Seoul Seating Of New Theater

By CHARLES SWANN
Seoul, UPI—Is this city's recovery from the ravages of war, one of the greatest building feats of a century of the Korean people's determination and inimitable spirit.

This building, the Dehan Theater, is the result of one man's dream that persisted through a long and destructive war, a still unceasing struggle and the scars of setbacks that normally bedevil many businessmen in a struggling young nation.

The man who had this dream and worked to make it become a reality is Kim Kyung Min, the first mayor of Seoul after the liberation of Korea from the Japanese and long one of the city's outstanding leaders.

This house is one of the largest and best equipped movie theaters in the Far East, and Kim proudly boasts that it is on a par with any theater in the world—barring none.

For their beauty, size and design, it is without a doubt far above any of the other modern buildings in this ancient city.

Plans for the theater were drawn by Kim and his architect partner, Mr. Lee Farbeck, who came here and a little from there, in an effort to come up with a composite best.

In addition to being a landmark building, Kim's plan was to give something to the betterment of the city that would help Seoul attain the place of prominence among Asian cities which he feels it rightly deserves.

"Especially," he explained, "since Seoul now is the center of Asia's anti-Communist struggle."

But the most significant thing about the building of the theater is that it was built entirely with private capital. Few of Seoul's new buildings have been built without financial aid, either directly or indirectly, from some official source.

The theater has a little over 2,000 seats. But Kim said it would have had another thousand if he had used the standard seating arrangements found in most Asian theaters.

Leg Room
 "This theater has the best seating of any theater in the Far East, and it is one of the things of which we are most proud," he said.

The huge Chimescope screen curving around the stage measures almost 25 by 70 feet. The sound system is a four-track stereophonic affair consisting of three main loudspeakers on the stage and 25 others around the walls of the theater.

Kim said he also wanted to make the theater one which is more American styled and more up-to-date in addition to the largest American-manufactured seat with plenty of leg room—something usually lacking in most Asian theaters. — the Dehan has several lounges, a snack bar, a tea room and a billiard room.

But Kim's dream hasn't ended there. In designing the theater he made provisions for later construction of a bar and large dance hall on the roof, giving a commanding view of the city.

"We hope to have these completed within the year," he added.

INDIAN PROTEST DENIED
CHICAGO (UPI)—Will H. Harridge, president of the American League, has refused Cleveland Manager Joe Geronzi's protest in the 10-0 loss to the New York Yankees last Saturday. Geronzi complained the game should have been called because of poor playing conditions.

RACING AT POLO GROUNDS
NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock car racing will be staged at the vacant Polo Grounds twice weekly beginning Aug. 9. Ed Otto, vice-president of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing, said he expected crowds to average about 15,000 for the Thursday and Saturday night events.

COULD YOU FACE IT? If the administrative department of a Turkish postmaster when an "enemy" prisoner, slightly regarded and editor of the prison newspaper, escaped from the grounds and disappeared. There was one thing the authorities could do and they promptly did it. On the masthead of the paper, the escapee's title was changed from "editor in chief" to "editor at large."

A busy newspaper director accepted his office for a new sales division, and eyed his board of directors amiably. "This company is not going to be run by shareholder tactics," he conceded. "Any director opposed to my plan is requested to indicate same by simply raising his hand and saying 'I resign.'"

State Reports 31 New Polio Cases Last Week

STATE 18-3 INS.—JIM JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—Florida is in the throes of a polio outbreak that probably would have meant an epidemic before the days of Salk vaccine.

The State Board of Health has reported that 31 new cases of polio were recorded last week, more than double any other week so far this year. That brought the year's total polio cases to 108 as compared to 68 at the same time last year.

The count put Florida's rate of increase above all other states, the board said.

Dade County reported the highest number of new cases last week—17. Pinellas had four, Hillsborough three, Duval and Polk counties two each, and Escambia, Orange and St. Lucie one each.

All the Dade County cases were non-Asiatic. In the other counties, at least eight cases were of the Asiatic type.

U. S. Doubles Marine Forces In Lebanon

A CONTRACT FOR CONSTRUCTION of the Altamonte Elementary School was awarded to the J. C. Harper Construction Company of Orlando. Cost of the construction will be $337,115. The Seminole County Board of Public Instruction reviewed 11 bids opened Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock before making the award.

BEIRUT (UPI) — The United States doubled its force of Marines in Lebanon today with the arrivals of a battalion airlifted from Camp Lejeune, N.C., and another which had been waiting offshore with the U.S. 6th Fleet. More than 6,000 Marines now were ashore.

Combat troops of the U.S. Army's first airborne battle group will fly in at dawn Saturday from the forward strike base at Adana, Turkey, it was announced. An advanced party arrived today.

Arrival of the reinforcements constituted a massive U. S. reply to Russia's demand that America get out of Lebanon.

The Marines were the first major units landed since Wednesday when the Soviet government declared that America must "withdraw at once" from Lebanon or risk Soviet "measures."

This morning one battalion of Marines poured across the beaches at Antillas five miles north of Beirut, completing a flank movement, guarding both sides of the capital.

At 1 p.m. a second battalion began arriving by C-119 Flying Boxcars from Camp Lejeune. The giant troop carriers touched down minutes apart, one after another.

This was the 2nd Battalion of the 8th Marine Regiment. It brought the total Marine force to four battalions—"more than 6,000 men," a spokesman said.

The spokesman said this "completed the planned movement to this area."

