

Sanford Man Charged In Murder Plot

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

An investigation is continuing today into a possible conspiracy-for-murder ring in Central Florida following Thursday's arrest of a 55-year-old Sanford man charged with solicitation to commit murder.

Kenneth R. Marshall, a construction foreman of 1505 W. 25th St., Apartment 206A, was arrested and released from the Orange County jail on $2,500 bond after he allegedly offered undercover agents $5,000 to kill a South Florida building contractor. Law-enforcement agents said more arrests are pending as the investigation continues.

Information received today indicates Marshall is employed by the R.W. Roberts Construction Co. in Longwood.

Marshall was arrested after he allegedly paid $1,100 to John Van Tronk, supervisor of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement's Orlando office, in the parking lot of the Ventura Country Club in Orlando, authorities said.

Van Tronk said he was posing as a hired killer and approached Marshall a little more than a week ago after hearing "street talk" that Marshall was looking for a hired gunman.

Van Tronk said he met Marshall Feb. 2 and agreed to kill John Elmore, a Fort Lauderdale building contractor. He said Marshall paid him $2,500 last week and an additional $2,500 Thursday, along with $1,600 for expenses, after Van Tronk told Marshall that Elmore was killed Wednesday night.

"Elmore is fine," Van Tronk said. "I don't go around killing people. He's not around here, but he's okay."

Van Tronk said he does not know why he was hired to kill Elmore.

"That information was not given to me," he said. "I was just hired to kill him."

June and Al Nelson opened their home to a transient couple.

Mary and Jim Crabtree found themselves broke and helpless.

Stranded

Ohio Couple, Broke, Helped By Sanford Couple

By MARK VOGLER
Herald Staff Writer

Jun Crabtree expected to find warm and friendly surroundings when he arrived in Florida last December.

He had quit a steady job he had held for five years at a sawmill in Piqua, Ohio, with expectations of finding a better life.

His wife, Mary, was eight months pregnant and due to deliver a baby at any time.

There was a lot at stake.

Still, Crabtree was willing to sacrifice his $110-a-week paycheck, a modest apartment and the security of his home town for new opportunity.

Mary's brother assured them Jim would have no problem in finding a job in Sarasota. And at least they would have a place to stay until they got settled.

But for the Crabtrees, reality turned out to be as cold and cruel as the Midwest winter they had left behind them two months ago.

Jim was unable to get a job. Their $500 savings went fast. Mary's brother said he couldn't afford to support them any more.

But there was still hope.

They left Sarasota for Orlando, where Jim had an uncle he thought would be able to give them a helping hand until he could find work.

But the uncle, he said, turned his back on them after a one-week visit.

"Two weeks ago," Jim recalled, "my uncle said to be out of the house by 6 that Friday night or he'd call the law."

"We went without food for the last two days because my aunt and uncle just stopped setting plates for us. They ate in front of us because we didn't have any money. They didn't even offer us a piece of bread — they just went on eating like we weren't even there," he said.

So Jim and Mary decided to hitchhike back to Ohio. They told their story to a woman motorist who took them to the Interstate Mall in Altamonte Springs.

Al Nelson, a security guard at the mall, had a sympathetic ear. He telephoned his wife, June. The Sanford couple decided that "the Christian thing to do would be to help these people out," Nelson said.

The 64-year-old Vermont native said it's part of his New England nature to extend hospitality to folks who are down on their luck.

"My wife and I were in no condition to do anything when Jim and Mary came to the mall. We were both down with the flu, but decided anyway to take these people in," Nelson said.

"We just pray to God that we can continue to help them until they can help themselves. We hope concerned people in the community can help too. We'll continue to help as long as necessary. I don't know what we're going to do when Mary has the baby. I guess we'll get her to the hospital one way or another. One thing's for sure. She's not going to have the baby in the street or the woods," he said.

Nelson said he is helping Crabtree find work, but with a high unemployment rate in Florida — as in many parts of the country — times are tough.

Crabtree's eagerness to work doesn't seem to be a problem.

"We'd hire him back if we had the job. Just tell 'em he's better off looking for work in Florida," said Jeff Murphy, operations manager of the Sussman Co. sawmill back home in Piqua.

"He's a pretty good, steady worker who was dependable. He didn't have a driver's license, but he walked to work and was never late. He gave us four weeks' notice and told us his wife's brother had a job waiting for him in Florida. I guess it didn't turn out the way he had hoped. But there's nothing up here now, because we're laying people off," he said.

June Nelson said she insisted it would be inhuman for her to turn the Crabtrees away.

She even telephoned her mother in New York to draw moral support for the good deed.

"When I was a young girl, my father was a New York City policeman. And my folks took in a young couple who were sleeping in their car on Grand Central Parkway. The 17-year-old girl was pregnant. And my mother felt it was the right thing to take them in because they were human beings who needed help," said Mrs. Nelson.

"Here it is 30 years later and I find myself doing the same thing. I called my mother to tell her what we decided. She told me I didn't know what I was getting myself into, but she said she was proud of what I did. To me, no matter what the situation is, these people are human beings who need our help," she said.

The Nelsons say they hope other concerned residents offer assistance to the Crabtrees.

But so far assistance has been denied, according to Al

Nelson.

"I've never seen a state as unkind as Florida when it comes to helping people. The Central Baptist Church in Sanford is the only group that came to our support. People just don't want to help them (the Crabtrees) because they're not area residents," Nelson said.

"I'm angry at the social-service agencies that haven't come forward with support. If I said what I thought about these groups, it wouldn't be very polite, and you probably wouldn't want to print what I had to say," he said.

Nelson said he will allow the Crabtrees to live in his back yard on Bedford Avenue if someone donates a trailer for shelter. In the meantime, he'll allow the Crabtrees to live in his home until they find help.

Mrs. Nelson said she is disgusted that none of the social-service agencies pursued a thorough investigation of the Crabtrees' situation before turning them away.

"I know there are a lot of people who come down here to Florida and take advantage of people. But I know there are some unfortunate circumstances involved here that are not being looked into," Mrs. Nelson said.

Nelson says the Crabtrees aren't asking for very much.

"Mary can't go anywhere right now because the baby is due any day. But once they're ready to travel, it will cost maybe $115 for food and bus fare as far as Cincinnati. Kinfolks will pick them up there. If we had the cash, we'd get them up there," he said.

