Amtrak Auto-Ferry Will Start In '83

Sanford May Become Florida Terminal

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

An auto-train service from Virginia to Sanford may be back on track before the end of this year. The nine-member Amtrak board unanimously approved a resolution Wednesday in Washington, D.C., authorizing the federally-subsidized rail system to begin an auto-ferry service between Washington and Florida.

The service is expected to be underway later this year.

The service will cost $4.4 million to inaugurate and is expected to carry an estimated 140,000 passengers the first year.

The Amtrak board is expected to favor a service that would originate in Lorton, Va., and end in Sanford. This is the route of the now-defunct Auto-Train Corp. before it went bankrupt 20 months ago.

Now in receivership, Auto-Train holds a long-term lease on the Sanford station and is negotiating with Amtrak officials for use of the terminal.

"They are looking at several possible routes and a decision will be made down the road," said Diane Elliott, director of Amtrak corporate communications in the East.

"Needless to say, Sanford has a lot going for it," she added.

Criteria and procedures will now be set up for making the route and service decision, she said. The first step will be to solicit public comment over a 60-day period.

An analysis and summary of the public commentary will then be made to the board, possibly as early as April, Ms. Elliott said.

At some point the board will have to act to approve capital expenditures to upgrade facilities and the tracks, she said.

Amtrak's decision was good news to local residents and businessmen who were hoping the auto-ferry service would be coming back to Sanford and giving the local economy a boost.

The Auto-Train service ran between Lorton and Sanford with a similar service for 10 years before closing May 1, 1981.

Molly Bush, of Sanford an en route hostess for Auto-Train for four years before it closed down, thinks the idea of the service coming back to Sanford is "fantastic."

"I always thought it would come back and now is the perfect time with EPCOT and everything," she said. "Sanford's proximity to EPCOT and the whole Orlando area and its tourist attractions makes it an ideal location for the terminal," Miss Bush said.

"Since we already have a terminal and facilities, this is the best possible choice."

"We have a lot of people trained if Amtrak decides to hire former Auto-Train employees we're here," said Miss Bush, who is still looking for a job.

"It was a great job, for the vacationers and retirees who used the Auto-Train. It was one big party," Miss Bush continued. "For 17 hours we had fun and they had fun. People that love trains and older folks depended on Auto-Train to get their cars back and forth and when it closed, they asked us:

MOLLY BUSH
"...one big party" when old auto-train service was running

"What are we going to do now?" she said.

"We're delighted with the Amtrak decision," said Jack Horner, president of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. "Some 400 jobs were lost when Auto-Train closed down and we have the facilities here."

Horner said with the new overpass on West First Street now under construction, the return of auto ferry service would not cause a problem for motorists when the train was on the crossing.

"I'm very pleased," said Fred Salgado, Holiday Inn manager and president of the Downtown Business Association. "We didn't realize just how many passengers were coming into Sanford from Auto-Train until it closed."

Public comment regarding Amtrak's auto ferry and possible routes may be made to Amtrak Corporate Communications, 400 N. Capitol St., N.W., Washington, D.C., 20001.

Hundreds Quick To Get Milk, Cheese, Butter

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The rainy weather didn't deter dozens of the poor and elderly persons from standing in line around the Seminole Community Action headquarters on Pine Street this morning waiting to get their allotment of food commodities made available by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The allotment per family of one through six persons is one five-pound block of cheese, two four-pound containers of dry milk and two one-pound blocks of butter.

The food is available to senior citizens, 60 years old and older, with no further eligibility requirements and to poor persons. The federal requirements allow distribution of the foods to families with a gross income of $617 or a net income of $475 monthly and the unemployed.

The line started forming today before 8 a.m., even though the food distribution wasn't slated to begin until 9. Eligibility certification by SCA workers began early.

Each family, after executing an oath certifying their income or age with workers on the second floor of the SCA office, took a ticket of eligibility to the first floor where the Rev. Amos Jones, executive director, distributed the food.

Distribution is scheduled to continue Friday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Jones estimated some 3,000 families will receive food in the two-day distribution effort which he hopes will become a monthly activity at the SCA office. Food also is being distributed at the SCA Outreach office on Leonard Street in Altamonte Springs and by Ovidio Citizens in Action, an SCA affiliate in Oviedo, Jones said.

SCA distributed blocks of cheese in November and December.

husband is hospitalized, was among those waiting in line for the food. She said she received a five-pound block of cheese in December.

"Oh, it was good," she said.

Mrs. Mary Scurry of 1504 W. 12th St. in Sanford waited in line even though she was on crutches. She said the food would help her and her husband out. She got cheese in December and said the quality of the product was excellent.

Mrs. Henrietta Gadsden of 2401 Jitway Ave. in Sanford waited for an SCA worker to come to the foot of the steps to help her. "There are just the two of us," she said, noting because of a heart problem she couldn't walk up the steps.

Suzie Culver of 1406 W. 11th St. was getting the commodities for the first time. Florence Kears of 1945 Airport Blvd. said there are three in her family and the food is needed.

Printed on the back of the containers of dry milk were recipes and suggestions of how the dairy product could be used. It told how the milk can be turned into buttermilk and listed recipes on using it for cream sauces as well as how to reconstitute it for drinking purposes.

William Cox of Mullet Lake Park, was the first to go through the qualifying procedure for his commodities. He accepted the food, with a broad smile.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gathers of 1017 W. 12th St. picked up food for herself, her mother who is ill, and her daughter.

Placing the commodities for the three families in a large box, Jones carried them to her waiting car for her.

Jones said many of those in line represented the new poor, those unemployed and out of work and retired elderly. "These are people who have not stood in line before to receive assistance."

"We haven't been able to do this on a monthly basis," he said, noting he has ordered the commodities from the Jacksonville food distribution center. But food of more than one type has not come in before this shipment.

Jones said, however, that Orange County has been ordering two truckloads monthly, which is too much, and he has arranged to get Orange County's surplus plus what SCA is allocated in the future.

Pitman's Public Service Deeds To Be Set Soon

By VICTOR ASSERSOHN
Herald Staff Writer

Beauty queen Deanna Pitman, the reigning Miss Florida, should know in the next few weeks whether 40 hours of public appearances will be counted as community service, wiping the slate clean.

Pitman, 22, was sentenced to 40 hours of community service after pleading guilty in August to careless driving, driving without a valid drivers' license and improper display of a tag.

A charge of driving under the influence of alcohol was dismissed.

Among the public appearances to be submitted to be approved to Seminole County Court Judge Alan A. Dickey by her attorney, Jack Bridges, will definitely not be the six-hour party she attended at her boyfriend's estate. The party was given by Kenneth Kirchman as a benefit for the Florida Symphony Orchestra.

The request by Pitman for the party to be considered by the court was objected to by Assistant State Attorney Alan Robinson, who said he felt she would have been at the party anyway as it was held at her boyfriend's house.

"My client felt that it was community service but I am not saying it was or it was not. The 40 hours did include the party at the Kirchman estate. In my last letter to the court we said we would exclude that one as the prosecution didn't feel it was appropriate and since Miss Pitman does so much community service it is easy for her to pick up four or six hours," Bridges said.

"We have documented 34 hours and I have written to Miss Pitman and asked her to update me. There has been no hearing as to whether these will be accepted. I will be filing a motion in the next 30 days for these hours to be approved. If they are not approved, then we will present more than 40 hours," said Bridges.

Describing his client's case as unique

DEANNA PITMAN

Bridges said she had been sentenced to 40 hours community service under a Florida statute which allowed this and not another which gives DUI offenders 50 hours of community service. This is administered by the Department of Corrections and the Central Florida Road Safety Council, which makes sure the community service is carried out.

Pitman had not been sentenced for DUI but the minor traffic offense of careless driving, Bridges noted.

"In Miss Pitman's case, she was not under the supervision of the Department of Corrections or the Central Florida Road Safety Council. Community service has not been defined. The Legislature has simply said 'You will perform community service'. It is very vague. Courts do not sit as probationary-type offices to see that particular sentences are carried out. To me community service means performing some type of citizen or fraternal service and this can cover the whole spectrum of human services," said Bridges.

Casselberry Man Killed In Wreck

By VICTOR ASSERSOHN
Herald Staff Writer

A Casselberry man died and his passenger was seriously injured when the car he was driving rammed a street sweeper on Interstate 4 at the Lake Monroe Bridge near Sanford Wednesday night.

The driver of the 1982 AMC, Enrique Desmoines, 33, died at the scene of the wreck. He was hurled through the windshield into the back of the street sweeper. Police said the street sweeper was going about 15 mph in the same westerly direction as the car.

A Florida Highway Patrol spokesman said a passenger, Yolanda Ramirez, 43, of Maitland was taken to Central Florida Regional Hospital and was listed in serious condition by a Central Florida Regional Hospital spokesman today.

Neither of the two people in the street sweeper, which had its lights flashing, was badly injured. They were the driver,

James L. Todd, 42, of Folkston, Ga., and Morris Falgan, 32, of Hilliard.

The accident is being investigated by FHP trooper Walter Wolfe.

It is the second fatal accident in Seminole County this year. Both accidents were on Interstate 4.

The man killed on Interstate 4 on Jan. 10 when a pickup truck collided with a tractor/trailer near Longwood has still not been identified. The driver and another passenger in the pickup were injured in the accident which happened as they were on their way to Daytona Beach.

The unidentified man has been listed by FHP as a "John Doe" and his fingerprints have been sent to the FBI for identification. His body has been released to the Wilson-Eichelberger mortuary in Sanford and he is expected to be buried in a pauper's grave unless he can be identified.

Reagan Only Dreaming Of A Balanced Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On the eve of his second anniversary in office, President Reagan conceded the balanced budget he promised as a candidate is now just a "personal dream."

Reagan, who reached the midpoint of his first term today, was said by an aide to be "upbeat" about the next two years, but still battling perceptions the ambitious goals he set out two years ago remain far from his grasp.

White House aides said Reagan will address current economic problems in his State of the Union message to Congress next week, including the unveiling of a program to attack "structural unemployment."

