Ohio Physicist Won't Testify If He's Commie

University's Head Suspends Teacher

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Ohio State University physicist, now working on an Air Force project, today refused to testify before House investigators whether he is or has been a member of the Communist Party.

Byron T. Darling, 41, invoked the act of Congress which prohibits a person in declining to answer questions put by the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The amendment says one may be forced to give testimony against himself.

In Columbus Dr. Howard L. Revis, president of Ohio State University, today suspended Darling from his position in the Constitution in connection with the Communist Party membership.

"Until the university can make a complete study of the record of his appearance before the Senate Committee," said Dr. Revis in a statement, "I have relieved of all duties at Ohio State University."

One question Darling refused to answer was whether he ever gave secret information to any Communist Party member or agent.

Darling said the Air Force project on which he is working is a study of ozone molecules. He added that it is known as project 381 and is not regarded as secret.

Asked whether he had access to secret information in connection with his work, Darling again refused to answer.

School Board To Request Testing Center For City

The Seminole County School Board at its monthly meeting in the office of R. T. Milwee, superintendent, yesterday drew up a resolution to submit to the State Department of Education requesting a general education development testing center be established in Sanford.

Mr. Milwee pointed out that the center would fall in line with the adult education program being stressed at the present time and would eliminate the necessity of men and women going to Tallahassee for the tests.

Through the program, adults are enabled to obtain the equivalent of a high school diploma.

Upon the request of teachers in the county, the Board agreed that beginning with the 1953-54 school year, three weeks will be devoted to pre-school planning and one week for post school planning in the next two weeks. Time has been devoted at the start of the school year and the same number at the year's conclusion.

Superintendent Milwee stated the three week period would provide for a longer period of "in-service" training for teaching personnel.

Upon Mr. Milwee's recommendation, the Board adopted a policy by which each of the county's 21 schools will be given an individual budget beginning in September 1953. In other years, the schools did not know the amount of money available to be spent.

E. J. Moughton, architect, appeared before the Board and declared preliminary matters had been cleared up and all was in readiness to start advertising for bids for the Lynn School annex next week. Four rooms will be added during the new construction program.

It was announced that Hill Hardware Co. of Sanford had submitted the low bid on a 14-cubic-foot refrigerator to be installed at Lynn School.

The Board was informed that Pope Harl, transportation superintendent from the State Board of Education, who will visit the county the latter part of the month to make a survey of the transportation routes and facilities.

Washington (AP)—Lewis J. McKesson, a former United States engineer, estimated today a million dollars could have been saved on a project for beaming broadcasts from shipboard to listeners behind the Iron Curtain.

He testified before the Senate investigations subcommittee as it turned its search for waste and fraud in the Voice of America project to the shipboard transmitter phase. The Voice is a major part of the State Department's counter-offensive to Communist propaganda.

McKesson, who left the Voice last October, contended that funds had been wasted on a ship, equipped with a radio transmitter which was being transported from the island of Rhodes in the eastern Mediterranean.

A wartime Navy commander, McKesson said that he had recommended use of a CVE, a baby carrier type, but that instead a small cargo ship was used. A radio transmitter had to be hoisted to carry a heavy antenna.

Britain Charges Soviet Union With Brutal Act Of Murder; U.S. Gives Warning To Czechs

Note Asks Apology And Compensation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Communist Czechoslovakia today charged American authorities in Germany "will take the measures necessary" to prevent further border attacks by Czech aircraft.

This notice was given in a second protest note demanding an apology and compensation for the shooting down of an American jet plane last Tuesday.

Two Communist MIGs flying out of Czechoslovakia missed the U. S. plane while it was on a routine patrol flight.

The note, parachuted to safety, was delivered in Prague at 10 a. m. by Ambassador George Wabowitz.

It charged the Czechoslovak government with "fabrication of facts" in contending the U. S. plane had violated Czech territory. It also demanded that the Czech government establish beyond question the U. S. note said and that the American plane was shot down well within the border of the American zone of Germany.

