Davis Seeks Curb On Wars' Air Raiders

Requests Influence Of Red Cross Be Used To Stop Needless Civilian Slaughter

Commission Will Probe Bombings

4 Jap Warships Are Sunk As Drive On Hankow Continues

LONDON, June 20.—(AP)—Norman H. Davis, president of the American Red Cross, today called on the International Red Cross organization to use all its influence to curb "revolting and needless slaughter of helpless women and children" in air raids on unfortified cities.

Speaking before an international conference of the Red Cross, Davis said "something must be done to restore civilization to sanity." China, Japan and Spain were among the more than 50 nations represented.

The British government announced a commission of British, Swedish and Norwegian experts would leave for Spain soon to determine whether the aerial bombardments in the civil war have been directed at military objectives.

The announcement, made in the House of Commons by Richard Austen Butler, parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs, indicated the United States had invited an invitation to participate in the investigation.

TOKYO, June 20.—(AP)—Japan notified neutral powers today that the China war zone probably would be expanded considerably and warned them to take precautionary measures in a vast area extending some 700 miles inland from China's coast.

In China proper, Japanese air and land forces sought to smash the Yangtze River barrier to the drive on Hankow.

In Shanghai the Chinese reported officially four war vessels of the Japanese fleet in the Yangtze River were sunk above Anking in a raid by eight heavy bombers.

A statement issued in Hankow said the Chinese planes managed to outfight and outspeed 12 Japanese pursuit ships to carry out the attack.

It asserted the bombers carried out their raid in two units of four each, after a quick dash down the river, launching their explosives from 9000 feet.

Japanese earlier reported their forces drove steadily ahead with their Yangtze valley offensive against Hankow, provisional Chinese forces on page three.

Southern Amateur Golf Championship Won By Carl Dann

PONTE VEDRA BEACH, June 20.—(AP)—Carl Morris Dann, 34-year-old of Florida, won the southern amateur golf championship Saturday in decisive fashion over the 18-hole fairways of the Ponte Vedra Beach course.

Playing steadily from the start and seldom in any trouble on the 18th hole where pitfalls are many, the 34-year-old Dann registered an 8 to 7 victory over Jennings Gordon, tall veteran from Rome, Ga. Dann took the lead at the 14th hole and from then on the outcome never was in doubt.

The newly-revived southern championship is the first for the state since Ralph Woodson of St. Petersburg defeated Earl Gibson of Louisville at Atlanta in 1925 and '26.

"I'm tickled in death," Dann remarked as he walked away from the 18th green, where the match ended with both golfers celebrating.

"I wanted to win this tournament and felt this was my chance. I had tried three times before without success."

High Court Writ Halts Seizure Of Jax Stores

Order Temporarily Stops Dismantling For Past Due Taxes

TALLAHASSEE, June 20.—(AP)—The seizure of the twenty Whittier Cash Stores in Jacksonville for non-payment of the State's gross receipts tax was halted today by a Supreme Court writ.

The writ restrained Comptroller Lee and Sheriff Rex Swann from dismantling stores under warrant for about $50,000 in past due taxes and licenses. It holds up execution at least until next Friday to allow the court to test the Whittier claim that it is not liable for tax as a chain store.

Circuit Judge DeWitt I. Gray ruled the organization was legally a chain store but the store claims each unit is owned by its manager. The stores have been closed since Judge Gray's ruling.

2000 British Protest Bombings At Canton

LONDON, June 20.—(AP)—Two thousand persons marched on the Japanese embassy yesterday with a resolution protesting against the bombings of Canton, South China metropolis, and urging a British boycott of Japanese goods.

A large force of mounted police blocked the marchers near the embassy but allowed a small delegation to deliver the resolution.

Prof. J. E. S. Haldane earlier told a meeting of the China campaign committee at Trafalgar square that Germany and Japan were pooling information gained from raids in Spain and on Canton.

League Is Formed To Amend Labor Board

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—A group of New York business men disclosed yesterday they had applied for a certificate of incorporation as "The League to Amend the National Labor Relations Act, Inc."