Funding Shift Adds Openings For Day Care

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A shift in state funding to the Community Coordinated Child Care for Central Florida (4C) will provide 150 openings for the children of low-income families in day-care centers in Seminole County.

Phoebie Carpenter, administrator of 4C, said today that applications for the day-care openings are being accepted at 315 Park Lake Circle, Orlando, or by calling 628-3028 or 425-0509.

The agency contracts with 25 independent, privately owned care centers in Seminole County for day care for single working mothers and fathers.

Currently, 4C has contracted for 535 children of working mothers and fathers in day-care centers under contract. The agency provides a subsidy for the care. To be eligible, a parent with one child may earn no more than the federal minimum wage, currently $3.35 an hour. A family of four may earn up to $10,000 to qualify.

Mrs. Carpenter noted that the purpose of the program is to provide single parents with day care to help them get off the welfare rolls and to work toward self-sufficiency. The agency also serves low-income families in Orange and Osceola counties. It contracts day care for 6,000 children annually in the three-county area, an average of 4,000 daily.

Noting that 4C standards for contracting child-care centers are higher than state requirements, Mrs. Carpenter said the agency stresses placement in day-care centers where the children of low-income families will not be segregated.

"We do not wish to separate these children from the rest of the community," she said.

Mrs. Carpenter said the agency has also begun a service for employers who wish to help pay day-care costs as a fringe benefit for their employees.

She said that often, after a person is trained and her wages are increased above the minimum wage, she can no longer afford day care. Under the new plan, an employer may wish to subsidize the care as a fringe benefit.

Mrs. Carpenter said a mother or father with good day care for dependent children has less absenteeism and becomes a more stable employee.

When You're Down And Out...

What would you do if you were hungry, broke and stranded in Sanford?

You don't have any family or friends to turn to for help. You're just a transient down on your luck and helpless in a strange city.

People think you're a bum looking for handouts, trying to take advantage of the generosity of local people.

But you're desperate, and in need of human kindness to help you get back on your feet. So whom do you turn to?

It's not an uncommon situation for several social agencies and groups in Sanford that try to lend a helping hand for those who really need it.

There is relief available for transients who find themselves stuck in Sanford, according to several local social-service organizations.

"We don't have any facilities to feed and house people here in Sanford, but at least we could put in a food order so they can get something to eat," said Mrs. Leora Platt at the Seminole County chapter of the Salvation Army.

If food and shelter are available at the Salvation Army center in Orlando, the local center will sometimes provide bus fare to a client who needs help, she said.

"Because we have a low budget and depend on donations and volunteer help, we're limited in what we can do. But we do what we can. Just this morning I gave a family from Tennessee gas, food and clothing," said Mrs. Platt.

The door usually is open to destitute people at the Sanford Christian Sharing Center, 318 S. Magnolia Ave.

How much help the center can give depends on what it receives in donations from its 17 member churches.

The center deals with "emergency services," involving local people who may have been turned out of their homes or hit with another stroke of bad luck. Maybe their unemployment or welfare funds ran out.

But a spokesman at the center said transients, if they were in dire need, would not be turned away.

"If we have the funds available, we would be willing to provide part of the transportation money to help someone who is stranded return to their family," said a volunteer who wished to remain anonymous.

"We will go out of our way to help people every way we can. And this is as far as we can go. We'll help transients, but we try to take care of the people in Sanford who are down on their luck. We can at least give them food and clothing," said the volunteer.

The sharing center also acts as a referral center, directing transients to other area agencies that may be able to provide more relief.

In many cases the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services will screen transients and see that they receive some kind of relief.

Although most of the people interviewed said local agencies are willing to offer a helping hand to transients, they said there is sometimes a mistrust toward these people because of past experiences when local generosity was exploited by people who really didn't need help.

MY FUNNY VALENTINE

You can buy your wife or sweetheart a mushy Valentine card. Or you can get her flowers or candy. Or you can be different and paint a love message with spray paint on the side of a building, as someone did here along State Road 419 near Winter Springs. Anyway, Rhonda probably appreciates it.

House, Senate Showdown Due

Redistricting Plan OK'd

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Shortly after the House passed its legislative redistricting plan Thursday, Senate Reapportionment Chairman Dempsey Barron grabbed a microphone on the House floor.

"I move to reconsider the vote by which that resolution passed," Barron said, leading the House to laughter.

The smiles are not likely to last for long, however, as the House's action put it on a collision course with the Senate in what could be this session's biggest showdown.

The stakes are high — if the two houses are unable to reach a compromise, the Florida Supreme Court will take over redistricting from both of them.

The House plan, approved by a 115-2, divides the state into single member legislative districts for both the House and Senate with improved election chances for blacks, Hispanics and Republicans.

The Senate plan, passed 2 1/2 weeks earlier, deals only with Senate districts.

It also uses a single member concept and potentially improves the representation of blacks, Hispanics and Republicans.

The key differences between the two plans are the House's insistence on developing its own Senate plan and its belief that all 40 senators should have to run for re-election in their new districts this year.

The Senate resolution says the half of the Senate midway through four-year terms be exempted from running.

'82-'83 Budget A Bust; Sales Tax Hike Likely

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The 1982-'83 budget Gov. Bob Graham submitted to the Legislature in December is "busted" now and the pressure for tax increases is intensifying.

State economists, meeting in an official revenue-estimating conference Thursday, slashed $432 million from the Legislature's bank account, leaving little new money for the 1982-'83 budget and heightening the chances for a sales tax increase of some sort.

DOT Board Criticized

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Senate is returning to some pretty dark days of state government, Rules Chairman Ed Dunn says, by voting to resurrect the old state road board.

But Senate Transportation Chairman Malcolm Beard says the establishment of a citizens' commission to run the Department of Transportation will straighten out the troubled department.

Execution-Style Murders

MIAMI (UPI) — Two men and a woman whom Robert Dale Henderson says he shot in a lonely wooded area of west central Florida were slain "execution style," a medical examiner said Thursday.

Dr. William Shultz, of Leesburg, who performed the autopsies on the bodies of the three people, said, "They were all shot once in the head with what looks like a .22-caliber pistol. Their ankles and hands were taped behind their backs. The two men were shot execution style in the back of the head, and the girl was shot in the left eye."

