

Nursing Judge To Help In Texas Probe

DALLAS (UPI)—Texas assembled a blue ribbon panel of legal minds today for a court of inquiry into the assassination of President Kennedy and surrounding events.

Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr conferred with wounded Gov. John Connally about the investigation Monday and announced the names of two lawyers who would help interrogate witnesses.

Leon Jaworski, a Houston attorney who was trial judge in the Warren Commission trials following World War II, and Dist. Atty. Henry Wade of Dallas were named to the panel which Carr will head.

Carr said the state's investigation would open shortly after the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) files a report with President Johnson, presumably late this month.

The state investigation, Carr said, would openly interrogate witnesses in the assassination, the slaying of policeman J. D. Tippit and the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald. The findings will be turned over to a federal commission appointed by President Johnson.

Carr said the state investigation would contrast both the FBI's undercover work and the federal commission's consideration because witnesses would be subpoenaed and questions under oath either in Dallas or at Austin, Tex., the state capital.

Hands Full At Home, Nikita No Major Threat To Johnson Now

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Key defense and State Department Soviet analysts believe Russia's Khrushchev is in no position to seriously challenge President Johnson to a major test of nerves now or next year.

Khrushchev has his hands full at home. News reports coming in from the Soviet Union indicate his agricultural-economic problems are even worse than had been believed. He will not be able to get by without Western wheat.

There is now doubt that Khrushchev must make some drastic and expensive agricultural reforms. Chief among these is building a sizable fertilizer-chemical industry. This will take 5 to 10 years and a heavy investment in technicians, money and raw materials—a price Khrushchev has been reluctant to pay.

This money, these technicians and these resources will have to be diverted from other major essential Soviet projects.

Khrushchev has only two places from which he can take these funds—space and military.

Cutting back the military is difficult and ticklish. A slip could endanger Khrushchev's rule from within.

Says one State Department expert: "Khrushchev will have his hands full at home." Defense Department men echo his estimate. Both defense and State Department analysts therefore figure that for the next few years Khrushchev can take no chances in international adventures.

Khrushchev's new lands program is now working out.

Great parts of the area are becoming a dust bowl. U. S. agricultural men have believed for years that instead of spending great sums on the marginal new lands, he should have put the money into fertilizer, insecticides and machinery to boost the production of grain in the proven agricultural regions of the Soviet Union.

Because of the shortage of grain, Soviet farmers are slaughtering great numbers of their livestock. This means that even with improved crops next year, the Soviet Union will still be in poor shape on food supplies.

Even with drastic reforms, it will be years before Russia produces enough food regularly to feed her people at the standard of living which many Russians are coming to demand.

As these State-Defense analysts see it, this means Khrushchev won't want to get the West too mad at him, even after this year's wheat deals are completed. He may have the problem again next year. Khrushchev right now, they believe, cannot afford a series of bad crop years without imported grains from the West to fall back on.

They don't exclude a series of Khrushchev probes—just to learn where he stands and to stir up what gains he can make cheaply.

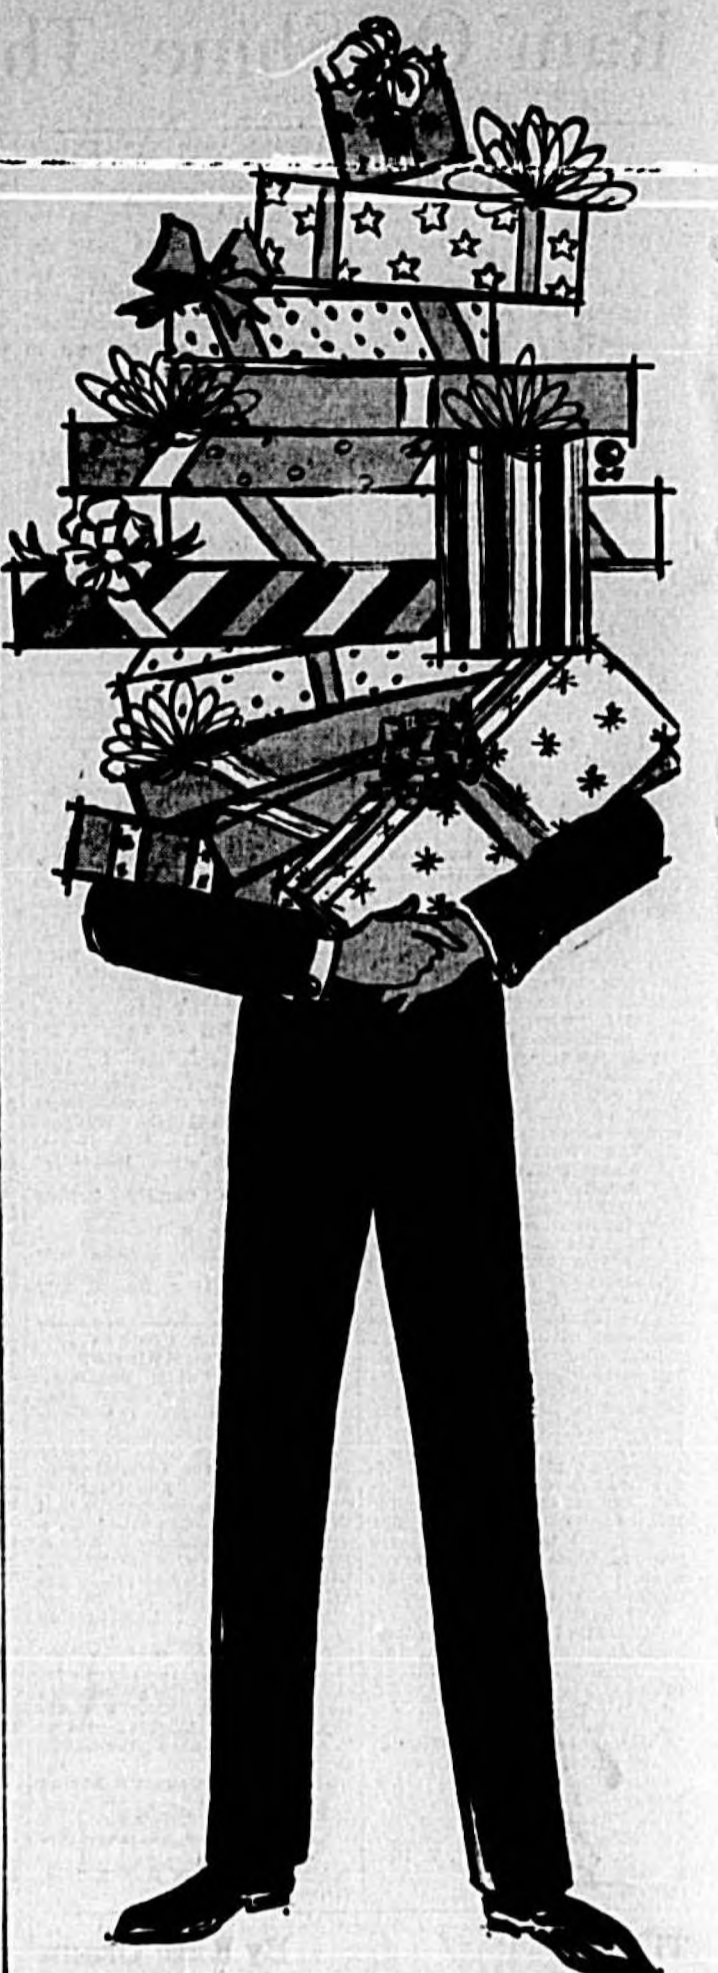

But as they see it, the problem President Johnson faces is much more subtle. How can he, basically unknown and untested abroad, quickly take over leadership in western Europe and Asia?

As the hero of Europe in World War II, Eisenhower did not have this problem. Kennedy did. Johnson faces a tougher start.

Europe is becoming more independent. Johnson doesn't start with the prestige of being an elected president. He has less than a year before he faces an election. Europeans don't know how he would stand up under a "Berlin" or a "Cuba."

The analysts figure that Khrushchev, dealing from weakness, may make a further weakening of NATO his prime target.

Therefore the President's strategists are attempting to work out some way in which Johnson quickly and firmly can convince the free and Communist worlds that he means business and has the backing to carry out his aims.

Seminole Leaders Voice Confidence In Board Of Control

Tuesday the Central Florida Development Committee adopted resolution indicating that all Central Florida counties seeking the proposed state university endorsed a plan to locate the new school in Orange County.

Tuesday night the Seminole County university site committee adopted a resolution which declares that the local group is completely confident that the State Board of Control will select a site on the basis of the greatest good to the greatest number of people.

The resolution, as adopted, is as follows:

WHEREAS the Board of Directors of Central Florida Development Committee adopted a resolution in Orlando, Dec. 2, urging the Board of Control to select an Orange County site for the East Central Florida University, and,

WHEREAS, the Central Florida Development Committee DOES NOT SPEAK

FOR NOR REPRESENT the East Central Florida counties affected, and,

WHEREAS, the people and public officials of Seminole County have the most complete confidence in the members and professional staff of the State Board of Control in the decision to be made in establishing the site of the new East Central Florida graduate school and university, and,

WHEREAS, we are especially grateful for the thoroughness with which the members and staff of the board have gone about the investigation of the sites offered by Seminole County and the courtesies extended to us, and,

WHEREAS, we have full confidence that the board will select the site on the basis of the greatest good to the greatest number of people in the East Central Florida area in accord with the intent of the Florida Legislature and in accord with the criteria established by the professional staff of the Board of Control.

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved, that the Seminole County legislative delegation, the University Site Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and the Board of Directors of Seminole County Chamber of Commerce strongly affirm our complete confidence that the Board of Control will select a site for the new East Central Florida graduate school and university in a location where it can best serve the people of Florida in accord with the intent of the Florida Legislature and in accord with the criteria established by the professional staff of the Board of Control.