He said the plans "originally did not include" the latest airborne battalion, and "there is a good possibility they will be re-embarked." There was no clue to what the new force's ultimate destination might be.

TWO BOYS WERE thrown from this motor scooter when it smashed into the rear of an automobile attempting to turn off Mellonville Ave. Clifford Able and Doug Gordon, both 15, were injured.

Two Boys On Motor Scooter Smash Into Rear Of Car

Two 15-year-old boys were thrown from a motor scooter yesterday when it smashed into the rear of a car attempting a left turn at Seventh St.

Clifford Able, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Able of 420 Scott Ave., and Doug Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gordon, 128 Mellonville Ave., both 15 years old, ran into the rear of an automobile driven by Robert Lewis of 408 Elliott Ave.

Witnesses said that the two boys glanced to the side and did not notice the automobile ahead of them which had slowed down to make the left turn.

Clifford Able received a possible fracture of the right wrist and lacerations over an eye; Doug Gordon received lacerations over an eye and abrasions of the right leg and knee.

They were taken to a local physician for treatment.

Investigating officers were Sgt. Ben Butler and Sgt. Leo Rock of the Sanford Police Department. The accident occurred shortly after 4 o'clock.

Pepper Off On New Campaign Swing

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Former Sen. Claude Pepper was off and hand shaking early today on a new campaign swing.

Pepper said he would spend today and Saturday touring Broward County to meet as many voters as possible in Hollywood, Beach, Dania, Deerfield, Pompano and Fort Lauderdale.

On Saturday he goes into Volusia County, hitting DeLand, New Smyrna Beach and Daytona Beach.

Pepper did not schedule any formal speeches for his Broward County tour. He said he would spend most of his time walking the streets and asking for votes.

Accompanying Pepper through Broward will be Clarence W. Meadows, a former governor of West Virginia now living in Florida who is Pepper's campaign manager for the area.

Red Demonstrators March On U. S., British Embassies

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russian demonstrators marched on the United States and British embassies today to protest the Anglo-American troop landings in the Middle East.

The demonstrators demanded to see the ambassadors to present resolutions passed by mass meetings denouncing the American landings in Lebanon and the British withdrawal of paratroopers to Jordan.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson saw a 300-man demonstration, but British Ambassador Sir Patrick Reilly has having his house and flatly refused to meet the Russians clamoring for a personal hearing outside his building.

Sir Patrick sent a message telling the marchers to leave their demonstrations with an embassy secretary. They refused and stood in hundreds outside the building.

No disorder was reported but it was believed a larger mass demonstration was scheduled for later today outside the British embassy.

While Thompson was seeing the three-man delegation in his ninth-floor office, another 300 demonstrators managed to squeeze into the embassy.

"It's the first time we've seen so many Russians in this job," cracked a Marine.

Property Owners Meet Monday Night

A mass meeting of property owners in a 1.28 square mile area proposed for annexation to the City of Sanford will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Pine Crest School auditorium.

The meeting was prompted by the desire of a number of property holders in the area to secure adequate fire protection and other benefits, including a reduction in fire insurance rates.

Three possibilities will be discussed at the meeting. County fire districts for the areas involved; annexation to the City of Sanford; and doing nothing to protest lives and property.

A number of subdivision areas are included in the proposed area for annexation to the City of Sanford and property owners in them are urged to attend the Monday night meeting to learn facts and figures leading to either fire districts or annexation. The subdivisions in the area include: Pinecrest Heights; South Pinecrest, 1st, 2nd, and 3rd additions; Woodruff Subdivision; Parkview; Rosalind Heights; the Dreamworld Section outside the Sanford city limits; Country Club Manor; and SunLand Estates.

City officials point out that the growth of Sanford has made it necessary to expand. The last legislature provided a means of annexation whereby a simple majority of the landowners in a designated area could petition the City of Sanford to be included within the city limits.

The City could take this action by simply passing an ordinance after the Seminole County Tax Assessor certified the list of landowners making the petition.

In order to accomplish this, the Board of Sanford City Commissioners has designated an area bounded by Sanford Ave. on the east; the section line some 1320 feet south of Oona Rd. on the south; Georgia Ave. on the west to 25th St. for one-fourth of a mile, and then due north to the city limits. This 1.28 square miles is entirely on the south and southwest part of the city.

City officials point out that most of the homes in the area are taxless. Realizing that the City of Sanford has a fire department has gone on record in support of the City in order to receive the services that would be immediately available to the people of the area.

Throughout the three to five year plan, it was emphasized, the outstanding capital improvements would be the installation of street lights, water mains, and fire hydrants. The cost of these improvements is estimated at $115,300, plus the annual costs of extending normal services to $29,536.

While most of the property would be paying taxes in order to receive these services and others, the same property would be saving money on other expenses such as reduced rates on fire insurance, elimination of the 30 per cent higher water rates, and lower refuse collection fees.

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners at its last meeting, agreed to extend fire protection services to the proposed area for

SunLand Estates Residents, Workers 'Get Acquainted'

More than 400 SunLand Estates residents and employees of Odham and Tudor got together last night for a "get acquainted party."

In a recreation area at the front of the huge development, ranch-burgers, baked beans, pickles, potato chips, and cold drinks were served to what Bradley Odham called "one of the finest groups of folks I have ever seen."

It was the first one of these events staged by Odham and Tudor so that neighbors might become acquainted with one another "and learn about one another's problems."

Huge tables and benches were provided for the crowd of early evening "get acquainted party" members who gathered to eat together.

The entire Odham and Tudor staff was on hand to greet each SunLand Estate resident as they arrived. Each one wore a tag bearing the name.