Fatal Mine Probe Begun

WHITWELL, Tenn. (UPI) — Mining company officials refused to discuss a cave-in that killed one man and injured four and the collapsed mine — located on a mountain where safety violations led to 13 deaths in an explosion a year ago — was closed for inspection today.

Police said Larry M. Layne, 23, the father of two children, was buried in an avalanche of rocks Wednesday at Dogwood Flats Mountain when the roof of the mine shaft caved in. Two others were hurt in an effort to rescue him, police said.

The rock fall happened at about 1:30 p.m. Rescue teams removed the rocks and rubble that crushed Layne and recovered his body four hours later.

A House Divided...

CENTRAL CITY, Ky. (UPI) — Virgil Everhart didn't care for a judge's order that he sell his home as part of a divorce settlement and split the money with his wife. He decided to split the house instead — with a chainsaw.

Everhart, whose wife of 14 years recently moved out of the western Kentucky home with the couple's two children, began carving up the 30-by-35-foot house early Monday. He expects to complete the job by week's end.

"She can have upstairs and I'll take the basement," he said.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Snow and temperatures down to 20 below zero turned highways into ice rinks, plunged thousands into darkness and killed four people from California to the Northeast. At least 4,600 homeless people — the most in 40 years — crammed New York City shelters today to keep warm. A new wave of snow hit the West, bustling through northern Arizona, Nevada, Utah and Idaho and dumping up to 4 inches of snow. Up to a foot of snow was expected during the night in the southern mountains of Utah and Colorado. A combination of freezing rain, sleet and about 1 inch of snow blanketed the central states, dangerously thick fog plagued the South and bitter cold froze the Northeast. In New York City, about 4,600 homeless people crowded into shelters to seek refuge from frigid temperatures, the highest number the city has housed since the Great Depression, officials said. The latest assault by winter glazed roads from California to Ohio with a coat of ice and snow Wednesday. High temperatures barely made it above zero in portions of Maine and Vermont. Frigid air extended down the East Coast into South Carolina where overnight lows were expected to dip into the teens. Upper New York state shivered in 20 below zero weather and 8,600 people were plunged into darkness at North Creek, N.Y., when temperatures dropped to minus 15 and snapped power lines. Saul Ste. Marie, Mich., tied a record from 1897 for cold when the mercury fell to minus 18. Western Kansas was blanketed by up to 4 inches of snow that delayed school openings and turned highways into ice rinks. Residents of northeast Mississippi and northern Alabama were on the alert for winter storms as freezing rain mixed with snow churned over the area from a storm moving off the coast of Louisiana. Highways coated with a sheet of ice were blamed for three traffic fatalities — two in Oklahoma and one in Arkansas.

Double Punishment Permitted For Criminals Who Use Guns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A double dose of punishment for the same crime can be legal, the Supreme Court ruled, in upholding a Missouri law doling out extra prison terms to criminals who use guns.

Despite the Constitution's "double jeopardy" ban against prosecuting someone twice for the same crime, the justices ruled, 7-2, Wednesday double punishment is not forbidden if clearly authorized by state law.

The ruling could set an example for other states desiring stiffer penalties for crimes involving firearms.

Under Missouri's dangerous weapons law, a lawbreaker is given an additional prison sentence if he used a gun or other weapon to commit a felony.

Overturning Missouri court rulings that declared the law unconstitutional, Chief Justice Warren Burger wrote, multiple punishments can be handed out in a single trial "where, as here, a legislature specifically authorizes cumulative punishment under two statutes."

Justices Thurgood Marshall and John Paul Stevens dissented, questioning why double punishment for the same crime should be permitted when double prosecution is outlawed under the Constitution.

Without restrictions on a legislature's power to impose multiple punishments, Marshall wrote, "there would be no limit to the number of convictions a state could obtain on the basis of the same act, state of mind and result."

In Missouri, Attorney General John Ashcroft praised the ruling.

"This decision confirms a view I have held throughout this lengthy legal battle that the Missouri General Assembly may determine how many crimes a defendant may be convicted of at one trial," Ashcroft said.

At least three states — Delaware, Michigan and Maryland — already have similar laws that have been upheld as constitutional by their state courts.

In the case before the justices, Danny Hunter was sentenced to 10 years for the armed robbery of a Kansas City, Mo., supermarket. He also was given an extra 15-year, concurrent sentence for using a gun.

The Missouri courts affirmed his robbery conviction but overturned the firearms conviction as unconstitutional, even after being told by the justices in 1981 to reconsider their stand on the issue.

Ashcroft had accused the state's top court of being "recalcitrant" and of creating "tremendous consternation in the Missouri criminal justice system" by its string of rulings throwing out firearms convictions.

Rapists Strike Twice In Seminole County

A man in a ski mask raped a woman in Longwood Wednesday night, and a few hours later another woman was raped and robbed of $200 after being dragged into a truck.

The first rape occurred at the Longwood home of a 51-year-old woman who awoke about 9:35 p.m. when she heard a noise and was grabbed from behind by a man wearing a ski mask, according to a Seminole County sheriff's report.

The man placed his hand over her mouth and as she struggled with him in the hallway, she was thrown to the ground and raped, the reports said.

The second rape involved a 23-year-old Altamonte Springs woman who was standing by her vehicle at about 4:30 a.m. today. The car was parked at the Days Lodge, Douglas Road, Altamonte Springs. A sheriff's spokesman said that a small white pickup truck approached and a man with black curly hair grabbed her by the hair and pulled her through the driver's window of the truck.

The attacker held a knife to her throat and ordered her to lie down, a sheriff's report said. She was driven about three miles to Miami Springs Boulevard, Wekiva Marina, and raped, the report said.

The victim told police she was then ordered out of the vehicle and her purse containing $200 taken.

TREE BRANCH BANDIT

A 64-year-old Sanford man was beaten with a tree branch and robbed of $200 as he walked from his car to his home Wednesday night.

The attack occurred about 7:30 p.m. after Leo Morgan Bozman had parked his car outside his home on W. Third Street.

Sanford Police reports say that a man carrying a thick 14-inch tree branch, hit Bozman "several times in the face and about the head while taking his wallet containing $200 from his back pocket."

Bozman, who had just withdrawn the money from a bank, reported the incident to police and took along the tree branch which his attacker had used. Rescue services were called and

BASKETBALL POST DAMAGED

About $250 damage was done to a basketball goal post which was pushed over in the park at Cori Drew Avenue and Sterling Avenue between 3 p.m. last Friday and 2 p.m. Tuesday. The post is owned by the city of Sanford.

CANNABIS CULTIVATOR ARRESTED

When John Hees was seen watering his plants, police officers checked up on Hees' horticultural efforts, which landed him in jail. Police said they discovered that the three pots Hees was diligently watering contained about 30 small cannabis plants. Hees, of 4220 S. Orlando Drive in Sanford, was charged with cultivation of a controlled substance. He was being held on $5,000 bond in Seminole County Jail.

MAN PUNCHED

Curtis Robinson, 21, didn't think he was getting his money's worth at the House of Babes on U.S. Highway 17-92 so he left. But while sitting in his car in the parking lot talking to two men, a third man came up from behind and hit him several times in the face. Robinson, of Lori Ann Lane in Winter Springs, suffered a cut lip and his unknown attacker also kicked his vehicle leaving two large dents.

The following person was arrested and charged with driving under the influence (DUI) of alcohol or drugs in Seminole County:

GNP Plummet; Officials See Recovery By March

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The economy nosedived into a deeper slump at the end of last year but the administration sees a recovery by March rising from the wreckage.

The Commerce Department's report on the gross national product Wednesday showed the American economy exceeded the $1 trillion level for the first time last year.

But if the effect of inflation is taken into account, the economy was 1.8 percent smaller in 1982 than it was in 1981. And from October through December the GNP was heading down at an even sharper 2.5 percent rate, the Commerce Department said.

The annual rate of change was the worst since the economy decelerated after World War II. But many economists said the current recession actually has been more damaging than the comparison would suggest.

Bankruptcies, factory cutbacks and unemployment have soared to their worst since the end of the Depression, they say.

Both the stock and bond markets faltered Wednesday as analysts blamed the continuing concern about enormous federal deficits in the future and the unconvincing pace of overall economic recuperation.

Six former Cabinet secretaries of both parties proposed 175 billion in spending cuts and tax increases for 1983, warning otherwise the ballooning deficit would bring "economic stagnation with no end in sight."

The Dow Jones industrial average Wednesday fell 11.6 points on top of Tuesday's 5 point drop to close at 1,068.06.

Having signed off on the 1983 deficit forecast, which has not yet been officially announced, and 1984 budget proposals the president will send to Congress, Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige was brimming with optimism he said was generated by cross currents within the GNP report.

Speaking to reporters on Capitol Hill, then in a news conference Baldrige said, "The recovery is beginning this quarter and while it is likely to be moderate it will occur without higher inflation."

Baldrige and economists in and out of the administration said the way businesses sold off their inventories late last year set the stage for some rebuilding of stocks early this year — but only if consumers keep increasing their purchases.

Baldrige said the recent lower interest rates were the reason spending would continue to climb and the prediction of recovery he has offered several times before would finally come true.

Baldrige said the damage done by the recession was "very close to the average" for seven previous recessions but conceded there were important differences.

"It hasn't been as much equally allocated across the board," he said. "We have some industries, like some of our basic industries, our automobile industries, that have been hurt worse than average."

Prison Back To Normal After Inmate Revolt

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) — Authorities say charges may be filed against inmates who instigated a brief revolt that left four guards injured at the Tomoka Correctional Institution.

Inmates settled back into the routine by returning quietly to their prison jobs Wednesday morning, said Doug Romine, acting superintendent of the state prison. "We're back to normal," said Romine. "Cool heads prevailed."

The disturbance began when an inmate set fire to his mattress in the confinement wing of the facility, Romine said. The blaze led to the evacuation of the 32 prisoners in the wing.

Several inmates assaulted guards during the incident, which was squelched in a matter of minutes, said Romine.

The four guards were treated for cuts and bruises. No prisoners were hurt, but two — Glenn Patterson and William Bacallal — were transferred to other facilities in the state prison system as disciplinary measures, said Romine.

