WAR CLOUDS IN ORIENT GATHER DESPITE PACT

Quinn Marks 20th Anniversary With Impressive Military Display And Pleas

(By The Associated Press)
A sinister cloud, threatening the peace of the Orient as a result of Japanese occupation of Manchuria, thickened today despite moves by the United States and the League of Nations to dissipate it. China observed the twentieth anniversary of the birth of its republic with an impressive military display in Nanking.

Chiang Kai Shek, the Chinese president, pleaded for national unity and strength to resist a foreign invasion. An official of the Japanese war office was informed that President Hoover had discussed with his cabinet the bombing of Chinchow, Manchuria, by Japanese planes and urged that it be "deplorable that the American government, owing to a lack of proper information has been misled on the part of false propaganda on the part of the Chinese."

The Washington administration would act soon in the Sino-Japanese controversy, possibly reminding the principals and the world of the obligations imposed by the Kellogg Pact renouncing war of aggression.

The American government and the council of the league of nations moved to bring peace in the Far East as events in the Manchuria dispute between Japan and China reached an alarming stage.

Edison Remains In Stupor As End Nears

WEST ORANGE, Oct. 10.—(A.P.)—Dr. Hubert Howe announced today that Thomas Edison had taken no nourishment for the past 24 hours; that he is in almost a constant stupor and that he no longer recognized anyone with the possible exception of his wife. Dr. Howe's bulletin, which he amplified in a conversation with newspapermen follows: "Mr. Edison had a restless night but there is little noticeable change and his clinical condition is about the same as yesterday." From his present semi-conscious condition the physician said it would be possible for Edison to slip into coma almost without warning, but said he did not expect this to happen for some time.

BRITISH LIBERAL BRANDS ELECTION AS UNPatriotic

Labor Party Issues Call To Country To Back Up Socialism

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(A.P.)—David Lloyd George, official leader of the Liberal party, broke his long silence last night by leaving from his invalid's chair, a statement in which he described as "impending" a general election as "the most unwholesome and unpatriotic act which the country ever has been plunged."

Simultaneously Arthur Henderson, leader of the Labour party, issued a call to rally around the banner of Socialism. Mr. Henderson declared the late labor government was "sacrificed to the clamor of bankers" and asserted that the present national government is attempting "the impossible task of rebuilding capitalism."

Liberal ministers who are participating in the national government announced in another manifesto they would continue to support both Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and their free trade principles.

This continued emphasis on free trade by the Liberal ministers was accepted as an indication that the breach between them and their Conservative ministerial colleagues is widening.

Mr. Lloyd George's confession of faith, in the form of a lengthy address to his constituents in Wales, was a strong attack against the Conservatives. When the Conservative leaders in the cabinet should have been discussing the national emergency, they were in fact, he declared, plotting an unwanted election with the view of forcing tariffs on the Nation.

"In this election I shall stand for free trade and were it possible for me to do so I should second wholehearted support to every free trade candidate without reference to party," the Liberal leader said.

"I shall be happy to do all in my power in the next parliament to assist any government or any party which is striving faithfully to get us through our troubles, but I (Continued on Page Four)

CAPONE SPENT PLENTY, COURT RECORD SHOWS

Di Andrea, Capone's Bodyguard, Is Seized At Trial For Carrying Concealed Gun

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(A.P.)—"The butcher, the baker, the candlestick-maker," who served the needs and fancies of the high living gangster emperor were paraded in a steady stream to the witness stand in federal court today.

Al Capone, whom the government charges with evasion of income taxes, had plenty of money, they said. He paid his bills promptly and always in cash. Telephone bills, meat bills, hotel bills and charges for labor were read into the records and were identified by trades people and business men. Most of them were from Miami where Capone owns a $40,000 estate.

Just one, H. F. Ryker, who built the dock and beachhouse at the Florida estate, said he figured "Mr. Al" still owed him money. The government traced about $20,000 in telegraphic money orders sent to Capone from Chicago in 1928 and 1929.

Philip Di Andrea, Capone's constant companion during the trial, was arrested at the close of today's session for carrying a pistol.

The government built up a mass of evidence in Al Capone's income tax trial yesterday. The evidence related to the gangster's alleged huge profits from liquor, gambling and various lavish mode of living, and his free spending habits.

The first actual evidence about Capone's income was given by Parker Henderson, Jr., former manager of a Miami, Fla., hotel. Henderson testified that during a five month stay in Miami, Capone received a total of $20,000 in telegraphic money orders from Chicago.

To prove Capone guilty of income tax evasion the government needs only to convince the jury that he had a taxable income of more than $5000.

Henderson also testified that he purchased Capone's Miami beach home for him, paying $10,000 down and signing notes or mortgages for the balance of $10,000. (Continued on Page Four)

Golf Club's First Nine To Be Ready Tomorrow

Sanford golfers will learn with interest that the first nine holes at the Sanford Country Club, closed for play during the past six weeks while a crew has been re-adding the greens and other work improving playing conditions, is to be opened for play tomorrow morning.

Allan H. Stewart, professional in charge of the club, made that statement this morning as he extended all golfers an invitation to come out and try the new layout. "Golfers will find the first nine in good shape after six weeks of repairs," he said, "and what with the World's Series out of the way, I anticipate a return of all our golfers starting tomorrow."

BRUENING FORMS NEW CABINET IN GERMAN CAPITAL

Body Gathered To Concentrate Power In Hands Of 2 Men

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—(A.P.)—Chancellor Bruening formed a non-listed cabinet yesterday afternoon chiefly for its concentration of power in the hands of two men, to fight the government's tax law in the Reichstag.

Virtually a dictator, Dr. Bruening remains as chancellor and in one foreign minister, taking over the portfolio relinquished by Dr. Julius Gueltel.

Gen. Wilhelm Groener, minister of defense, retains that post and takes on the duties of minister of the interior, which makes him head of the German police.

