Quigley Seeks Sanford City Manager Post

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Fourteen applications for the job of Sanford city manager have been received at city hall and only one name familiar to Sanfordites — Rich Quigley — is among the lot.

Quigley, who was a former assistant city manager for three years before leaving Sanford in 1980, and is now assistant manager of Daytona Beach, has applied for the post to be vacated April 30 when long-time city manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles retires.

But since the advertisement for the office was not included in the latest issue of the Florida Municipal Record, a publication of the Florida League of Cities, Knowles will be asking the city commission whether it wants to extend the Jan. 11 deadline for applicants.

Knowles said today he was promised the advertisement would be included in this month's issue, but it was not.

While Knowles had predicted 150 persons would apply for the job, he said the fact the advertisement has not appeared in the Florida League magazine has him concerned.

Of the 14 applications, 11 are from out of state, three from in state and none from "in house," Knowles told the commission, Monday night.

Asked whether his assistant, Steve Harriett plans to apply, Knowles said, "Yes, but what's the hurry?" noting Harriett has until Jan. 11 to apply for the job.

Harriett confirmed today he will be applying for the post.

In the meantime, Knowles has formally applied to the state for approval of his retirement on April 30 for pension purposes, even though the usual practice is to apply 90 days in advance.

He said the Florida Retirement system requires three months' notice to go through the paperwork, but from his experience snafus can occur and he wants to allay that possibility.

At the same time, Knowles promised commissioners that he will be available to the city for consultation and advice even after retirement for as long as necessary to assist the new city manager.

"With retirement, I am not going fishing. I will do anything I can to help," he said. "Sanford has been my life for 32 years and I am not going to turn my back on it after retirement."

In other business Monday night, the city commission delayed until its Jan. 14 meeting a decision on whether to annex Flea World.

Sid Levy, owner of Flea World on U.S. Highway 17-92 in south Sanford, has petitioned the city for annexation. Knowles told the commission Levy wants annexation for water and sewer service.

Knowles also said that Levy has acquired additional property to extend his flea market to the west side of Sunland Estates. He said that the city has water available in Sunland Estates.

The manager reported that Levy wishes the city to review and perhaps reduce its occupational license fee of $150 plus $6 per table.

Knowles said although Levy estimates Flea World would produce a low sewer flow, Levy also says Flea World has 70,000 customers on the three days per week — Friday, Saturday and Sunday — that the business is open.

"If that figure is accurate," Knowles said, "the sewer flow would probably be near 400,000 gallons per day." He also noted that traffic control is a major problem at Flea World.

The commission decided it needed more time to review the situation before making a decision.

Asked if he had any recommendations one way or the other, Knowles did not reply.

Two Lawmakers Push To Make Wearing Seat Belts Mandatory

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Aiming to reduce the death toll on Florida's highways, two House members have filed legislation to force drivers and their front seat passengers to wear seat belts.

Reps. Fred Lippman, D-Hollywood, and Tom Drage, R-Orlando, told a news conference Monday that more than half of the 2,729 deaths and 100,000 injuries reported on the state's highways last year could have been prevented had more people worn their seat belts.

"The carnage of America's highways continues year after year because the vast majority of proper public policy, just as speed limits, traffic lights, driver's licenses which are all public policy mandated by government," he said. "Driving is a privilege, not a right."

Drage cited polls indicating public support for mandatory seat belt laws has increased from 29 percent in 1981 to 53 percent.

"The political climate is right," he said.

Lippman and Drage have filed separate bills, but said they expect the measures to be merged during committee hearings.

New York and New Jersey have already passed laws mandating seat belt use. A similar measure in Illinois is near final approval, Drage said.

Gov. Bob Graham's Highway Safety Commission unanimously endorsed the idea of mandatory seat belt use three weeks ago.

Federal Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole announced in July that all new cars must be equipped with air bags or other automatic crash devices by 1989 unless states representing two-thirds of the nation's population enact mandatory seat belt laws.

The insurance industry has announced its support for both mandatory seat belt laws and passive restraint devices. An industry spokesman told the governor's commission that to prevent Dole from scrapping the air bag requirement, states should include automatic repeal provisions in any seat belt law to keep the legislation from complying with Dole's guidelines.

The Lippman and Drage bills meet those guidelines, however.

Both measures would become effective July 1 but would empower police to issue warnings, not citations, to drivers until Dec. 31, 1985.

'Mandatory seat belt use is proper public policy, just as speed limits, traffic lights, driver's licenses which are all public policy mandated by government. Driving is a privilege, not a right.'

drivers and passengers — 90 percent — refuse to buckle the safety belts installed in all domestic passenger cars built since 1964," Lippman said.

The bills would require drivers and front seat passengers to buckle up or face a $25 fine.

Drivers would be responsible for making sure passengers under 16 years of age are properly restrained. Each driver or passenger who breaks the law would be fined separately, unless he or she could show a medical reason for not wearing the restraint.