He said arson and assault charges were pending against the inmates.

Romine said the 800 inmates at the prison were held for several hours in their dormitories following Tuesday afternoon's incident. But dinner was served on schedule and the prisoners were allowed into the recreational yard "as usual."

New Tax Forms Could Make Filing Easier This Year

(First in a Series)

If you think there were a lot of changes in the tax laws recently, wait until you see the tax forms! At least 51 forms have been redesigned in some way this year, and one completely new form has been added by the IRS.

Major redesigns have been made on the 1040A "short form," as well as the forms for reporting itemized deductions, interest and dividend income and for income averaging. All the changes seem to be for the better, but be aware of them so you get all the tax breaks you have coming.

For instance, the brand new form, printed on green paper, is an alternative to the 1040 and 1040A. It will make tax time very easy if you are a single taxpayer with no deductions. This new form, called the 1040EZ, is a one-page return that requires single filers to answer just 11 basic questions.

All you have to do to complete the 1040EZ is write in your name and address, answer the few questions, sign it and enclose your W-2 forms. You can still claim any refund you are due or pay any taxes you owe.

To make matters even easier, the 1040EZ has the $1,000 personal exemption line already filled in for you. This figure is subtracted from the total of wages and interest income, to determine your taxable income.

Use the 1040EZ only if you are single, your taxable income is under $50,000, you have no dividend income and your interest income is $400 or less (excluding interest from all-saver certificates). It is not designed for someone who can claim any deductions or exemptions for being blind or over 65.

The IRS estimates 20 million persons may be eligible to use the new 1040EZ. The simplicity of the 1040EZ form is expected to improve taxpayer compliance to tax laws and deadlines. The IRS also has modified the "short form" 1040A so that it has a "cleaner" look than in the past, and is arranged in a step-by-step format for easy completion.

This new format should help prevent a common mistake made last year when many people forgot to subtract the dollar amount for their allowable exemptions. This resulted in the IRS either making adjustments or sending the return back to the taxpayer for correction.

If you itemize your deductions, be warned that the IRS seems to be keeping a closer eye on deductions for casualty and theft losses. If you claim such deductions you must now attach tax Form 4684 (Casualties and Thefts) detailing your losses. In the past Form 4684 was necessary only if your net loss was $1,000 or more, or if you had more than one loss, a gain from a casualty or theft, or if the loss involved income-producing property.

As a result of tax legislation passed in 1982, yet another change is in store for the casualty and theft loss deduction. Beginning with the 1983 tax year you will only be able to deduct those losses that exceed 10 percent of your AGI, after the standard $100 exclusion per loss.

If you have any educational expenses relating to your employment, you can deduct your costs in the "miscellaneous" deductions section of the "Schedule A" Form for itemized deductions. But to verify the educational expense deduction you should also complete Part III of Form 2106 (Employee Business Expenses). This requirement has not changed from past years.

Take note that Form 2106 is simplified this year. You briefly list the courses you took, and how they related to your job. You also indicate if the education was needed to meet basic job requirements or if it would qualify you for a new job. If your answer is yes to either question, do not put in for the deduction.

Study: Many Civil Suits More Trouble Than They're Worth

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — A Rand Corp. study shows many civil cases that go to trial in the nation's clogged court systems cost taxpayers more money than is at stake for the parties involved in the suits.

Chief Justice Warren Burger received a draft of the think tank's study several months ago and has used it to justify, in part, his proposal for arbitration as an alternative to the civil court system, an author of the Rand report said.

"If this is correct," Burger wrote after reviewing the draft, "we need to ask whether it is wise to continue using taxpayers money in this manner."

The report, working from a fiscal year 1980 estimate of 661,000 tort cases filed in state courts and 32,315 in U.S. District Court, estimated it cost the nation $320 million in public funds to process the workload.

That adds up to state court costs of $279 to $536 per tort case filed, based on data from California, Florida and Washington courts systems, the report says.

For U.S. district Court the average cost was $1,740 — more than three times that of the highest state figure.

The researchers defined a tort case as one involving civil wrong or injury, other than breach of contract, for which the court will award damages.

"In a Rand study last year we found that half the tort cases that go to a jury have no award at all and the median was only about $8,000," said Dr. James Kakalik, who prepared the study with Abby Robyn.

"You can easily see," Kakalik said in an interview, "why it's costing the government more than the litigants receive in many of these cases. While the more sensational cases — only 2 percent — have million dollar awards, the median is only $8,000."

The report found that while only 2.6 to 8.1 percent of the cases reached jury trial, they accounted for about half of total government expenditures for processing all tort cases.

The lowest percentage of cases going to trial was in Los Angeles County; for which statistics were compiled separately from the remainder of California. The highest percentage was in Florida's Circuit Court, involving negligence cases other than those involving automobiles.

The average cost per jury trial ranged from $2,790 in Florida to $7,984 in California courts other than those in Los Angeles County, where the cost was $8,649.

In federal courts, the jury trial costs ranged from $8,422 to $15,028, depending on the type of case.

Kakalik said the chief justice received a draft of the report, prepared by Rand's Institute for Civil Justice, last summer and was briefed on its findings by Gus Shubert and Steve Carroll, the director and associate director of Rand.

Burger cited the study in an August 1982 article titled "Arbitration, Not Litigation," which appeared in Nation's Business.

Falklands Fight A Morale Booster

Margaret Thatcher's visit to the Falklands was a delightful surprise to the island settlers, an affront to Argentina and an event which has aroused the ire of the opposition Labor Party in London.

The British prime minister landed unannounced in the Falklands recently after a long flight to the South Atlantic. She met with the people there and toured the battlegrounds and graveyards that give mute testimony to the 74-day war with Argentine forces last year.

Labor Party leaders in London called her trip imperialistic and an act that makes a long-term solution with Argentina more difficult. They accused her of playing "the Falklands card" for political gain in what seems certain to be an election year.

On the other hand, Britain's conservative newspapers said such things as, "Without this woman, the Falklanders would not be free," and "The prime minister has an unerring instinct for doing what the people feel is right."

In Buenos Aires, Argentine leaders called the trip "a new act of provocation." In Moscow, Tass, the official Russian news agency, accused Britain of "militarizing" the islands and creating more tension.

We believe Thatcher was right in making the journey. It was a boost to the morale of the islanders. To the prime minister, it was, "a profoundly moving experience."

The Falklands invasion by Argentina cost both nations billions of dollars and hundreds of lives. And one of the lessons learned was that British pride is still in place.

The British soldiers worked well in close-knit fighting units. They were highly trained and had served together for long periods of time. The U.S. Army has recognized the advantages of such camaraderie and recently announced it will return from brigades to the old regimental system. It is hoped the smaller regiments will improve morale.

Eventually, Britain may have to get out of the South Atlantic, turning the Falklands over to Argentina. Perhaps the same thing will happen in Gibraltar, which Spain seeks to possess.

But Britain will not be forced into these actions. It will stand by its people, as it was proved last year in the Falklands fighting.

Both Argentina and Spain must understand this pride and be patient and reasonable in their territorial ambitions.

Next Time They ...

If you want to look for special interest legislation in the 98th Congress, start with the campaign contributions from Political Action Committees.

The really PAC is at the head of the list, with $2 million in federal campaign contributions. Second is the medical PAC, $1.6 million. Third, the autoworkers PAC, $1.5 million.

PAC spending in 1982 totaled $314 million, a 37 percent increase from the 1980 election — far ahead of inflation. Democrats got 54 percent of the money, Republicans 46 percent. Incumbents hauled in 69 percent of PAC contributions.

The breakdown of PAC contributions shows that corporate PACs, which contributed $23 million, gave about $6 million more than labor PACs. Professional and trade PACs gave $19 million.

What do these figures mean? Influence for big business, big labor and the big professions. A boon for incumbent politicians. Trouble for the democratic process.

PACs have succeeded in raising campaign spending to a level which makes even committed congressmen vulnerable to demands for influence in return for contributions.

PAC spending reflects pain in certain industries. Real estate agents, autoworkers and garment workers, with a half-million-dollar PAC, want aid.

But this country depends on the general welfare taking precedence over the welfare of any special interest group. Next time a PAC asks for your money, ask yourself whether the special interest is worth buying, at the expense of the good of the country.

BERRY'S WORLD

Well, I didn't exactly STOP lookin' for work — I never started!

Bill Doelle, Bay Queen cruise ship captain, came up with an idea for using the material to be dredged out of the harbor near Monroe Harbour marina on Lake Monroe but it was scuttled.

Doelle suggested the builtup land from the dredging be used as the site for a manatee raising station to come to the aid of the endangered species, at a meeting of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Bankers Committee. He even offered to use the Bay Queen to help raise money for the project.

Chamber President Jack Horner said, however, that he checked with Sea World and learned, "You can't fool around with manatees, no one can touch them but the wildlife agency and financially it would be out of our ballgame."

Not one to let an offer to help raise funds go ungrasped, Horner suggested instead that the Bay Queen be used to help raise money to buy the old Ritz Theater in downtown Sanford and fix it up for a first class community performing arts theater.

The Bankers Committee is made up of other civic leaders as well as representatives of financial institutions. Horner says he looks to them to come up with creative solutions to community needs and problems as they know where and if funds are available for projects.

STOP sounds like the START of something good. STOP (Saturday Time off for Parents) was initiated by Brenda Cole of the Altamonte Springs Recreation Department to teach basic sport skills to handicapped children as therapy while giving their parents a break. The Optimist Club of South Seminole and the city are working together to implement the program which takes place at the Westmonte Recreation Center one Saturday a month.

Anyone interested in the program may visit an Optimist meeting held every Friday at 7:30 a.m. at the Holiday Inn, Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs, or call the president, Herb Weissman, at 828-6160 or Ms. Cole at 862-0090.

Another youth oriented project sponsored by the South Seminole Optimists is the oratorical contest for boys and girls under the age of 16. The contest will be held the evening of Feb. 16. Awards will be given for first, second and runner-up. In addition, the first place winner will be eligible for a top prize of a $1,000 scholarship.

The subject for the contestants' talks is "Serve with Pride." Contestants must speak not less than four minutes and not more than five.

