause bleeding, including blood in the stools. It is not addictive or a drug that affects mental functions and should not affect your heart