State law already requires that children 5 and under be restrained.

Lippman brushed aside arguments the bills would restrict personal freedom.

Voters Choose Again

Turnout Steady In Sanford, Longwood Runoffs

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Christmas season or not, the flow of Sanford and Longwood voters to the polls was steady this morning as they endeavored to finally decide the race for mayor and two city commission posts.

In Sanford, the race was between Bettye Smith and Thomas Speer for mayor and John Mercer and A.A. "Mac" McClanahan in the District 1 city commission contest.

The Longwood race pitted Larry Goldberg against David Gunter Sr. for the District 5 seat on the city commission.

Even before the polls opened at 7 a.m., 140 voters had already cast their ballots absentee, a record number for a Sanford election.

Prior to today's election, the highest number of absentees ever cast in a Sanford election — 115 — was recorded in the Dec. 4 balloting.

City Clerk Henry Tamm said it is obvious the candidates have been busy gathering their supporters to make a difference at the polls.

The most interest has been generated in the District 1 race, Tamm said, where the circuit court ordered a rerun of the first election after it was discovered that because of errors in the county elections office some persons were listed in District 1 who do not live in the district and were allowed to vote while others who do live in District 1 were not allowed to vote on Dec. 4. Those errors have since been corrected.

In the first go-round, Mercer defeated McClanahan by 12 votes.

Since the Mercer-McClanahan race was so close

Sanford City Commission candidate A.A. McClanahan, left, and mayoral hopeful Tom Speer got in a little early-morning the first time, it may produce another cliff-hanger today, Tamm said, and the outcome may be determined by the absentees.

The polls will remain open until 7 p.m.

The polling places are: District 1, Sanford Civic Center, on Sanford Avenue, between Seminole Boulevard and First Street; District 2, Westside Recreation Center, Persimmon Avenue at McCracken Road; District 3, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter day Saints, 2315 Park Ave.; and District 4, city Fire Station #2 on the west side of U.S. Highway 17-92, south of the Movieland Drive-In Theatre.

Voters in District 1 can cast ballots in both the commission and mayor's contests, but voters in Districts 2, 3, and 4 can vote only in the mayor's election.

Tamm has predicted that 20 percent, or slightly more than 2,000 of the city's 10,969 qualified voters, will vote today. A total of 3,105 voters went to the polls for the Dec. 4 balloting.

If the pattern established during that election holds true, Mrs. Smith could become Sanford's first female mayor. Two weeks ago, she collected 1,309 votes to Speer's 917.

In Longwood, voters were also returning to the polls in a run-off between Goldberg, 45, and Gunter, 46. Goldberg received 655 votes in the final

West Lake, Medical Building Hit More Snags; City Administrator Evaluated

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

It may be the season for peace and goodwill, but the Christmas spirit was not very evident as the Longwood City Commission met Monday night for the last time for 1984. With the mayor J.R. Grant lashing out at the city attorney, Commissioner Harvey Smerilson taking pot shots at the city administrator, and the audience heckling the mayor it was business as usual.

Was City Administrator David Chacey naughty or nice? Well, it depends on whose list you are checking with the commissioners rating his performance from outstanding to unacceptable.

As for Centex Homes of Florida and Hospital Corporation of America, they are not getting what they wanted this Christmas, but will be left to face the uncertainties of the new city commission when it meets for the first time on Jan. 14.

Smerilson, an outspoken critic of Chacey, gave the administrator the lowest rating with 10 "unacceptable" and four "marginal" appraisals. But apparently neatness counts because he gave Chacey a "satisfactory" in personal appearance.

Some of the reasons Smerilson gave for the low grades were: "Missing work to attend Chamber meetings is not in accordance with Longwood's personnel policy (Chacey served as president of the Longwood-Winter Springs Area Chamber of Commerce this past year); ordinances are ignored or not followed; promise dates are not met and does not carry out commission orders."

Chacey received his best grades from Commissioner Ed Myers who gave him nine "outstanding," four "very good," one satisfactory and one

"no comment" on Chacey's punctuality. But then Myers admitted, that he's "not qualified to judge as I'm never at city hall at 8 o'clock."

Grant gave Chacey "outstanding" marks for punctuality, resourcefulness and aggressiveness, 11 "very good," and one "satisfactory." Commissioner Bill Mitchell gave Chacey two "outstanding," 11 "very good," and two "satisfactory" ratings. Commissioner June Lormann had not turned her evaluation form in time to be counted.

Chacey's future with the city rests on the results of today's run-off election. He has vowed to resign if Larry Goldberg, who lead in the Dec. 4 election for the district 5 seat, wins over Dave Gunter. Meanwhile, Smerilson, newly elected Commissioner Perry Faulkner, and Goldberg have said they would like to oust Chacey.

Confusion over a city ordinance has brought another delay for Centex Homes' Planned Unit Development conditional use request for its proposed 168-home West Lake development. It was tabled for the second time on a 3-2 vote until the developer can come back with a site plan. Commissioners June Lormann and Smerilson voted "no" because they wanted to delay action on the request until the city statute can be changed.

