Market Basket Costs More, Holds Less

WASHINGTON (AP) - While high farm prices accounted for most of last year's gain in retail food prices, so far this year it has been the middleman who pushed up the family grocery bill, new government figures show.

In a related development, the Labor Department said today that wholesale price increases in October ranged across virtually the entire

Over-all, wholesale price increases-which normally are reflected quickly at the retail level-were a seasonally adjusted 22.6 per cent higher than a year earlier, the biggest 12-month increase since a 28.5 per cent increase in the 12 months ending in June of 1947. Sharply higher prices for food and 1975 automobiles contributed to a 2.3 per cent surge in wholesale prices in

Consumer foods increased 4 per cent in October at wholesale, farm products were up 2.6 per cent, processed foods and feeds rose 3.2 per cent, and industrial prices climbed 1.1 per cent. The middleman's growing share of the family grocery bill was reflected in figures for a statistical market basket of farm-produced food. During the first nine months of this year, the market basket cost an annual rate of $197 more than it did for all of 1973, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday.

Middlemen accounted for $166 - about 84 per cent - of the increase while the share going to farmers went up $31 on an annual basis in the first three quarters.

In other economic developments, the Federal Reserve Board moved to pump more money into the nation's economy for the Christmas shopping season and Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton resurrected the proposal to raise gasoline taxes to provide additional revenues and encourage fuel conservation.

And President and Mrs. Ford signed a consumer pledge that the President said he hopes will be part of "a concerted mass effort to stop

Agriculture Department experts said the average market basket retail cost during the first three quarters of 1974 was $1,734 annually Of that, middlemen got $1,003 while farmers received $731. In 1973, which experienced soaring farm prices and federal price curbs on wholesalers and retailers in much of the year, the food basket cost $1,537, including $837 for middlemen and $700 for farmers.

Officials said the 1973 market basket cost was up $266 from 1972 and that the farm share accounted for $176 - about 78 per cent - of the

But now the situation has been reversed, with middleman margins comprising most of the 1974 consumer food price gains, according to USDA

As a result of the decline in the farm share of the market basket - a theoretical indicator based on a year's food requirements for a household of 3.2 persons — the farmer's portion of each consumer food dollar has gradually slipped from the peak in mid-1973.

In the third quarter, USDA said, farmers received an average of 41 cents from each consumer food dollar. Although that was up one penny from the second quarter, it was eight cents below their share in JulySeptember, 1973.

Meanwhile, the Agriculture Department said it had rejected at least temporarily a plan to boost minimum milk prices guaranteed to farmers in federal marketing order areas.

And consumer and industry spokesmen agreed that shoppers save only pennies a week when supermarkets stop marking up the prices of items already on the shelf.

Depressing News In Small Packages

Monitoring the news can be a depressing experience. The daily headlines are bad enough: Strikes, shortages, killings, inflation, unem-

But the stories that really get to you are the smaller items that don't measure up to the "big" stories in general interest but tell us some sobering things about ourselves and our society. These are clipped and saved - usually under piles of scrap paper or stuffed in suit coat pockets - against the day when we are either fresh out of subject matter for this space or feel strong enough to face up to some unusually depressing developments This week's collection includes the running battle over textbooks in West Virginia, the eating habits of delegates to the World Food Conference. the "handicap" of having a Boy Scout image and the "protection" offered customers by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

We've never really been able to determine just what textbooks the West Virginia parents want removed or why. It apparently has something to do with communism and the absence of God, but no one to our knowledge has ever spelled it out in detail. We do know that the protest has resulted in violence and, even worse, the almost complete closing of the school system.

It may very well be that the textbooks contain passages parents might find offensive; it may very well be that they are absolutely right in protesting the use of these textbooks in the schools.

What can't be justified is the boycotting of classes. The protesting parents are "saving" their children from ideas and philosophies with which they disagree but closing the doors on education of any type. Reading, writing and arithmetic, for instance, leave little room for any clash of ideas or ilosophies and these subjects are at least as important as anything the children might come across in a civics or social science class.