Mack N. Cleveland, Jr., Senator
Joe Davis, Representative
Jan Fortune, Representative
Gen. J. C. Hutchison, chairman, Seminole County Commission
Tom McDonald, Mayor of Sanford
Francis E. Roumillat, Jr., President, Seminole County Chamber of Commerce

John Arizer, Manager, Chamber of Commerce
Douglas Stenstrom, Chairman, Seminole County University Site Committee.

Copies of the above resolution Tuesday night were dispatched to Gov. Farris Bryant, all members of the Board of Control and its executive director, Howard Calpepper, and to the commission chairmen of the other eight counties involved.

The Herald is convinced that Seminole County's university site committee presented all of the information and material pertaining to all of the sites in this county in a fair and impartial manner, realizing that the Board of Control was faced with a most difficult decision. In addition, The Herald is assured that the county's legislative delegation has exerted no influence, political or otherwise, nor any pressure on the Board of Control.

These facts were substantiated by every member of the Board of Control and its technical staff when they advised the local site committee that Seminole County's presentation was the most comprehensive submitted by the nine counties within the perimeter established by the Florida legislature.

The Central Florida Development Committee was created several years ago by a group of Orlando and Orange County business and industrial leaders. Other communities in the area were invited to join with the organization in a united effort to promote a program of planned development for the entire area.

But, as usual, efforts were slanted toward Orlando and its immediate vicinity much to the dismay of those who were invited to join the movement. This, of course, eliminated the co-operation of Sanford, Seminole County and other Central Florida communities.

The development committee is currently directed exclusively by leaders whose interests and efforts are promoted 100 per cent for the immediate Orlando area.

The Herald believes that it is not consistent for the Orlando organization to consider itself a Central Florida committee since it is now primarily an Orlando and Orange County group. It is general knowledge that this group's efforts are directed solely to the area in which the organization's members have a personal and financial interest.

The Central Florida Development Committee's resolution almost to a point directs the Board of Control to locate the university in Orange County.

The Herald considers this an insult to the integrity of Gov. Bryant and members of the Board of Control. The Herald also considers the resolution of the Development committee not only untimely but also not in the best interests of the citizens of Seminole, Orange, Lake, Volusia, Flagler, Brevard, Indian River, St. Lucie and Osceola counties.

3-Year Study Of Cigarette Smoking Told

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—The death rate among a large group of cigarette smokers during a period of nearly three years was more than twice as high as among a similar group of non-smokers, an American Cancer Society expert said today.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, pipe smoking director of the society's statistical research, reported new evidence in the relationship of cigarette smoking to death and disease in a paper delivered at the American Medical Association's 117th clinical meeting.

Matching 20,973 men over 40 who smoked a pack of cigarettes or more per day with the same number of non-smokers, Hammond said 1,385 of the smokers died during the 3 1/2 month period. Of the cigarette smokers, 110 died of lung cancer while 662 of the non-smokers died. Of the cigarette smokers, 110 died of lung cancer while 662 of the non-smokers died. Coronary artery disease killed 451 smokers and only 304 non-smokers.

Each man in one group was matched as closely as possible with a man in the other group as to age, race, size, residence (urban or rural), religion, education, marital status, drinking habits, nervous tension and many other factors.

Hammond said he was trying through this "matched pair analysis" to eliminate all possible non-smoking differences between smoking and death rates might be merely incidental.

Of his findings, he commented that "it is hard to escape the conclusion that this difference in number of deaths was due to the difference in smoking habits."

Sanford and Seminole County can take pride in the fact that personnel of the Sanford Naval Air Station hold this area in such high esteem. Not every locality where armed forces are based is given this kind of consideration.

Since we've been back in Seminole, after the long California sojourn, we've been advised by many Navy personnel that they not only like this area but want to locate here upon retirement. Thanks, Navy! Sanford and Seminole County appreciate it.

The new flooring at the offices of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce is really new — says Manager John Kridler. The original floor had been laid so many times it wouldn't stand another one.

Seminole High officials said today they were anticipating a record crowd for Friday's Seminole-Kissimmee post-season football game—that is if the weather is good.

One of Friday night's feature attractions will be a pregame presentation by the famed Osceola High Kowbelles, a precision drill unit.

At halftime Kissimmee's Kowboy band will perform with Sanford's Marching Seminoles. The local aggregation will present a holiday pageant, complete with fireworks. "It'll be a brand new show," says Ernest Cowley, local band director.

NCC Opens War On Gambling

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The National Council of Churches moved today to head off what it called "an organized effort to extend gambling on a nationwide scale."

A resolution denouncing legalized gambling as an "insidious menace to personal character and social morality" was presented to the council's General Assembly for action at today's session.

Approval was assured. The resolution came to the floor with the backing of the National Council's policy-making General Board and the assembly's Resolutions Committee.

It warned that proponents of legalized gambling are pressing in all parts of the country for legislation authorizing "state and national lotteries."

It called upon churches to "arouse their members" for a counterattack against legal gambling which "encourages a distortion of human and economic values."

50 Per Cent Ballot In 3 Town Elections

A total of 872 voters out of 1,631 registered went to the polls Tuesday to cast ballots in annual municipal elections held in Altamonte Springs, Longwood and Oviedo.

In Altamonte the only candidate facing opposition was incumbent Mayor Lawrence Swiford who recorded a sweeping victory of 227 votes over G. W. Tetrault's 67.

Sanford this morning expressed his appreciation to the people for their outstanding show of confidence in his ability and promised to do his utmost to carry out all statements of his platform.

In other races, unopposed council candidate Keith Nixon for ward one received 235 votes while Bob Newell, unopposed for ward two, took 239.

Of the total 347 voters registered, 287 cast ballots with all but one voting on the mayor's race.

In Longwood totals 483 of the 638 registered voters cast ballots to elect newcomer B. H. Ferrell and incumbents B. L. Helms and Carl Lommier to the council. The two-part advisory referendum on the sale of alcoholic beverages was defeated.

Official counts gave Helms 209, Ferrell 205 and Lommier 204. Other candidates in the race and votes received were: incumbent Jim Reiter, 201; Percy White 171, E. E. Williams 158, Joe Dean, 130, Ted Waltz, 100, and Mrs. Geri Hiltman, 60.

The vote for part one of the referendum, which pertained to sale of beer and wine for consumption off the premises on Sunday was 230, no and 161, yes. Part two, which was to extend the closing hour of establishments selling intoxicating liquors, wine and beer for consumption either on or off the premises until 2 a.m. brought 251 votes against and 121 votes for the measure.

Of particular interest in the Longwood elections is the fact that Jim Reiter, who has been in office for the past 13 years, lost out this year by only three votes including counts from the eight absentee ballots.

Ferrell, the new councilman, based his campaign on honesty in government, work toward keeping the center of town in its present location, work for all civic improvements and to bring as many new businesses into town as possible.

Candidates in Oviedo, where a mayor and two councilmen were elected, were all without opposition. Votes received were: Mayor Lee Gary, 100, T. L. Lingo Jr., 98 and newcomer Robert L. Ward, 98. Of the 416 registered voters, only 102 turned out to vote.

Easing Of Cargo Ruling Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Johnson administration has been asked to waive the "50 per cent American vessels" requirement for one sale of U. S. surplus wheat to Communist Hungary, officials reported today.

How the administration's decision—either way—might affect recently deadlocked negotiations for wheat sales to Russia was a matter of conjecture.

The waiver request was made more than a week ago by an American grain firm to the U. S. Maritime Administration and involves a single wheat sale to Hungary.

The grain trading firm was not identified but presumably it was Cargill, Inc., of Minneapolis. Cargill is the seller in the only two wheat sales to Hungary for which U. S. export licenses have been issued — $7.6 million worth licensed Nov. 4 and $8 million licensed Nov. 14.

Under ground rules laid down last month by the Kennedy administration, 50 per cent of the wheat commercially sold to Communist countries must be shipped in American vessels, if available, and the prices American shippers can charge are limited by government-set maximums.

Mrs. Kennedy To Move Out On Friday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy will move out of the White House Friday, but it is not known yet when the Johnson family will move in.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Mrs. Kennedy will move to a home in the Georgetown section of the capital led to her by Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman.

Despite the sad break with the executive mansion, one Kennedy will remain on the premises for a time.

Six-year-old Caroline will continue to attend first grade in the White House at least through the end of this school year.

CARACAS (UPI)—Government troops raided a mountain hideout today and killed 21 Communist guerrillas in a gun battle.

Reports from the scene said the only casualty on the government side was a lieutenant, who was wounded.

State Action On Highway Safety Slated

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The State Board of Public Safety is expected to adopt next Tuesday recommendations for increased highway safety made Tuesday by the Inter-Agency Council on Public Safety.

The recommendations include increased emphasis on safety design of highways, increased law enforcement and mandatory seat belts, auto inspections and driver re-examinations.

The adoption would commit officials to put into effect those suggestions not requiring additional money or laws. Other proposals will be brought to the attention of the 1965 State Legislature.

The recommendations came as the Highway Patrol announced that 1,805 persons have died so far on state highways, some 70 more than the same period last year.

The creation of the position of safety engineer in the State Road Department to insure all future roads are designed with safety in mind is one recommendation which apparently can be implemented immediately.

The council also urged a study be made of all roads with high accident records to determine if engineering improvements are needed.

A strong program is required, the recommendations said, for engineering units with adequate personnel and money to insure that safety is built into all highways.

Council Sidetracks Annexation Plan

The proposed annexation by North Orlando of an area lying north of SR 434 extending west to Highway 17-92 was removed from the agenda in a surprise move by the Village Council Tuesday night upon a motion of request from Vice-Mayor Arthur Ferrin who presided at the meeting in the absence of Mayor W. W. Anderson.

The ordinance received its first reading at a special meeting held Nov. 19 when the only council member voting against it was Mrs. Irene Van Espel who said at that time she would like to hold the matter in abeyance until all property owners in the area were contacted for opinion.

Questioned by the Herald as to reasons for Tuesday night's reverse move, council's only comment was voiced by Mrs. Van Espel who stated "it is just not propitious at this time."

