Ask the Jacobys

A Vermont reader wants to know if Josephine Culbertson was a better bridge player than her husband, Ely Culbertson.

At the risk of being considered male chauvinist pigs we must report that Ely was the better player of the two. Not that Joe wasn't a great player. Joe, Helen Sobel and Edith Kemp are the only women who have won both the Vanderbilt and Spingold cups.

Actually, the story that Joe played better than her husband was fostered by Ely who felt it was good publicity.

Central Promotion Of New Industries Urged

By GLENN McCASLAND Herald Staff Writer

A centralized organization to handle new industrial prospects was recommended today after some 50 top Seminole County leaders met with Florida Department of Commerce officials at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

Jim Daniel, executive director of the Seminole County Industrial Development Authority (SCIDA), urged representatives of the eight cities, county, port authority, chambers of commerce and airport authority "meet as one group" to formulate "one voice" for contacts with new prospects.

Daniel's action came at the conclusion of a 90-minute meeting with Joe Hennessey, director of the Division of Economic Development, and Jim Cullison, chief of the Bureau of Marketing Development, Florida Department of Commerce, who outlined industrial growth in the state during the last year.

The "one voice" idea sprang up when Cullison revealed that since November the Department of Commerce had made 10 referrals of possible new industries to Seminole County interests. His announcement caused concern by Jack Horner, executive manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, and John Krider, one of Sanford's leading industrial developers.

"You say that 10 firms have been referred to Seminole County as possible industrial prospects? We know of only one," Krider said. "Who got the referrals?"

Cullison told the gathering he "felt the information went to Jim Ryan" (director of the Seminole County Port Authority) but was not totally certain.

Cullison said that four new industrial contacts had been referred to the county within the past month.

Speaking for the chamber, Horner questioned Cullison closely about the prospects, which had been referred to the county.

"It was the Sanford Chamber that asked your department to do the industrial profile on Seminole County, which year reports are about to complete. I would feel that the chamber member, suggested that a meeting be called to "determine how to provide better communication" regarding prospects.

"We can sit here and argue about this all day and get nowhere. I would suggest that Jim (Daniel) call a meeting on a county level to see what we should do to help the state help us," Mooney said.

Daniel said after the meeting he planned to "get right to work on this thing so we won't be slow in any contacts with new industrial firms."

"We must work together or we can't be successful," he said. "I feel Seminole County has so much more to offer than even Orange County. We cannot afford problems to arise in moving forward."

Pelley Calls Proposal 'Reasonable' Teachers Offered $200 Increase

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

The School Board's negotiating team today offered the county's 1,462 school teachers a minimum $200-a-year cost living adjustment in lieu of the Seminole Education Association's (SEA) demand for a $9,500 salary for beginning teachers.

"This is our final proposal as far as the cost of living adjustment. It's reasonable, it's within the board's budget," said Harry Pelley, the board's chief negotiator.

SEA spokesman Steve Rosenthal said, "$200 is not an acceptable figure. It's not a cost of living adjustment. What it is is an actual increase. They haven't based anything on the consumer price index."

"The county is much better off financially. They should be considering quite a bigger jump. It's ridiculous, and it's a disgrace," Rosenthal added.

He also rapped $150,000 worth of increases for principals and administrators scheduled to come before the board for approval at a 4 p.m. meeting today in the board conference room.

"I just can't sit back and see a beginning teacher given $100 or $200 more while administrators are being recommended for an additional $500 or $1,000," Rosenthal said. School Supt. Bud Loyer has recommended the board approve the $150,000 package for administrators. The package ups some principals' salaries by as much as $1,000 a year and allows assistant superintendents nearly $3,000 a year in salary hikes.

At a meeting last week the board voted to hold off on Loyer's request. The request is a splitoff from an index study prepared by Ernie Cowley, the school system's assistant director of personnel.

Cowley agreed today that, as a result of his study, some principals will earn an additional $1,000 next year, but he maintains the raises will bring Seminole County in line with salaries paid principals and administrators in counties which are equivalent in size.

A four per cent hike for assistant principals at the elementary level is also included in the package. Bob Hughes, principal at Sable Point Elementary, fought for and won the increase for assistants at a budget hearing earlier in the year.

Jarvis stressed the $200—which would cost the county about $900,000—is the board's last offer for the teachers. He said the deadline for contract finalization is Aug. 2. At $200, a beginning teacher would earn $8,000 yearly, a raise that would increase salaries proportionately up the line.

"We are at an impasse Aug. 2," Pelley said. If it happens, an outside special master would be called in to rule on items the two teams have failed to reconcile.

Pelley said today's negotiations will determine whether a special master will be required from Tallahassee. Both sides would pay costs incurred by the special master.

Yesterday, Pelley offered teachers a $100 cost of living adjustment. Today he upped it to $200.

The $200 adjustment would be good only for next year. Economic conditions would determine if the adjustment is raised—or taken away—in 1976.

Grand Jury Fire Report To Be Opened By Aug. 8

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

A grand jury report on the June 9 Seminole County jail fire that killed 11 men will be made public sometime between now and August 8, according to Circuit Court Judge A.J. Hosemann Jr.

Hosemann ordered the jury's report sealed yesterday when it was returned, ending a seven-week probe by the investigative body into the fatal fire.

Hosemann said that the report was sealed pending "further studies as to the contents of the report."

State Atty. Abbott Herring told reporters that the jury's report contained no judgments and that copies of the report were prepared so the court could provide anyone mentioned with the information.

Hosemann wouldn't disclose if any of the copies have been given out, but he held separate conferences yesterday afternoon behind closed doors in his courthouse chambers with County Attorney Tom Freeman and attorney Bill Eaton, who represents Sheriff John Polk. Polk is believed to have been furnished a copy of the grand jury report.

Freeman is also believed to have been given a copy. County Commission Chairman Sid Vilen Jr. said this morning that, to his knowledge, none of the five commissioners have seen the report, and referred reporters to Freeman. Freeman wasn't available at his office, according to a secretary who answered telephone calls from newsmen.

One source very close to the grand jury probe said that there are "possibly serious legal implications in the report that must be studied," and indicated that State Attorney General Robert Shavin may be consulted during the studies of the report.

Hosemann declined to say if there are any replies expected to the grand jury report. However, he told The Herald, "Just as soon as the studies are completed I'll order the report made public. It could be within a few days, but I expect it to be as late as a week from Friday (August 8)."

Grand Juror Cites Long Investigation O'Malley Prober Disappointed

(See Related Story, Page 3-A)

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—A grand juror cited a long investigation as his reason for resigning Tuesday. In a plea-bargained deal, he pleaded no contest to a misdemeanor and wiped out two felony and 11 impeachment charges pending against him.

"I will leave that up to the people to judge the end result," he said.

He said that O'Malley's no-contest plea was "tantamount to a guilty plea."

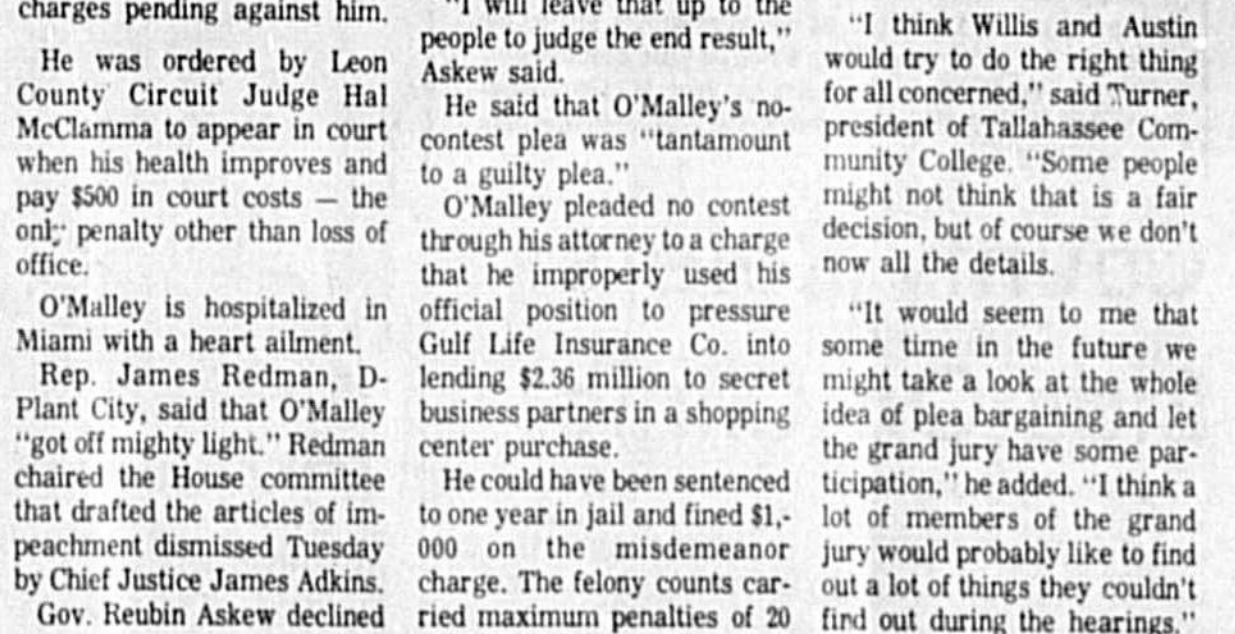

O'Malley pleaded no contest through his attorney to a charge that he improperly used his official position to pressure Gulf Life Insurance Co. into lending $2.36 million to shopping business partners in a secret center purchase.