Winter Vegetable Production Is Up Six Percent Over Last Year

ORLANDO (AP)—Production of winter commercial vegetables in Florida rose 6.1 per cent more than last year, but it would have been even more of some types, if not for a drought in the latter part of the season.

Florida crops which yielded the national average above were in order of decline in tonnage: eggplant, cucumber, and lima beans.

The report said tomato production was up 1.5 per cent over the 1952 crop, but it would have been up 3.5 per cent more if not for a drought in the latter part of the season.

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches next Sunday. As the subject is developed it is made clear that true substance is spiritual, eternal, and is cognized by man only as his faith rests on spiritual understanding.
A verse from Ecclesiastes (3:14) furnishes the Golden Text: "I know that, whatever my death, it shall be for ever; nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it."
Among Bible references is this one: "If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land." (Isaiah 1:10).
Related citations from "Science and Health with Keys to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "When we realize that life is Spirit, never in nor of matter, this understanding will expand into self-comprehending findings all in God, good, and needing no other consciousness." (p. 264).

DISCUSSING THE HIGH POINTS

We never learn all we are taught!
In religious education, as in secular, certain truths are grasped immediately; others are stored away in the mind to be understood later; and some are promptly forgotten.
When your child comes home from Church School each Sunday he has grasped a few "high points" of the lesson. You can encourage him by talking them over.
He also brings home each Sunday certain impressions. He cannot express or understand them. But they are seeds which, if nourished in a Christian home, will blossom into moral and spiritual character.
But your child leaves behind him many truths which are essential to a mature soul. These "lost" ideas will be re-learned in future experiences at Church. That's why religious training must be continuous.
Wise parents study their faith with their children. In our local churches there are classes for young and old.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a stronghold of moral values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

FRIDAY MAR. 13, 1953

TODAY'S BIRTH VENUS
 Widows and orphans and the aged would fare badly without the insurance made possible by companies that loan money. There are times when money should be given rather than loaned. Calamities and emergencies create exceptions. I pray you to leave off this worry.—Nehemiah 5:7.

It looks as if the Russians are going to keep on shooting down Allied planes until one of them bails.

It seems funny to think of Czechoslovaks shooting down an American plane. We have been friends of the Czechs so long, but it just goes to show what can happen when anyone comes under the influence of Communism.

We see where Governor McCarty, Dick Pope and Peter Schaaf are going to serve as judges in the Suwannee River picture contest. We can remember when Pete Schaaf was just a country boy from Sanford.

Whether the City should take in certain outlying areas and include them within the city limits is a moot question. Residents of those areas would thus be entitled to certain municipal services which they do not now receive. But they would also be subject to City tax levies. But how is Sanford going to grow if it doesn't extend its boundaries?

Take a deep breath and close your eyes, boys, for Friday, March 13 is the deadline for sending income tax returns. At that date falls on Sunday this year, the poor down-trodden tax payer gets one day of grace. He doesn't actually have to have his return in the mails until midnight Monday the 16th. In that extra day it would be nice if you could make a little something for yourself.

The Lake county chamber of commerce prepared a little picnic for some 500 winter visitors the other day and had more than one thousand from 43 states show up for the festivities. While we can sympathize with Karl Lehmann's predicament trying to divide bread and fish among that many unexpected guests, we'll bet, knowing him as we do, that he wouldn't have had it any other way.

Workers and labor leaders are beginning to realize the stakes they have in the American system of free enterprise. Henry Ford II told a Jacksonville audience the other day, "Most Americans no longer seem to feel that 'profit' is a dirty word, and it's getting to the point where the word 'capitalism' can be used in mixed company." It would be a sad time for this country if the day ever came when profit ceased to exist.

Speaking of the income tax return deadline, a friend of ours tells us this one: "A successful and influential businessman who lay dying summoned his best friend to his bedside and elicited from him a promise to see that his social remains be cremated. The friend agreed and cautiously and reverently asked, 'And what do you want me to do with the ashes?' 'The ashes?' The dying man replied, 'You will place them in an envelope addressed to the Collector of Internal Revenue and tell him how he has everything.'