More favorable reaction was received by other ordinances coming up for second and third readings. Unanimous approval and adoption were given ordinances establishing an electrical code, entering a franchise agreement with Winter Park Telephone Company and making open drainage ditches a violation in the village.

Another surprise move at the meeting came from Ferrin when he opened the floor for discussion of the proposed citizens' charter board which last week was suggested by Mayor Anderson. The mayor specifically requested only Tuesday morning that since he would be unable to attend the council meeting any discussion on his proposal be postponed for a special session to be held next Tuesday.

Audience comment, however, brought no determined opinions on the matter and Ferrin, in conclusion, suggested that each person in attendance study the proposal with their friends and neighbors and bring them to next week's meeting for further discussion.

Commission To Police Teaching Corps Set Up

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Cabinet Board of Education set up a new commission Tuesday to police the teaching profession under a 1963 legislative act.

The law created a professional practices commission comprised of 19 members who will act in teacher discipline cases somewhat like the Florida Bar polices the legal profession.

Names for the commission were submitted to state school head Thomas D. Bailey by the teaching profession and Bailey handed the list to the school board. The members will now meet, organize and come up with a set of rules for policing the profession.

Ed Henderson, executive secretary of the Florida Education Association, said Florida was the first state to adopt legislation recognizing teaching as a profession and requiring adoption of standards for teachers.

"Florida is pioneering it for education," Henderson told the cabinet.

Named to the committee were: elementary teachers: Mrs. Selma Hayden, Dade County, Mrs. Virginia Hints, Duval County, Mrs. Rebecca Miller, Orange County, Mrs. Betty Tackett, Sarasota County; Secondary teachers: Harvey Casey, Bay, Mrs. Emma Sheeley, Dade, Mrs. Merlesse Coons, Escambia, Alice Van Cref, Volusia.

Elementary principals: Carlos Taylor, Pinellas; Secondary principals: Larry Walden, Broward; Supervisors: L. E. Swatts, Hillsborough; Superintendents: J. Harley Blackburn, Manatee; Junior colleges: Dean Henry Goodlett, Marion; Senior colleges: Dr. Harris Dean, Hillsborough; Florida Education Association: Dr. Phil Constans Jr., Brevard, Mrs. Edna Talt, Leon; Florida State Teachers Association: U. B. Kinsey, Palm Beach, James L. Hill, Okaloosa; State Department of Education: M. Mitchell Ferguson, Tallahassee.

In other actions, the cabinet school board authorized establishment of a new junior college in Polk County and refused to permit a six-year-old St. Petersburg Negro girl to move from an all Negro school to an integrated school.

The board said Sylvia Barton could not attend the integrated Glenok Elementary school in Pinellas County. The board said the little girl lived just across the street from the Melrose Elementary School where she attended classes.

In other actions, the cabinet:

Pledged $166,600 to Alachua County and $10,600 to Hernando County for additional school room construction.

Cost-Sharing Requests From Farmers Asked

Applications for cost-sharing under the 1964 agricultural conservation program will be accepted from Seminole County farmers through Jan. 15, it was reported today by Wilbur M. Arp, office manager of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee (ASCC).

Arp, who is in the local office on Mondays and Tuesday, said:

"This is a nationwide program, is entirely voluntary and is designed to help farmers establish needed conservation practices on their farms. Payment, depending upon funds available in the county, is made to farmers, ranchers and growers who sign up and carry out these practices according to specifications.

"It will be of special interest to those who plan to do pasture work, apply dolomite or hi calcium limestone on pastures, or on cover crops on cropland or groves, plant pine seedlings, construct fire lanes, construct wells or ponds in pasture for livestock water, and plant legume cover crops in groves or on cropland during the coming year. Cost-shares are likewise provided to construct drainage systems which may be open ditches or underground drainage. Technical assistance is also provided by the Soil Conservation Service and the Florida Forest Service.

"For complete information contact the county ASCC office at the Agricultural Center south of Sanford on US 17-92."

Municipal Bond Sales Set Record

HOLLYWOOD BEACH, (UPI) — The investment bankers of America were told here Tuesday that municipal bond sales through November of this year have reached $9.8 billion, an all-time high.

George B. Wendt, chairman of the Municipal Securities Committee, said sales could reach $10 billion by the end of the year.

He told the IBA's 52nd annual gathering that several large bond issues did not sell at the original offering price, forcing the underwriters to take a big loss.

"It would seem that high profits could be expected from a record year," Wendt said, "but unfortunately this is not the case."

"Experience should be an effective, but unpleasant, lesson in not bidding too high on new issues," he added.

Brevard Votes Down Jai-Alai

TITUSVILLE (UPI) — Brevard County voters rejected by a two-to-one margin Tuesday a proposal to build a jai alai fronton in the county.

In a special referendum, the Florida East Coast Enterprises was denied the authority to build the facility by a vote of 11,000 to 5,994.

This was the second time in recent years that attempts to build a jai alai fronton with wagering facilities has been rejected by Brevard voters.

Organist Guild Holds Yule Program

The Central Florida chapter of the American Guild of Organists met Tuesday night at the First Presbyterian church, the get-together taking the form of a Christmas party. Vocalists with their organist accompanist from several of the nearby churches presented "typical" Yuletide selections, and Walter Hewitt, Winter Park Presbyterian church, provided a delightful organ interlude midway in the singing.

Following the program the group retired to the Fellowship Hall, delightfully decorated by Mrs. George Stone and local Guild members. Mrs. Stone's artistic pieces have been acclaimed for their esthetic symbolism as well as their beauty. The gathering enjoyed refreshments and the fellowship of those who at this particular season of the year are extremely busy with church music celebrating the Nativity.

The musical portion followed this order: A Christmas Carol (Buz), Janice Jenkins (Stetson University); I Wonder As I Wander (Appalachian carol), Horace McFarland, Robert Eshenaur, accompanist (Park Lake Presbyterian, Orlando); A Christmas Candle Song (Prokofiev), Margaret Echelberger, Louise George Touhy at the organ (First Presbyterian, Sanford); Walter Hewitt's selection was an improvisation on "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen." He is from Winter Park Presbyterian.

What Is This Lovely Fragrance (arr. Willan), Lamar Simmons (Winter Park Methodist) accompanied by Jane Hood Smith; Prayer of the Norwegian Child (Kovats) Elaine Hoganson with Louise Green-Touhy at the organ (First Presbyterian, Sanford); But Who May Abide the Day of His Coming (Handel) Floyd Eaddy, with accompanist Jack Bookhardt (First Presbyterian, Orlando). Special musical services for the Christmas season were announced by musicians from many of the Central Florida churches and an invitation extended to all who wish to add to their worship in this way.

Betancourt Asks Blockade Of Cuba

CARACAS (UPI) — President Rómulo Betancourt called Tuesday night for an air and naval blockade of Cuba to put a stop to the Castroite export of arms and revolution to other nations of the new World.

There was no immediate reaction from the United States, which presumably would have to furnish most of the forces required for such a blockade.

At a news conference, Betancourt also urged the few Latin American nations which have not already done so to "break relations with the traitor Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime."

The President's double-barreled attack on the Castroites was a sequel to last week's announcement that Venezuela has "definite and irrefutable proof" that arms found cached on a Venezuelan beach last month were smuggled in from Cuba for use by Communist terrorists in this country.

A few hours before Betancourt spoke, the Organization of American States had voted in Washington to appoint a special committee to investigate the Venezuelan charge.

In Miami, a former Castroite who brought Belgian arms for the revolutionary regime in 1959, said he recognized one of the cached weapons which was displayed on television. Ex-Maj. Ricardo Lorie said he is willing to assist the OAS investigators if his help is wanted.

Lorie said each of the automatic rifles he bought in Belgium is stamped with the Cuban national emblem.

"Castro was angry because I had the Cuban emblem put on the weapons," he said. "Now I understand why."

Betancourt said he does not think the rest of Latin America will hesitate to act when it sees proof that the Castro regime is seeking to overthrow the Venezuelan government.

The President assured newsmen that the Venezuelan people are "actively searching" for U. S. Army Col. James K. Chenault, who was kidnaped from his home by Communist tommygunners a week ago today. He said he has "no official information" about Chenault's whereabouts or condition.

The Chenault kidnaping was part of the unsuccessful Red effort to sabotage Sunday's presidential election, which was won easily by Raul Leonidas Betancourt's ask reelection. Democratic Action Party. Under the Venezuelan constitution, Betancourt could not

County Okays School Road

Installation of a clay stabilized access road to the new English Estates School was authorized in a special session of the County Commission Tuesday morning. The school is due to open for its first classes with the January term.

The road, known as Floral

Boulevard, will extend from Highway 436 for 3,300 feet to the school property.

County Engineer William Bush also was instructed to seek right of way for a 66-foot road from the school south on East Boulevard, to Palm Avenue and to an extension of Oxford Road leading into English Estates subdivision.

IN "CAREFREE" DAYS the Lyndon Johnsons loved to relax in informal togs on their spacious LBJ ranch near Johnson City, Texas. Such periods of relaxation are much less frequent now for the President and the First Lady.

Business Appears Friendly To LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The business community appeared today to be in a friendly mood toward the Johnson administration, principally because of the new President's previous record as a senator.

Business spokesmen said unofficially that Johnson's record suggests that he will promote the kind of economic policies that should maintain the current era of relative prosperity.

The President gets a chance to chat first-hand about the subject today when he confers this evening with members of the Business Council — the influential organization of corporation presidents and industrial leaders.

The session was the latest in a series of Johnson meetings with representative groups from throughout the nation. The President conferred with President George Meany of the AFL-CIO Tuesday and was to meet with the AFL-CIO Executive Council shortly before the Business Council Session.

The business council was in the capital today for its annual December meeting. Johnson took advantage of the occasion to invite its members in for a "get-acquainted" session.

The White House said the President wanted to talk to the Business Council and the labor group and ask their support in matters dealing with the nation's economy.

The council — which serves as an advisory group to the government — has predominantly Republican loyalties. But all Chief Executives, including President Kennedy, assiduously courted its favor.