Children were entertained with games and many of the residents joined in a baseball game or played tennis while the biggest part of the huge crowd milled about meeting neighbors and introducing themselves to newcomers.

A contest was held to determine which one of the group could serve the largest number of people attending the event.

Linda Morris won the top prize of $15 for having 70 people attending the "get acquainted party." A Mrs. Keith won the second prize of $10 for demonstrating her ability to serve 55 of the people attending. Norman Reilly served 45 guests to the group.

THE AREA PROPOSED for annexation is designated by lines shown at the five arrows in lower left-hand portion of map. The 1.28 square miles is entirely on the south and southwest part of the city.

Bond Issue Details To Be Heard July 29 At Public Meeting

A public meeting has been set to discuss the school bond issue. M. L. Raborn Jr., chairman of the Jaycee School Bond Issue Committee, said yesterday.

Raborn told the Jaycees that the meeting will be held on July 29 at 8 p.m. in the Sanford Civic Center so that everyone who might want to hear the details of the school bond issue discussed can be accommodated.

School officials, Raborn said, have been invited to attend the meeting to explain the details concerning the effort to get the five-year school construction program underway with a $2.5 million bond issue.

The committee chairman also said that the school officials have been invited to attend the meeting in order to answer questions from those attending the first mass meeting on the question that will be put before the people on Sept. 9 in conjunction with the Primary election.

Interest in the school bond issue is gaining momentum with organizations and groups throughout the county supporting the forthcoming special election.

Raborn said that a similar meeting is also planned for Crooms Academy at a date yet to be announced. Details of this meeting have not been completed, he said.

It is expected that the Sanford Civic Center will experience its first capacity audience on July 29 when the issue is discussed and questions answered.

Simultaneously, Bill Grambow, the Jaycee Get-Out-The-Vote committee chairman said yesterday that his group will begin its activities immediately but will not "work in conjunction with the school bond issue."

Grambow pointed out that his committee is primarily interested in getting every prospective voter registered and every voter to the polls.

Tom McDonald, Jaycee president, said yesterday "We've got a heavy schedule ahead of us for the summer, and we need every Jaycee to join in on the various campaigns."

Navy People To Have Two-Day Reunion Here

Saturday and Sunday will be busy days for a huge group of former Navy people who haven't seen each other for 13, 14 or 15 years.

More than 40 former Navy people who were stationed at the Sanford Naval Air Station during the Second World War will be in Sanford for the two-day reunion.

Most of the group were attached to VFA, a squadron that saw service here for several years.

The Navy veterans will be coming to Sanford during the two-day period from every section of the country: California, Tennessee, Texas, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Hampshire, South Carolina and Louisiana to name just a few of the states that will be represented here.

Already an advanced contingent, headed by newspaperman "Preacher" Allen, have arrived here to direct the last minute details of the reunion that will be sure to produce the "tall stories" and "fond remembrances" that Navy life creates.

One of the big events of the reunion will be an all-day barbecue at the Lake Monroe home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holly, who, along with "Preacher" Allen and other Sanford-based veterans, originated the idea for the event.

"We're limited right now to the number of Navy and civilian people who were attached to the Sanford Naval Air Station during WW II," one of the members of the party said today. "We're just feeling our way right now and maybe next year and in future years the reunion will expand and bring together many more of those who enjoyed being here."

At any rate, this is the first reunion of its type in Sanford, and as "Preacher" Allen put it "We're looking forward to every minute of this get-together of folks who haven't seen each other for 13 or 14 years."

There will be a cocktail party tomorrow night at the Mayfair Inn Motel, Allen said. "There are so many of the Navy people and civilians, too, who were stationed at the Sanford Naval Air Station, living in Florida now and we expect them to be coming and going during the two-day reunion," he said.

Hospital, Functions Are Explained By Weir

"The hospital and its functions" was the topic on which Harry Weir, administrator of the Seminole Memorial Hospital, spoke yesterday before the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The hospital is divided into nine departments," said Weir, "and when problems arise they are dumped on the desk of the administrator."

He explained that the nature of hospital services naturally draws the entire attention of a community on it.

"Creating a major problem," said Weir, "are the good and bad rumors which follow, and that of a public relations program."

Some people believe not only all that they hear, said the hospital administrator, but they repeat it.

"To work in a hospital, it is necessary that the employee have a basic desire to work there and to serve humanity's needs," he said, and added "80 per cent of the hospital services are rendered by human hands—not by automation."

And he explained that, even this, creates another problem "a science of human understanding."

The hospitals are not getting their story across to the people—even to the people working within the hospital, said Weir. "But we are constantly trying to improve our channels of communication."

Weir told the Jaycees that "Hospital services are services nobody wants but we have to see them—for life is the most precious thing we have."

Emphatically, Weir explained to the Jaycees that "I don't think we are a do-nothing hospital for we have accomplished many things in the 2½ years we have been open. We are fully accredited," he said, and that means "everything we are doing we are doing well."

In a question and answer period, with questions piled from many of the Jaycees, Weir explained that injured patients are transferred to other hospitals to receive specialized treatment; that bills must be paid in full at time of discharge; that Seminole Memorial Hospital has 75 beds and 16 bassinets; that plans for a teaching hospital are "far in the future"; no plans of a resident physician; that 10 per cent of the hospital's service is for charity and that 25 per cent of the bills are charged; and that the hospital has a 24-hour emergency room.

Weir told the Jaycees that the emergency room is just what it says "to take care of traumatic injuries."