He could have been sentenced to one year in jail and fined $1,000 on the misdemeanor charge. The felony counts carried maximum penalties of 20 years in jail and $15,000 in fines. Benfield and Fred Turner, the grand jury foreman, criticized the plea bargaining in general, but said they were confident that Austin and Willis had handled the O'Malley case properly.

"I think Willis and Austin would try to do the right thing for all concerned," said Turner, president of Tallahassee Community College. "Some people might not think that is a fair decision, but of course we don't now all the details."

"It would seem to me that some time in the future we might take a look at the whole idea of plea bargaining and let the grand jury have some participation," he added. "I think a lot of members of the grand jury would probably like to find out a lot of things they couldn't find out during the hearings."

Forum Says Building Down 97 Per Cent; Commission Hears Of Eight-Point Plan

By FRANK HILL

The Sanford Builders Forum painted a gloomy picture last night of the housing industry in the city as it presented the City Commission with an eight-point program to aid low cost housing.

Paul Jarvis, committee chairman, told the commission that building construction in Sanford was down 97 per cent, according to University of Florida survey figures.

"In 1972, Sanford was issuing 48 1/2 housing building permits per month. This dropped to 47 1/2 permits in 1974," Jarvis said. "But in the first six months of 1975, only 1 1/2 permits per month for new homes have been issued. That is a 97 per cent drop."

Jarvis said that while building permits were dropping, housing costs had jumped 54 per cent and had doubled in Sanford since 1973.

"That is why we have prepared these recommendations to assist in getting building back into a brighter picture," he said.

Jarvis said the recommendations were prepared by a portion of City Manager

Warren "Pete" Knowles' memorandum last week to Building Official Bill Bracland regarding the forum's work in which Knowles remarked about a socialist trend and to which Odham took exception.

Odham defended a suggestion to cut the utility connection fee, pointing out that mobile homes were allowed a break from $500 for the first unit down to $137.50 for every unit after the third placed in a park.

"Surely we can help the home builder a little," he said. "After all, it is not the builder who pays for these houses—but the home owner or buyer, who in turn becomes a taxpayer."

Mayor Lee Moore stopped Odham's remarks when Councilman A.K. McClanahan attempted to debate with the housing developer over the cost "complete study of all the records at city hall, material from the university and additional input from other sources" and thanked the city for its help.

J. Brailey Odham, committee member, told the commission that "you have so many codes established at so many levels that we can't change the codes at the local level and do any good for housing."

"Therefore this committee has turned to find another way to help provide housing. Maybe this can be done by building things smaller, cutting the size of the lots or any number of things," Odham said. "But nothing in this report is getting building back into a brighter picture," he said.

Odham was referring to a portion of City Manager of the mobile home tap fees. "Gentlemen, gentlemen. We are not going to debate this tonight," Moore said. "I'm going to say now what I'm sure Pete (Knowles) is going to suggest when you're finished, Brailey. I would suggest we hold a work session on these recommendations and not act upon them tonight," Moore said.

After a brief discussion, the commission moved to accept the workshop plan and scheduled a noon meeting for August 12 in the commission chambers.

The workshop had been suggested by Jarvis in his opening remarks and in a memorandum from Knowles to the commission, filed after 5 p.m. Monday, following a meeting between Knowles and Jarvis on the building forum's report.

After the commission adopted the August 12 workshop date, Odham left the speaker's table, but remarked, "I just want the commission to know that I'm not standing here talking about myself."

Welfare Program Needs An Overhaul

There is not much heard in Washington these days about scrapping the present public welfare system in the United States of America and replacing it with something simpler, like a guaranteed annual income or negative income tax.

A steady chipping away at problems under the present system is leading to a conviction that it is not as bad as it might have looked a few years ago.

U.S. Commissioner of Welfare Robert Carlson points out that there has been signal success in putting a rein on Aid for Dependent Children (AFDC) Case loads and costs in that welfare category had taken off like a rocket in the late 1960s.

Nationwide, AFDC rolls began dropping in March of 1973 for the first time in 20 years. While the recession has reversed the decline, it was not until this spring that the case load had climbed back up to the level where it stood in the relatively good times of 1973.

Needy families with an established qualification for public assistance are getting substantially higher benefits than they could afford to provide if this reform effort had not been undertaken.

While there has been great progress in controlling the AFDC program, we are now seeing another welfare runaway — the Food Stamp program. Again, there is a sound principle behind food stamps, but the administration of the program has become a nightmare and abuses have flourished.

It got there because it substituted for the distribution of surplus food to the needy, and the Agriculture Department had been the purchaser and custodian of the food. It does not belong there because food stamp allotments are a welfare benefit, and the federal government has recognized this by placing the distribution of them in the hands of state and local welfare departments.

A basic problem in welfare reform is the disparity between the intent of an aid program and what it becomes in actual practice. The responsibility now falling to Congress is not to find some new scheme for meeting the problems of the poor, but to assure that the well-intentioned programs which now comprise our public welfare system are not allowed to become something else because of confusion, overlapping bureaucracies and ineffective procedures for determining eligibility.

Toying With Rules

The government seems to have exhausted the possibilities for making automobiles safer with air-bags, seat belts, heavy-duty bumpers and other reinforcements. It may now move into saving Americans from themselves when they pilot another dangerous vehicle, the shopping cart.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission is toying with some new designs it may mandate in an effort to keep shopping carts from tipping over too easily.

The shopping cart strikes us as a well-designed device for its purpose — carrying groceries. For that matter, buggies and strollers are well-designed for their purpose, too, and it is a wise parent who sees the difference, even if the CPSC does not.

Many people view him with skepticism and wariness, so we named him "Detente!"

He'll, all you old C-B veterans out there (or would you prefer we call it Seabees?)

There's going to be a meeting of Seabee Island 4 come Saturday morning, lasting from 9 until noon, at the Holiday Inn, Lee Road and 14 in Orlando, and you're invited.

Island 4 is a newly formed veteran's organization composed of individuals who served in the Seabees during WWII, the Korean Conflict or Vietnam and post-Vietnam.

Bob Markey tells us that this meeting is simply a time for getting together with other former Seabees and finding old friends, sharing experiences and helping keep alive the traditional 'Can Do' esprit d'corps of the Seabees.

If you served in one of these outfits during the prescribed periods of time, you should enjoy attending the meeting and discovering how the old units have banded together all over the nation to support the Seabees currently in uniform and further the cause of veterans in general, according to Markey.

Black Lung: Its Victims Lose Twice

OAKHILL, W. Va. — "It's worse in the night," says Clarence Sheppard. "You wake up coughing and you can't catch your breath. You want to get up but you can't move. You lean over on your side and you double up, wondering if you'll die or what. After a while it goes away. You lay back sneezing. Then the heart begins to ache, like you broke a muscle or something, and you want to get up for it but like I say you can't never seem to come."

Sheppard, 63, has had silicosis, better known as black lung, for a decade, the result of 20 years as a coal miner sucking in the dust beneath the Appalachian Mountains. He says it was bad enough at first, but grows graver by the year. "I ain't spit clean since I don't know when."

Neither has he walked without getting winded, or gotten through a day without medication. "I pray for relief all the time, you know, but it ain't never seem to come."

To alleviate the suffering of black-lunged miners, Congress passed a Coal Mine Health and Safety Act in 1969 and a Black Lung Benefits Act three years later. The intent of the legislation was to seek out silicosis victims and to compensate them for the occupational ruin of their health. That intent, sadly, has not since been carried out with enough energy or sympathy to include men like Sheppard who continue to cough their lives away, uncompensated, often impoverished, and forgotten by a careless nation.

