

England's Premier To Probably Call Conference July 16

Inter-Allied Meeting At London Will Be To Speed Execution of the Dawes Report

Wants America To Be Represented

Premiers of England And France Come to Decision on Sunday

LONDON, June 23.—Prime minister MacDonald told the House of Commons this afternoon that his conference with premier Herriot of France is preliminary to an inter-allied conference to meet in London, probably July 16. The communiqué, issued last night, covered the ground the converse, said the premier, but added "It is highly probable that America be represented at the inter-allied conference of July 16. We are at the moment in communication, but a communication to that effect will be made to the American government at once. A meeting between the French and British prime ministers was held at Chequers Saturday and Sunday. Friendly and informal discussions took place on several occasions which arose out of the report and measures to be taken in order to put it into execution. No definite conclusion could, however, be arrived at pending consultations with the Italian and Japanese governments.

General Agreement

The conversations revealed a general agreement between the French and British points of view on the part of the two prime ministers a common determination to meet the difficulties which beset the world, by continuous conversation, was agreed that, subject to the convenience of the two conferences should be held in London not later than the middle of July for the purpose of settling the procedure to be followed.

The two prime ministers agreed to a visit to Geneva together at the opening of the assembly of the league of nations in September.

The courtly formality of old-time diplomacy was noticeably absent from the meeting. The French premier arrived at Chequers Court late evening in the midst of a shower. They were met at the entrance to the house by the British prime minister wearing a suit. Dinner was waiting and party sat down immediately.

The meal ended, they adjourned to the library where the conversation began forthwith and did not cease until 1:30 a. m. They resumed breakfast today and were adjourned until lunch time at 2:30. Then, clearly, the two statesmen strenuously thrashed out all of the difficult questions concerning the league.

U. S. Would Approve

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The American government would look upon any warm approval upon any agreement designed to expedite the execution of the Dawes report, it was stated in official quarters Sunday when attention was called to the agreement between the French and British premiers for inter-allied conferences on that subject in July.

The "foreign policy" of the United States, it was stated, has been based almost entirely on the conviction that the economic re-education of Europe could be initiated from within and carried to a point which would justify the permanent co-operation in some substantial manner. The program outlined in the Dawes report was as affording a hopeful method of inaugurating the recovery, and officials here have frequently expressed hope that it would be put into effect.

Florida East Coast to Issue Certificates

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The Florida East Coast today applied for authority to issue 1,000 five per cent equipment certificates which have been authorized by the Federal Reserve board. The certificates are to be used for the purchase of 25 locomotives, three passenger coaches, 100 box cars, 200 freight cars and 100 ballast cars.

GOVERNOR SMITH AND HIS MANAGER ARE OPTIMISTIC

New York Governor Has Strenuous Sunday—Supervises Subway Tie-Up—Goes to Church—Enjoys Swim

NEW YORK, June 23.—Sunday in the Alfred E. Smith for president headquarters was marked by expressions of optimism on the part of the New York governor and his campaign manager, Franklin D. Roosevelt, both of whom reiterated, without qualification, statements that Mr. Smith would be selected as the standard bearer of the Democratic party.

Governor Smith began a strenuous day by going to church, later to Sea Gate for a cooling dip in the ocean and thence to supervise personally a traffic tie-up in the Brooklyn subway system. The tie-up began moving soon after he arrived and he went to his headquarters offices.

There was no break during the day in the line of callers at the Smith headquarters. The governor said members of the Arizona, Florida, Montana, Iowa, Maine, Oklahoma, Virginia and Ohio delegations had assured him that he was gaining strength in their respective groups and it was not improbable that he might receive a majority in one or two of the delegations named, which, under the unit rule, would give him the state's support.

At the meeting with the newspaper men late in the day, Gov. Smith gave his ideas on "progressive Democracy" and pointed to his record at Albany this year as proving his qualification to that claim. "My idea of a progressive Democrat," he said, "is a man who in office and in the rank and file of the party stands for progressive ideas and thought of modern government. We have some who talk about progress in government but who never do anything."

Describes Reactionary

He described the "reactionary" as "one who is still satisfied with the little red schoolhouse and the prohibition provisions and possibly other things that are not in the program of the party."

Confidence in Governor

At the meeting with the newspaper men, Governor Smith said that the chief differences regarding the plan is whether that organization shall be named. Some of those high in party councils oppose such a step, urging, instead, that the convention adopt the language of the Virginia Democratic convention platform which asserts that any "sect or order or creed which assails or seeks, openly or covertly, to impair this inalienable right of religious freedom is to be condemned and resisted as a menace to organized society."

Other chief points

Other chief points in the program which shall be named as such and that there shall be a strong declaration against its activities. Geo. E. Brennan, of Illinois, declared emphatically today that nothing short of this would receive the approval of the government without (Continued on page 6)

Wheeler's Charge

Mr. Wheeler charged that Governor Smith's latest declaration on the wet and dry question "does not harmonize with his public record" and further stated that "the friends of law enforcement will meet and defeat this scheme to nullify the constitution, and will relentlessly oppose Governor Smith and all others who champion the indefensible wet program."

Governor Smith countered with a statement that his position on the prohibition issue remained unchanged, but made no reference to the Wheeler charges.

"I think we are wet enough now as it is," said Mr. Taggart, who added that he was "personally wet and politically dry."

Mr. Taggart is strongly of the opinion that the platform should have a strong plank in opposition to the Ku-Klux Klan but without specifically naming that organization.

Maughan Completes First Lap of Flight

DAYTON, June 23.—Lieut. Russell M. Maughan landed at McCook Field from Mitchell Field at 7:05 eastern time and took off at 8:16 in a third attempt to span the continent from dawn to dusk. He covered the first lap, New York to Dayton, 575 miles, in four hours and seven minutes.

Two unsuccessful attempts in the past year had not darkened his ardor. The lieutenant took to the air at half a minute before 3 o'clock, eastern standard time, at Mitchell Field, N. Y., this morning.

GENERAL PLAN OF PLATFORM AGREED UPON

Outlines of Democratic Platform Finished But Fight on Several Planks Is Anticipated by Leaders

NEW YORK, June 23.—General outlines of the platform to be presented this week for consideration by the platform committee of the Democratic national convention have been agreed upon by party leaders who have undertaken this task. There remain, however, wide differences over the wording of a number of the most important of the proposed planks.