City Attorney Frank Kruppenbacher's interpretation of an ordinance which conflicts itself brought down the wrath of Mayor Grant who questioned his abilities as a lawyer.

Miami's Big-Play Guys Shred Dallas

MIAMI (UPI) — The NFL's only 5,000-yard passer and its only 18-touchdown receiver showed why they stand alone Monday night, shredding the Dallas Cowboy secondary for two touchdowns in the final two and a half minutes for a 28-21 Miami Dolphin victory.

Quarterback Dan Marino and receiver Mark Clayton formed their own exclusive statistical club and assured the Dolphins (14-2) of the home field edge in the playoffs. They also closed the door on Cowboy post-season hopes for the first time in a decade. The New York Giants will go instead.

Marino and Clayton hooked up for touchdowns of 39 and 83 yards in the final 2:31 to turn back a furious Cowboy rally that almost succeeded.

With the score tied 14-14, Miami went ahead on the 39-yarder, but Dallas (9-7) countered with a 66-yard touchdown pass from Danny White to Tony Hill less than a minute later. Then Marino and Clayton put it away at the 51 second-mark with the 63-yard score.

It was Clayton's third touchdown of the night and 18th of the season, breaking the record of 17 held jointly by Don Hutson, Elroy Hirsch and Bill Groman.

Marino's record-breaking binge was even more impressive, he completed 23 of 40 passes for 340 yards and four touchdowns, surpassing Dan Fouts old season throwing record of 4,802 along with becoming the first quarterback to reach the 5,000 mark at 5,084 yards.

There is more. His nine 300-yard performances are the most ever and his 362 completions a record.

Still the list goes on. For instance, his 48 touchdown passes are 12 more than anyone has ever thrown in one season. That's an average of three a game.

Pro Football

"It really is exciting setting all those offensive records and it really means a lot," said the second-year pro. "But playing on a team that won so many games and has the home field advantage all the way to the Super Bowl means even more."

Clayton's 63-yard reception came on the same play as his first touchdown, a 41-yard strike.

The play calls for receiver Mark Duper to dash through the middle of the secondary and take two defenders with him. Then Clayton comes in behind him for a medium range pass.

"What it is, is a read all the way by Marino," Clayton said.

"I was wide open. When I got ready to turn the corner, I was surprised no one was there," he said of the game-winner. "I knew with my speed, no one would catch me."

In all, Clayton caught four passes for 150 yards and three touchdowns.

"This was a heckuva win and it came at a time we really needed it, because we've been struggling," Dolphin Coach Don Shula said. "Marino made the throws in the clutch that we needed and Clayton demonstrated what a big-play guy he is."

Shula also was pleased with the defense, which had been erratic over the last four games.

"We knew they would be coming at us with the run and we stopped it pretty well. (Running back Tony) Dorsett didn't get very much," Shula said. "We made some offensive mistakes and let them get back in the game."

The Dolphins will get next weekend off and play the AFC wild card winner in the Orange Bowl stadium Dec. 29. Dallas will stay home during the post season for the first time since 1974.

"It was a tough year, but the players responded well under the circumstances," Coach Tom Landry said. "We were out of it a number of times, but I think it's a tribute to this team that we were able to stay in it until the very end of the season."

It almost looked like the Cowboys were going to pull it out when White threw to Hill for the 66-yard touchdown with 1:47 remaining.

"It was going to James Jones and he reached out and hit it and it was just a natural reaction for me to grab it," Hill said. "With two minutes left, I thought the Cowboys were going to be in it."

So did White, and that made it all the harder to take.

"It was a tough game to lose. My thoughts right now are pretty much dominated by frustration," White said. "I'll just have to review it and get ready for next year."

IN BRIEF

Mull Makes 1st-Team All-State; Grayson, Henley Earn 2nd Team

Curt Mull, Lake Brantley's mammoth center, was selected to the Florida Sportswriters AAAA All-State Football First Team released Monday.

Mull, who is coveted by many colleges, was joined on the first team by flashy running backs Elroy Harris of Winter Park and Sammie Smith of Apopka. Winter Park kicker Jay Jane and Apopka punter Kent Elmore also made the elite squad. All are seniors.

Mike Henley

Lake Mary senior wide receiver-tight end Donald Grayson and Lyman senior linebacker Mike Henley were awarded second-team berths. Lake Mary linebacker senior Billy Caughell was selected to the third team.

Seminole senior linebacker Mike DeBose and Lake Howell senior wide receiver Jeron Evans were both honorable mention choices.

Pakovic's 4 Goals Lead Tribe

Seminole's girls soccer team picked up another win Saturday as it pounded Luther, 9-1, behind a four-goal outburst from Vicky Pakovic. Pakovic also chipped in two assists for a fine all-around performance for Suzy Reno's girls.