No one can say how many men fit into this category. The United Mine Workers union estimates that several hundred thousand. But if statistics concerning the suffering are lacking, reasons for the oversight are not. Says Bill Cody, president of the Oakhill Black Lung Association: "What it is is an attitude of suspicion. The federal people who run the black lung benefits programs feel that most of the men applying for compensation are free loaders."

When Sheppard contacted the disease in 1952 his coal company laid him off with a promise of more work when his condition cleared. The company knew the condition would not clear, but by suggesting future wages it kept Sheppard from applying for what then constituted state silicosis compensation. After three years, the elapsed time for state benefits qualification, Sheppard was told he'd never work again. So he was left with no money, especially not hard proof of his illness.

Even when documentation is available — Sheppard has had numerous X-rays diagnosed as black lung — the federal system is not easily satisfied. The UMW says that of 600,000 claims under the Social Security department since 1970, half have been rejected. In some mining areas the coal companies dominate the sympathies of local physicians and lawyers, thus compromising this professional expertise.

It is of course true that many benefits denials are justified for reasons of official fraud. The UMW has a fair share of opportunities. Yet the strictures which have weeded out applicants have clearly hindered the legitimates as well.

Chauvinism Shows Up In Hannibal

It sounds like a whitewash job to us, but the Hannibal, Mo. Jaycees have decided that boys are boys and girls are girls and never the twain shall meet — not when it comes to the annual re-enactment of the famous fence-painting episode in Twain's classic "Tom Sawyer."

A number of local girls had picked this year's Tom Sawyer Days Face Painting Contest after their applications were rejected. In the competition, boys are judged on their costumes and the speed and efficiency with which they whitewash a section of wooden fence.

Well, it's been a long, long time since we read "Tom Sawyer" and we have no idea what Samuel Clemens, alias Mark Twain, would think about the social changes that have taken place since his time.

Along with the four-day work week, the innovation of flexible working hours was one of those ideas whose time seemed to have come a few years ago but has since been indefinitely postponed. The recession has left millions of Americans with zero work days and 100 per cent "flexibility."

One company, however, launched an experimental flexible work-hours program last year that proved to be so popular it has now been expanded to cover more employees of the firm.

The program was tried with about 250 employees at the beginning; it now covers more than 800. Since the test, the only change Pitney-Bowes has made has been the elimination of checks to count hours worked. Employees are now responsible for manually reporting the hours they work on time registers.

Research Shortchanged

Despite the successful race to the moon, the Apollo-Soyuz docking and other astounding scientific advances of the past two decades, there are signs that we as a nation are losing our willingness to take the daring risks required for continued scientific leadership.

As a result, we are boxed in by one technological surprise after another. Princeton University's Prof. Robert Gilpin notes that with the launch of Sputnik by the Russians, Americans discovered we lacked the propulsion technology, high heat resistant materials and the applied mathematics to move quickly into competition. In energy, we now find ourselves crippled because we failed to do the necessary research in coal gasification technology, in energy storage and conversion systems and in geothermal, solar and other unconventional energy sources.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — An Organization of American States vote to end sanctions against Cuba has cleared the way for a new body of Western opinion views it with grave misgivings as an exercise in political gains in return for vague promises.

A wordy declaration was placed for ceremonial signing before 35 leaders of big and little nations, including the American, Russian and Canadian delegations. The Communists regimes installed under Soviet guns in East Europe after World War II.

New Turkish Deal Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration will present a new plan it hopes will get Congress to approve a resumption of U.S. arms sales to Turkey before leaving for a recess Friday, Sen. John Tower says.

The Texas Republican, who heads the Senate Republican policy committee, told reporters Tuesday that a new bill "is in the works" with the plan being to present it first to the Senate and then, if approved, to the House.

The House voted last Thursday, 223 to 206, against a partial lifting of the arms embargo, which had been imposed by Congress because of Turkey's use of American weapons in its invasion and occupation of Cyprus.

"I AM A WEEKEND CALLER"

By Alex Bell as told to T.A. Watson. I used to think I had more important things to do on weekends than call long distance. Then one Saturday night, something happened that changed my mind forever.

I discovered Southern Bell's low rates on weekend calls. That from 5 p.m. on Friday 8 a.m. on Monday, I can dial direct anywhere in the United States (except Alaska) without an operator's assistance and talk for considerably less money than on weekdays 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. So that's why I became a weekend caller.

Cowpoke Professor Lassoes Old Myths

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The students weren't surprised when the cowpoke moseyed into the classroom wearing sixshooters. It was just an average day in a course they affectionately dub "Cowboys and Indians."

Technically, the rather dry title of the senior level course at the University of Florida is "History of Trans-Mississippi West 1830-1890." So Dr. Julian Pleasants, remembering the afternoons he spent cheering Hopalong Cassidy down the silvery screen's dusty trail, does what he can to bring it to life. Sometimes, he wears cowboy clothes.

"They were so tame and likeable, the railroad people offered Butch a job as a freight guard to keep him off the tracks so they wouldn't have to shoot him," Pleasants said. "Butch and Sundance likely never killed anyone in their lives. Even when being pursued, they'd shoot the horses instead of the men chasing them."

Of all the misconceptions about the wild west, the most unjust are those about Indians, said the 35-year-old professor. He said the white man could have learned much from the Indians, especially how to live in harmony with nature. "The American Indian culture was far advanced beyond that of the white invaders of that period," Pleasants said. "We judged them savage and barbaric only because that was one way to justify exterminating them in order to settle their land."

"... in real life, all those Miss Kitty types looked as if they'd crawled out of a cactus patch into a pig pen."

—Dr. Julian Pleasants

New Chairman Says Clients Come First

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The new Senate Ways and Means chairman says he's going to make sure the interests of clients are put to the front in reorganizing the Health and Rehabilitative Services Department.

"We intend to assert the clients' interest in the reorganization," Sen. Jack Gordon, D-Miami, said. "An organization whose purpose exists to serve the people ought to be organized from the point of view of the people."

Gordon criticized HRS officials during an interview Tuesday for not making the needs of its clients top priority in reorganizing the mammoth agency.

Gordon, who headed the Senate's Health and Rehabilitative Services Committee that helped push reorganization through the legislature, was critical of the way the department was restructuring itself.

The 1975 legislature ordered the 32,000-employee agency to abolish its 11 divisions and reorganize into 11 service-delivery districts to improve the aid it provides Florida's needy, retarded and mentally ill. "My big objection has been that they should have started with the districts," Gordon said. "It's what you do in the field that should dictate what you do in Tallahassee."

HRS officials said last week they would be ready to start setting up district organizations as soon as an inventory of the agency's employees was completed.

Acting HRS Secretary Emmet Roberts said he would begin this week recruiting candidates for the district administrator posts, considered the key to reorganization.

"These people ought to be using some shoe leather to walk around the offices of the state to see what the needs of the people are," Gordon said. As chairman of the Senate committee that determines how much money HRS will get next year, Gordon will have some say in determining how the agency is reorganized.

Twelve Persons Trying For Bicentennial Post

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A dozen persons are interested in replacing Don Pride as Bicentennial Commission executive director at $34,000 a year, Lt. Gov. Jim Williams says.

Williams, commission chairman, said in an interview Tuesday that those interested include Beverly Dozier, unsuccessful secretary of state candidate, and Gary Wetherington, who was ousted as assistant executive director in January when Pride took the post.

Pride, who resigns Thursday to become press secretary of Sargent Shriver's presidential campaign, replaced Shelton Kemp. Kemp was ousted by Gov. Reubin Askew.

Others who have applied for the post are Edna Tate, chairman of the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women, and Dr. Peter Risley, who received his Ph.D. in history at Florida State University and is working on a project at Yale University, Williams said.

Mrs. Dozier, former state cultural affairs director, who like Pride, was an unsuccessful candidate last fall for secretary of state, has not submitted a formal application, Williams said.

"But I am aware she's interested," Williams said. She has reportedly called some commission members to promote her candidacy. Williams said he would try to get a file of all applications, suggestions and resumes together by Thursday to plan interviews.

"As a practical matter, I'll try to have some interviews, then narrow the field substantially and make a recommendation to commission members," he said.

If there is a strong candidate for the post, he said he may appoint that person before the commission's next meeting in September and ask them to approve his choice. "Hopefully this one will be a permanent director," he said. The commission goes out of existence June 30, 1977. Funding ends Dec. 31, 1978.