Another significant point in the inclusion of a prominent industrialist, Hermann Walmuth, as minister of economics, was the new cabinet, which has secured the approval of President von Hindenburg included Dr. Bruening, chancellor, and Gen. Wilhelm Groener, defense minister. (Continued on Page Four)

Leffler Candidacy Receives Support Of Pioneer Resident Of This City

City Commissioner W. A. Leffler, who yesterday announced his candidacy for re-election to the office, this morning received the endorsement of Harry M. Papworth, pioneer resident of this city.

In a short statement, Mr. Papworth calls upon voters in Sanford to favor Mr. Leffler's return to an office which "he has held with dignity and a display of marked executive ability." He expressed the hope that none would enter the race in opposition to Mr. Leffler, declaring that an intervention in the administration of Sanford's civic affairs at this time would seriously delay the future growth of the city.

Mr. Papworth's statement is as follows: "I think that Commissioner Leffler is greatly to be commended upon his decision to seek re-election. Our citizens generally should consider themselves fortunate in having him voluntarily offer to again be their city official."

"If we can be assured of no interruption in the administration of our civic affairs, there is a great future for Sanford. Probably within the next two weeks the City Commissioners will formally nominate Mr. Leffler for re-election. We will be glad to see him again in the city."

HOOVER MAKES PLAN TO HELP RAILWAY BONDS

President Also Arranges To Assist Finances And Credit Of Savings Banks

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(A.P.)—A plan with a double purpose—to strengthen the finances of the railroads and to aid the hundreds of small savings banks—is the next objective of President Hoover.

Supplementing his vast project for improving credit conditions in every reach of the nation's economic structure, the chief executive is now seeking a means of stabilizing railroad bonds.

The president is greatly encouraged over the many acts of action that has developed behind his project for improving credit conditions and now is seeking a means of stabilizing railroad bonds.

Hoover feels the emergency $500,000,000 credit corporation will go far in restoring the normal processes of credit in those sections of the country where there has been stress.

Moreover, the president regards the numerous acts of the department and representative who attended the White House conference Tuesday night as remarkable.

It is his view that the three-hour meeting, held between men whose views normally differ, there has evolved what amounts to a major legislative program.

The rail road situation and that of the small banks are interrelated.

As demands for commercial loans slackened, many savings banks, particularly in the west, invested their funds in these securities. The insurance companies followed a similar policy.

But then, railroad earnings fell off to such an extent that, by the end of the year, the bulk of money carriers must be removed from the list of securities which are now eligible for savings bank investments.

In addition the market value of the bonds has depreciated. The banks in many instances cannot dispose of them without a loss. However, they are fundamentally interested in retaining them as investments and the prime concern (Continued on Page Four)

Gambler Arrested On Horse 'Fixing' Charge

MINNEOLA, Oct. 10.—(A.P.)—Himmie Meehan, former gambling partner of Arnold Rothstein who was held for a time in connection with the gambler's chief of police was arrested today for conspiracy in a wholesale "fixing" of race horses.

Meehan, who was a player in the high speed game in which Rothstein lost $100,000 shortly before he was slain was arrested as a result of the confession of two negroes who said Meehan paid them to tamper with the horses by administering them drugs and nose sprays. Meehan told authorities he made a living by gambling and "fixing books" but denied any implication in "fixing" race horses.

Defeat Macks 4 To 2 In Series Ball Game; A's Stage Hot Finish

RAULERSON DIES AFTER BEING IN COMA FOR HOURS

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—Gabby Street's Cardinal Red Birds are the new Champions of the World! They gained that title here this afternoon before a small crowd which saw two great pitchers engage in a duel which was nothing short of remarkable. But, they also gained that title when they were donated two runs in the very first inning as Dib Williams and Mickey Cochrane cracked wide open. The final score was 4 to 2, with the Athletics scoring their two runs in a wild and woolly sixth inning finish which had the fans gasping.

Grimes and Earnshaw staged a pretty a duel as the series has produced, the errors, and Watkins' home run being the only marbling feature. Unfortunately for the Macks, those marbling features were enough to keep them from preventing Connie Mack with his third straight World's Series pennant.

Earnshaw pitched unbeatable ball for five full innings, not allowing a man to reach first during that time. After High had struck to be followed by Watkins' homer in the fifth, Earnshaw settled down and pitched spectacular ball, hoping to see his marbling triumph from the fall. His hopes were never realized although they did get seven blows off the spitballer. Watkins relieved Earnshaw in the eighth, Earnshaw being removed for a pinchhitter as Connie Mack saw that his chance of victory did not depend on hitting.

Grimes was in trouble in the second, fifth, and eighth innings, but came through without giving up a run. In the ninth, however, he blew up completely, walking Simmons, the first man up, later walking Dykes after Miller had reached first safely on a fielder's choice. Williams singled through Dykes, filling the bases and called the runner, to hit for Walter Cramer delivered a single to left, scoring Miller and Dykes, and off the mound came Grimes. Hallahan came in, and after pitching three balls and two strikes to Bishop, struck one which went to the deepest part of center field where Pop Martin, catcher who had failed to get a hit all day, caught the ball to end the series.

First Inning Philadelphia: Bishop fouled out to High at third. Haas was thrown out. Frish to Bottomley. Frisch hobbled the batsmen when he threw it. Cochrane went out. Frisch to Bottomley. No runs, no hits, no errors.

OH YEAH?

By PETER SCHAAL

Just a month ago today young Stinson Kinlaw, Seminole High football star and one of the most popular young athletes in this city was carried to the Fernald-Laughton Hospital with a broken leg. Today he is still at the hospital, patiently, cheerfully and courageously awaiting the day when he may again walk. That such a day is still weeks away is revealed by the fact that his injury was so severe that physicians have been forced to treat the wound since it was made, and a plaster cast, usually put into place within a few days after a leg or arm is broken, has not yet been applied.

No finer gesture of good will or school spirit has been manifested at Seminole High in years than the efforts which are now being made there to make a complete success of a benefit football game to be played here next Friday afternoon between Sanford and Ocoee. Every class in the school, every teacher, and Mr. F. S. Lawton himself are lending a hand toward making the day a success. During the week local residents will be constantly reminded of the game as parades, personal calls and other forms of advertising will be seen all about the city. It is hoped that at least 200 persons will attend the game, for which a nominal admission price will be asked.

