Survey Reveals That Many Requests Have Been Made For Cash

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 8.—Local lumber and supply dealers who have conducted a survey to determine the extent of interest here in the National Housing Administration's home modernization program expressed themselves as disinterested with the results of the survey at a meeting held recently at the St. Petersburg Novelty Works.

Interest was lacking, it was reported. However, Henry Simpson, credit manager of the Pinellas Lumber Company and member of the dealers' committee appointed to make the survey, reported that he had received requests for new construction totaling $50,000 and requests for home modernization totaling $9,000.

He said he would continue to push the campaign to secure loans here for residents desiring to repair and improve their homes.

MILD BUILDING BOOM REPORTED THROUGH SOUTH

92 Percent Increase In Construction For 8 Months Is Reported

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Construction, building and engineering activities in 16 Southern states continued to climb during August and for the first eight months of this year had increased 92 percent over the same period of 1933.

The Manufacturers Record reported yesterday that construction awards of $43,157,000 during August represented an increase of five percent over the month of July and 13 percent over August, 1933.

The total expenditure of $346,187,000 on construction work during the first eight months of the year was nearly twice as much as the $180,007,000 expended during the same period of 1933. The 1934 totals were 36 percent greater than in the same period of 1932, when construction contracts totaling $254,545,000 were awarded.

Roads, streets and bridge projects led in the way during the entire eight months. The Record reported. Awards of $12,483,000 in August brought to $137,827,000 the total for this classification during this year. The report also said indications are that contract letting for such projects will be heavy during the next few months, because of favorable weather conditions during the winter months.

"On the whole there are evidences of building and construction activity in volume," The Manufacturers Record said, "but account must be taken of the fact that federal projects and federally-financed projects dominate. For months now funds have been expended with almost reckless abandon in an effort to prime the pump and start the flow of private funds into building, construction and industrial projects. But a survey of the situation reveals that more than any one thing essential to a return to normalcy in the construction industry is a restoration of confidence."

General building awards during August amounted to $6,082,000 bringing the amount so far this year to $22,229,000. Contracts for store buildings totaled $618,000 during the past month. Private owners and chain stores were reported as opening new stores and improving locations.

declared in a statement issued from his office after conferring with leaders of the nationwide walkout.

That means that the "war chests" of the powerful unions will be placed at the disposal of the strikers.

Green was not prepared to say the amount of money that will be hurled into the battle.

"The unions will give such financial assistance as they are able to give," he said.

There are approximately 4,000,000 workers associated in labor unions affiliated with the federation. An assessment of $5 a worker would place $20,000,000 available to the textile leaders to continue their battle to the end with the industry.

The success or failure of the strike was seen here last night to depend on the amount of money provided for the strikers.

When German issued the call which brought nearly 400,000 workers from their looms and spindles, the textile union had less than $1,000,000 with which to care for their needy.

They said they might demand federal relief but denied they had made application for it so far.

Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins said yesterday no relief would be given to strikers unless it was proved beyond doubt that they were in need.

From Secretary of Labor Perkins came word that the "government has never financed or supported a strike."

WHERE FIRST LIVES WERE LOST IN MILL STRIKE

As the general textile strike spread riotously through the south and east, the first lives were taken in an outbreak at Trion, Ga. Two men were killed there and more than a score were wounded when strike sympathizers clashed at the Trion cotton mill. W. M. Hix, a deputy sheriff, and J. V. Blalock, strike sympathizer, were the two killed. Above is shown the mill where the gun battle took place. Below is a group of pickets in front of the plant. They armed themselves with clubs and iron bars. Mac Harris (arrow) a strike, was wounded in the neck. (Associated Press Photos)

OUSTED OFFICIAL SAYS CONSCIENCE CLEAR OF GUILT

Bob Simpson Says He Called Shots' Attention To Shortage

MIAMI, Sept. 8.—Declaring his conscience is clear of any wrong-doing and calling attention to the fact that it was he who discovered the shortage with which his office is charged, Bob Simpson, for 10 years county tax collector, upon his return recently issued a statement regarding his recent suspension by the Governor.

Simpson said he repeatedly asked for an audit and now that one has been made will spend as much time as necessary in an attempt to discover the cause of the shortage.

He also pledged his aid to W. R. Becker, appointed by the Governor to fill his office until the next term.

Becker meanwhile was completing details preparatory to checking in Sept. 1. One of these, he said, is word from the county commission as to whether it desires him to post $50,000 bond, as required by law, or $150,000, which he has offered.

Simpson's statement follows: "Upon my return to Miami I received an executive order suspending me from office. The matters set forth were fully explained by me to the Governor in my resignation of June 9. I estimated the shortage to be the same as that mentioned in the suspension order, and I also said the greater portion of that amount had been due for more than two years. The Governor agreed with me.

"This shortage, according to the audit which I requested, amounts to $127,809.10. My checking up shows that the shortage was for the year 1930-1931. When proceedings were started by me against my cashier in 1932, all I could then find short was about $40,000. For this shortage I had him arrested in 1932, and collected and turned over to the proper source $10,000 from his bond. This particular shortage is included in the $127,809.10 mentioned in the Governor's order.

"The state auditor's report was completed while I was in North Carolina last month, and I intend to closely examine it and determine, if it is possible, how the shortage occurred, but I know that it covers the period of 1930-1931. I took office under my present commission in January, 1933, and practically since that time have been ill. I feel sure, however, that there is no shortage during this present term of office.

"In the suspension order it was stated that partial collections were made for occupational taxes without licenses being issued, and that such collections were withheld in the sum of $1,450.50, but the order says that such collections had been turned over by me. This is correct. During the license year some merchants pay their license tax in installments, and fall to pay them in full before the end of the license year. If they pay in full, I issue a license; if they fail, I retain the money and turn it over at the end of the year to the county, keeping such amounts in a bank or invested in liberty bonds until my turn-over is made.

"In regard to my other tax collections the money is turned into the proper fund within the time stated in the statute, but during the year 1930-1931, when I discovered the shortages complained of, the tax roll could not be balanced until an audit was made, and such audit, as I say, was not completed until July of this year.

"It will be necessary for me to check over the auditor's report and determine what amounts therein are errors chargeable to the errors and insolvency list, and what amounts therein, if any, were lost when banks closed their doors, and which are now in process of liquidation. I started the investigation which led to the discovery of the shortage; I repeatedly asked for an audit; I welcomed a thorough investigation of my office because I knew and now know that it will ultimately be shown that I personally have not received and kept any money, irregularly or improperly. My conscience is clear.