Askew created a stir last January when he appointed Pride, ousting Kemp and Wetherington, both associates of former Lt. Gov. Tom Adams. Wetherington branded Askew's ouster action as illegal and took his allegations to the Ethics Commission. The commission rejected the contention.

Pride resigned as Askew's press secretary last year in an unsuccessful bid for secretary of state.

He seemed sure his appointee would win the election next year, saying another consideration would be that the person could get experience in the post and "we wouldn't have any conceivable turnover at that point."

Askew and O'Malley have feuded frequently on the Cabinet, and the disputes grew in intensity following Askew's appointment of a special prosecutor to investigate O'Malley.

Askew Wants Supporter As O'Malley Successor

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew says he wants the successor of resigned Insurance Commissioner Thomas O'Malley to be someone who will support him on the Cabinet for the next three years.

But Askew told a news conference Tuesday that the selection will be delayed until fall for more study. Meanwhile, Askew said, Philip Askew will continue as interim treasurer-insurance commissioner.

Under Florida law, a successor must be chosen in next year's election because more than 28 months remain on O'Malley's four-year term that began last January.

Askew, declining to say who was under consideration for appointment, said the post would have to go to someone who could win it the remaining two years of O'Malley's term. Why not leave Askew in until the 1976 election,

Report Sealed For More Study

Florida Statute 905.23 states: "No report or presentation of the grand jury relating to an individual which is not accompanied by a true bill or indictment shall be made public or be published until the individual concerned has been found guilty of a crime or given 15 days to file with the circuit court a motion to suppress or expunge the report or that portion which is improper and unlawful."

The law also provides that any such motion, whether granted or denied, shall automatically act as a stay of public announcement of the report, or a portion of the report, until the local circuit court's ruling on the motion is either affirmed or denied by the Fourth District Court of Appeal, West Palm Beach.

If there is no appeal on the local court's ruling on a motion the stay is in effect until the time period for filing such an appeal expires.

During the seven-week jail fire probe the grand jury heard a number of witnesses including Polk, county commissioner, fire investigators, Herring's chief investigator Jack R. Fulwider, some of the 37 surviving jail inmates, jailers and attorneys who represented inmate Ray McCall, who died in the fire.

McCall, a 16-year-old Orange County juvenile indicted in Seminole to stand trial on a robbery charge, is believed by authorities to have set a stack of foam mattresses stored outside his isolation cell. Dense, acrid smoke from the plastic-covered mattresses filled the second-floor jail adjacent to the Sanford courthouse and firemen and sheriff's personnel worked 90 minutes before the last inmate was evacuated.

Authorities said the 10 inmates and one jailer who were killed in the fire died of smoke inhalation.

Authorities say the nighttime fire erupted minutes after McCall had been notified that his pending trial had been continued in circuit court for the second time. Officials said McCall was reportedly "very upset" when told by a jailer of the trial delay.

Repairs costing $40,000 are nearing completion at the jail and county officials are awaiting a State Fire Marshal's report on whether a proposed 14-point minimum safety requirement plan will remedy alleged fire safety deficiencies in the jail.

Meanwhile, county prisoners are being housed in jails in surrounding counties at a reported cost of more than $1,000 a day.

Polk has been named defendant in at least five civil suits filed by relatives of dead inmates and by one survivor of the fire. The suits seek millions of dollars in damages.

Youth Injured In Bicycle-Auto Mishap

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

The 14-year-old son of a Casselberry city councilman was listed in good condition this morning at Florida Hospital North, Altamonte Springs, where he is being treated for injuries received yesterday in a bicycle-car collision in Casselberry.

Casselberry police reported that Arthur David Zacco, 14-year-old son of Councilman John Zacco, of 505 Queen's Mirror Circle, was riding a bicycle in the rain on the same street near his home when the bicycle collided with a car driven by Clarence Barry Klase, 28, of Fern Park.

Police said another cyclist with young Zacco wasn't injured or involved in the accident.

Officers reported one of the men took her car and she escaped from the other three men on Markham Woods Road when she jumped from their vehicle and was aided by a passing motorist.

A police spokesman said Sheriff's reports today listed several burglaries in which Clapper cited young Zacco for

Freeman Appointed To CALNO Council

Seminole County Attorney Tom Freeman was appointed last night by the County Commission to represent it on the CALNO Council's double taxation study board.

Freeman is heading up the county's "blue-ribbon" committee to playpilot which services the county provides for tax paying residents of incorporated areas and unincorporated areas.

Commissioner John Kimbrough nominated Freeman for the appointment saying Freeman would be able to answer legal questions better than any of the five commissioners.

John Morris, CALNO chairman, requested the commission appoint a county official to sit on the special double taxation study group.

Hefner Denies He's Selling 74-Room Playboy Mansion

CHICAGO (AP) — Hugh Hefner says he is not disposing of his 74-room Playboy mansion here, but is instead "redecorating it rather dramatically."

The president of Playboy Enterprises, Inc., thus contradicted Tuesday night his senior vice president, Victor Lowmes, who had announced that the lavish mansion is being closed and that Hefner's DCJ jet is being put up for sale.

Contacted at his Los Angeles mansion, Hefner said, "We're not closing down the Chicago mansion, but reducing it rather dramatically. It will still be a base of operations. We will still have it with a skeleton staff when I'm here."

Lowmes, who calls himself "Jaws" because of his budget-cutting duties, had said earlier Tuesday, "It's purely an economic decision and I can use the money elsewhere."

The Chicago mansion was built in 1933 and bought by Playboy for $400,000 in 1957. With Hefner living in another mansion near Los Angeles, only six Playboy bunnies and Lowmes currently live in the Chicago mansion.

Lowmes said Hefner's jet, painted black except for a bunny insignia on the tail, could be purchased for $6.35 million.

Sidney Luft In Contempt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sidney Luft, former husband of the late Judy Garland, has been found in contempt of court for interfering with the sale of Garland television show tapes.

The civil contempt action against Luft was filed by Trophy Productions Inc. and its president, Barnett Glassman, and claimed Luft violated a court order barring him from interfering with sale of the 28 tapes.

Luft was accused of calling potential buyers and telling them Glassman was a "parate," a "tracheeter" and a "crook."

Luft, described in court records Monday as "an unemployed ex-spouse of Judy Garland, fallen on hard times," was given a suspended five-day jail sentence and a $500 fine, stayed pending appeal.

Humperdinck Loses Bid

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Singer Engelbert Humperdinck has lost his bid to have a paternity suit against him dismissed on the grounds a local model waited too long to file the action.

District Judge Howard Babcock ruled Monday that the statute of limitations had not run out on the claim of Diane Marie Vincent that Humperdinck fathered her daughter born in October 1970.

The judge said he will schedule a hearing on the merits of the suit.

driving on the wrong side of the road.

Seminole and Orange County sheriff's deputies today were investigating a report by a 34-year-old Orlando woman that she was abducted by four men at gunpoint, her auto stolen, and that she managed to escape from the men on Markham Woods Road north of Longwood.

According to Seminole sheriff's reports, Betty Jean Saunders told Deputy R.L. O'Dell that she was driving home from an Eastonville night spot when four men in another car forced her vehicle off I-4 near Lee Road and forced her at pistol-point to accompany them.

Ms. Saunders reported one of the men took her car and she escaped from the other three men on Markham Woods Road when she jumped from their vehicle and was aided by a passing motorist.

Officers reported that burglars smashed a window at the 105 Candewick Road, Longwood, residence of Charles Hiley, and took a movie camera and $200 in old coins, mostly silver dollars.

of breaking and entering a vehicle and possession of burglary tools.

Police reports said the officers found the auto of James E. Taylor had been forcefully entered and burglary tools were found in the auto.

officers were investigating the theft of six cases of beer and an undetermined quantity of wine in a break-in at Hex Bar, 410 Sanford Ave., early today.

Lee Mixon, 110 Airport Boulevard, Sanford, reported a $175 citizens band radio, first-aid kit and a six-inch skinning knife were taken from a boat parked in a lot at Sandfield Villas.

Freeman Appointed To CALNO Council

Seminole County Attorney Tom Freeman was appointed last night by the County Commission to represent it on the CALNO Council's double taxation study board.

Freeman is heading up the county's "blue-ribbon" committee to playpilot which services the county provides for tax paying residents of incorporated areas and unincorporated areas.

Commissioner John Kimbrough nominated Freeman for the appointment saying Freeman would be able to answer legal questions better than any of the five commissioners.

John Morris, CALNO chairman, requested the commission appoint a county official to sit on the special double taxation study group.

Six inches of insulation in your attic could save you one third on your air conditioning costs.