Among the first phone calls made by Johnson hours after he was sworn in was one to council Chairman Frederick R. Kappel, board chairman of American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The meeting today was expected to be cordial prompted by this apparent feeling of confidence in Johnson — an attitude that developed after business recovered from the initial shock wave caused by Kennedy's assassination.

Second Session Of Vatican Council Ends

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI, closing the second session of the Vatican Council, today ordered the simplifying and shortening of the decrees before the council in the hope of completing its work next year.

The Pope said the "practical implications" of the council's work will be decided by commissions after the meeting was drawn to a close.

Only a few minutes before, the Pope had promulgated the first two final results of the council—a decree on reforms for the public worship, including the use of everyday language in the Mass, and another on modern communications media.

They were the two final results of the first two sessions of the council which met 79 times. Fifteen other documents remain to be decided on, but three are near completion. A total of 69 faced the council fathers when they first met last year, but they were condensed and combined into the 17.

The next session of the council is scheduled to begin Sept. 14, 1960. It had been expected there would be at least one more session after that, and perhaps two.

The pontiff's announcement that he would try to wind up the council next fall thus came as a surprise.

Noting the "heavy, arduous and protracted work" of the council, and that "other questions are still subject to further studies and discussions," the Pope said:

"We hope that the third session in the autumn of next year will bring them to completion."

On questions already dealt with by the council, he said "we will see to it that these questions be subjected to a thorough and deeper re-examination so as to be able to present to the next session of the council schemata which are short and so worded that it will not be difficult to obtain judgment on certain fundamental propositions."

The U. S. Catholic hierarchy announced today it will meet next spring to authorize the use of English and to work out the forms for the new texts.

Guilt Unproved, Says Mother

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, mother of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, said Monday the world should know the "true facts" about herself and her son.

She intends to write a book containing them.

Mrs. Oswald came out of seclusion, although she is still under police and federal guard, and gave an interview in her small duplex apartment.

The 56-year-old, unemployed practical nurse said her son, himself slain by Jack Ruby in the Dallas city jail basement two days after the President was shot, "was innocent until proven guilty."

"That is the American way," she said, "and he did not have the opportunity to defend himself."

"When the true facts are known, my son will not have died in vain."

Boat House Rules Set

FALAHASSE (UPI) — The cabinet adopted rules today governing boat houses and other structures over public waters that are designed to include living quarters.

The new regulations are in addition to the usual data already required in applications for state permits to install boat houses and boat slips.

Under the new rules, applicants must submit complete construction plans, including sanitary facilities and connections to septic tanks or sanitary sewer lines on upland property. The plans must have prior approval by local or state health authorities.

Other regulations limit floor area to 750 square feet, require the boat house to be at least 200 feet from any other boat house with living quarters and 200 feet from any residence.

Collins Appeals To South For End To Bigotry

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UPI) — LeRoy Collins, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, Tuesday night called for an end to sectionalism and bigotry and urged the South to act more like "Loyal Americans."

"It is time we started speaking and acting together more like loyal Americans and self-respecting southerners," the former Florida governor said.

Collins, speaking to the greater Columbia Chamber of Commerce, urged that the solid southern citizens step forward to displace rabble rousers.

"Extremists," he said, "are the very ones against whom we in the South have had to struggle in our towns and in our state capitals for much of the progress we have made."

"How long are the majority of southerners going to allow themselves to be caricatured before the nation by these claghorns," Collins asked. He blamed the assassination of the president on "the products of environments where hatred has been preached and lawlessness extolled."

"How many Sunday school children have to be dynamited to death? How many Negro leaders have to be shot in the back? How many governors have to be shot in the chest? How many presidents have to be assassinated?" Collins asked.

"It is time the decent people in the South, with all their might and strength, told the bloody-shirt wavers to climb down off the buckboards of bigotry," he said. He called it the "moral duty of our generation to plow under racial injustice everywhere in the United States."

Collins said racial equality was a "national commitment and a national necessity. It is not going away." "The advancement of all rights for national citizenship will occur with the overt aid of the national government if local citizens and local and state governments do not move effectively to accomplish this on their own," he said.

4 Royal Births Due Next Year

LONDON (UPI) — Four royal babies are expected early next year—a situation believed to be unique in the annals of British royalty.

Princess Margaret is the latest to announce that she is expecting a child. It was disclosed Monday that she expects her second child in April.

Princess Alexandra, 26, the queen's cousin, is due to have her first baby in January or February. Queen Elizabeth II, 37, expects her fourth child in February or early March.

The Duchess of Kent, 30, Alexandra's sister-in-law, is due to have her second child in May.

'Desperation' Made 4 Exiles Flee Red Cuba

MIAMI (UPI) — Four Cuban exiles said Tuesday that "desperation" made them steal a leaky 17-foot boat and row away from the Communist homeland with a couple of tree branches.

After five cold nights and days, the exiles spotted a Liberian freighter, hailed the crew and were taken aboard and transferred to a U. S. Coast Guard cutter.

"We were afraid at first that it was a Russian ship when we spotted it at dawn Sunday," said 38-year-old Alfredo Rivera, "but when we got closer we could see the flag."

The exiles said they spotted the unguarded boat in a river in Havana Province and decided to risk the voyage without adequate preparations.

"The boat was leaky and it had no cars," 38-year-old Francisco Perera said. "We had no idea where we were going because we had no compass."

They fashioned a pair of oars out of tree branches and set out. Their boat was on the verge of sinking and the refugees were nearly exhausted when they were picked up by the freighter.

"We were desperate to get out of Cuba or we would never have tried such a thing," Rivera said.

Off Coast Oil Survey Sought

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Tideland Exploration Co., Houston, Tex., has applied for a permit for an underwater gravity survey in the Gulf of Mexico from Pensacola Bay to Apalachee Bay, Fla., U. S. Army Engineers said today.

O. L. Adams, Chief of the operations division, said the gravity meter survey would not involve use of explosives or electric current.

The area to be explored for possible oil and gas formations would extend seaward to the 800-foot curve which is about 40 miles off the coast.

The engineers said if there were any protests they must be submitted in writing here by Dec. 28 or it would be considered there were no objections, Adams said.

A gravity survey is designed to find possible high and low underground formations which might serve as traps for oil.

There has been considerable geophysical work done lately off the Mississippi and Alabama coasts recently but this is the first off north-west Florida in several years.

300 GIs Set To Leave Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Three hundred U. S. servicemen prepared today for the long flight home as the first troops to be withdrawn from South Viet Nam since the U. S. buildup here in 1962.

They are part of the 1,000 officers and men who will be returned to the United States without replacement by the first of the year, reducing U. S. strength here to 15,500.

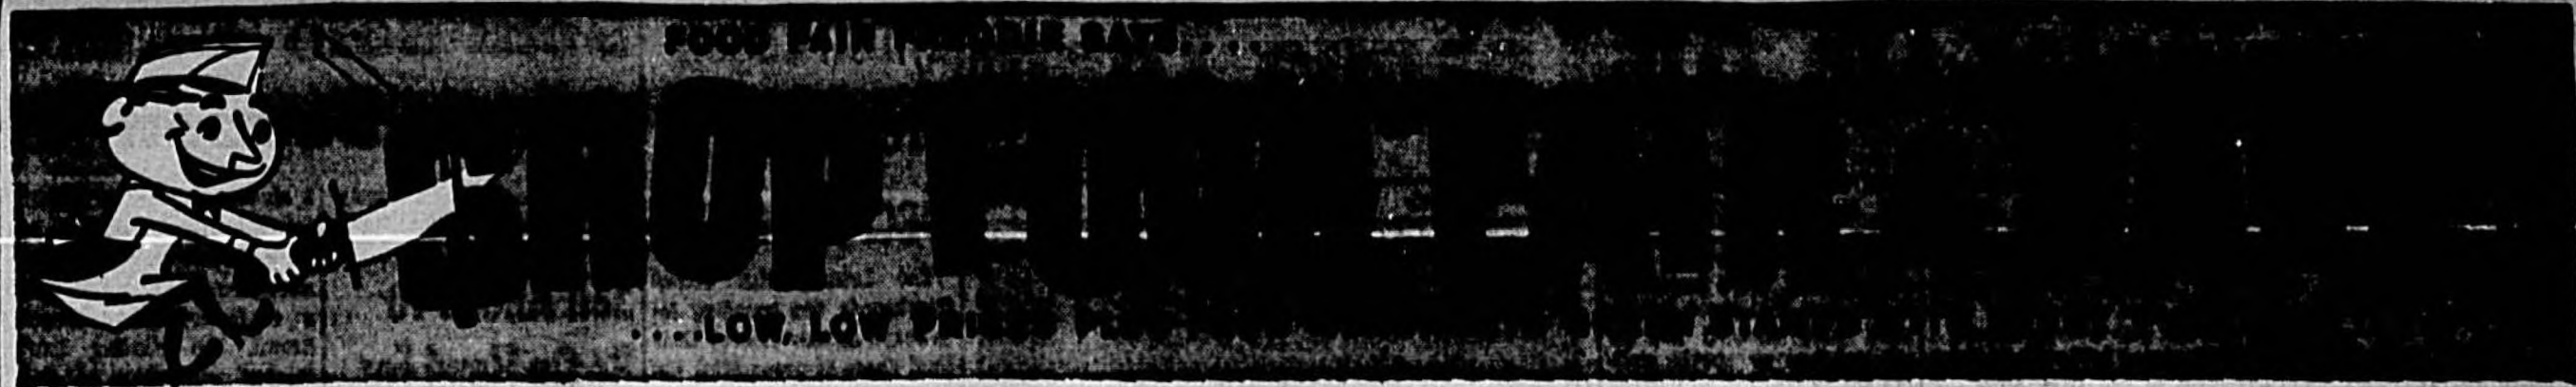

The reduction was the result of the visit here in October of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

They decided "the major part of the United States military task can be completed by the end of 1968" in South Viet Nam, a White House statement issued at the time said.