Harris J. Klein, their lawyer, said passage of the act was followed by "careless legislation, disruption of various industries by labor strife and unity and bitterness."

H.B. Moss And Wife Victims In Gun Tragedy

Murder And Suicide Blamed For Death Of Local Couple; No Inquest Held

Mr. H. B. Moss shot and killed his wife and then killed himself yesterday morning at their home on the Orlando road about two and one-half miles from the city limit. Sheriff J. M. Hand declared it was plainly a case of murder and suicide.

Miss Lavine Glade, Mrs. Moss' aunt who was the only other person on the premises at the time of the shooting, said it occurred about 10:30 o'clock. Justice J. C. Roberts who arrived on the scene shortly after the fatal shooting declared there would be no need for an inquest.

Mrs. Moss' brother, Thomas H. Murray, revealed that his sister had been in ill health for some time, having suffered a nervous breakdown recently. He said when he learned of her condition he left his home in Lan-coston, Ga. about a week ago and came to Sanford where he could be near her.

Sheriff Hand asserted that the shooting was undoubtedly the result of Mrs. Moss' ill health. He pointed out, however, that he was investigating a report that she had sent a letter to relatives in Georgia regarding marital troubles.

Miss Glade, declared that about 10:30 yesterday morning Mrs. Moss asked her to burn some papers and trash in the garden and that while she was there she heard several shots and ran into the house where she saw the bodies lying on the living room floor. She summoned a doctor immediately.

Mr. Moss was shot twice in the back and Mrs. Moss shot herself twice through the mouth, according to a report from the Erickson Funeral home which took charge of the bodies. Sheriff Hand said that the gun used was a .38 caliber revolver and that all six shots had been fired.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss were both employed by the telephone company here. They had been married 20 years. Mr. Moss was 41 years old and Mrs. Moss was 30. They had no children and no other relatives here other than Miss Glade and Mr. Murray.

The bodies will be sent to relatives in Livingston, Ga. for burial. No services will be conducted here.

Fish Urges Strong Attitude Against Oil Expropriation

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Representative Fish, of New York, said in a statement yesterday that the Administration would be "aiding and abetting" the spread of communism in the Americas if it did not take a stronger policy toward Mexico's expropriation of American-owned oil properties.

Fish asserted that Mexican radicalism differed little from Russian communism and predicted that in Cuba and Mexico in Chile would be taken over by the governments of those countries unless the United States protected interests of American citizens in Mexico.

"I am unable to understand the weak and vacillating attitude of President Roosevelt in not demanding the restoration of American property or full indemnity for damages, which could be the only satisfactory settlement," he said. "If we continue to procrastinate, our citizens will probably lose everything, or obtain agrarian bonds as they have in the past, which are and will be utterly valueless."

Members of the club instructed the secretary to send H. H. Coleman, president who is in California to attend the Rotary International Convention, a telegram wishing him a pleasant journey.

H. B. Pope, who presided in the absence of President Coleman, announced that next Monday the installation of the new president, George Rollins, would take place. He said there would be no meeting on July 4.

Visiting Rotarians included Jake Jacobs of DeLand, J. D. Bowen of Jacksonville, Frank Snell of Titusville, and Harry H. Hughes of Louisville, Ky.

NEARLY 40 DIE AS TRAIN PLUNGES THROUGH BRIDGE

Nearly 40 persons perished and more than 50 others suffered injuries near Miles City, Mont., when six cars of the crack train "Olympian" pride of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, plunged through a flood-weakened trestle into rampaging Custer Creek. A general view of the scene is shown here. The air-conditioned train was en route from Chicago to Tacoma.

Nearly 40 Die As Passenger Train Wrecks

Olympian Plunges Into Creek Swollen By Cloudburst As Bridge Collapses

16 Bodies Taken From Wreckage

Rescuers Unable To Remove Victims In Submerged Sleeper

MILES CITY, June 20.—(AP)—Custer Creek where the Milwaukee Railroad's "Olympian" train crashed through a flood-weakened bridge, stranding nearly forty to their death, receded to only six inches depth today and crews began cutting apart tangled debris to reach one tourist sleeper where many bodies remained.