Good insulation will not only make you more comfortable by keeping the heat out, it'll also give you the added comfort of knowing your cooling costs aren't going through the roof.

Fact is, if your home is fully air conditioned you could save one third or more on air conditioning costs simply by having a six inch layer of insulation in the attic.

Insulation's inexpensive. The blown-in type averages about 15¢ a square foot installed. The batt type costs more. Either way, the savings on your electric bill alone will probably pay for the cost of your insulation in just two years.

Another thing you can do to keep the heat out, the cool in, and the costs down is weather strip your doors and windows. Especially jalousie windows.

And if you have a window where the sun beats in, shade it. With window shades, awnings, shutters or reflective film. It'll help a lot. Example: One 8'x6'8" panel of glass with direct exposure to the sun requires nearly one ton of air conditioning for cooling alone. That adds up to a lot of air conditioning. And a lot of extra money.

What else can you do to save on cooling costs? Use light colors on your walls and roof to reflect the sun. Shade your air conditioning unit with shrubbery. All these things add up to dollars saved on your cooling costs. And dollars you save on electricity.

Why are we telling you all this? Because at Florida Power & Light we'd like to help you save on your electric bill.

Summer Is Great 'Get-Away' Time

By JAN MONAHAN
Herald Staff Writer

Chamber of Commerce Executive Manager Jack Horner can't imagine why anyone would want to leave Sanford in the Summer.

But the fact remains — this is the time of year when people everywhere want to get away from wherever they are!

With the summer "get-away" in full swing and northerners still flocking to Florida in record numbers, it's natural to ask, "where do Floridians (Sanfordites in particular) like to vacation?"

While undoubtedly there are those heading out to all the far corners of the U. S. and abroad, a random sample of some of Sanford's prominent residents narrows down the favored destinations considerably.

Among special vacation, two — North Carolina and New Smyrna Beach — take preference.

"We've traveled all over, but we always go back to North Carolina," says Mrs. Scott Burns. Florida Power and Light Director, Scott Burns and his wife have a daughter who lives in North Carolina, so that's an added attraction, but it's the climate, the scenery and the mountains that provide a welcome change for this Sanford couple.

Having visited North Carolina regularly for the past 20 years the Burns rattle off the names of their favorite places . . . Bryson City, Maggie Valley, and Hurricane Ridge.

This state is a favorite for attorney, Mack Cleveland but for another reason. "I go primarily to play golf on their beautiful golf courses," says the Sanford bachelor. Again, the Highlands and Waynesville get local testimonials for cool evenings when one can enjoy sitting around the hearth with a fire snapping and crackling.

But Mack splits his loyalties between the Tar Heel State and a condominium on New Smyrna Beach. Despite its proximity to Sanford, Mack claims one can totally isolate oneself there, rest and relax without all the rigors of long distance traveling. While some northerners may travel 1500 miles to enjoy the beach, sun and water, Mack Cleveland only clocks $3 to 40 miles to his speedometer to enjoy the same things.

Joe Davis of the Stenstrom, Davis, Melitosh, attorneys feels the same about New Smyrna. "It's not commercialized and one of the finest beaches around," says Davis. And, being a man who also enjoys being at the controlling end of a fishing rod, he relies on the river and off-shore sport at New Smyrna.

Although Davis especially likes Sanibel Island and Captiva on the west coast, he points out that New Smyrna is much closer and therefore affords more frequent visits.

This perhaps is also the motivation for a number of other Sanford residents. Enough so, that several years ago the Win Sam Club was formed, a 42-unit condominium complex named for the predominance of Winter Park and Sanford residents. Among localities who have apartments there, according to Davis, are Cal Conklin; Bill Gramkow, Dot McWhorter, Bob Crumley, the Ken Massons and Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wing.

But John Mercer, wasn't sold on either North Carolina or New Smyrna. "We're campers," says the Flagship Bank president. Mercer and his family hitch up their Air-stream camper to their car and set off, not across country, but just a few miles down the road to Outdoor resorts by Disney World. This way, Mercer can commute to work in Sanford and his daughter is a little closer to her job at Disney World.

The camps, Mercer says, have all the drawing cards of other resorts — tennis, golf, horsebores, square dancing, fishing, sailing and padelboatting.

There are some 15 to 20 camp grounds and state parks the Mercers also enjoy. Among them are the Royal Coachman near Naples, Hillsboro River State Park south of Zephyrhills and Flagler Beach State Park.

The Tom Mercers are also campers, but they enjoy longer trips. "We have a trailer and like to go out to the Midwest in the fall," says Mrs. Mero. "If you go into some of the national forests you can see some of our country's prettiest property."

Mrs. Mero feels camping is a relaxing type of vacation even though she cooks your own meals. But, she points out, "my husband does a lot of the cooking too on these trips."

So, if you still have a little vacation time left, you can try some of these recommended places.

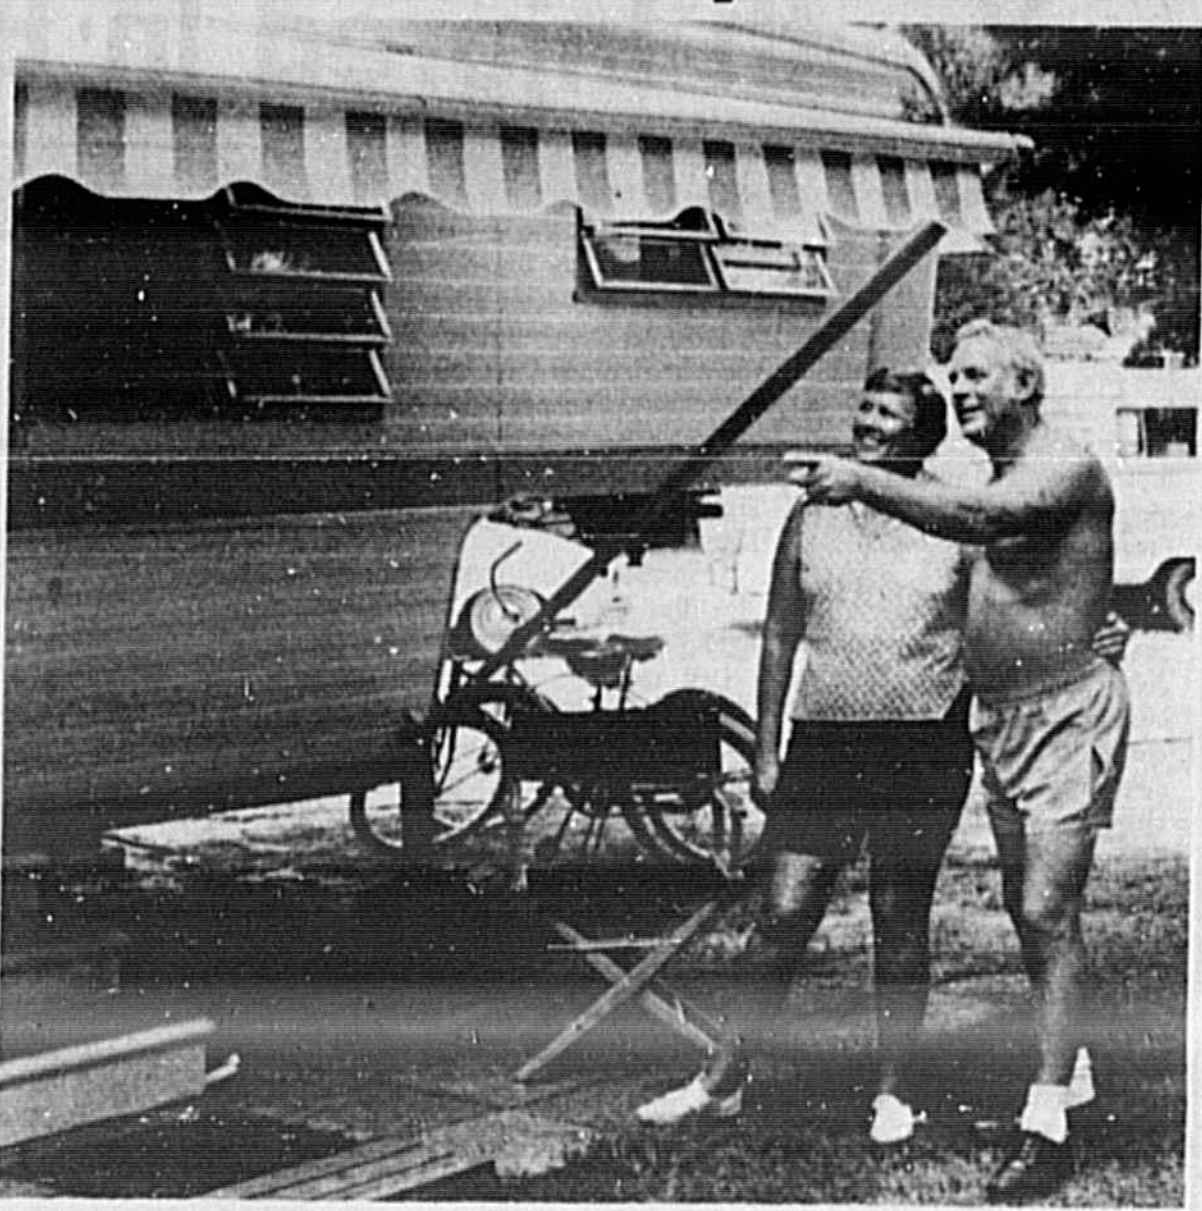

However, if you have neither the time, money nor inclination to take a vacation this year, there's still plenty to do in central Florida points out Jack Horner. Top of the list should be a visit to the new Central Florida Zoo, he says.