Baseball managers still fill the air. J. E. Enns, manager of the Florida since 1929, was yesterday released from his duties, although no announcement was made as to a new manager. While a Pirate manager, Enns saw his team finish in fifth place, two years in a row. George Gibson, old time player, is prominently mentioned for the post.

The 2000 or so fans who yesterday crowded the Islanders' park at Daytona must have had their money's worth watching that long drawn out 7-7 tie which the Islanders and Indians staged as a final game in their series. Hutto was knocked from the hill for the first time this year, while Murdock, the Cocoa ace, was also driven from the mound. While no official announcement had been made this morning, it is believed that the final game of the series will be played Sunday afternoon in Daytona.

Press reports from Gainesville indicate that because of the low sale of tickets for the Florida-North Carolina game tomorrow, the game may not be put on in the air. It is a pity if such a condition has arisen, although it sounds like the usual pre-game publicity attending every important encounter. We can't help but believe that tomorrow's game will be the last the "Gators" will play all the year, being the game which will tell the world just what Florida really has. To come through tomorrow with a big win, the Gators must play football in exactly the manner which has been their forte. They must not resort to individual experiments in line or backfield playing. They must remember the lesson of over-confidence, learned so well by former Florida teams. A Gator victory, while not a surety, is certainly a possibility, and Oh Yeah strings along with them. We believe the attendance will be okay too. There is a new ruling this year to the effect that no tickets will be reserved unless accompanied by cash. What, with the depression over and the panic on, ready cash is of course a minus item. Real football fans will scratch and scratch plenty between now and game time tomorrow, and the "Gators" will have but few empty seats to play to.

Local Church Staging Big Revival Meeting

TRUCK GROWERS LOSE CLOSE FIGHT TO CHASE OUTFIT

Rawson in Good Form As Mates Pounce On Palmer For Victory

In a game that was replete with good fielding and excellent pitching the Chase Diamond ball team defeated the Truck Growers last night by the close score of 5 to 4. Rawson was on the mound for Chase and was in excellent form. In the first inning L. C. Tillis, catcher for the Truck Growers, got a double. Rulege struck out; Bender was out on a high fly; he ball being quickly relayed to Rawson who got Tillis coming home for the first dot in play of the game. In the second inning, Miles drew a walk; Kinlaw ran for Miles. Palmer struck out; Holly doubled; Kinlaw crossing the plate for the Truck Growers first run; Knight grounded out; Moss singled; scoring Billy; Percy singled; but Moss went out at the plate trying to score on the hit. The Truck Growers added three more runs in the third and one in the fifth, to make their total 4 to 5. Kinlaw went into trouble in both the sixth and seventh innings, but was saved by fast double plays in both innings. In the sixth inning, Palmer, first up, hit to Cotter at left; Cotter, who fumbled the ball, allowing Palmer to reach first; Billy doubled; his second two base play of the game; Knight popped out to Cotter, who relayed off to the plate; Moss popped out to Cotter; Percy hit to Weaver at short; who hit the ball get away from him; Percy safe on an error; Walker walked; Tillis popped out to Cotter; Billy got Percy's coming home for the third double play of the game; Rutledge popped out to end the game. Palmer was on the mound for the Truck Growers, and in his usual manner did not pitch with unusual effectiveness. The Chase team put over five runs in the first inning on four hits, a fielder's choice and a walk. They added two more in the second and one in the third. For the balance of the game they were unable to get but one man as far as third; but he eight runs at ready garnered in the first three innings were enough to win the old fall game. Palmer set up a record in the fifth inning when he threw the side on three pitched balls. Cotter, first up in this inning hit a slow roller to first; Stine flied out to Miles and McClellan hit a one drive drive into Cotter's hands at left short. The ball had plenty of smoke on it, but young Knight managed to hold on to it. L. C. Tillis got the only home run of the game, a high fly to right field that landed in the bushes against the American Legion house. Tonight the Florida Power & Light boys team will hook it up with the Sanford Herald boys team.

Another Good Thing About Black-Draught

When you take Theodor's Black-Draught, normal bowel activity is restored without alarming effects. This is only one of many great health qualities of this medicine. Mr. George W. Casady, of West Texas, whose experience in the use of Black-Draught has extended over forty-five years, says: "When I take a laxative on a purely temporary basis, I find that I do not feel just as well as I do when I take just a dose or two of the old-fashioned Black-Draught. It is true that I do not have to take it every night. I feel that I am better off when I take a dose of Black-Draught than I do when I take a dose of any other laxative."

MARTIN GETS BIG RECEPTION FROM ST. LOUIS FANS

Player Who Routed A's Is Greeted By 2000; Appears Meek, Mild

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—(A.P.)—Another "we"—"Pepper" Martin and the St. Louis Cardinals—came home yesterday to a heroic welcome as the "spirit of St. Louis" once more rode high along the banks of the Mississippi. At least 2000 rabid fans stormed the railroad terminal, shouting, manning, surging in to get their hands of the youngster who almost single-handedly routed the world champion Philadelphia Athletics to give the Cardinals a 3 to 2 lead in games. The National league champions are within one game of the first world series conquest for that circuit in five years. The faithful will see Martin today taking his cut against the sweeping slants of "Big Jarge" Earnshaw in the sixth game at Sportsman's park, opening of the final act of one of the most thrilling baseball dramas of all times. But they could not wait to express their delight at the feats of the hitting and base running of a name—a demoralizing .667 hit for in his first world series. The moment the special train of the Cardinals drew into the station here at 12:45 P. M. (C. S. T.) after a swift run from Philadelphia, the crowd broke through the guarding lines and swarmed over the platform. Meek and mild for the first time since the series opened, grinning sheepishly, "Pepper" stepped down into the throng that yelled his name, patted his shoulders with his big gray shoulders, kept tipping down over his eyes, and made an effort to get him up on their shoulders for a parade of triumph. Then it was that "Pepper" quailed. He grabbed the arm of Mrs. "Pepper" Martin, and hung on. The leaders seemed to debate for a moment the possibility of hustling them both into the air, but the greatest baseball hero, since Babe Ruth was in his prime, was allowed to escort his wife through cheering lines to a taxicab.