Bandit Demands Trading Stamps

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—A gunman robbed a service station of $78.50 in cash Monday, and then asked the attendant for trading stamps.

The attendant, starting down the barrel of a .45 caliber pistol, added $1.80 worth of stamps to the loot.

6 Seminoles On All-League Team

The Seminoles of the Orange-Belt Conference have been named to the All-League team and three Seminoles have won honorable mention at the conference. Seminoles' Coach Jim Pignot announced the team on the boys' all star day.

Seminole's Buddy Burton was named a unanimous choice and Lee Spurgeon at-

Head Coach Jim Pignot was told of the selections. Each of them earned the position they won on the all star eleven. Even more important is the fact that these youngsters were selected not by the coaches or sports writers but by the football players in the conference.

Of the six men named to the first eleven, Pignot pointed out that "three of them were from our defensive linebacker unit and three of them were from our offensive Black Ram unit. This helps us to prove that we're had a well balanced ball club throughout the season."

The selections were made Tuesday night at a meeting of the Orange-Belt Conference. The entire all-conference team will not be released until Friday.

The Seminoles of the Orange-Belt Conference have been named to the All-League team and three Seminoles have won honorable mention at the conference. Seminoles' Coach Jim Pignot announced the team on the boys' all star day.

SEMINOLES' HEADHUNTER UNIT will see quite a bit of Kissimmee's Steve Yowell Friday night at Sanford's Memorial Stadium when the locals tangle in a post-season engagement with the Osceola High Kowboys. Yowell, a standout all season for Kissimmee, is a 163-pound offensive fullback. He also performs as a defensive end.

BOBBY MCINTOSH, left, and Robert Watson bagged this eight point buck while hunting in the Wekiva Swamps. The deer was brought down with a 30.06 rifle.

Lyman Cagers Prepare For Dec. 13 Debut

The Lyman High School Greyhounds are rounding in to shape as they entered their final phase of preparation before opening the 1964-65 cage season on Dec. 13.

Head Coach Walt Durbin seems to have come up with a team that could produce a winning season for the Longwood school. Last year the 'Hounds won 10 games out of a 25-contest slate.

At the moment the Greyhound squad is dominated by centers Donnie Smith and Bill Burkhardt. Smith stands six-foot three and Burkhardt goes up to six-foot one.

Lyman's forwards include Bill Tolson, Jim Goyles, Richard Grant, Gene Winkleman and Kenny Amest. Guards are Joe Asher, Mike Sterling, Joe Pavelchak and Gene Griffin.

The 'Hounds have a lot of height under the basket and are expected to pull in more than their share of rebounds. Although the squad appears to have all the qualities for a winning ball club observers say much will depend upon the desire of the team's members.

Seminole Basketeers Open Season Thursday

Head Coach Ralph Stumpf and his aide—John Colbert, a six-foot two-inch pivotman; forward Mike McClary, another six-foot two-inch youngster; forward Doug Firestone, a six-footer; guard Dennis Brown, the starting five's shortest competitor at five-foot eight; and guard Mike Boves, a five-foot 11-inch youngster.

This indicates Stumpf will have plenty of height under the baskets.

The Seminole mentor said he also plans to use Billy Day, Jeff Williams, Marris and defensive plans for their hardwood opener Thursday night when they tangle with the Mainland High Bucs of Daytona Beach.

Stumpf posted the names of his starting five. They will include Center Kenny Tyre, began polishing the Seminole High Cage squad's offensive Sheffield and Frank Newcamp. Stumpf declared that none of the Tribe's basketball players who are still playing football will appear in Friday night's post-season gridiron classic against the Kissimmee Kowboys, will be participating for the Warrior's in the Thursday cage contest.

"Normally," said Stumpf, "we will carry a 12-man varsity squad while the rest of our squad will be assigned to Colbert's JayVee outfit."

Asked about this season's prospects, Stumpf admitted, "We've got plenty of good strong boys, and they're hustlers. They're working well together and we should have a representative outfit. However, it's going to be tough going into the Metro Conference for the first time and running into some pretty stiff opposition."

This will be Stumpf's second year at the helm of the Seminole five. During the three previous years he was the JayVee coach. Meanwhile, Colbert is starting his second year as JayVee coach, and he's hoping he'll have as good a season as he did last year when his junior varsity five grabbed 20 wins in 21 outings.

Stumpf also announced that tip-off time Thursday will be 8 p. m. The varsity contest will follow a JayVee engagement between the Seminoles and the Baby Bucs which gets underway at 6:30.

Stumpf declared that none of the Tribe's basketball players who are still playing football will appear in Friday night's post-season gridiron classic against the Kissimmee Kowboys, will be participating for the Warrior's in the Thursday cage contest.

Thinking Out Loud

BY JULIAN STENSTROM

Seminole May See Gator Bowl Battle
The Seminole Indian football team is Gator Bowl bound! That is, they are if the action of the executive committee of the Seminole Boosters club can be finalized.

The Boosters expressed eagerness to do something for the pigskin paraders because they had agreed to play a post-season game to help provide funds for new athletic equipment for the up-coming teams, denying themselves the chance to play in a "bowl" game. The fans wanted to show appreciation for such an attitude by giving them the trip to Jacksonville.

With Pres. O. L. Barks presiding the committee discussed with Principal A. J. Bracken and Athletic Director Fred Genna the possibilities of such a trip with extra money to be defrayed by the Boosters club. The proposal was to provide transportation and tickets for the Indian gridiron squad—Black Rams, Headhunters and Phantoms—the two managers and five coaches. The authorities said they could foresee only approval of the plan, but further discussion would be necessary.

The game played in Jacksonville will be between University of North Carolina and a team yet to be named, Mississippi State apparently has the inside track now. It will be played at 2 p. m. on Dec. 28 and will be televised nationally.

Advance tickets sales have been good, it is reported, and the scramble for the precious pasteboards is now on to assure seats as good as possible for the honored champions of the Orange Belt Conference.

However, the coaches and the Indians are not thinking of the trip now. They say, their thoughts are focused on Friday's fracas with the Kissimmee Kowboys who invade Memorial Stadium at 8 p. m. The popular Osceola County grid stars are highly regarded by teams who have met them during the season. Seminole coaches and team members are well aware of the fact that this is a team that can upset the apparent right here at the close of what has been a fine season.

Thanks To The MacGillias
According to the cash register, one of the most popular items offered by the Seminole Boosters club concession stands is pop corn. This you can take on the authority of no less than the Dave MacGillias—Mr. and Mrs.—who for two years have been in charge of the popper . . . (Sort of a "popper and mommer" act!)

Early in the week before a home game the Florida room of the MacGillias home begins to take on the appearance of a scrap pile. Really, the heap that stretches from wall to wall is made up of boxes for the luscious white kernels that will be doused with butter, sprinkled liberally with salt and temptingly offered to hungry spectators at the gridiron contest.

Dr. O. L. Barks, president of the Boosters club, paid high tribute to the two MacGillias whose loyalty—as exemplified by work—to Seminole athletics has been a real driving force in the fan club's activities.

This Friday, as usual, the mound of boxes will be moved from the Florida room to the Memorial Stadium and once more the crunchy goodness of the MacGillias speciality will be enjoyed by hundreds of football fans.

And once more the fans and athletes, alike, will say "Thank you, Edna and Dave."

Navy Scoring Army Problem

NEW YORK (UPI)—Navy's ability to put points on the scoreboard Saturday will interest two teams—archival Army, of course, and Utah State, which is waiting to find out whether it is the nation's team scoring champion.

As if Army doesn't already know it's up against a tough opponent, a check of statistics brings further discouraging news to West Point. The Middle, for instance, have already scored 293 points this season, 10 more than any other Navy team has been able to tally in modern times.

This week's NCAA Service Bureau statistics show Navy leading the nation with a 32.6 points per game average, but in order to keep their lead over Utah State the Middle must score 25 points against Army Saturday which may be a more difficult chore than it seems.

Navy also leads in passing accuracy for teams that have fired more than 100 times.

Washington State's .612 in 1958 is tops, but Navy has clicked on .555 per cent of its pitches in its first nine games.

USSR In Race

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI)—The Soviet Union will compete for the first time in the Monte Carlo automobile rally which starts Jan. 18. The 10-man team will drive three Volvo 12's and two Moskvitch 403's in the five-day rally.

Waston Resigns

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Ray Watson resigned Tuesday as West Virginia University assistant football coach to become the second mentor in four days who has severed relations with the Mountaineers. Watson, who will take a job in school administration, emphasized he was not leaving "because of adversities."

Gator Cagers Beat FSU By 78 To 55

By United Press International
Southeastern Conference teams swept three victories Tuesday night to continue the winning trend already established in the season — opening warm-ups against non-conference foes.

Auburn rolled over Howard College 102-44; Florida beat Florida State 78-55 and Vanderbilt coasted to a 70-60 victory for the second victory of its Southwest tour.

Tom Baxley bucketed 22 points to lead the Florida Gators to their 78-55 win over FSU. It was the season opener for both teams.

Baxley's efforts were aided by the defensive work of center Mont Highley and guard Brooks Henderson who continually pressed FSU into bad passes and bobbles. Each al-

Chateaugay Is Colt Of Year

BOCA RATON (UPI)—Chateaugay, the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes winner, was chosen champion three-year-old colt of 1963 by the Thoroughbred Racing Association Tuesday.

Chateaugay is owned by the Darby Dan Farm of John W. Galbreath. He earned $322,585 this season.

Other champions named whose owners will be honored at the organization's annual dinner Thursday were Mrs. Stephen C. Clark's Amber Diver, Champion Steeple-chaser; Rover Wilson's Hurry to Market, best two-year-old colt, and Wheatley Stable's Castle Forbes, best two-year-old filly.

Schedule Filled

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—The University of Tennessee has completed its 1964 football schedule by adding Boston College for a game next Oct. 10.

It will be the fifth meeting between the two teams, who met first in the 1941 Sugar Bowl game. Boston College beat Tennessee in that one, 19-13.

Signs With Chiefs

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Halfback Joe Auer of Georgia Tech has signed by the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League.