There are threats of sharp contests in the committee on the foreign relations, Ku-Klux Klan and prohibition provisions and possibly other things that are not in the program of the party.

Fifteen Cases Are Tried in Municipal Court This Morning

Of the 15 cases arraigned before Judge J. C. Sharon at the morning session of the municipal court, there was a case of drunkenness which was of a unique character. A negro woman was charged with getting drunk on the contents of a can of "Sterno," or canned heat, which is composed largely of alcohol. A had the effect of making her want to preach in a local hotel.

In two cases $100 bonds were posted for failure to appear in court. These were on charges of possession of intoxicants, and driving a car while drunk. Several cases were for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, and others for violation of speed and parking ordinances. Fines, costs and restitution totaled $281.

The cases as arraigned are as follows: James Black, drunkenness, $10 bond; M. G. Albritton, driving a car while drunk, $100 bond; Tom Scott, violation of parking ordinance, $5 bond; David Laine, driving without tall lights, $5 bond; A. A. Brooks, drunkenness, continued to Wednesday; H. A. Spurr, reckless driving, continued to Wednesday; J. W. Eaton, reckless driving, continued to Wednesday; Sozanna Mallory, possession of intoxicants, $100 bond; David Wright, speeding, $5 bond; Isaac Thurston, drunkenness, $10 bond; Annie Stephenson, drunk and disorderly, $5 and costs or 10 days in jail; Willie Poole, reckless driving, $15 bond; Sarah Thomas, drunkenness, $10 bond; Robert Thomas, drunkenness, $10 bond; Walter Young, disorderly conduct, $5 and costs or 10 days in jail.

WOMEN DESIRE CHAIRMANSHIP 2 COMMITTEES

Four Hundred and Sixteen Women Delegates and Alternates to National Democratic Convention Will Make Fight For Chairmanship of Credentials and Permanent Organization Committees

NEW YORK, June 23.—Backed by 416 women delegates and alternates, or almost one-fourth of the convention membership, Democratic women leaders Sunday inaugurated a determined fight to gain two major committee chairmanships. The fight, after a careful canvass of delegates, they said, the outlook for success was bright.

Chairmanships of the credentials and permanent organization committees are the objectives. Mrs. Leroy Springs of Lancaster, S. C., and Mrs. Daniel O'Day of New York are suggested for the credentials chairmanship. Both are prominent and either, it is said, will be acceptable to the majority of the women. A western woman, still to be chosen, will be put forward for the permanent organization chairmanship.

Professional Methods

Campaigning for the chairmanships is being done in a professional way. First, the women decided it would be poor policy, because of their inexperience in things political, to attempt to gain either the rules or resolutions chairmanships, so they passed them. Not, however, without sending word to men leaders that they would not ask for the places and explaining why. Then, under the leadership of Mrs. Emily Newell Blair of Joplin, Mo., vice-chairman of the national committee, they began canvassing delegates for pledges to elect members of the two committees whose chairmen they hoped to name. If the women have their way they will also have a woman majority on each committee.

Women leaders base their claims for recognition on the fact that they have almost 40 per cent more representation in the convention than they ever had before. In 1920 there were 298 women in the convention. There were 16 in 1916 and only two, from Washington and Colorado, suffrage states, in 1912. Sixteen women made speeches in the 1920 convention. The number who will speak this year will be much larger, it is said.

Avoid Klan and Dry Planks

Other than the fight for chairmanships, there promises to be no outstanding feature of the women's activities. They are not fighting a unit for any plank, according to leaders, they are carefully avoiding the Klan and prohibition plank controversy.

The opposing factions on the equal rights amendment, who clashed at the Republican convention, are here in full strength and already have appeared before the woman's advisory committee, of which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York is chairman. That committee makes recommendations in writing on the women's rights and other planks in the women's organizations are interested.

Where Park Husbands?

The question of where to park husbands of women delegates while their wives are discharging their convention activities, once settled, having been settled by furnishing the husbands stage tickets, most of the family problems in the women's section are out of the picture. There was much concern, however, when it was found that the women delegates and alternates had been invited to a dinner tomorrow night but that no official entertainment had been provided for their husbands. When this news reached the husbands little agitation was shown, so it now appears that the husbands will have tomorrow night off.

Three delegations boast husband and wife as members. They are Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Springs of South Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. John McAdams of Colorado, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Dooley of Porto Rico.

"Canned Heat" Has Kick that Inspires Negro Woman to Evangelistic Work

Something entirely new under the sun in the way of intoxicating beverages is now being offered by one, Annie Stephenson, a negroess of this city, who introduced for the first time in Sanford on Saturday a drink calculated to put the bootlegger out of business inasmuch as it can be purchased from various kinds of business houses and for a price which is many times cheaper than that offered by the bootlegger.

While there is no law against selling this particular brand of intoxicant there is still that ordinance against drunkenness which holds good in case the person imbibes too freely of any drink which has a stimulating effect. And so it was in the case of Annie. Now Annie had no trouble in procuring the liquid exhilarator but it was the aftermath that put her in trouble or at least the effect which it had upon her.

There is no use in keeping the name of the drink a secret any longer for it will come out sooner or later. The fact is that Annie, thinking to be original and wishing to thwart the bootleggers, has been drinking Sterno or better known as "canned heat." That it serves better as a drink than as a heating necessity, is the assertion of Annie who was lodged in the local jail and tried this morning in municipal court.

The effect which the drink had upon Annie is as peculiar as the drink itself. Shortly after partaking of the contents of one can of Sterno, Annie began to feel the desire to impart biblical teachings and point out the "straight and narrow" path to the world. With this in mind she sallied forth in quest of someone to tell her story. Thinking of no better place, Annie decided to preach to a local hotel and all its occupants and message. Some of the hotel guests, evidently thinking more of a good afternoon's nap than the message which Annie was broadcasting in loud tones, complained to the manager, which in turn called the police. Annie was taken into custody as she was endeavoring to tell all about the "promised land."

CONVENTION TO SEE HARD FIGHT

FINISH TENTATIVE PROGRAMSUNDAY FOR FIRST 3 DAYS

Convention Managers Plan to Take Care of Adoption of Platform to Beginning of Nominations

NEW YORK, June 23.—Recognizing the probability of prolonged sessions, the Democratic National Convention managers have arranged only a tentative program for the first three days. These arrangements will carry the machinery of the convention past the adoption of the platform and to the beginning of the nominations for president. After that the program will be dictated by events.