Scoring is based on personal qualities, materials, organization, delivery and presentation, and overall effectiveness.

For more information concerning the contest, call Bill Oglesby at 291-2817 or 831-5395.

Area art teachers from public and non-public secondary schools are submitting their students' best work this month for judging Jan. 28 in the seventh annual Central Florida Regional Scholastic Art Awards Exhibition to be held this year Feb. 12-26 at Robinson's Fashion Square Store in Orlando. A panel of artists and photographers will select the winners for inclusion in the regional show. Blue Ribbon Finalists will go on to the national competition. Seminole County student artists have done themselves and their schools proud in the past at Scholastic Art exhibitions.

Time's Up? So What?

By AL ROSSITER JR.
UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Numerous studies have shown that people who worry or are stressed have an increased risk of developing a disease, and a Boston psychiatrist says it appears that the absence of such stress might promote health.

The key, says Dr. Thomas P. Hackett, seems to be denial — the conscious or subconscious repudiation of risk.

Hackett, chief of psychiatry at Massachusetts General Hospital, says denial is a person's way of coping with a difficult situation. Not only does a denier minimize worry, but Hackett said he is able to think positively about the future.

The denier is optimistic and confident and may have a humorous outlook about things.

Hackett said at an American Heart Association meeting in Tucson that a study of people who had heart attacks found that individuals classified as deniers were more apt to survive hospitalization in the coronary care unit than were the fearful.

"Survival rates for the denier, while not strikingly greater than for the non-denier, demonstrate that over the long haul, denial is not a bad coping tactic," Hackett said. "Individuals who have the capacity to deny tend to do better in convalescence than worriers."

"They get less depressed, return to sexual activity following an MI (myocardial infarction, or heart attack) with more alacrity, and go back to work more rapidly than non-deniers. Their quality of life is subjectively more satisfying than their non-denying counterparts."

Because of those findings, Hackett and his colleagues conducted extensive interviews with the patients, and backed this up with lie detector tests and interviews with friends and associates, to examine the characteristics of the denier.

"In addition to denying fear, they also tended to minimize symptoms ('It wasn't really a terrible pain')," Hackett reported. "Similarly, they downplayed danger ('A lot of guys get shot at. No big deal') or displaced threat to objects ('The only time I worry is about money') or people ('My wife was scared but I wasn't')."

"Displaying a jovial heart manner, they regularly debunked worry ('What good does it do you?') and used cliches ('If your number is up, it's up, so what')."

"Verbal dismissal of fear was often accompanied by a shrug or an arm wave of dismissal," Hackett said. "They seemed to regard themselves as invulnerable or possessing unflinching luck."

The psychiatrist said denial appears to be a stable trait. He said the denier is an individual who has a long history of adapting to stress by minimizing its impact.

"Early in life he appears to learn how to abolish or dilute worry," Hackett said.

Pentagon Really Knows How To Party

WASHINGTON — Things were pretty grim over at the Pentagon around Christmas. The lame-duck Congress was killing funds for the MX dense-pack. And there were signs that the new Congress might even do the unthinkable: Cut the defense budget.

Under these trying circumstances, it's understandable that the brass sought relief with some holiday partying.

So many office parties were scheduled that even the most dedicated wassailer couldn't possibly keep track of them all. Dallying too long at the auditors' punchbowl, say, might mean missing the catered buffet at procurement or systems analysis. What was a poor colonel to do?

The Air Force solved this little problem with typical flair. It computerized the whole operation.

There really was no alternative. True to its tradition of "eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die," the Air Force had scheduled 42 parties within a nine-day period at 42 different locations in the Pentagon. There were even champagne brunches during duty hours.

To help the partygoers stay the course, officials fed time and location data into a computer, which collated the information and produced printouts for distribution to selected personnel. My associate Indy Badhwar obtained a copy of the computer printout.

The list is titled unabashedly: "Christmas Party List." It is signed, in computer print, "Santa Claus," and it is jolly indeed.

"Offsets need not be tendered," the schedule said. "However, sufficiency of cuisine and libations will be evaluated."

Translated from Pentagones, this meant that no cash contributions would be necessary unless the food and booze ran out.

As any serious holiday reveler knows, some parties are more worthwhile than others. There's no point wasting time at a mulled-wine affair if good Scotch and hot hors d'oeuvres are available a corridor away.

The prize Air Force party was held in a basement room in the Pentagon. The guests were colonels and senior civilian bureaucrats. The entertainment was a topless dancer (female).

"Some of the colonels were standing two abreast on chairs to get a good view of the gyrations," one amused guest confided.

Asked for official comment on the go-goings-on, Capt. John Whittaker, an Air Force spokesman, said:

"We have inquired into the matter and determined that there was a professional dancer at that Christmas party. It is somewhat contrary to Air Force policies regarding entertainment for parties. The policy requires that entertainment be in good taste, not be offensive to the people present and not be an embarrassment to the Air Force, so it was not completely in keeping with that policy."

Excessive partying often brings acute feelings of regret the morning after. At a time when budget deficits are soaring out of control, yet the military insist they need every penny they've asked for, Congress may well have some questions about the Pentagon's holiday celebrations — on government premises and during duty hours.

Public Pays For Fuel Chaos

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Natural-gas supplies have never been more plentiful — yet, this winter, homeowners in the Northeast and Midwest will face gas bills that are hundreds or thousands of dollars higher than they were last year.

At the very least, consumers can expect a 25 percent increase in natural gas prices this winter. In Cleveland and Kansas City, the announced increase is 40 percent; in Indianapolis, it's 45 percent; and in much of Illinois, the already-announced price hike is between 50 and 60 percent.

While local utilities announce these price increases, gas producers in many areas admit that there is a natural gas oversupply — so much of one that many producers have capped wells, burned off gas or allowed it to be vented into the air, for lack of storage facilities.

Skyrocketing prices in the face of a growing surplus: How has this incredible scenario come to pass? Depending upon whom you talk with, it's the result of either too much or too little federal regulation.

The current situation had its roots in the natural gas shortages of the early and mid-1970s, which led to the closing of plants and schools all across the Midwest during the winter of 1976-77.

Gas producers universally blamed the shortages on the fact that the federal government regulated the pricing structure of natural gas. Therefore, the Carter administration and Congress came up with an almost book-length piece of legislation — the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 (NGPA) — in an attempt to solve some of the industry's problems.

This act phased out price controls on "new" gas — gas discovered after a specified date — and it also eliminated price controls on certain types of natural gas and prohibited the use of gas as a boiler fuel in many industries. The idea was to increase the gas supply while simultaneously trying to force conservation.

Judged by those limited objectives, the act generally has worked: The demand for gas has decreased significantly, while supplies are many times larger than they were in the mid-1970s.

But there were other provisions tucked into the act's 200-plus pages, and they have caused the current problems.

The act allowed gas producers to enter into "take-or-pay" contracts with gas pipelines, which, in turn, supply public utilities with the gas that they sell to consumers. Under these take-or-pay contracts, pipelines were committed to buy fixed amounts of gas from the producers each year; if they did not take all the gas they agreed to buy, they still had to pay for it.

Many of these contracts run almost to the end of the century, since the pipelines were desperate to ensure themselves of constant supplies. Moreover, under the NGPA, pipelines had blanket permission to pass on to the utilities any gas price increases; they also didn't care what they paid for the gas — just as long as they got it.

As a result, most contracts contain an "indefinite escalator" clause that provides in advance for unspecified price increases; other clauses permit gas producers to use any one of many NGPA formulas to determine what price they will charge. And, obviously, the more "new" gas that can be included, the higher the price.

ROBERT WALTERS

What If Hitler..?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — What if there had been a Nixon presidency without Watergate?

What if Hitler had gotten the bomb? What if George Washington had been captured by General Howe? What if America had a monarch? What if Napoleon had not sold Louisiana?

Those questions represent more than idle speculation. They're all chapter titles in a fascinating new book entitled (appropriately enough) "What If...?"

Each chapter is devoted to a single hypothesis and is written by a respected yet imaginative academic expert. The entire collection is edited by Nelson W. Polsby, one of the country's most brilliant political scientists and a faculty member at the University of California at Berkeley.

Escape briefly from the harsh world of political reality and enter the realm of political science fiction to imagine how historical accidents might have produced a very different nation and world.

For example: "What if Elbridge Gerry had been more rational and less patriotic?"

That's the title of a particularly intriguing chapter contributed by William H. Riker, whose conjecture centers around the possibility that efforts to draft a constitution for the fledgling United States might have foundered if Elbridge Gerry, a delegate to the Constitutional Convention, had taken a different position on a crucial, close preliminary vote.

As a result, the convention probably would have disbanded, attempts to convene another meeting would have failed and the states would have been irrevocably linked only through the very weak coalition established by the Articles of Confederation.

The absence of a strong federal government and the presence of seething hostility among various states over their territorial rights would have led to a spate of regional wars.

New York would have invaded Vermont, with most New England states coming to the aid of Vermont, trouncing New York and establishing a regional confederacy stretching from New York City on the south to the Canadian border on the north and Minnesota on the west.

Among the other individual nation-states, each about the size of Canada's provinces, would be Louisiana, California and Texas, while Arizona and New Mexico would remain affiliated with Mexico and the Pacific Northwest would be part of Canada.

With no strong United States to enter World War I on the side of its allies, that conflict would be won by the German, Austrian and Turkish empires — which would proceed to carve up Western Europe and thereby eliminate any rationale for World War II.

A variation on that theme is provided by Norton E. Long in his speculative essay entitled "What if Napoleon had not sold Louisiana?"

If the United States had not bought Louisiana in 1803, Great Britain might well have seized the Louisiana Territory and New Orleans from the French, then governed it as part of Canada — a vast and powerful nation stretching from Hudson Bay to the Gulf of Mexico.

With this country's western expansion thwarted, California and Texas probably would have remained part of Mexico — and the United States would have been a relatively small country with a western border at the Mississippi River.

Most of the contributors to the book, Polsby notes, "have wanted to show how a small turn of events might have had larger consequences, but a few argue that a large turn of events might have mattered scarcely at all."

