County Mulls New PUD Classification

Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County will investigate establishing a new zoning classification — a Suburban Estate Planned Unit Development — for possible adoption next year.

That was one of the decisions reached by the county commission during a nine-hour public hearing on an interim update of the county's comprehensive land-use plan for the western half of the county Tuesday night.

The county planning and zoning commission suggested that the hearing on the plan be split into two parts, Tuesday night and tonight, after its hearing on the plan lasted until 2 a.m. earlier this month. However, splitting the hearing didn't get the commissioners home any earlier, as Tuesday night's hearing lasted until past 2 a.m.

Tuesday night's hearing was on the land use plan for the north central, north west and southwest parts of the county. The hearing was adjourned until 7 tonight, when it will resume, to focus on the rest of the county, and policy changes made in the plan first adopted in 1977, as part of the Florida local government planning act.

Commissioners voted Tuesday night to appoint a citizen committee to investigate the proposed new PUD zoning classification after hearing more than an hour of comments from residents of the Markham Woods Road and Sylvan Lake areas protest against developers' requests to be allowed to build homes on less than one-acre lots in the area.

Commissioner Sandra Glenn proposed that the new classification be included in the revised land-use plan to be forwarded to the state Department of Community Affairs for review. However, Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff argued that the proposed change not be included in the land-use plan until the public had a chance to comment on it.

Glenn's proposal was to allow a ratio of 1.5 dwellings per acre in the Suburban Estate PUD, which would satisfy developers, and could be accepted by residents of the area, too. Glenn's proposed PUD zoning would also allow clustering, which means a higher density of housing would be allowed in some parts of the development as long as the overall density of the development did not exceed 1.5 single family housing units per acre.

Glenn said the state, in ordering updated comprehensive plans by 1992, was also expected to tighten rules for development, including the phasing out of existing septic tanks, and allowing no new developments which weren't served by existing utilities, such as water and sanitary sewer. She said the new PUD zoning classification would allow clustering, which would mean sewer and water service could be more easily, and less costly installed. The proposed PUD zoning would also give residents more control over their neighborhoods because county government has to approve each phase of development in a PUD.

Sharing Center Needs Sharers

Part One In Series

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

As a local sharing center faces a crisis and appeals for support, area pastors are surveying the broader picture of how best to serve the needs of the city's poor and transients.

Facing a Sept. 1 deadline for moving out of the condemned building it occupies on Fourth Street, the Sanford Christian Sharing Center board will vote Thursday on whether to rent an office building at Oak Avenue and Third Street.

The sharing center, which has been housed rent-free in buildings owned by Holy Cross Episcopal Church since its inception, now is facing the extra expense of having to pay $350 a month rent plus utilities.

The Rev. Fred Mann, rector of Holy Cross, said the vestry of his church got word in April or May from the city that the building was doomed to be condemned unless significant repairs were made. In order to meet the city's code requirements it would have taken $20,000 to $25,000, which was not available to the parish or the Sanford Christian Sharing Center, he said. The center board was notified it would have to be out by Aug.

1, but when a suitable place was not found the moving date was changed to Sept. 1.

The center owns a lot on 25th street and has $14,000 in a building fund, but has never been able to get a full-fledged drive off the ground. The Rev. Richard Danielak, new president of the sharing center board, said the board has considered swapping the property for land with or without a building in the downtown area nearer the center's clientele.

Initiated by the Rev. Leroy D. Soper, then rector of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church, the Sharing Center was formed by a coalition of Sanford churches to meet a need in the community. The churches have provided varying degrees of support through volunteer workers, money, food and clothing over the years.

Danielak called together pastors of local churches Tuesday to appeal for help in keeping the center afloat and beefing up the board and the operation to make it more accountable to supporting churches.

Danielak said a complaint he has heard from many supporting churches has been that they do not receive a

I-4 Death: 7 Vehicles Hit Victim

At least seven cars ran over an Auburndale woman who was killed as she walked in the middle of a westbound lane of Interstate 4 in Altamonte Springs about midnight Tuesday.

Early today the Florida Highway Patrol identified the dead woman as Patricia Jan Collins, 28. She was killed on the interstate near the State Road 436 interchange, troopers said.

Troopers are searching today for answers to many questions surrounding her death, including how she came to be so far from home walking across the interstate, whether she kidnapped, drinking, or possibly confused. The FHP speculated she may have been crossing the highway to begin hitchhiking home.

In reporting the results of an early-morning autopsy performed on Collins, Seminole County Medical Examiner Dr. G.V. Garay said Collins body was mangled beyond recognition. Her severe injuries were multiple and her head crushed.

Garay said Collin's husband was at the hospital early today and she has been tentatively identified by troopers. However, she could not be identified by her husband, because of her severe injuries. Collin's fingerprints will be compared with those of the body to confirm identification, Garay said.

Collins was wearing a white T-shirt, blue jeans and brown sandals, Garay said.

The driver of one of the cars that hit Collins has been identified as Edward Arthur Rauch, of Orlando. Rauch was driving a Toyota in the westbound lane of the interstate, traveling south toward Orlando, when his vehicle hit Collins, who was walking across the road.

Rauch was not injured. He was traveling alone. Damage to his vehicle was about $100.

According to the report, the incident was alcohol related.

According to a trailer park manager in Auburndale, Collins

Board Votes To Assume Budget Deficits

No Increase In Student Meal Costs

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County School Board members have agreed not to raise the price of student lunches, even though the decision could mean mid-year red ink for the more than $6 million food services program.

Acting on the advice of administrators, the board last week unanimously approved keeping school lunch and breakfast prices for the 1987-88 school year the same as last year.

Carey E. Ferrell, the school district's assistant superintendent for business and finance, warned that increases in food service employees salaries and food costs could mean a deficit for the food service department if the school board decided to maintain current meal prices. Ferrell also suggested, however, the board not raise meal prices unless that deficit did occur during the coming school year.

Eldon Chambers, food service director, noted the recently approved food service department salary increases averaging 7 percent along with increased food prices "is going to make operating within our budget a little more challenging." He added that U.S. Department of Agriculture's commodities subsidy of about $2.4 million should help keep the food service department from going over its budget this year.

Ferrell's recommendation for the board to adopt the same meal prices as last year led board member Larry Betsinger to ask why the board should not go ahead and raise meal prices now.

"I don't think parents will like having prices raised in the middle of the year," Betsinger said.

Ferrell replied the board should wait to increase prices because it's not certain whether the food service department will exceed its budget for 1987-88.

"At the present time I don't think there will be a deficit," Ferrell said. He said he did want the board to be aware of the possibility of a deficit, though.

Elementary school students will still pay $1 for lunch. The reduced lunch price is 40 cents and the adult price is $1.65. The more varied secondary and combination lunches may be purchased for $1.15 and $1.35, respectively.

Reduced prices for school meals are charged to students who come from families with low-incomes. Students from very low-income families are eligible for free meals from the school system.

The criteria for establishing student eligibility for free or reduced meals is also based on family size.

Chambers said students accepted into the free and reduced lunch program last year are automatically in the program for the first 20 days of the new school year. He said this arrangement gives students enough time to file new applications, while making sure they are getting meals at school.

The food service budget for the 1987-88 school year is $6,372,678.

Jury Finds Petsos Guilty

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary City Commissioner Arthur "Buzz" Petsos was found guilty Tuesday of attempted burglary and petty theft in connection with the March 16 break-in of a delicatessen he once owned. He becomes the second Lake Mary commissioner found guilty of a felony within a year.

The jury's decision, however, apparently places no legal restriction on Petsos' bid for re-election Sept. 1.

Petos, 35, was allowed to remain free until his tentative sentencing date, Sept. 24. The maximum sentence is five years and a $5,000 fine for the attempted burglary and 60 days and $500 fine for the petty theft. The usual sentence for a first-time offender is probation. Character witnesses for Petsos during the three-day trial included Lake Mary Mayor Dick Fess and State Rep. Art Grindle (R-Altamonte Springs).

Though found guilty by jury, Petsos does not become a convicted felon until a judge signs the paperwork, said Kurt Borch, assistant attorney

Panel Plans Block Grant Boundary Expansion

By Diane Petryk
Herald News Editor

A year ago, when Sanford obtained a $650,000 state grant to rehabilitate a neighborhood, 17 residents nearby, but outside the specific target area, applied for some of the grant money. They had to be turned down.

Now, the block grant Citizens Advisory Council has given tentative approval to a plan that would expand the target area boundaries and amend goals. According to community development officer Richard Woods, most of those original 17 applicants will now fall within boundaries where they may be given some assistance.

"We had to tell them we couldn't spend the money outside the target area," he said. But that may change.

Woods approved the Sanford Commission of the expansion plan at a work session this week and the city is scheduled to vote on it Monday. If approved, the plan will still require state approval, but that is expected Woods said.

So it should be within three weeks Woods will be able to tell the applicants if they now qualify.

The original block grant area was bounded by Hickory Ave. on the west, E. 7th Street on the extreme north, dipping south along Orange Ave. to 8th Street, turning south again on Bay Avenue forming the eastern-most boundary and along E. 11th Street, the south boundary.

The proposed expansion would straighten the north boundary, eliminating the dip down Orange avenue to include Willow Avenue and Bay Avenue before heading south behind houses on the east side of Bay Avenue. It also expands the southwest corner of the perimeter, including Locust and Hickory Avenues from E. 11th Street to Celery Ave.