In order to give the platform committee plenty of time for its work, the plan is to hear the nominating speeches for president when the committee is working; then to adopt the platform, and then proceed to the balloting for nominations. This same plan was followed in San Francisco four years ago.

First Day

Convention called to order by Chairman Hull. Invocation by Cardinal Hayes. Official photographs. Brief address by Chairman Hull. Reading of the official call for the convention. Recommendations for temporary officers and their election. A committee will escort Senator Harrison, temporary chairman, to the platform.

At this point Chairman Hull expects to ask the convention whether it desires Senator Harrison to deliver his address or take a recess until night. Should the address be postponed Chairman Hull expects the convention to proceed with organization by the adoption of rules and the reference of resolutions to the committee on platform and resolutions. Should the convention insist upon the speech being delivered immediately, organization will follow the speech.

Second Day

Convention called to order by Senator Harrison. Prayer. Report of committee on credentials. Report of committee on permanent organization. Address by the permanent chairman, Senator Walsh of Montana. Report of committee on rules and order of business. Adoption of rule limiting nominating speeches for president to 10 minutes and according speeches to three in number, also limiting nominating speeches for vice president to 10 minutes for each nominee and according speeches to (Continued on page 6)

Junior Board Trade of Tampa Will Send Delegation to Meet

A delegation composed of several members of the Tampa Junior Board of Trade will be in Sanford Wednesday to assist in the organization of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in this city on that night, according to a message which has just been received from the secretary of that organization by R. W. Pearman, Jr.

The message further stated that at least five people will be here and it is possible that Marvin H. Walker, secretary of the Tampa junior body, will also be able to make the trip. Decision of the members of that body to come here for Wednesday's meeting was prompted by the invitation of Secretary Pearman, which was extended to Mr. Walker in a letter several days ago.

At the meeting on Wednesday night, when a permanent organization of the local body will be perfected, a committee appointed at the first meeting last week, will present a constitution and a set of by-laws. It was learned today that this task has been nearly completed by the committee and that it will be in readiness for the meeting.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce was informally organized last Tuesday night when about 25 young men of this city met at the offices of the Chamber of Commerce following a campaign of chairmen of the organization, interest in the organization was worked up and about 50 names signed up for membership.

Wednesday night's meeting is expected to be largely attended as G. W. Spencer, Jr., temporary chairman of the organization, urged at the first meeting that a concerted effort be made to have a large representation present at the next meeting.

ANTHONY HEADS DIRECTORATE OF NEW LOCAL BANK

President of the Florida Bankers Association Elected Chairman of Board of Directors of New Bank

At the opening meeting of the new Sanford Bank and Trust Company held Saturday, J. R. Anthony of Jacksonville, was elected chairman of the Board of Directors. Mr. Anthony is president of the Florida Bankers Association, having been elected to that office at the annual convention held in Orlando last April. He is also vice-president of the Bankers' Finance Company of Jacksonville, and a financier of national reputation. Mr. Anthony has for many years been associated with the Witham System of Banks and in securing him to head its board of directors the new institution is declared assured of the benefits and protection of this strong system.

The other officers elected at the meeting Saturday to serve during the current year are: Wm. H. Tunnicliffe, president; Dr. S. Puleston, vice-president; F. H. Brown, cashier, and H. S. Pond, assistant cashier.

The board of directors, composed of men prominent in the business life of the city were elected as follows: J. R. Anthony, Wm. H. Tunnicliffe, Dr. S. Puleston, H. C. DuBose, H. B. Wight, C. F. Williams, Edward Higgins, Henry L. Welch, Roy F. Symes, E. H. Brown and R. J. Holly.

The Sanford Bank and Trust Company will engage in a general banking business, and in addition will conduct a trust business, being the successor of the Sanford Trust Co. in all trust capacities. The new bank is expected to open for business about the middle of July when it will take over the affairs of the Peoples Bank. With its strong board of directors, its connection with the well known Witham System of Banks and the fact that it is the first combined banking and trust company to be organized in this city, the new institution has a bright future, it is believed.

Atlantic Coast Line Posts $10,000 Bond

ATLANTA, June 23.—The Atlantic Coast Line today posted a bond of $10,000 with the clerk of federal district court to indemnify the Georgia State of Florida. The result of the settlement of the Florida watermelon through this state. This is in accordance with Judge Sibley's order Saturday, enjoining against the order of the Georgia veterinarian, Bahensen, holding up shipments of Florida watermelons. A similar bond was posted Saturday by the Seaboard. June 30 was set as the date for the hearing on a permanent injunction.

POPE MAKES APPOINTMENT

ROME, June 23.—Pope Pius today appointed Rev. Richard O. Gerow, rector of the Cathedral of Immaculate Conception at Mobile, as bishop of Natchez.

Forces of Smith And McAdoo rally About Standards for Long Fight To A Finish

Indiana Forces Select Ralston

Delegates Are Taken In Conferences By Campaign Leaders

NEW YORK, June 23.—Eleventh hour arrivals for the Democratic national convention thrust today into seething lobbies and teeming campaign headquarters found themselves in the midst of bewildering clamor, conflicting claims for various candidates and arguments over controverted questions of policy.

The swift currents of Sunday's maneuvering had brought no clear trend to indicate the course of events after the convention assembles Tuesday except that it is likely to be prolonged by fights on the floor over platform planks and possibly some of the rules as well as the battle for presidential nomination.

The opposing forces of McAdoo and Smith face each other in solid phalanx, each claiming victory, but each straining every resource to consolidate its position before the opening session of the convention is called to order Tuesday noon in Madison Square Garden.

A drive to swing delegates from the Southern States into the camp of Governor Smith will be instituted today under the direction of Norman E. Mack, former chairman of the national Democratic committee, and one of the leaders of the Smith forces. Those close to Mack learned every effort from Southern delegates under the Smith banner, either as first or second choice.

The name of Senator Ralston of Indiana was announced as the convention under an agreement between the two camps. The nomination of Governor Smith was announced today under the direction of Norman E. Mack, former chairman of the national Democratic committee, and one of the leaders of the Smith forces. Those close to Mack learned every effort from Southern delegates under the Smith banner, either as first or second choice.

Managers for a dozen other candidates are at work no less earnestly to build up a substantial backing for their favorites should their own candidate be overlooked. A group of leaders, after almost a week of consultation, has about perfected a tentative draft of the platform, but they realize that much of their work will have to be done over again in the convention hall. Under the surface, the fight over the Ku Klux Klan is stiffening, the agreement on a foreign relations plank is growing more complicated, and every arrangement brings in a new group of enthusiasts bent on incorporating some proposal in the party declaration of principles.