Senior Janet Hauck and Sherri Rumler each booted home two goals to join the fun. Christy Gonzales had the other goal. Reno cited both keepers — Rumler and Kim Walsh — for outstanding efforts and defenders Cindy Benge and Angela Freeman.

The next action for the girls is this week at the Burger King Invitational at Lake Mary High School.

Devils Keep Gretzky From 1,000

United Press International

For all but three minutes Monday night, the New Jersey Devils threw a blanket on Wayne Gretzky and his chances of attaining the fastest 1,000 points in NHL history. But when the Edmonton Oilers' 23-year-old center finally threw off the cover, it woke up the Devils.

Gretzky entered the game with 998 career points but was held scoreless until only 2:54 remained. He then assisted on Jarri Kurri's 32nd goal and second of the game to bring the Oilers to within 3-2.

"Getting the 1,000 points is something I'm excited about," Gretzky said. "When I first broke in, they said getting the 1,000 points would prove I belong in the league. And that is why it's so important to me."

Gretzky will now have to wait until Wednesday night at Edmonton when the Oilers host the Los Angeles Kings.

In the NHL's only other game, St. Louis edged Toronto 3-2.

Vikings Blow Taps On Marine Steckel

EDEN PRAIRIE, Minn. (UPI) — Relying on his Marine Corps training, Les Steckel tried to whip the Minnesota Vikings into the few good men he needed to win in the NFL. Now, the Vikings are looking for a new man to lead the troops.

Vikings General Manager Mike Lynn Monday fired Steckel, who finished his first coaching season 3-13, the worst record in the team's history.

Lynn said he had asked Steckel for his resignation. But Steckel, at 38 the youngest head coach in the NFL, refused and Lynn fired him and the entire Vikings coaching staff.

Steckel had replaced Bud Grant, who retired last January after compiling a 151-87-5 record in 17 seasons. Steckel had been an assistant on Grant's staff but had no previous head coaching experience.

"I think when you have an assistant coach that's never been a head coach before, it's difficult to determine whether it will turn out to be a bad marriage or a good marriage or divorce."

Pro Football

Lynn said.

Lynn hoped to name a successor this week and said he would not rule out anyone as a candidate, including Grant, who is still a Vikings consultant.

Steckel, who had two years remaining on a three-year contract, said in a statement: "My family and I want to express a very special thanks for the opportunity to work with a good group of people — the players, coaches, employees and management of the Minnesota Vikings. ... I'll remain a Viking enthusiast."

Steckel was only the third head coach in the Vikings history and he quickly tried to change the team's work habits, initiating a strenuous conditioning program on the first day of training camp. Some players complained about Steckel's attempt to force his rigid military and religious upbringing on them.

Warmack Edges Booth For Street Stock Win

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Joe Middleton easily won the 25-lap Late Model feature on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway, beating Buzzy Berry, Mike Goldberg, Phil Weipert and Billy Bechtelheimer.

Getting in tune early for the World Series, Doug Latham took the 50-lap Thundercar special. Second to fifth were Marc Sillis, Jeff Blehr, Tommy Patterson and Granny Tatroe.

The best race of the evening turned out to be the Lee's 7/11 Franchise 35-lap Street Stock Championship which was won right at the finish line by Joey Warmack of Sanford.

Auto Racing

Ben Booth was close second, followed by Jeff Moyer and Casey Hawthorne who was forced to slow down on the checker lap after leading for the last 14 times around. Fifth was early leader Ted Mitchem.

The top five four cylinder finishers were Jerry Symons, Eddie Tovot, Billy Hoover, Bobby Sears and Richard Newton.

Kenny Burdines and Mike Horton won the Great American Sack Race, with Ray Solis taking the demolition derby.

Stale Duke Wins Easily

After hitting the books for over a week, Duke was a little stale on the basketball court. Meanwhile, stale air in a stuffy gymnasium gave Memphis State the blues.

Still, both of the highly ranked teams kept their records unblemished Monday night, while coasting to relatively easy victories.

At Durham, N.C., Johnny Dawkins had 16 points, 8 assists and 6 rebounds to spark No. 2 Duke to an 82-65 triumph over Davidson. Despite missing seven of their first eight shots, the Blue Devils' man-to-man defense carried them to a 38-25 halftime lead. When Duke substituted its entire squad on the floor with 4:14 to go Davidson chopped a 23-point lead to 70-57.

Duke raised its record to 6-0, while Davidson fell to 3-5. "We were too nonchalant and we played some horrible basketball," said Coach Mike Krzyzewski.

If The Kids Don't Say 'Thanks,' Stop Sending Holiday Gifts

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you've heard this many times, but I need an answer soon. I am hurt and very angry!

Why don't my grandchildren (who live in another city) thank me for the birthday and Christmas presents I send them? They range from age 7 to 19. I have sent self-addressed, stamped envelopes and boxes of thank-you notes, hoping they will get the hint. I have not had a written thank-you from any of them, and I feel hurt, neglected and unappreciated. When they see me, as an afterthought they mention how much they appreciated the gifts and checks, then offer a weak apology, "You know how busy I am, Gram."