Woods said the new areas increase the target area by about one third.

Residents on the new area will know in about three weeks if they will be eligible for the funds.

Use of the money is divided into four categories:

1) Clearance. This means spending money to clear away vacant dilapidated structures and trash and debris on the property. Nine such clearing projects were scheduled under the original plan. Seventeen planned under the expansion plan. Although $9,000 was to be spent on the nine, 17 are expected to be cleared for $6,000 under proposed amendment to the plan. The savings comes from using Sanford Public

Crash Victim Serious

Two men involved in a head-on collision at 6:55 a.m. Tuesday on State Road 46 about three miles east of Sanford remained hospitalized today, one in serious condition and the other in satisfactory condition.

James B. Pressley, 25, of 3205 SR 46, Geneva, was reported in serious condition today at Orlando Regional Medical Center. An ORMC spokesman said Pressley was in the intensive care unit with head injuries.

"Pressley was airlifted in here from the accident scene and is still undergoing test to determine the extent of his injuries," the spokesman said.

The other man, James Bulmer, 40, of 43 Church St., Lake Monroe, was listed in satisfactory condition at Central Florida Regional Hospital today. Bulmer is being treated for a broken leg and chest injuries, a hospital spokesman said.

A spokesman for the Florida Highway Patrol said Bulmer was trying to pass eastbound traffic in a 1981 Mazda when he collided with the westbound 1984 pickup truck driven by Pressley. The spokesman said both vehicles were destroyed in the accident just west of Marina Isle Fish Camp.

The spokesman could not confirm reports Bulmer had been attempting to pass a long line of cars when the accident occurred. "I only know he (Bulmer) was attempting to pass eastbound traffic," said the spokesman.

According to the FHP, Pressley's truck drove over the car driven by Bulmer on impact and rolled about 50 feet from that point before overturning. Seminole County Sheriff's deputies reported the roof of Bulmer's car was torn off by the truck.

Traffic in both lanes of SR 46 was backed up for at least a mile while rescue crews worked for more than an hour to extricate each driver from his vehicle. The FHP spokesman said the accident blocked traffic for about two hours and 20 minutes.

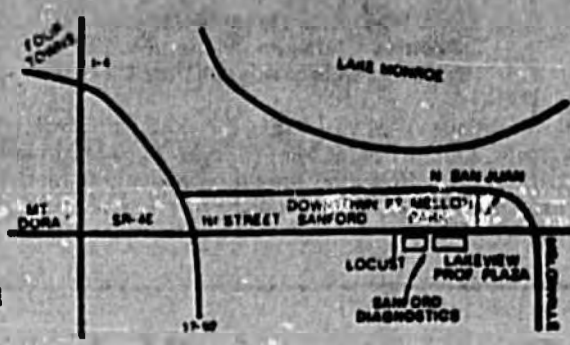

Neither driver was wearing a seat belt when the collision occurred, said the FHP.

The spokesman said the FHP was sure the accident was not alcohol related and is still being investigated by the department. "Charges are still pending in the case," the spokesman said.

Crowded Skies Need Attention

A woman we know, a frequent flyer, lately has joined the sweaty-palm set. On a recent business flight to Washington, D.C., she composed a love letter to her husband and infant son back home and tucked the note in her suit jacket — "just in case the plane didn't make it."

Can you blame her? Sure, air fatalities are down. But near-collisions involving U.S. commercial flights are occurring at the rate of more than one a day — and those are just the reported cases. Recent evidence suggests many pilots are hushing up near-misses (more accurately, near-hits), even though reports of such incidents are an important gauge of the nation's air-traffic controller system.

The tragedy in Detroit scares everyone. Anytime a scheduled airliner crashes there is a large loss of life. There are always stories of people who "just missed the flight." We pause, reflect on our most recent flight, and utter a silent prayer of thanks.

But crashes and fatalities are rare. Other problem areas are not so rare.

The system, by all accounts, is under perilous strain. Deregulation of the industry has vastly increased flights in and around the nation's airports. Yet the Federal Aviation Administration has 3,762 fewer fully qualified controllers than it did in 1981 when 11,500 union members lost their jobs in an illegal strike.

The picture looks somewhat brighter now that Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole has approved the hiring of 580 new controllers. But it will take several years to bring the recruits up to speed. And current controllers, many of them working six-day weeks, show signs of burnout. Moreover, sophisticated equipment to warn pilots of collision dangers won't be available until 1991.

How to improve air safety in the meantime? The FAA ought to rethink its opposition to restricted air traffic temporarily, as some federal safety officials suggest. Airlines would howl about losing business. But where is it written that deregulation meant risking human lives for the sake of profit?

Other needed correctives include better safety equipment for small planes, a growing hazard around major airports; an expanded FAA staff to inspect airline maintenance programs, which are said to be slipping; and higher airport fees. By encouraging airlines to spread out their glutted schedule, the plan not only would help relieve airport gridlock but also could lessen the risk of midair collisions.

Oh — if you're wondering about our nervous friend, she made it to Washington — 2½ hours late. "But at least we didn't have any near-misses," she reported brightly. "As far as I know."

Changing Senate Gives Veteran Pause

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. David Pryor fell in love with the Senate when he was a "green as a gourd" 17-year-old page with a new pair of tight black shoes that had raised blisters and Sen. Joseph McCarthy slipped him a five and told him to go fetch a pair of slippers from his home.

That's not as weird as it reads. The Senate at that time must have been an awesome spectacle for a young kid from a place called Camden, Ark., who saw it for the first time the morning after an all-night filibuster.

Pryor, now working on his third six-year term in the Senate, said recently his cold turkey initiation may not have been "the best of all introductions" but added, "I have loved this body since then."

But Pryor's love is being severely tested — maybe more so this year than any other — because the Senate has reached some stage very close to complete and total paralysis.

And Pryor is far from alone in his dismay at the Senate's ability to get its work done.

When the Senate broke for its August holiday, the calendar of business was already so backlogged, Democratic leader Robert Byrd warned colleagues some bills just wouldn't make it this year even if the session lasted until late November or December.

The filibuster, once a sparsely used weapon, keeps multiplying and is now the greatest barrier to legislation.

"Today, even the threat of a filibuster is as lethal as the filibuster," Pryor said in a recent Senate exchange.

Indeed, even the suggestion by a single senator that he does not want the bill taken up for consideration, most times is enough to dissuade the leadership from making the attempt.

Pryor has suggested four changes in the Senate's procedures:

—Cutting down on the "frivolous" sense of the Senate resolutions, which are non-binding expressions of the current sentiment in the chamber.

—Cutting the number of filibusters against a single bill by limiting the amount of time for debate on the motion to take up the legislation.

—Putting regular order, section by section, into the way amendments can be offered to a bill.

—Making the 15-minute limitation on roll call votes a rule, not just a practice.

Byrd, who must be the one most frustrated senator as his attempts to move the world's agenda are continually blocked, said a hard rule on holding votes to no more than 15 minutes would be "almost impossible to enforce."

He berated laggards for being unreasonable and inconsiderate for delaying votes but in the next sentence said sometimes it is impossible for senators to get to the chamber on time.

"There are times when senators are on their way from the airport and cannot get here," Byrd said. "The planes have arrived late; there has been a storm; there has been a buildup in the landing pattern; and the senator cannot get here on time."

David Pryor has an answer for that — and no change in the rules is going to help the situation.

Power Dates In Memory

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hardly had the nation had time to recover from the 25th anniversary of Marilyn Monroe's death before it was dealt another blow to the memory box by the 10th anniversary of Elvis Presley's death.

A blow to the memory box may not be as severe as being hit on the head with a baseball, with or without a fingernail file. But it is painful nonetheless.

Thank goodness this year marked only the 37th anniversary of James Dean's death. I don't think I could have stood another bout of blockbuster reminiscing.

Blockbuster anniversaries, as I tabulate them, are those numbered 10, 25 and 50. After half a century, apparently, it is safe to forget it.

There is no doubt that Dean died younger than either Presley or Monroe. There is doubt, however, that he was as swivel-hipped as either.

As to whether Dean could act with Monroe is something he never got a chance to prove. At the time he was killed in an automobile accident in 1955 at the age of 24, Dean had been featured in only three films, "East of Eden," "Rebel Without a Cause" and "Giant."

Monroe, by contrast, had featured roles in such movies as "The Asphalt Jungle," "All About Eve," "Bus Stop" and "The Seven-Year Itch." And that was only the beginning.

Since her death at age 35, she has been the subject of 50 or more books, about 17 plays and almost a dozen television movies. Can James Monroe, author of the Monroe Doctrine, say as much?

When was the last time you saw a movie on television about the male Monroe?

If there were such movies, they presumably would center on the election of 1812, when our fourth president received more than 99 percent of the electoral vote.

According to historians, James Monroe was so popular during his first term that when the time came for the Electoral College to meet again, only one elector, William Plummer of New Hampshire, voted against him.

And Plummer, we are told, was not opposed to Monroe but felt no chief executive other than George Washington deserved the honor of constituency.

That, of course, was before Gary Hart's time.

Dishonor On Bench

BILOXI, Miss. (NEA) — Judge Walter L. Nixon Jr. still regularly uses the somber, wood-paneled chambers reserved for the chief judge of the U.S. District Court in the squat federal building here on Mississippi's Gulf Coast.