"We have a physician on call 24 hours a day to take care of patients who have no doctor," he said, but we don't have enough cases coming into our emergency room to have it staffed 24 hours a day."

Concluding his talk before the Jaycees, Weir explained "I have never heard of a patient being turned away because of money."

Safety Is A Factor That Must Be Considered For Millions In U.S.

It looks as if the gimmicks of "union demands" are growing—even here in Florida. One of the work stoppages at Cape Canaveral is in progress now that may, if the truth were known, endanger the lives of every person in Central Florida.

News items state that "there is no indication that walkouts at Cape Canaveral had affected test operations so far." But even the release of such news there may be hidden dangers none of us will ever know.

Transport Union members are walking off their jobs against Pan-American Airways in protest what union officials called "AA's 'calous' disregard of safety conditions—yet these workers would in turn endanger the safety of millions and millions of Americans by their actions.

Cape Canaveral has operated through these many years—and as we understand it since 1950—without a fatal accident. A safety record that can hardly be matched anywhere in the United States and yet union officials, mind you, not the rank and file of the membership—but union officials—call this a "calous disregard" of safety.

There are 1,500 members of this union at Cape Canaveral—all of them earning pretty fair wages—going without their weekly paycheck because of an accident that perhaps none of them could have prevented.

There's hardly any company in business today that does not put first and foremost the safety of the men and women employed by it. Throughout industry today, and particularly on bases operated by the United States government, safety comes first.

This is just another example of an "excuse" perhaps for union officials to go off on another tangent and say that they are acting behalf of the "membership."

Safety, in most every instance, is on an individual basis. A person may act in wanton disregard of the basic rules of safety.

We don't say that it happened in the particular instance when a 33-year-old worker fell to his death 120 feet down an elevator shaft.

But we do know that such fatal accidents are few and far between in this day of "safety come first" among the industrial and commercial organizations of the nation.

Let's score the union for acting hastily in "utter disregard of the safety of the people of America" when they walk off a job of such tremendous importance as that of Cape Canaveral.

Seemingly these men are walking off first and then thinking later.

We're not against unions—as we have repeated time and time again—but when it comes to such untimely and unfortunate incidents as this one, there should have been some thinking first.

The best way to look at it is—scan the record!

Quality In Teaching Valuable

The general public has heard a great deal about the shortage of teachers in the United States. The public has heard relatively much less about the matter of quality in teaching. Yet better teachers, rather than simply more of them, will be most important in the long run.

This idea was stressed at the annual conference of the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards. It was the consensus that high priority must be given to developing teachers who not only are well trained in method but are thoroughly conversant with the subjects they are to teach.

This focuses attention on one of the basic controversies about education. It has often been charged that the teachers' colleges have concentrated too much on the "how" rather than the "what" of teaching. There is much evidence that this has led to absurd and even tragic situations. A recent news story, for example, disclosed that a brilliant young physicist cannot serve as a regular high school physics teacher because he has not taken enough courses in education.

A system so inflexible that it cannot

Inside Washington

By HENRY CATBERT
 Central Press Association
 Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—Administration leaders were disappointed over the cool reception given President and Mrs. Eisenhower on their recent visit to Canada. Rather naively, some Washington officials concerned with Inter-American relations had hoped Ike's presence, and his famous grin, would ease disturbing news filtering down that our northern neighbors are somewhat less than happy over current Canadian-American relations.

Perhaps the weather had something to do with the lack of enthusiasm with which Canadian men-on-the-street greeted the U. S. President in Ottawa. It was drizzling and cold, and the turnout from the Canadian airport to the city was meager, although some who appeared along the route cheered lustily as the presidential motorcade swept by.

But the fact remains that Canadian unhappiness over some policies of the United States has been mounting in recent years. It broke out into the open more than a year ago when a U. S. Senate committee publicized allegations that Canada's then-foreign minister Lester Pearson had been connected with leftist elements. There was much indignation in the Canadian Parliament at the time, and the accusation is said in some quarters to have contributed to the defeat of the Liberal party government, of which Pearson was a leader.

What really disturbs Canada is the rapid post-war growth of absentee U. S. ownership and control of Canadian business and manufacturing. Canada's industry is becoming subject to the economic whims of the United States, and the Canadians don't like that. Her international market for wheat is being cut into by U. S. barter operation abroad, designed to dump some of the huge American wheat surpluses held by the government.

If Canadian-U. S. relations are to be improved—a key factor in western hemisphere defense planning—the U. S. administration must give greater consideration to Canada's economic well-being, industrially and agriculturally.

United States intervention in Lebanon may show some favorable results soon—unless Soviet Russia is ready to back up angry words with warlike deeds.

With its threat to "take the necessary measures" unless the United States gets out of Lebanon at once, the Soviet government has grabbed the ball away from President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic in leading opposition to President Eisenhower's action.

The implication which the Kremlin obviously intended to convey is that Russia will take direct action of some sort unless the United States withdraws voluntarily or the United Nations gets it to do so.

That is Russia's way of conducting its diplomatic affairs. President Eisenhower said in announcing them explaining his action that he knew it might involve serious consequences, and he mentioned the risks involved. He could have been thinking only of Russia. Finally, he was prepared for Russia's threat.

But if all goes well, it may prove President Eisenhower's successful action came just in time. There are strong indications the intervention in Lebanon may have saved Jordan from a revolt like those in Lebanon and Iraq.

There are indications also there may be a move soon in Lebanon itself to end the revolt there by a compromise between the government and the rebels.