COCOA-DAYTONA BATTLE TO 8-11-INNING TIE

Title Series Must Go On, With Final Tilt To Be Played Sunday

DAYTONA BEACH, Oct. 9.—The Cocoa Indians and Daytona Beach Islanders battled to an 11-inning tie in the seventh game of the Central Florida League championship series here yesterday. The score stood at 8 to 8 when the game was called at dusk. Olin Hutto, Islander southpaw, and Jimmy Murdock, southpaw, the mound for their respective teams and both were knocked out of the box for the first time during the series. Cocoa clubbed the hitherto invulnerable Hutto from the mound in the seventh, when Puster Brown hit a home run with two on and took a one-run lead. Two concerted attacks gave the Islanders seven runs in the third and fourth innings and the tying run was pushed over against Cocoa's second pitcher, "Old Folks" Atkinson, in the eighth inning. The Islanders made five errors and the Indians two. Lane relieved Hutto and held the Indians scoreless in the last four innings, while Atkinson proved effective in the last three for the Indians. Not her time nor place had been selected tonight for the play-off after a lengthy palaver between Billie Rubeson, Cocoa manager, and Mike Boisch, Islanders' leader. J. T. Hogan of DeLand, league president, said tonight he would call a meeting of league directors if the two managers could not get together.

COLORFUL GAME FAILS TO DRAW GATORS' FANS

Bachman Drives Team Hard Despite Low Sale of Tickets

GAINESVILLE, Oct. 9.—Despite the fact that the North Carolina-Florida football battle Saturday looms as one of the South's most colorful grid duals, indications today pointed to an audience that would only half fill Florida's handsome new stadium, dedicated just eleven months ago. Athlete officials were estimating an attendance of between ten and eleven thousand. Though ticket sales were slow, Coach Charlie Bachman shifted his practice sessions into high gear, and put the "Gators" through long and thorough workouts, with major emphasis directed to offensive play. The freshman were sent into scrimmage with the varsity twice, and supplied ample opposition for Coach Bachman's protégés. The scrap for positions on the first eleven continues to bristle, with hardly a single post regarded as "sewed up." Spurgeon Cherry and Ed Farnell are having a real tussle at left end with Ed Williamson also kicking up the dust, and the play of Ernie Schirmer and "Blimp" Goodyear at right end has convinced Big Joe Hall he must hop fast. "Scabby" Phell, Clyde McClellan and "Sparky" Simpson are concentrated on the left tackle assignment, while at the right tackle position, Joe Jenkins, Leo Bilinski and Marion Lee are involved in a desperate contest. Don Forsyth, veteran left guard, is encountering lots of opposition from Drayton Bernhardt, "Shorty" Reil and Rolla Moore. At right guard, J. D. Williamson, Bob Anderson, Si Osgood, are heading in the parade. Among the centers, the real battle looms between Bill Ferrazzi, Rawson was on the mound for Chase and was in excellent form. In the first inning L. C. Tillis, catcher for the Truck Growers, got a double. Rulege struck out; Bender was out on a high fly; he ball being quickly relayed to Rawson who got Tillis coming home for the first dot in play of the game. In the second inning, Miles drew a walk; Kinlaw ran for Miles. Palmer struck out; Holly doubled; Kinlaw crossing the plate for the Truck Growers first run; Knight grounded out; Moss singled; scoring Billy; Percy singled; but Moss went out at the plate trying to score on the hit. The Truck Growers added three more runs in the third and one in the fifth, to make their total 4 to 5. Kinlaw went into trouble in both the sixth and seventh innings, but was saved by fast double plays in both innings. In the sixth inning, Palmer, first up, hit to Cotter at left; Cotter, who fumbled the ball, allowing Palmer to reach first; Billy doubled; his second two base play of the game; Knight popped out to Cotter, who relayed off to the plate; Moss popped out to Cotter; Percy hit to Weaver at short; who hit the ball get away from him; Percy safe on an error; Walker walked; Tillis popped out to Cotter; Billy got Percy's coming home for the third double play of the game; Rutledge popped out to end the game. Palmer was on the mound for the Truck Growers, and in his usual manner did not pitch with unusual effectiveness. The Chase team put over five runs in the first inning on four hits, a fielder's choice and a walk. They added two more in the second and one in the third. For the balance of the game they were unable to get but one man as far as third; but he eight runs at ready garnered in the first three innings were enough to win the old fall game. Palmer set up a record in the fifth inning when he threw the side on three pitched balls. Cotter, first up in this inning hit a slow roller to first; Stine flied out to Miles and McClellan hit a one drive drive into Cotter's hands at left short. The ball had plenty of smoke on it, but young Knight managed to hold on to it. L. C. Tillis got the only home run of the game, a high fly to right field that landed in the bushes against the American Legion house. Tonight the Florida Power & Light boys team will hook it up with the Sanford Herald boys team.

Player Who Routed A's Is Greeted By 2000; Appears Meek, Mild

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—(A.P.)—Another "we"—"Pepper" Martin and the St. Louis Cardinals—came home yesterday to a heroic welcome as the "spirit of St. Louis" once more rode high along the banks of the Mississippi. At least 2000 rabid fans stormed the railroad terminal, shouting, manning, surging in to get their hands of the youngster who almost single-handedly routed the world champion Philadelphia Athletics to give the Cardinals a 3 to 2 lead in games. The National league champions are within one game of the first world series conquest for that circuit in five years. The faithful will see Martin today taking his cut against the sweeping slants of "Big Jarge" Earnshaw in the sixth game at Sportsman's park, opening of the final act of one of the most thrilling baseball dramas of all times. But they could not wait to express their delight at the feats of the hitting and base running of a name—a demoralizing .667 hit for in his first world series. The moment the special train of the Cardinals drew into the station here at 12:45 P. M. (C. S. T.) after a swift run from Philadelphia, the crowd broke through the guarding lines and swarmed over the platform. Meek and mild for the first time since the series opened, grinning sheepishly, "Pepper" stepped down into the throng that yelled his name, patted his shoulders with his big gray shoulders, kept tipping down over his eyes, and made an effort to get him up on their shoulders for a parade of triumph. Then it was that "Pepper" quailed. He grabbed the arm of Mrs. "Pepper" Martin, and hung on. The leaders seemed to debate for a moment the possibility of hustling them both into the air, but the greatest baseball hero, since Babe Ruth was in his prime, was allowed to escort his wife through cheering lines to a taxicab.

