Board Cancels Bus For Trailwood Pupils

Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School Board acting Wednesday night on a report from its five-member safety committee, rescinded a twoyear-old sanction and canceled courtesy busing of children to Spring Lake Elementary School from the Trailwood subdivision n Altamonte Springs.

The move reversed last week's board action which had reinstated school bus service in Trailwood after a group of parents complained that the panel was reneging on a promise made at its meeting of Dec. 4, 1974. Board members voted 4-to-1, with Pat Telson opposed, to phold recommendations of School Supt. William P. (Bud) Layer and the safety committee, which gave the Trailwood area a grade of 19.5 points on a scale where 50 represents the maximum danger evel for elementary school students.

"I think the feeling of most of us is that the greatest danger is automotive traffic," said School Transportation Director Fred Taylor, the only member of the safety committee employed by the school system. "That's what the people who designed the point system had in mind. And that's what would tend to get the point total up toward 50."

Trailwood parents were out in force again to protest the exsected removal of their school bus. Kathryn Hix, president of the Spring Lake PTA, told the board last week that without bus service children were forced to walk to class along "a desolate one-lane dirt road impassable by bicycles because of heavy sand" and occasionally traveled by automobiles.

Mrs. Hix also had quoted from minutes of the 1974 meeting that board members had promised construction of a bicycle path before removing bus service from Trailwood. But Wednesday night she abandoned that tack and said subdivision owners were anning further construction in the near future, which she said ould create further hazards for walking children

"We're not asking you to build a bicycle path," Mrs. Hix said. "We're not even asking that the county commission build a bicycle path. All we ask is that you follow-through on your original plans and continue busing our students until this con-

Florida's fifth district U.S. House of Representatives seat, has asked officers and directors of the Southeast Bank of Orlando for letails concerning a personal loan to this opponent in the Sept. 28 primary election, Mrs. JoAnn Saunders.

The bank request came shortly after Judge William C. suffer irreparable damage if Mrs. Saunders' name went on the ballot. Newton said he would appeal or seek another hearing. The court has not yet ruled on a second part of Newton' petition asking that Mrs. Saunders name be removed from the Sept. 28 primary election ballot. He also has not ruled on a request would be a financial hardship for her to pay the $2,300 qualifying Newton has pointed to four bank loans totaling $20,000 and contributions and loans made by his opponent to her campaign

Mrs. Saunders said today that Newton is "incorrect" in his contention, that she did not borrow the money as an individual. Rather, she said, her "JoAnn Saunders for Congress Committee," composed of campaign chairmen and volunteers in the eight county district, borrowed the funds. "The bankers loaned this money because they felt I was going to be successful in my bid for the congressional seat," she said. The committee showed the banks that according to our studies and our people around the district I am going to get enough votes to win the Democratic nomination. "They showed that after receiving the nomination I have ommitments and promises from various individuals and organizations to contribute to the general election campaign enabling the committee to repay the loans." Mrs. Saunders said. Mrs. Saunders' husband-campaign manager, George, said that as far as personal loans to the campaign, he has placed his personal assets at this wife's disposal in her campaign.

"I do not understand how the Southeast Bank of Orlando could loan $5,000 to Mrs. Saunders, based on the financial disclosure

'Additionally, she loaned $2,000 to the campaign on Aug. 6 Where did all this money come from? "And then," continued Newton, "she borrowed a total of $20,000 from four different commercial banks just prior to the election — 5,000 of these unsecured dollars reportedly coming from the Southeast Bank of Orlando.

"It would appear," continued Newton, "that Mrs. Saunders has assumed one of three different political postures in this matter; she lied on her report to the Secretary of State about aving no assets, no money, etc. — she had the money as well as assets, but refused to tell the truth on her report to Secretary of State Bruce Smathers, or - she has sold her political soul to the highest bidder . . . in other words, she has sold out not only herself. but the people in Florida's fifth district to unknown big money powers in the interest of votes.

"Integrity and accountability could very well be the issue in this campaign for Congress," concluded Newton. Mrs. Saunders, who led a field of five in the Democratic primary, charged that Newton was engaging in "cheap mudslinging tactics" to try to get her out of the runoff. The winner will face Republican incumbent Rep. Richard Kelly.

But Newton replied, "This is not mud-slinging. The difference is that we have put this in legal terms by filing the suit. I feel that strongly about it." Florida law makes disclosure of certain personal finances a

Ford Strike May Last Weeks

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers are prepared for at least a two-week strike against Ford Motor Co. as bargainers show no sign of resuming formal contract talks until Monday.

age walk through areas as bad or worse than the Trailwood ection, or are accompanied through them by their parents. "This is not the first time this question's come up," Layer said. "The (Trailwood) point accumulation is lower than several other areas which would have to be considered first because they have higher point accumulations. And under present funding, the county couldn't afford to bus all K-through-3 students."