"I feel pleased that the Governor has appointed a man of the caliber of Mr. Becker to take over my office, and I shall be glad to render him every assistance and co-operation which he is entitled to in his new position. I am, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant, Bob Simpson."

NEW PICKET DRIVES WILL BE LAUNCHED

Settlement Efforts At Standstill With Manufacturers Refusing Proposals

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. (A.P.)—Renewed picketing drives were planned today by strike leaders in the nation's textile walkout as many mill owners reported their intention of re-opening plants under military protection.

Efforts toward a settlement of the controversy were at a standstill as the strike entered the second week after manufacturers had rejected the arbitration proposal by labor.

Francis J. Gorman, national strike leader had proposed that the mediation board headed by Governor John G. Winant, of New Hampshire, summon employers' representatives while Gorman and union leaders would represent labor.

The textile mediation board moved last night to speed up arbitration of the nation-wide walkout of mill workers as labor fixed 6 P. M. today as the deadline for acceptance by industry of its plan to settle the dispute.

Chairman John G. Winant invited George A. Sloan, head of the cotton textile institute, to meet with the board this morning to discuss the strike leaders' proposal.

Sloan accepted. The mill owners previously had ignored the offer of an armed truce made last night by Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the special strike committee of the United Textile Workers.

Gorman proposed all mills be closed while the textile board attempts to arbitrate the dispute. Union pickets would prevent the plants from reopening if the decision of the board would be mandatory by both the operators and labor.

Late yesterday, after he had failed to hear from representatives of the industry, Gorman fixed 6 P. M. today as the deadline for the mill owners.

"We have made our move to restore peace to the industry," he said. "If the owners do not accept—well, we can do nothing more. It will be their move."

Wholesale Gasoline Market Nears Collapse

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(A.P.)—A plan intended to prevent a threatened collapse of the wholesale gasoline market and at the same time clamp the lid down more tightly on illegal petroleum production was approved today by Secretary Ickes. It was brought forward by the industry and recommended by its planning board.

The co-ordination committee proposal provides for the purchase of all surplus gasoline by major oil companies in the entire area east of the Rocky mountains. Most of gasoline will be obtained from small, independent refiners.

Hefty Daytonan Wins $300 Prize At Movie

DAYTONA, Sept. 10.—Kostar de Bois, ex-farmer, ex-musician and current deputy sheriff, walked out of the Empire playhouse last night richer by $300—first winner in a contest which has lasted for six weeks.

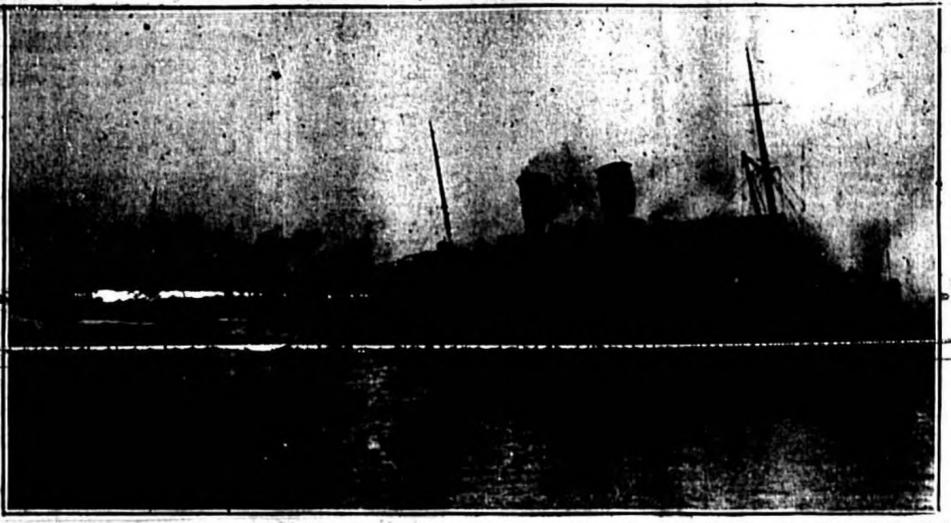

The famous theater and the crowd outside was hushed as the winner was announced. De Bois, seated in the balcony heard his name and rose to the stage. It was quite a room since Monsieur De Bois tips the scales at 204. He was identified and presented with the money.

For five weeks names of absent persons have been called out and the fund has mounted at the rate of $50 a week.

TREASURY PLANS TEST OF CREDIT OF ITS NEW DEAL

Huge Refinancing Program Already Seen As Big Success

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The government announced plans last night for its huge refinancing program which will determine whether the New Deal's credit is good.

All treasury officials are confident it will be. The treasury will ask persons holding a total of $1,250,000,000 worth of maturing fourth Liberty bonds, bearing a 4-1-4 percent interest, to exchange them for bonds bearing 3-1-4 percent interest.

Owners of such bonds have the option of demanding cash. If the owners are willing to take the new bonds instead of cash, the government will know its credit still is good.

The maturing issues also include $524,748,500 for 1-1-2 percent certificates due Sept. 15. Holders of the certificates are offered the right to exchange them for new 1-1-2 percent two-year notes.

The offering of the refunding new issues at attractive rates for the maturing issues was the government's assurance of "sound" monetary steps at least for the present as the retirement of the maturing obligations entirely with cash would have been interpreted as "inflationary" in some quarters.

Neal Myers Freed By Jury Of Farmers

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 10.—(A.P.)—A jury of farmers acquitted Neal Myers yesterday of a charge of murder brought in connection with the death of his college sweetheart, Marian Mills, 19.

Tears flooded the eyes of the 21-year-old pharmacy student, as the jury announced the verdict, overriding the state's contention that the University of Oklahoma beauty queen died last July from the effects of an illegal operation for which it sought to hold Myers responsible.

REPLY MADE TO CHARGE AGAINST PRODUCE BUYERS

Facts Easily Secured Give True Picture, Claims Dingfelder

Julius Dingfelder, prominent local resident and Florida representative for the New York and Florida commission firm of C. I. & M. Dingfelder, replies to the charge that commission men are "sheeping" the farmer to death with the statement that the charge is not upheld by facts which are available to all persons through the Federal Marketing Service.

Admitting that there are some "unsuitable commission houses," Mr. Dingfelder also states that over production, inferior quality, poor pack, and reckless distribution may be blamed for the "evil" situation.

In a statement released to The Herald this morning, Mr. Dingfelder says as follows: "As a reader of your daily paper I noticed in various issues attacks made by various persons and groups disparaging commission men, supposedly handling various crops produced in this section and repeating a remark made and published recently, these commission men 'sheeping' the grower to death."