MILES CITY, Mont., June 20.—(AP)—Custer Creek, into which the Milwaukee Railroad's "Olympian" carried nearly 40 persons to their death in the nation's worst train tragedy in years, today receded to a depth of six inches, and rescuers began cutting apart tangled debris to reach one tourist sleeper where many bodies remained.

Heavy rain flowing into submerged four-car sleeper, in which 17 persons had booked space, forced rescuers to abandon attempts to raise it with cranes. Sixteen bodies, 11 of them identified, have been recovered from the wreckage. Another, that of unidentified woman, was taken from the Yellowstone River into which Custer Creek flows, about 30 miles from the scene of the tragedy.

Porters told of seeing five or six bodies carried away by the fast flood water, pulled down the creek channel.

The flood water, which carried out the last four bridge just before the 1:30 train arrived at the wreckage, continued to subside.

Forty-four persons remained in hospitals with injuries. Thirty-seven were treated and discharged. Forty-one others were unharmed.

The accident came without warning as the 11-car, air-conditioned train, en route from Chicago to Tacoma, sped through a cloudburst in the Custer Creek.

State Dismisses All Charges In Flogging Trial

Motion To Drop Case Against Six Defendants Is Approved

BARTOW, June 20.—(AP)—The State of Florida today dropped all charges against six former Tampa policemen and Aule Gilliam of Orlando who it had accused of kidnaping and flogging three political workers more than two years ago.

Judge John L. Moore approved the State's motion to dismiss the charges that the six defendants had kidnaped Joseph Shoemaker and Nap Rogers and another charge that Gilliam had kidnaped Eugene F. Boulton.

The five former policemen recently were acquitted on a charge of kidnaping Boulton.

All six and several others previously were acquitted of second degree murder in connection with Shoemaker's death following the flogging. The case has attracted national-wide attention in the past 2 1/2 years.

Ambassador Seeks Exchange For War Prisoners In Spain

ST. JEAN-DE-LUZ, France, June 20.—(AP)—The United States ambassador to Spain, Claude G. Bowers, announced yesterday he was awaiting a reply from Barcelona on a proposal for exchange of government and insurgent prisoners of war, including several Americans.

The ambassador, acting as mediator, indicated that insurgent General Franco had proposed the exchange. Bowers submitted the suggestion to the Barcelona government and has been informed that a reply, expected generally to be favorable, had been mailed.

The insurgents submitted a list of 22 government-held aviators whom Franco wanted set free. The insurgents were willing to free only 15 government fliers but it was understood Franco had offered the release of 14 American infantrymen to make up the difference.

New Development In Sound Reproduction Demonstrated

A new development in sound film technique which may be important in film development is the use of color, was displayed here yesterday before thousands of newspapermen, and Sanford residents at the Ritz Theatre by J. I. Marantette, local manager of Sparks Theatre.

A special screening showed the difference between a new sound track on a film and the old type sound track.

The new sound track was developed by RCA Victor and is called the "push-pull" or dual type of recording.

This was the third demonstration outside of Hollywood.

Those present agreed that the difference was distinctly noticeable. The film with the new sound track system gives depth and intensity and fullness of tone to the sound, while the old type sound track is dull, flat and lifeless.

With the sound reproduction systems now in use only one tone of an orchestra can be heard. Under the new system different instruments can be distinguished more clearly. From the highest notes of the violin to the lowest notes of the oboe and bass violin there is perfect, full tone reproduction.

C. L. Swinney of Sanford, district engineer for RCA-Victor, explained that the new development was made possible through the (Continued on Page Two)

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

COURAGE IS FORTIFIED BY FAITH: By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king; for he endured, as seeing him who is invisible.—Heb.
11:27.

It is becoming more and more apparent that you can't legislate success.

The sun may never set on the British Empire, but that doesn't mean that there aren't many a dark cloud over John Bull's far flung dependencies.

In case you don't know it, the Fashion Institute of America has recently announced that Jim Farley is the best dressed politician in America. This was before Jim lost his shirt in Pennsylvania.