Parents also complained about youngsters having to segotiate the dirt road on rainy days when mud and puddles are present, and Charles De Moor asked if the school board would be asible for accidents that might occur along the single-lane

"Absolutely not," replied Chairman Robert Feather. Feather directed De Moor to check with the property owners about lability and suggested that since the lane is a "platted road," perhaps the county commission could supply information. "We established this committee for a definite purpose," said Soard Member Allan Keeth. "I think if they had come up with 47,

Keeth then moved to rescind the 1974 action and was seconded Board Member E. C. Harper Jr. Following the vote Layer said that when construction gets under way in Trailwood and heavy machinery poses a threat to walking students, he would recom-mend temporary reinstatement of the busing service. In a related action the panel voted to install one or more gate near the bridge spanning the Little Wekiva Fuver on the other side of Spring Lake Elementary. The action was taken as a temporary measure to prevent children from using the bridge and its steep approaches as "obstacle course" for bicycles and motorbikes. Layer said the gate(s) would be installed "immediately," and the board agreed to allow two weeks for architects to examine the area and submit a cost analysis of various methods for making safer and less attractive as a "playground."

Deep well injection involves releasing waste water thousands of feet below the ground, between layers of rock that will trap the water and keep it separate from the area's underground water supply. The other disposal system, land spreading costs only slightly more on the bottom line.

Set-up costs are higher, because the waste water would be sprayed over 2,000 acres of land that cost roughly $4,000 each, but millions of dollars can be recovered by using the sprayed land for farming. Expanding the Sanford plant and using the land spray system would cost slightly more

The committee could also choose to expand both the Sanford plant and the existing Greenbelt plant, southwest of Lake Mary, or to build an entirely new plant in the Upsala area west of Sanford.

Either land spreading or deep well in jection can be used with each of the plant "Both sides are gambles," Morris said. A deep well injection system could be rejected by the state Department of Environmental Regulation if a test well drilling doesn't locate two layers of solid rock to sandwich the waste water. A test drilling can easily cost more than $1 million, the committee was told last night. Costs of the land spray system could end up as much as $7 million higher, if the ex-

Jury Recommends Life For Rapist-Killer Carr

MIAMI (AP) - A jury has recommended life in prison — "with no parole at any date" for Robert F. Carr III, confessed rapist-killer of two boys, a teen-aged girl and a housewife. But under the Florida death law passed in late 1972, Dade Circuit Court Judge Natalie Baskin does not have to follow the sentencing jury's recommendation. She can order Carr to be electrocuted.

And if she does go along with it, parole officers don't have to abide by the "no parole" stricture. They can release Carr, 32, after he serves the minimum 25 years called for under

Health Care Ills Need Attention

The recent dramatization of ripoffs in the Medicaid program by Sen. Frank E. Moss of Utah and others who actually went to clinics and got assembly line treatment or worse comes as no surprise. The problems of delivering health care to the poor have been well ventilated in recent

The question, as always, is what is Congress going to do about it? One of the basic problems is that the Medicare-Medicaid scope is so vast and so fragmented that nobody really knows how to begin to get a handle on it. Sen. Moss' subcommittee studying the problem estimates that fully 25 per cent of the money being spent on medical care for the poor is wasted through poor administration and outright fraud by about 4 per cent of the doctors and facilities involved. With $32 billion budgeted for Medicaid this year, that is a fraud of immense dimensions. And with 21 million indigent persons receiving medical subsidies, the ripoff also is a major human tragedy Congress has been approaching the Medicaid fraud in typical fashion. A measure by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge would put further restrictions on doctors and doctors' fees, place arbitrary limits on hospital costs, and in general have more federal involvement in health care delivery.

However, as Gov. George T. Busbee of Georgia noted, the "present Medicaid program is the most complex, confusing, duplicative and administratively wasteful system ever conceived by

And the reason why it is was forcefully underlined to the Talmadge committee by Edgar 7 Beddingfield, speaking for the American Medical Association. Congress, he said, takes an "all-ornothing" approach to force patients on doctors and to limit their incomes. Quality medicine and bargain basement rates" are mutually exclusive,

Medicare and Medicaid are here to stay although we'd bet many of those who supported the programs in 1966 are having second thoughts about

That being the case, it is not realistic to penalize the 96 per cent of the doctors and hospitals who are endeavoring to bring quality medical care to the poor at sacrifices to their own incomes by applying against them the stringent regulations that are intended only for the 4 per cent who cheat. Hopefully Congress will give the matter deep second thought before the 95th Congress convenes in January. In the meantime, an energetic attack on the kinds of fraud exhibited by Sen. Moss should be the first order of business.