Because of his heart attack Governor McCarty is going to have to cancel all out-of-town trips until after the Legislature meets. He had been scheduled to speak at the Florida centennial at the University of Florida, the annual Governor's breakfast dinner in Tampa, and the Florida Bankers convention in Melbourne, not to mention the dedication of the new baseball stadium in New Beach. Even if he were capable, he should not have to be in Florida and come to such health centers. He should be in his bed in a hospital.

Russian Provocations

Russian fliers have shot down another Allied plane over German territory, this time with the death of four British fliers, proving the Red's utter contempt for the Western powers, and giving the lie to the new Russian Premier Malenkov's protestations of peace.

One's first reaction to these uninvited provocations is to fight back. House Speaker Martin says: "We can't be expected to let them raid our territory without doing something about it," and one American diplomat said, "You can't rule out anything," indicating that we have taken about all we can take and anything might happen now.

Sober second thought, however, would suggest a continuation of the policy of patience. Precipitate action at this juncture could only bring war, a war which we are not prepared to fight, and one in which our allies would be even less prepared than we.

Reports indicate that the American plane shot down was completely outclassed in speed and maneuverability by its Russian counter-part the MIG-15. If we are outclassed in the air, how much more are we outclassed on the ground where manpower has never been a problem, nor even a concern, of the Russians.

We hope that Americans can hold their tempers and keep their heads. It is bad enough to have British and American planes shot down over Germany. It would be worse to have them shot down over this country.

Advice From The Past

They were having their economic problems in the South as far back as 1851 even before the War Between the States changed everything. With the best farm lands in the country, Southern farmers were going to the North and West to buy their horses and mules.

"The sun never shone upon any land which has so many resources of independence as ours," says the June 14, 1851 issue of the Eastern Clinton of Paulding, Miss. "It seems as natural for a Georgia or Alabama planter to anticipate an annual recruit of horses and mules from the North as the return of winter."

"The planters of upper Georgia and Alabama should raise their own horses and mules. How much would be gained to themselves ultimately and to the state at large if a few of the thousands of dollars sent out of the state annually for mules were invested in the importation of large Jackals? We should soon have a different state of things in the South!"

"There is a lesson for us to be learned in this advice from an 1851 Mississippi editor even in this day and time when we produce virtually all the cotton grown in the United States, ship it to New England to be made into shirts which are then shipped back to us to clothe our naked hides. Another interesting item in this old newspaper, which comes to us by way of Sanford Attorney Fred R. Wilson who has had it in his files for many years, tells of the gallant heroism and conduct of the Mississippi Rifles in the Battle of Buena Vista fought in the Mexican War only a few years before.

"The writer of this article was on the extreme right of the Kentucky Cavalry at the battle of Buena Vista." It is stated in the Clarion "The impression which the First Mississippi Regiment and its Colonel produced on his mind that day will never be effaced. As the second Indiana regiment was retreating, the Rifles were going into battle. It was marching by file with its Colonel on his horse at its head.

"It was a critical moment of that day — immortal for Mississippi. A portion of our force was retreating, and the whole of Ampudia's division of eight thousand men were close upon the rear of the second Indiana regiment. There was no haste in the march of the Mississippi Rifles, neither was there delay or hesitation. They moved forward into the gap just made in the line of battle, with a calm, deliberate, straightforward step, that showed they would never abandon their position. The regiment and its Colonel passed within a few feet of the writer of this article, whose own corps was cavalry, and which, from the rough deep ravines, was compelled to stand still.

"In that critical moment, during the excitement of the first battle the writer had ever been in, amidst the loud roar of arms and shouts of Ampudia's advancing and temporarily victorious column, he had the calmness to take a survey of Col. Jefferson Davis. He was sitting his magnificent bay horse in a style that but few men can equal. On and on he and his regiment advanced, every second reducing the distance between them and the advancing victorious foe. His eye alone, and an eagle eye it is, gave token of the excitement that urged him forward. It literally blazed as it looked upon the battle.