During last July 10,200 persons were killed in accidents in America and each year the July casualty lists exceed all other months. Next month will be no exception unless the public wills it otherwise.

The lending-spending program to be used for action, and it won't be long before the effects of another shot in the arm will be felt. As long as the dope-and needle hold out everything will be rosy.

Senator Minton doesn't like the way the press of America is treating him. Neither does Hitler. Both of them receive the rights to vent their wrath wherever and whenever they wish, but neither of them can take it when the other side goes into action.

Harry Byrd of Virginia believes in economy. Recently he told the United States Senate:
"Let us not deceive ourselves.
All the people will pay this vast debt with accumulated interest, and all the people will carry, by direct taxation, this heavy national expenditure."

A. C. Fort's complaint against complex using the golf course at working ground, reminds us of the late Mayor Gray's contentious remarks about placing barricades across certain streets leading to social areas along the lake shore.
Mr. Gray asserted in all his austere dignity that he was opposed to such a plan because he had never seen anything in his life that would make "necking" unpopular.

One of the most encouraging signs against the possibility of a general war in Europe was the recent inauguration by Hitler of a ten-billion dollar beautification program of Berlin. Der Fuehrer, who carries around the fate of all Europe in his vest pocket, is not wasting money on prettifying his capital, if there is a grave danger of its being blown off the face of the earth during the first few days of a big war.

W. S. Knudsen, president of General Motors, laid down some pretty sage advice the other day to a class of young men taking a course at his factories. What he said would be a good creed for anyone. He told them "to believe in people who are working for you, to create a business that you yourself will be proud to be tolerant of the other party, and listen to his troubles so that you can get the whole picture, to get the other fellow talking you as much as you talk him, to build the sort of an organization that will last over years of business booms and de-pressions, to beware of over-expansion, that come before us on the feet, and to be prepared."

Build That Home

A full page advertisement in Saturday's Herald, carrying the messages of Sanford persons and firms interested in the construction of homes, should help encourage our citizens to investigate the possibilities of owning a home through means provided by the Federal Housing Administration.

The truism has been stated many times before that money spent for rent is just so much money thrown away, but many people who wanted to own homes, heretofore,
have been restrained by the heavy initial cost and high monthly payments. Now the government operates a system where low income residents can own their homes with payments less than rent.

It isn't necessary to go into the details regarding the requirements for securing government financing, except it might be said that to build a home costing $3000 a person must have an income of $1200 annually, must own a lot, and have $100 in cash, which in many cases can be included in the loan.

The important thing we wish to get across is that persons who have the idea in the back of their head to build a home should consult anyone of the number of advertisers in Saturday's Herald. They will give you the details, they will direct you, they will help you.

Hitler And The Kaiser

Whenever Hitler begins a new campaign of Jew-bailing, or purges the Nazi party, or boldly takes over a new piece of foreign territory, he is condemned on all sides as a murderer and terrorist, and some of the names he is called cannot be reproduced in print. Yet the feeling against Der Fuehrer today is mild compared with the deadly hatred the people of America felt for Germany's master—the Kaiser—during the World War.

An advertisement appearing in The Herald for June 17, 1918 for the Star Theatre is sufficient evidence that the people of Sanford felt just like the rest of America about Kaiser Wilhelm.

Taking up about two-thirds of a page, the advertisement showed a large sketch of the Kaiser in his war helmet with an up-turned villainous black mustache and cruelly gloaming eyes.

Beneath the sketch it says: "At The Star Theatre Monday, 'The Kaiser' The Beast' of Berlin—See the blood-thirsty mad dog of Europe. The man whose heart Satan would give the entire kingdom of Hell for. A man whose nasty, slimy brain caused the wholesale murder of entire nations. The man who made immorality, crime, murder, license, and rape the commandments of the hordes of baby-killers. The man who was refused a passport to H. I. The man that vermin and filth germs will refuse to eat when he is dead. A mongrel among hell-hounds. A man that Uncle Sammy will make hard to catch in a little while."