As Sen. Everett Dirksen used to say, "A billion here and a billion there and pretty soon the first thing you know it adds up."

February, the web of scandal has spread around the world, embarrassing governments, disgracing leaders and giving strength to anti-American feelings. The latest highly placed official to be humilated is Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands. He was forced to resign from all his government and business positions, after conceding his imprudence in relationships with Lockheed. Four weeks ago, former Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka was arrested and charged with taking a bribe of $1.6

million from Lockheed. Seventeen other former officials and business government and business leaders have been indicated. In Italy, authorities are investigating to see if a prime minister took Lockheed money. West Germany is planning a probe concerning possible Lockheed bribes to German officials. The Lockheed drama is continuing. But already it has been far more costly to the national interest than justified by any conceivable profit that could have been made on the sale of

WORLD IN BRIEF

Thousands Flee Region Shaken By Earthquakes

UDINE, Italy (AP)-Thousands of residents of the quake-devastated Friuli region abandoned their homeland today in an exodus to the Adriatic coast or the Dolomite mountains, seeking ground that doesn't tremble. Long lines of cars, trucks, buses and horsedrawn carts left the streets of this area of northeastern Italy. The fleeing thousands left behind the ruins of homes leveled by a series of quakes that began May 6 and still continue. The government assigned three army units with hundreds of trucks to assist those choosing to leave. Several thousand persons have already reached hotels and empty houses at summer resorts on the coast or in the mountains.

Strike Ends; Boycott Begins

JOHANNESBURG South Africa (AP) -Thousands of blacks streamed back to work in Johannesburg today after a three-day general strike, but in Cape Town a similar work boycott was spreading.

Police in the Cape Town area, which has a large population of "coloreds," as persons of mixed race are officially called, stepped up patrols of segregated colored and black townships to prevent any attempts to intimidate people trying to go to work.

Up to midday there were no reports of violence, but at Wellington, about 40 miles from Cape Town, about 500 armed white residents patrolled the streets during the night. Groups of men armed with shotguns stood guard on almost every street corner and on the roofs of some factories

Ford: Trust Must Be Earned; Carter: Caused 'Disaster'

President Ford faced a crowd of enthusiastic hecklers as he began his campaign at his alma mater, but some of the most energetic heckling came from 30 miles away, where Jimmy Carter charged him with being a cause of economic "disaster." Leaving Washington for the first time in the fall campaign, Ford flew to the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor where he said, "It is not enough for anyone to say 'trust me.' Trust must be

Carter was appearing at a state AFL-CIO convention 30 miles away in the Detroit suburb of Dearborn. There, in the shadow of the strike-idled Ford Motor Co. assembly plant, he blamed Ford and former President Richard M. Nixon for the country's

"When Richard Nixon resigned, Gerald Ford inherited a difficult situation, but in a few short weeks he unerringly turned difficulty into disaster," Carter said. Carter's Democratic running mate, Sen. Walter Mondale, quickly jumped on Ford's speech, saying Ford "has a record that belies and puts the falsehood to everything he now says he's for."

He said Ford has an "absolutely terrible" record on the economy, health care, housing and education. Ford's Republican running mate, Sen. Bob Dole, spent Wednesday campaigning with Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller. Both presidential candidates are scheduled to speak tonight to a pressing shock at the "boldness of the misrepresentations condinner of the Italo-American Foundation in Washington, but their nedules should keep them from seeing each other Ford's speech sometimes drew spirited booing from the university crowd Wednesday night, but he got a standing ovation

"Trust is not having to guess what a candidate means," Ford said. "Trust is leveling with the people before the election about with Rockefeller, who was making his first campaign effort for what you are going to do after the election. Trust is not being all things to all people, but being the same thing to all people. Trust is not cleverly choosing words so that each separate audience can hear what it wants to hear, but saying plainly and simply what vision" he brought to the Ford ticket. Earlier, in Washington, Dole said he expects Ford to give him you mean - and meaning what you say." "a significant role" in setting farm policy.

The boos and catcalls greeted the mention of nearly everyone but the loudest came with mention of Secretary of State Henry A.

Ford took no notice of the heckling and barely paused when a

Agree To Admit Women Priests MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - If representatives of Episcopal laity and clergy agree with their bishops, the church will end the 2,000 year tradition of a male-only priesthood. The House of Bishops voted 95 to 61 Wednesday at the Episcopal egislative convention to make church laws "equally applicable" to men and women where they concern admitting candidates to the holy orders of priest and bishop. The proposal was expected to be taken up today by the House of Deputies, which is considered more hostile to the proposal.