Don't tell me it's their parents' fault for not teaching them better manners. Their parents know better because I taught them since they were old enough to print that they must send thank-you notes.

Should I conveniently "forget" their birthdays and Christmas? I select their gifts with loving care and send generous checks, too, but not one word do I hear. I love them very much and it hurts to know they care so little for me or my feelings. Should I tell them? Or should I tell their parents?

HURT GRANDMOTHER

DEAR HURT: Tell the children (lovingly) that you are hurt. And stress the importance of making a lifelong habit of acknowledging gifts — and promptly. Most children (and some adults) "appreciate" gifts and they truly love the giver, but they procrastinate their thanks until they're so embarrassed, they put it out of their minds.

Since the absence of a thank-you is genuinely painful to you, give no more gifts — provided the punishment doesn't hurt you more than it hurts them.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday, the cashier at the checkout counter did not know the price of an avocado I was purchasing, so to save time I told her what I honestly thought to be the price — 39 cents.

While in line at my next stop (the bakery department), the young woman directly behind me said (in a stage whisper), "By the way, the avocado was 59 cents."

Had she spoken up when she heard me tell the cashier the avocado was 39 cents, I would have thanked her and apologized to the cashier for having given her the wrong information.

Abby, I am a senior citizen who has no need to con a supermarket out of 20 cents. Furthermore, since the young woman knew the avocado was 59 cents, was she not, by her silence, aiding and abetting who she thought was a criminal at the checkout counter?

SOUTHFIELD, MICH.

DEAR SOUTHFIELD: Yes. The whisperer may have hesitated to correct you at the time because she probably didn't want to risk embarrassing you for a mere 20 cents. However, the size of the sum does not alter the principle.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for the wonderful rerun on what to give — and what not to give — the older person for the holidays. You really should run that every year because people forget.

As an older person, I do not need any more things. The gift of service is the gift I enjoy the most. My children and grandchildren, now grown, come over here and clean my windows, wash my woodwork, launder my curtains, and do all sorts of chores I am no longer able to do myself. The year before last they took turns working on remodeling my kitchen. Last year, they modernized my bathroom. It took them over a year — working nights and weekends — but I will enjoy those gifts as long as I live.

Teacher Sorority Maps Out Course For 1985 Activities

Alpha Nu chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa, honorary teacher's sorority, is celebrating its silver anniversary year and according to new president Janet (Miller) Walker, it promises to be an exciting one.

She reported that 15 members of Alpha Nu chapter recently joined members of six other chapters in a luncheon meeting at the Harley Hotel in Orlando to pay tribute to Alpha Delta Kappa's three dedicated founders. These three visionary ladies initiated Alpha Delta Kappa as a way to recognize outstanding educators and to provide an organized way for them to contribute to the altruistic and educational goals of their communities.

Mrs. Walker mentioned one of the highlights of the Founder's Day luncheon which was the recognition of "silver sisters," members who had belonged to Alpha Delta Kappa for twenty five years. Two charter members of Alpha Nu, Belle Rumbley and Roberta Richards were honored as "silver sisters" by the group. A third "silver sister," Ruby Booth, was unable to attend. Belle Rumbley accepted, on behalf of Alpha Nu, a cornucopia filled with 25 silver dollars which was presented to the chapter by Patty Glenn Swann, president of Gamma Gamma chapter. Alpha Nu sponsored Gamma Gamma chapter, making two in Seminole County.

New officers guiding Alpha Nu for the next two years are Janet Walker, president, Hazel Madden, president-elect, Marcella Brandeberry, recording secretary, Sandra Jennings, treasurer, Fay Gaines, corresponding secretary, Bette Waterhouse, sergeant-at-arms.

Barbara Vincent, historian, Mary Grace Kosky, pledge chairman, and Geneva Cochran, chaplain.

President Walker indicated that plans for the year include volunteer work by individual members, contributions to the Christian sharing center, continued group and individual contributions to the Margaret Reynolds scholarship fund at the PACE school for children with learning disabilities, and a new project which involves continuing support to the Sanford Nursing and Convalescent Center.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 16 years old and very frustrated. I'm very small breasted and have been for quite some time. This defect has caused me a great deal of embarrassment. It is more than I can handle. I've had about as much embarrassment as I can enjoy. Could you please tell me something I could take or do to help speed up the process of me maturing a lot more?

DEAR READER — There is some truth in the saying, "It's not nice to fool with Mother Nature." I would not advise your taking anything until you are sure you have reached physiological maturity. At your age, you have time for natural development. If you happen to be delayed in other areas of development, such as having menstrual periods or other evidence of normal female maturity, then you should see your doctor and talk to him about it. At the right time, if you have delayed development and happen to really be low in estrogen, he may recommend estrogen for you. The breasts do develop under the influence of development is also dependent upon inherited characteristics.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm sure I read in your column that the body loses calcium when lying down. As I remember, you said patients with broken bones shouldn't lie down too much. Could you comment on this?