Thus, for example, Robert C. Fried argues in "What if Hitler Had the Bomb?" that German efforts to produce operational nuclear weapons during World War II probably would have been discovered and frustrated by the Allies.

Even if the Germans had dropped atomic bombs on London and Leningrad, the Allies' superiority in the overall balance of forces would have prevailed.

"It is a good idea to be reminded that sometimes history turns out all right," concludes Polsby. "Otherwise we might not all be here."

Gallagher, Payton Lift Raiders Past FJC, Phelps Hits 23 Points

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor
Maybe it's magnetic. There's something about Luis Phelps which attracts Seminole Community College guards David Gallagher and Jimmy Payton.

SCC's Raiders were deadlocked 52-52 with Florida Junior College Wednesday night with 9:40 to play when coach Bill Payne summoned his second-string guards to action.

Five minutes later, the Raiders had a 65-60 lead enroute to a 78-71 victory over St. John's at SCC in Mid-Florida Conference basketball play.

The difference was Gallagher, Payton and Phelps.

"It's hard for me to come off the bench because I'm used to starting," said Payton after the game. "But David and I were sitting down at the end of the bench saying, 'He (Payne) needs to put us in and we'll show him what freshman guards can do.'"

Payne did just that and the Raiders went on a roll.

Gallagher whipped a pass to Phelps who dropped in a fadeaway to break the tie. Gallagher threw up a too-short jumper which Delvin Everett dropped in for a 56-52 lead.

Burly John Howard countered with two free throws and then stole the ball. The turnover, however, didn't hurt Florida Junior as Howard came back with two free tosses to pull FJC, 9-11, within 58-56.

Payton then found Phelps with a lob pass and the 6-6 center gave SCC a four-point lead. Thirty seconds later, Phelps hit Jerry Smith on the baseline and the 6-2 1/2 leaper turned it into a three-point play and 63-58 lead with 6:37 to go.

formed Payton about his and Gallagher's assist-work. "They know we'll feed the ball to them. We'll score if we have to, but it's no big thing to us."

After two Florida Junior free throws, Gallagher gunned a beauty to Phelps underneath and the Brooksville freshman slam dunked SCC into a 65-60 lead.

Payton tossed in a jumper from the wing next and Phelps and Ricky Sutton each scored for a 71-64 lead.

FJC, nevertheless, rallied on the outside shooting of Ron Jefferson to pull within 73-71 with just 42 seconds to go.

Phelps, though, slammed another one while Gallagher and Bernard Merthie combined on three free throws for the eventual seven-point victory.

"Payton and Gallagher controlled the game," said Payne about the Raiders' 13th win in 20 tries. "Ricky (Sutton) and Keith (Whitney) got hung up in an up tempo game, that's why we took them out."

"David's from a down tempo school

(Edgewater) where they don't run the ball up the floor, so that helps us. We wanted to use 20 or 30 seconds every time down the floor, not five."

Phelps, who was hampered by three fouls in the first half, tossed in 17 of his 23 points in the final 20 minutes. He also grabbed six rebounds.

"They were hanging back inside on me, so in the second half I worked a little harder," said Phelps. "But I got some perfect passes from David and Jimmy. I don't know how they do it, but they do it."

SCC also got outstanding performances from Sutton (18 points) and Smith (17 points). Sutton kept the Raiders ahead in the first half with some deft outside marksmanship while Smith lived up to his "Doc" nickname with several dazzling drives to the hoop for buckets and two "alley-oop" passes which he dropped in above the rim.

"Just let it fly," Smith said about the lob passes. "No, really I just shake my head a little and they let it fly."

Smith was also flying on the boards with nine rebounds. Merthie, who turned in a scrappy performance, snatched seven boards while Everett collected returned to action for the first time since he injured his ankle on Dec. 15.

He played the last 1:07 of the first half, but was still bothered by the injury. "Rudy's still hurting," said Payne. "We hope he'll be ready by next week."

The Raiders take on Valencia at VCC on Saturday.

Crooms Escapes Patriots In OT

The Crooms Panthers' 49-game winning streak is alive — but just barely.

Panther forward Robert Hill tossed in a 30-foot jump shot with two seconds left to play and Crooms outscored the Lake Brantley Patriots, 7-4, in overtime to claim a 44-41 victory at Seminole Community College in freshman basketball.

Crooms, 15-0, hosts Lyman tonight at 6:30 at Seminole High.

"They (Lake Brantley) gave us a lot of trouble," said Crooms coach John McNamara after the game. "They had a tight 2-1-2 zone which hurt us the first half."

Behind the scoring of Donnie Palmer, Lake Brantley zipped to a 14-9 first-quarter lead, then outscored Crooms, 10-2, in the second quarter for a 24-11 halftime bulge.

The Panthers reversed the flow in the third quarter, using a full-court, man-to-man press to outscore the Patriots, 14-2, and pull within 26-24 after three quarters.

Crooms took the lead in the fourth quarter, but a traveling violation gave the Patriots a chance to win in the closing minutes.

Palmer canned two free throws with 34 seconds left to give the Patriots a 37-35 edge. Hill, however, took a pass from point guard Daryl Williams inside the paint and dropped his clutch shot to tie the game.

In the overtime, Alvin Jones stole the ball and scored while Williams popped one from the outside and Mike Wright also added a bucket. Palmer countered with two buckets for the Pat's.

Palmer led all scorers with 19 points and Allen Unrow added 8.

Williams hit 16 points for the Panthers and doled out seven assists. Wright added 11 points and Hill nine. Hill and Jones each collected nine rebounds while Williams and Dexter Franklin each had three steals.

Seminole, Lyman Matmen Lose; Rams Win

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

Not enough manpower in the lighter and heavier weights proved to be fatal for the Seminole High wrestlers Wednesday night as they dropped a 38-26 decision to the Bulldogs of Flagler Palm Coast at Seminole High.

After the first two matches, 101 and 108 weight divisions, Flagler held a 10-0 lead. Ronnie Watson got the Tribe on the board with a narrow, 6-5 decision in the 115-pound class. A forfeit in the 122 weight class enabled the Bulldogs to build a 16-3 lead.

In the middle weights, Seminole took control of the match. Tony Brown shutout Brian Crook, 6-0, in the 129-pound class and Kevin Tapscoff totally outclassed his opponent in the 135-class, winning easily by the score of 24-0. Those two victories cut Flagler's lead to 16-13 and Vince Clark tied it at 16 when he defeated Pat Kelly, 15-2 in the 141-pound class.

Seminole later took the lead, 26-22, as Gary Gonterman pinned Jimmy Dunn at 3:33 in the 170-weight division.

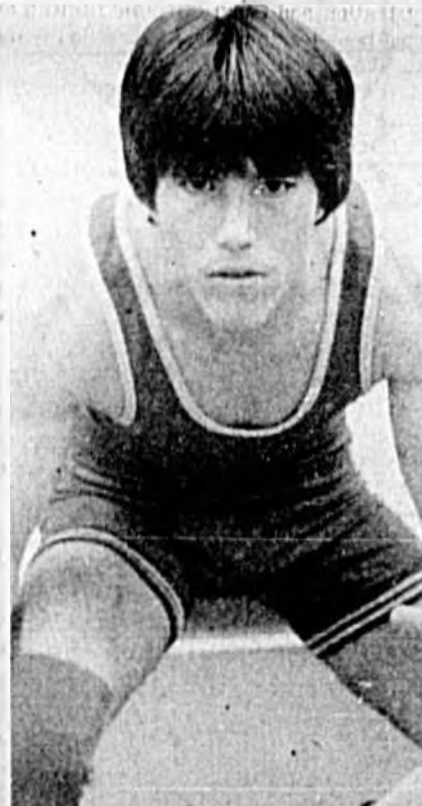

The Tribe then succumbed to the lack of personnel as it forfeited the 188 and heavyweight divisions and Zimmers was pinned in 30 seconds in the 223 pound division.

Flagler got 18 of its points in the heavier divisions and 10 in the lighter. "Overall, we wrestled fairly well," Seminole coach Scott Sherman said. "I'm a little disappointed because we could have done better, but I was pleased with some of our performances."

One wrestler Sherman was impressed with was Clark. "Vince beat his guy bad, the same guy who tied him last year," Sherman said. "He's really coming around."

Sherman also pointed to the performance of Gonterman. "Gary got back to his winning ways and wrestled real well after a rather disappointing performance in the conference meet."

Seminole's dual meet record fell to 3-5 and the Tribe will try to better that mark Friday night as it hosts Daytona Beach Seabreeze. Junior varsity action begins at 6:30 p.m.

The Greyhounds built an early lead on a forfeit at 101 pounds to Chad Dubin, a pin by Pat Bell (108) and a 13-11 decision by Scott Andrew over Tom Wilson at 115 pounds.

Evans came back to take three in a row before Lyman's Mike Wasserman pinned Donald Alston in 4:48 at 141 pounds. The Trojans took the next three matches, but Lyman rebounded on a pin by 15-0 Dirk Smith (189) of Sam Wint in 1:36 and a 10-8 decision by Mike Hill over Pete Sartin.

The 'Hounds held a 30-26 lead, but a forfeit at unlimited gave Evans the narrow two-point victory.

Trinity Preps Nips Rams, 1-0

Lake Mary goalkeeper Mike Dunlap made just one mistake in an otherwise brilliant performance against ninth-ranked Trinity Prep Wednesday. But that one mistake came back to haunt the Rams as the Saints posted a 1-0 victory at Trinity Prep.

"Dunlap had a great game," said Ram coach Larry McCorkle. "It was unfortunate that he slipped while he was kicking and dribbled the ball."

Trinity's Mark Cubarubia corraled the 10-yard boot and banged it past Dunlap for the only score of the game just eight minutes into the first half.

Dunlap made two other excellent saves on a penalty kick and a one-on-one, but the Rams' offense was sluggish while dropping its first game in 14 matches.

"For the first 15 or 20 minutes we played our usual lousy soccer," said McCorkle. "We don't start playing our best until we feel out the other team. I guess we're just not sure of ourselves yet."