And don't forget about the fishing and boating on the St. Johns River and Lake Morro or the canoeing on Wekiva and Little Econ River.

You can grab your racket and play tennis at a number of local courts or put on a swimming suit and head out for Rock Springs or Wekiva Springs.

There are parks and picnicking and a continuous program at the recreation department, reminds Horner.

Especially plan to be around in August, says Horner for Sanford Night at the Ballgame. The oldest, active major league baseball scout, Zinn Beck, will be honored at 7:30 p.m. August 4 at Tinker Field in Orlando.

Home away from home: Joe and Agnes Orsino of Sanford vacation in trailer in Twelve Oaks Camp Ground.

Heading Out: Bound for summer fun and adventure in their trusty canoe are Simone Tetreault and Julius Chambers (above) trade paddle power for motor power and cruises down the St. Johns River, all proving you don't have to travel far from Sanford to find enjoyable vacation activities. Female Faces Are On Folding Money

DEAR ABBY: A woman's liberator (obviously) wanted to know why no woman's face had ever appeared on a U.S. dollar bill or any other denomination. You polled 12 women, asking how they felt about it. Nine agreed that it was time a woman got her face on paper money, two said they didn't care one way or the other and one said, "I don't want to get my face on any folding money, but I'd like to get my HANDS on some."

Abby, didn't you know that Martha Washington's picture appeared on the silver-dollar certificate in 1891?

T.O.W. DEAR T.O.W.: I do now. I also learned from my readers that Martha wasn't the first female to have her face on folding money. Pocahontas appeared on a $20 National Bank Note in 1895.

DEAR ABBY: My 73-year-old husband has been providing my best friend (she is 71) with friendship, affection and all manner of "looking after" since her husband's death 15 months ago.

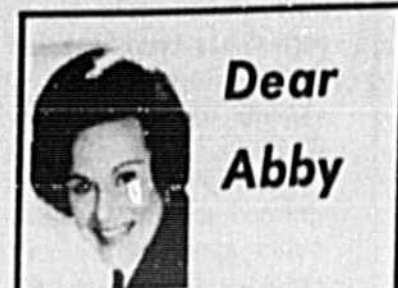

She has been my friend for 38 years. Her husband, also an old friend, was a invalid for several years, and when he died, she needed the strong shoulder of a man. My husband volunteered with my full approval.

I slowly came to realize that he had grown very "fond" of her and enjoyed being "needed." Then she confessed to having developed a deep affection for my husband. Of course, they both said they "love me" and don't want to hurt me.

She advised me to "stay put" until we could work things out. Does this happen frequently in the geriatric set? And what should I do? I am 72. This is my second marriage. It has lasted 30 years. Thirty years ago, I was the other woman. Ironic, isn't it?

HARD STAYING DEAR HARD: What was your husband trying to catch a few moosebams in the twilight of his life. Stay put, and he'll probably get things in focus again.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15, and my parents are in the process of getting a divorce. I can understand their wanting to be apart because they fought when they were together, but the pressure I get from both is something terrible. Each puts down the other one, and both try to find out who the other is seeing.

DEAR IN: Tell them both that you don't want to report to either one. And that should settle it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a smoker. I know all the hazards, but I enjoy smoking and will not give it up. I resent all the reformed smokers who have quit for whatever reason and preach to me to quit smoking.

I respect all the "No Smoking" signs. I do not smoke while I am in an automobile with others. I smoke while I am in my office, my home or with friends.

I do not drink. I hate heavy drinkers and detest drunks, yet I am constantly being exposed to drunks. On a full plane ride, for instance, I sat next to a woman who drank all the way. She was so loaded when we landed that she had to be helped from the plane.

Bars, restaurants, theaters, etc., serve liquor, but they want to put up "No Smoking" signs.

I would like to see every eating place with a "No Smoking" sign stop serving liquor and beer so I won't have to be around drunks. Also, airlines should have a separate section for drinkers, just as they do for smokers.

I am not asking people to stop drinking. I'm just asking that the drinkers drink with each other and leave us sober people alone.

MRS. T.S. DEAR MRS. T.S.: You make a valid point. But while obnoxious drunks are no pleasure to encounter, they do no violence to your lungs and the environment. Smokers do.

Family Day Means Togetherness

The Herald Services

Family picnics, outings, get-togethers and patriotic events will mark the eighth annual celebration of Family Reunion Day on Sunday, Aug. 10.

Family Reunion Day recognizes the family as the cornerstone of society. The observance is supported by numerous service and fraternal organizations, veterans, patriotic, youth and religious groups to dramatize the family as the keystone of strength and morality in our nation.

In 1968 President Lyndon B. Johnson proclaimed Family Reunion Day. He said: "I urge all people to support those actions that will strengthen the family, and to celebrate this day with such ceremonies as will reemphasize our continuing belief that family life is the highest and most enduring product of our civilization."

Family Reunion Day was originated by Kiwanis International and Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

President, Reed Harris, stressed the importance of the family in America today, saying, "Strong families are the Nation's most valuable asset as we work to improve the quality of life for all our people. Family Reunion Day is a time to spend with our families, to reflect on the value of our family ties. It is a time to learn more of our family histories, the history of our community and our Nation." Harris pointed out that "the family is the cornerstone of our social structure. It is the footing on which a youngster's ideas of honesty, integrity and concern for others is based."

Some of the activities suggested for families on Aug. 10, include: family dinners, picnics or outings with children, grandchildren, aunts, uncles and cousins; getting the family up-to-date on addresses, births, anniversaries, deaths and other family events; patriotic activities such as familiarizing the youngest family members with our historic documents and events in national and local history; the development of family research projects so that youngsters know more of their grandparents and great-grandparents; everybody in the family getting together for at least part of the day; family worship together in the manner of their choice; renewing contact with family members in other parts of the state or country by phone or mail.

Red Cross Offers Two New Classes

An exciting new course in Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) is now being offered by the American Red Cross, Central Florida Chapter.

CPR combines artificial respiration and external heart massage techniques and can be rendered effectively in many emergency situations where the victim's breathing and heart beat have stopped.

The class is free to the public and consists of 12-hour classes (two-hour sessions, two nights a week), beginning Aug. 5. Classes will be held at the Orlando Red Cross Office, 2401 E. Central St. Call this office for registration.

In Seminole County, water safety instruction classes will begin Aug. 4 at the home of Mrs. Lynne Stevens, 328 Seminole Blvd., Casselberry. Classes will be held Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 7:30 p.m. for four weeks. Participants must have senior or advanced life saving training, be 17 or older and possess Red Cross swimming skills. For more information, contact Charlene Tarpley at the Seminole County Red Cross office, corner of S.R. 436 and U.S. 17-92.

High Fashion Is Goal Of Home Sewers

There are over 50 million women in the United States who sew. Yet there are more misconceptions about home sewing than about almost any other segment of the fashion industry. Here are a few of them.

Myth: The main reason people sew is to save money. Fact: The main reason people sew is because it helps them to more effectively use their leisure time. The second reason people sew is to secure the desire fashion with proper fit and better workmanship than ready-to-wear.

Myth: Home-sewers are not interested in haute couture and up-to-the-minute fashion looks. Fact: Fashion is utmost in the minds of home-sewers. The fashions shown here, all from leading pattern books, illustrate this point. Creators of the patterns include such designer "names" as Halston, Oscar de la Renta, Jerry Silverman and Jean Patou.