A Rejuvenated Pope Traveling To Africa

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II headed into a grueling 8,000-mile, four-nation tour of Africa today, planning the same exhausting schedule as the nine trips before he was almost killed in an assassination attempt.

In a demonstration that he has fully recovered, the pope's plans called for nine days of travel through the West African countries of Nigeria, Benin, Gabon and Equatorial Guinea.

Muscle Flexing In Poland

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Poland's military rulers paraded 130 police vehicles, armored personnel carriers and water cannon through Warsaw in a "show of force" against possible protests of two months of martial law this weekend.

The show of force Thursday came as opponents of the regime distributed leaflets in Warsaw calling on Poles to show their resistance Saturday to martial law by turning off house lights and burning candles in their windows.

Polish Family Defects

BERLIN (UPI) — A Polish pilot defected today by flying a LOT Airlines plane carrying his family and 13 other passengers to Tempelhof allied air base in the first such incident since the military crackdown in Poland.

The AN-26 aircraft landed at 2:50 a.m. EST with 19 passengers and four crew members, said U.S. Army spokesman Larry Seals. He said the plane was Flight 747, which took off from Warsaw heading for Wroclow.

Scientists See Link Between Virus, Cancer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A team of American and Japanese scientists has strengthened the long-sought link between a virus and one type of human cancer, an adult kind of leukemia found in striking clusters on two islands in Japan.

The report released Thursday in the latest issue of Science magazine reinforces a case building since 1978 that viruses have a role in at least one kind of human cancer.

Scientists have long suspected this might be the case, but they heretofore had been unable to prove it. Such a finding would help scientists better understand some kinds of cancer and possibly ways to prevent them.

Similar viruses are known to cause leukemia in cats, chickens, cattle, rodents and gibbons.

Dr. Robert C. Gallo, head of the National Cancer Institute laboratory of tumor-cell biology, first isolated the virus in 1978 from the blood cells of patients with the rare leukemia. He reported the finding in 1980 and has followed up since with supporting evidence.

The new report concerns the discovery of disease-fighting proteins formed in response to the virus in the blood of six of seven Japanese patients with adult T-cell leukemia. The one patient in whom the antibodies were not found was undergoing chemotherapy, while the others had not been treated when the samples were taken.

"The results described here are the first to our knowledge that demonstrate a human RNA tumor virus linked to a human neoplasia (cancer)," said the report written by Dr. Marjorie Robert-Guroff of Gallo's lab and associates.

Gallo said blood samples from hundreds of healthy people in the same area in Japan show that 5 to 10 percent have had an exposure to the virus.

The kind of blood-cell cancer involved is one type of a class of leukemias that comprise fewer than 1 percent of all leukemias in the United States. It is relatively common, however, on the islands of Kyushu and Shikoku in southwestern Japan.

Moreover, Gallo said he and Dr. Bill Blattner, an NCI epidemiologist, now have evidence clusters of adult T-cell leukemia exist elsewhere in the world, but he said details will be reported later. He said there are indications some clusters may exist in parts of the United States.

Gallo said the virus causes an infection in the sense it comes from outside, but it is not contagious like influenza. He described it as "very minimally infectious, requiring some very special circumstances."

But By Only .4 Percent

Wholesale Inflation Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Inflation at the wholesale level showed only a modest gain of 0.4 percent in January, despite the sharpest increase in food prices in 17 months, the government reported today.

The Labor Department's Producer Price Index for goods ready to be sold at retail showed the effect of last month's meat and produce price hikes, but also the continuing, moderating influence of abundant fuel supplies and price stability for factory equipment.

Taken over a period of 12 months, the January increase would show an overall annual rise in wholesale prices of only 3.3 percent — well below the index average of 7 percent for all of last year, department analysts said.

Food prices for dealers during January shot up at a 1.1 percent monthly rate, the highest since a drought-inspired jump of 2.6 percent in August 1980.

The rapid acceleration of food prices was anticipated because of bad weather in key produce-growing areas, California and Florida, and an increase in pork prices triggered by a December report that showed hog producers cutting back. Other meat prices rose somewhat to follow the pork increase.

The price of finished energy products dropped 0.9 percent in January, a rare deflationary move that followed increases of 1 percent or more in each of the previous two months.

Only home heating oil increased slightly in price, while gasoline and natural gas got cheaper, the department said. The Producer Price Index for January was set at 277.4 by the Labor Department, showing dealers paid $277.40 for the same goods they purchased for $100 in 1967.

As Detroit found out, passenger car prices dropped in January for dealers after rising in December.

Factory equipment prices went up less in January — 0.4 percent, than in December with some categories — including generators, textile machinery and metal-forming machine tools — actually getting cheaper.

Analysts have placed responsibility for much of the price softening on the recession, which forces producers to forego price hikes the market would bear in better economic times.

One sign that demand might be strengthening at the very beginning of the supply pipeline was January's strong increase in raw materials prices, up 1.7 percent — the most since a 4.7 percent hike in August 1980, when that year's recession was fading away.

Wholesale construction materials stayed at the same price in January. All intermediate goods, those between the raw materials stage and the finished goods stage, increased 0.4 percent in price in January. All department figures were seasonally adjusted.

December's Producer Price Index rise was 0.3 percent and November's increase was 0.5 percent.

SHA Post Discussed

Willie B. King Sr., executive director-designate of the Sanford Housing Authority (SHA), will confer with the SHA Board of Commissioners on the responsibilities and salary of the position at 11 a.m. Saturday.

The conference will be held at the Redding Gardens Community Center, 5th Street and Locust Avenue.

After a six-month search for a new director, the SHA board on Jan. 30 selected King, 52, general manager of the Orlando Times newspaper.

At the time, Joseph Caldwell, board chairman, said King's beginning annual salary would be in the $20,000-to-$21,000 range because of his lack of experience in public housing management.

King has said he will make a decision on whether to accept the job after Saturday's conference. If King does accept, Caldwell said he would be expected to begin work shortly thereafter.

An informative program for adults entitled "Alcohol-Drugs, Use, Misuse and Abuse" is scheduled for March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the Oviedo High School commons area.

The program will feature talks, handouts, movies and first-hand accounts by abusers. There will also be a question and answer period.

This program is part of Oviedo High's Action Plan to educate teachers, students and parents on the problems of alcohol and drugs in our area.