Clerk Unhappy Over
Population Decline
HUTCHINSON, Kas., June 20.—

India need fruit badly, she said, and American is getting on a

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—By JOHN HEX

ALMOST PERFECT RECORD...
Here is one case when a dog
bit a man—and it WAS news:
Jack D. Quinn of Beverly,
Washington, up to November, 1937, had never missed a day's work because of sickness during the entire 55 1/2 years he worked for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St.
Paul & Pacific Railroad.

Quinn prided himself on this record. He laid plans for his retirement on December 1—a retirement which was to be doubly honorable because of his splendid attendance record.

Then, as fate would have it,
on November 30 he was confronted with a dog—a vicious dog.
It bit him. Sad as it seems, Quinn spent that last day in the hospital instead of at work!

CANARY TWINS...
Just like two peas in a pod are "Bing" and "Nelson," twin canaries owned by William H.
Hiney of Los Angeles. Strange as it seems, both birds were hatched from a single egg!

Both are males, yellow with the conspicuous top knot inherited from the mother, a yellow warbler top knot. Since hatching last July they have grown up with amazingly similar idiosyncrasies.

"Nelson," however, has the song of his father, a Hartz Mountain roller, while "Bing" sings the song of a warbler. Strange as it seems, the only outward difference in appearance is in the birds' wings: "Bing" left wing has dark feathers, while

"Nelson's" right wing has dark.
Hiney has refused offers as high as $1,000.00 for the pair.

3-IN-1 CHAMPION...
Charlie Mitchell won the heavyweight glove title of England in a competition in 1883
and retained it until his retirement in 1894, successfully defending it against John L. Sullivan in March, 1888, at Chantilly, France. Mitchell also held the lightweight and middleweight title of England.

bator!

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON—To outward appearances Congress snuffs out like a candle at adjournment time, but underneath the surface it simmers and bubbles.
With few exceptions the House members close their offices and head for home, particularly in election years such as the present when the enemy is busily
gnawing at election districts.
House members seldom have more than two clerks and these have to return with their boss to the office over the First National Bank of Peoples Corners from which the Representative will operate his campaign.

A far larger number of senatorial offices are open during the summer because each senator may have four and sometimes more secretaries and clerks. So one may be left behind to answer the telephone and send the Senator the pipe
he left in the upper left hand drawer of his desk—or was it over the fireplace?

A person would think that with so much business at hand at closing time Congress would leave a mass of tag-ends to be wound up, but that is not so.
All bills passed must be typed on heavy legal paper and signed by the presiding officers of House and Senate before adjournment so they can go to the White House.

Weeks before adjournment,
the brain clerks of each house must estimate which bills are likely to pass so they can be engaged for hasty signatures.

But the business of special committees goes on and on to make trouble, progress and headlines during the summer and fall. A joint committee of members of both houses is investigating TVA. Doubtless a few or perhaps all of them will take a trip over the project while a staff of investigators is making about for bad spots in the first fruit of the planned economy.

Each chamber has a committee to investigate the maritime situation, which will doubtless call for jaunts to both seaboards to look at the blank spaces on the ocean where one would have busy ships but don't see more.

It is estimated that China supplies 75 percent of the world's commercial supply of hog bristles, for which the largest demand is from the United States, where they are used in the manufacture of brushes.

The estimated weight of the earth is 5,972,196,866,210,000 tons.

Lookouts Split Double - Header With Leesburg Outfit

Gons Win Opener 8 To 3; Locals Cop Second 4 To 0

Dutch Schneider Allows Gondoliers Only Two Hits To Blank Visitors In Second Game Yesterday

The Lookouts and the Leesburg Gondoliers divided a twin bill here yesterday afternoon when Manager Nellie Leach's forces captured the opening affair by a score of 8 to 3 and Manager "Raw Meat" Rodgers' blanked the Gons in the second by a score of 4 to 0.

Between 800 and 900 fans crowded the Sanford Municipal Athletic Field to see the Lookouts grab a one-run lead over the visitors in the first inning off Jim Mahafey, Gondolier hurler, who formerly pitched with Sanford and also Orlando. The Lookouts played excellent baseball behind Big Chief Cook for the first six innings but Leesburg knitted the score in the fifth frame and in the sixth stanza secured three runs off five hits and one error.