Meanwhile, over in Rome delegates to the conference charged with trying to find a way to avert mass starvation in developing countries are apparently determined that they won't be among the victims. The Associated Press reported, among other things, that the busiest spot in the hour before the opening session was the bar where waiters dispensed 15-cents-a-cup coffee to delegates who wanted to know why there wasn't any milk or Danish pastry; the fixed menu for the first day's lunch at the conference center offered delegates the choice of four kinds of pasta, four kinds of meat, two vegetables, desert and wine, beer mineral water or a cola drink.

Back home, Sen. Robert Dole (R-Kan.) was giving President Ford a little advice on how to run the White House. The senator said, in effect, that if President Ford wants the Republican nomination in 1976 and then win the election he is going to have to do something about the economy and, probably, go to the mat with the Congress. The Kansas senator wasn't too optimistic. The President, he said, will have to toughen up a little . . . "I think he has sort of a Boy Scout image." In the light of some of the things that took place in the White House in recent years a Boy Scout image doesn't strike us as

The public, for instance, might welcome a Boy Scout image at the CAB which is supposed to regulate the airline industry in the interest of the general public. In addition to approving the elimination of such things as family, youth and excursion fares the CAB rejected requests by United, TWA and American Air Lines to cut their fares by $10 when the carriers eliminated the coach lounges from the giant 747 jets between Chicago and Los Angeles. The CAB finally permitted a $5 reduction. Continental Airlines wanted to retain the lounge but reduce the fare $10, anyhow. The CAB said no. If you keep the lounge you're going to have to charge extra for it. Its been that kind of a week.

Soup Lines Attracting New Faces

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - The old man looks uncomfortable and out of place as he enters the skid row soup kitchen a half dozen blocks from the nation's capitol. He speaks to somebody, then to somebody else, finally being directed to the fellow in charge.

"Beg your pardon," he says, his hand going nervously into a pocket, "I was wondering if you have any spare bread. I've got this neighbor, you see, she's not well off, and I thought if you had anything extra, well, I thought maybe I could take it to her to help."

Such scenes are increasing at the SOME soup kitchen (So Others May Eat) on North Capitol St. in Washington, and perhaps throughout the nation as well. The bread lines are getting longer and are changing in character and personnel. The winos and derelicts still queue up, to be sure, but so do increasing numbers of elderly poor, workless mothers with babies, and other citizens on the fringe of hard times and desperation. They are easy to spot, the new ones. Veronica Maz of the SOME kitchen identifies them by their shoes, laced and intact. Then too, the new

IN BRIEF

Fishermen Ask Market Study

MIAMI (AP) - A spokesman for several hundred commercial fishermen who hung up their nets in a price dispute with processors says the fishermen will ask for a federal study of the fish-marketing industry.

"We will meet in Belle Glade this Friday to discuss getting the federal government to do an in-depth marketing survey," Mike Weiner said Wednesday. "That's about the only way we'll learn how much it costs to process a Spanish mackerel." Some 250 members of the Florida Fishermen's Marketing Association refused to leave the docks last week when processors dropped their price for Spanish mackerel from 20 cents a pound to 13. "The mackerel negotiating committee has met with four of the five leading processors in the state in the past 36 hours," Weiner said, "We have had offers ranging from 14 cents to 16 cents a pound. 9 grand its bound to happen some time. At the stock car tracks Billy Price finished ninth in the hobby point standings at Volusia County Speedway which is quite a feat for a first year driver. Billy has sold his car to Mike Morgan and will now build a Chevelle for next year. The season at VCS is now over and the track champions for 1974 were Curtis Crider in the late models and Lindberg Howard in the hobby stocks. The track will be shut down until the big races in February.