The Rams outshot Trinity, 18-16, but the Saints had just three saves compared to 15 by Dunlap. Lake Mary's best opportunity to score came on an indirect kick with 10 minutes to play, but it failed.

The Rams host New Smyrna Beach Friday night at 8. The junior varsity plays Oviedo at 5 p.m. while a youth soccer game pitting two of the best teams in the Seminole Soccer Club is on tap at 6:30 p.m.

On Saturday, a youth game tips off a quadruple-header at 9:30 a.m. The Lake

Prep Soccer

Mary and Lake Brantley JVs play at 11 a.m. while the Brantley and Ram girls play at 12:30 p.m. The varsity Rams take on the Patriots at 2 p.m.

In other soccer action Wednesday, Kevin Hines booted three goals as the Lyman Greyhounds tripped Spruce Creek, 6-4, at Port Orange.

Hines kicked two goals in the first half while Keith Young and Jim Gray added one apiece for a 4-3 Lyman lead. Hines added his second goal in the final 40 minutes and David Dangel kicked one in to cap the win. Assists were by Young, Gray and Jeff Davis.

Lyman, 7-1, hosts Oviedo at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

The Lady Greyhounds improved their record to 5-0 when Alyson Barnes snapped a 2-2 tie with Lake Brantley by booting a goal with just four seconds left to play.

Kellie Straw cleared the ball to Barnes at midfield and the young Greyhound outmaneuvered several defenders before kicking the ball into the upper right-hand corner of the net.

Dawn Doyesen and Peggy Kostzrewa had the other Lyman goals while Traci Rowland and Ruth Ashby had scores for the Lady Patriots.

Lyman puts its unbeaten streak on the line Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. against Vero Beach Senior High at home.

Going Fishin'?

Osteen Bridge Fish Camp (322-2825)
If you can catch fish, you can catch fun. At least you can if you're Wilbert Williams and his wife, Estella.
While most of the river fishermen have come up empty handed this past week, Williams and his wife, two regulars on the St. John's River, continue to pull in their share.
"I think Wilbert can catch fish anywhere," laughed Del Abernethy, owner of the Osteen Camp. "Things have been 'blah'. I don't know if it's the weather or what, but I think as soon as this cold front moves out, we'll have some good fishing."
"The fish are biting but not like they should be. We've got people that would catch 50-60 last week and they're only bringing in 14-16."
Williams and wife, however, are not among those people. They continue to haul in Specks and Blue Gills by the bridge. After four hours of fishing Wednesday, the Williams had over 70.
Steve Spears, Osteen Bridge Fish Camp guide, spent his off day (Wednesday) hooking a few Blue Gills along the bank.
Last Saturday and Sunday, Sanford's Jerry Malloy caught three Bass each day.
The report is about the same at Marina Inn (322-4784) and the Black Hammock Fish Camp (365-7190). Up to date reports can be obtained by calling the listed numbers.

Lake Howell's Overtime Blitz Clips 'Drained' Lake Mary, 67-55

Lake Howell's Lady Hawks still can't shoot free throws, but they still can win basketball games.

Lake Howell, the seventh-ranked 4A team in the state, zipped to its 16th win in 17 games Wednesday night by disposing of Lake Mary, 67-55, in overtime at Lake Howell.

Junior Chiquita Miller tossed in 29 points, including six in overtime to lead the Hawks. Mary Johnson chipped in 11. Tammy Johnson 10 and Cindy Blocker eight.

Lake Mary coach Bill Moore. "But they just blitzed us in overtime. We were tired, drained."

Junior center Peggy Glass topped the Rams with 21 points while sister Laura dropped in 10 before fouling out. Courtney Hall added nine and Kim Averill seven.

Lake Mary, 11-5, took a nine-point first quarter lead on the strong inside play of the Glass twins. The Hawks, however, regrouped behind Miller in the second quarter to pull within 29-27 at halftime.

The surge continued, despite a dismal 13 of 36 effort at the foul line, in the third quarter and the fourth when the Hawks built a three-point lead.

The Rams had a chance to win in regulation after a Miller basket tied the game with 38 seconds left. They ran the clock down to 11 seconds and inbounded the ball to Michelle Swartz after a time out. Her jump shot missed, but a jump ball gave Lake Mary another chance with two seconds left.

TAMMY JOHNSON ...11 points

Point guard Lisa Gregory grabbed the tip and let fly with a 20-footer which bounced off the backboard, run and run again as the buzzer sounded.

In the overtime, Howell went on a 12-2 tear to sew up the win.

"I've seen that shot go in a lot," Moore said about Gregory's near miss. "But not this time. Every team they (Lake Howell) plays, they shoot a lot of ree throw."

"We were in a zone and they were scrambling aggressively all over the court. I guess they just have a knack for drawing fouls." Lake Mary was 11 of 23 at the line.

The Rams travel to Osceola Saturday for a game with the Kowboys while Lake Howell takes on Lyman in Longwood Friday.

In the junior varsity game, Lake Mary topped Lake Howell, 61-47.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Sixers Post 13th Straight, Devastate Chicago, 126-106

United Press International
According to Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham all the wins by the 76ers during its club-record, 13-game winning streak were not created equal.
"It has been quite a variation," Cunningham said. "There have been one-point games, overtime games and games we won easily. We've responded very well to each situation and that really pleases me."
The 76ers' 13th straight win, 126-106, over the Chicago Bulls Wednesday night, in Philadelphia, was an easy one. Julius Erving scored 26 points and Andrew Toney added 25.

Oilers Rip Canucks, 9-4

United Press International
Vancouver Canucks' Coach Roger Neilson thought Wayne Gretzky should have thanked Referee Ron Fournier after the Edmonton Oilers' scoring machine was awarded a penalty shot Wednesday night.
Gretzky's getting better at "those things." He was successful for the first time in four NHL attempts and his 4th goal of the season, along with a hat trick from Mark Messier, led the Oilers to a 9-4 victory over the Canucks at Edmonton.

'Little Red' Carries Terrors

Katie "Little Red" Jacobs broke away for a layup with four seconds remaining to carry the Jackson Heights Terrors to a 20-19 victory over the Lone Strangers in Inter-County Basketball Association action.
Jacobs' 11 points led the Terrors, followed by Susan Hughes with five. Karla Karpinka tossed in 10 points for the Strangers.

The Lone Strangers also dropped a close one to the Wonder Women, 12-8, over the weekend. Bridget Jennerette, Lisa Taube and Cindy Wood scored four points apiece for the Wonder Women while Karpinka led the Strangers with six.

Hankins led the Kittens again in the second game with 10 points while Bell netted eight and Shaw seven for Tuskawilla.

In boys junior varsity action, the Jackson Heights Bruins upended the previously unbeaten South Seminole Tomcats, 40-35. Garth Bolton poured in 22 points for Jackson Heights while John Flath tossed in 13 for South Seminole.

In its second game, South Seminole got a 21 point, 18 rebound performance from Flath as the Tomcats bounced to a 35-19 rout of the Eastmont Greyhounds.

Two Westmont teams, the Patriots and the Warriors, split in their debuts as the two teams knocked off the Tuskawilla Celtics and lost to the Winter Parkers.

The South Seminole Bobcats increased their ICBA record to 3-0 with a 67-12 trouncing of Winter Park and a 79-42 shellacking of Eastmont's Greyhounds. Against Winter Park, Vince Florence pumped in 18, Ricky Deming 15 and Oscar Wilder 14 while Florence hit 19 against Eastmont and Wilder added 15.

The Jackson Heights Pacmen rolled over the Altamonte All-American Rebels, 47-33 with Randy Ferguson's 20 points leading the way. Ryan Lisle hit 11 points for the Rebels.

The Jackson Heights Orange Pickers claimed a 47-27 victory over the Tuskawilla Black Knights behind Glenn Reichle's 19 points. Marty Nystrom led the Knights with 14 points.

Stan White Jumps Lions To Sign With USFL's Chicago Blitz

DES PLAINES, Ill. (UPI) — Stan White, the first active NFL player to jump to the USFL, predicts the new league will have a players' association similar to the one in which he was an active member during last season's strike.

Pro Football

Wednesday, said the philosophy in the new league will be different than the one that existed between the NFL, Players Association and the owners.

White was the Detroit Lions' player rep and a vice president of the NFLPA. He was openly critical of the NFL, during last season's strike.

Blitz Coach George Allen also said he is not concerned about having a former player rep on his team, saying, "If you recall, when I was with the Redskins, we had a lot of players rep and I found they were very dedicated."

Cubs Get Cey From Dodgers

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ron Cey accepted the same pitch from the Chicago Cubs teammate Steve Garvey rejected.
Cey, 34, the veteran Los Angeles' third baseman, was dealt Wednesday night by the Dodgers to the Cubs in exchange for two minor-league prospects. As part of the condition for the deal, Cey had to agree to sign a five-year pact that published reports estimated to be around $2.5 million.

"We think Ron fits in perfectly into our scheme of thinking for our infield," said Cubs' General Manager Dallas Green. "Ron is delighted to be coming to Chicago. He certainly feels like he can help us."

"Ron just realized that he would be a year older. I think the pitch we gave to Garvey was accepted by Ron Cey."

Cey, who was obtained in exchange for Dan Cataline and Vance Lovelace, said he was looking forward to joining the Cubs after playing his entire career with the Dodgers.

Tar Heels Rout Wolfpack, 99-81

United Press International
North Carolina basketball has come to order once again. The Tar Heels, who share the No. 3 ranking in the country, won their 10th straight game Wednesday night. The latest victory came at home in Carmichael Auditorium, known to the faithful as Blue Heaven, where Matt Doherty scored 21 points and Jim Braddock added 18 in a 99-81 decision over 20th-ranked North Carolina State.

"They are the best team we've faced this year by far," N.C. State Coach Jim Valvano said. "I know they are a hot team right now, but the scary thing is that they are going to get better."

North Carolina, 13-3 overall and 3-0 in the Atlantic Coast Conference, distributed the work. Michael Jordan supplied 15 points, Sam Perkins 13 and freshman Brad Daugherty, playing with a stress fracture in his left foot, added 1. The Tar Heels led, 52-42, at the half and had little trouble the rest of the way.