"For at the moment of his passing the Kentucky Cavalry, he turned upon his horse, bent a little forward and in a voice as calm as if he were speaking to a woman, he thus addressed some retreating soldiers, 'Do not run, my men, come back, come back.' Such was the electrical effect of his words and of his manner, that some of these men actually joined his regiment and fought well during the remainder of the engagement.

"I saw Col. Davis again at about 4:00 o'clock of that great day. He still sat his horse, although a bullet had driven a portion of his spur into the most tender part of his foot and ankle. I believe at the time, that from the agony of the wound he was delirious, but that the instinct of soldier, even in such a condition, still kept him at the head of his regiment."

That was written ten years before Jefferson Davis became president of the Confederacy.

Sanitation Problems Will Be Discussed

GAINESEVILLE (Special) — Swimming pool and bathing beach sanitation problems will receive the attention of engineers attending the sixth annual National Public Health Engineering Conference, March 24-25, at the University of Florida.

Sponsored jointly by the University's Civil Engineering department and the State Board of Health, the conference will convene groups interested in swimming pools and bathing beaches, to discuss engineering, sanitation and management problems being encountered at such places.

The program has been prepared primarily for the benefit of sanitary engineers, sanitary pool owners and operators, and for structural engineers in consulting offices concerned with pool design.

John R. Kiser, professor of civil engineering at the University who is in charge of conference arrangements, explained that some of the topics should also be of interest to persons concerned with Florida's tourist industry, particularly the operators of bathing beaches.

Among those who will take part in the conference program will be Albert H. Hayslett, Deputy Director in Charge, Sanitation, Health Center, U. S. Public Health Service, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Speaker at a banquet meeting, Mar. 24, will be Dr. J. H. Hansen,

Alumni Of U. Of F. To Take Part In Rites

GAINESEVILLE (P) — Some of the 100 alumni of the University of Florida will participate in a unique ceremony during the university's centennial celebration, March 10-21.

They will break the ground west of the century tower and alumni center commemorating the 100 years of the school.

Joining the groundbreaking will be Mrs. Margaret Dwyer, Gainesville, Florida's oldest lady; John Robertson, Gainesville; Mrs. J. Withers Blake, daughter of former university President Andrew Bladd; Miss Margaret McDonald, former President John J. Tigert and wife John A. H. Murphy; past president of the alumni association, R. P. Bishop, president of the alumni association, will preside at the program scheduled for 8:30 p.m. March 21.

Dear Sir:
 Enclosed are copies of an article which appeared in the Norfolk Ledger-Bulletin and also a clipping which appeared in the Jacksonville Journal.

The article is self-explanatory, and the drive has not been too successful and we do need the money to give Jane a chance to live.

When Mr. and Mrs. Calderazzi lived in Sanford, Fla. they had a lot of friends and I know they would remember her. I am quite sure if they know of her condition and could just see her they would only be too glad to help.

I was wondering if you would be so kind as to print this story in your newspaper there. I am sure it will help a little and everything received will help Jane, maybe to a new life.

If you publish the story will you please forward me two (2) copies of the edition.

All checks or donations can be forwarded to the Norfolk address listed in the article or to me in Jacksonville, my address shown below.

Thanks for your trouble.
 Respectfully,

Jackson who are friends of a young woman fighting the crippling disease known as guinea-syphilis are spearheading a fund drive in this area to send her to the new St. Joseph's clinic in Takoma, Wash.

Mrs. Jane Calderazzi was first stricken while in Sanford in 1942 and since has waged an 11-year battle against the disease, a field which has cost the family already $20,000. Mrs. Calderazzi is now a resident of Norfolk.

The family is now trying to raise the $2,000 necessary to get her to St. Joseph's where she will have a chance to arrest the disease and perhaps with normality, according to Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey F. Wilson Jr. of 4024 Park St., Jacksonville, friends of the young woman for many years. The Wilsons are trying to interest Jacksons in the case.