Two-Thirds Fight

Development continues, too, over the possibility of a fight to abolish the traditional convention rule requiring a two-thirds vote of the convention to select a nominee. Only a few are openly advocating the change, but the possibility of active support for it from the McAdoo camp has kept the proposal in a plane of prominence, in the event of gaining that number of delegates and leaders.

Reports of crumbling in the strength of the two leading candidates and of desired swings to this or that favorite son, also bob about on the churning eddies of press-conference talk, adding to the confusion of the newly arrived delegations and putting over-changing color into the convention atmosphere.

Throughout Sunday the delegates arrived in a constant procession and by tonight most of the 7,000 men and women who will (Continued on page 6)

McAdoo Welcomes Western Delegates

NEW YORK, June 23.—Progressive Democracy will receive the American government from the hands of the Democratic party, according to a statement made by McAdoo in an address given to delegates from the western States, Kansas and Philippines.

McAdoo and Smith Are Active as the Convention Nears

McAdoo's campaign manager had been tentatively appointed to place him in nomination. The governor had an appointment with Thomas H. B. ...

The Smith program for Saturday includes attendance as a spectator at the noon wedding at St. Patrick's Cathedral of Miss Marion ...

"I helped christen her," the governor said. "I ought to have a hand in her wedding, haven't I?"

His daughter, Miss Emily Smith, will be maid of honor.

"Supposing you and Mr. McAdoo should deadlock the convention," asked a reporter at the close of Governor Smith's final interview of the day, "who looks to you like the most promising dark horse?"

"If there's a dark horse in this convention, he's so dark I can't see him," was the reply.

Many Conferences
Carrying out a definite plan designed to strengthen and consolidate his position, William G. McAdoo devoted virtually all of his time Friday to conferences with chairmen of state delegations, members of the national committee and delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Abrogation of the two-thirds rule for the nomination of a presidential candidate was one subject of discussion at the conference, which proceeded singly or in groups. Decision as to the attitude of the McAdoo forces are to be taken on this question, however, will be deferred, probably until Sunday or later.

Meanwhile, the former treasury secretary will discuss it further with his visitors and advisers.

With Mr. McAdoo denying himself to newspaper correspondents and his lieutenants declining to discuss platform or other subjects, affirmative announcements from his headquarters in the Hotel Vanderbilt were few.

It was formally announced that former Senator James D. Phelan of California, who will arrive here today from Paris, will place Mr. McAdoo in nomination before the convention.

Little News Received of Mountain Climbers

BIRKENHEAD, Eng., June 21.—Brief messages from the Alpine Club at London last night announcing the death of George L. Mallory and A. C. Irvine and the safety of the remainder of the Mt. Everest expedition was all the news from the expedition that has been received up to noon today at the homes here of the two mountain climbers who met death on Mt. Everest.

Premiers Herriot and McDonald Confer

LONDON, June 21.—A conference between the new French premier, M. Herriot, and Premier MacDonald at Chequers Court today will be private, it was announced, and nothing will be issued for publication. It is believed that the Dawes report will occupy a large share of time while inter-allied debts are also expected to be a subject of exchange of views.

Boy Scouts Prohibit Alcohol and Tobacco

WARSAW, June 20.—The Polish Boy Scouts have introduced complete prohibition against alcohol and tobacco into their organization, and the restriction is rigorously applied to all except honorary members. On the recent feast of St. Stanislas, the patron saint of the Polish president, whose first name is Stanislas, the Scouts presented to him the Scout badge and made him an honorary member.

Immediately after receiving the decoration the president returned to his palace to receive numerous guests and delegations bringing him good wishes. When during the reception wine was served the president excused himself, saying, "I am wearing the Scout sign and therefore must respect the laws of the organization, so although it is my fate day, I do not feel free to drink wine."

Local Man Gets Appointment To Democratic Meet

After leaving New Haven, Mr. Dean spent a week on a fishing trip among the lower Florida keys. He reported that his party had excellent luck. In one night, he declared, eight tarpon were landed, all weighing between 80 and 120 pounds. The most exciting time of that night's activities, said Mr. Dean, was when one of the Silver Kings put up a fight of an hour and forty minutes before he was finally landed.

Mr. Dean expects to return to Sanford about July 6. On his return trip he will stop at Asheville, N. C., where he will attend the annual convention of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Final Date for Filing Of Capital Stock Tax Returns Is Extended

D. T. Gerow, collector of internal revenue, is in receipt of information from the department at Washington, stating that the necessary forms for filing capital stock tax returns have been revised and therefore have been delayed in printing. It is expected, however, that they will be available for filing July 1, 1924, and the revised regulations pertaining to capital stock tax will be ready for distribution very shortly thereafter. Owing to the delay in furnishing the forms to taxpayers it is felt that it would work a hardship upon the persons affected to require them to file these returns during the month of July and the time for filing date has therefore been extended as follows:

For returns to be filed with the collectors of internal revenue situated in the continental United States, September 30, 1924.

For returns to be filed with the collector of internal revenue at this office, September 30, 1924.

PLAN CAMPAIGN TO ADVERTISE STATE FLORIDA

"Florida All the Year, Wonderful Winters, Delightful Summers" Is Slogan Adopted by Board.

JACKSONVILLE, June 20.—The catchy and effective slogan of the proposed 7400,000 national advertising campaign for Florida is already being taken up by the newspapers and magazines of the state, it was said here today at the offices of the Florida Development Board, the state chamber of commerce, which is sponsoring the campaign. The advertising will carry as its copy theme:

"Florida All the Year; Wonderful Winters, Delightful Summers." Some of the Florida editors are transposing the last two lines of the slogan, putting the emphasis on the "delightful summers," thus making it more seasonable at this time.

Carrying out the idea of selling Florida as a whole, the advertising copy will make no particular reference to any section, city or county.

The advertisements that the Florida Development Board ran in the New York newspapers during the exhibition of Florida products in Madison Square Garden last winter give the idea of the subjects that will be covered by the much greater campaign planned to advertise Florida to the nation next fall and winter. Florida's nearness to the center of population of the country, the fact that "the winter playground of the United States" is no less delightful in the summer time, the outdoor life of the state, the various forms of recreation, investment opportunities, manufacturing advantages, Florida's shoreline of over 3,000 miles, its fine harbors, great fishing industry, oranges, grapefruit and other fruits; trucking, general farming, livestock raising, dairy and poultry raising, small fruits and nuts, will be some of the state's assets to be featured in the advertising.