Turner Wins

Norman Turner of Lake Mary put his 1967 Ford Cortina in to the victory circle at Putnam County Speedway for the second time in a row as he edged out fellow Sanford racer Bob Boyd in a Karman Ghia. Grady Pickle had his car there but his driver did not show so Pickle who has one of the fastest mini stocks in Florida climbed in it himself for his first ride in the car in competition. He finished last but he had fun. Pickle has driven Fuel Dragsters and with a little more driving in his mini probably would become as good as he was on the drag circuit. Norman was telling me that the track is a 1/4 mile dirt oval and is really a fun track. The purse is not that big but they are trying to raise it as the crowd gets bigger. Putnam County Speedway runs every Sunday at 1:30 is located near Palatka and Turner said he was back in Sanford by 6 p.m. so they must put on a quick show.

Golden Gate Speedway had the Florida State Championship Sunday and it was Michigan star Ed Howe taking the win, his second in three trips to Tampa. Howe who won in 1972 and was second in 1971 took the lead on the 92nd lap and held it till the finish of the 200 lap race to win over $3,000 for one afternoon of work. Howe doesn't race much during the year as his partner Tom Maier does most of the driving. Howe's time is taken up building cars for fellow racers and he said that he puts out about 100 of them a year. The way his car runs the competition has better hope that none of that 100 comes down with him next year. Orlando's Bobby Newton surprised everyone by leading the first 92 laps then having handling trouble. Charles Mincey of Ac-worth, Ga. finished second just inches behind Howe and Billy Barnwell of Hialeah took a close third Mincey also won the suncoast 100 at St. Pete on Saturday night worth $1,000.

Auburndale Opening

Auburndale Speedway Park located in the heart of Florida between Lakeland and Winter Haven on SR 542 will have their grand opening this Saturday night on a high banked 1-3rd mile asphalt oval. The track will be a fans track built with the fan in mind. There will be a nursery for children, a play ground, a first aid station with a doctor and nurse there at all times, attendants in the restrooms and even custom made hot dogs at the concession stands. With all the tracks being closed down for the season there should be quite a turn out of cars for Bill Reno's opening night.

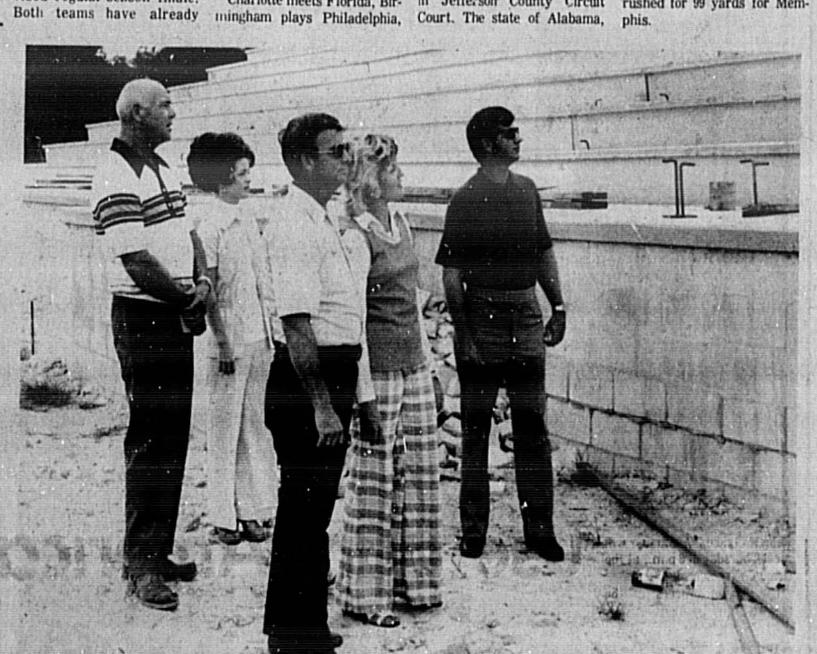

Hardships Continue It was a good week for some of Sanford's racing stars as the drag and stock car tracks felt the onslaught of our locals. At Lakeland Terry Martin had his little black Pinto turning right on his