"There is hardly an industry whose success or failure is as closely aligned with the welfare of the producer or shipper as that of the commission man and the perishable industry."

"The writer wishes to go on record in stating if the various persons and groups attacking the commission merchant and the industry had carefully thought over conditions which actually existed for the past three or four years and if this was not in their knowledge, they should obtain (Continued On Page 3)

Havana Excited Over Morro Castle Affair

HAVANA, Sept. 10.—(A.P.)—Without newspapers as the result of the recent law prohibiting their publication on Sunday, relatives and friends of passengers aboard the ill-fated liner Morro Castle yesterday besieged the Associated Press offices here in quest of information.

The capital, shocked and saddened by the disaster that overtook the Ward liner that sailed from Havana Wednesday, could talk of nothing else.

The dead: Carl S. Coffey, 34, pilot owner of the plane; Ralph Mathis, 41, a farmer, Rt. 2, Roaring River; Robert Green, 27, Clingman merchant; and Lester Boyd, 24, a mechanic, Yadkinville.

SUPREME COURT REVERSES PAIR'S DEATH SENTENCE

Judge Made Reversible Error In Palatka Case In His Charge

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 10. (A.P.)—The supreme court today reversed for new trial the conviction and life imprisonment sentences of Mosby Finch and Ralph Stokes on a charge of kidnaping in Putnam county.

It was a reversible error, the court ruled, when Judge George Jackson, presiding at the trial in Palatka, failed to charge the jury that the proof of kidnaping for ransom was necessary to return a conviction under the so-called "Florida Lindbergh Law."

Finch and Stokes, charged with kidnaping Adam Sikes and holding him for ransom, were the first to be convicted under the law.

Landis Rules Again On Local Option Elections Of Nov. 7

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 10. (A.P.)—Attorney General Cary D. Landis today ruled that local option prohibition elections called on petitioners presented to county commissioners prior to Sept. 7 are invalid, but he held that the petitions could be withdrawn and presented again, and the elections would be legal.

Local option elections may be held on the same date as the general election, the Attorney General said, if five percent of the qualified voters sign a petition calling for the ballot.

Grace Liner Safe In Port After Close Call

HALFOA, Canal Zone, Sept. 10. (A.P.)—The Grace liner, Santa Rita, a fire smoldering in her hold and her passengers sleeping soundly in their cabins steamed to port today under her own power.

Canal Zone firemen who sped 50 miles into the Pacific Ocean to fight the blaze on the vessel were credited with saving her possibly from a fate like that of the Morro Castle.

Harold Taylor Freed In Death Of Girl

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 10.—(A.P.)—Harold Taylor, charged with killing Faye New, 19-year-old Howard college co-ed, was acquitted by a jury in Jefferson circuit court here yesterday.

Taylor, imperturbable and stoic through the trial, went as imperturbable as the words dinned on him, and his attorney Mord Montgomery, collapsed and had to be carried from the court room.

NEW DEAL BENEFITS RELATED

Richberg Points To Billion Dollar Gain In Farmers' Income As Proof Of Worth

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(A.P.)—More than $1,000,000,000 that a billion-dollar increase in farm income were Recovery milestones pointed out to President Roosevelt yesterday by Donald Richberg in his last report on New Deal achievements.

"You may take profound satisfaction in your leadership and in the achievements of your administration," the secretary of the executive council told his chief. He added that the record was one of many difficulties and some disappointment but on the whole of great achievement."

Issued on the eve of the Maine election today and primaries in 10 states later in the week, the report immediately was scoured by Republicans seeking answers helpful to their cause.

"The Nation has risen out of the depths of its worst depression," Richberg said, "and is moving steadily forward in the process of a definite economic recovery and is building new defenses against a recurrence of economic ills from which it has been suffering."

"The money expended in these great constructive efforts is, of course, far less than the cost of one year of participation in the World War with its vast destruction of life and property. It has been a small price to pay for a great gain."

Richberg said 16,000,000 applications in national and state employment services within the last 12 months indicated the magnitude of the unemployment problem, and added "it is natural to feel disappointment that there have not been greater reductions in unemployment."

"On the other hand," he said, "the achievements of one year are clearly evident, although only partially measured, by these facts: Over 4,000,000 workers have been re-employed in private enterprises. Over 1,000,000 others have been given temporary public employment. Over 67,000 have been employed during part of the year on permanent public works."

"Farm prices of seven basic commodities have been raised within the year to 95 percent of pre-war parity and total farm income has increased far more than one billion dollars. Over 5,000,000,000 have been (Continued on Page Three)

Big Store Cancels $176,436 In Debts

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(A.P.)—The Hearn Department Store announced in newspaper advertisements recently it had cancelled customers' debts aggregating $176,436.88.

Earlier this week the firm said it would discontinue all dividends for one year in order to lower prices and stimulate buying.

The Hearn announcement said "Several thousand people owe Hearn's for debts incurred on time payments before the store went on a cash basis two years ago. To them we say, 'Forget it! There's a New Deal. You owe us nothing.'"

"To that $176,436.88 we formally and finally relinquish all claims."

Incendiarist Held To Blame For Horrible Morro Castle Fire

Belief Based On Fact That Firebug Tried To Burn Ship Before; 79 Dead Identified

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(A.P.)—Chief Officer William F. Warms, Master of the Morro Castle, said the fire brought death to more than 100 of its passengers Saturday, told a government inquiry today he suspected that the blaze was started by an incendiarist.

Warms said he based his belief on the fact that an incendiary attempt was made on the boat on its previous voyage. He also thought significant the fact that a blaze was discovered in the ship's locker which "blew out" at the start of the fatal fire.

The company's formal report of first fire, produced at the hearing, agreed with the details of the Chief Officer's story.

Pathe News releases first pictures of the Morro Castle disaster at the Milane Theater tonight. The picture was taken from an airplane circling the burning ship early Saturday morning while passengers can be plainly seen leaping into the water. Survivors tell the story of their rescue. Other pictures show exhausted passengers struggling in the water near the beach after their eight mile swim from the boat.

His belief was shared in Halifax, the Canal Zone, by several officers of the Grace liner, Santa Rita, which made port today, with a fire in her hold, also declared after docking that "The fire here and also on the Morro Castle was the work of an international radical organization."

Their views were shared in Havana by Captain Oscar Hernandez, Chief of the Havana Port Police, who declared that "The Morro Castle fire seems to have been the work of communists, apparently of a passenger who boarded the ship with fire-making chemicals in his baggage."