But Nixon no longer presides over any litigation. Indeed, he has been on an indefinite self-imposed leave of absence from his official duties since a federal grand jury indicted him two years ago on bribery and perjury charges.

Until late 1981, no sitting federal judge had never been indicted in this country. Since then, however, three have been formally accused of engaging in criminal activities. Two have been convicted.

Are those recent developments evidence of unprecedented corruption within the federal judiciary, a branch of government long renowned for its probity and integrity?

Probably not. Since federal judges are fallible mortals, it's likely that some of them have always succumbed to illegal temptations but have been insulated from prosecution because of their special status.

The first of the three indicted — and the only one acquitted — was Judge Alcee L. Hastings of Miami, found not guilty after a 1983 trial on charges of obstruction of justice and conspiring to solicit a bribe.

Despite that acquittal, the Judicial Conference of the United States, a panel of 27 appellate judges charged with setting policy for the federal judiciary, has recommended to Congress that "consideration of impeachment may be warranted." An impeachment resolution was introduced in the House five months ago but the Judiciary Committee has shown no inclination to act upon it.

Judge Harry E. Claiborne of Las Vegas was convicted in 1984 of attempting to evade federal taxes by failing to report approximately $100,000 in income. He was sentenced to two years in prison and fined $10,000.

Because Claiborne refused to relinquish his judgeship and salary, Congress last year was forced to take the extraordinary step of impeaching him.

When Nixon was indicted in 1985, the accusations tarnished the reputation of a prominent political family with a tradition of public service. Nixon's father was a longtime county commissioner here.

When local residents discuss the case, the one word they repeatedly use is "tragedy." Nixon's critics say it's a tragedy that he brought shame to the community and the judiciary, while his defenders say it's a tragedy that a brilliant legal career has been truncated by specious allegations.

Nixon was accused of accepting royalty interests in three oil and gas wells in 1981 from Wiley Fairchild, a wealthy Hattiesburg, Miss., businessman. In return, Nixon allegedly promised to aid Fairchild if his help was ever needed. Nixon paid Fairchild $9,500 for the well leases but they produced more than $60,000 in income.

According to the government, Nixon had an opportunity to return the favor in 1982 when Fairchild's son, Drew, was accused of participating in a drug-smuggling conspiracy at the Hattiesburg airport. Although state rather than federal charges were involved, Nixon was accused of interfering with the prosecutor in the case on behalf of Drew Fairchild.

Dog Bites Biggest Problems

By Gayle Young
UPI Science Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Despite the recent spate of severe pit bull attacks on humans, a public health specialist says infection is usually the most serious problem from dog bites.

"It's estimated between 1 million and 2 million Americans a year get bitten and 15 to 20 percent of them will get infected," said Dr. Ellie Goldstein, a professor of medicine at the University of California, Los Angeles.

He said the problem has been largely ignored until recent months when vicious dog attacks on children have made the headlines.

"With all the attention being paid to dog maulings, especially the pit bull stories, people are more interested in the subject," he said in a telephone interview.

Several communities have banned pit bulls and other attack dogs in the past few months as incidences of dogs mauling and even killing people appear to be on the increase.

Goldstein, who studies animal and human bites, said an attack dog can exert 450 pounds of pressure per square inch in its jaws.

"That's enough to go through sheet metal," he said. Smaller breeds of dogs can exert 200 pounds of pressure per square inch. But the real danger of dog bites, as well as those of other animals, is infection from bacteria, Goldstein said.

He said animals can cause puncture wounds, ripped skin and scratches with their teeth. Of the three types of damage, puncture wounds are the most likely to become infected with bacteria from the animals.

"There are some 50 types of bacteria in a dog's mouth," he said. "It's important to wash out any wound as soon as possible with soap and water."

According to Goldstein, a substantial percentage of dog bites occur on the hands, where bacteria can easily invade the joints of fingers and inflame them.

"The fangs of an attack dog are longer than the thickness of your hand," he said. "The puncture wounds can be very deep."

Goldstein said most infections can be successfully treated with antibiotics, but those that are ignored can cause permanent joint damage and, in a few very rare cases, death.

Most dog bites occur in the summertime.

Khomeini Runs Lebanon Terror Network

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — It should be obvious that the White House would never have offered arms to Iran in exchange for American hostages unless the Ayatollah Khomeini's government controlled the fate of the hostages. Yet the Reagan administration still won't acknowledge what it has known all along: that Tehran calls the shots in the terrorist camps of northern Lebanon.

Here is a story that was pieced together by U.S. intelligence agencies long before the White House tried to deal with the Khomeini regime:

Khomeini formed the Supreme Council of the Islamic Revolution in September 1981 to oversee terrorist operations. He issued a call to arms to the Moslem world. "All Moslems must rise up and conquer their fear of death," he proclaimed, "so that they can conquer the whole world."

From Shiite Moslem communities around the world, he recruited fanatics who swore their willingness to die for him. They were brought to Iran for indoctrination and training in nine basic "boot camps." Their apparent function is to serve as the terrorist arm of the Revolutionary Guards. Together, they formed the Islamic Revolutionary Movement, which appears to be directed by the Iranian foreign ministry. At least, orders have been intercepted from the foreign ministry to terrorists in the field.

In June 1982, Khomeini dispatched an estimated 350 Revolutionary Guards to the Bekaa Valley in eastern Lebanon. They set up headquarters in a dilapidated former school house in the town of Baalbek. They immediately joined their terrorist comrades in forming a secret joint command known as the Council of Lebanon. Their ultimate aim: To create another theocratic Islamic regime in Lebanon in the Khomeini image.

The terrorists set up headquarters in a former Lebanese army post on a hillside above the town. The Revolutionary Guards, meanwhile, began recruiting and training more terrorists from the dispossessed, depressed and deprived Shiite community. The Hotel Khawan was converted into a military training school.

Apparently the terrorists are divided into different groups, whose loyalty and reliability varies. They operate under various names — Hezbollah, Islamic Jihad, Islamic Amel — but all take direction from the secret Council of Lebanon, which receives its orders from Tehran. Individual terrorists also draw arms and salaries from Iran, funneled into the Bekaa Valley through the airport in Damascus.

Though different groups have engaged in kidnappings, the hostages reportedly are turned over to the Hezbollah security chief, Imad Mughniyah. He follows orders from Tehran, collaborates closely with the Revolutionary Guards and is said to have personal ties to the Ayatollah's son, Ahmad Khomeini.

Thus, Ayatollah Khomeini indirectly controls the fate of the hostages. He determines who shall live, who shall die and who shall be released. His orders reportedly are relayed by the Iranian foreign ministry to the terrorists and torturers in Bekaa, the valley of death.

For example, CIA official William Buckley was delivered to Revolutionary Guard headquarters in Baalbek for interrogation and torture. It was the beginning of a nightmare from which there was no awakening.

Rumors that Buckley had been tortured to death were positively confirmed, according to the Tower Commission, on Dec. 5, 1985. Yet the Reagan administration, fearing the news might disrupt its secret negotiations with Tehran, denied any knowledge of his death.

Nevertheless, we broke the grim story on Dec. 13, 1985, with this epitaph: "The U.S. government is still denying the only thing William Buckley can now claim as his own: his death. We hope the American people won't allow the country's forgotten hostage to remain forgotten. He deserves the Medal of Honor, not obscurity."

Jettliner Switched Runways Before Crash Due To Wind

ROMULUS, Mich. (UPI) — Northwest Flight 255 switched to the shortest runway at the Detroit airport a half hour before it took off because of a wind shear alert, but it is not yet clear if wind conditions played a role in the plane's crash, officials say.

Federal investigators examined the wind factor and others Tuesday as medical examiners worked in a makeshift morgue at Detroit Metropolitan Airport to identify victims of the crash believed to have killed at least 155 people.

The National Transportation Safety Board — anticipating an update today from Northwest Airlines on how many people were aboard the plane — said 152 people died Sunday on the MD-80, and the Wayne County sheriff's office said at least three people were killed on the ground.

Murderer Of 24 Escapes Death

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Relatives of some of the 24 people Donald Harvey was convicted of murdering expressed anger at the life sentence given to the hospital orderly, who authorities say has a need to kill the way other people have a "compulsion for malted milk or cold beer."

But prosecutors defended their "agonizing" decision to allow the serial killer, who reportedly admitted a total of 54 slayings, to plead guilty Tuesday and escape a death sentence.

Harvey, 35, pleaded guilty to murdering 24 people, many of them hospital patients whose orange juice or feeding tubes he laced with cyanide, as well as to trying to kill four other people and torturing his roommate with poison.

CIA: Casey Bypassed Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Based on new CIA testimony, investigators are pursuing the theory that agency chief William Casey used Lt. Col. Oliver North to run the Iran arms deals to bypass the cautious CIA bureaucracy, sources say.

Clair George, the CIA's deputy director for operations, has testified in secret to the Iran-Contra committees that Casey may have given White House aide North responsibility for the Iran initiative to avoid legal scrutiny of the operation, congressional sources said Tuesday.

Trooper Killed With Own Gun During 'Routine' Traffic Stop

BRADENTON (UPI) — Police were searching today for a second man involved in the slaying of a Florida Highway Patrol trooper shot in the face with his own revolver after stopping two motorists on Interstate 75, officials said.