WASHINGTON BULLETS

NBA - Central Division 1973-74 finish: W 47, L 35 — 1st place

After the Bullets had completed the 1973-74 season - as has become their custom, losing to New York in the playoffs -Coach K.C. Jones said, "I can see the Bullets coming." So can

The Bullets have the best established rebounding combination in the league in Wes Unseld and Elvin Hayes, a sharpshooting star in Phil Chenier, a whippetlike backcourtman in Kevin Porter and a group of interesting newcomers in veterans Clem "The Gem" Haskins and Dick Gibbs, and rookies Leonard Robinson, Dennis "Sweet D" DuVal and Steve Platt. With Hayes and Unseld controlling the boards, they execute the fast break as well as any team in the league.

FORWARDS: Hayes, a reformed individual since joining the sullets from Houston, where he had extreme problems with his each and teammates, won his second rebounding title last season, averaging 18.1. He also averaged 21.4 points a game and six brilliant playoff games against the Knicks before wilting in the final. Mike Riordan, a persistent hustler, solid defensive player and consistently efficient, averaged nearly 16 points a ame. Nick Weatherspoon and Tom Kozelko, both rookies last eason, were developing rapidly, while Gibbs, obtained from eattle, is capable. Rating: A-.

CENTER: Unseld, often plagued by an arthritic left knee, is the backbone of the club when on the court. Although at 6-7 he is the shortest center in the NBA, he makes up for it with the strength of his 250-pound body. Although he is not a scoring machine, he is regarded as the best outlet passer in the game. While his defense is sometimes overlooked because he is not a shot-blocker (he is not a great leaper), he clogs the middle ef ficiently so opponents are less likely to drive for easy shots. Robinson is built along the same lines as Unseld, although no yet as bulky, and the Bullets hope he becomes as good as Wes.

GUARDS: Chenier often has been compared physically to the Knicks' Walt Frazier, and last season, his play greatly esembled that of the star New Yorker. In fact, Chenier outlayed Frazier most of the time in their head-on battles during he regular season and playoffs. The diminutive Porter harnessed his power, blossomed into a reliable scorer (14.0) and isually was on the front end of the Bullets' fast break. One thing he has to curb, however, is his tendency to foul. Haskins is a deadly outside shooter, DuVal a smooth operator and Platt was the nation's leading small college scorer last season. Rating: A PREDICTION: The Bullets, playing in the league's weakes livision, will have no trouble winning their fifth straight division title. The major problem Jones will have will be in preparing his team for the playoffs, where the Bullets have crumbled so often in the past. First in Central.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Alvin "Pete" Rozelle, who made his points on a typewriter instead of by handling a ball, has won a place in the University of San Francisco's Athletic Hall of Fame, the USF Alumni Association announced Wednesday.

The National Football League commissioner, a 1950 USF graduate and the school's athletic news director from 1948-52, will be here Friday for induction into the Hall of Fame along with seven former stars in basketball, baseball and track and another non-athlete - physical therapist Ivar Johnson.

In the last year of his tenure as sports publicity director at USF, Rozelle doubled as assistant athletic director. Rozelle had something to write about when he was touting USF sports, for the Dons won a national basketball title, an NCAA team tennis title and fielded one of the best feetball teams in the nation.

DEAR ABBY Son Generous With Pa's Cash

DEAR ABBY: Our son, who has always been a very seriousminded and responsible boy, has just started college away from

We opened a checking account for him, and agreed to send him through college as long as his grades held up. We get all his cancelled checks, and were shocked to learn that so far he has written checks totalling $350 to support a far out religious group he became interested in since he started college.

My husband has worked hard for his money. We support our own church, and don't feel that our money should be used in this

Ou son has worked and earned some money, which is also in his checking account, and he claims that he is supporting this religious cult with HIS money, not ours.

He is a sensitive boy, but easily persuaded, and we fear he has been taken in. We are not made of money, and want to know how to handle this situation. Thank you.