First Photograph by Radio Printed in Parisian Paper

PARIS, June 21.—The first photograph ever transmitted by radio was printed Friday in the Matin. The picture of Gen. Gustav A. Ferris, director of Eiffel Tower wireless station, was an excellent one, but it bore several vertical smudges, which, however, were easily eliminated by retouching. The picture was sent by the process of Ecouard Belin, inventor of the method for transmitting photographs by wire. Although the details of the wireless method have not yet been disclosed, it is known that it is on the same principle as is used on the wires.

M. Belin is filled with confidence that he can send wireless pictures across the Atlantic, and at attempt at such transmission between Paris and New York is to be tried within a few weeks by him in co-operation with the Matin.

The first wireless picture sent by M. Belin was from Malmaison, a few miles outside of Paris to the Matin office. This was early Thursday morning and the experiment was quite practicable. A second picture sent an hour after Gen. Ferris was better than the first, being entirely free from smudges.

M. Belin's experiments in wireless transmission of pictures began in 1912. The Matin, in announcing his success today, predicts that "television" or long distance seeing, soon will be accomplished. Belin's latest invention was evolved with the help of Henri Fenal. Its aims are said to include not only better reproduction with the elimination of wires, but also far greater speed, which is important, as it is asserted the process of transmitting photographs by wire, has proved slow.

Car of Mike Stoinoff Catches Fire Friday

The car of Mike Stoinoff, Celery Avenue farmer, caught fire about 6 o'clock Friday afternoon while parked at the corner of Magnolia Avenue and First Street, in front of the People's Bank, and serious damage might have been done had not Hodgson Ball arrived opportunely and extinguished the flames with a chemical fire extinguisher. It was found that the carburetor was leaking badly and that the escaping gasoline had caught from the hot engine.

Mrs. Stoinoff and children were in the car at the time but no one was hurt. The car was sent to a garage for repairs.

EXTRACTS COUNTY AGENTS' REPORTS

Seminole (B. F. Whitner, Jr.): Arranged for two demonstration plots of Victor cowpeas. Also mailed out 600 fertilizer tables and with each a letter containing additional information as to comparative value of a unit of plant food from various sources.

Hillsborough (R. T. Kelley): Tomatoes are moving heavily. Watermelons and cantaloupes are selling for good prices on the local platform. Other vegetables being shipped are peppers, corn, lima beans, eggplants, squash and black-eyed peas.

Lake (Leo H. Watson): Watermelons are going to market in large quantities. Recent rains will materially increase the yield. The previous dry weather has held the anthracnose in check. Growers are realizing results from dusting and spraying their melons.

Marion (K. C. Moore): One cucumber grower made the statement to me that he has sold around $15,000 worth of cukes of 45 acres and has as many left in the field due to the drop in prices. He also said that he owed these splendid results to treating seed and spraying.

Okeechobee (H. P. Peterson): This has been a rainy week. The tomato season is over and the watermelons are now beginning to move. This week I have been putting the finishing touches on our newly organized Citrus Growers' Association.

Osceola (G. R. Gunn): Groves are looking good and fruit is holding well due to abundance of rain that we are having at this time.

Walton (J. W. Mathison): Our farmers have about finished their oat crop and are planting one of the largest crops of peaches in the history of the county. Much of this will be turned under in preparation for next winter's sowing, at least trees.

Polk (Wm. Gomme): Groves are preparing to apply the June application of fertilizer to citrus. The majority of citrus fruits have been shipped. Interest is being shown in Bartow for the erection of a landing platform for all growers.

Hamilton (J. J. Sachrest): All crops are making a rapid growth. This is especially true of corn and tobacco. Quite a number of pulled cotton squares are being picked. Heavy rains have been over. From eight to ten have been shipped daily since they were all grown on soil, without fertilizer.

Santa Rosa (J. G. ...): cotton club boys busy poisoning boll weevils. The rain has retarded their work to some extent.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY THE SUPREME RULE:—Exalt ye the Lord our God, and worship at His footstool; for He is holy.—Psalm 99:5.

TO MY PICTURE When age hath made me what I am not now, And every wrinkle tells me where the plough Of Time hath furrow'd; when an ice shall flow Through every vein, and all my head be snow; When Death displays his coldness in my cheek, And I myself in my own picture seek, Not finding what I am, but what I was, In doubt which to believe—this or my glass; Yet though I alter, this remains the same As it was drawn, retains the primitive frame And first complexion; here will still be seen Blood on the cheek and down upon the chin; Here the smooth brow will stay, the lively eye, The ruddy lip, and hair of youthful dye. Behold what frailty we in man may see, Whose shadow is less given to change than he! —Thomas Randolph.

How about an anti-gnat campaign? There are still some motorists who don't know what "dimmers" are.

"Pay-Up Week" is over but still people are continuing to pay their bills to keep their credit good.

Tomorrow the fireworks start in New York. And everyone will know Florida is present.

Those people who "forget" that they owe bills at least had their memory improved last week.

"Rats Drive Off Sea Birds" says a headline which reminds us that some of them have been known to drive women to chairs and tables.

The little girl down the street wants to know whether you can call a dog who patrols the beach a dogcatcher.

"Every woman wishes for beauty but few are willing to work for it." —Miami Life.

Many are willing to put it on, though.

An effort is being made by the Smith supporters to swing the delegates from the South to him. They seem to forget that the South wants a "dry" candidate.

President Doumergue of France is disgraced forever. It has been discovered that he is a bachelor and that he wears bow ties that are already tied.

The person who is always watching the clock while he is on the job will rest easier now with the knowledge that the days are getting shorter.

William D. Upshaw has opened his campaign in New York for the vice-presidency. And that's about as far as he will get toward the nomination.

To keep informed of what is happening back home, have The Sanford Herald follow you on your vacation trip. It will be better than a letter from home and will reach you every day.

No plans for a Fourth of July celebration having been announced in Sanford, many persons are wondering just where they will go for the day. There are several cities beckoning.

Paris objects to the one-piece bathing suit on the grounds that it is "too cruelly revealing." Objection is overruled on the grounds that it is irrelevant and immaterial to the case.