At Asbury Park, a terrific blast which shot sparks and flaming embers high in the air today prevented spectators from boarding the hull of the luxurious liner which caught fire Saturday.

Morgan Income Tax Returns Under Fire

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(A.P.)—The Senate Banking Committee charged internal revenue agents today with "hasty enforcement" for accepting "Without examination" the income tax returns prepared by J. P. Morgan and Company.

The lengthy review of evidence that officials of the Morgan Company of Kuhn, Loeb and Company, and the Capital City Bank of New York "Avoided" income taxes by "A variety of methods" was presented by the committee.

James Roosevelt Safe After Being Missing

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—James Roosevelt, the President's eldest son, reported lost at sea last night, is safe at Portland, Maine, he notified his summer home at Marion by telephone. He was on a racing schooner, reported overdue. Coast guard and naval vessels had been ordered to search for the missing boat.

Interesting, Restful Vacations Enjoyed By Local Clergymen During Summer

Interesting and thoroughly restful vacations were enjoyed by local clergymen this summer, it is revealed in short interviews secured by The Herald today from Rev. H. D. Brownlee, Rev. J. H. Root, Rev. W. A. Cooper, and Rev. Mattie W. Bram, who have just returned from visits to several sections of the country.

Rev. Bram accompanied Rev. H. L. Loutill, former pastor of Holy Cross Episcopal Church, to the School of the Prophets in Evergreen, Colorado, where they spent three of their six weeks of vacation in study and reflection. En route to Colorado by way of Chicago and St. Louis, Rev. Bram stated that "Nothing is exaggerated in stories about the effect of the long drought, for we saw hardly a blade of green grass or foliage from the time we crossed the Mississippi until we reached Denver."

Among the things which impressed Rev. Bram and Rev. Loutill were the great numbers of new automobiles seen on the highways, the hundreds of tourists from all sections of the country, and the activity in the gold mine regions of Colorado and the oil well regions of Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Fire At Sea

On its last night out of New York, the Morro Castle, queen of the Ward Line, plowed through a running sea.

Suddenly, at that hour just before the dawn, when all in darkest and man's resistance to the terror of the unknown is at its lowest ebb, the shout of "Fire!" rang through the ship.

A husky whistle, clanging bells, and scurrying seamen shouting through the narrow passageways, smothered vacationers from pleasant dreams to the realities of an impending tragedy.

Passengers huddled together on the rear deck, showered by sparks but temporarily safe from the flames, wondering what to do next, were told they had to take the same chances as the crew.

Cornered between fire and sea, they saw the flames sweeping aft, licking out at them like great hungry tongues.

Bobbing around in these turbulent waters were some several hundred human beings. Clinging desperately to her little baby was a woman, dashed again and again against the lifeboat trying to save her.

When the night of horror had passed, all that was left of the once proud Morro Castle was the smouldering hull, a few charred bodies, and the twisted and blistered metal plates of its superstructure.

Far up in the bow, the First Officer, Captain, now, in the first hours of his command, watched his ship burn beneath him.

When Hitler and Mussolini met in Venice and talked over the European situation a few months ago, they evidently agreed that German efforts to form a union with Austria would be suspended and that Nazi seditious activities against the Dollfuss government would cease.

Ready To Fight

When Hitler and Mussolini met in Venice and talked over the European situation a few months ago, they evidently agreed that German efforts to form a union with Austria would be suspended and that Nazi seditious activities against the Dollfuss government would cease.

How well this set with Mussolini was shown by his prompt dispatch of several divisions of Italian troops to the Austrian border and the repeated statements of the Austrian press that no external interference in Austrian affairs would be tolerated.

Then, too, there has been the maneuvering behind the scenes of those puppet states, the Archduke Otto and the Princess Maria. They are going to be married.

Such a marriage would bring Austria under a sort of Italian protectorate. It would end for all time every thought of an Anschluss, or Austro-German union.

So Mussolini has been making speeches of late. He has been predicting that the "Second World War" is not a thing of tomorrow but of the present.

No one can believe that Mussolini really wants war. He cannot afford it, either with respect to his personal fortunes, or the fortunes of Italy.

He cannot afford it, either with respect to his personal fortunes, or the fortunes of Italy. What he wants is, to unite Austria, Hungary and Italy to set up a sort of modern Holy Roman Empire, under the rule, or at least under the protectorate, of himself.

But with other personally ambitious dictators in Europe, each with equally grandiose plans for the future, one may well wonder what the outcome will be.

and reckless distribution as being blamed for the evil of condition.

"Admitting that there may be unreliable commission houses, these may be also some unreliable producers. This, however, will not let the just condemn the entire industry for the failings of some few."

"It may also interest the reader that at present about ten leading commission houses in New York under great expense are conducting a daily advertising campaign over the radio telling the housewives what to buy and how to prepare fruits and vegetables, stressing the consumption of these commodities and so creating a large consumer demand for perishables produced by the growers of the nation."

"Finally, in all fairness to all concerned, I trust that these lines will put some critics to start thinking before wanting to belittle the efforts of the commission men in trying to solve his own problems."

"The commission merchant knows that the struggle has been hard for the producer, but have the critics forgotten that we had a depression with millions of wage earners out of work and their buying power reduced to nothing."

"Furthermore, a great part of the language speaking at this section and the colony industry has been sold to receivers and jobbers, whose profits are told to be immense. Statistics from above mentioned sources will tell a different story."

"We do fancy and think that the commission merchant is a necessary part of the industry and that the consumer is benefited by his services."

Capitol Comment

BY BYRON BRACE

WASHINGTON, D. C. Sept. 16.—Whatever Herbert Hoover's present standing with the voters may be, his return to the forum of public affairs has certain implications which no practical politician discounts.

These implications include no supposition that Mr. Hoover will be a candidate in 1936, or will influence greatly the choice then to be made by his party.

He is judged today in the political realm more as a symbol than as a leader. No one doubts there are many who feel that as he does, whether or not they would be willing to endorse party fortunes again.

The man's words, divorced from his own individuality and personal estate, are what the politicians are thinking of. The fact that he is willing to break his silence leads them to wonder how many others may be approaching Mr. Hoover actually in the same state of mind.

In his magazine article Mr. Hoover was not only a warning against "regimentation" of words, incidentally, which he introduced into political discussion.

His speaking out carries something of a warning—in two directions.

It is notice that the admission is over that one class of sentiment against Mr. Roosevelt, which has been dormant for a long time is breaking out again in full force and vigor.