DEAR UPSET: You agreed to subsidize your son's education - not his religious charities. Pay his tuition and other related college expenses and let him donate his hard-earned money (not yours) to whatever he wishes. DEAR ABBY: My daughter has a son, 9, and a daughter, 7. In the past, when I've been asked to keep the children overnight at my apartment, I've had to bed them down together in a large double bed because that's the only sleeping accommodations I

I am now of the opinion that the time has come when they should not be sharing one bed. When I told my daughter this, and offered to go to her home to stay with the kiddies, where each child has a bed alone, she said: "Well, if that's the way your thinking is, I might as well have a sitter come in." She gave me the impression that she thought I was an evil-minded old lady.

Lumberjack Climbs Peaks, Not Trees

SEATTLE (AP) - Because the average American family is having trouble getting a loan for a new home these days, Ernie Reef is up on Mount Index trying to shoot a mountain goat.

Later this month the 64-yearold Reef will move to lower elevations and try to kiil a moose. By the time spring comes he hopes the economy will be such that he can return to work at the Everett Plywood Corp. Reef is just one of several thousand lumber industry workers around the country - and especially in the Northwest - who have recently been laid off or found themselves working short hours. Some, such as Reef, spend their spare hours hunting. Nationally, home construction has withered in the grips of tight money and high interest rates. There were more than 2 million housing starts in 1973. But only 1.4 million starts are predicted for 1974. The drop has caused widespread curtailment and layoffs in the lumber industry, and especially in plywood production. Some 7,500 men are believed to be out of work. Plywood manufacturers from Florida to Louisiana to Montana to the Northwest were caught from both sides: a tumbling retail price for their product and a doubling and tripling of raw material costs.

Prices have been on a steady decline since last spring. Halfinch plywood sneathing that sold for $190 per thousand square feet in February 1973, dipped to $155 last April and is now about $110, according to Crow's Weekly Plywood Letter, an independent price reporting service. The American Plywood Association, which represents 150 of the nation's 190 mills, reports that 13 mills, including six in Oregon and three in Louisiana, were closed during the week ending Nov. 2. Another 52 had curtailed production by more than 10 per cent.

"I've been in the business since 1947 and haven't seen it quite like this," said Leroy McCormick, marketing manager for the Simpson Timber Co. "In other times of recession we could always find someone to buy something at a price. Some of the lower grades we used to sell for $50 and $60 a thousand. But now it's cheaper to put them into

Enigmas Haunt Inflation Fighters

NEW YORK (AP) - While inflation is to most people an enigma that leads to a dilemma, there are some especially confusing aspects of this formance- paradoxes, some

1. Wages are rising but spendable income is falling. Many American families were slow to face up to or stare through this illusion. They saw that weekly paycheck growing larger, but they were reluctant to recognize that the numbers didn't mean what they did in

During 1970 through 1972, both wages and prices in-

than the increase in incomes. To illustrate: In 1972 the avearge weekly earnings of production workers rose 7 per cent, or more than double the 3.3 per cent rise in the Consumer Price Index. In 1973 wages rose 6.3 per cent, prices

prices have tended to rise faster

This year the decline in wages versus prices has been pronounced, with average weekly earnings rising at a 7 per cent rate and consumer prices at more than 12. 2. Corporate profits are up despite the erosion of economic activity. Don't believe it, say creased, but the former ex-

Despite the downturn in the economy, it is true that one company after another has reported record high profits. If you took those figures at face value you might believe a boom

The explanation, say businessmen and economists, lies in inflation itself. Many companies have large inventories of commodities in their warehouses, waiting to be manufactured into consumer and capital

While these goods remain in their raw or semi-processed state, prices are rising. That means a company that bought a raw material at $1 a pound ventory value of $1.30. That's inventory profit. First National City Bank estimates the value of inventories

at the beginning of this year was about $250 billion, which makes a 1 per cent price increase amount to $2.5 billion That's just for a 1 per cent increase - but the wholesale price index this year has risen at close to 30 per cent. Eliminate those inventory profits, say the experts, and you'll find that a real squeeze is now being exerted on profit

3. Families report they try to cut down on their spending but it doesn't seem to help.

what you've been told is a sound and economical manner and still not see the results. The answer lies in the figures that make up the Consumer Price

It's true. You can behave in

If you reviewed the prices of items in the CPI you'd find that the slowest risers are those items that we've probably cut down on already, the luxuries or at least the expendables.