COCOA-DAYTONA BATTLE TO 8-11-INNING TIE

Title Series Must Go On, With Final Tilt To Be Played Sunday

DAYTONA BEACH, Oct. 9.—The Cocoa Indians and Daytona Beach Islanders battled to an 11-inning tie in the seventh game of the Central Florida League championship series here yesterday. The score stood at 8 to 8 when the game was called at dusk. Olin Hutto, Islander southpaw, and Jimmy Murdock, southpaw, the mound for their respective teams and both were knocked out of the box for the first time during the series. Cocoa clubbed the hitherto invulnerable Hutto from the mound in the seventh, when Puster Brown hit a home run with two on and took a one-run lead. Two concerted attacks gave the Islanders seven runs in the third and fourth innings and the tying run was pushed over against Cocoa's second pitcher, "Old Folks" Atkinson, in the eighth inning. The Islanders made five errors and the Indians two. Lane relieved Hutto and held the Indians scoreless in the last four innings, while Atkinson proved effective in the last three for the Indians. Not her time nor place had been selected tonight for the play-off after a lengthy palaver between Billie Rubeson, Cocoa manager, and Mike Boisch, Islanders' leader. J. T. Hogan of DeLand, league president, said tonight he would call a meeting of league directors if the two managers could not get together.

MAKE THE GOOD WORDS flourish in the heart of man.

It stoop; but a good word is worth it. —Proverbs 12:25.

AYER—Give us to be able, O Lord, to speak the kindly word to the broken hearted and the distressed soul.

High Finance

How one can give fifty dollar tips to bell boys, buy a forty thousand dollar residence, spend fifteen thousand dollars to beautify it, entertain at a two day banquet costing three thousand dollars, and sign for thirty thousand dollars in telegraphic money orders within a period of five months, all on an income of less than five thousand dollars a year is being interestingly brought out in the trial of Al Capone now taking place in the city of Chicago.

Students, who have advanced beyond the elementary courses being supplied free of charge by the Capone Institute, should file applications for admission into Judge Seabury's New York College of Business and Finance.

There is for example, Sheriff Tom Farley, one of New York's finest, who on official salaries of some $53,168.11 over a five year period, managed to deposit in various savings banks the neat little sum of $360,660.34.

The second chapter in Judge Seabury's lessons reveals that the Kings County Register, James McQuade, on a $12,000 a year salary, had succeeded in a six year period, without other recognized income, in making personal deposits aggregating no less than $510,897.35.

There are other illustrations, too, of a similar nature though perhaps not so brilliant. For instance, there is the New York city clerk, Michael Cruise, whose salary checks amounted to $43,300.96, and whose private deposits were $142,800.36, and who said he couldn't remember where the money, other than his salary, came from; and the clerk of the city court, a Harry Perry, whose deposits were $135,061.50, or about $75,000 more than his salary.

Lending Money For Armaments

For a good many years it has been the policy of this nation to encourage a reduction in armaments among the other governments of the world. At frequent intervals since the World War widely publicized "disarmament conferences" have been held for the purpose of curtailing the construction of battleships and other costly implements of war.

In view of this condition European governments have devoted hundreds of millions of dollars since the war to the construction of navies and the perfection of armies. Immediately prior to the World War Europe was referred to as an armed camp. It is no less so today than it was then.

Present indications are that Uncle Sam is getting tired of going snipe hunting. He is about to serve an ultimatum to the countries of Europe that if they want any more money from this country, or if they want a continuation of the debt moratorium, they will have to disarm.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

The goal race in the marriage of Elizabeth Taylor, of London, and William B. Lee, Jr. of New York, was carried out today. Two religious ceremonies following the civil ceremony in the judge's court were performed.

Another chapter is to be written today by the Senate in the controversy over the Panama Canal privileges. Passage by the Senate of the Senate's bill today is scheduled, and the prospects are that the measure will be passed in favor of it.

CANDLE LIGHT

By Nina Olivia Deas

"When all at once I saw a flame, A host of golden daffodils; Beside the lake, beneath the trees, Fluttering and dancing in the breeze."

"Continuous as the stars that shine And twinkle on the milky way, They stretched in never-ending line Along the margin of the bay."

I don't believe that even Wadsworth's famous daffodils as Grasses growing on the margin of Ullawater in the poet's beloved lake district could have been any lovelier than the carpet of gold that the brown-eyed suns have flung along the bank of the St. John's near the Osteen bridge.

For those who have always secretly envied the pearl-diver for their intimacy with the strange under-water world, for those for whom Jules Verne's book, "Ten Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," struck a peculiar responsive chord, for those, in short, who would rather be Sir Hubert Wilkins nosing his way in the Neutilus along the bottom of the ocean than Colonel Charles Lindbergh flying through the air near the yellow Chinese sun, there lies in the depths of Silver Springs an irresistible enchantment.

There is something infinitely mysterious and alluring about this magical realm that one is permitted to see through the glass bottom of a boat. When we first started out on the water, I was conscious of all the eager faces of my companions on this adventure.

A voice broke into my dream, but it was not that of the prince, but of the guide answering a visitor's question: "Oh, that big fellow there is a blue cat, and the sad-eyed prince swam away in the wake of a huge turtle who went upland in the water just as if he were climbing an imaginary step-ladder."