It seems possible the United States action may save the Baghdad Pact—the Middle Eastern treaty organization alliance against Communist aggression—from the sudden death that threatened it because of the revolt in Iraq, one of its five members.

What Nasser can do in addition to stirring up Arab resentment against the United States, it is hard to figure out.

The military record of Nasser under Nasser is a sorry one. During the Suez Canal crisis in 1956, Israel administered a humiliating defeat to Nasser. His advance was stopped only by the attack of Great Britain and France on the canal zone and by the subsequent action of the United Nations in forcing a cease-fire.

Nasser's weapons, like those of Russia in the cold war, are propaganda and subversion.

It is true these weapons have been potent ones both for Nasser and for Soviet Russia.

But in Nasser's case, the United States has moved, directly in Lebanon and indirectly in Jordan, to invoke an even more effective weapon.

Nasser is sure to fill the Middle Eastern air waves with allegations that the United States, in the interest of "imperialism" and "colonialism," is trying to stop the surge of Arab nationalism.

This propaganda is pretty sure to have some effect.

But it is possible also some Arab governments, in addition to that of Lebanon, may realize that to Nasser nationalism means his own acceptance as the dictator of the Arab world.

These governments may realize Nasserism threatens them with subjection.

Herlong Reports

Washington seems to be a town hipped on the idea that we can speed our way to prosperity. A few months ago, there was a cry that the budget be reduced, then along came the recession, and the apocryph was upset as never before.

Neither the Administration nor Congress has come up with anything to stop the ever increasing spiral of inflation. The answer isn't difficult: Cut government spending.

I have always been of the impression that inflation and unnecessary or wasteful government spending go hand in hand. There just must be some leveling off. To this end I have been opposing every spending proposal before the House unless I was convinced that it was essential in the maintenance of frugal government or the safety of the nation.

Many of the proposals and projects before Congress might be worthwhile in more normal times. Others, in my judgment, can never be justified as a proper undertaking of the Federal government.

As I have written before, there is a group of us from the South who have been doing our best to eliminate unnecessary spending. Unfortunately, I might say even tragically, the trend of the times seems to be in the opposite direction. There are some who want to launch gigantic costly programs in the face of the fact that we closed this fiscal year on June 30 nearly three billion dollars in the red, and from present indications it looks like next year's deficit will be 10 or 12 billion.

The budget submitted to Congress each year goes up and up. We have had a series of the highest peacetime budgets in history in recent years. The people must bear in mind this truth: Whatever is spent by the government in Washington is going to be paid for by the people who make up the government. If they don't pay for it in taxes they will pay for it in inflation—by reduction in the TERRY TOWELING IS IN THE SWIM. Want a recipe for warm-weather comfort? Best way to keep cool during July's torrid days is to DUNK! Dunk in the backyard pool, dunk in the town's old "swimming hole," dunk in the lake, dunk in the ocean. Keep dunking — keep cool! For protection against the sun, for easy, effortless drying-off give every member of the family some garments made of terry toweling. They're becoming, comfortable, and eminently practical — their pretense white sets off a dazzling coat of tan, and to keep them white you only have to dunk them in the automatic washer. Popular terry fashions this year include something for everybody — swimsuits for tots, parkies for dad and the boys, playsets for mom and the girls, wrap-around towel for dad, dresses for mom.

Fashion War Not Completely Over Says Aldrich

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Designer Larry Aldrich maintains the unfitted silhouette is here to stay. But he also admits women still need some convincing.

Said Aldrich, at a preview of his fall collection for 200 visiting fashion reporters:

"Despite the opinion of the fashion experts, such as plumbers, taxi drivers, television comics and even politicians (a reference to an Adlai Stevenson wisecrack about the sack), there is no longer any doubt about the victory of the revolutionary silhouette. But the war is not completely over by any means."

"The unfitted fashion... gives the woman the sense of well-being and elegance she seeks in new clothes," said Aldrich, one of the first of Seventh Avenue's fashion leaders to adopt the chemise. "It represents a clothes investment with a future, not in a waning fashion."

One-piece or with a jacket, the top slightly flared and boxed over a full skirt; the suspension shaped dropping in wide fullness from a high yoke; the semi-waistline dress, a "compromise" shape with a wide crushed belt fitting the front only, with the back hanging loose; and the valance hem, in which the dress hangs straight "except for a flounce at the knee."

"There is no one major silhouette this year," said designer Adele Simpson.

The sack is dead.

"The sack was finished in a hurry because there were so many ugly variations. The word itself was ugly," she added. "I believe in the dress that skims the body, but a woman wants to feel some fit. That is why I've put so much stress on inner construction."

Many of Mrs. Simpson's dresses have built-in bodices; others are fully interfused.

Mollie Parnis, who designs for Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, said farewell to the "limp and baggy." She displayed two major shapes—the straight and narrow, but fitted loosely, and the "paper doll," with definite flare and waistline curve.

Designer Hilda Altmark likes the luxury of fur trimming for daytime costumes. She used double ring collars of ranch mutation or black mink on soft wool costumes toned to match the fur. One costume jacket was lined with pastel mink paws.

Wilson Falmat, of Edward Abbott, joined the ranks of designers reviving the Empire waistline.

Budget Leisure To Have More Fun

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Leisure, like money, can slip through your fingers without your knowing where it went. And it can be spent unwisely.

That's why, according to the recreation experts, some persons complain about never having enough time for play.

If you're always "too tired" to have fun, that's another matter. You may be sick and should see a doctor.