Al Smith appears to be more worried over the loss of his dog than about his chances for the nomination. He's going to be a great deal more worried in a few days when somebody "gets his goat."

Arthur Brisbane notes that the difference between William G. McAdoo and the other aspirants for the Democratic nomination is that the former is seeking the presidency while the others are seeking to beat McAdoo. And the good part about that fact is that the other candidates will seek without success.

If business is worth going after in the winter months it's certainly worth getting in the summer months. The merchant who advances when business begins to slump shows good judgment. The fellow who quits going after business because it is summer time is the fellow who as a rule complains because his business is bad.

Gold Or Boys

One of the six counties comprising the Central Florida Boy Scout Council, Seminole county, must raise eleven hundred dollars as its share in financing this worth-while organization which is accomplishing so much for the boys of our section. More than half of the necessary amount has already been subscribed and surely there will be no hesitancy on the part of the people of Sanford in seeing that this great work is carried on and that the necessary funds are forthcoming.

Tuesday afternoon interested business men of Sanford intend to devote several hours to making solicitation for the necessary amount of money. They hope by Tuesday night to raise the full amount needed to take care of Seminole county's quota.

While Seminole county has now only four troops consisting of about eighty-five boys, it is the plan to establish more troops and increase the membership. Unless the necessary finances are provided, however, this cannot be done. "Boys are a dreadful nuisance under some circumstances," says the St. Augustine Record, "when they break windows, for instance, or whoop like wild indians or forget to wash their hands. But there are other times when they are recognized as a rather important part of any community. Many communities, too, are now waking up to the fact that when boys are at their worst, it is usually because the adults of that neighborhood have failed them in some way, by not providing suitable recreation for them or by not giving them a chance to take a constructive part in the community life. So we now find civic activities aimed at helping and interesting the boy population.

"One city with this modern attitude toward its boys recently had a huge parade in which most of its young citizens took part. Schools and clubs and bands were all represented among the thirty thousand boys who marched in the parade. Loyalty to city and nation and flag was the keynote of the celebration. One float told in a few words the significance of the whole affair. It carried a huge pair of scales with bags of "gold" on one side of the balance and a bunch of boys on the other. Its legend read: 'What shall it profit a country to gain the whole world and lose its own boys?'"

"Worrying about the faults and shortcomings of the rising generation is foolishness. Keeping boys happy and healthy and busy is much more to the point."

Time and time again the ideals and principles of the Boy Scout organization has been set forth by The Herald. It is needless to repeat. Everyone knows what the Boy Scouts stand for. They know what wonderful results have been secured. They realize that if this great organization is to continue its work in Seminole county the necessary money must be provided. And they will contribute of their money and time to put Seminole county in the front ranks when it comes to financing worth while activities of this kind.

"Floridan" In Spite of Mr. Webster

Over in lovely Palm Beach where they still have a "Coconut Grove," in spite of the fact that good old Mister Webster quite misspelled the name of the "coconut" tree, the Palm Beach Post refuses to agree with The Sanford Herald that "Floridan" is a better spelling for the word that designates an inhabitant of Florida.

The Post finds that Mr. Noah Webster called the inhabitants of Florida, "Floridians," and is therefore content, nay urgently insistent, that no one in this day and time undertake to make the correct orthography popular. The Post goes on the principle that what was good enough for Noah should be good enough for the intelligent Floridan of this day and time.

But the Post must not become too much attached to the good old unabridged. When Mr. Webster died in 1843 there were a lot of words he had never spelled, and these smart guys of the present century in the revision of his last edition may go so far as to correct the errors he chanced to make. "Floridan" is really a euphonious as well as a correct word. The Post ought to try to get used to it.

However worthy, useful and successful it may be, which does not include a responsiveness to the call of beauty and art, which has not known the thrill that comes from these things. Education that envisages merely the brain is a lopsided thing. To be complete, to fulfill its true purpose, it must not only envisage likewise the training of character, but it must also foster taste and seek to minister to that subtle, undefinable and multipotent thing which we call the soul.—Otto Kahn.

JUNE MERRY MONTH OF MARRYING

POLK COUNTY RECORD

"Why and oh why," sings the questioning one, "is June the month of brides?"

Custom, superstition and old-time weather conditions probably furnish the answer. Ages ago, when man first adopted legal formalities in connection with forming a partnership for better or for worse, so long as life holds, some fortune teller probably declared June the luckiest month of the year for tying the marriage knot.

In addition to this, there were natural causes in all except the tropical countries. Winter settled down solidly over that portion of the earth from which the American people have drawn most of their folk customs and instincts. Village life was drawn close together. Acquaintances were made that in spring developed to full blown courtship. By the first month of summer there was a lessening of the beauty work of the fields and the preparation of a new home and

RELIGION IN HOMES

MIAMI DAILY NEWS

A good many well-intentioned pastors have found in the brutal murder in Chicago, a fitting text to employ in bringing to the attention of their congregations the subject of religion in the home. There used to be a time in American life, many years ago, unfortunately, and difficult of revival in this jazy age, when religion in the home was considered a rather essential characteristic of the hearthstone. The father of the house used to bring his family about him after the supper hour and engage in a little Bible reading.

Giving pause at the close of a day's occupation in religious thoughts never hurt anyone. On the contrary it has accomplished a great deal of good in former years. It would be a God-send to America if we could re-adopt this habit. Somehow or other we are being pulled farther and farther away

As Brisbane Sees It

To Live With Monkeys. Mere Politics. Klan, Rum and League. Many Kings Did It. Copyright, 1924

HERE'S ONE original thought. John Gromardie, citizen of New York, writes to the Franklin Park Zoo in Boston, saying he'd like to be exhibited in the monkey house, with the other primates, "to show the public how much man resembles the ape in accordance with the Darwinian theory."

SOME THAT LIVE in the open spaces, Texas, Washington, California, Florida, etc., will probably suggest that if all New Yorkers adapted to demonstrating the Darwinian theory were locked up in the zoological garden there would be many vacancies in Fifth Avenue and at Newport.

THE BEST WAY to study man in connection with the monkeys, if there be any connection, is to look at a row of skeletons, beginning with the lemur, going up through the lower and higher apes to man. That's enough to make you shiver.

IT SHOULD BE remembered, however, that the DIFFERENCE between men and monkeys is far greater than the RESEMBLANCE between men and monkeys. Most encouraging to W. J. Bryan and others who hate the Darwin monkey idea is the statement attributed to Hurley: "The difference between a highly developed white man and one of the lower savages is greater than the difference between the savage and a blade of grass."