The Lookouts came back in their half of the sixth when Mahafey walked Brown and Pittman in order and Eddie Davis slammed a double to left-center field to score Brown. Manager Leach sent Jake Bunch to the hill for the Gons to relieve Mahafey and he retired Langston, Mihalic and Joe Duhanus in order.

The visitors gathered another pair in the seventh stanza and a pair again in the eighth to cinch the contest. The Lookouts started a rally in the ninth when Deramus singled to left field and went to second when Contreras singled. Cook fled out to right field and Ruggiero fled out to center but Deramus singled to left to score Duhanus. However, Pittman fled out to Onis to end the first encounter.

In the second contest, Manager Rodgers sent the latest addition to the Lookout hurling corp to the mound, and Dutch Schneider, who was nipped for only two hits during the seven-inning contest Schneider made a hit with the local fans in his debut. He had seven of the Gondoliers going down via the strikeout route while walking two.

Schneider forced the game to go his way and at no instance during the contest was he in the slightest out of trouble.

The Lookouts scored in the fourth when Brown tripled to center field and scored on an error on Pittman's grounder down to third. Pittman took second on the same play and scored when Langston singled to right field.

The Lookouts added the necessary margin to their score in the fifth when Schneider walked and went to second as Ruggiero singled to right field. Brown was safe on a fielder's choice forcing Ruggiero at second and Pittman tripled to right field to

Chapter Twelve

"Home," she wept and turned herself to be carried in his arms out of the room.

At the great barrier manhood the servants lined up in the hall. George, carrying Froufrou in his arms, addressed the butler, "Take Madama's room put in order. She's come home."

Froufrou smiled weakly. "Yes, Gabriel, I've come home. At home, she came home. At home, she came home."

"You're mighty glad, Missy," answered happily. "You was long enough. Don't you go no more Missy."

She smiled her thanks. A dash chimed. She listened a half a minute. "That's my pretty clock," she said. "Take me to my sitting room first."

"Yes, George," exclaimed Louise. "Take her in there where she wants until her own room is ready."

He nodded and made his way up the stairs, reaching the little sitting room. Pick ran ahead, arranging the cushions on the sofa. Louise, leaning lightly to George's hand, followed.

"Yes, put me down," Froufrou sighed as she continued her passage on the sofa. "Your arms must be tired—strong as they are."

"All right, cover, Missy," cried happily.

Froufrou looked about her. "What a beautiful room! What a friendly room! My, how good it is to be here, in my own room again!"

George took Louise's hand and said, "Happy I am. How glad you are! What a pity even Saint Catherine can't make me well! I'd be so glad to surprise her!"

Louise trembled the tears that started at this fair evidence of the gay and mischievous Froufrou. She once had adored her! She had adored her! She had adored her!

"The danger's all past," George added reassuringly.

Froufrou smiled. "Yes, the danger's all past. The doctor says I'm hurt again."

Louise fell to her knees before the sofa, crying, "Oh, my own darling, my dearest. Don't talk like that!"

Froufrou looked up at her hand. "George!" Her voice had grown suddenly clear and strong. "What's the matter?"

"Hello," he answered.

"Hello," she smiled.

"How, how?" he shouted.

"How?" she answered, remembering instantly the game they had always played together.

A bell rang somewhere from outside. Pick ran from the room, a great sob bursting from her as she went. She rushed down the stairs to the street and opened the door. George stood there irresolutely. With a glad cry, Pick motioned him into and led the way back to Froufrou's room. She opened the door and the whole sorry picture crossed his eyes.

He saw the bare room; the nurse standing, waiting; their roomies in their hands; the doctor measuring out more brandy into water; Louise in the shadows, watching. And Froufrou, her eyes closed, her cheeks covered with tears, making no sound as she held one of George's hands in both of hers while the child patted her face with the other.

"Froufrou," he called softly as he came.

She opened her eyes with a start. "George! Oh, George! You did come! You did come!"

He nodded, unable to trust himself to speak. "To take you home," he whispered.