MS, as the disease is known, starts as a weakness in the legs and causes loss of balance. It spreads slowly so that eventually the victim is unable to feed himself, turn over in bed or even talk

Christianity Said To Be On Defensive

TALLAHASSEE (Special) — Christianity is on the defensive in India.

This was the message brought recently to the Student Christian Association, Florida State University, by Dr. William C. Kirk, assistant professor of classics and chairman of the FSU Student Christian Association Advisory Board.

Dr. Kirk reported on a recent meeting of the Southern Area and Student Council of the Young Men's Christian Association at Atlanta.

He stated that two American students, recently returned from the World Christian Conference in India, termed the maintaining of contacts with Christians in Communist-dominated countries as a major problem.

Following Dr. Kirk's report, Dick Shoenberger, Tallahassee, SCA president, announced that five Gray-Y clubs in Tallahassee are being directed by members of the SCA. The Gray-Y clubs are the junior groups of the YMCA. Boys 10, 11, and 12 are eligible to join. There is also one girl's club in the city.

The directors are John Danahy, Lake Worth; Yvonne McCarthy, Miami; Helen Hamilton, Jackson-

understandably. The symptoms which struck Mrs. Valderazzi in Sanford caused some people there to think she was drunk.

"Mrs. Calderazzi has been in and out of hospitals for the past five years," the Wilsons say. "At times she has shown improvement but then she would have to leave the hospital when the financial strain became too great. Last year, she took a definite turn for the worse and plans were made to send her to St. Joseph's. The Catholic Daughters of America, Court Norfolk No. 1212, have agreed to sponsor the fund raising. Checks can be made out to the Catholic Daughters of America and sent either to our Jacksonville address or to 103

Motor Vehicles Are Major Killers In Accident Field

JACKSONVILLE (Special) — Motor vehicles continued to be the major killers in the field of accident deaths in Florida during 1952, still inching ominously upward as the sum total of all accident fatalities showed a slight decline, the Florida State Board of Health said today.

State Health Officer Wilson T. Sowder stated that preliminary figures for the year just past noted that of the 2,688 persons who died of accidental causes, 912 deaths were due to motor vehicle mishaps. This figure compares with 901 such deaths in 1951 and 893 auto fatalities in 1950.

Meanwhile it was noted that the sum of all accident deaths in 1952 was 88 less than the 2,776 who died in this fashion in 1951.

While hazards of road and highway were claiming 912 victims, industrial accidents were snuffing out only 118 lives, a report prepared by the state health agency's Bureau of Vital Statistics revealed.

A total of 537 persons died of accidents in the home, while an additional 430 persons were killed outside the home. There were 91 other accidents deaths for which the location was not stated.

Falls were the leading cause of accident deaths in the home, totaling 218. Such mishaps hit the older age group heavily, with 166 victims in this category being 65 or more years of age.

Youth had its perils in deaths caused by fires, explosions of combustible materials and hot substances. Of the 146 deaths in this category, 62 were caused to children under 15 years of age.

Some other causes of fatal home accidents were: poisoning by gases, 32; mechanical suffocation, 40; firearms, 28; and solid and liquid poisons, 21.

Drawings led the list of outdoor accident fatalities, exclusive of motor vehicle accidents, with 117 succumbing in this manner, ninety-three of these persons were less than 25 years of age. Other outdoor accident deaths included transportation services, 148; firearms, 29.

"Better than half of all public accidents," the statisticians bureau commented, "occurred during recreational activities such as swimming, boating, fishing, hunting, etc."

Construction work, with 32 deaths, led the field of occupational fatalities, doubling the 16 deaths caused by manufacturing operations and a similar number in agriculture.

Other occupational accident deaths included: transportation, 7; trade, 6; mining and quarrying, 6; public utilities, 5; service trades, 4; and other industries, principally fishing and forestry, 26.