If that's so, how far is man from the monkey?

SPEAKING OF monkeys, the great Democratic convention will soon be starting in New York. Some faces that will have a great deal to do with deciding who Democrats shall vote for are interesting faces. To be more explicit might be offensive.

Some wise politicians say that Al Smith has no idea of being nominated for president, but does expect to be nominated for vice-president. His power in the convention will be great enough to guarantee for himself the vice-presidency.

Part of the alleged plan is to nominate a Southerner—Underwood, Josephus Daniels or Carter Glass—Underwood preferred by the Smith crowd.

Putting a Southerner at the head of the ticket would overcome the objections to Al Smith in the South. Putting Al Smith in for vice-president must add enormous strength to the ticket in the North—enough to carry New York, anyway. That's the story.

MCADOO, ARRIVING in New York with a whole trainload of friends from the West, expresses only deepest sympathy for his opponents. One McAdoo man from California said: "McAdoo is the only man running for president of the United States. All the others are running to beat McAdoo."

THE TWO THOUSAND who will support Smith will make it impossible for McAdoo to be nominated. That's what they say. If so, regardless of what may happen to Smith himself, that would enable the Smith crowd to render one great service to the gentlemen of Wall Street. Whatever else happens they don't want McAdoo.

The ordinary American, trying to raise his family, pay the bills, buy a house, make ends meet, will wonder, feebly, when he learns that three big issues in the Democratic convention are "the Ku Klux Klan, rum and the League of Nations." He thought there were some other problems.

The League of Nations is a long distance off. Rum, the little man can't afford at present prices, even if he were foolish enough to drink it. And the Ku Klux Klan is "something else again."

HERE'S A QUESTION for practical Democrats to ask themselves: Suppose they do nominate McAdoo to oblige the people who live in the big financial street with Trinity Church at one end, for your thankful prayers in case you win and the liver that you can't imagine. Suppose those big men kill off McAdoo and their successors and decide on an idea for the Ku Klux Klan to run independently. Would McAdoo do it? Human nature being what it is, why SHOULDN'T he? He has the personal labor following, why not find out how big it is, anyhow?

A FOURTEEN-YEAR-OLD girl in California set fire to the Hopo Development School, near Los Angeles, to "set the girls free and let them have a good time." Her idea caused the deaths of twenty-four burned alive. Everybody will condemn that. As severe a punishment as the law allows for a girl of fourteen will be inflicted.

YET EMPERORS, kings and here and there financial magnates set fire to entire nations by starting wars, and not to "set anybody free to have a good time," but merely for their own aggrandizement. Those criminals have been tried heroes and monuments have been erected to them.

A LADY WILL represent the "wets" in the Democratic convention and demand a wet plank. Many millions of ladies will represent the "drys" in millions of quiet homes. And that's what counts.

Women, in the end, will decide about having an absolute prohibition with plenty of bootleg whiskey, or trying the experiment of relatively harmless light wine and beer, with the suppression of whiskey. It won't be settled for a long time.

NOW TO SELECT THE RIGHT CLUB

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION OUTLOOK

ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION

One of the liveliest conventions in years is promised at New York. The Democrats believe they have a good chance to win and a hot fight for the nomination is in prospect.

It behooves the delegates to take into account not only their own personal choice of a leader but the nature of the opposition they are facing.

The ticket nominated by the Republicans is satisfactory to conservatives, being eminently safe and sane, with strong emphasis upon economy and a platform framed along established lines of Coolidge policy. Furthermore, that ticket is headed by the President of the United States.

Political strategy seems to call for a Democratic platform and nominee which shall be markedly progressive. And in running against the President it would be an advantage to have a candidate well known to the country.

Although the supporters of Governor Smith are making much noise and have the advantage of the support of a friendly press in New York, they are not to be counted upon to win.

Who believes that he can be nominated, the "wet" record kills his chances. Mr. Bryan expressed the sentiment of the "dry" forces in the Democratic party when he said that he "would not predict who would be nominated but he was sure it would not be Smith or any other wet." Mr. Bryan says three-fourths of the states have "dry" delegations. McAdoo has a progressive record and has been much in the public eye. He enters the convention with the largest number of pledged delegates. His managers assert that he will command a majority on the first ballot.

This claim of a majority on the first ballot is heavily discounted by most observers, who believe it does not take sufficient account of the votes for favorite sons. Yet it is considered probable that McAdoo will secure a majority on the second or third ballot.

Will he go on from there to victory? The resolute stand taken by his opponents and the difficulty of obtaining 732 votes if a powerful minority is really determined to block a McAdoo nomination, have given rise to a good deal of doubt, as well as to talk of an attack upon the two-third rule.

Turning to minor candidates, there is no lack of ability in the group but considerable doubt regarding availability.

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, for example, is a man whose courage and intellectual integrity command respect from all who are familiar with his political career. Unfortunately he is not as well known to the country at large as his work merits.

John W. Davis of West Virginia and New York has been tagged a "Borah" lawyer. Perhaps he would be swayed by these recent business associations.

Senator Ralston of Indiana is more talked about than any other dark horse, having the first qualification of lacking enemies or sensitive points of attack save for his age. He appears hardly a strong enough figure to conduct a vigorous, slashing campaign such as the situation confronting the Democrats demands.

McAdoo could conduct such a campaign even allowing for the handicap of having been a Doherty attorney. Will the delegates give him the chance? That is the first question to be settled at New York.

THE FUTILITY OF ARGUMENT

MIAMI HERALD

Some bright paragrapher recently made the sage observation that "an argument is the longest distance between two points." The world has seen a sufficient number of instances of the truth of this statement to have learned a lesson by this time, but the lesson seems hard to learn. Anyone who listens in anywhere can hear the noisy clamor of disputes by which efforts are being made to settle issues that will not settle. This is true in politics, in industry, in international relationships, in religion, in social life. People seem determined to take the longest way around to reach a conclusion and a harmonious adjustment of disturbed situations.

The cause of this condition is fear and distrust. Humanity started its long upward climb in the atmosphere of fear. The forests are filled with animals whose chief occupation seems to be the avoidance of dangers that threaten on all sides. Primitive people almost invariably got armed to protect themselves against possible enemies. It is perhaps not strange that one of the primal instincts is based on fear, distrust, and that all human relationships should rest on the theory that everyone must protect himself from his neighbor.