FHP spokesman Lt. Steve Vincent identified the slain trooper as Jeff Young, 28, a four-year veteran of the department.

Umel Burns, 41, was being held today in the Manatee County Jail on an open charge of murder, and authorities were continuing their massive manhunt for the driver of a 1982 dark blue Cadillac Burns was riding in during the shooting, Vincent said.

Young pulled the Cadillac over about 7:49 p.m. Tuesday 4 miles east of Bradenton for "most likely a routine traffic violation," Vincent said. Witnesses told police a struggle ensued and Burns grabbed Young's .357 Magnum, shooting the trooper once "point blank in the face," he said.

Martinez Signs Death Warrants

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Martinez has signed death warrants for three killers, including James Card, who figured in the recent, successful campaign to loosen gun control laws.

The governor issued death warrants Tuesday for Card, Omar Blanco, and Ernest Charles Downs, Florida State Prison Superintendent Tom Barton scheduled the executions for Sept. 17, beginning at 7 a.m.

The warrants are the first for all three men, so defense lawyers say they are confident of winning stays. No inmate has been executed on the first warrant since capital punishment was reinstated in Florida.

Mayor's USSR Visit Strictly As A Mrs.

Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith and her husband, Dr. Robert Smith, are scheduled to leave for the Soviet Union Sunday.

"For the experience," Mayor Smith explained. "I've always wanted to go to the Soviet Union," she said. "I've been to China and Poland."

She said one never knows what a country is really like until they actually go there.

"For instance, we were in China in 1984," she said. "It happened to be the 35th anniversary of their revolution and there was a four-hour parade in Beijing."

"When we got home I read in Time magazine that the parade emphasized the military aspect of China. Nothing could have been further from the truth."

She said the parade included floats of ethnic variety, agricultural accomplishment, the arts such as dance and other cultural themes, with scant military showing.

"We have to remember that our government is operating its propaganda, too," she said.

The Smiths are to fly to Helsinki, then tour East Berlin, East Germany and Poland before going by bus to the Soviet Union, Moscow, Leningrad, Minsk and other cities are on their itinerary there.

On the bus, the couple will be known as Dr. and Mrs. Smith. Mayor Smith said the tour directors asked her travel agent if she would mind not using the title "mayor." She said she doesn't know why, but doesn't mind since the trip is strictly a private tour. And she expressed no fear of the Soviet rulers.

"They won't keep me long," she said. "I told my husband."

Polk Slated To Attend Seminar

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk is scheduled to spend Aug. 25 and 26 and half of Aug. 27 in school in Orlando, studying "media relations."

The 20 hour course will meet Polk's annual training requirements for state certification as an elected official, and will extend his qualifications to receive annual certification pay of $2,000 a year above his county salary of $59,600. The county pays the total $61,600 salary, but the $2,000 extra hinges on state certification.

Such state certification is an option for elected officials. Polk will be returning home each day following the training sessions. Expenses for the course will be paid for out of the sheriff's department budget, Polk said.

Reflagged Tankers Clear Strait Under Carrier Taskforce Escort

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Three Kuwaiti tankers flying the Stars and Stripes passed through the Strait of Hormuz at the entrance to the Persian Gulf today under a U.S. Navy escort, shipping sources said.

The tankers, the Townsend, Gas Queen and Gas Princess, were escorted by three U.S. warships, including the amphibious assault carrier USS Guadalcanal. Sea Stallion mine-sweeping helicopters from the Guadalcanal had been clearing southern gulf waters of mines for the last 24 hours, the sources said.

The sources said the convoy, the third to undertake the 550-mile voyage to Kuwait, passed through the Strait of Hormuz — also known as "Silkway Alley" — at 5:30 a.m.

Officials Await Hess Autopsy

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — Allied officials say an autopsy report should determine whether unrepentant Nazi leader Rudolf Hess committed suicide with an electrical cord in a garden hut at Spandau War Crimes Prison.

The British military government in occupied Berlin announced Tuesday that Adolf Hitler's former deputy, who died Monday at the age of 93, used the brief absence of a guard to try to commit suicide during a regular afternoon visit to the prison garden.

The British announcement said the guard discovered Hess in a hut with an electrical cord around his neck.

Glass Reunited With Family

CRAWLEY, England (UPI) — American journalist Charles Glass, who escaped after 62 days as a hostage in Lebanon, arrived in Britain early today for a reunion with his family and said he felt some guilt at being free when other hostages had been held much longer.

"I wish I knew something about the other hostages but I did not see any of them the entire time I was held captive and I was not told anything about them," said Glass, who at one point in captivity wrote notes for help in his own blood.

Some Strikers Return To Mines

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Some 700 black mine workers under threat of dismissal today broke ranks in a 10-day-old strike by some 330,000 gold and coal miners and reported to their jobs at a coal mine, officials said.

Board Wants New Property Annexed

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School Board has unanimously approved asking the city of Sanford to annex property next to Seminole High School the board has purchased for $345,000. The board made the decision to take the action Wednesday in an effort to ensure its newly acquired 10-acre site adjacent to Seminole High School received adequate police and fire protection from the city.

The board voted recently to approve the closing on the land owned by the James Rumsey Trust and The True Church of God Inc., according to Benny Arnold, assistant superintendent for facilities services.

The property bought from the Rumsey Trust cost $285,000 and the church land $60,000, Arnold said.

The property is located on the west side of the school along Ridgewood Lane, Arnold said. A church building and a home owned by Bart Pücher is situated on it.

Ned Julian Jr., school district attorney, said the board should attempt to have the property annexed by Sanford as soon as possible, even though the SHS expansions it will be used for won't start until 1988. Julian said the early annexation would make things easier for the Sanford police and fire departments. He said it would also simplify possible road abandonment if both sides of the easement running between the school parking lot and adjoining property are in the same jurisdiction.

Arnold said the school board is planning to sell the western four-plus-acres commit the rest of it to SHS. "I think the school is going to use the land mostly for a new driveway and additional student parking," Arnold said, noting the school is short of space for student parking.

Lake Mary City Hall Lot Paving Questioned

The Lake Mary City Commission last week awarded a contract for paving the city hall parking lot, even though plans are under way to build a new city hall elsewhere.

Drainage work was included in the $19,240 project awarded Superior Asphalt Inc. at a commission meeting Thursday.

Lake Mary City Manager Bob Norris said the commission awarded the project to the Mount Dora-based company but questioned the need for the project. Commissioners wondered why the work was to be done when the city plans to begin construction of a new city hall building in the future. Architectural plans are being prepared for the new municipal building. Land also has been selected but has not yet been purchased.

Norris defending the paving and drainage work, saying, "This building (current city hall) will always be used for public purposes."

Commissioner John Percy said he was opposed to the idea of paving the existing city hall building, but changed his mind after hearing Commissioner Charlie Webster's arguments about the structure always having a use for the city. "My original thinking was that we were going to build another building anyway, so why pave the parking lot of the old one," Percy said.

Percy said he decided to change his mind and vote to award the bid to Superior when he realized the city would probably not tear down the present municipal building. "It (the paving project) just seemed like a good idea after awhile," he said.

Norris said he is not sure how long it will take the contractor to complete the paving and drainage project, but that the company should "gear up" soon. "They should be finished with the work in about 30 to 45 days," Norris said.

The Lake Mary City Commission will meet again Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall, 158 N. Country Club Road.

GOP Drawing Names For Convention

Hundreds of Seminole County Republicans are expected to show up at the Altamont Springs Hilton and Towers Hotel Thursday night, hoping to be chosen as county delegates to the state Republican convention in November.

Randy Morris, public affairs officer for the county GOP, said hundreds of the 45,000 registered Republicans in the county have registered to be one of the 33 delegates picked by lottery as delegates to the convention. The lottery is Thursday night and those registered must be present to be chosen.

Registration of hopefuls begins at 5:30 p.m. and the lottery drawing begins at 7 p.m.

Morris explained that 12 more delegates to the state convention will be chosen by the county central committee next week, including three elected officials who automatically qualify as delegates.

Such a large gathering of Republicans in one place is expected to ensure lots of politicking, Morris said, with elected officials and supporters of the various Republican presidential candidates out in force trying to garner support for their favorite candidates.

Altamonte Would Welcome World Series

After another command performance as host of the Little League Southern Region Junior Baseball Tournament, the Altamonte Springs Little League is basking in the warmth of compliments from Tennessee to Texas.

Here's a few accolades: "This is the finest facility we have played at and it was the best run tournament we've been in," Bristol, Tenn. manager Brian Jessee said. "I want to express my gratitude to the people of Altamonte Springs, especially Pepper Miller and his wife, who were our host family. "We'll remember our stay here for a long time."

Jessee's club came back Saturday morning with a convincing 10-1 victory over San Antonio Northwest, Tex. to wrap up the championship and a trip to the World Series in Taylor, Mich.

"These people really know how to put on a tournament," San Antonio coach Pete White said. "It's a class facility and a nice area to visit. It would have been nice if we could have won one more game, but we had a very good time here."

Don Crawford, the District 14 administrator from Rolling Hills, agreed. "It was an excellent tournament," he said. "The organizational part was extremely good. The civic participation was excellent. What impressed me the most about Altamonte was the diversity of people working the tournament. Everybody got involved."