Research and development in the fashion fabrics area is vitally concerned with producing more sophisticated fabrics. These include: new single-knits, interlocks, wovens, spun-filament combinations and blends. The ultimate purpose is to make available to consumers a broader product range of fashionable fabrics for sewing.

Myth: In times of recession, more people sew. Fact: Because it is not poor people who make up the sewing increase during recession.

Again! Phillies Rip Pirates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Pirates aren't as tough as they look...at least the way the Philadelphia Phillies see them.

The Phillies have an uncanny hold on Pittsburgh and because of it, the Pirates are losing their grip in the National League East.

Behind rookie Tom Underwood, the Phillies defeated Pittsburgh 5-1 Tuesday night for their ninth straight victory over the Pirates and clinched within 3 1/2 games of the front-runners.

"Tonight's game is an important one," said Dave Cash. "It will mean the difference between leaving Pittsburgh 2 1/2 or 4 1/2 games behind."

The Pirates haven't beaten the Phillies since April 16, when they finished a three-game sweep of their Pennsylvania neighbors. Since then, it's been downright bizarre the way the Phillies have handled the Pirates.

In the other National League games, the San Francisco Giants turned back the Cincinnati Reds 4-2, the Atlanta Braves whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2; the Houston Astros stopped the San Diego Padres 6-2; the Chicago Cubs nipped the Montreal Expos 4-3 and the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Mets 5-3 in the first inning and the Astros defeated San Diego, ending a five-game losing streak.

Cubs 4, Expos 3
John Summers' bases-loaded pinch single in the eighth inning scored Jose Cardenal with the tie-breaking run and another run scored on a forecourt, lifting Chicago over Montreal.

Cardinals 5-4, Mets 3-11
Ron Fairly drove in three runs with two singles and his fifth homer of the season to lead St. Louis to its first game victory over New York. Del Unser collected four base hits and drove in three runs to lead the Mets' triumph in the second game.

Braves 4, Dodgers 2
Blue Moon Odem earned his first National League victory and Darrell Evans belted his 13th home run as Atlanta beat Los Angeles.

Astros 6, Padres 2
Jose Cruz' run-scoring double highlighted a three-run Houston uprising in the fifth inning and the Astros defeated San Diego, ending a five-game losing streak.

Gorman Thomas of the Milwaukee Brewers was a marked man. He had struck out eight times in a row to tie an American League record when he walked to the plate at Boston's Fenway Park. He needed only one more strike out to tie the Major League mark. But alas, his record bid fell short. He hit into a double play.

Milwaukee's Gorman Thomas was a desperate man. He had struck out eight times in a row to tie an American League record. He needed one more to tie the major league mark.

The fans in the centerfield bleachers at Boston's Fenway Park rose to his support with a standing ovation as he came to bat in the sixth inning.

"I think they were just trying to get a share of my success," confided Thomas.

Manager Del Crandall offered encouragement.

"Before Gorman went to bat in the sixth, I told him if he strikes out again I'll buy him a dinner," said Crandall with a grin. "I did it because he was getting tighter and tighter and I was in the sixth inning."

Namath Jets May Announce $450,000 Annual Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath and the New York Jets have reached agreement on a new contract that could have the veteran quarterback in uniform by the end of the week.

The Jets planned a 12:30 p.m. EDT news conference at the team's National Football League training camp in nearby Hempstead, N.Y., where they will announce the new pact hammered out Monday night by Jets President Phil Ilesin and Namath's attorney, Jimmy Walsh.

Though neither side would confirm it, a source close to the bargaining between the Jets and football's most famous quarterback said they had agreed on a salary of $450,000 for each of two years.

The agreement apparently does not deal with any fringe benefits, only with time and money. The contract also represents a compromise, something which neither the Jets nor Namath appeared willing to do earlier.

Namath, 32, who turned down a $4-million offer to play in the World Football League earlier this year, wanted a $1-million package spread over two years.

Ilesin wanted Namath to sign a three-year deal for $400,000 a year, which would have been a $100,000 a year raise.

"We have made our top offer," Ilesin said last weekend. "There is only so much juice you can get out of an orange, and there is no juice left."

Walsh replied: "Joe will not play unless he gets the figure he wants."

The length of the contract had been a key in bargaining. Namath, who earlier this month signed a multi-million dollar contract with a perfume and cosmetics manufacturing firm, did not want to commit himself past two years.

"I still am of a mind, then I can always renew it."

The Jets' first preseason game is a week from Saturday in Phoenix against the Minnesota Vikings, and Namath has said he would like to play at least half the game. That, however, would seem unlikely, even if Namath begins workouts immediately.

Namath, who led the Jets to six consecutive victories at the end of last season, played his college ball at Alabama, where Bear Bryant called him "the greatest athlete I have ever coached." Namath, a 16-year veteran, has spent all his pro career with the Jets after signing a $400,000 contract on the eve of the 1965 Orange Bowl game at Miami.

Bell Taps Willie Wood

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — There's a lot of pressure on Willie Wood.

There would be pressure on anybody chosen head coach of a pro football team three days before the regular season opener.

But Willie Wood has the added pressure of being the first black coach in modern pro football.

"My original idea was to play that (race) down," Wood said Tuesday when he was named field boss of the World Football League Philadelphia Bell.

"But obviously the mere fact that I'm black means I feel I have to do a good job."

"If I can put forth all the energy I feel I have in store, if we can develop a winning team here...maybe somewhere down the road they'll think of the Philadelphia Bell as a winning team and not me as a black coach."

The former All-Pro safety with the National Football League Green Bay Packers is pro football's first black field boss since Fritz Pollard led several teams in the 1920s when the NFL was in its infancy.

Wood joined the Bell this as defensive coordinator. He succeeds Ron Walker, who quit as head coach last week.

Wood, a native of Washington, D.C., was a quarterback during his college days at the University of Southern California.

Bartkowski: Steeler Linebackers 'Shrewdest'

CHICAGO (AP) — "They dictate the tempo of the game," says quarterback Steve Bartkowski of the Chicago Bears. "They take pride in dictating the tempo of the game."

Bartkowski spoke Tuesday of the Pittsburgh Steelers' defensive corps, possibly the shrewdest and fastest in the National Football League.

"They're more helpful than I thought they would be. I didn't think they would be that willing to help a rookie, but Nat has been real helpful with techniques on pass routes and defensive moves to use on a defense back."

How to beat the Steeler linebackers, assuming they can be beaten? "We have to establish a running game if we are not because they are the most physically sound," he said.

How to beat the Steeler linebackers, assuming they can be beaten? "We have to establish a running game if we are not because they are the most physically sound," he said.

Owners Deny Move

CHICAGO (AP) — The owners of the Oakland A's and Chicago White Sox have both denied reports that the A's plan to move to Chicago and that the White Sox would be sold and moved to Seattle.

Published and broadcast reports in Chicago said the proposal being kicked around would help bail Allyn out of his present financial difficulties and the competition for attendance in the San Francisco Bay area between the Giants and the A's and Seattle, which lost its franchise to Milwaukee.

Owens Impressive

MIAMI (AP) — Rookie flanker Morris Owens said he could stop the defensive back from reaching the ball carrier. But Miami Dolphins Coach Don Shula said he couldn't unless he moved a bit to the right.

Owens, who caught a pair of 20-yard passes in the weekend "Family Day" scrimmage at the Dolphin camp, has impressed the coach.

Psoriasis Not Contagious

Dr. Lamb By LAWRENCE E. LAMB

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have just passed my 52nd birthday and never had any skin problems. Now I'm doctoring psoriasis. Please write something on the dreadful, red patches of burning, itching skin trouble.

It came on me suddenly and now has me really worried. I have been getting treatments for two months from the skin doctor, and my skin is really no better. Is it hereditary? My mother had it over most of her body.

DEAR READER—Apparently you are one of about eight million people in the United States with this skin disease. It can vary from a simple but very important cosmetic problem to causing severe illness, including a form of arthritis.

The basic problem is an acceleration of the normal growth rate of the skin. We normally shed our skin surface cells. The process is just markedly increased in psoriasis. The overproduction of cells pile up on the surface of the skin as silver gray scaly scales. Underneath the scales are red blotches of fresh skin that grows so fast it doesn't develop the normal protective covering. The excess scales shed everywhere. The scales are many forms of treatment, and commonly the treatment is individualized. In the main, treatments have included coal tar ointments, ultra violet light, cortisone (hormone) ointments, and even agents commonly used in treatment of cancer. A popular example of the latter is methotrexate (MTX). It proved for this use by the Food and Drug Administration only in recent years.