But some persons, according to psychiatrists, don't get good mileage out of leisure time because they have "guilt feelings" about it and feel that they must be working all the time—or looking busy, at least.

Many experts suggest that those who can't seem to enjoy their leisure time go about solving their problem scientifically.

First, of course, convince yourself that leisure is not sinful and that it's true what they said about "all work" making Jack a dull boy.

Then, in much the way you would go about making a budget for your money, work up a budget for your time.

Set down, day by day, the way you spend your time. Consider work, commuting, eating, sleeping, trips to the powder room, shopping, talking on the street corner, doodling, looking over magazines at the newsstand, watching television, walking the dog. Put down everything.

Juggle the time budget, in much the way you do the family

Whatever Happened To Max Bishop

By United Press International
MAX BISHOP

By United Press International
Max Bishop, second baseman for some of Connie Mack's best Philadelphia Athletics teams, was termed the ideal lead-off man of his day because of his keen eye. Never a great hitter, Bishop topped .300 only once (1931) but his ability to get on base made him invaluable in a lineup that included sluggers like Jimmy Pate, Mickey Vernon and Al Simmons. Max was with the A's from 1924 through 1933, which included a string of three straight pennants and wound up his career at Boston in 1935 with a lifetime average of .311.

Whatever happened to Max Bishop? He now is 58 and for several years has been baseball coach at Lakeland.

Fishing Is Fair To Good In State During This Week

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Game and Fish Commission's weekly fishing report says all fresh water fishing in the state was fair to good.

It said bass and panfish were being caught on the Tamiami Canal from the Miami city limits west 40 miles.

Bream, especially bluegills, are being caught on worms and artificial flies in the No. 1 and 2 canals running south of Clearwater to the Miami Canal, the report said.

Agents Believe Iraqi Revolt 'Born In Bern'

The Iraqi revolt was "born in Bern," Western counter-intelligence agents have indicated.

A sudden increase in the movement of Communist agents by air from Moscow via Prague to Zurich and on to Bern, and of military and political representatives of the United Arab Republic to the city, were among the first signs, according to a regular meeting place for the Algerian rebels and their Communist supporters.

Here the Lebanese crisis was hatched, and many of the political actions and propaganda plots which are traced to the surface in the satellite states, Indonesia, Red China and the Middle East.

Free World's Target

Zurich is Switzerland's largest city, and Geneva, seat of many international conferences, has become with Bern the physical contact points for Red agents operating in the Middle East, France, Western Germany, Britain, Spain, Portugal and Italy.

AMMUNITION DENIED CAIRO (UPI)—Bagdad Radio claimed Thursday night that Fadhil Al-Jamali, former prime minister and foreign minister of Iraq, has not been killed as previously reported but is in prison awaiting trial "with other traitors." It had been reported earlier this week that he was killed by the rebels.

PILOTS FACE DECISION TERNHILL, England (UPI)—Four Israeli pilots who just graduated from the Royal Air Force flying school wondered today, "where do we go from here?" The fliers, who came to England under a program to train pilot officers for King Faisal's jet-equipped Israeli air force, had to decide whether to return home to serve under the new rebel government or stay out of their native country.

REV. ERNEST B. BOLICK JR.: begins survey here

Minister Begins Survey For Possible New Church Here

The Rev. Ernest B. Bolick Jr., Board Missionary of the Board of American Missions, United Lutheran Church in America, has begun the development of a new mission in Sanford.

The new Lutheran congregation to be formed will serve residents of Sanford and surrounding areas. The development of the mission and organization of the congregation is sponsored by the Board of American Missions of the United Lutheran Church and the Florida Synod of the U.L.C.A. The activities of the mission while being organized will be directed by Rev. Bolick.

Rev. Bolick is a native of Boone, N. C. He received his A.B. Degree from Lenoir Rhyne College, Hickory, N. C., and his B. D. Degree from the Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary, Columbia, S. C. He was ordained by the North Carolina Synod, at Trinity Lutheran Church, Vale, N. C.

Accompanying him in this new work is his wife, the former Theresa Frazier of Lexington, N. C. She attended Stetson University and received her B.S. from Appalachian State Teacher's College, Boone, N. C.

The development of the mission is now in the survey stage. A door to door canvass is being conducted to determine the potential of the city and surrounding areas. This will be followed by personal contact with all interested persons prior to the holding of worship services.

Contact may be made with Rev. Bolick at the parsonage, 1101 E. Rosalia Dr. and by phone FA 7-7428.

No date has been set for services as yet. It is hoped that they might begin by the first of September. Tentative plans are to use the auditorium annex of the new Sanford Civic Center.

Candidate Endorses Waterway Program Including Canal

TAMPA (UPI)—Former Sen. Claude Pepper, gunning for votes in the September Democratic Primary, has endorsed the development program proposed by the Florida Waterways Committee. He pledged to fight for it if elected to the U.S. Senate.

Pepper wired members of the committee meeting here Friday he would give his "vigorous support" to the five-point program of integrated waterways development, including a controversial barge canal between Sanford and Titusville.

Committee president John Krider and other members, also hoping to draw active support from Sen. Spessard L. Holland, said Holland previously stated he favored development of Florida waterways, but was non-committal on endorsing specific projects.

Holland told the group by telephone "I will be for any Florida waterways program which meets with the criteria of the U. S. Corps of Engineers and wins their approval."

Engineers twice have rejected the Titusville project on the grounds that proof was not sufficient that the canal would yield benefits to equal its cost. A report in the second unfavorable report is expected in Washington some time in September.