That Altamonte staff, spearheaded by Altamonte Springs Recreation Director Bill James, did another bang-up job. Any time you kick off a tournament with a trip to Disney World and cap it with a championship dinner at Red Lobster, you have covered the bases from first to home plate.

Dudley Bates (chairman), Donna Hackworth (program), Jim Hovis (assistant director), John Robb (field facilities), Greg Ebbert (announcer), John Strott (hospitality room) and the rest of the crew did a superlative job. Former league president Strott, by the way, came all the way from Birmingham, Ala. to perform his chores.

In past years, the host site is usually granted a berth in the tournament. When Eustis held the tournament in prior years, the hosts would get their brains beat out two games and then watch the rest of the tournament. Altamonte, which could have competed the past two years, has not been honored with a host berth, yet it puts on a first-class tournament without it. Not too many cities would do that for a Southern Region.

James and Altamonte Springs readily accepted anyway, knowing they could put on a first-class tournament without playing in it. Altamonte has as strong of a baseball base as anywhere in Florida. The support comes from everywhere in Seminole County, all cities with strong baseball ties.

Two years ago, James said the tournament made "a couple hundred dollars" to give back to the Altamonte Little League. He said he expects the about the same return this year, and maybe a little more.

"The reason we are successful is because the city gets behind the Little League program," James. "Our programs, sponsorships and golf tournament made enough money to cover the expenses."

Altamonte has definitely proven itself as an excellent host of a Southern Region. Enough so that James and his hard-working volunteers are worthy of something bigger and better.

The only thing bigger and better than the Southern Region, of course, is a World Series. The thought of bringing one to Seminole County raises the goose bumps for James.

"Oh Lord, we would love to host a World Series," he gushed. "That has been our ultimate

Miami Signs Vet Jaworski

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins disliked the prospect of having only two quarterbacks in training camp so much they delayed their Tuesday practice for three and a half hours to allow newly signed Ron Jaworski to take part.

Jaworski, signed after injuries sidelined Dan Marino and rookie Jim Karsatos, reached a verbal agreement with the Dolphins late Monday and flew to Miami from Philadelphia. The Dolphins were scheduled to practice at 3:30 p.m. EDT, but waited until 7 p.m. to allow Jaworski to get some work in.

Jaworski, 36, a former Youngstown State star who played 13 seasons with the Los Angeles Rams and Philadelphia, was released by the Eagles after last season.

The Eagles let him go in March rather than guarantee his $600,000 contract. Terms of Jaworski's deal with the Dolphins were not released.

Marino dislocated the ring finger on his right (throwing) hand in Sunday's 10-3 exhibition game loss to Chicago and will be out for three to four weeks, while Karsatos sprained his left knee in the same game. Miami was left with two quarterbacks: veteran backup Don Strock and utility man Jim Jensen, who also plays wide receiver and on special teams.

"I felt that we had to get an experienced quarterback," coach Don Shula said. "Not that I don't have the confidence in Don Strock, but after what happened to us the other night, there is the thought that something could happen to Strock in these next three pre-season games."

"He's going to be playing a lot, and if that (an injury) happened then you'd be out looking for an experienced quarterback and the season is right on top of you."

Jaworski had an impressive one-day tryout in Miami in May, and he also worked out with several other NFL teams. He has played in 166 games in his career, completing 2,142 passes on 4,042 attempts for 27,682 yards, 176 touchdowns and 159 interceptions. He played in 10 games in 1986 and finished the year on injured reserve with a torn tendon in a finger on his throwing hand.

His best season was 1980, when he threw for 3,529 yards and 27 touchdowns in leading the Eagles to the Super Bowl, where they lost to the Raiders. Shula said there was a possibility, if the roster size is increased, of keeping Marino, Strock and Jaworski on the team for the regular season.

In other news, the Dolphins released four free agents: cornerback Donald Brown, fullback Clarence Bailey, running back Ronald Scott, and punter Steve Minie. Shula also said the team is continuing to look for linebacker help after losing Pro Bowl starter John Offerdahl for 10-12 weeks with a torn bicep.

Kicker Tony Franklin walked out of the New England Patriots training camp Tuesday, just three days after agreeing to terms of a four-year contract that would make him the highest-paid kicker in the NFL.

Franklin was asked — and refused — to sign a waiver that would absolve the Patriots of any financial responsibility should he suffer an injury to either of his legs before the start of the regular season, officials said.