He was drafted by the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League. Auer, a speedster, has been clocked in 8.7 for the 100-yard dash.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Fox Chapel Golf Club in Pittsburgh, Pa., was chosen today as the site for the 1965 Senior Amateur championship.

The United States Golf Association said the tournament would be held from Oct. 6 through Oct. 9.

Sail Ahead To Be On Hand For Track Opening

Fred Trevillion's Sail Ahead, winner of the $50,000 Phoenix Futurity, will be on hand at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club when the 1964 greyhound racing season gets under way Dec. 25.

The celebrated young runner sped to the greatest triumph of his career Nov. 16, when he earned the $20,000 prize for first place.

The big win for Sail Ahead puts the 62-pound red brindle high on the list of candidates for the 29th running of the SOKC Inaugural Handicap which traditionally opens the racing season at the Longwood track.

Last year at SOKC Trevillion had moderate success—finishing 13th among 31 kennels competing. Trevillion's runners accounted for 45 wins, 36 seconds, and 53 third-place finishes in 377 starts.

Jack Herold's Material, who ran fifth in the Phoenix $50,000 race, also will be at SOKC this season. Material is also a puppy. At SODRAC Park last summer Material was in the money in 11 of 12 starts with five victories.

Herold's Kennel already has arrived at SOKC along with the Larry Hughes Kennel, the H. B. Williams Kennel, Starlight Kennel, Deep Rock Kennel, J. R. Githens Kennel and Oswald Brothers Kennel.

Presiding Judge Bernard Collins and Paddock Judge Phil Miller are on hand to get berillions on the arriving greyhounds.

Schooling races begin at SOKC Dec. 13. They will run for an eight-day period through Dec. 21.

Other kennels booked for the 1964 greyhound racing season at SOKC include Dan Ahearn, Mrs. G. M. Lillie, Crossover, E. J. Alderson, Circus City, Pat Reed, Cecil Austin, Mrs. M. V. Kirkland, Mrs. Manual Sousa, Frank Sellen, C. H. Scott, Fred Whitehead, Tom Sweeney, Paul Sutherland, Paul Boone, Joe Girard, Darold Robertson, Manuel Foster, Orville Moses, Jim Abernathy, Carl Tracy, and T. J. Daniel—the defending champion.

BUBBA DAVIS

Sanford Gridder All-Conference

Russell (Bubba) Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Z. A. Davis of Sanford, has been named to the annual Oklahoma Junior College All-Conference squad for 1963.

Davis, a former Seminole High School gridiron ace, was co-captain and left halfback this season with Conners College Aggies at Warner, Okla. The youngster, a five-foot, 11-inch 175-pounder, was the winner of the 1961 Herald trophy for being the highest scorer on the Seminole High OBC championship eleven.

The all conference eleven was chosen by the league's coaches.

Fighting Seminoles

SONNY MESSER

Sophomore Sonny Messer was elevated to the Seminole Varsity unit in mid-season after the Warrior's JayVee squad had completed its undefeated season. Messer, a back, had an outstanding JayVee season. He weighs 173. Tribe coaches say they have big plans for this youngster as a varsity athlete. He is big, fast, a good blocker and an excellent tackler. He's also a fine pass receiver and can run extremely well. He has run some this season with the Phantom unit and he's learning how to operate as an inside linebacker's spot just in case he's needed defensively.

BUDDY BURTON

Junior Buddy Burton, an outside linebacker for the Seminole Headhunter's defensive unit, weighs 175, and is seeing action as a varsityman for the first time. Buddy has been a hard luck player. But fortunately for the Tribe, he keeps bouncing back from injuries and is really on the verge of reaching his potential as a football player. He has better than average speed, fairly tall, has good hands and is a hustling tackler. His pass interception late in the Seabreeze contest helped assure the Seminoles a victory. Buddy, is also a sprinter on the track team. He has been named to the Orange-Belt Conference all star team.

RONNIE HINSON

Although only a junior, Ronnie Hinson is a second-year varsityman for the Seminoles. During 10 games this season Hinson has masterminded the rambling Black Rams, the Tribe's offensive unit as its quarterback. Ronnie is considered one of the best signal callers in the central Florida area. He has good speed, throws an accurate, spiraling pass, and is quite adept, coaches say, in faking and handing off to his other backs. Hinson has developed a knack of calling the right plays in just about every situation. Ronnie also participates in basketball and baseball for Seminole. He weighs in at 147 pounds.

Early Vote On Civil Rights Bill Unlikely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leader in the renewed push for civil rights legislation to be virtually ruled out final House action this year and cast doubt on the wisdom of trying for it.

The civil rights bill, now tied up in the House Rules Committee, is designed to fight racial discrimination in the fields of voting, education and employment and in the use of public accommodations and federal aid funds.

Rep. Richard Bolling, (D-Mo.), a member of the rules committee who is spearheading an effort to get the bill to the floor, sounded the note of caution in a speech prepared for a civil rights group.

Speaking to the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, Bolling gave a detailed rundown on the parliamentary procedure that must be followed to pry the bill out of the rules committee.

Bolling said even if the necessary 218 signatures can be obtained to take the bill away from the rules committee, it could not be brought to the floor before Dec. 23.

"I think it should be kept in mind whether sufficient numbers of members who are civil rights sympathizers can be kept in Washington during Christmas week," Bolling said in his prepared remarks.

"Indeed, it is my understanding that the Republican minority leadership is pressing for a Christmas recess to start even before the 19th or 20th of December."

Bolling said if civil rights forces merely concentrated on getting the necessary signatures before the next session of the 88th Congress begins Jan. 3, the bill could be called up for debate on Jan. 13.

"In my view, if the civil rights bill is to be passed, and it must—then it best be done quickly," Bolling said.

"This effort is under way. However, there are certain immutable parliamentary procedures, mainly ones of time, that must be dealt with."

"Certainly, my preference is for the quickest route. I have cited to you the problems," he said.

Henry Wade and Tom Howard, defense lawyer.

The case had been scheduled to start Monday.

A pre-trial sanity hearing also was considered by Howard.

Student Memorialized President Kennedy

By Robert B. Thomas Jr. FA 2-5756

The recent assassination of the late President of the United States, John F. Kennedy, was a terrible shock to the nation. Luvenia D. Cason, a member of the seventh grade class of Midway Elementary school, expressed her feeling by composing a poem. The title: "What Is Becoming of The World?"

The world today is in an awful mess,
For we the world have lost the very best.
The man named John F. Kennedy,
Gave his life for you and me.
The stream of life shine down your path,
What God hath said will surely last.
Weep not, dear lady, for we, too, are forlorn,
Since our friend has left us so alone.
Life will surely continue on,
But without this man we are surely forlorn,
God's light shine on you and yours,
Close not your heart's door.
Happiness will again be yours someday,
So freely let it come your way.

Forward Together

This could be one of the most important weeks in Seminole County's history. Two major developments are anticipated. They could, if they are favorable, have a profound effect upon this county's future.

A decision is expected sometime this week pertaining to the establishment of a port facility on the St. Johns. In Boca Raton Friday the State Board of Control is expected to announce the site it has chosen for east-central Florida's four-year university. Of the eight sites under consideration two of them are in this county.

If either of these become realities Seminole County's potential will be unlimited. This area would become the hub of what already is considered the "Golden Triangle" — the Cape Kennedy - Daytona Beach - Orlando area.

And the time will have arrived when this county's leaders and citizens must forget personal differences and jealousies. Any existing elements of hate and suspicion will have to be buried. United we must turn to the task of developing Seminole's tremendous assets.

Thought For Today

He must hold firm to the sure word as taught, so that he may be able to give instruction in sound doctrine and also to confute those who contradict it. — Titus 1:9.

As long as people are ready to die for a great cause, that cause can never die. — George Meany.

Open Hearts

Let no American forget that a widow in Dallas, Texas, is mourning the death of a hero husband who also was shot down in line of duty.

Patrolman J. D. Tippit was slain by a gunman's bullet as he attempted to capture the suspected assassin of President Kennedy.

So Mrs. Marie Tippit is left without a husband and with three young children—and with very little money.

Patrolman Tippit gave his life in performance of his duty. He played an important role in helping track down the man accused of slaying the President of the United States.

It would be high ingratitude if America were to fail to accord to the patrolman's family the homage, sympathy and help it deserves.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — "Let the Alliance for Progress be President Kennedy's living memorial," said President Lyndon Johnson in his first official public statement.

It was delivered to the Latin-American diplomats who had been invited to the White House East Room at Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's suggestion.

President Kennedy had assembled the Latin-American diplomatic corps in this same room on March 13, 1961, to announce his plan for the alliance in his first foreign policy speech.

Since that time the alliance has come upon bad days. It has not seemed to fulfill its early hopes and high purpose.

The Conference of Ministers held recently in Sao Paulo, Brazil, to review two years of actual operation under the alliance and plan its next moves, got a bad press.

Brazil had proposed complete reorganization of the alliance to subordinate the United States role in everything except financing it to the tune of $1 billion a year.

Brazil has confiscated American power and mining enterprises. The Argentine is threatening confiscation of American oil companies. Congress has heard demand for retaliation and a cut off of aid.

The United States aid has been suspended to the Dominican Republic, Honduras and Haiti because of their bad political situations. Communist Cuba has been expelled from the Organization of American States and was never in the alliance.

Bolivia has resigned from the OAS, though it participates in the alliance. Co-operation has become difficult.

And yet, one member of the U. S. delegation to Sao Paulo, headed by Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman, declares: "The story of Sao Paulo is not what a few did not do or did not want to do. The real story is what the majority did for the promotion of economic progress and social justice throughout Latin America."

Argentina, Chile, Colombia, Mexico, Peru, Venezuela and others were active in keeping the alliance alive. With the support of the United States, their program prevailed. It was embodied in six main resolutions which even Brazil finally swung around to support, though Bolivia did not.

The first resolution creates a new Committee on Inter-American Progress (CIAP)—which will function as a board of directors to accelerate all programs. It will consist of a chairman, who will be a general manager, and seven members—all outstanding citizens, one of whom will be from the United States.