Some questions to be covered in this session will be: How long does it take for a young person to become an alcoholic? What do the chemicals in marijuana do to a young body? Where can someone with an alcohol-drug problem go for help?

Everyone who makes a daily trip to the post office in Geneva knows about the petition that is gaining signatures which will be sent to Governor Bob Graham in regard to the twin 500 Kilo volt, 115 feet high power lines that are proposed to cut right through the "heart of Geneva."

The petition urges the governor and his cabinet to select the alternative existing corridor along I-95. The concerned Geneva Citizens Association has tumbled a table in front of the post office for over a week seeking more signatures.

A special GCA meeting over the power issue was held Thursday evening in the community hall to discuss the petition and the plans for a special "People Against Power Intrusion Rally" scheduled February 20 at 10:30 a.m. in the Fort Lane Park.

The citizens group urges all who oppose the proposed route to turn out for this special rally.

Granddad Wants To Be Dad To Son's Abandoned Son

DEAR ABBY: My son at age 21 got a young girl pregnant and wanted no part of marriage. A baby boy was born (I'll call him Andy). Because I myself had been an abandoned child, I didn't want Andy going through life looking for a father as I had done, so since I was a widower I took the young unmarried girl and Andy into my home to live with me.

Although the girl was only 19 and I was 42, our love grew, and we have lived together as a family ever since. She has been a wonderful mother to my grandchild, who is 9 now and thinks I am his father. The girl has been as faithful as a wife to me although we never married.

My son is very irresponsible and has no interest in Andy, who thinks his father is his "brother." Andy, should I tell Andy the truth about who he is? His mother doesn't want him to know because she's afraid it might upset him. I'm thinking about marrying Andy's mother and adopting the boy so he will be my legitimate son even though a marriage now would be awkward because everybody (friends and neighbors) think we're married. Thank you for any advice you can give me.

WITHHOLD MY NAME.

DEAR WITHHOLD: If you and Andy's mother love each other, a quiet wedding would seem appropriate. Adopt Andy, and at a later date when he can handle the story of "who he is," tell him.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been divorced for a year. When we started having problems, we went to a marriage counselor in an effort to save our marriage for the sake of our children.

During this time I told my parents what was going on, and I told my husband to tell his parents. He refused to tell them, so they heard it from strangers and now they are blaming me.

His parents say that had they known we were considering divorce and needed counseling, they could have talked some sense into our heads and saved our marriage. I don't happen to agree with them, do you?

I still think it was my husband's place to tell his parents, and under no circumstances should we have turned to them for counseling. I would appreciate your views.

IRRECONCILABLE DIFFERENCES

DEAR DIFFERENCES: I agree. It was your husband's place to tell his parents. And regardless of how well-meaning parents are, they lack the objectivity required to mediate the domestic differences of their children.

DEAR ABBY: Most people, upon being introduced to someone, will say, "I am very pleased to meet you," or words to that effect. When parting, these same individuals will probably say, "I hope we meet again."

I realize these statements are merely a part of our social ritual and make us feel more comfortable than enduring total silence.

Concert Of Youth Choirs

The Youth Choir of the West Sanford Free Will Holiness Church, 814 Mulberry Ave., Sanford, will sponsor a concert Saturday at 7:30 p.m. featuring several local choirs.

In addition to numbers by the Youth and Adult choirs, the choirs from Maranatha Pentecostal, New Bethel African Methodist Episcopal, New Bethel Missionary Baptist, Red-dick's Memorial choirs will sing.

Dear Abby

However, these statements are usually phony, hypocritical and even downright lies.

Do you have some recommended replacements?

A MEETER OF PEOPLE

DEAR MEETER: If your commitment to total integrity does not permit you to utter anything that is not absolutely sincere, upon being introduced to someone whom you are not particularly pleased to meet, simply say "Hello."

And when you depart, with no desire to see that person again, say "Goodbye."

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Basket Weaving Class To Start

The Longwood Woman's Club members were presented a basket weaving demonstration given by Jane Kent at the February meeting.

She showed many kinds of baskets woven from split ash, red willow, smoked reed, grape vines and other reeds.

Mrs. Kent said there are only two groups in the U.S. that practice commercial basket weaving: the Gulah people in Charleston S.C. who use sweet grass for their products, and the Nantucket Light Ship people from Massachusetts.

Gladys Piloian presided over the business meeting and announced that a gift of $25 be given to the Central Florida Zoo in Sanford and the same amount to send a state girl, sponsored by the Old Glory American Legion unit 183, to the annual June project held at the State House in Tallahassee.

Mrs. Aldia Milwee was in charge of the devotion.

The weaving class is open to the public. For information call 323-9338.

Supper, music and missions is the theme for the St. Mark's Presbyterian Church get-together on Feb. 21.

Dinner is at 6 p.m. and the choir at 8:25.

The special missions program will be the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Armistad, who have lived and worked as missionaries for several years in the South American Republic of Ecuador. Baby sitting will be provided. Call 331-7520 for information.

New officers for the Longwood tour club are Charles Kaley, president, Howard Neff, vice president, Dorothy Berg, secretary-treasurer, and Ruth Lay, assistant secretary treasurer.

On March 1 and 2 the First Baptist Church will sponsor a seminar for ladies. Mrs. Barbara Johnson, well-known author and lecturer, will conduct the "Wise Woman" seminar at the church.

For information call Marcia Oglesby at 831-5385.

Winners in the essay contest were three Lyman High School students. First place went to Heidi Van de Graaff; second place to Susan Sullivan and third place to Renee B. Stanley.

All the commotion in our Longwood neighborhood Saturday night was the celebration of our son Robbie's 10th birthday. A yard football game continued until 10 p.m. but the games in the house continued until 3 a.m.

Among those joining in the celebration were Chris Norris, Richard Holigrefe, J.W. Larkin, Jose Borero, Lucas Cascardo, and Chris Strickland.

Brother Tim and Sister Mandy joined in for the ice cream and cake. Dad (Bob) celebrates on the same day as Robbie!

Men of the Church (St. Mark's Presbyterian) will hold their monthly breakfast on Feb. 20 at 8 a.m. in the youth building. Bill Nuckols will discuss "Preparation for a Successful Lawn and It's Care."

Proud Grandma, Dorothea Koman, wants to tell all of Longwood about the birth of her new grandson, Michael John Mobily. Parents are Chris and Tom Mobily of Mentor, Ohio.