Many legends cluster about Silver Springs, of old feuds, forgotten love, and "battles long ago." The quiet timber of an old boat lying on the bottom is said to be a portion of a ship used by Ponce de Leon in his quest for the Fountain of Youth. An enormous rock of peculiar structure twenty-five feet in length is supposed to be the skeleton of a prehistoric dinosaur.

The Indian lovers, Ocklawaha and Winnow, separated in life by time, unity just as were the twin pair of the houses of Montague and Capulet, whose love was ended in death and plunged into a cave in the Springs.

A cavern called "The Bridal Chamber, forty feet below the surface of the clear water is known as the grave of Bertha Mayo, a Sanford girl, and Claire Douglas, her lover, whose father forbid do yesterday.

Miss W. E. Watson leaves tomorrow for Mason and Millidgeville, Ga. where she will visit until the last of this month.

Bishop Copley announced today that he would assume the duties of rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church at which time the appointment will be authorized by the diocesan convention at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, St. Paul, Minn., on Oct. 15.

D. A. Johnson, of Daytona Beach, Florida, of this city, was a victim here today before yesterday.

THE HOOVER PLAN

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

Once again President Hoover has cut swiftly and decisively through a tangle of mingled fact and fear. By careful preparation and skilful leadership he has been able to marshal the best financial minds of the nation and its entire financial strength behind a simple and understandable plan.

The measures approved in the historic Lincoln study of the White House may be viewed from two aspects. They comprise practical banking steps calculated to strengthen the banks of the country and liquidate their credit resources.

It is the worst feature of every serious depression that the panic which it inspires is cumulative. Precisely as, in boom times, the spirit of speculation becomes more and more overconfident, the higher a market climbs and is least susceptible to common sense at the precise moment when logic cries aloud for caution; so, when a market drops to the depths and all logic points to a turn, gloom only intensifies and the silliest of all panic reactions appears, the hoarding of money.

The unusual transparency of the water, the great volume of the Springs, and the variety of plant life combine to make Silver Springs of particular interest both geologically and biologically.

On the practical side, a program of banking measures is in sight which seems certain to strengthen the banking situation throughout the nation and release credit.

THAWING FROZEN CONFIDENCE

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

President Hoover has brought financial leadership at last to the rescue of American business. His proposal for a $500,000,000 credit institution to release the frozen assets of banks and for other measures to ease credit in the United States is the bold and logical measure needed to break the clammy grip of deflation.

Some months ago Mr. Hoover told the American Bankers' Association that the nation was suffering more from frozen confidence than from frozen assets. This is the major significance of the project now on foot.

Hundreds of banks loaded with mortgages and other slow loans not eligible for rediscounting at the Federal Reserve Bank will be able now to obtain money on these resources and so to advance more normal credit to agriculture and business.

This method is distinctly more liberal to the investor—can be collateralized upon his constructive leadership and the country is to be congratulated upon having this leadership in the White House at such a time.

It should not be supposed that this project is all that is needed to restore business. Emphasis of confidence in the United States will be felt to some extent abroad.

But the economic situation is worldwide and arises in part from international factors. The effects of war reparations, international debts and, above all, of tariff barriers must yet be evaluated and corrected. But it is understood that these things will come in for consideration when Premier Laval of France confers with President Hoover later this month.

The statesmanship shown in the international debt moratorium and in the process program for revitalization of bank credit within the United States supply will carry over into commercial relations with the rest of the world. The nation can be grateful for the caliber of its leadership in this testing time.

ONE SPENT TWENTY, COURT RECORD SHOWS

months later the property transferred by Henderson to May Capone, the gangster's wife, was shown in records as a Miami abstractor's office. Some $15,000 was spent to build the palatial home—build a swimming pool, construct a wall around the estate, and landscape the premises, Henderson said. Senator Dwight H. Green introduced evidence tending to show large amounts also were expended to equip the property with gardens.

The session drew to a close with a graphic money order receipts issued by Capone and totaling $30,000 were introduced in the evidence. The previous money orders had been received at telegraphic offices by Henderson, one of Capone's friends and turned over to the gangster later, according to the evidence.

An insight into Capone's life at the Metropole hotel in Chicago was given to the court by Fred Avery, former manager of the establishment. Avery told of a $3000 two-day banquet given the night of the Dempsey-Tunney fight here several years ago.

Avery also told of the big gangster's $5 tips to bell boys and his eight-room suite on the fourth floor of the hotel, and unusually large bills for "incidentals." The manager identified a record showing payments for "incidentals" running high as $1633.

Capone appeared greatly worried in the proceeding. He whispered continually to Defense Attorney Michael Abery and Albert Finsley forward to catch his testimony—and clinched his legs lightly when witnesses told of his alleged large receipts of money or his expenditures.

Each of the witnesses who had handled dealings with Capone had carried thousands of dollars at a time in a loosely wrapped roll of currency in his trousers pocket. Avery said he had the $3000 bang et bill from the roll, and Henderson said the $10,000 down payment on the Miami Beach home came from the same place.

Capone looked pleased only a few times during the day's session. Once was when a witness was making attempts of Florida courts and state officials to drive the gangster out of Florida.

"I'm a gambler, but I never was a bootlegger in my whole life," the witness, Miss Ruth Gaskin, a Miami stenographer, quoted the alleged underworld leader as saying.

Miss Gaskin attended a conference between Capone and Robert Taylor, Dade county solicitor, Miami on Feb. 14, 1929. Solicitor Taylor wished to learn what Capone was doing in Florida, how long he proposed to stay, and what was his business. Capone was evasive, however, and Taylor asked little from him, Miss Gaskin's stenographic record of the meeting showed.

Vernon Hawthorne, state's attorney of the eleventh Florida district, told on the witness stand another attempt to get Capone out of the state. Hawthorne said he summoned Capone to the Dade county prosecutor's office to ask him some questions.

"I'll come for a rest and that's all," Hawthorne quoted the Chicago gangster as saying. "My business is cleaning and pressing, and estate and gambling—mostly gambling. I own a dog racing track at Cicero, Ill."

Hawthorne said Capone told him he had $50,000 cash for the Miami Beach home and proposed to have there in spite of the obstacles from other residents of the fashionable district.