It may sound strange to you to use a drug used in cancer treatment to treat psoriasis. The drug inhibits or slows down cell growth and hence cancer cell growth. It also slows down the overgrowth of skin cells in psoriasis. I hasten to add, psoriasis is not a form of cancer. MTX is a powerful medicine and can have serious side effects. Accordingly, doctors often do not use it except for cases that don't respond to some of the other forms of available treatment.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. For information on vitamin E send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and ask for The Health Letter, 42, Vitamin E: Miracle or Myth.

Blackwood is not really a method of bidding. It is a method of checking for aces after you have counted enough trick-taking potential to make a small or even a grand slam. This, you should plan to bid six any time your partner's response shows that your side holds three aces.

Eat Well, Inexpensively

Armenians: They Can Do Wonders With Eggplants

The Herald Service
 "If you want to eat well and inexpensively, cook the Armenian way," says Armine Koundakjian of Torrance, Calif.
 "We use a lot of fresh vegetables with very little meat, but you get a well-balanced meal."
 One of the vegetables they do wonderful things with is what we call the Japanese eggplant.
 But his small, slender eggplant is the eggplant to Armenians. The large, globular vegetable we're more familiar with is the foreigner to the Armenians.
 And Armenians stuff the slender eggplants by means completely different from the way Westerners stuff the larger variety.
 Susie Koundakjian (Armine's sister-in-law) prepares a dish called gatsa kebab. . . but it isn't something laced onto a skewer.

"The word for a skewered kebab in Armenian is 'khorvats'. Not everything put on skewers is a kebab as Americans know it." Her gatsa kebab is one version of a stuffed Japanese eggplant. Instead of being cut in half, the vegetable is sliced diagonally, then the slashes filled with a meat mixture.
 Alice Apelian, a neighbor, prepares a stuffed vegetable dish called "dolma." In this recipe, she hollows out the small eggplant and zucchini with a unique Armenian kitchen tool. It resembles a chisel with a long, grooved blade.
 "You can find them only at an Armenian grocery," Mrs. Apelian says.
 If you've never known what to do with the small Japanese eggplant, try these Armenian recipes.
 Alice Apelian's dolma is made with lean ground lamb, while Susie Koundakjian's gatsa kebab is made with ground beef.

Either makes a memorable and inexpensive meal.
DOLMA
 (Stuffed Cabbage & Zucchini)
 1 cup regular rice
 1 cup ground, very lean lamb (preferably leg)
 1/4 small onion, finely chopped
 1/4 cup chopped parsley
 Juice of 1 lemon
 Salt & pepper to taste
 3 whole tomatoes, chopped
 2 tbsps. tomato paste
 1 tbsps. butter
 3 Japanese eggplants
 4 small zucchini

3 long green chili peppers
 1 small head cabbage
 1/4 jar (1 lb.) grape leaves.
 Combine raw rice, meat, onion, parsley, lemon juice, salt, pepper, tomato paste, tomatoes, and butter.
 Hollow out zucchini, eggplant and chili peppers. If you don't have an Armenian "reamer," carefully use an apple corer.
 Core cabbage and put in pot of boiling water off heat until leaves loosen. Separate leaves and roll a small amount of meat mixture in each leaf.
 Reserve some meat to roll in grape leaves.
 Layer the vegetables in a deep pot. Add two cups hot water, one tablespoon tomato paste and juice of one lemon over the top. Cover with an upside-down plate, then put pot's cover on top. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer for one hour.

Most Are Selling At Last Year's Prices

Fruits, Vegetables In Season A Market Bargain

By GAYNOR MADDOX
 The Herald Service
 A luscious ripe tomato. Sweet corn-on-the-cob. These are two of nature's greatest blessings. Now at their most plentiful season both are holding the line on prices. Another blessing.
 So eat a plump red tomato out-of-hand with a sprinkling of salt. Then an ear or two of yellow or white corn on the cob, plus a thick slice of enriched country-style bread. Add a tall glass of milk and you have a light, nutritious summer meal. The cost will be reasonable although some of these items may go up a cent or two in the next few weeks.

 Another less costly meal right now would be a casserole of kidney beans cooked with sliced onion and green pepper plus a dusting of grated cheese. Serve with whole wheat bread, butter or margarine, lettuce and sliced tomato salad, a bowl of fresh apricots, plums and cherries and milk.
 Generally, you expect fresh vegetables to be cheaper during this season of superabundance. Unfortunately, that is not so this year. Carrots and celery, for example, are not in such good supply and probably will cost more. So will potatoes, usually thought of as a low-cost item. Potatoes are essential to most Americans. Buy them for your economy meals but treat them with respect. Eat all you buy and you won't find most canned or frozen vegetables cheaper, either.

 Fresh fruit costs, however, are not galloping upward. Such delicious and healthful items as apricots, nectarines, plums and cherries are selling for about the same as last year. While they are still around let them tempt your food dollars. Also can or freeze some for eating this winter.
 If you long for the cool, sweet flesh of a cantoloupe or honey dew melon, remember that prices are unusually high. Watermelon, always a part of summer eating, is less costly but except for special sales, it is still climbing over the inflation wall.

 Beef, pork, poultry and eggs — expect higher prices right through until fall. Then what? Probably still higher.
 Last year's poor corn crop makes the cost of feeding beef cattle high, particularly when Choice and Prime cuts are so much in demand. Grass-fed cattle will be around, but public demand is still mostly for the two better cuts mentioned, so prices will continue high.

 The poor corn crop also caused producers to cut their stock. Turkey and broiler raisers last year lost money and have cut production, meaning higher prices now. Egg producers tell the same story.
 Remember, other foods likely to increase your food costs today are: cream, ice cream, cream cheese and specialty cheeses, prepared dishes, choice cuts of meat, baked goods, snack foods and soft drinks.

Publix has been giving S&H Green Stamps since 1952. And they've added up for Florida families year after year. Furniture and appliances for their homes. Sporting goods for their backyards. Luggage for their vacations. Toys for their children. The average family can save as many as 26 full books of Green Stamps every year by shopping at Publix. Enough for an electric ice cream maker, a blender and a popcorn popper. Or three pieces of patio furniture. Or a set of golf clubs. S&H Green Stamps are a customer bonus. They're part of working harder than ever to keep shopping a pleasure at Publix.

A family that shopped at Publix for the past 23 years has a lot to show for it.

Baked bean raisinbread sandwich is a quick heat-beater.

Variety Is Spice In Sandwiches

The Herald Services Americans continue their love affair with sandwiches. For a quick hot evening meal, gussy up a can of baked beans, bacon and seasonings and bake them with raisinbread. This makes a nice, toasty main dish that appeals especially to men.

Salad - Served Italian Style Blackeye Peas Gaining In Popularity

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor When Tony Luccio, born and bred in Benevento, a small town in southern Italy, came to live in New Jersey almost a dozen years ago he was surprised to find that the families he visited near his new home never served fresh blackeye peas. Called fagioli all'occhio in Italian, Tony's mother had made various dishes with them and he had grown up relishing them.

It wasn't until much later when he met a neighbor, a good cook from Georgia, that Tony discovered blackeye peas are used in some of the great dishes of our southern states. One day his neighbor treated him to a blackeye pea salad and, as he says, "It tasted just like the one we used to have in Benevento." He was interested to know that the fresh frozen blackeye peas used in the salad are available all over the U.S.A.

and are beginning to be highly esteemed in every part of our country. If you'd like to try the delightful salad appreciated in both southern Italy and Georgia, here's the recipe. It's great to serve at any time of the year with sliced meat (cold or hot), hamburgers or frankfurters. It's also a fine accompaniment for chilled poached fish, filets or scallops. Good, too, with scrambled eggs and bacon or ham for a weekend brunch or Sunday night supper.

BLACKEYE PEA SALAD Two 16-ounce packages frozen blackeye peas 1/2 cup cider vinegar 1/2 cup olive oil or other salad oil 2 teaspoons salt 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard 1/2 teaspoon sugar pepper 1/2 cup thinly sliced scallion, part of the green tops included 1/2 cup sliced green pepper Garnish: Skinned, seeded and coarsely diced tomato and, if desired, lettuce or other salad greens

Cook the blackeye peas according to package directions; drain and cool. Stir in vinegar; add oil, salt, mustard, sugar and red pepper and mix thoroughly. Add scallion and green pepper and mix lightly. Cover and chill. At serving time turn the salad into a serving bowl; ring the outside edge with the tomato — it makes a colorful contrast to the blackeye peas and its flavor goes well with them. If lettuce is used, line the serving bowl with it before adding the blackeye peas and the tomato.