Congratulations to Marybeth and Bill Wallace on the birth of their son, Wilburn Noland Wallace III, born in Sarasota. Grandparents are Bill and Ann Wallace.

Marlette, Klein: Disciplined Champs

CHRIS MARLETTE stalks sideline

Discipline to some people is just a 10-letter word...

Four years ago, the coaching tandem of Chris Marlette and Bill Klein moved into their classrooms at Crooms High School...

They became like bookends. Klein, a math instructor who played college basketball at Indiana, Pa., was at one end of the campus...

Between them they developed an aura of discipline and respect that has encompassed the whole school...

The program was built on one solid foundation. Discipline. It's as simple as not taking soft drinks into the gym...

Klein is the head football coach. Marlette is the head basketball coach. Each complements the other in both sports...

More than one of Seminole's finest has been run off by Marlette or Klein for one game or the season...

Two examples are second-team all-state fullback Lenny Sutton, who was excused by Klein during his ninth grade season...

Klein and Marlette don't just make examples out of the second-team players as is done at some schools...

It's paid big dividends, especially in basketball. This past year the Panthers posted a perfect season...

During Marlette's five years the taught one year at Goldsboro Elementary while coaching at Crooms...

Sam Cook Sports Editor

17. That's 85 percent for the "Guru of Goldsboro."

The program as Principal Ed Blacksheare points out has more far-reaching effects than basketball, however...

"It has a fiber of conduct which carries throughout the whole school," said Blacksheare recently...

Last Saturday's tournament brought pressure on the Crooms basketball team. They were 21-0. They were playing Lake Mary...

"I've seen so many teams close to winning them all," said Blacksheare. "But then it comes down to that last one and they get beat."

Marlette felt as much pressure as anyone. When you're shooting for an unbeaten season, it doesn't matter if it's ninth grade or college seniors, a lot is at stake.

There came a point in the game which really speaks well for Marlette.

Midway through the first quarter, the Rams held a slight lead and Crooms leading scorer James Rouse was called for a foul.

Rouse had been having his troubles anyway. His shots weren't falling, he had turned the ball over...

He was frustrated. He leaped up in the air in anger and talked back to the referee. Before his feet touched the ground...

And, when Rouse approached the bench, he jumped all over him. The Crooms team has acted like gentlemen all year...

Now, some coaches would have promptly sent Rouse back into the action after a "token" dressing down...

the game, here he comes, all smiles. Not Marlette, though. Rouse sat and sat and sat. He didn't return until the middle of the second quarter.

In that eight-minute spell on the bench, Marlette probably taught Rouse more about the game of basketball than if he took him to gym every day for a month.

He was teaching the budding superstar discipline. That good athletes have to play under control. And it worked. When Rouse re-entered the game...

From that point on the Panthers took Lake Mary in stride just like they have everyone else this season...

"Yeah, how are you going to beat them?" Oviedo coach Pete Crowley wondered after the Panthers walloped his Lions in the first game...

If it's any solace Pete, you got a lot of company on the wrong side of that scoreboard.

Seminole Girls Bomb Brantley

Don Merthle's Seminole girls basketball team moved within one game of clinching a Five Star Conference championship...

The victory keeps the Seminoles tied with Daytona Beach Mainland at 13-2. Seminole, 18-4, concludes its regular season on Monday...

Seniors Tony Hardy and Johnnie Bennett were the big guns Thursday night, throwing in 19 and 17 points respectively...

The 'Noles raced to a 22-11 first quarter lead as Hardy and Bennett continually beat the slower Patriots to the basket...

Brantley, paced by Landa Trimble's game-high 22 points, regrouped in the second period by outscoring Sanford 19-12...

In the third quarter, the Tribe broke quickly again, outscoring the Patriots 19-11 for a 53-41 advantage heading into the final eight minutes.

Seminole helped itself considerably at the foul line where it converted 16-of-23 free throws. Hardy dropped in 7-of-9 attempts...

Patriot JVs Avenge Loss

Coach Ray Dalfonso's Patriot junior varsity avenged its only Five Star setback of the year...

It was the first conference loss for Beth Corso's girls and left each team with just one loss...

Patriot Colors Fade Gold

In what was supposed to be a red, white and blue banner year for the Lake Brantley wrestlers...

Coach Ken Carpenger's Patriots, winners of the Five Star Conference tournament and conquerors of the 'Hounds in a dual meet...

Jamie Offenberger, a conference champ at 115 pounds, bit the academic dust along with Kevin "Bull" Bullock...

In addition, John Lasch (130) missed two matches while tuning up his grades. He made it and will wrestle tonight...

The consolation finals are at 6 p.m. Saturday. The championship finals at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Girls' Basketball

Patriots are 12-1. The two teams will face off in a rubber match as a prelude to the district championship...

"We out-rebounded them 46-19," said Corso about the loss. "But we had too many turnovers and our free throw shooting was terrible..."

Seminole assumed a 20-28 first half lead, but the Pats quickly cut into that edge in the third quarter...

The Patriots blew open the game in the fourth quarter's opening minutes when Michelle Brown converted two...

"That was the turning point," said Dalfonso Friday morning. "That 10-point surge seemed to take it out of them..."

Brown tossed in 18 points and Campbell had 12. Lubenow totaled a game-high 22 for the Pats...

Table with 4 columns: Player Name, FG, FT, TP for Seminole and Lake Brantley.

Seminole JV Teri Hardy lets fly with a jump shot in first conference loss to Lake Brantley.

Reformed Reinstated Scott Runs Greyhounds Past DeLand

After two games in which he was not considered a member of the team...

William got back into good standing with his teammates and the coaching staff...

A Lemon 12-point first stanza gave Lyman a 18-14 lead.

In the second period Scott and French took over to run the 'Hounds to a 39-30 intermission buldge.

After the break, DeLand's Greg Gilmore and Chase Brown got the 'Dogs close at 43-38 midway...

Both squads traded buckets to Lyman's delight, through 5:08 of the fourth...

The victory breaks a three-game slide by Lawrence's 'Hounds, much to his delight.

Prep Basketball

"I'm very proud of them, they played well together and had good shot selection..."

"We haven't rebounded and hit free throws like that in a long time..."

In junior varsity roundball the 'Hounds weren't as successful as Norman Heady's squad dropped a 56-53 decision to DeLand.