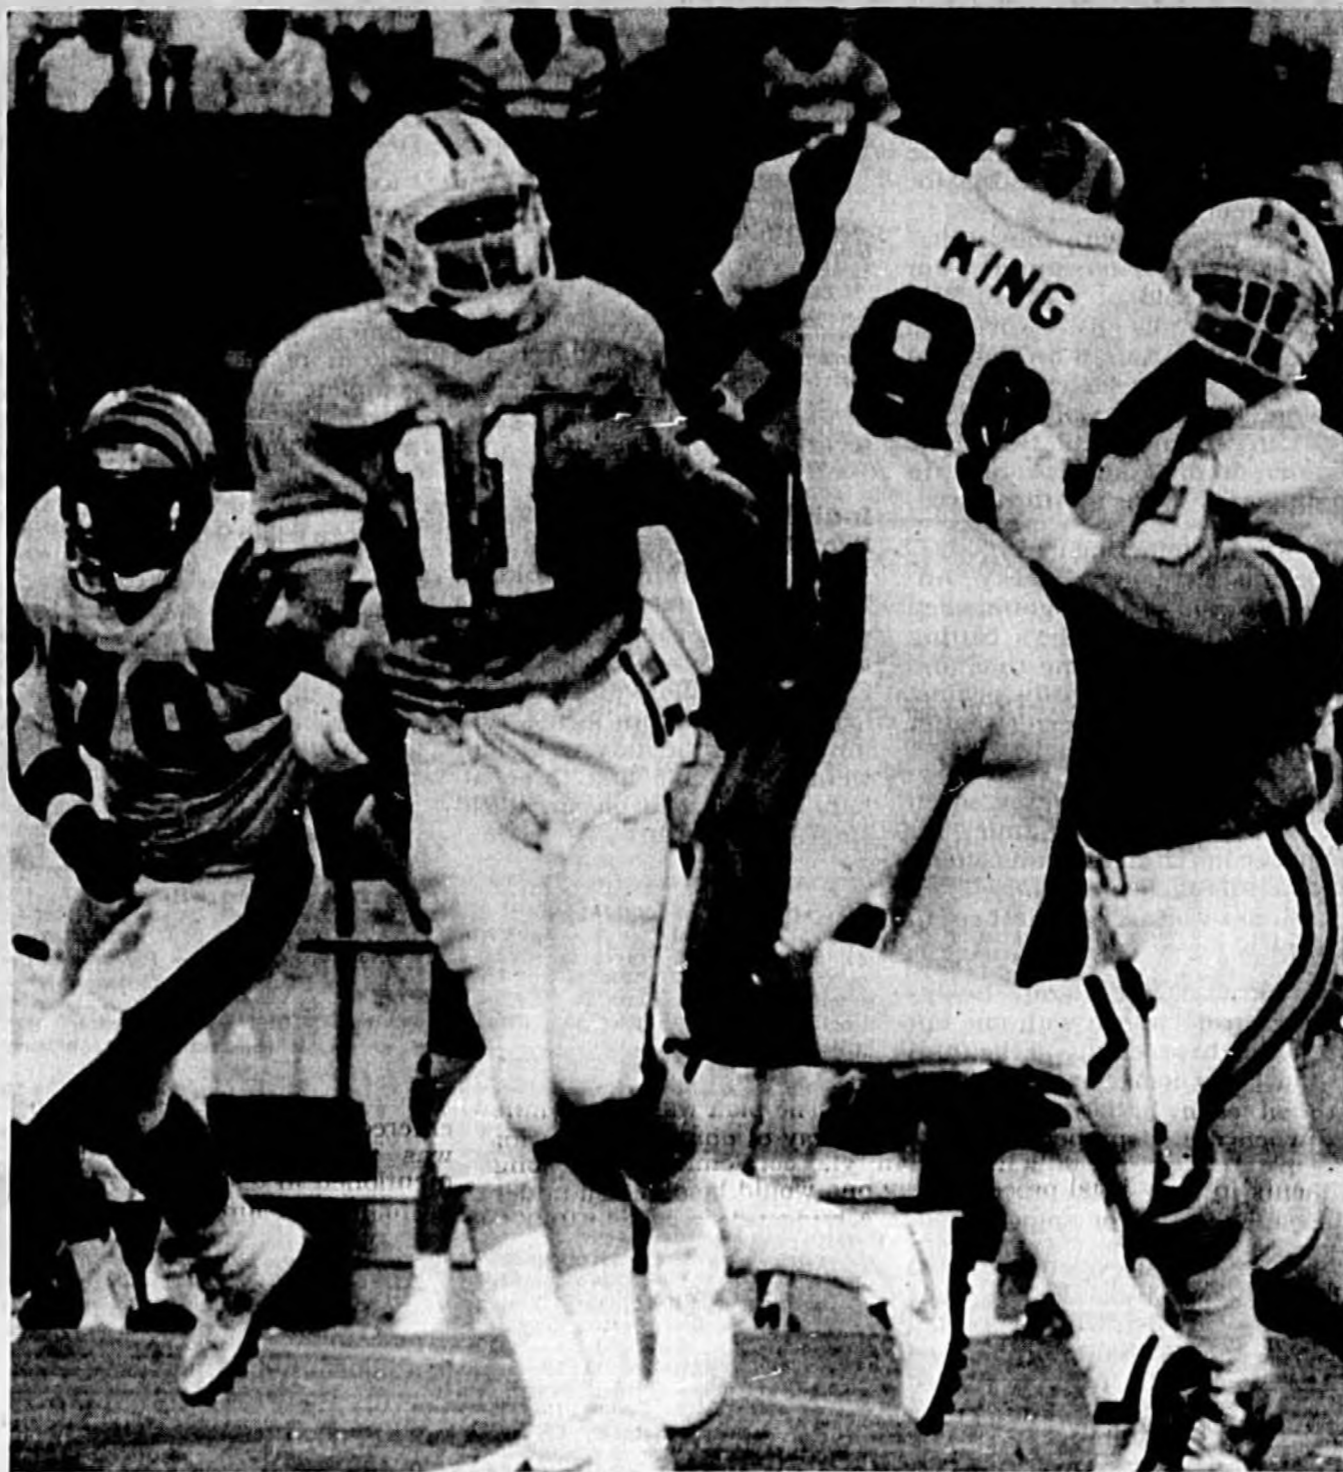

The Houston Oilers and their No. 1 draft choice are about $1 million apart in contract talks.

Oilers General Manager Ladd Herzog says Alonzo Highsmith and his agent, Robert Fraley, are demanding a four-year $3-million deal first proposed June 8. The Oilers say they are offering $2 million.

Barry Word, who spent more than five months last year in a federal prison for dealing cocaine, has made a smooth transition from tailback to fullback and New Orleans Saints Coach Jim Mora says he might make the team.

"I think he's taken to that position better than I thought he would — a lot better than I thought he would," Mora said.

The Saints drafted Word in the third round of the 1986 draft out of Virginia.

Tampa quarterback Mike Shula closes his eyes in anticipation of a jolt from Emmanuel King (No. 90) who is fighting past a block from Mike Simmonds while Ross Browner, left, moves in from the rear. King returned an interception for a touchdown as Cincinnati trimmed the Bucs, 31-30, Saturday. Rookie Shula also threw a TD pass.

Donlan: Strike To Be Averted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The executive director of the NFL Management Council is predicting league management and the NFL Players Association can hammer out an agreement to avert the second players strike in five years.

The five-year collective bargaining agreement produced during the 57-day strike that wiped out seven weeks of the 1982 season expires Aug. 31.

"I just don't think there's going to be a strike. I really don't, because I think we're going to work it out," Jack Donlan, the league's chief labor negotiator, said Tuesday in a telephone interview with United Press International from his New York office.

"I think we have a long way to go and I think we have some tough issues, but I think we can work it out."

Donlan acknowledged "not much or any movement" has resulted from formal talks with the union at the bargaining table since opening proposals were exchanged in Washington April 20. He said unscheduled one-on-one bargaining sessions with union executive director Gene Upshaw have yielded movement on both sides.

"At that stage, I think there has been a lot more open dialogue as to where we can move and in what they might be willing to do. I think the parties have a fairly good picture as to where the potentials for settlement are."

Tribe Boosters Solicit Friday

Seminole High football coach Roger Beathard has a word with his team prior to practice. The Seminoles began contact drills Wednesday after three days of conditioning. They will open the season at home Friday, Sept. 11 against Titusville Astronaut. The Seminole High Booster Club kicks off its season Friday with an annual fund-raising drive. Seminole athletes will solicit Sanford residents and businesses for memberships and much-needed funds for the athletic department. Seminole Athletic Director Jerry Posey has set a $1,500 goal for the club. Memberships cost $10.

Jim Abbott, the pitcher born with one hand, hurled three innings of perfect ball Tuesday to help the U.S. baseball team to a 15-2 rout of Aruba. It was determined before the game that Abbott would work only three innings, and the 19-year-old left-hander from Flint, Mich., struck out four of the nine batters he faced. He was relieved by Joe Slusarski, Springfield, Ill., who earned his third victory.

Tino Martinez of Tampa, homered in the third inning and boosted his batting average to a tournament high .609. Don Guillot of Port Isabel, Texas, hit a three-run homer and Larry Gonzales of West Covina, Calif., added a two-run shot.

The Americans take a 6-0 record into tonight's game against Puerto Rico (5-1) and are assured of a berth in the medal round.

Michele Granger of Placentia, Calif., pitched her second successive one-hitter to lead the U.S. women's softball team to a 4-0 victory over Puerto Rico and a berth in the final. However, the American men suffered their first setback after nine victories, managing only two hits in a 3-0 loss to Canada in the opening game of the championship bracket.

IN BRIEF

Biggs' Remarks Anger Tyson, Champ In 'Beat-Him-Up' Mood

NEW YORK (UPI) — For the first time in his pro career, heavyweight champion Mike Tyson Tuesday said he is looking forward to beating up his next opponent.

Tyson has maintained he holds no personal grudges against his foes, he just sees them as obstacles he must overcome to remain unbeaten champion. But his next challenger is Tyrell Biggs, who was the top heavyweight amateur boxer in the country when Tyson was just another fighter as recently as three years ago.

Memories of Biggs being on top still bother Tyson, and the champion was angered Tuesday when Biggs said he should be favored to win their Oct. 16 bout at Atlantic City, N.J.

"I've wanted this fight for so long," said Tyson, who is 31-0 with 27 knockouts. "After I heard what he said, he was so confident, I'm going to enjoy this very much."

"I look forward to doing some serious damage," Biggs, the 1984 Olympic super heavyweight champion who is 15-0 with 10 knockouts as a pro, said he will prove Tyson vulnerable.

"I'm not here to lay down," Biggs said. "I'm not afraid of Mike Tyson, because he's a man like myself. On top of that, he's 5-foot-8 and 220 pounds and I'm 6-5, 225 pounds."

Minter Tips Charge-Less Sukova

TORONTO (UPI) — Like everyone else, Anne Minter waited for Helena Sukova to make a charge that never materialized.

Powered by a blistering first serve, unseeded Australian Minter routed the defending champion 6-3, 6-1 Tuesday in the $280,000 Canadian Open Women's Tennis Championships. The tournament is also known as the Player's Challenge.

"I didn't think it was going to be this easy," said Minter, ranked No. 50 in the world. "I thought I passed well when she came to the net and I just won by being aggressive off the ground."

Sukova, ranked sixth in the world, had scored back-to-back victories over Chris Evert and Martina Navratilova at Eastbourne in early June, but showed little of that form against Minter.

ATP: Aggravated McEnroe Falls

MASON, Ohio (UPI) — John McEnroe says he plans to play in the U.S. Open despite the back injury he aggravated Tuesday in his loss to Paul Annacone in the first round of the Association of Tennis Professionals Championship.

Annacone fired 10 aces in registering his 7-6, 6-4 victory, the second time in less than a year he defeated the former No. 1 player in the world.

Three other seeded players also lost their opening-round matches Tuesday: No. 6 Henri Leconte, No. 10 Kevin Curren and No. 14 Amos Mansdorf.

McEnroe first suffered a strained back during a doubles match last Saturday at Montreal, and he aggravated it midway through the first set Tuesday. He said he considered defaulting early in the second set.

"I'm (still) playing the Open, no question about it. It (the injury) is just something I think should be better in a couple of days."

The U.S. Open begins Aug. 31.

Far East Batters Puerto Rico

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Far East third baseman Tong Chung Huel drove in 5 runs in the first inning to lead the Chinese team from Taipei to a 12-1 rout over Puerto Rico in a winners' bracket semi-final game at the Big League World Series at Floyd Hull Stadium Tuesday.

Tong had a 3-run home run and a 2-run single as the Far East team sent 13 batters to the plate and scored 8 runs in the inning. Tong's home run opened the scoring and his single scored the seventh and eighth runs.

The Chinese team will play tournament host Broward County 7:30 p.m. EDT Thursday in the double-elimination tournament winners' bracket final.

Puerto Rico will play either Dunedin or USA West, represented by a team from Tucson, Ariz., in a losers' bracket contest scheduled for 5 p.m. EDT Thursday.

USA West defeated USA North from Chicago 13-7 Thursday, eliminating the north team from the tournament.

NCAA Clears Way For Burger

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Auburn quarterback Jeff Burger says his eyes are upon Texas now that the NCAA has cleared the final obstacle in his path to the playing field this season.

The NCAA granted Auburn's appeal and restored Burger's final year of eligibility Tuesday, clearing the way for Burger to play in the Sept. 5 opener against the Longhorns.

"I'm glad it's all over. I'm ready to get all this behind me and get ready for finals and Texas," Burger said.

Burger, who started all 12 games for the Tigers last year, was on the verge of losing his final year of eligibility last week after being declared ineligible because assistant coach Pat Sullivan posted a $750 property bond to get Burger out of jail.

Travers More Than Rematch

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (UPI) — The $1 million Travers Saturday offers much more than a rematch between Alysheba and Bet Twice.

Consider this: the rank outsider in the probable field of eight or nine, Illinois-bred Fortunate Moment, is 6-0, winner of $192,780 and fast enough to have worked five-eighths of a mile in :58 1-5 Tuesday.