But Krider maintained that the engineers had failed to consider the projected benefits which would accrue from construction of the waterway in terms of stimulating industry and commerce in the area.

Pepper endorsed without reservation the committee's entire program which included five major projects.

They were: A cross-state lock barge canal from Yankeetown to the St. Johns River; extension of the Intracoastal Canal from St. Marks to Fort Myers; the Sanford-Titusville canal, including canal services to Orlando; deepening the Fort Myers-Stuart Canal to a depth of 12 feet; and deepening the Intracoastal Canal from Eau Gallie to Miami and eventually to Key West.

"You and the members of Congress know how hard I fought for your program when I was in the Senate and how deeply determined I am to help you carry it out when I go back to the Senate," Pepper said.

Pepper said the waterways plan "will give to industry, commerce and recreation in Florida the greatest boost which could be achieved by any comparable expenditure of funds. Had I been in the Senate since 1950, I would have done my best to have got the program progressed."

The ex-senator declared that a cross-state canal as proposed in the waterways plan "would have expedited the war effort greatly and saved many lives on tankers torpedoed off our exposed coast."

"Now, while the country needs sound and productive public works to help relieve unemployment and restore prosperity, it is most fitting that we start with new force and vigor our drive to bring this great program or Florida into reality," said Pepper.

Other committee action in the two hour mid-day meeting resulted in an agreement to sponsor a bill before the 1959 Legislature calling for licensing of all boats and operators using the state's inland waterways and providing enforcement penalties.

The bill would have the governor appoint a commission to administer the regulatory act designed to promote state waterway development.

Former Navy people, civilian and military, assigned to the Sanford Naval Air Station during World War II during 1943-44, gathered in Sanford for their first annual reunion Saturday and Sunday.

Few of these Navy people had seen each other in 14 or 15 years but all of them had enjoyed the hospitalities of Sanford during their stay here during part of their Navy career.

Heading up the reunion was newspaperman "Preacher" Allen who, during WWII was a Yeoman attached to the local air station.

Former Navy people came to Sanford from nearly every direction and along with local citizens and those living in various Florida cities, the crowd at times reached more than 50.

They gathered first at the Mayfair Inn Motel Saturday evening for a cocktail party and a many-hour session of reminiscing and remembering, renewing friendships and exchanging greetings to others who could not make the reunion.

In the group were such Navy people as civilians, clerks, shore patrol, metallurges, and master at arms, electricians, pharmacist mate, paymaster, a marine sergeant, and an officer of the deck.

Greeting one another at their first get-together would recall long lost friends and relatives as about, slaps on the back, handshakes, with loud and gleeful reminiscing was the order of the moment.

These former Navy people poured in to Sanford Saturday and Sunday, right on up to the time that a gigantic barbecue was held at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Lake Monroe home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holly.

Mr. and Mrs. Holly, friends to the servicemen during their stay here, prepared a lavish barbecue of chops, ribs, steaks, and chicken garnished with salads and pickles, hot breads and gold drinks.

"Preacher" Allen said yesterday that "We anticipate another reunion here next year. We were rather limited this time for our first get together but between now and 1959 we'll be corresponding with other veterans of Navy life at the Sanford Naval Air Station."

Before taking off for their respective homes, following an eventful two-day reunion, the group yesterday presented both Mr. and Mrs. Holly with gifts as a token of appreciation for their friendship and assistance.

In the group visiting Sanford for the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. Dickson Brossier, Orlando; George T. McClamma, Clearwater; W. T. "Bill" Davis, Orlando; Madeline Walton, Nashua, N. H.; L. Bullis, St. Cloud; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Blackie, Blackwood; Sumter, S. C.; Harry J. Bigley, Pittsburg, Pa.; Chief and Mrs. Roy Williams, Sanford; Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Michel, Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jacobus, Winter Park; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taylor, Dallas, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. John Carter, Sanford; Mr. and Mrs. Lynn A. Wink, Sanford; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Griggs, Sanford; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bauer, Northridge, Calif.; Ernest L. Thomas, Clearwater; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kattner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wolfner, Sanford; and Mrs. Mabel Hillbrand, Orlando.

Casselberry Club Authorizes Eye Examinations

CASSELBERRY—Ben R. Evans, chairman of the local Lions Club sight conservation committee reported at the club's meeting Thursday night that his committee would authorize eye examinations for two persons and request glasses in each case, pending a final report by the examiner. Evans said that one of the persons had not been able to maintain normal progress in school because of defective vision.

Joe Welmer, program chairman, stated that the fall series of programs is almost complete. Also, chairman of the club's annual benefit variety show, scheduled for early November, Welmer said that much of the talent has been secured.

Among many of the outstanding performers who have been booked by Welmer for past variety shows are Miss Diane Tauscher, recently named Miss Florida and a contestant for the title of Miss America; Miss Barbara Albright, pianist and Miss Phyllis Row, harpist. The latter two talented entertainers, secured by Welmer, were recently presented in an Orange City-DeBary library benefit performance.

W. O. Benson, science department head at Glenridge Junior High School, Winter Park and Lion W. R. Diggs, new Lyman School principal, were guests.

First vice-president Paul C. Altman conducted the meeting in the absence of president Tom Houston who, with William Diggle and immediate past president Robert (Snuffy) Scharpf have not yet returned from Chicago where they attended the Lions International Convention.

Harold Hamil Dies In Augusta Sunday

Harold L. Hamil, 44, died in the Veterans Hospital, Augusta, Ga. at 10:30 p. m. last night following a lengthy illness.