DEAR READER — You are right. Weight bearing stimulates the retention of calcium in the bones. It has been adequately shown that weightlessness, as in

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

It's the easiest thing in the world, when you are playing bridge, to win the battle and lose the war. What usually happens is that you take an obvious play without thinking ahead. That is exactly what happened to today's declarer.

After the trump lead, South could see that playing a spade to the queen would enable him to ditch a club from dummy on his spade king. West won the spade ace and continued with a second heart. South got his pitch of the club all right, but he still came up with only nine tricks.

The right approach to the deal is to realize that the defenders are on the right track with trump leads, and that 10 tricks cannot be made on a crossruff. Instead, the long diamond suit in dummy must be established, and there is no time to waste.

At trick two, declarer should lead a diamond. If the winner of that trick leads a second trump, it should be won in dummy and a diamond should be ruffed. The next time declarer is back in dummy via the ruff of a black card, a third diamond can be led and trumped.

Because diamonds split 3-3, the contract can be made. No doubt declarer is lucky, since six outstanding cards usually divide 4-2, but this is the best play for the contract.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY DECEMBER 19, 1984

This coming year you are likely to become involved in ventures or enterprises grander in scope than anything you've tackled in the past. They'll prove to be fortunate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Find time to be helpful to a loved one who needs your assistance today. If you ignore this person's plight, he will look the other way when you need aid. Looking for romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set can help you in your search. Send for it today by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Uncharacteristically, you may still be a little 'too extravagant today. You'd better do an about-face and start looking for ways to trim non-essential expenditures.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you will become more skillful than your associates in accomplishing difficult objectives. Make it a point not to lord your achievements over them.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You will be successful in your endeavors today, provided you operate along logical lines. When you start playing your hunches, it'll be another story.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful today not to be drawn into some type of undesirable involvement that pits one friend against another. Stay out of the middle.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) People presently supportive of you may do an about-face today if they think you are trying to use them to selfishly further your own interests.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This can be a productive day provided you properly systematize your work. If you're disorganized, you'll merely spin your wheels and accomplish little.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Do not allow yourself to become involved in petty politics or one-upsmanship games in your social affairs today. Coy maneuverers will work against you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Resist temptations to introduce volatile issues at the dinner table this evening. Once the lid is opened, it'll be hard to squeeze disputes back into the box.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Virgos are endowed with remarkable qualities of observation, but you must not use your gifts today to see only the bad in others while overlooking the good.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Unfortunately today, you may have to learn a lesson the hard way when you are denied something you want because you were too extravagant in the past.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be pleasant to others today and you will get them to do your bidding. However, if you approach them in a cranky fashion, they won't be cooperative.

Dave and Madelyn owners of Dave's Upholstery, Longwood.

Dave's Upholstery For Quality Work

You can call on Dave's Upholstery for all your custom residential and commercial upholstery needs with confidence that they deliver what they promise and do the quality work you have a right to expect for your money.

Located at 490 U.S. Highway 17-92 north of State Road 434 in Longwood, they can handle anything from restaurant booths and office chairs to dad's favorite easy chair or boat and motor home cushions.

You can trust Dave and Madelyn with your furniture, they are longtime residents of Seminole County and have been in business for 15 years and are proud of their reputation for honesty and reliability.

Dave's business hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., but Dave's wife, Madelyn will be glad to bring a variety of fabric samples to your home or business after hours by appointment. She will give you a free estimate on how much it will cost to upholster your furniture. Just call 862-1600 for an appointment.

Choose from fabric in a wide range of prices and designs. If you don't see what you are looking for in stock, they will be happy to order it for you. If you are looking for savings, ask about their sale fabrics.

Dave and his experienced assistants can recover your furniture in virtually any fabric and restore the rich finish of the old wood as well. They can upholster just about any style of furniture, from treasured antiques to your plastic patio lounge chair.

And of course, as always, there is free pick up and delivery— all part of the dependable service at Dave's Upholstery, located next to Sobik's.

Seminole Indians Jump From Bingo To High Tech

POMPANO BEACH (UPI) — Florida's Seminole Indians, who generate income from fishing, farming, bingo games and other ventures, signed a 10-year contract Monday to create a high tech company that will build circuit boards.

The Seminole Tribe signed a 10-year management contract with Pocon Inc., a Pompano Beach electronics firm, to design, manufacture and sell printed circuit boards and other electronic assemblies.

Seminole Electronics will be the only minority-owned electronics company in Florida and hopes to get the inside track on set-aside contracts issued by the federal government, particularly the space program, a tribal member said.

Tony Sanchez, who works at the Seminoles' Hollywood offices, said he spoke with officials at NASA and Cape Canaveral a year ago about getting contracts.

