But such half measures won't be enough

The postal corporation plan, which envisions a Tennessee Valley Authority-like organization to run the Post Office on a self-supporting basis, has the backing of two postmaster generals - Lawrence O'Brien of the Johnson administration (he proposed the idea) and Winton M. Blount of the Nixon administration, It is strongly supported by Mr. Nixon, and polls have shown it is popular with the public. Just now, it appears the only realistic alternative to that complete collapse of the postal system Crane's Worry Clinic:

Technically, the postal corporation plan is still alive. The committee could still reverse itself, although this isn't regarded as likely Then, too, there's always next year. THE FAMILY LAWYER

Any man whose wife commits adultery has grounds for getting a divorce. Is he also entitled to custody of their children?

Not always. Most courts will look not only at the specific fact of adultery but also at the general family picture. Above all, they will consider what is best

Thus, in one custody dispute, the evidence showed that the wife had indeed been guilty of adultery. But it also showed that she had always been devoted to the children, took excellent care of them, and saw to it that they did well in school. Giving her custody of the children, the court commented:

"Although she may have been a bad wife, she (has also been) a good mother."

Furthermore, special needs of the children may strengthen the mother's side of the case, one mother won custody because the child was only two years old ("because of the tender age of the child, the law favors the mother").

Another mother won custody because the children were female ("the welfare of little girls ordinarily lies with their mother, and they should not be taken from her for any except the most cugent reasons").

And another mother won custody because the child was alling ("the child will continue to receive proper car and atten-

Nevertheless, even though adultery is not the only factor in deciding custody, it still weighs heavily indeed in the scales of justice. Again, the reason lies in seeking what is best for the children. As one judge said, in giving custody of a child

"Courts usually award custody to the innocent party not as punishment (to one parent) or reward (to the other), but upon the assumption that the child will be reared in more wholesome moral surroundings."

Five Centuries Of Christmas Timing Chronicled

- A portable sundial! Now you progress to the Sixteenth Century, A Yuletide gift might have been a clock if you before the pendulum was introduced, and you would have needed a sundial along with it to keep the clock reasonably on

The first watch was also ine vented in the Sixteenth Century. It was not exactly a watch as you know it today. Referred to as a Musk-Ball the watch of the 1500s was spherical in and shape, awkwardly large, and pierced to give off the scent of perfumed musk which was carried in the case. The noblemen and dandies of that era, who could afford watches, wore them on chains around their necks and apparently liked the idea of perfume. If Musk-Balls were still in vogue, you could prob-

62nd Year, No. 69

Two Midway residents, a 21-year-old man and a 16-year-old youth, are being held by Sanford police after a Thanksgiving Day robbery of Western Union office, 123 West First Street.

Thomas Deppen, city detective, said Curtis George Stuart, 21, of 2281 Sipes Avenue, and a juvenile were arrested yesterday afternoon on armed robbery charges after two men took an undetermined amount of money from Ida Fakess, telegraph operator.

The woman telephoned police minutes after the 10:30 a.m. robbery and reported she was held up by two men, one holding a pistol. Police located a taxi driver, who reportedly drove in men answereast of Sanford and out of the city. Detective Chief J. Q. Galloway, county investigator, assisted police in the investigation and later brought Stuart to the city jail, where he was identified by the telegraph operator as one of two robbers. The juvenile was later located with assistance of