If the House of Deputies approves the resolution, it would or dinarily go into effect at the end of this year. However, another proposal would make the change effective immediately to coincide with the Canadian start of the practice. In recent years the church has been in turmoil over the issue Fifteen Episcopal women were ordained in 1974 and 1975 without the authorization of their bishops. service children were forced to walk to class along "a desolate, one-lane dirt road impassable by bicycles because of heavy sand" and occasionally traveled by automobiles.

Mrs. Hix also had quoted from minutes of the 1974 meeting that board members had promised construction of a bicycle path before removing bus service from Trailwood. But Wednesday night she abandoned that tack and said subdivision owners were planning further construction in the near future, which she said would create further hazards for walking children. "We're not asking you to build a bicycle path." Mrs. Hix said.

complained that the panel was reneging on a promise made at its "We're not even asking that the county commission build a bicycle path. All we ask is that you follow-through on your original plans and continue busing our students until this construction is finished." School board attorney Douglas Stenstrom advised panelists last week that they were legally bound by their earlier action unless the board voted to reverse it. Mrs. Hix's husband, Chester, told Layer he had recently talked to a psychologist whom Hix said had informed him that kindergarten-through-third grade youngsters were not "mentally or physically ready" to walk the involved distance on a dirt road. "I don't know what age is safe," Hix said, "but my personal opinion is that kindergarten through third grade should not have to walk anywhere." This was greeted by a burst of applause, but Layer responded

Newton Vs. Saunders

Florida's fifth district U.S. House of Representatives seat, has asked officers and directors of the Southeast Bank of Orlando for details concerning a personal loan to his opponent in the Sept. 28 primary election, Mrs. JoAnn Saunders.

The bank request came shortly after Judge William C. Gridley ruled in Orlando that Newton failed to p suffer irreparable damage if Mrs. Saunders' name went on the ballot. Newton said he would appeal or seek another hearing.

The court has not yet ruled on a second part of Newton's petition asking that Mrs. Saunders name be removed from the Sept. 28 primary election ballot. He also has not ruled on a request that distribution of ballots containing Mrs. Saunders' name be

Newton has pointed to four bank loans totaling $20,000 and contributions and loans made by his opponent to her campaign

Mrs. Saunders said today that Newton is "incorrect" in his ontention, that she did not borrow the money as an individual. Rather, she said, her "JoAnn Saunders for Congress Committee, composed of campaign chairmen and volunteers in the eight county district, borrowed the funds. "The bankers loaned this money because they felt I was going o be successful in my bid for the congressional seat," she said. The committee showed the banks that according to our studies and our people around the district I am going to get enough votes to win the Democratic nomination. "They showed that after receiving the nomination I have emmitments and promises from various individuals and organizations to contribute to the general election campaign abling the committee to repay the loans." Mrs. Saunders said Mrs. Saunders' husband-campaign manager, George, said that as far as personal loans to the campaign, he has placed his personal assets at this wife's disposal in her campaign. "I do not understand how the Southeast Bank of Orlando could loan $5,000 to Mrs. Saunders, based on the financial disclosure statement she filed eight weeks late with the Secretary of State,"

"In that report, she stated that she was a housewife with no assets, no income, and no indebtedness; yet, according to the report filed with the Federal Elections Commission on Aug. 27, she stated that she had personally loaned $1,700 to her campaign between May 1 and June 15, and that she had loaned $800 to her

'Additionally, she loaned $2,000 to the campaign on Aug. Where did all this money come from? "And then," continued Newton, "she borrowed a total of $20,000 from four different commercial banks just prior to the election - 5,000 of these unsecured dollars reportedly coming from the Southeast Bank of Orlando. "It would appear," continued Newton, "that Mrs. Saunders as assumed one of three different political postures in this matter; she lied on her report to the Secretary of State having no assets, no money, etc. - she had the money as assets, but refused to tell the truth on her report to Secretary of State Bruce Smathers, or - she has sold her political soul to the highest bidder . . . in other words, she has sold out not only herself, out the people in Florida's fifth district to unknown big money owers in the interest of votes.

"Integrity and accountability could very well be the issue in this campaign for Congress," concluded Newton. Mrs. Saunders, who led a field of five in the Democratic primary, charged that Newton was engaging in "cheap mudslinging tactics" to try to get her out of the runoff. The winner will face Republican incumbent Rep. Richard Kelly. But Newton replied, "This is not mud-slinging. The difference is that we have put this in legal terms by filing the suit. I feel that strongly about it."