At the same time it is notice of the difficulties this sentiment will have in organizing itself for practical expression.

On one hand, it shows the "progressive" Republicans, who never really liked Mr. Hoover, that he and his kind still are members of the party, and need. On the other, it shows the new American Liberty League how hard it will be to incorporate all such opinion under one flag.

One scarcely can imagine Messrs. J. P. Morgan, Al Smith, et al. welcoming Mr. Hoover to their fold, even though he is talking now much as they are.

The difficulty of finding a common ground on which to oppose Mr. Roosevelt is shown still further by the fact that Mr. Hoover's attack is based primarily on only one of two main counts involved in the current dispute.

Mr. Hoover regards the Roosevelt policies as fundamentally unorthodox and unconstitutional. There is another large section of criticism based on the fact that at all its opposition is practical, not traditional grounds.

It fears the outcome of the Roosevelt regime simply because it doubts whether it will work.

Such a doubt, apparently, is Mr. Lewis Duesch, who was left as budget director because he is apprehensive of the effects of continued large-scale spending.

He does not talk about the constitution; he is quite willing to let the past bury its social concepts and his friends hardly can see him rallying with Mr. Hoover. But he is interested in national solvency.

The problem troubling Mr. Roosevelt's opponents today is not the arousing of opposition sentiment which they are convinced already exists in appreciable strength.

Their problem is the organization of that sentiment and the elimination of difficulties among themselves.

To Mr. Roosevelt's partisans the dilemma of their enemies appears wholly impossible of solution. That is why they show so little worry about the outcome.

Petain Says War Is Not Virtue In Itself

Sanford, Fla., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Marcel Petain, French minister of war, yesterday asked Congress to remember that "war is not virtue in itself."
 The war minister spoke at the luncheon of the French-American association in the city of the battle of the Marne and the death of La Mairie.
 After tracing the history of the battle of the Marne, one of the World War's decisive conflicts, Marcel Petain said:
 "It may be thought that her dead, who sleep here at the side of the Marne, may remind Congress that war is not a virtue in itself, but that humanity, after a long and bloody struggle, in 1918, was able to find its way to peace and to create a lasting peace."
 Petain's speech was the first since his capture by the British in 1940.

Young People Attend Church Society Party

A large number of young people attended the regular meeting of the Senior Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian Church, held Sunday evening at the church. A picnic lunch was enjoyed at 8:00 P. M. after which the meeting took place.
 As president Miss Laura Mae Brown led the song service and presided over a short business session. Dr. F. D. Brown, who returned from his vacation, and Miss Mary Frances Anderson and Roland Lehman were his assistants.
 Miss Harriett Brown had charge of the program for the evening which had as its subject, "Good Will." Short talks were made by Miss Laura Mae Brown, Miss Ada Spillars, Roland Lehman, and Ronald Muirhead.

Miss Lucille Bolz Gives Rushing Party

A Pi Beta Phi sorority rushing party was given Saturday evening by Miss Lucille Bolz at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bolz, 1101 Park Avenue. Supper was served on small tables in the living room by the hostess, assisted by Miss Camilla Deas, and music was enjoyed throughout the evening.
 The large dining room table was overlaid with an Italian cut work cloth and had crystal appointments, candles, and floral decorations in shades of wine and silver blue, the sorority colors. Those present were: the Misses Gene Martin Laney, Frances Reitz, Thelma Benson, Martha Bishop, Betty Wheelless, and Camilla Deas.

Tri-Delts Entertain At Perrydell Supper

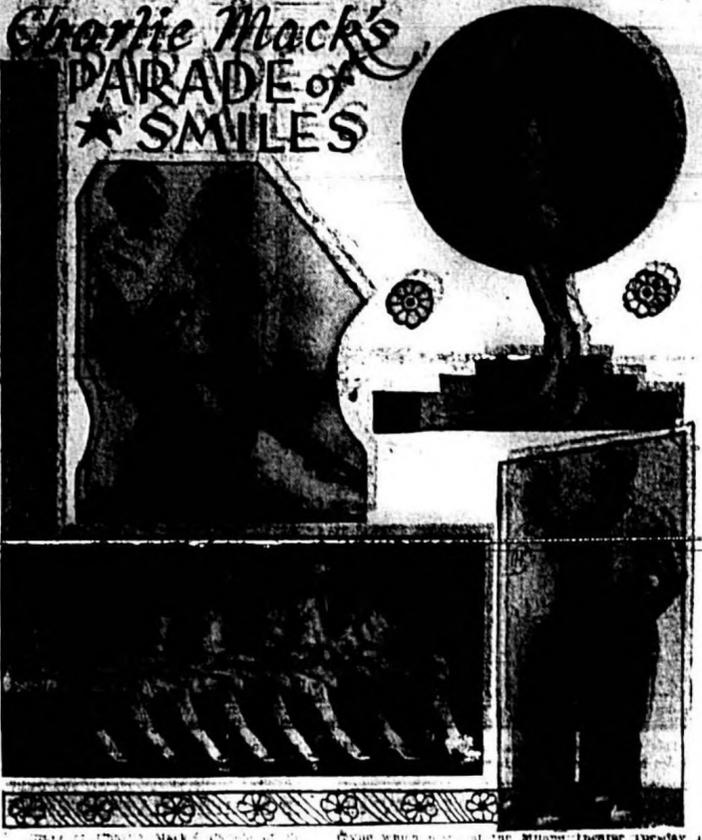

Central Florida members of the Delta Delta Delta sorority entertained about 60 guests with an informal buffet supper Saturday evening at Perrydell in Orlando with five persons from Sanford in attendance.
 Perrydell was decorated in the sorority colors of blue, white and yellow and represented a "Tri-Delta Night Club" with three large lighted "Deltas" marking the entrance. Supper was served at small tables and a program of entertainment was given with "Nifty" Marshall as master of ceremonies.
 Those invited from here were: Mrs. Roy Mann, Miss Betty McKinnon, and Miss Louise Hickson, members, and the Misses Betty Wheelless, Thelma Benson, and Gene Martin Laney.