What opinions have bureau personnel formed as a result of their statistical tabulations of the accident victims? Says Bureau Director Everett Williams:

"Since most 'accidents' can be prevented, and since accidents occur in all age groups, much remains to be accomplished in accident prevention. Accidents cause more loss of years of life than any other cause of death."

When the Revolutionary War ended, the United States was composed of a land and water area totaling 892,135 square miles.

Celery Crate News By GRACE M. STINECIPHER

Lots of fun was had by all last Saturday night! Everyone was getting a big kick out of the usual games—mostly pool and ping pong. Even Mr. Gordie was taking on some of the better players in ping pong!

We were glad to see Louise Benton Elliot back with us. She seems to be quite a pool shark. What does Speezy say about this, Sister?

Randall Ferrell and Ronald Raynor were having lots of fun in a ping pong game. Also playing were Ann Vance and Geraldine Spivey.

An exciting game of pool was being played by Don Driley, Elizabeth Woodruff, Roger Garner and Mary Tanner. Playing a game also, were Larry Burney, Harriett Reddick and Tommy Wyatt.

We are terribly sorry that our musician can't come Saturday night. He is Joe Douthitt, a well-liked sailor from the base and he really puts on a good show! We hope to get him to come to the Crate sometime in the near future. I know everyone will enjoy this different entertainment.

Don't forget that if you have any suggestions for the betterment of the Crate come to any of the officers or sponsors and they will do the best they can to carry them out. These suggestions will certainly be appreciated.

accidents were: poisoning by gases, 32; mechanical suffocation, 40; firearms, 28; and solid and liquid poisons, 21.

Drawings led the list of outdoor accident fatalities, exclusive of motor vehicle accidents, with 117 succumbing in this manner, ninety-three of these persons were less than 25 years of age. Other outdoor accident deaths included transportation services, 148; firearms, 29.

"Better than half of all public accidents," the statisticians bureau commented, "occurred during recreational activities such as swimming, boating, fishing, hunting, etc."

Construction work, with 32 deaths, led the field of occupational fatalities, doubling the 16 deaths caused by manufacturing operations and a similar number in agriculture.

Other occupational accident deaths included: transportation, 7; trade, 6; mining and quarrying, 6; public utilities, 5; service trades, 4; and other industries, principally fishing and forestry, 26.

What opinions have bureau personnel formed as a result of their statistical tabulations of the accident victims? Says Bureau Director Everett Williams:

"Since most 'accidents' can be prevented, and since accidents occur in all age groups, much remains to be accomplished in accident prevention. Accidents cause more loss of years of life than any other cause of death."

Youth Is Accused Of Being Bank Robber

NEW YORK (AP) — A 17-year-old boy was accused today of being a bank robber—the youngest in the memory of Brooklyn police.

It was a case of "easy come, easy go."

Only $100 of the $4,270 loot of a month ago was left when Arthur J. D'Amico was arrested on a trip yesterday, police said. They reported he admitted the robbery early today.

D'Amico, who said he had hoped to enlist in the Navy today, was charged with assault and robbery. The money—stolen Feb. 16 from a branch of the National City Bank—went for girls, a second-hand car, theater and "other entertainment," police said.

The lone robber entered the bank branch shortly before closing time and thrust a note at a woman teller. It read:

"Do not holler or I'll kill you. Put money in a bag. I have a gun levelled at you. Give me 10 minutes to get away or I'll shoot to kill you. Take warning. I am desperate."

The woman teller crumpled bills into a paper bag until it was full, and the robbery calmly walked out with it. The teller then rang the burglar alarm—and fainted.

McCarty Says He's Ready To Go Home And Obey Doctors

Governor Holds First News Conference

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Gov. Dan McCarty, after nearly three weeks in the hospital recuperating from a heart attack, said today he is ready to go home, take it easy and do what the doctors tell him to do.

He is scheduled to leave the hospital Wednesday.

Talking to reporters for the first time since he was stricken Feb. 25, the 41-year-old governor said he gave up smoking even before his doctor advised him to do it and he has no complaints.