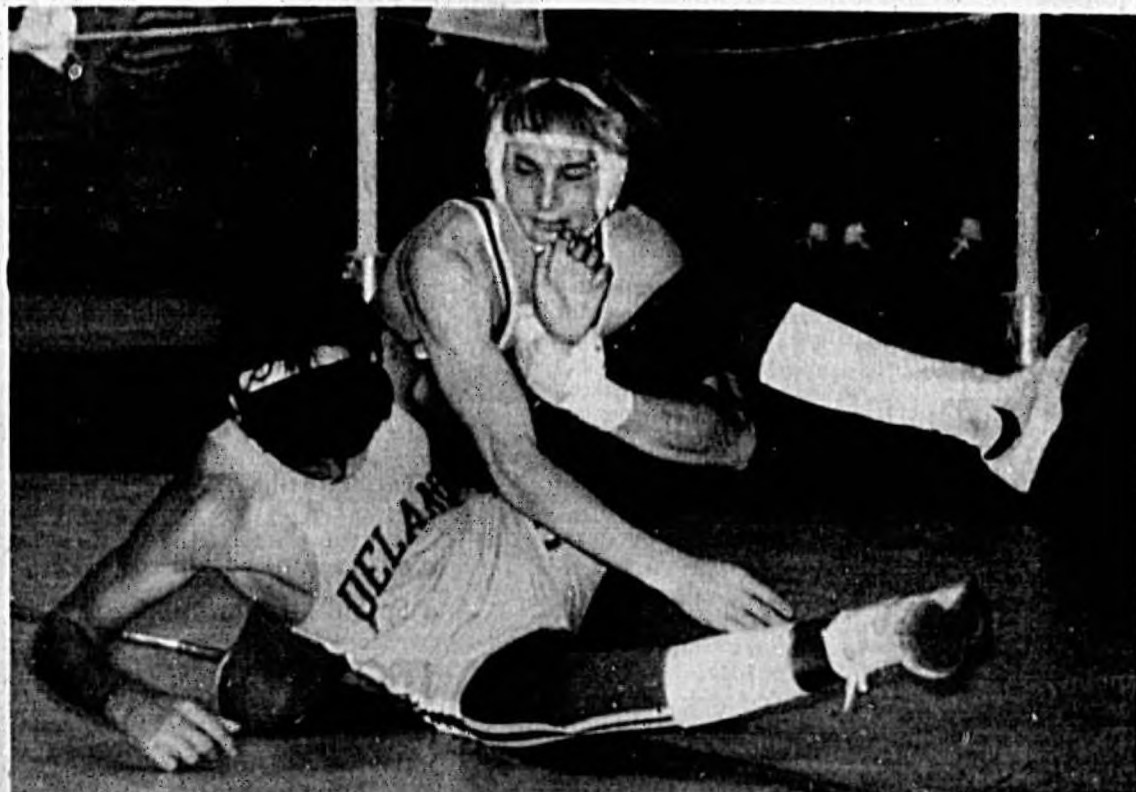

Matt Fair (15) and Mark Gilmore (11) combined for 29 while Jackie Durham fought Lyman's cause with 21.

Fouled Out — none Technical — none

Brantley's Richard Farmer (136) ties up a DeLand opponent.

Prop Wrestling

Carpenger Friday morning. "Sometimes you run into these things in life, but you've just got to do with what you have and be happy with it."

What the Patriots have left is good, but is it good enough to hold off the 'Hounds, winners of four straight and currently the hottest wrestling team in Central Florida?"

"If Lyman has the same team they had that beat Satellite Beach, they'll be tough to beat," conceded Carpenger. "But I think we can still get it. You never know what will happen in a tournament..."

Maintaining Carpenger's faith are three pretty solid bets for championships in Jack Likens (102), Rich Farmer (136) and Jeff Horn (122)...

More than likely, though, it will be Lyman walking away with its second district title in two years. Greyhound coach Skip Pletzer wrestled a tough dual schedule and it has paid off...

"I'd say we were peaking at the right time," agreed Pletzer. "We've won our last four matches to finish 8-5 and we did wrestle a tough schedule..."

Pletzer is particularly high on freshman Pat Bell (102), junior Steve Sears (135) and junior Dirk Smith (171)...

These three along with sure bets like Cory Stanley (142, 13-3), Willie Perkins (189, 8-3) and Jeff Brannen (UNI., 13-5) give the 'Hounds a pretty imposing lineup.

Curt Schuster (149, 8-3) and Mike Hill (224, 10-2) should have rematch showdowns against Lake Howell's Bob Knoblauch and Dan Rae...

Locally, Scott Sherman's Seminole best bet should come from Ronnie Watson (102 or 109), Vince Clark (130), Mike Thorman (158) and Eric ((Shamu" Martin.

The first match starts at 7 p.m.

Blood Types Not Always The Same

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband and I have O positive blood. We just found out our son has O negative blood. All were under the impression that this could not happen. He has been checked twice in the service — no mistake.

The grandparents have O negative blood. I need your answer. I am getting a lot of questions around here that I don't like and they are completely unfounded. He was born in a foreign hospital and there was not much chance of a mistake in babies.

DEAR READER — Relax! Of course it can happen and does. This is not the first time I have been told of family problems arising from misunderstanding blood types.

You can understand this better when you remember that there are two genes for most of our body traits. That includes whether you are Rh negative or Rh positive. One gene is dominant and determines which characteristic will be dominant.

When you say you and your husband are Rh positive that means only that each of you have one dominant gene that is responsible for your being Rh positive. The weaker gene in both of you is undoubtedly Rh negative. With that combination you both check out at Rh positive.

Your son inherited one gene from each of you — evidently the weaker gene for Rh factor but it gives him two genes that give him the blood Rh negative. This explains how two Rh positive parents can have an Rh negative offspring.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-4, Blood Type, Rh Factor and Transfusions. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Many teen-agers feel pressured by their friends and schoolmates to "go on the pill and go all the way." I feel sick about it but you can only ask for your professional advice. Please outline the risks these girls are taking and how much medication can affect them, aside from the moral aspects.

DEAR READER — From the standpoint of biological risk, one of the greatest risks is not from the pill but the sexual freedom that the pill encourages. None of the pills prevent venereal disease.