He was born Nov. 26, 1913, in Plattenville, La. He came to Sanford in 1922 with his parents. He attended Seminole High School and was employed at Touchton Drug Co. for a number of years until World War II, and is a member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hamil of Sanford, one sister, Mrs. J. H. Wilson, New Smyrna Beach; three brothers, Edwin T. Hamil Sr., Chuluota; C. W. Hamil, Sanford, and C. C. Hamil of Tampa; several nieces and nephews.

Remains will be brought to Sanford for funeral and interment. Arrangements will be announced later.

Brisson Funeral Home is in charge.

Dunn Enters County Commission Race

Vernon W. "Curly" Dunn, of Fern Park, announced today that he would be a candidate for the Board of Seminole County Commissioners, District 4, subject to the Democratic Primary of Sept. 8.

Dunn is a candidate for the seat on the county commission now occupied by B. C. Dodd.

The new candidate has been a resident of South St., Fern Park, since December 1953, having moved to Florida in January, 1953 from Clinton, N. C. where he resided after being placed on the Retired List of Naval Officers in 1949 after more than 30 years of continuous service.

For two years, prior to leaving Clinton, Dunn was manager of the Clinton Chamber of Commerce, a position from which he resigned to move to Florida to fulfill a dream of many years of a retired life of golfing and fishing.

The Duns have one son, William W. Dunn, U. S. Air Force, another career man stationed at Biggs Air Force Base, Tex. Dunn's Naval duties were that of Administration, Finance and Accounting Officer for the preparation of budgets and budgetary control of expenditures, procurement and accountability for equipment, supplies and other government property. He was Personnel Officer for both military and civil service.

The county commission candidate has a B.S. in accounting and business management. He was a faculty member of the Naval School of Hospital Administration, National Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Md. at the time of his retirement.

Dunn said "Being retired, having no other job, nor wanting one, I can devote full time to the duties of Commissioner and I believe that with my experience and background I can assist in the management of the county government."

He said he has a "manageable" budget with "manageable" programs, without waste—programs, with full justification for each dollar spent and each tax dollar collected on an as nearly equitable basis as possible. "And he added "And at the same time hold in check as far as consistent with good government, the county budget that has increased 100 per cent since fiscal year 1952."

In pointing to the growth of the county, Dunn said "With adequate roads, schools, and other public buildings as deemed necessary by competent authority, a fair and equitable tax structure, Seminole County will naturally continue in rapid growth and prosperity."

"No person, place, or thing stands still," Dunn said, "it is either progress or retrogress."

Navy Man Becomes Ensign Recently

Henry J. O'Connor, United States Navy, has been selected for promotion from aviation ordnanceman first class to commissioned officer with the rank of Ensign.

Ensign O'Connor enlisted in the Navy in Sept. of 1942. During World War II he served in the Central Pacific in the Marshall, Gilbert and Marianas Island campaigns. In 1946 he saw duty in the New York City Military Police. Later the same year he was assigned duty with the United Nations.

He has served in a flight crew status since the war with Patrol Squadron 23 and 48 and as an ordnance administrator with VAH-11 and FAS-81 at NAS Sanford. On July 2, while serving with Heavy Attack Squadron 11, he received his commission under Limited Duty Officer Integration Program, one of nine programs designed for enlisted men of outstanding ability and character for promotion to the officer ranks.

During his naval service Ensign O'Connor has received eleven Air Medals, the Good Conduct Medal with two stars, the World War II Victory Medal, a National Defense Medal, the Asiatic Pacific Medal with two stars, and the American Theatre Medal.

Ensign O'Connor lives in Sanford at 100 Laurel Drive with his wife, Claire, and their four children. He is a native of Torrington, Conn.

keeping abreast other progressive counties or less to them, falling behind with the laggard."

"My every official act will be measured by one rule, said Dunn "It must be according to legal requirement, it must be for the good of the county as a whole, and it must be progressive—without waste."

"I offer my services as a citizen of Seminole County, wishing to contribute whatever efforts I can in the capacity of Commissioner, and willing to pay my fair and equitable share of the cost of good county government," he said.

Subject to the Democratic Primary of Sept. 8 and on this basis I earnestly solicit the support of every progressive, forward-minded citizen of Seminole County who will afford such support—with no strings attached—for I shall work for the good of all, special favors or no one," said Dunn.

Pepper Steps Up Campaign In South Florida Today

TAMPA (UPI)—Former Sen. Claude Pepper moved his stepping political campaign from South Florida to Hillsborough County today. He will speak at rallies in Plant City and Tampa.

Meanwhile, his opponent in the September Democratic primaries, Sen. Spessard L. Holland, was scheduled to return to Miami from Washington before resuming his campaign, also in Tampa.

Pepper stoutly denied Sunday night that he favored socialized medicine and charged that he was being victimized by a group of doctors thinking of their pocketbooks and not of the public welfare.

The former senator was called on to clarify his stand on both socialized medicine and segregation during a television interview over WFTS-TV's "Important."

Holland was also asked to appear on the program, but station officials said the Bartow Democrat refused because of "a strong personal feeling" between Holland and station president G. T. Baker.

Pepper said, "I am not in favor of socialized medicine and never have been. When I was in the Senate I favored a national health insurance comparable to social security benefits."

Dr. W. C. McConnell, secretary of the Pinellas County Medical Society, attacked Pepper last week for supporting the Murray-Dingell-Wagner bill when Pepper was in the Senate.