"It's a damn tough race," said Jack Van Berg, trainer of Alysheba, the Kentucky Derby-Preakness Stakes winner. "They're never going to have another tough race like this for three-year-olds."

Netters Head For Colleges

It seems almost impossible that summer is almost over. School starts in a week or so and it's back to the old grind for us all.

For some of our fine area tennis players the scene will change and instead of going back to their high schools they now face a new and different challenge. The challenge of starting their college careers, both as students and/or college tennis players.

Many young Florida tennis players will be going off to college in the next few weeks, having accepted tennis scholarships at schools all over the U.S. Several of our local young stars will be among these going on to new levels and new experiences in their tennis and in their academics.

They have worked hard and put in a lot of time, effort and money to get to the level that they are on now. To be offered a college scholarship and have a chance to play college tennis is the fulfillment of a dream and has been very much viewed with excitement and anticipation.

Going to West Florida on a full tennis scholarship is Lyman High's Eric Hochman. Hochman is one of the top young players to come out of this area and is going to a very strong NCAA Division II school. Hochman had several offers but chose West Florida because of its strong tennis program and his desire to stay in the state.

Mike Renaud, former Lake Mary High standout, is going to North Alabama. Mike has received a nice tennis scholarship at North Alabama and according to inside sources should play in the top six his first year. Mike also is a fine kicker in football and has been asked to try out for the football team as well. North Alabama is also in NCAA Division II.

Shea Whigham, another Lake Mary High star, is headed out West. Shea has signed a full scholarship with Tyler Junior sending out a good crop to the colleges this year and we should all be proud of them.

LEAGUES — Summer ending also means that the tennis leagues will start cranking up again soon. Bayhead pro Steve Pelletier says that his club will field teams in most divisions and appears to have some powerhouses in the various leagues.

If you like to watch competitive tennis, call Bayhead and ask for a schedule. Matches are usually played on Tuesday nights, Thursday nights and Friday mornings.

INNOVATIONS — Steve and Simone Pelletier have come up with some real innovative ideas to get members involved in the Bayhead activities. Recently they have been running round-robin doubles tournaments for men and women. Each team plays the other teams six games each. The winner is decided by who has won the highest number of games.

Sound like fun? Well it is and the players at Bayhead are having a ball with it. An extra added attraction of these tournaments is a giant cook-out.

Irish Eyes Are Always Smiling When Mrs. O'Leary Entertains Her Friends

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

As soon as you see the shamrock outside her front door, you know an Irish smile can't be very far behind it, and pretty Sharon O'Leary of Lake Mary, our Cook of the Week, extends that smile into a warm welcome.

Amidst two bright and lively children, and "Murphy," the aptly named four-footed baby of the family, our cook maintains that her top priority right now is enjoying her family and creating a comfortable home for them.

Mrs. O'Leary recalls that she was a Monday night cook for her southern-born mother, Wanda (Mrs. John) Ryan, a basketball coach. "She was the coach for my sister's basketball team," she says, "and while she was away I'd start making simple things like hamburgers, spaghetti, baked chicken or meatloaf, things like that."

The oldest of four children, Mrs. O'Leary attended parochial school in Detroit, Mich., where most of the people in the area worked for the automobile companies at one time or another, she adds. "I was taught by the nuns at school," she says, "and that was an interesting experience." Our cook was also a cheerleader and remembers taking an interest in cooking and sewing in home economics class.

"Mom was a good cook," she says. "She's from the South, from Kentucky, and when she was about 10 her family moved to Detroit for jobs after the coal mines closed in Kentucky. She made a lot of southern things like fried chicken and fried apples. She was a plain cook — she'd be interested in cook books and look at them, but I don't think she ever followed a recipe. I used to watch her cook and I picked up a few of my cooking tricks from her." She also gained job experience during her high school years by working in her father's office. "He was a State Farm agent," she says, "and for about three years I helped out in his office while I was in school, and then when we moved to Florida I worked for another

State Farm agency here. Although she attended college for a year and a half, Mrs. O'Leary admits that she "dropped out" in favor of marriage. Meeting at a party hosted by her future husband, she says, "We hit it off real well." Married in 1974 to Tim O'Leary, our cook adds, "He had just gotten out of law school and was a new attorney when I met him." A gala wedding with eight attendants and 300 guests started the new Mrs. and Mr. O'Leary off with lots of memories of the happy event. Tim O'Leary now lives up to the letter of the law with a general practice in Winter Park.

Additions to the O'Leary family came in 1980 and 1983, respectively, with Erin, a precocious little red haired daughter, complete with freckles, and Ryan, a son dubbed with our cook's maiden name. Mrs.

O'Leary enjoys spending as much time as possible with her children and taking part in their activities. Last year, she was a leader for Erin's Daisy Girl Scout troop, and this year plans to act as a consultant to the Lake Mary Girl Scout troops. Day-long field trips were part of the program for the girls, explains Mrs. O'Leary, "and we visited Pizza Hut, the library, a dentist's office, and we even went on a camping trip for a day." This season, Erin will become a Brownie and enjoy the things "older" Scout members do. Erin is also an aspiring dancer and takes tap and jazz dancing lessons at the Dance Academy of Lake Mary, with ballet lessons scheduled for the fall. "She had her first recital," says Mrs. O'Leary, "and it was very exciting for us to see her up there on the stage." Ryan, who is a little too young for organizational activities, will be attending a pre-school program at the Academy of Learning in Longwood. Mrs. O'Leary is also a member of the PTA, keeping abreast of school happenings. "Both of my children are good swimmers," says Mrs. O'Leary, "so we like to spend time in the pool. And Erin and I like to water ski, too." Our cook also teaches Sunday School lessons to kindergarten age children at the Catholic Church of the Nativity in Lake Mary.

The O'Learys enjoy spare time together on the tennis courts, "and Tim is an avid golfer," she says. "We also have a boat and like to go out on the weekends fishing and water skiing." Mrs. O'Leary says she likes doing "easy crafts" such as fabric covered photo albums and dried flower wreaths. "I like to make them and give them away," she says. "We also enjoy doing yard work and decorating the house. That's an ongoing process." Here and there around the O'Leary home a decorative shamrock can be found blending in with smart decor. "And the dog keeps us real busy," she adds. "He's a 16-month-old golden retriever and he's like the baby of the family. I even took him to dog obedience classes." She has also had the opportunity to attend several adult leisure time classes to improve her tennis game and learn the art of interior decorating. Mrs. O'Leary is a board game fan and loves testing her knowledge with some of the recently popular parlor games such as Scruples, Trivial Pursuit and the all-time favorite, Scrabble.

As far as hobbies go, Mrs. O'Leary admits to being a bargain shopper. "I love to shop and look for bargains. My friends know this, and if they want to know the best place to buy something they ask me and I can usually tell them. I guess it runs in my family. Whenever my mom and I get together, we usually go shopping." Photography is another pastime that our cook enjoys to the fullest

Flowers More Than Just A Pretty Face

By John DeMers
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — When Jenny Leggatt cooks with flowers, she thinks not of trendy California chefs but of the Chinese and Japanese with their jasmine, the Arabs with their rosewater, the ancient Romans with their gladioli.

While Leggatt tips her hat to the "flower fad" thrusting edible and inedible blooms onto plates nationwide, she stresses there's nothing really faddish or even new in the trend.

Flowers have been used for culinary purposes since the dawn of recorded history. Recipes like Moroccan Chicken with Pistachios, Apricots, Roses and Marigolds or Duck With Tiger Lilies pay tribute to thousands of years of cooking and decorating.

"These things just fall by the wayside until somebody resurrects them," said Leggatt, whose successful English book "Cooking With Flowers" has just been published in the United States by Fawcett-Columbine.

"The Romans used to scent their wine with flowers. And people used hundreds of flowers in the 17th century. It was the actual norm to cook with flowers. They enhance foods enormously."

Leggatt, who lives in London with her two teenaged children, is the author of "Herbs for Presents" and "Sweets for Presents" as well as a writer and designer for Taste magazine. It was a magazine assignment, in fact, that launched her on her new career as "flower lady."

After a half-care story on flower rinses drew a significant response from English readers, her editor requested Leggatt develop half a dozen recipes using edible flowers.

Since she already tended a huge flower garden in Cambridge, the recipes flowed naturally. When they appeared, to much excitement across Great Britain, the inspiration to write a book followed close behind.

"What I did was just respond to the response," Leggatt said recently during a visit to New York. "It was just luck that I got to write that article at a very pertinent moment."

"Cooking with flowers is so much fun to do, and anybody can do it. It's not just something for great cooks."

According to Leggatt, the main advance is dividing all flower-erms into those blooms that truly taste great and those that are beautiful but carry little flavor.

Members of the first group should be used in recipes, such as herbs and spices are. The second type should be set aside until garnishing time, when their color and form will add elegance to even the simplest dish.

Here are two recipes from "Cooking With Flowers," which features 20 color photographs

You'll love the superb blend of flavors in Bacon-Cheddar-Chives Loaf. The tangy filling of sharp cheddar cheese, real bacon bits, and chives is rolled up into the dough. The rolled dough is then sliced down the center to give the interesting swirled pattern of the loaf. It takes only minutes to prepare using frozen ready-dough.