Arthur Bridges, Jr. Resigns From Post At Seminole High

 Recent observation leads Mr. Lawton, who has just returned from a three week's vacation in Waynesville, N. C., to believe that the enrollment in county schools this year will exceed that of last year by at least five percent.
 There may be a slight decrease or no change reported in Seminole High School enrollment, Mr. Lawton believes, but all other county schools should reveal an increase in membership.
 Mr. Lawton's visit to Carolina was in the nature of a vacation which was thoroughly enjoyed. He reported it as having many others that hundreds of tourists roamed the Carolina mountains and every other auto seemed to carry a Florida or Georgia tag.
 In commenting on school conditions in North Carolina, Mr. Lawton observed that people in that state have many advantages and services which are foreign in Carolina.
 For instance, he said, there is a school for every route in this county in the Waynesville area and in several places. As a result some pupils have to travel the school as early as 6:00 o'clock in the morning if they expect to catch the bus to school.
 Mr. Lawton stated that for the remainder of this week, Mr. McKay, principal of Seminole High School, will be at his office in the school each day for the purpose of enrolling students and assisting them in selecting the proper course of study.

Restful Vacations Enjoyed By Five Local Clergymen

 made their annual pilgrimage to Montreat, N. C., where for three weeks they enjoyed a delightful weather and the associations of scores of friends, old and new.
 The Montreat was in attendance at the various conferences held on the Presbyterian church assembly grounds at Montreat. They report that more than 4,000 persons were registered as having attended the Assembly this summer, the largest number ever to gather for this purpose. Crews were everywhere, they report, with tourists from Florida predominating.

Rev. Root and his family motored into the Boston, Mass., area, where they resided for many years. Visits with relatives and friends occupied most of their nearly one month vacation which was featured by fine weather and much time for rest.

Conditions in that section, Mrs. Root reported, appear to be about the same as in Florida. The Root's returned to Sanford before the general tax-tile strike went into effect, else they might have motored along routes which now are the scenes of clashes between strikers and mill owners' representatives.
 Rev. Cooper and Mrs. Cooper spent their summer in and around Meriden, Conn., visiting relatives and friends. It was a fine vacation, according to Rev. Cooper, and one of unusual interest in that it allowed Rev. Cooper to make many observations as to the trend of events.

Enroute home the Coopers stopped in Virginia to visit relatives, and there they had a chance to observe the signs which indicate that the New Deal is making head felt apparently more in the South than in the North.
 Among other local clergymen who report having had a pleasant summer in other sections is Rev. Wm. P. Brooks, Jr., of the First Baptist Church, who returned to Sanford some days ago.

Billy Akerman, of Orlando, spent Sunday evening here with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wynn W. Potter spent yesterday and today at Daytona Beach.

A. R. Van Tol and Ralph B. Powell, representatives of the LaSalle Extension University of Chicago, are staying at the Montezuma Hotel for a few days.

Miss Emma Spencer has returned to Mountain Lake, N. J., after spending the summer here with her sister, Mrs. George Harden, and other relatives.

Dr. and Mrs. Allan Jones and son, Allan Jones, Jr., arrived yesterday from Miami Beach and are the guests of Mrs. Minnie Jones at her home on Park Avenue. They plan to leave tomorrow for points in North Carolina for a short vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Raborn and son, M. L. Raborn, Jr., have returned from a trip to Chicago and points in Tennessee. Mrs. Raborn and their son were in Tennessee the greater part of the summer while Mr. Raborn was away about 10 days.

Incediarist Held To Blame For Fatal Morro Castle Fire

The ship lies, two more bodies were washed up. Both were bodies of men.
The explosion, balked firemen and Coast Guardsmen in their efforts to board the liner and investigate the interior of the hull with their hose.
Meanwhile the identified dead list had risen to 79, with passengers missing, 27, and crew missing 21.

State troops were brought into the confusion of Asbury Park to control the immense crowd gathered to view the charred remains of the Morro Castle yesterday as it lay barely 50 feet off the beach.

With more than 200,000 persons swarming over the beach and through the streets of this small resort city, local officials found it necessary to call for militia.

Hundreds of relatives and friends of those who died in the horror at sea were at nearby Sea Girl, threading their way through long rows of cots on which the shrouded bodies of 78 of the victims lay.

The twisted steel shell of the Morro Castle became a curio as it lay deeply embedded in the sand, seriously close to the municipal cemetery.

Thousands of persons paid a fee of 25 cents to enter the Convention hall and gain a better view. A placard in front announced that the proceeds would go to the relatives of the dead.

The ship's port side, with three heat-buckled life boats still swinging from their davits, faced the beach where the crowd was dense.

Half a dozen express cars of the Pennsylvania railroad were brought in to Sea Girl to transport bodies to Jersey City. Of the bodies in the temporary morgue there, three were children, 30 men and 39 women. Only six had been claimed by relatives.

Six National Guard planes went out again yesterday to patrol the scene of the tragedy. When they came back they said they had seen no bodies in the water.

The decks of the liner were littered with compacts and vanity cases. Apparently these articles were the first things the women thought of saving.

The cause of the disaster remained a mystery.

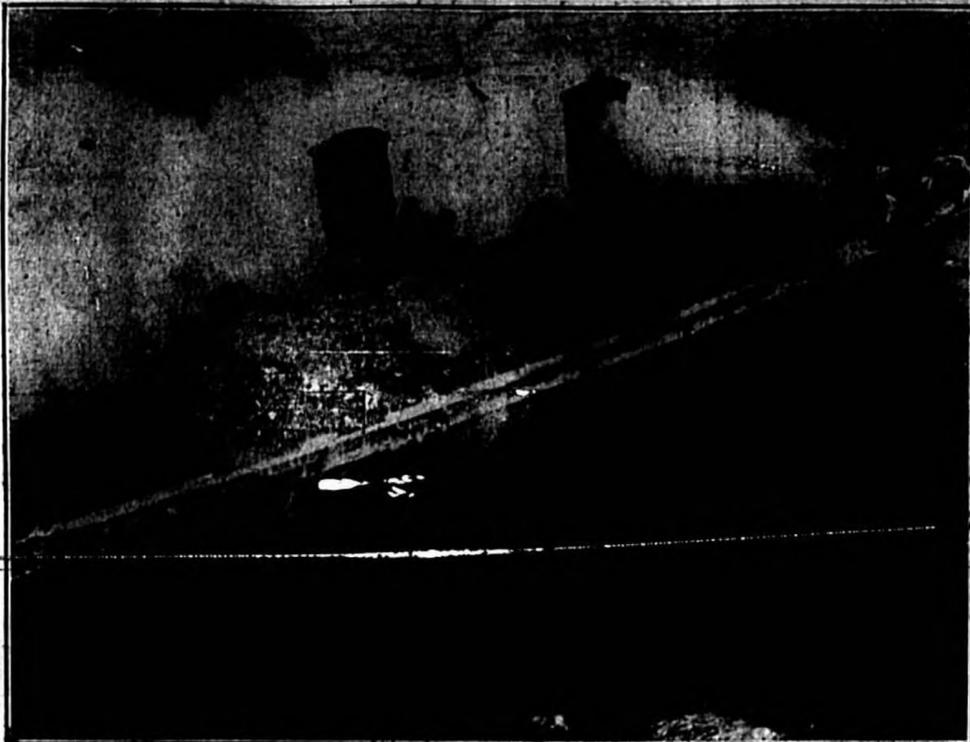

One of the bar room stewards was quoted as saying he believed the fire started from a cigarette stub. He said the cigarette, thrown by a passenger who was in a drinking party in the bar room, landed on a pile of crates near a 5,000 gallon oil tank; the flames spread to the tank which exploded.