The big increases on the other hand are among necessities: potatoes, sugar, home heating oil, hospital rooms, legal services. You can't cut back on them without serious and probably damaging consequences.

By CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An excellent day and evening for you to rely more upon your prophetic insight. Advancement can now be gained by looking into activities and interests that have not been a part of your life. Be alert when opportunity knocks. ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Your success can be increased if you ally yourself more with persons whose experiences have been

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You know exactly how to make a better impression on the one you love and should follow through on such. Don't neglect responsibilities. GERMINI (May 21 to June 21) Formulate a plan whereby you can ascertain what your position is with associates. Get rid of any unwanted pressures. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Delve into routine tasks that need doing instead of procrastinating. Take time to improve your health and appearance.

1.EO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you study the details concerning entertainment plans you have, you can be successful with them

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Gain the views of family members and then make your home more comfortable in which to live. Happiness can be yours for the asking. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are able to entertain friends today after your work is done and have a delightful time. Plan SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are in need of more income now and will be inspired just how to get it. Consult an expert SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan for tomorrow's activity during spare time today. Attending the social affair tonight will be to your advantage. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Coordinate new ideas with the plans you have in mind. Be helpful to good friends who in turn Orig. to $10 AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you show good friends that rou value the alliance, you will gain their loyalty. Show increased PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Put aside personal matters and andle important public matters in a most efficient way. A quite evening is best for you now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will have many good ideas developing early in life. It is wise to plan a fine education that will include the study of foreign language and varying philosophies. There is likely to be much travel to foreign countries in this chart.

HOW TO ERASE A GOOD PART OF YOUR FUTURE...

Here it comes again ... another shoplifting pitch. We know you've heard it before, but read on. Shoplifting is stealing. It is punishable by law and it labels you a criminal. It can wipe out your hopes for the future. It gets you a court record that can't be erased. Say goodby to college plans or landing a job. Employers will think twice before they hire a thief. Is that wallet, necklace or lipstick you pocket worth the price you must pay in the end?

"When the President takes a positive stand on spending, it has an effect," Luecke said, adding that Ford's admonition to the people to save rather than spend some weeks ago also had a telling effect.

Grayson's opinion was that President Ford's call for saving had little effect, but his approval for spending "has come at a time that will help business even more."

The President's position one way or the other has nothing to do with it, Munson said. " think the people have made up their minds and will do what they want to regardless of what Ford says or does.

Ford Advises Buying Now;

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — President Ford has assured Americans they need not postpone purchases to help fight inflation and that he will not seek wage and price controls or Fielding wide-ranging questions at an on-the-road news conference, Ford also said:

-He wants Congress to promptly confirm Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president and stressed there are "no conditions I can imagine" that would force him to withdraw Rockefeller's nomination.

-He won't fire Gen. George S. Brown as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for his remarks about Jewish influence in America. -He plans to make his trip to the Far East as scheduled next week. -Republicans "took a licking" in last week's congressional elections because of past scandals and a slumping economy but that is no reason to change the GOP role as "a middle-of-the-road party." -While the United States can't force Israel flation is to curtail buying. He defended his economic proposals, declaring "I see no justification for any major revisions" in the package he presented

As for wage and price controls, Ford declared anew that he will not ask Congress to enact mandatory or standby controls and that there are "no circumstances I foresee today that would justify" such controls. When asked whether he had in mind any tax increases other than his proposed five per cent surtax, Ford responded "no." He nixed talk of a possible gasoline tax ncrease. The talk had been spurred anew by Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton's assertion this week that such a tax boost was