None will prevent herpes simplex, sometimes called genital herpes, a virus disease. Herpes simplex is spread by physical contact.

The rate is already very high in our society. A woman with herpes may have problems with any future pregnancies, by that I mean the baby may be damaged.

The male does not escape either as he may develop recurring genital herpes.

Gonorrhea may cause permanent sterility in the female from inflammation and scarring of the delicate tubes that must transmit the ovum for pregnancy.

Finally, there is the long list of things that can happen, but are not that frequent, as a complication of the pill. These include blood clots, migraine headaches, weight gain, strokes, a minor increased risk of heart attacks and perhaps as yet poorly understood disturbances in hormone balance and high blood pressure.

The more people a person has sex with the more likely he or she is to develop sexually transmitted diseases. It is not just how often but with how many.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Bridge bidding chart showing North, South, West, East hands and opening lead.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

On a really good day with all finesses working and suits breaking, the North-South cards will produce a grand slam in hearts. Even with both the heart and club finesses off, four hearts will make unless the defense is super-perfect.

The bidding may not meet with your complete approval. As they used to say, "There are more ways than one to skin a cat." There are lots more ways than one to get to four hearts and the bidding in the box is one of them.

South plays low from dummy at trick one and East wins the trick with his king of clubs. It is up to him to return something.

He considers a club return and abandons the idea. A trump or diamond lead has no merit so East will lead a spade. If he wants to beat declarer (of course, he does) a bracket lead is essential. He must play his 10 of spades!

This bracket lead crushes the unfortunate declarer. If he ducks entirely, spades will be continued. If he plays the ace the defense will get their king and queen of spades later.

His best play is the jack, but that is also a loser. West takes his king and leads the suit back and East's queen-eight now forms a tenace over the nine.

Note that if East led the eight of spades, South could play low and West would have to use his king to beat dummy's nine.

Putting A Lid On Your Fruits And Veggies

By NANCY M. NOLT
Special to the Herald

Charlotte Scudder is "just an old-fashioned gal who doesn't like anything that's store bought."

That's why she still freezes and cans all her own fruits and vegetables, bakes her own bread, and even raises a head or two of pork to fill her freezer.

"The only thing I buy is a head of lettuce once in a while," the 84-year-old grandmother insists, and a peek into her two 20-cubic-foot freezers shows that she isn't exaggerating. Carrots, cauliflower, turnips, beans, peas, corn and Florida fruits share space with several apple pies made from Cortlands that a nephew brought from the North.

These are just a few of the goodies in Charlotte Scudder's larder. She lets nothing go to waste, having learned all about thrift and how to "do" things as a child growing up on a farm in Pennsylvania.

"My father raised all his own food and mother had 12 children, so she knew how to make things stretch," Mrs. Scudder, who lives on S. Sanford Avenue in Sanford, reminisced on a recent afternoon.

Like her mother, she learned well all those "homey" arts that folks don't seem to have much time for lately — things like making rag rugs from strips of pure wool that are still beautiful after 40 years, knitting sweaters and caps that keep a body warm when the cold north wind blows ("I learned to knit with two 10-penny nails") and butchering hogs and preserving summer's harvest for long winter months.

All this was a big help to the little farm girl when she grew up and became a farm wife. Her husband is gone now and her two sons long grown, but still she enjoys these familiar tasks and while "I just can't do as much as I used to," she continues picking fruit from the grove behind her Sanford home, selling a good deal to those not so fortunate as to have their own citrus trees, and freezing or making jams and jellies from the rest.

Oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, lemons and Keefer pears are found in the grove, but Mrs. Scudder estimates she lost about 100 bushels of fruit to the freeze this year.

Still, she has more than enough for her own use and enjoys laboring in the kitchen. She's been freezing fruits and vegetables for over 60 years, even before she and her dairy farmer husband set up their "spread" in New York state. Since she has lived in Florida for the past 27 years, Mrs. Scudder is equally acquainted with the goodness produced from the soil of the Sunshine state... and she's learned a few things over the years that have helped to give her a reputation as a fine cook.

She is most discriminating in her kitchen and says freezing at the peak of freshness yields a just-picked flavor later.

"I wouldn't think of freezing an ear of corn that had 'stood' for more than four hours after it has been picked," she says. "The reason is the sugar turns to starch after it stands, and this makes a big difference in corn and in peas."

Mrs. Scudder knows what's good all right, but while she doesn't like to do it herself, she will allow that "sometimes you can buy some fresh stuff at the stores and get it on sale and freeze it, so you still save some money."

She prefers freezing to canning, she says, because frozen foods just taste better — "good as fresh." Besides, she doesn't like the screw-top canning jars as well as the old type with glass lids and wire handles.

"It's hard to find rubbers for these old ones, but I think they're more secure," she says. "I still have a few with porcelain tops, and they're about the first jars I remember."

Canning and freezing fresh fruits and vegetables is practically an art to 84-year-old Charlotte Scudder. She buys hardly anything from the supermarket, preferring her own canned goodies. She says they "beat anything you get off the shelf."

— but they'll be black if there's no juice over them."

Mrs. Scudder also "puts up" a great deal of juice, freezing over 100 quarts of orange juice every year. She also makes grape juice: "Put a cupful of grapes and then fill with boiling water and seal it up. It's ready to drink in about three weeks."

For tomato juice, she puts one teaspoon salt in the bottom of the jar and fills with pure tomato juice — no water — then processes for about 16 minutes. ("It's the same way with tomatoes.")

Although it's been nearly three decades since she has enjoyed some of the goodness of a garden way up north, — "I guess I miss apples more than anything else, and red raspberries" — always a farm girl, and when strawberry pickin' time comes around in a few weeks, she'll be right there to harvest another old favorite, then carry it right home to be made into jam or stowed in the freezer while the fruit is still just-picked fresh.

CBS, Japanese Unveil New Video System

NEW YORK (UPI) — With a great deal of hoopla and hyperbole, CBS and the NIK Japan Broadcasting Co. Tuesday unveiled a new "high definition" video system one spokesman said would "be to color as color was to black and white."

The demonstration held for the television press fell a bit short of that claim, but the CBS-NHK system did present a wider, sharper more colorful picture than the average video viewer is accustomed to receiving from the box in his living room. The new system's audio booms forth in stereophonic sound which, at present, would be of little use since the networks still are broadcasting in the same old monophonic mode emitted back in the 1930s when round-topped radios brought "Amos 'N' Andy" to the masses without pictures.