"Everywhere we went, to NASA and to Patrick Air Force Base and McDonnell-Douglas and Martin Marietta, they told us they couldn't find minority contractors that could do wire wrapping and (circuit) board stuffing," said Sanchez. "We saw a hole and decided to fill it."

The tribe hopes to make a $200,000 profit in the first year of Seminole Electronics, and double the profit the next year.

Pocon said the joint business venture, in which it will serve as manager, is "historic."

"This is the first entry, to our knowledge, by a native American group in Florida into the highly technical field of electronics," said Pocon.

Pocon said it planned to contact other U.S. Indian tribes and "assist them to gain their share of the business opportunities that have been made available to them by the federal government."

The Seminoles were awarded a $180,000 federal grant to buy equipment and develop training and marketing programs for Seminole Electronics. Thirteen young Seminoles already have completed a course in electronic soldering and electronic assembly at a vocational training center in Broward County.

Boots For Dude Who Has It All

EL PASO, Texas (UPI) — The cowboy boot, once a beat-up and scarred foot protector for a hardworking cowpuncher, has become a status symbol for the dude who has everything.

The boot took a giant step recently into the designer class when Tony Lama Boots of El Paso unveiled a top-of-the-line stomper that sells for up to $750 a pair.

And trying to get a pair this Christmas will be about as hard as it was to find a Cabbage Patch doll last year.

Named the Tony Lama Signature Collection, the line is copyrighted, said Rudy Lama, vice president of industrial relations at the world's largest manufacturer of hand-tooled cowboy boots.

Lama said it took him and plant manager Jesus Briano four months to design the boots' stitching. It is the stitching that is copyrighted, he said.

"We spend so much time designing a certain pattern," Lama said. "And then when we get it out in the market you find that someone is out there right away producing something identical."

Lama said 100 pairs of the top quality boots are being made every day. Dealers have bought 6,000 pairs from Christmas this year and the firm is already working on order for next year.

The boots' retail prices will range from about $310 for a pair of all European calf or buffalo boots to $750 for a pair of ostrich boots.

Lama said comparable boots in Lama's other lines range from $240 to $570 a pair.

The boot executive said he did not think the designer boots would trigger a change in the Texas custom of wearing pants or blue jeans over the top of the boot, covering the copyrighted stitching.

"What we're really selling in the Signature Collection is a top quality boot, the very best in leather and comfort," Lama said.

Lama and Briano developed 25 to 30 design patterns, which were presented to company officials last summer. A final 10 designs were selected to be incorporated into the first line of the Signature Collection.

Lama said he got most of the ideas for the stitching from patterns of other objects.

"Like a sweater design, a scroll of an old building, a butterfly wing," Lama said. "I just start sketching from those kinds of things and then begin modifying it until it fits in a boot top."

The boot's lining is made of goat skin, which is much lighter in weight than the traditional cowhide lining, Lama said.

The boots' soles are made from full-grain leather and have hidden stitching. All seams and edges are skived by hand and either beveled or piped in a leather that perfectly matches the boot.

The piped seams also give a smooth, clean look to the boot so there are no bulges or exposed backside leather, Lama said.

And a 16-gauge steel shank is held in place by a row of hardwood pegs and brass nails.

To make the boots, the company shifted 57 of its most experienced bootmakers from other plants to make the Signature Collection.

Lama said he and company designer Dan Ponder are currently working on a women's Signature Collection, which is scheduled to be available in mid-1985.

Gene Szara, owner of Paramount Aluminum Co., provides free estimates and guarantees work.

Paramount Aluminum Has First Anniversary

Paramount Aluminum Co. will celebrate its first anniversary in January and owner Gene Szara would like to thank all of his satisfied customers who recommended him to their friends to make this a successful first year.

Paramount Aluminum offers free in-door/outdoor carpet in a choice of colors with the purchase of any screen room. "When we're done with a room, it's ready to move into," said Gene. "We go the extra mile to make sure our customers are satisfied."

Gene also builds carports, installs vinyl and aluminum siding, patio covers, pool enclosures, screening, soffit and fascia. He does conversions, exterior remodeling and repairs on houses, businesses, and mobile homes.

Turn your screen room into a room that is useable all year long by having Paramount close it in with vinyl windows. Contemporary insulated roof systems are stronger and keeps the room cooler and drier with less condensation and dampness. With this type of construction, screen rooms can be used for offices, playrooms, and other uses.

Licensed, insured and bonded, Paramount Aluminum gives a written 20-year guarantee. For a free estimate call 331-9079. Gene gives senior citizen discounts and financing is available. A member of the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. Gene will be glad to give you list of references on request.

The T-Lok vinyl siding has a lifetime guarantee, is maintenance free and comes in a choice of colors.

"We build everything to code," said Gene. "I am a firm believer in going by the book and our work often goes beyond the requirement even though it takes a little extra time."

An expert installer, Gene learned the basic building principles as a carpenter and gained experience in residential construction and aluminum construction prior to opening his own business.