There was still much discussion among the survivors over the fact that most of the crew escaped—that the lifeboats which managed to reach shore carried few of the ship's passengers.

Commander Rose, who played an important part in the whole dramatic drama, told this story:

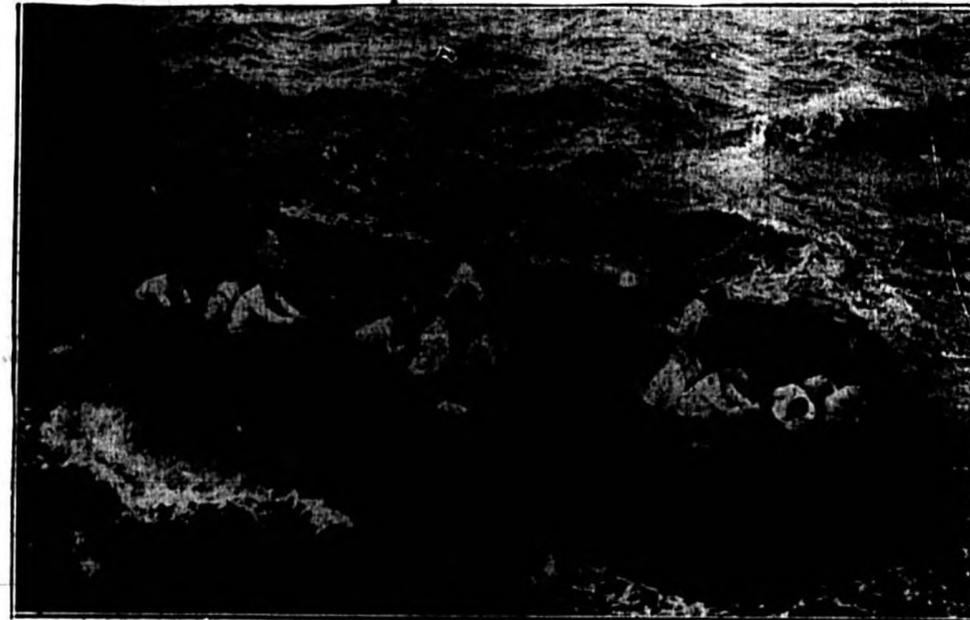

"There were 11 survivors on the Tampa and the Sandy Hook pilot boat kept three. The men were taken off the Morro Castle by the power boat and they gave us 11. We anchored ahead of the Morro Castle and sent out a boat, but it had trouble with the 12 inch hawser. I radioed the Sandy Hook boat and after a great deal of trouble got the hawser onto the Morro Castle. We asked them if they wanted a tow and they said yes. I thought it best to tow them to New York harbor and to try to salvage

MORRO CASTLE STRIPPED BY FIRE

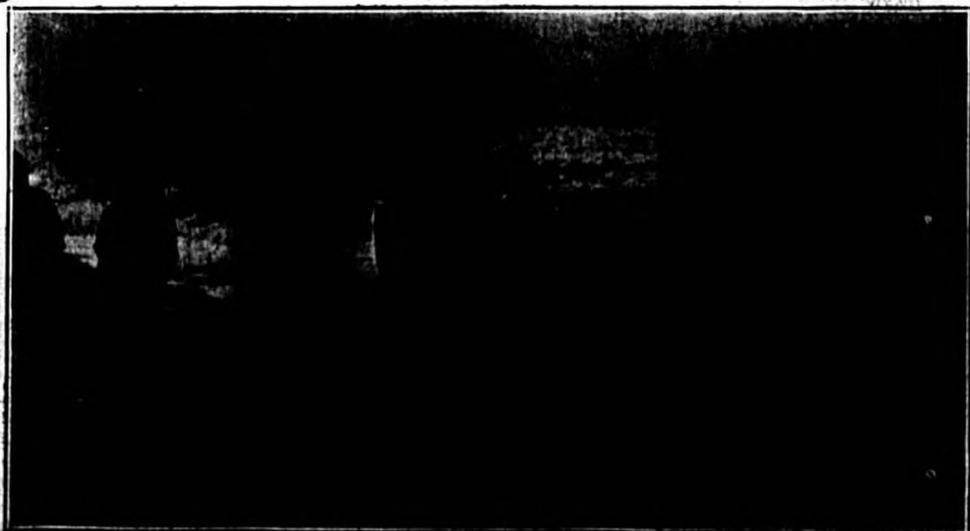

This photograph from an airplane shows the Morro Castle's stern as it was raked by fire that claimed more than 100 lives. The port holes and windows through which some of the passengers made their escape are plainly visible.

"SAVED AT LAST," CRY OF MORRO CASTLE'S SURVIVORS

The photograph illustrates the danger confronted by the surviving passengers who were able to escape the flames. These persons clambered aboard a life boat in stormy seas and safely made their way to the S. S. Monarch of Bermuda which they are shown boarding.

SURVIVE FIRE AND MOUNTAINOUS SEAS IN FRAIL CRAFT

Here are three survivors of the blaze. The half-dressed woman, suffering from shock and exposure, was just preparing to leave the boat after it was beached. Only 12 of the liner's life boats were able to get away in the mountainous seas.

her with the aid of the New York fire boats.
"We reached the Morro Castle at 8 A. M., Saturday and lost two hours because of the hawser. The 14 men on the Morro Castle had no winches or power. They had nothing to raise the anchor and they had to cut the three-inch chain with backaws. The men on board were all weak from lack of food and water, and that made the job harder for them.
"Then the critical moment came when the chain was cut and we had to take the men off. They went down a rope on the side into the power boat and we had to work very quickly. The fact that there was no fire forward made all this possible. In my opinion they were the heroes of the job because they stayed behind. They elected to stay while the others decided to go.
"When the men had been taken on board the Tampa one of them had been burned on the chest because of delirium. He stayed in the radio room for quite some time and the men got the best of him.