Two other persons formerly connected with the Metropole hotel were government witnesses today. They were John Fotre, manager of a telegraph company, and Ramsey Smith, clerk during Capone's residence there. Fotre was the first witness to testify concerning the source of money orders sent to Florida. He said the sender of one of the money orders was "Sam Casale," alleged former member of the Capone gang now in prison on income tax violations.

ing stage Friday.

After President Hoover went over the situation with his cabinet, it was indicated the Washington government would not soon point out to both countries their obligations under the Kellogg pact renouncing war.

An urgent meeting of the council of the league of nations was called for next Tuesday in Geneva to consider an appeal from China. Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese minister to China, was smiling toward Nanking in a Japanese destroyer carrying a formal warning from his government that anti-Japanese agitation must be suppressed or the Chinese government will be held responsible for whatever may be the consequences.

The bombing Thursday by Japanese army planes of Cincinow, southwestern Manchuria, presaged the East in Chinese feeling against Japan for the military occupation of a strategic center in south Manchuria.

Riotousness expressed in demonstrations, particularly in Yangtze valley cities, was cited by Japanese officials as the reason for dispatch to China of additional naval forces. By Friday night Japan had 20 men-of-war—four cruisers, five destroyers, and 11 river gunboats—in Chinese waters between Shanghai and Chungking. Besides their regular crews, the 20 ships carried landing parties totaling 700 men. Due to disorder in Manchuria between Japanese military and civil officials, former War Minister Kenjiro Hirota, now a member of the House of Peers, and Dr. Haseki Yamakawa, authority of international law, were dispatched to Mukden by the cabinet as representatives, respectively, of the two branches of Japanese authority in Manchuria into harmony.

The Japanese warning to China says anti-Japanese agitation in China "seems to be assuming alarming proportions," and declares "the Chinese government will be held responsible for whatever may be the consequences of a failure to suppress the anti-Japanese movement and afford adequate protection to the lives and property of Japanese subjects in China."

The Nanking government is expected to reply that the boycott against Japanese goods—which a recently Japanese spokesman recently called "economic war"—is a spontaneous popular movement beyond the control of the government, which nevertheless is doing its utmost to protect Japanese lives and property.

Japanese military headquarters at Mukden in a communique accused Hsueh-Liang, military governor of Manchuria before the Japanese took charge, of plotting "to attack the Japanese from either side by concentrating at Cincinow all troops west of Cincinow and assembling the Chinese remnant troops scattered along the South Manchurian Railway zone."

It was because of these concentrations, the statement said, that planes were sent out to reconnoiter around Cincinow, where "Chinese fired upon the planes, the Japanese resorting to bombs and inflicting considerable damage."

now is to work out a plan for keeping the securities on the eligible list and assuring dividend payments.

As the situation stands, it threatens to deprive the banks of an important avenue of investment and to take away from the roads their principal source of financing.

Alert to this condition, the road's early in the summer applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for blanket increase of 50 percent in freight rates. Extensive hearings and argument followed. The commission now has the case under advisement and may render its decision before the end of the month.

What the government can do to improve the situation was a topic of much speculation—and disagreement—today among observers here.

Since the key to the problem seems to be increased earnings, the discussions constantly turned to the possibility of the commission's approving the advance in rates. It was pointed out, however, that in view of the commission's quasi-judicial status the administration could hardly use its influence to bring about a decision favoring the roads.

The requested increase aroused a storm of opposition from many organizations and individuals, who contended that higher freight rates would divert traffic to motor trucks, pipe lines and waterways, instead of bolstering railroad revenues.

There was discussion, too, of the possibility of the creation of a government revolving fund by the government which would, in effect, guarantee the redemption in full of railroad bonds upon maturity.

The fund would be used to make loans to roads whose condition is intrinsically sound.

Judge Considers British Liberal Petition To Halt Brands Election Chain Store Tax As Unpatriotic

ery company, operator of the state, Inc. operator of seven stores in the state, yesterday filed a petition of intervention in a lawsuit allowed to join in the suit.

The state and the defendant named the state comptroller and the tax collectors of Leon and Duval counties moved that the suit for injunction be dismissed.

The Indiana chain store law upheld by a five to four decision of the United States supreme court but now pending on a petition for a rehearing, was brought into the arguments repeated. Similar laws in North Carolina and Mississippi also were discussed frequently during the debate.

Thomas Adams, of Jacksonville, representing the chain of competitors, recalled the Florida law as "a circumstantial and arbitrary act to violate the equal rights and due process provisions of the state and federal constitutions."

He said the law discriminated against the chain operators in favor of the individual merchant, the chain operator doing business in more than one county, in favor of the multiple operator doing business in only one county, and in favor of the retailer in favor of the wholesaler.

He claimed the act was invalid because it exempted the wholesaler and only petroleum products. He said it was void because it set up a scale of unequal taxation without just cause for the classification.

"It's not a question of the amount of the tax," he said. "It isn't that the tax is too high to be paid. It's a question of equality of civil rights before the law. This act is repression by taxation. When the majority of the United States supreme court upheld the Indiana law it left the door wide open. This Florida law entered that open door and went much farther than the Indiana statute."

Attorney General Landis and assistant Attorney General Carter, speaking for the state, declared that Florida law does not create equality and uniformity in excise taxes as it does in ad valorem taxes.

They said the whole question ing to assist a mere Tory national currency for Tory, etc."

The labor party manifest was signed by Mr. Henderson, J. R. O'Connell and William Graham, all of whom were members of the Labor cabinet.

"Labor insists that we must plan our civilization or perish," the manifesto said. "The Labor party recognizes the present situation calls for bold and rapid action. The delay of the capitalist civilization breaks no delay. Measures of socialist reconstruction must be pressed forward."

"Amongst a non-tary policy which will stabilize prices," the manifesto continued, "the labor party condemns either currency inflation or a new and disastrous attempt at deflation to force sterling back to the old gold parity."

Tariffs are opposed in the manifesto and the party repeats its proposal to reorganize the most important basic industries, such as power, transport, iron and steel, as "public services owned and controlled in the national interest with such regulation of prices as will enable British industry to compete effectively in the markets of the world."