BACON-CHEDDAR-CHIVES LOAF

1 (one-pound) loaf frozen ready-dough
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
½ cup real bacon bits
1 cup grated extra sharp cheddar cheese
3 tablespoons chopped chives, fresh or freeze-dried

Let dough thaw until pliable. (To thaw dough in the microwave oven, wrap loosely in plastic wrap. Microwave on LOW power for 6 minutes, rotating occasionally.) On a lightly floured board, stretch or roll dough out to 7" by 15". Brush dough with melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle bacon bits, grated cheese and chives evenly over dough. Beginning with 7-inch side, roll dough up tightly in jelly-roll fashion. Pinch dough along edge to seal. Place rolled up dough in a lightly greased bread pan. Using a sharp knife, make a lengthwise cut down the center of the loaf, cutting ¾ of the way through to expose the layers of filling. Let dough rise until it is ½-inch above pan sides. Bake at 350° for 30-35 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from pan immediately to cool on rack slightly before serving

Microwave Magic

Combinations Are Endless For A Tempting Rolled Meat Loaf

Ground chuck, ground round or extra lean ground beef can be used for any one of these tempting meat loaves.

If you have never made a rolled meat loaf, try one of these easy to prepare recipes. The microwave is the ideal appliance to use on these very hot days. No heat and short cooking times make it economical too.

Use a basic recipe for a meat loaf and then think of vegetables, meats and cheeses that can be rolled up in the loaf. The combinations are endless.

ROLLED MEAT LOAF

- 1 2 1/2 ounce jar of sliced mushrooms
- 1 1/2 pounds lean ground chuck
- 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 egg
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 cup sharp cheddar cheese, grated
- 1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 3 tablespoons onion, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon ketchup or tomato paste

Combine all ingredients, except cheese and ketchup. Mix until evenly combined. On a sheet of foil spread mixture in a 9" by 12" rectangle or until meat is about 1/2" thick. Sprinkle cheese over meat. Using foil, roll meat up in a roll so that the cheese is on the inside of the meat loaf. Place in a 1 1/2 quart shallow baking dish. Spread top with tomato sauce or ketchup. M/W on 100% power 12-14 minutes. Allow to stand 10 minutes before serving.

ROLLED MEAT LOAF SICILIAN STYLE

Make basic meat loaf mixture, but omit mushrooms. Pat meat mixture out in 9x12 rectangle. Place thin slices of boiled or baked ham on top of meat mixture. Set aside.

Slice green peppers in 1/2" pieces and saute in the microwave 1-2 minutes. Spread over the ham. Using foil, roll meat up in a roll so that the ham, peppers are in the inside of the meat loaf. Place in a shallow baking dish. Spread with tomato sauce, sprinkle with 1 tablespoon brown sugar. M/W on 100% power 12-14 minutes. Allow to stand 10 minutes before serving.

This is an attractive loaf that is an extra-rich source of protein because of the addition of the cheese.

RICOTTA MEAT ROLL

- 1 1/2 pounds ground lean beef
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt

Filling:

- 1/2 cup ricotta cheese or cottage cheese
- 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 egg
- 1 can (8 ounces) cut green beans, drained
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme
- 1/2 teaspoon basil

Mix meatloaf ingredients. On foil or plastic wrap, pat out into a rectangle 1/2" thick. Combine filling ingredients and spread over meat, leaving 1 inch borders on all sides. Roll up. Press edges together to seal. Place in loaf dish with seam side down. M/W on 100% power 5 minutes. Reduce power 50%. M/W 20-30 minutes or until meat is firm and loses its pink color. Let stand 5 minutes before serving.

Layered meat and fillings is another way to add interest and flavor to an old standby. A microwave ring mold lets this loaf cook quickly and is attractive to serve.

LAYERED MEATLOAF RING

Meatloaf:

- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 medium onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon seasoned salt

Filling:

- 1/2 cup water
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme

2 cups seasoned stuffing mix

Topping:

- 1 can (4 ounces) mushroom pieces, drained, divided
- 1 medium onion, sliced and separated into rings

Combine loaf ingredients and mix well. Divide into thirds. Measure water into a 1-quart measure. Add butter and thyme; microwave 100% power 1-2 minutes until boiling. Stir into stuffing mix.

Assemble:

Place half the mushrooms in the bottom of the ring mold. Top with onion rings. Cover with 1/2 loaf mixture.

Mix remaining mushrooms into stuffing. Spoon half of stuffing over meat in ring, leaving borders. Top with second 1/2 of meat mixture. Press edges firmly to seal. Repeat with remaining stuffing and meat. Seal edges. Microwave on 100% power 5 minutes. Reduce power to 50%. M/W 8-13 minutes, until meat is firm and has lost its pink color. Turn out on platter to serve.

Easing The Trauma Of Vaccinations

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — We parents are constantly telling our children that they should not allow anyone to hurt them — and then we hold them down so they can be stuck with a needle. Why can't doctors use those high-pressure guns to give vaccinations?

DEAR READER — The basis of your question has to do with the risk/benefit ratio. We all train our children to avoid unnecessary pain or harm from others, and there are a lot of crazy people out there who want to harm children in one way or another. Responsible parents have an obligation to teach their children methods to prevent pain: for example, don't talk to strangers, don't start fights and don't take any substance or drug unless it is administered by the parent or an appropriate health professional.

However, some pain is inevitable. Healthy children have accidents, are used as emotional pawns in painful divorces, have disappointments and sometimes need injections or blood tests that are uncomfortable. Medical treatment may involve discomfort, but it's also highly beneficial. Modern injections, given properly and with appropriate equipment, are only slightly painful. There are many reasons that doctors don't use high-pressure vaccination guns: These devices are suitable only for mass inoculation, and there is some pain, which can be severe if the child moves his arm at the time of impact. In other words, for routine low-volume childhood inoculations, the guns are not superior to the needle and syringe.

Many parents have had success by emphasizing to their children that occasional pain is unavoidable and that, under these circumstances, a responsible adult will be present with the child — if possible — to comfort and soothe. Much of the crying seen in pediatricians' office is due more to fear than to pain. I think that it is important for parents to help children accept short-term necessary discomfort, as well as to protect them from avoidable injury.

Two "don'ts":

— Don't tell your child that he will be taken to the doctor "for a shot" if he doesn't behave. This form of negative conditioning is surprisingly common. It makes doctors' jobs much more difficult and is likely to turn the child off to medical attention — permanently. Going to the doctor is not a punishment; it is a necessary part of health maintenance for growing children.

— Don't promise your child that the doctor won't "hurt"

him. This sort of unrealistic negotiation will put you in a bad light if, indeed, the child does need an inoculation. It also reduces your credibility. Be honest and objective. By doing so, you'll find that the tears don't last as long and your child will continue to respect you, trust you and rely on your judgment.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

South did well to jump to four spades. North had extra values to bid two no-trump, and quite likely had a singleton spade. In that case, four spades would be the best game contract, since the defenders might be able to deprive North of long spade tricks if he played no-trump. The major-suit game was reasonable, but declarer fumbled in playing the trump suit.

South won dummy's ace of hearts and led a spade back to his jack. After that start there was no way to avoid losing two more trump tricks, and he had to go set a trick. Declarer would have done better by playing a low spade and putting up the king. When that held, his next play should be a low spade. With the queen beating the air, declarer could then use his jack to force out the ace, and his 10 would pick up the outstanding trump. How can you figure out the right play? It's not easy, but here's how to look at it.

Nothing matters if the defenders' trumps are 3-3. If the card you play loses to the ace or queen, you are going to play another honor next to force out the defender's remaining honor, and hope that the suit divides. It also does not matter if West holds A-x of spades. He will win, and later his partner will take two more tricks. But there is a difference involved when West has Q-x, as here. Now declarer wins by rising with the king and next playing low. He would also gain when West started with the singleton queen, but not enough to hold his trump losers to only two.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bede Osol

YOUR BIRTHDAY

AUGUST 20, 1987
 In the year ahead, you will be more content with a small group of intimate friends with whom you have much in common than you will be with a large circle of acquaintances. Remember that good things come in small packages.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your intuition could reveal things today that your logic may overlook. Give credence to your insights, especially if you feel very strong about something. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to restore the relationship. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Strive to maintain high expectations in all of your dealings today, even those you consider mundane. The results should prove pleasing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will attract favorable attention wherever you go today. There will be an aura of authority about you that is free from pretense.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your involvements with others will turn out successfully today if you're non-judgmental. Don't be disturbed by their shortcomings, nor overawed by their attributes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Matters that require your attention today should work out to your benefit; you'll properly utilize all the resources at your disposal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Diplomacy and tact are your two greatest assets today. They can effectively be used to ward off complications should any develop.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you settle down to business and don't let frivolous interests sidetrack you, today will be very productive and rewarding. Keep busy.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You don't need a lot of people around you today to thoroughly enjoy life. The quality of your companions will be of greater importance than the quantity.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is a good day to finalize several situations that you have left hanging. At this time, you are both a good starter and a good finisher.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Keep your schedule as flexible as possible today. You are likely to be a trifle restless and resentful if everything is too structured or restrictive.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Focus your efforts today on matters that can contribute to your financial security. This is your strong suit, and you should do OK for yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have the gift today to take charge of sticky situations and get them back on their proper path. Associates will appreciate this skill more than you do.