The Wolfpack could have used Dereck Whittenburg, the team's leading scorer who broke his foot last week against Virginia.

"We have to develop someone to take over for Whittenburg," Valvano said. "I'm not all that surprised about tonight."
N.C. State, 8-4 overall and 2-2 in the ACC, was led by Terry Gannon with 18 points.

"There were two Top 2 teams out there tonight," Smith said. "But State is not the same team without Whittenburg."

Elsewhere in the Top 20, No. 30 Memphis State swamped Delta State, 100-82; No. 5 Arkansas beat Texas Christian, 69-55; No. 6 Virginia downed Virginia Tech, 74-64; No. 9 Nevada-Las Vegas took Long Beach State, 95-83; No. 11 Missouri routed No. 19 Oklahoma State, 84-63; No. 14 Villanova ripped Seton Hall, 75-59; and No. 16 Georgetown dropped Pittsburgh, 62-54.

Memphis, Tenn., Keith Lee had 29 points and 13 rebounds in a romp for Memphis State.

At Fayetteville, Ark., John Snively and Alvin Robertson hit for 14 points each as unbeaten Arkansas ran up its 14th straight victory.

At Richmond, Va., Jimmy Miller scored 15 of his 18 points in the second half to help Virginia get by its state rival.

Bookies, Umpires — Nobody Likes 'Em

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bookies are like umpires. Nobody likes 'em.

They never take sides, they let you do that. But they take a lot of abuse and ignore it. They're honest. When's the last time you ever heard any of them not paying off 100 cents on the dollar and they generally call 'em as they see 'em, too.

You should hear what a bookie calls you if you habitually do business with him. You know what he says you are. A degenerate. But he doesn't say that to your face because he has a nice, quiet respect for your cash and would like to see it keep flowing in his direction.

One of the more widely accepted fallacies about bookies is, they never lose. That's not true. Sometimes, they do, and even have to go to the loan company to borrow money so that they can pay you. They always pay. They have to or they're automatically out of business.

Another fallacy about them is that they have no souls. They do. They even pray, and you know what they pray for most?

An honest game. Mention the word "fix" to a bookmaker, let him hear any kind of rumble about some players trying to do "business" in a particular game, and it's like driving a stake right through his heart. He's the one with the most to lose if a game actually is fixed.

Milton Richman

I didn't bother taking a poll of how many bookmakers watched Monday night's Public Broadcasting Service telecast, the one called "An Unauthorized History of the NFL," but I'm pretty sure I can tell you they must have doubled up laughing over the production.

The telecast was supposed to have documented a number of NFL games that were fixed between 1968 and 1970, but it didn't. Nor did it offer any conclusive new evidence or proof that Carroll Rosenbloom, the former owner of the Los Angeles Rams who drowned off the coast of Florida in 1979, might have been murdered by elements of organized crime because of his gambling connections.

This last one is a 4-year-old chestnut that keeps popping out of the fire periodically.

The PBS show was the first in a series called "Front Line." It promised startling revelations and then, disappointingly, did not provide so much as one.

Frontline gambling report called 'shallow' and 'unconvincing' by TV viewers.

Nobody is more opposed to gambling on NFL games than Pete Rozelle. He realizes, however, gambling is a fact of life and no matter how much he and his security force do to prevent it within the league, there's nothing he can possibly do to stop it outside.

The commissioner didn't like Monday night's program. He called the innuendos and unsupported allegations a "disgraceful example of cheap sensationalism and check-book journalism."

"The telecast claimed $25 billion is bet on our games," he said to me when I spoke to him about it.

"That shows how much confidence the public has in the games. The bookies, too. Do you think they'd handle the games if they felt there was something wrong with them?"

The consensus among the people I talked to who watched the telecast was, it was "shallow" and "unconvincing."

According to David Fanning, executive producer of the show, it was meant to be "a commitment to good journalism and fairness," but I don't call it good journalism or fairness when charges are made by a paid informer, then are never supported. That sounds more like yellow journalism to me.

Where were all the names and dates? Nowhere that I could see. If you went into court with a case like that, it would be thrown out in no time.

"When they put out a line each week on every game and make minimal changes, up or down as little as a half-point, and depend on the player injury reports they get from us, doesn't that indicate how much faith they have in us?"

Yeah, Pete, and you know how those bookies are. The only one some of them trust is God. Everyone else has to bring cash.

FLORIDA

IN BRIEF

Russian Spy Satellite May Crash Within A Week

United Press International
Civil Defense officials in Florida are receiving daily reports on the decaying orbit of a nuclear-powered Soviet spy satellite to prepare them in case it plummets to Earth in the United States, authorities said.
Tom Nichols, director of the Okaloosa County Civil Defense office, said the first report was sent out Tuesday in a conference call from the National Warning Service. He said it predicted the spacecraft will fall to Earth between Friday and next Wednesday.
Space trackers have said they cannot plot the crash course of the Cosmos 1402 until the final seven to 12 hours of its life. Soviet officials have made no statement about the craft since Jan. 7, when they announced friction from the atmosphere will destroy the nuclear reactor aboard the craft.

'Temik Rules Not Enough'

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—A group seeking to ban the pesticide Temik from Florida says Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner did not go far enough in his order requiring notification of the state in most cases before the chemical is used.
The Coalition Against the Misuse of Pesticides in Florida said Wednesday it still wants a complete ban of the chemical. Conner issued an emergency rule Tuesday requiring pesticide applicators to give 3 days notice to the state before using Temik beginning Feb. 1. The order exempts Temik used on potted plants.
The coalition had petitioned Conner to ban Temik.

WORLD

Syria Reportedly Fears An Invasion By Israel

KIRYAT SEMONA, Israel (UPI) — Israel and Lebanon agreed today in their eighth round of talks to set up three committees to speed withdrawal of foreign forces from Lebanon, consider future relations and security arrangements.
In Damascus, Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam dispatched a note Wednesday to U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar warning Israel may attack Syria to destroy its new long-range Soviet-made missiles.
In Jerusalem, Israel Television said U.S. envoy Philip Habib, in meetings with Israeli officials, was unable to win concessions to speed the withdrawal of 30,000 Israeli, 40,000 Syrian and 10,000 Palestinian fighters in Lebanon.

Judge Hastings Never Actually Received Bribe

MIAMI (UPI) — The government agrees that Alcee Hastings, the first sitting federal judge to be tried on criminal charges, never actually received so much as "one penny" of the $150,000 bribe a friend allegedly collected for him.
In its extensive investigation of the judge's financial records, FBI agent William Murphy said in the first day of testimony, agents "found no large amounts" of money.
Hastings, a 46-year-old Altamonte Springs native, who is acting in his own defense, resumed his cross-examination of Murphy today.
Hastings, Florida's first black federal judge, is charged with bribery conspiracy and obstruction of justice. Prosecutors told the jury Wednesday that Hastings was "a knowing and crucial member" of a conspiracy with Paul Rico, posing as convicted racketeer Borders to solicit $150,000 to reduce the sentences and return forfeited money to Romano and his brother Thomas, convicted in Hastings' court of racketeering.

Murphy agreed there was no evidence Hastings received any of the $150,000 an undercover agent paid to Hastings' long-time friend, Washington, D.C., lawyer William A. Borders Jr.
Murphy testified retired FBI agent Paul Rico, posing as convicted racketeer Frank Romano, paid $25,000 to Borders on Oct. 2, 1981 at Miami International Airport. A week later, Rico paid Borders $125,000 at a Virginia motel and Borders was immediately arrested, Murphy said.
Borders was convicted of bribery conspiracy charges last summer and sentenced to five years in prison.

Murphy said the FBI had examined all of Hastings' financial records.
"Did you have any information from the FBI, the CIA, the IRS, that I received one penny of that $25,000," Hastings demanded.
"No, sir," Murphy replied. "We found no evidence of any large amounts of money in Hastings' financial dealings."
"You even learned I rent where I live," Hastings said.
James Deichert, chief prosecutor at the trial of the Romanos, testified Wednesday that Hastings issued an order on Oct. 6, 1981, directing that $845,000 be returned to the Romano brothers.
Hastings had ordered in May — and reaffirmed the order in July — that the Romanos forfeit a $323,000 restaurant and $845,000 in cash, Deichert said.

Have You Gotten Your Tax Form?

More than 4.2 million Florida taxpayers have now received their federal income tax packages, according to Merlin W. Heye, Internal Revenue Service district director for Florida.
Taxpayers received either the Form 1040 or Form 1040EZ and 1040A package, depending on which form they filed last year. This year, the 1040EZ, containing only 11 lines to complete, has been added to the Form 1040A package. The 1040EZ is designed for single taxpayers who have no dependents, whose taxable income is less than $50,000, earned from wages, salaries and tips and no more than $400 in interest.

Since filing their tax forms last year, some Floridians may have had a change in their tax status and need a different form than that received in the mail. Federal tax forms and schedules are available at most post offices, many banks and some public libraries. The most convenient way to obtain additional forms is by using the handy order blank in the tax forms package, or by calling the IRS toll-free tax forms number 1-800-241-3860.

... Judge To Make Pitman Decisions

Judge Dickey, who will consider the proposals to be submitted for crediting against the 40 hours community service, said offenders convicted of drunken driving and given community service are told what to do and assigned tasks.
"The Pitman case is different," the judge said. "She wasn't convicted of driving under the influence. She has not been convicted of careless driving. It is not a crime. It is a civil infraction."

Traffic offenses following under the "crime" heading which can carry a jail sentence include DUI, reckless driving, driving with unlawful blood alcohol level, fleeing and attempting to elude, and leaving the scene of an accident where there has been injuries, Dickey said.
Traffic offenses, which include careless driving, running a red light, failure to yield and other comparative "minor offenses" are civil infractions not punishable by a jail sentence, he said.
"This is the first case where I specifically imposed community service and left it to Miss Pitman and her attorney to report to the court. He has every right to file a motion and if I disapprove of half of what she has done he is entitled to file a motion," the judge said. "The secret to the court system for the parties involved to at any time come before the court and request whatever relief they think they need."