It was a matter of classification of chain stores for taxation, if the multiple operators can be placed in a class by themselves—and they asserted this to be the case—then the Florida law is valid, they contended. The Legislature has a right to classify businesses for taxation, they said, and there is no discrimination if all operators within a class are treated alike, after being classified.

"The chain store is an octopus in trade," Landis shouted, "reaching out to strangle the individual merchant."

Carter said the Florida law exempted filling stations and wholesale businesses because these are taxed under other revenue acts.

The state based its defense largely on the approval of the Indiana chain store law by a majority of the United States supreme court.

HOOPER'S PLAN
FILED BY U. S.
FINANCIAL HEADS

Hooper's Plan
Found As Accord

Hooper's plan to reorganize the Federal Reserve Bank system has been found to be in accord with the views of the financial heads of the country. The plan, which is being considered by the Federal Reserve Board, is expected to be adopted in the near future. It is believed that the plan will result in a more efficient and stable financial system for the United States.

The plan is based on the principle of a more uniform and flexible currency. It provides for a more equitable distribution of the Federal Reserve Bank's assets and liabilities. The plan is expected to be a significant step towards the long-term goal of a more stable and prosperous economy.

Charles F. Noyes, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, has expressed his support for the plan. He believes that the plan is a necessary and timely response to the current economic challenges facing the country. He expects that the plan will be well-received by the public and the financial community.

William L. Cross, Governor of Connecticut, has also expressed his support for the plan. He believes that the plan is a sound and practical solution to the problems of the Federal Reserve system. He expects that the plan will be implemented in a timely and effective manner.

Charles S. Mott, banker and vice-president of General Motors Corporation, has expressed his support for the plan. He believes that the plan is a necessary and timely response to the current economic challenges facing the country. He expects that the plan will be well-received by the public and the financial community.

GEORGE W. NORRIS, governor of the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank: "The President's proposals are too far-reaching and important to be intelligently discussed without careful thought. There is no question about the fact that with our great gold stock and the existence of the Federal Reserve system financial conditions are fundamentally sound. The trouble has been that depositors have become unduly alarmed and have, in many instances, asked the impossible of their banks. The mere knowledge that plans are being perfected to make liquid assets which are sound but are temporarily frozen should restore confidence and allay senseless alarm."

WILLIAM WRIGLEY, JR.—"Splendid. We have everything we need in this country, money, raw materials, workers, ability, all but confidence. Mr. Hoover's suggestion has given the people confidence, and that's all we need to pull out of this depression."

WILLIAM L. CROSS, Governor of Connecticut: "I have been asked here what I think of the plan advocated by President Hoover. I have not had time to study it, but I believe he proposes inflation of currency, although he does not say the word inflation. If we can keep that within bounds, it will help us. We can do that by making the assets of the banks and other financial institutions more liquid."

HARRY C. KNIGHT, president of the New England Council: "President Hoover's plan would go far in increasing public confidence in the financial integrity of America and would undoubtedly have a far-reaching and beneficial effect on world affairs."

CHARLES S. MOTT, banker and vice-president of General Motors Corporation: "The country is to be congratulated that President Hoover has seen fit to make this proposal. I believe it is thoroughly practical and will furnish much relief to our present situation. I trust it will be worked out in a conservative manner so it will give needed relief with proper safeguards against its abuse."

WILLIAM GREENE, president of the American Federation of Labor: "The action reported will have a profound and helpful effect. It will tend to create confidence, particularly in the banks. Although suggestions made by the President to help out in the depression were not reported, President Hoover's plan is a sound and timely response to the current economic challenges facing the country."

FINANCE PLAN IS SIMILAR TO PLAN USED AFTER WAR

War Finance Corporation Head Is Also Active In New Group

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. The new Hoover plan for economic reconstruction has an analogy in the War Finance Corporation, an instrument devised and developed to meet the strain on business and finance caused by war and later extended to aid in the post-war reconstruction program.

It is to be noted that Eugene Meyer Jr., who was managing director of the War Finance Corporation in its era of activity, is now Governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

The corporation formed in the national emergency, was designed to have at its command at first resources above $1,000,000,000, and as originally designed its existence was to have terminated six months after the close of the war. As a matter of fact its affairs were not finally disposed of until ten years later, a long process of liquidation being the result of the large scope of its operations.

In January, 1918, Secretary of the Treasury M. Adas announced that a plan was being developed for the purpose of supporting banking and industrial credit. On February 9 of that year he laid the plan before the Senate Finance Committee. The chief reason given for the proposal was that the extensive borrowings of the government had tended to surp bank facilities and hinder private enterprise.

The proposal was for the creation of a corporation with a capital of $1,000,000,000, authorized by the government, and authorized to issue up to $1,000,000,000 of notes to three classes of borrowers. These were:

- 1. Banks making loans to enterprises deemed essential in the prosecution of the war.
- 2. Savings banks needing assistance.
- 3. Exceptional cases involving concerns engaged on war work.

It was provided that the corporation's notes could be discounted at the Federal Reserve banks and dealt in by such banks in the open market. It was even proposed at the time that they be made the basis for such additional Federal notes as might be required.

When the plan was considered and passed upon by Congress, certain restrictions were imposed. Short-term commercial paper was given a preference over corporation notes in discount operations of the Reserve Banks by the differential of 1 per cent.

According to a statement made by the War Finance Corporation on October 13 of that year the total advances made since its inception in April were $67,716,432, of which $29,863,748 had been repaid. Sixty-four of the sixty-seven millions of dollars had been loaned directly to firms conducting business essential to the prosecution of war, although, under the provisions of the act such loans were only to be made in exceptional cases.

It was after the close of the war that the corporation's activities showed an even greater expansion. Early in 1918 it was stated that $108,000,000 in loans were outstanding, and that an additional $100,000,000 of loans had been underwritten without the corporation itself furnishing the funds. Its loans to railroads, included in the total, had aggregated $70,000,000.