"Capt. W. F. Warren wanted to stay on his ship. I could see no purpose in that and I did not want to take him off later by lifeboat. Warren's left hand was broken but I don't know how it happened.
"Commander Rose was questioned on the report that the ship appeared to be on "A" deck.

"Yes," he said, "so far as I could see the fire was in the upper part of the ship."
Commander Rose would not discuss the reason why the machinery all in the lower part of the hull had suddenly gone out of commission at the time of the tragedy, so that it was impossible even to start the vessel from the harbor or to use the mechanical equipment on deck.

Executive meeting, it will be one attended by not all of the Commissioners, since Commissioner V. A. Spear is on his vacation. Items of interest set for tonight include the awarding of a bid for a light weight police cruising car, and a probable start on the 1934-35 budget. The meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The hallucination that he was being pursued by someone he could not describe sent Carl Butler, young negro who resides in West Goldsboro, into such a state of violence at about 2:30 o'clock this morning that it required nearly five men to hold him and bring him to the County Jail for safekeeping. His loud-voiced ravings awakened scores of persons along the route of the motor ride from Goldsboro to the jail, and terror was written on the features of many of the jail inmates even after Butler was placed in a cell. He is being held for investigation. This morning he had quieted down and appeared to be perfectly rational.

Not 16 but 19 painters went to work on the City Hall this morning to complete the exterior painting which was interrupted last Wednesday when 16 of the men struck in protest against the FERA screw payment system. The men are reported as having agreed upon a financial arrangement, and they will remain at work until the exterior job has been completed, probably 40 more hours of work.

T. L. Dumas, J. O. Adams, C. E. Adams, and George E. Rollins, local Coast Line officials will join Harry Papworth, Karl Lehmann, B. F. Haines and Lewis D. Haines, Chambers of Commerce, in Lee-attendance at the September meeting of the Central Florida Council Chambers of Commerce in Leesburg tomorrow morning. The principal speaker at the meeting is Senator T. G. Futch, of Leesburg, with R. A. McCranie, of Jacksonville, as another important speaker.

CITY AGAINST HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION

Commissioners Vote In Favor Of Resolution Calling Act's Passage "Unwise"

The vote of the City of Sanford is one against the passage of the proposed Homestead Act, it was revealed at a City Commission meeting last night when the commissioners' officially approved action taken some days ago after a telephone poll of the membership.

Disapproval, as a City Commission, of the Amendment is expressed in favor of the passage of the following resolution by the Florida League of Municipalities:

"Be It Resolved That the Florida League of Municipalities believes that the adoption in the November 1934 election of the proposed Constitutional Amendment for exemption from all taxation of homesteads up to $5000 in valuation, would be unwise."

The meeting, more or less routine in nature, revealed a desire on the part of the Bondholders' Protective Committee that no change be made in the millage for the coming year.

"A budget and tax levy in substantially the same form as last year's budget and tax levy will be satisfactory to the committee," the Commissioners were advised in a letter from L'Engle and Shands, Jacksonville attorneys for the Committee.

The letter made one exception to this year's levy and budget, and that is that the uncollected taxes levied for the year 1933 shall not be appropriated to the purchase of bonds, but shall be re-appropriated to those purposes for which such taxes were levied."

The Commissioners' reaction to this letter was that they would delay final decision on the new budget ending a meeting with the Committee. The letter stated that "it will be impractical for the Committee to meet for the purpose of discussing re-funding until about Oct. 1, and that it is the desire of the Committee that the adoption of the City's budget and tax levy for 1934 be not delayed until that time."

Less than a minute after H. H. Coleman, local manager of the Florida Power and Light Co., had appeared to say that "I'd like to balance out our accounts," the Commissioners had unanimously approved the payment of an unpaid 1933 balance of $1390 and the July account owed by the city to the company provided the company would pay the more than $2100 it owed as personal property tax.

HUEY BACKS THEM WITH BAYONETS

Representatives Paul H. Maloney (left) and J. O. Fernandez (right), who have the support of Senator Huey Long in today's election in Louisiana.

Dark clouds hung in the sky, threatening rain, but the voters came out in such crowds that observers predicted there would be a record balloting.

The whole fight was between "Kingfish" Long and "Turkeyhead" Walmsley, as the two principals are styled, even though neither is himself a candidate.

Both Long and Walmsley are supporting two congressmen, supreme court, justice and public service commission candidates in the New Orleans district.

An arbitration committee was in complete control of the election. Non-factional plain clothes officers were dispatched to the polls to handle disputes, and the committee had 300 men to send out in case of trouble.

So, after two months of hurrah for soldiers and police, personal investive, court battles, and threats of armed conflict, today's balloting brought the first real peace.

New Orleans will go to the polls today under the threat of almost 5000 guns to choose between the "dictatorship" of Senator Long and the rule of the old regulars of the city, captained by Mayor Walmsley.

With all of the Louisiana National Guard encamped in New Orleans, opposed by Mayor Walmsley. (Continued on Page Four)

BLAZING HULK OF DEATH SHIP STILL MENACES

Searchers Ordered To Remain Off Vessel Until Explorers Hazard Is Reduced

ASHBURY PARK, Sept. 11.—(A.P.)—The blazing, fire-scarred hulk of the Morro Castle today still was considered a "ticking" menace not to be invaded with impunity.

A threat of further explosions in the wrecked liner caused officials to reevid orders to put city firemen aboard.

As a precautionary measure, the beach near the vessel was ordered cleared of all persons, and a portion of the boardwalk was closed to spectators.

Meanwhile, at New York, an investigation continued before federal officials trying to determine the cause of the fire which took probably 131 lives early Saturday morning.

In the testimony of Clarence Hackney, second officer, and Irwin Freeman, third officer, it was brought out that the fire "broke" to get off the flames from non-burning sections of the ship were not lowered because the officers believed that would get off some passengers from escape.

Hackney, describing the scene in the library when he went to investigate the watchman's report of fire, said he turned an extinguisher on the closet, from which smoke was pouring, and then there was an explosion. Here, he believed, the fire was set.

While early reports of survivors said the blaze might have been started by late drinkers in the salon dropping a cigarette, Hackney strongly denied such reports, saying he started the quickly-rising fire.

After eliminating lightning as a cause, Hackney was asked: "Then you think the fire set on board?" "For three reasons I do. In the first place, I eliminate lightning striking the adjacent tanks because they are right by my room and I passed frequently within two feet of them and they were not afire.