The HDTV demonstration was not exactly "Star Wars," but it did present an attractive view of things to come.

HDTV, developed by the Japanese between 1970 and 1972, boasts 1,125 scanning lines, as opposed to 525 on the standard American television receiver and 625 on European sets. In the simplest translation of technical terms, the more scan lines, the sharper and more defined the picture.

HDTV also offers an "aspect ratio" — the relationship of screen width to height — of 5 to 3, the basic equivalent of that seen on the movie screen. Present American television sets have an aspect ratio of 4 to 3, which produces a squarish picture with smaller images.

On the product production end, CBS-NHK officials, backed on their demonstration film by director Francis Ford Coppola, said new high definition equipment will make videotape viable for the first time as the medium for feature filmmaking, potentially cutting movie production costs by as much as 20 per cent.

"It's clear from what we see right now that HDTV could bring to the United States the most advanced television system and service in the world," said

Joseph Flaherty, vice president of engineering and development for CBS.

Flaherty said HDTV receivers — initially to be priced "quite high," then scaled down to about 25 per cent more than the cost of today's standard color sets — will not be on the retail market until 1986 or 1987.

It also may come equipped with something designed to exorcise the ghosts of bouncing signals and keep the expensive new picture from squiggling into herringbone every time a jetliner passes overhead.

Ted Turner, who is nothing if not an exponent of the personal approach in advertising, apparently has decided to change his image.

In the new print-media ad campaign he will launch next week on behalf of his Atlanta-based broadcasting empire, the boss of the Cable News Network is going from "Captain Outrageous" to what looks like a cross between Merle Haggard and Cool Hand Luke.

There he stands, country tacky in blue jeans and denim jacket, with one boot propped up on a rock while his fingers strum a purple "git-tahr." In the background, a herd of satellite uplinks and downlinks grazes beneath the caption, "I was in cable when cable wasn't cool."

Down home, where the grassroots grow, it may be a tough act to follow.

Peter O'Toole In 'Strumpet City'

Peter O'Toole will star in a television adaptation of James Plunkett's novel "Strumpet City," to be presented on CBS Cable in seven one-hour episodes, beginning Friday, Feb. 19. The min-series tells the story of Dublin, Ireland, around the time of World War I, where the wealthy live in grand Victorian style, attending horse shows and the theater, while the poor live in slums, with a mortality rate higher than that of Calcutta. Among the privileged classes are Bradshaw, a slum landlord, and Yearling, who comes to realize that his cannot live on opposite sides of the same fence. Linking them to the world of the poor is Father Vincent O'Connor, a young priest who volunteers to work in the slums, a vocation for which his narrowness of mind renders him unfit, and his superior, Father Giffley, whose sense of futility in the face of the extreme poverty of his parishoners has driven him to despair. Peter O'Toole plays Jim Larkin, the union organizer who led and masterminded a series of strikes culminating in the great "lock-out" of 1913.

USA In February

The USA Cable Network's "English Channel" series is presenting a potpourri of programs this month.

On Sunday, Feb. 14, "City Lights" host Brian Linehan journeys to New York to talk with Michael Caine, who has starred in more than 40 films. He discusses the influence that Cary Grant had on his early career, the reasons he left his native England for the United States and his role in the recent film "Victory."

On Feb. 28 Linehan interviews Sir John Mills, one of Britain's most acclaimed actors, whose screen roles have ranged from light comedy in the pathetic mite in "Ryan's Daughter," for which he won an Academy award. In this hour he talks of the acting family he founded, his career and his friends. Included is a clip from his 1941 film, "In Which We Serve."

"Focus on Britain: The Northwest Passage" looks at Manchester and Liverpool on Feb. 21. Not many Americans know much about England's northwestern region, even though 15 percent of the British population lives there.

CBS Takes Week's Nielsen Prize

NEW YORK (UPI)—NBC came on strong last week with two fine movies in its bid to win at Nielsen poker. It raked in the pot with "World War III," but ABC raised "The Day the Bubble Burst" with "Superman" and knocked the fine Wall Street crisis story to about the level of the stock market following the crash of '29. None of it made much difference. CBS still walked away with most of the chips. The second half of NBC's "World War III" made the Nielsen Top 10 and so did ABC's "Superman, Part I," "Bubble," which deserved more, fell to 64th on the ratings list, pulling a pauper's rating of 12.7. The week left CBS with a rating of 19.9 and an audience share of 31. ABC was second, with 18.0 and 25, and NBC occupied its accustomed rung at the bottom of the ladder with 15.9 and 25. CBS also won on the news front with a rating of 15.4 and a share of 25 for the "Evening News." The NBC "Nightly News" was second, at 14.0 and 23, and ABC's "World News Tonight" was third with 13.0 and 21. The top 10 programs for the week ending Feb. 7,

- according to the A.C. Nielsen Co., were:
1. 60 Minutes (CBS).
  2. ABC Sunday Night Movie — "Superman Part I" (ABC).
  3. Dallas (CBS).
  4. Trapper John, M.D. (CBS).
  5. Too Close for Comfort (ABC).
  6. Three's Company (ABC).
  7. NBC Monday Night Movie — "World War III, Part II" (NBC).
  8. Hart to Hart (ABC)m
  9. Dukes of Hazzard (CBS).
  10. Magnum, P.I. (ABC).

Robert Burton's Mummy

NEW YORK — Those gruesome mummy scenes you've been watching on "Another World" were created by talented makeup artist Kevin Haney. Haney, who worked on such films as "The Exorcist" and "Altered States," spent three weeks preparing off the set and two days on the set to turn actor Robert Burton (Beau Baker) into a mummy.

The beginning stages of mummification consisted of pieces of latex applied to Robert's own face in stages. The final mummy was achieved by making a cast of Robert's head, to which Kevin added latex mask-like pieces, grease makeup and real human hair. The end result was a very horrifying corpse!

Rick Springfield (Noah

Drake on "General Hospital") received a Music Award nomination as best male vocalist. His hit single, "Jessie's Girl," was also nominated as best single recording. Although Jay Acovone's (Cliff Matson on "As the World Turns") face may be new to daytime viewers, he is recognized by moviegoers for his roles in "Cruising" and "Times Square."