It is strange that after so many centuries man should not have discovered that friendliness takes a much shorter way to the way to happiness and success than does enmity. It may seem paradoxical, but it is generally true that a person secures his rights more surely by not insisting too strongly on them than he does by entering into a bitter argument in defense of those rights.

Argument almost inevitably leads to animosity. In any disputed situation there is a middle ground where each person may secure the possible maximum of his rights. A fight may give one or the other an advantage, but the more probable result is that each finds himself ultimately in this middle ground, and each has lost something through the fight.

It would be a much more reasonable thing to calmly, quietly, sanely weigh all the factors that enter into a dispute, and come to a friendly compromise on the basis of the common rights of both. People who live in a world in which there are other persons can not be utterly independent. A man can not have all that as an individual he might quite properly expect to have. If he does get what he wants it will be at the cost of what belongs legitimately to someone else.

Benjamin Franklin once illustrated this by the case of a cabinet-maker fitting two boards together. In order to make a perfect joint, it is necessary to plane something from each board. The planing may be done, in human relationships, either as a result of force, or in friendly co-operation. It must be done somehow, and a vast amount of ill will and distrust would be saved if friendly discussion could take the place of argument. And the perfect joint would be made much more quickly. An argument is the longest distance between two points.

Holding National Public Links Golf Tourney at Dayton

DAYTON, O., June 23.—The National Public Links golf championship is to be determined at the Hills and Dales club here beginning this week, starts with the Harding Cup tournament on Monday, June 23.—Each club will have a five-man team represented. The winning team will be awarded the cup donated by the late President Harding.

June 24 and 25 will be given over to qualifying rounds while the remaining days will be set aside for the elimination rounds of match play. Thirty-five cities had been entered ten days ago, representing every section of the country.

Visiting golfers also will be the guests of the three other golf clubs in Dayton. Only half of the contestants will play in the qualifying round on the first day, the others being invited to play over the Miami Valley Golf Course, the Dayton Country club course and the MacGregor course. An elaborate program of entertainment has been arranged.

The course used for the tournament is the gift to the city from the late John H. Patterson, the founder of the National Cash Register Company. It is declared to be one of the best mapped courses in the country, enhanced by the natural beauty of its surroundings. Hundreds of dollars have been expended in trapping in the greens and fairways and enlarging the greens to meet all requirements. Every effort has been made to provide the sportiest competition ever offered public links golfers. Through public subscription, the citizens of Dayton have contributed much to the improvement of the course.

First Floating Fair Leaves Germany Soon

HAMBURG, Germany, June 23.—The first German floating fair will leave Hamburg July 30 on a voyage which will occupy ten months and take the fair-ship "Industrial" as far east as Yokohama. The ship is to give testimony to postwar German enterprise, and is to carry the "Made in Germany" label to distant points of Europe, and to Asia and Africa. If the experiment proves successful a second ship is to be outfitted for a trip to North and South America.

BOSTON BEATS YANK TEAM BY A 6 TO 2 SCORE

Cleveland 7; Detroit 5.
DETROIT, June 23.—Cleveland won an odd game of the series from Detroit Sunday, 7 to 5. The Indians fought desperately to overcome the lead allowed by Virgil Cheeves former Chicago Cub pitcher, who made his American League debut with Cleveland Sunday. With the bases loaded, Cheeves was relieved by Metevier who held the Tigers to six hits in eight innings.

HOLD MEETING TO ORGANIZE A POULTRY CLUB

Elect A. J. Bistline of Longwood President—Over 30 Hear Talk on Poultry by H. B. Landsen of the University of Florida.

A meeting for the purpose of organizing a poultry association in Seminole county was held in the court house auditorium Friday night, June 20. Much enthusiasm was shown and thirty or more men and women from all parts of the county took an active part in the first meeting.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. B. F. Whitner, Jr., county agent, and a temporary organization was effected. Mr. A. J. Bistline of Longwood was elected president; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Neimeyer, G. U. Stewart and M. E. Gabard were elected directors of the organization.

The board of directors will meet at an early date to consider what lines of endeavor the association will follow in Seminole county and draft a constitution and by-laws which will be submitted to the association at the next meeting on Friday, July 25, at the court house, Sanford, 8 p. m.

The principal speaker was Mr. H. B. Landsen, poultry expert of the University of Florida. His talk was very interesting and instructive, setting forth the advantages of raising poultry and especially in this county. He stated among other things that the possibilities in Seminole county for the poultry industry are greater than in any other county in the state. He stated further that the attendance at this meeting was the largest that had greeted him in starting a new organization and he was very highly pleased at the enthusiasm and interest shown by those present. After the regular meeting had adjourned the members became acquainted and indications are that a fine poultry association will be formed to advance that industry in Seminole county.

Interesting talks were made by R. J. Holly of Sanford, F. D. Purdy of Osteen, E. H. Clause of Elder Springs, M. E. Gabard of Geneva, Mrs. Neimeyer and Mr. Bistline of Longwood and G. A. Tyler of Osteen.

The Seminole County Poultry Association contemplates holding a convention some time in September at Longwood; at which meeting Mr. Landsen will speak and a poultry expert will speak and a poultry convention for the benefit of the members.

COMMITTEE IS TO ENTERTAIN ALL FLORIDANS

Men Widely Known in National Circles on Sub-committee to Entertain Florida Delegates.

When the Florida delegates, alternates and visitors to the national Democratic convention reach New York there will be an elaborate program of entertainment for them befitting the hospitality of the big city.

The New York national Democratic convention committee has appointed sub-committees to act as reception and entertainment committees for each state. These several state committees will look after the pleasures of the men and women of the different states visiting the national Democratic convention.

The Florida committee is headed by John H. Perry, who, in addition to being president of the American Press Association, has large banking and real estate interests in the state of Florida, as well as newspaper properties in Jacksonville and Pensacola and is one of Florida's best friends and boosters.

Baron G. Collier, vice-chairman, is well known in Florida, as only recently the Florida legislature created Collier county in his honor.

Joseph E. Browne, secretary of the committee, is the senior justice of the Florida Supreme Court at Tallahassee. Having lived in Key West, Miami, Jacksonville and Pensacola, he is a regular Floridian, at present time living in New York.

Arthur Brisbane is a large property owner in Florida and never misses an opportunity to talk of the greatness of the state to the twenty million readers of his column.