They are to be chosen before January 15. They will sit in Washington in continuous review of national and regional programs which will promote alliance objectives. They will develop financial sources and oversee their distribution.

They will pass on program feasibility and execution.

—A second resolution calls on the Latin-American countries to hold a special meeting which will co-ordinate their policies in preparation for the United Nations Trade and Development Conference to open in Geneva next March. The United States will have an observer with this group.

The third resolution will create a committee to promote Latin-American exports to improve their balance-of-payments positions.

The fourth will call for promotion of labor participation.

The fifth will deal with co-ordination of regional economic integration plans, as in the Central American common market.

The sixth will call for establishment of an OAS multi-lateral fund to support special social progress programs.

These programs will include agrarian reform, tax reform, education, technical co-operation, health, national economic planning, and information programs on all these activities, to reach all the people or at least most of the people in Latin America.

The United States has been financing most of this development work in the first two years of the alliance. It is now planned to have all countries contribute to this fund.

This is the program which must be carried out if new President Lyndon Johnson is to make good on his pledge to improve and strengthen the role of the United States in the Alliance for Progress and make it a memorial to John F. Kennedy.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Norman Clayton is a talented musician who invests his genius in church choirs. He realizes the fact that there is a definite psychology of music. No scrapbook this case. It outlines the difference between "naked" tunes vs. "clothed" melodies. The process of clothing skeletal music is a precise art!

CASE R-427: Norman Clayton is a talented Director of Church Music at Jackson, Tennessee.

But when we first met, he was located in Coral Gables, Florida. We then discussed music and especially his superb children's choir.

"Dr. Crane," he added, "why don't you discuss the psychology of music in one of your columns?"

SYNCOPIATING PSYCHOLOGY
In my college textbook "Psychology Applied," there is an entire chapter on this vital topic.

If you music lovers thus wish a fuller account, consult that textbook in your local library.

But a shocking thing about music is the fact that its enjoyment is chiefly a learned reaction.

Kindergarten youngsters thus can't even distinguish the accented beat so they don't know how to march to music.

And when we first hear new melodies, it is like looking at a new person through an X-ray machine.

For that initial contact with music gives us simply the skeleton consisting of notes and tempo. It has little emotional appeal.

In later years, however, that same tune may bring tears to our eyes or quicken our pulse or arouse romantic images. Why?

Because the original skeletal melody has since become clothed with what we figuratively call melodic "flesh and blood."

For our enjoyment of music is based on what we psychologists call "conditioning" and thus is like the development of early food likes and dislikes.

If we are feeling religious or thinking about God and our departed loved ones when we first encounter a new hymn, then the skeletal notes will become clothed with those emotions of the moment.

And, after frequent repetitions, then the notes themselves will rearrange all those vague emotional nuances.

Usually the verses or stanzas also help create the moods that later become linked with the melody.

In other cases, your companions, such as your sweetheart, and the romantic situation of that moment may entwine your emotions with the new melody and thus color it all through your later life.

Thus, the first few notes of the former tune may then cause us to have an emotional throw-back to our youth or our courtship days.

But opposing emotions may also become linked with the same original or skeletal tune.

The Marsellaise, as well as our Star-Spangled Banner, may thus cause exhilarating zest in young folks, yet produce tears of grief on the part of mothers whose sons were killed in war.

Applied to church music, the new hymns should be introduced in Sunday School while inspirational stories are being told so the lofty moods from those stories will become entwined with the new melody.

But in the church sanctuary, familiar tunes are needed to resurrect those lofty earlier emotions and thereby polarize the congregation so the clergyman can more quickly lift it up to a mountain-top experience in his sermon.

Beware of strange or skeletal hymns during the church service! Leave them for introduction music at the Sunday School level!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Helen Fuller Says

In Good Hands

WASHINGTON — Lyndon B. Johnson's first address as President assured Congress and the country that we are in good hands.

The words he spoke were bold but balanced. His delivery of them strong but measured, restrained but fraught with emotion barely beneath the surface. Both friends and critics in the audience were impressed beyond their expectations by President Johnson's first performance. In deference to his repeated call for "action" Congressional leaders of both parties have put aside their private thoughts of immediate adjournment and plan now to stay on the job until shortly before Christmas.

It was as auspicious a beginning as possible under circumstances so woefully inauspicious.

Now the nation must grow accustomed to the Texas twang and home informality that so sharply distinguish its new leader from John F. Kennedy in outward characteristics. This will be easier for Americans than for Europeans who found John F. Kennedy's manners and mannerisms so like their own. But Europeans will learn, as a great many Easterners and Northerners in this country have yet to learn, that Lyndon Johnson's Southernness does not make him a hillbilly provincial or a backward-looking sectionalist.

President Johnson is a modern-minded man who finds himself at home in the space age, who commutes to his Texas home by jet, and has always been the first man on Capitol Hill to install the latest in automated equipment. He is the brand of new Southerner more concerned with the region's future than its past. Johnson grew up a poor boy in a family of preachers, teachers and politicians. As a young victim of the Great Depression in the 1930's, he felt the influence of New Deal ideas.

This combination of liberal and Christian thinking leads him to a moral belief in equal rights for all regardless of race or color, as the new President made specific in his address to Congress. Beyond that, as a Southerner, he views the racial problem as the chief barrier to the South's sharing as a full partner in national development. He is committed to removing that barrier so that the region can move ahead.

This will take some doing.

for Mr. Johnson's fellow southerners in Congress who have not been promoted to national office are not less opposed to stronger civil rights laws because a Southerner is now President. Mr. Johnson will try to persuade them that it is nevertheless better to deal with the pending Kennedy civil rights bill than to dwell on it in a lengthy filibuster.

Some may be susceptible to the argument that prolonged racial wrangling would add to the national bitterness and unrest that preceded the Dallas assassination. Others may agree with the President that it is urgent to get civil rights legislation out of the way so that debate on other major measures that have been blocked by this controversy can finally get underway.

Those who oppose stronger civil rights laws should not deceive themselves into thinking the first Southern President since Andrew Johnson will be their ally. For personal and Presidential reasons, the new President will almost certainly put as much or more muscle behind passage of the Kennedy civil rights bill in this Congress as the slain President would have done himself.

Avoid Dangerous Toys

Thoughtless parents can turn a child's Christmas pleasure into a family tragedy, says Dr. George A. McCoy, director of the State Board of Health's Accident Prevention Program. He said many youngsters are hurt each year, and some die, because they've been given the wrong kind of toys.

Lead poisoning is always a hazard. Be sure a safe paint is used on toys you buy. Plastics sometimes are so flammable they'll burst into flame at the slightest touch of a match or cigarette. Some, says Dr. McCoy, will ignite even when some distance from fire.

Avoid toys with sharp edges or those which can be put into the mouth, nose and ears. Some youngsters swallow eyes from stuffed animals and dolls. So, avoid trouble by using care in selecting gifts for children.

"Seminole County's Only Daily Newspaper"

They'll Make It Tougher To Buy Firearms

WASHINGTON — (NEA)—Private and government pressure is at work to control arms traffic in the United States, a nation where a pistol can often be bought with the ease of a tube of toothpaste.

The death of President Kennedy by mail order rifle bullet and the murder in turn of his accused assassin by a night club operator's pistol have amplified the call for congressional passage of federal small arms control legislation.

The private sector of the country, too, seems determined to make it tougher for citizens to simply walk into a store and pick up a family-sized arsenal. Sears Roebuck & Co. leads the list of mail order houses which are pulling gun ads from their catalogues.

Sen. Thomas Dodd, (D-Conn.), has a bill to tighten existing firearms laws languishing in the Senate Commerce Committee for almost four months. He has now received assurances from more than a dozen senators, including Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, (D-Mont.), that every effort will be made to enact the bill "as quickly as possible."

According to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, "the easy accessibility of firearms" has contributed significantly to the nation's crime problem. Last year there were 2,000 murders by firearms in the United States.

A fact realized by few people is that in many cities an adult—even though he may be a criminal, drug addict, alcoholic or mentally ill—can buy a gun over the counter in sporting goods stores or pawnshops, no questions asked.

Even more shocking is the mail order business. Any child with $5 who can scrawl his name and falsify his age on a form can obtain a gun. Anyone with a criminal record can acquire a gun by using an assumed name and a false address or box number and putting his cash on the line.

This is the way Lee Harvey Oswald got the $12.75 Italian rifle with which he allegedly sent a bullet crashing into the President's brain. This "38 model" Carcano rifle has deluged the United States to the dismay of domestic sporting arms manufacturers, who concede that the weapon is extremely accurate and reliable despite its shoddy external appearance.

The Federal Firearms Act of 1938 is considered inadequate. It controls interstate and foreign movement of all types of guns, even prohibits the shipment of any firearm to a convicted criminal. It is enforced by Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, Internal Revenue Service.

But the law is easy to get around. A New Jersey newspaper proved this when he guided his three-year-old daughter through the steps of legally purchasing a Thompson sub-machine gun.

Dodd prophetically put his finger on the problem when he introduced his bill. "To perpetuate the present loopholes in the Federal Firearms Act is to doom individuals to a senseless death from a gun wielded by fingers responding to the whims and impulses of a disordered mind."

Mail order houses get the weapons in wholesale lots from distributors who purchase them by the thousands as surplus from foreign governments. A rifle can be dipped in acid to clean it, a new stock added and the weapon sold by mail at one-third the price of one produced in this country.

Since weapons cannot be shipped through the mails, express agencies are used for legal delivery. The Senate investigating subcommittee heard testimony on how one Los Angeles dealer would truck a filled gun order to Phoenix, Ariz., where he wrapped it and sent it back to California purchasers via Railway Express.

Bryant Defends Change; LBJ's Right Questioned

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant, throwing his full support behind last week's re-naming of America's missile test center, said today the state would not have to take further action in approving the change.

President Lyndon Johnson changed the name of Cape Canaveral to Cape Kennedy in memory of the late president.