The 34 hours so far filed for consideration as counting against the 40 hours community service are:
—A benefit for the Central Florida Zoo, which Pitman made on her own, two hours.
—A benefit golf tournament for the Arthritis Foundation in Venice, 14 hours.
—American Society of Travel Agents World Congress in Miami, six hours.
—USO shows and a visit to patients at the regional medical center in Jacksonville, 12 hours.

Dickey, who revealed early this week he had received about 40 "hate" letters after Pitman's conviction in August on the lesser driving offenses said wryly: "I bet I will get some letters saying I had better not let her go to the cocktail party count as part of the community service."
Dickey received "hate" mail from as far away as Santa Ana, Calif., implying that Dickey was dishonest and a scoundrel.
Another in the form of a mailgram sent to a newspaper had an obscene message scribbled on by the writer and actually was addressed to Dickey's wife and sent to their home.
A letter postmarked in Orlando claimed Dickey had dismissed the DUI charge against Pitman because she has "a pretty face."
One letter from Fort Mead, Md., expressed the writer's "outrage" at allowing Pitman to "plea bargain."

Pankhurst Sets Girls' Leadership Conference

Pankhurst, a women's organization, is sponsoring its second annual Leadership Conference for high school girls on Saturday, Feb. 19, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Lake Mary High School.

Pre-registration will be held at the various Seminole County high schools at the end of January. Forms will be distributed directly to the girls.

The emphasis of this conference is in the development of leadership skills in both professional and vocational fields. Also to be addressed are the practical aspects of getting and keeping a job and the application of these skills in daily activities.

The schedule includes: Assertiveness Training, June Gordon; Discovery of Self and Others, Carolyn Graham; Preparation for Interview: Grooming, Dell Healy; Looking Your Best and Business Etiquette, Lisa Maile; Effective Communication Skills, Marilyn Crotty; Women in the 80s, Legal and Social Possibilities, Desta Horner; Vacation: After High School, panel; Packaging Marketable Skills, Karen Coleman; Image Management, Betsy Barnham; Improving Communication, Joan Shalls; and opening remarks by Bettye Smith, president.

Lunch will be provided and a performance will be given by the Dance Company Of Showtime. Afternoon activities will include a makeover by Barbizon.

Due to the success of the Leadership Conference last year as a first-time project, Pankhurst will continue this as an annual service to the community, according to membership chairman Joan Madison.

Pankhurst is once again meeting monthly at the Seminole Community College with a speaker-luncheon held at noon on the second Thursday of each month.

Operators Face Stress, Distress

DEAR ABBY: I am one of many thousands of voices on the other end of the line when you dial 411 — "Operator Assistance."

We are rated on our productivity (the number of calls we take), courtesy and accuracy. In other words, we have to be quick, courteous and correct. (In an average day, an operator takes about 250 calls every two hours.) We are paid to serve the public. Most callers are polite and pleasant, but, Abby, you

Dear Abby

And you have a nice day! DEAR ABBY: How do you feel about adults ordering a child's portion in a restaurant? Many people, due to surgery or inability to eat large portions of food, must limit the amount of food they eat.

I have been told that because I am an adult I cannot order a child's portion. I think that's discrimination. My husband can eat an adult's portion but I cannot, and I just can't see all that food going to waste.

A doggie bag would work in some cases, but not at a pancake house. (My husband loves pancakes.)

We are not cheapskates, and we always leave a nice tip regardless of what we order.

SMALL EATER DEAR SMALL: Most restaurants serve children's portions as an accommodation, but it would be economically unfeasible to serve children's portions to adults at reduced prices. If doggie bags won't do, eat what you want and leave the rest.

DEAR READERS: "True patriotism is more than getting a lump in your throat when the flag passes by. It involves determination on your part to see that America remains free. It involves your willingness to put the best interest of the nation ahead of your own self-interest."

"Single interests may be important, but the art of democracy is the ability to recognize the common good. The ability to give, not just take. Two hundred and thirty million people can pull our nation apart — or pull it together."

"Which way did you pull today?"

The above message was written by Harry J. Gray, chairman and chief executive officer of United Technologies, Hartford, Conn. Beautiful?

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. Write to Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Building Of Longwood Life Care Facility To Begin In Early '84

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Construction is expected to begin early in 1984 on a $20 million life care facility in the Sabal Point development near Longwood.

A spokesman for Life Care Services (LCS) of Des Moines, Iowa said construction of the facility's first phase — 144 apartments, 20 small houses and a 15-bed health center — is expected to begin in January.

An additional 124 units are planned for construction in a later phase of development.

The facility will be called Village on the Green and is designed as "an exclusive adult life care facility for people age 62 and over."

The LCS spokesman said the cost for admission to the facility is a $100,000 to $200,000 endowment. The endowments will be placed in an escrow account and eventually 96 percent of the money will be returned to the residents or their estate.

An additional $750 to $900 monthly fee will be charged for services at the facility. Among those services are one meal a day in the dining room, local telephone service, utilities, real estate taxes, building and ground maintenance, weekly housekeeping, laundry service, transportation, emergency nursing service, covered parking and planned activities. Additional meals and special care are available for an extra fee.

Advance sales are scheduled to begin in February.

Some common facilities which will be built include a dining room, club room, library, arts and crafts room, swimming pool, whirlpool, exercise room, auditorium and gift shop.

The facility will be built on 29 acres bordering five holes of the Sabal Point Golf Course. In addition to the golf course, other facilities in the 3,000-acre planned unit development include tennis courts, an Olympic-sized swimming pool and walking and bicycling paths.

The facility is being designed by Helman, Hurley, Charvat, Peacock-Architects of Winter Park.

A board of directors was recently named for the facility. The directors are:

Dr. Eugene Forrester has practiced medicine in Winter Park for 25 years and is the Medical Director for a Winter Park nursing home.

H. Carter Randall is a panelist for "Wall Street Week" on public television. He is the senior vice president and consultant for Sun Banks of Florida, Inc.

Eli H. Subin is an Orlando lawyer. For eight years, he was the general counsel for the Florida Nursing Home Association, now known as the Florida Health Care Association.

Howard A. Volpert is vice president, board member, and Central Florida Regional Manager for Burdines department store.

Willard E. Wisler is the administrator of Winter Park Memorial Hospital and chairman of the Florida Hospital Association.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Excessive Flab Must Go Slowly

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm 5 feet 8 and weigh 240 pounds. I went to doctors for pills to lose weight but they make my heart beat so fast and I'm so nervous I can't go to sleep at night. They didn't give me a list of foods I can eat and cannot eat. They just told me to cut down on things I do eat. I have tried everything and I can't lose weight.

few calories of fresh fruits or vegetables to avoid losing too fast. And check in with your doctor as you progress.

Would you please send me a diet to lose weight and tell me what kind of vitamins to take while I'm on a diet? I'm 27 years old and have no friends or boyfriends to go out with. I guess no one likes to be seen with me anymore because I'm so fat.

Many diet pills do cause problems. In general, I think it is best to follow a sensible diet and exercise program and lose weight gradually but safely and permanently.

Then you will need to be on a diet that does not cause you to lose too much salt and water, or your body chemistry will become seriously affected - which can be dangerous.

Would you explain bacteremia to me? Do you think it is necessary for me to take antibiotics in the future? It is almost time for me to have my teeth cleaned again.

DEAR DR. LAMB - A while back, I was hospitalized for severe chills and high fever. After many blood tests, X-rays, etc., it was diagnosed as bacteremia. I was told that this was the result of excessive bleeding of my gums while having my teeth cleaned a few days previously. I was advised to take antibiotics before and after any future dental work.

DEAR READER - With that history you should definitely take antibiotics whenever your teeth are cleaned or when you have other dental work or ask your doctor if you have any other medical problem. Bacteremia refers to bacteria in the blood stream. Ordinarily when we get some bacteria in the circulation the defense mechanisms kill them. But if a person has a diseased heart valve or some congenital heart defects the bacteria implant can set up an infection.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Friday, January 21, 1983

YOUR BIRTHDAY

January 21, 1983 Be alert for opportunities this coming year which could take you off into new fields of endeavor. These openings may come through friendships you already have established.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Try to avoid situations today where you could feel forced to take a position opposing the majority. You won't like being out on the limb by yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Look out for your own interest today, but try to do so in ways others will not think are too self-serving. Be fair in all your dealings. Order now: the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic combinations, compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $1 for your Aquarius Astro-Graph predictions for 1983. Be sure to give birth date.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You are likely to be more successful today in independent ventures than you will be in those requiring a team effort. Associates could hold you back.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be helpful today, but also be careful not to let others palm off onto you responsibilities they should be tending to themselves.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Difficult tasks will be made even harder today if your attitude is negative. Try to find pleasure in what you hope to accomplish.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be doubly carefully how you handle your financial affairs today. Carelessness could lead to costly, hard-to-correct mistakes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Try to maintain control of your involvements today. In situations where too much is left up to others, things could go awry.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's important today to be realistic regarding goals and objectives you set for yourself. If you strive for the unobtainable you'll be disappointed.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You might not be in the mood to do so, but it would be advisable to pamper your mate a bit today, rather than to take an opposing position.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you discover obstacles in CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your normally cautious approach could desert you today. You might be tempted to take chances where you shouldn't. Don't step out of character.

ond trump. This time East rose with the ace and returned a trump to dummy. South was now in a dilemma. He could take a simple diamond finesse, return to dummy with the queen of clubs, repeat the diamond finesse and score the slam. The alternate play would be to play four rounds of clubs to discard one of dummy's diamonds and then take a ruffing finesse against the king. South decided on the latter line because East had shown up with one more trump than West. The play lost and so did South. South should have thought a little longer at trick one. Then he would have found a dummy reversal play to avoid any diamond problem. Here it is: Cash the second high heart, ruff a heart high, lead the deuce of trumps to dummy's seven. The best defense is for East to win and lead a trump back. South wins in dummy and ruffs dummy's last heart high. Now he comes to dummy with the queen of clubs, plays out dummy's last two trumps and makes the last four tricks - the diamond ace and three top clubs. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby South studied the hand before playing a high heart from dummy. The study, such as it was, didn't work out the winning line of play. He led a trump at trick two. East ducked. South led a sec-