"I've made up my mind I'll never complain any more," he said.

Not even about the "no salt, no fat" diet that he finds unpalatable.

Although opening of the Legislature is only three weeks away, the governor said he thinks preparation for his program for presentation to the lawmakers has not been set back by his illness.

"I was pretty well complete when this thing happened," he commented.

What did he think was the big contributing cause of his heart attack?

The governor hesitated.

"I wasn't worried," he declared. "I think it was just the fact that I was on the go all the time. If you're not careful you just find yourself completely scheduled every day in the week and you never have a chance to relax."

McCarty had been on the go almost constantly for the first two and a half months of his administration—and much of the year of campaigning and pre-inaugural affairs before that.

But his attack has convinced him he won't be able to keep it up when he leaves the hospital and gets back to work.

"You have to take some time off, and I'm going to try to do as much as I can and still do the things that have to be done," he said.

The young governor, propped up by a hand on his forehead, said the doctors have told him he'll probably have to take it easy for two weeks (Continued on Page Six)

Zoning, Planning Personnel Lineup Is Scored By Simon

The current alignment of personnel comprising the Zoning and Planning Commission and the Board of Adjustment within the Sanford City government was a target of criticism by George Simon, of Jacksonville, a city planning engineer, when he visited this city Friday.

According to Robert B. Brown, chairman of the Zoning and Planning Commission, Mr. Simon said the same personnel should not serve on the two boards.

As set up by the Zoning and Planning Commission is comprised of the following members: Chairman Brown, E. F. Lane, H. James, Frank A. Johnson, Robert B. Brown, Bradley Othman, A. L. Collins, A. W. Lee, John Senker, and Roy Britt.

Five of the above listed men comprise the Board of Adjustment. They include Mr. Lane as chairman in addition to Mr. Gut, Mr. Auldwood, Mr. Brown, and Mr. Othman.

According to the City Charter, the Zoning and Planning Commission "shall recommend the boundaries of the various original districts and appropriate regulations to be enforced therein. Such recommendation shall make a preliminary report and hold public hearings thereon before submitting its final report and the governing authority of the City of Sanford shall not take any action under the authority of this act until it has received the final report of the commission."

The Board of Adjustment is given the authority to make special exceptions to the terms of any zoning ordinance adopted by the City. This board has no duties in connection with zoning and planning.

As explained by Mr. Brown, the same persons who draw up zoning regulations are then expected to hear hardship cases in connection with the regulations set up.

"I, for one," declared Mr. Brown, "find it difficult to be impartial in ruling on the cases when I was a member of the group drawing up the act."

His recommendation was that the remaining four of the City appoint four additional members who along with one liaison member of the Zoning and Planning Commission would then comprise the Board of Adjustment.

The Council took the matter under consideration with Mayor Auldwood's Office declaring the proposed plan sounds very good to him.

Fatal Accident Is Ruled Unavoidable

A verdict of "unavoidable accident" was returned Friday by a coroner's jury investigating the death on Mar. 3 of Charles Humphrey, who was crushed under the wheels of a truck at the corner of French Avenue and Sixth Street.

Members of the jury sitting before Justice of the Peace Hugh Duncan were J. L. Dunn, E. E. Brady, J. P. Bowcock, George Smith, W. H. Hood, and the Rev. W. W. Miller, Robert Griggs, assistant state's attorney, directed the inquest.

Proposals Made For Sanford Compensation For Industrial Board Officers Sought

By CHARLES SOMMERBY

When George W. Simon, Jacksonville, an outstanding city planner and zoning expert, made a proposal that officers of the Industrial Board be paid for their services with money to be made available by that body, the City of Sanford, through numerous recommendations concerning the City of Sanford, during the day he had had an opportunity to become acquainted with the problems which are confronting Sanford.

Simon, who has been in the city since last Friday night at the City Hall.

Each County, who serves both as chairman of the Sanford Industrial Board and as president of Sanford Industries, Inc., recommended the same officers serve on both groups, but be paid in their own right.