The Thanksgiving Day announcement sparked considerable opposition, especially from residents of the Cape area in Brevard County. Bryant told his weekly news conference he had received mail opposing the presidential action.

Bryant said the president telephoned him before the change was made to get the state chief executive's feelings.

"I think Florida is fortunate the president has done this," Bryant said. He said the Legislature could implement the action if it wished in the 1965 session.

Bryant indicated there was no doubt in his mind that the President could change the name of the Cape by executive order.

The governor said other Florida place names had been changed in the past and this one was nothing for residents to get excited about. For instance, he said, Brevard County was once known as Mosquito County. He said perhaps it was appropriate many years ago, but it wasn't any longer. He pointed out that the city of Jacksonville was once known as Cow Ford.

He said Canaveral meant cane field in Spanish. That might have been appropriate for the area when it was named, he said, but changes there make it no longer appropriate.

Bryant said the activities at the Cape during the past few years were the result of new frontiers of the mind and the late President, more than anyone else, was identified with the new frontier.

He said the people of Florida in the year 2063 will look back and understand what Johnson has done and will approve.

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant said today he might not wait to look at the so-called Genesys program before placing his stamp of approval on policy for the Florida Institute of Continuing University Studies (FICUS).

A proposed policy statement by the board of control governing operation of the sometimes controversial FICUS program was delayed a second time by the Cabinet Tuesday when Bryant said he wanted to make certain it did not conflict with the proposal to extend instruction of the University of Florida College of Engineering to east Central Florida.

The program is called Genesys.

The board of control has not completed planning of the Genesys program, but is expected to wind it up at the next meeting on Friday at Boca Raton. Bryant said he did not know if the proposal would come before the Cabinet next Tuesday.

But he said his staff was making a study of the proposal and if he was told it did not conflict with Genesys, he probably wouldn't object to the policy statement.

As of right now, he said, he had not seen the Genesys proposal, which couples the use of closed circuit television and on-the-spot instruction to take engineering instruction to the Cape Kennedy area.

Bryant said expansion of the state university system was causing some changes in operation of the Board of Control. He said the board was relying more and more on its staff and on executive Director Howard Colquhoun.

He said the board was acting more as a policy making body and less as an administrative body.

"The board can't conduct the intimate overview of the university operations it once did," Bryant said. He said the proposal to increase the size of the board from seven to nine members would probably make actions of the board more time consuming than ever because of the increased size.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — President Johnson's switch a week ago from the 49-year-old name of Cape Canaveral for the nation's spaceport to Cape Kennedy is drawing opposition.

Two nearby communities already have gone on record against the surprise Thanksgiving Day decree in memory of the late President and petitions are circulating among area workers opposing the move.

One town questioned the right of a president to change the name of a community in a state.

Opponents endorse the renaming of the space center itself but the resistance develops in the abandonment of the geographical name of Cape Canaveral.

President Johnson's order renamed the huge space complex the John F. Kennedy Space Center and also erased the name Canaveral from the triangular expanse of sand that juts into the Atlantic from Florida's otherwise smooth Atlantic coastline.

The city council of Cape Canaveral, a tiny municipality south of the missile base, has approved a resolution to be sent to the President and to Florida Gov. Farris Bryant protesting the decision. The city of Cocoa has taken similar action.

The Cape Canaveral council also asked its city attorney to determine if President Johnson had the authority to change the name of a location in the state.

The petition in circulation opposes the name change on economic and historical grounds.

Bryant Reassures Seminole Site Committee Board Will Be Fair

Governor Farris Bryant today told members of the Seminole County University Site Committee that he appreciated the committee's expression of confidence that the State Board of Control would select a site for the proposed East-Central Florida University where the institution could best serve the citizens of this state.

This reaction from Governor Bryant came as a result of a resolution adopted Tuesday night by the local university site committee. It called attention to the fact that the Central Florida Development Committee had announced that all of the committees involved in the site selection had endorsed a site in Orange County.

The local committee's resolution advised the Governor and the State Board of Control that the development council's endorsement did not speak for the eight other counties involved. The local group also expressed its confidence in the Board of Control's ability to select a site which would provide the greatest amount of good to the largest number of people.

The Governor said, "I do appreciate your expression of confidence in the State Board of Control and assure you that the only criteria we shall observe is that of selecting a site where the new institution could best serve the people of Florida in accordance with the intent of the Florida Legislature."

State Senator Mack Cleveland Jr., a member of the local site committee, said at noon today that "The Governor's announcement reconfirms what I have believed all along. I'm convinced that the school will be located on the site which best meets the criteria of the Board of Control. I do not believe that it will be a political selection."

Meanwhile, John Alexander, Seminole County commissioner and one of the two members of the East-Central Florida Regional Planning Council, called attention to the fact that the council is not associated in any manner with the so-called Central Florida Development Committee.

"I've had a number of inquiries within the past 24 hours," Alexander said, "which indicated that people are confusing the two organizations."

"The East-Central Florida Regional Planning Council," Alexander pointed out, "is an organization comprised of two members, selected by their respective county commissions, from each of seven Florida counties in this section of the state. The council is legally constituted by the State Legislature to do regional planning."

Alexander continued, "We have maintained a neutral position in the selection of the university site. We have felt that the Board of Control would make a satisfactory selection of a site for the university."

The other member of the council from Seminole County is James Van Hoy, a former county commissioner who recently was selected to replace Douglas Stenstrom, resigned.

Big Parade Kicks Off Christmas Season

The great big Christmas parade floated down First Street—paced by the stirring music of some 10 marching bands—on a crisp, clear afternoon, and kicked off this area's holiday shopping season.

A crowd of an estimated 10,000-30,000 persons lined the parade route and watched as one and one-half miles of cars, floats, marching units and prancing horses did what comes naturally in a parade.

We think the Jaycees did a hang-up job all the way around and loved the monkey dancing around the peanut cart and the Shrine clowns cavorting all over the street on foot and on wheels only a clown would have. The trio of judges, Camilla Bruce, John Krider and R.T. Milwee, must have had a very difficult time in the selection of winning floats, but when it was all over these had been declared winners of the trophies:

Commercial: Pinecrest Kiddie Korner; Sanford Atlantic Bank.

Religious: St. Luke's Lutheran—Slavia; First Baptist Church—youth division.

School: Lake Mary; Lake Monroe.

Study Program Approval Indicated

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant said today he might not wait to look at the so-called Genesys program before placing his stamp of approval on policy for the Florida Institute of Continuing University Studies (FICUS).

A proposed policy statement by the board of control governing operation of the sometimes controversial FICUS program was delayed a second time by the Cabinet Tuesday when Bryant said he wanted to make certain it did not conflict with the proposal to extend instruction of the University of Florida College of Engineering to east Central Florida.

The program is called Genesys.

The board of control has not completed planning of the Genesys program, but is expected to wind it up at the next meeting on Friday at Boca Raton. Bryant said he did not know if the proposal would come before the Cabinet next Tuesday.

But he said his staff was making a study of the proposal and if he was told it did not conflict with Genesys, he probably wouldn't object to the policy statement.

As of right now, he said, he had not seen the Genesys proposal, which couples the use of closed circuit television and on-the-spot instruction to take engineering instruction to the Cape Kennedy area.

Bryant said expansion of the state university system was causing some changes in operation of the Board of Control. He said the board was relying more and more on its staff and on executive Director Howard Colquhoun.

He said the board was acting more as a policy making body and less as an administrative body.

"The board can't conduct the intimate overview of the university operations it once did," Bryant said. He said the proposal to increase the size of the board from seven to nine members would probably make actions of the board more time consuming than ever because of the increased size.

Canal Surveys Await Drafting Of Contracts

Mack Cleveland Jr., attorney for the St. Johns-Indian River Canal District, said this morning that surveys to determine the alignment of the proposed waterway will begin in a few days.

The surveying will be done by the firm of Reynolds, Smith and Hills, a firm of engineering consultants headquartered in Jacksonville and with offices in Orlando and Tampa. The firm has been selected, Cleveland said, by the canal district's board of directors.

The surveys are expected to begin within a period of 30 days. Following the acceptance of the alignment, the rights of way will be acquired and plans will be developed for financing the construction of the canal.

It is estimated that actual construction of the waterway which will link the St. Johns with Indian River will require some three to five years to complete.

The Brooks couple has been seeking a mate for Joey before they let him go.

Caroline, daughter of the late President Kennedy, had visited the kangaroo in the Brooks fenced yard and played ball with him before Joey became a controversy.

"There's no longer a dividing line between farm and city interests," claims Seminole County Agricultural Agent Cecil Tucker. "We all have a big stake in agriculture, even though 70 per cent of Americans now live in towns and cities. The farmer's well being affects our jobs, businesses and the price we pay for things." Tucker goes on to say, "Farmers and city folk today are working together to solve some of the big problems that affect all our people."

With the "living" season just around the corner, here's your chance to get in on the real holiday spirit and do something.

Mrs. Carolyn Higgins of the Welfare office phoned to say that Lillie Bell Bradley and her four youngsters were burned out of their little home Tuesday night. Everything was a total loss.

Lillie Belle, a well known local cook, is employed by the Day 'n Night Grill. Her boss is helping her to find another house. But it is impossible for her to purchase the basic furnishings she needs now.

Her four children are six, five, three and one-and-a-half years of age. Their respective sizes are eight, six and four in boy's clothing, and size two in girl's apparel.

In addition, blankets, bedding, mattresses, chairs, tables—any articles for a home—and size 18 clothing for Lillie Belle will be appreciated. If you have anything which might be useful take it to 1128 Orange Ave., where the family is staying temporarily. Share now. You'll feel good about it!

Last week in DeLand—during the Bulldog—Seminole football game—the DeLand High School band was given a station wagon by a DeLand auto dealer. Here at Seminole the bandmen ride three persons in seats designated for two in order to make room for instruments and equipment. Despite the fact that a local firm provides a panel truck to help out. What a nice thing it would be if the Sanford band had its own vehicle.