Paramount has a design service. Gene is glad to take time to work with people when they want something a little different and meets with them to compare ideas. One custom screen room was designed and built with a built-in bird cage at the customer's request and also builds them with a combination screen and solid to let it rain on the plant area.

"We're looking for the finicky customers who are interested in quality," Gene said.

A Little Funny Business Spikes Up Dull Speech

By Frank Thorsberg
 UPI Business Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A laugh is like money in the bank to Karen Warner and Mike Iapoco, comedy writers who specialize in stirring a little humor into spineless business speeches.

Warner, who is from Chicago, got her start as a joke writer. She met Iapoco, a New Yorker, while trying to sell him some gags at a club where he was working as a standup comic. They have worked together in San Francisco as the Golden Gate Writers since 1982.

"The first year we were sort of panicked because it was a new concept," Warner said. "We were the first to do it publicly. For years people have been writing jokes into their speeches, but the first year we were a little concerned because we weren't getting any repeat business and that's really a true measure of how successful you're doing."

Slowly, however, they began to see a change.

"We thought, 'Oh, God, this isn't working at all and then the second year we started getting all this repeat business,'" Warner said. "I think it's because people tend to give the same speech over and over again."

The partners believe business speakers actually have more opportunities to be funny than comedians because they're not expected to be funny.

"If you tell a joke and it doesn't work, you just keep going. You're not up there to be a comedian so it's a no-lose situation," Iapoco said.

"If you're sitting listening to a speech about accounting, what could be more boring, right?" Warner said. "So you're expecting to fall asleep, take notes, not pay attention very much. If someone throws in a joke that you don't expect, that's going to get a great response."

Some samples of Warner and Iapoco humor include:

For financial planners: "A friend of mine got burned on a pyramid scheme one time. His broker ran off to Egypt."

For a general business executive: "It's not that our president has a big ego, but coming into McDonald's one day his head got stuck in the golden arch."

For a financial planner: "I know one investment advisor whose luck was so bad his portfolio dropped 50 percent in one day, and that was on a Sunday."

For a bank president: "If inflation gets any worse, President Reagan won't be able to buy a Big Mac without a co-signer."

For another financial planner: "You know you've got the wrong broker when you order 50 shares of IBM and he asks you how to spell it."

For a long-distance telephone company: "First the bad news. Long-distance rates are going up. Now the good news. The continents are drifting closer together."

The pair of punsters has added a second story to their business — seminars for companies on how to instruct employees to use humor in business communication.

"What we teach in the seminars is how to find humor, how to adapt it and present it," Iapoco said.

Carrie Straub, who is now with the corporate resources department at the Bank of America, said a seminar she hired the Golden Gate Writers to conduct didn't produce any Woody Allens, but it did help her people see the value of humor in holding an audience's attention.

"I've been meeting-out to death and welcome anything you can laugh at," Straub said.

"If you have a point that you want to be remembered or reinforced, humor is good for that," she said. "We tend to repeat very bad news and we tend to repeat things that we laugh at. It's a good reinforcer."

In addition to joke work, the Golden Gate Writers are also writing a book called "The Executive Humor Handbook," a step-by-step guideline on how to use humor in speeches that will also include a collection of funny stories and favorite jokes from celebrities.

Their main enterprise, however, is churning out gags for businessmen who want to get their point across with a laugh. What the writers produce for a $200 minimum payment is a page of material that includes 10 specially written jokes.

Clients have ranged from IBM, Monsanto and Pacific Telesis to baseball Joe Morgan, a Salvation Army officer and a tugboat captain. "Financial stuff is pretty easy to poke fun at, but the Salvation Army, that was a killer," Iapoco said. "Death, pestilence and famine are not easy to joke about."

Knight-Ridder Management Changes Made

MIAMI (UPI) — Knight-Ridder Newspapers Inc. announced senior management changes Monday at two of its newspapers, the Detroit Free Press and The Journal of Commerce.

Don C. Becker, president of the Detroit Free Press, was named publisher of The Journal of Commerce, effective Jan. 14. He succeeds Eric Ridder who will become chairman of the newspaper and who is retiring in July when he reaches the company's mandatory retirement age of 67.

In Detroit, David Lawrence Jr., executive editor of the Free Press since 1978, was named publisher, effective Jan. 1.

Knight-Ridder Chairman Alvah H. Chapman made the announcement in Detroit.

Lawrence, 42, was editor of the Charlotte Observer before coming to the Free Press six years ago. He also worked for the St. Petersburg Times, the Washington Post, the Palm Beach Post and Philadelphia Daily News.

Knight-Ridder has decided to turn the Journal of Commerce into the industry newspaper for the transportation industry. It is currently read in the shipping business.

Becker also will become a vice president of Knight-Ridder's business information services group, of which the Journal is a part. Becker, 50, joined Knight-Ridder in 1973 as director of corporate relations. In 1977 he became publisher of the Gary Post-Tribune and 17 months later became president of the Detroit Free Press.
