Missing body found in freezer

CANTON, Mich. — A veteran Detroit school official was arraigned on a murder charge Tuesday in the death of his wife, whose body was found by their daughter in a freezer at their home Monday more than three years after she was reported missing.

Leonard Tyburski, 45, who heads the department of attendance at Detroit Mackenzie High School, was ordered held without bond on a charge of open murder after his arraignment in 35th District Court.

The body of his wife, Dorothy Tyburski, was discovered Monday by their daughter, Kelly, 20, who had pried open the freezer door.

Kelly Tyburski, who had reported her mother missing in October 1985, was not looking for the body when she opened the freezer, police said.

Three die in hostage drama

LOVELAND, Colo. — A gunman who demanded an airplane to Libya took about 15 people hostage at a restaurant Tuesday night, killing one of them and wounding two police officers before officers fatally shot both the suspect and a second hostage, police said.

Sgt. Ray Miller of the Loveland Police Department said about 15 customers and employees were in the Riverhouse restaurant when the suspect, who was being chased by police, burst in and took them all hostage.

When the situation was over, two hostages were dead, as well as the suspect.

Both Bear QBs ready to go

STUWEE, Ga. — The Chicago Bears put both their top quarterbacks through workouts Tuesday, and Coach Mike Ditka said both would be ready for Sunday's NFC championship game against the San Francisco 49ers.

Mike Tomczak, who reinjured his non-throwing shoulder during Saturday's divisional playoff game against Philadelphia, threw well in practice, Ditka said. Jim McMahon also continued to practice.

Seton Hall upsets No. 5 Hoyas

In a season of meaningful steps forward for No. 10 Seton Hall, none comes close to the giant strides the Pirates made Tuesday night.

Gerald Greene and Darryl Walker scored 20 points each and Michael Cooper came off the bench to provide 10 second-half points to rally Seton Hall to a 94-86 Big East triumph over No. 5 Georgetown.

That allowed the Pirates, 13-0, to match their best start since the 1952-53 season and to move to 2-0 in the Big East, the first time the Pirates have done that in the league's 10-year history.

U.S. downs Libyan jets

Pair of MiG-23s taken out over Mediterranean

United Press International

WASHINGTON — U.S. fighter jets shot down two Libyan MiG-23s over the Mediterranean Wednesday, a Pentagon spokesman said.

The incident comes during a tense period in U.S.-Libyan relations over reports that Libya is building a chemical weapons plant but NBC News quoted State Department officials as saying the downings had nothing to do with the plant.

"The information I have from the Department of Defense is that the Libyan fighters took provocative action on two occasions," Sen. Sam

Nunn, D-Ga., told NBC.

Navy Cmdr. Bob Prucha said F-14s from the USS John F. Kennedy shot down the Soviet-made MiGs about 5 a.m. EST over the Mediterranean but said no other details were available.

The Kennedy has been on duty in the Mediterranean and a 13-ship battle group, led by the Theodore Roosevelt, the newest U.S. nuclear-powered aircraft carrier, left for the Mediterranean Friday.

On April 15, 1986, Libya became the target of the biggest U.S. air strike since the Vietnam War when Air Force planes hit Tripoli, killing 17 civilians and injuring 100. The attack was in retaliation for the bombing of a Berlin disco popular with American servicemen 10 days earlier.

Carrier group, Marines head for troubled area

WASHINGTON — A 12-ship carrier battle group with 2,000 assault Marines and amphibious landing gear is en route to the Mediterranean but the Pentagon rejected speculation Tuesday that the deployment might be directed at Libya.

"The deployment of this carrier battle group was previously planned," Pentagon spokesman Dan Howard said. "This is a standard deployment."

Longwood fires DeMarie; Hardy selected as mayor

By SANDRA BOUCHANINE

LONGWOOD — City commissioners last night fired City Administrator Gene DeMarie shortly after selecting Commissioner Hank Hardy as mayor and newly-elected Commissioner Gene Farach as deputy mayor.

The vote on DeMarie's termination was 3-2, with senior commissioners Hardy and Ted Poelking and new commissioner Carol Odom in the majority.

Commissioners Richard E. Bullington and Farach were against the move.

"I don't know the gentleman. I haven't worked with the gentleman," Farach said.

Bullington said, "He came to Longwood at a time it was troubled. I feel, personally, he's got it headed in the right direction. He has personality conflicts with some, but gets along with others. I, at this time, cannot support his removal."

Bullington had given DeMarie an excellent performance rating in his six-month evaluation of him in November.

However, Hardy who made the motion to terminate DeMarie with three months severance pay under the provisions of his contract.

Hardy asked for his removal because he was dissatisfied with DeMarie's management of the city.

In his evaluation, Hardy complained that DeMarie used poor judgment in proposing the city sponsor bonds to allow a company to buy the Sanlando Utilities water and sewer system.

He also criticized DeMarie's proposal to restrict street vendors, saying he was anti-business.

And, he blamed him for excusing the burial of barrels containing unknown materials behind the public works department in October. The city was cited by the Florida Department of Regulation (DER) for this

Fired deputy loses appeal

SANFORD — A Seminole County sheriff's deputy accused of raping a neighbor and fired by Sheriff John Polk in October, today lost his appeal to get his job back.

The 5-man sheriff's department civil service board, after two delays to await results of an independent lie detector test of former deputy Dennis Dreggors, 28, of Geneva, unanimously ruled Sheriff John Polk had just cause to fire Dreggors, after a criminal investigation.

Although the Seminole State Attorney said there was not enough evidence to prosecute Dennis Dreggors for sexual battery and exposure of sexual organs, during the investigation into the incident, investigators said Dreggors apparently lied during a sheriff's ordered polygraph test.

In his appeals hearing, to try to get his job back on Dec. 8, Dreggors told the board he took and passed an independent lie detector test after failing the Brevard County sheriff's test.

The board, although it had to consider only the evidence Polk had before him

OVIDEO — Fresh from holiday break, some 798 Seminole County students enjoyed one last Christmas present yesterday.

Wrapped in red brick, situated on Oviedo soil, and costing nearly $6 million Douglas Stenstrom Elementary School — the latest product of the county's $130 million building program — was that present.

"It just gives me a brand new feeling instead of being in that old portable," Chris Worley, 9, said.

Worley is referring to the 24 classroom portables that housed students for four months on the campus of Lawton Elementary School. There they shared playing fields, cafeteria, restroom, library and office space, while awaiting Stenstrom's completion.

Mobster with Florida ties convicted

A reputed mobster, whose boss is a Florida man and who was acquitted in the longest criminal trial in U.S. history, pleaded guilty Tuesday to charges of income tax evasion and unlawful possession of a gun.

Michael Taccetta of Florham Park, N.J., faces up to five years in prison when he is sentenced in federal court in Newark, N.J.

The charges Taccetta plead stem from the same investigation that led to his 1986 indictment on charges of heading a criminal group engaged in drug dealing, loansharking, illegal gambling and credit card fraud. He and 19 other reputed members of the Luchese crime family were acquitted in August after a 20-month trial.

Taccetta, 44, allegedly served as the group's operating chief, reporting to Anthony Accettura of Hollywood, Fla., a reputed Luchese underboss. Federal prosecutors said the group operated out of the Hole in the Wall luncheonette in Newark.

Driver stops for gas, is shot, killed

GULF BREEZE — A man who had stopped at a convenience store for gas in a quiet Panhandle community died Tuesday when an assailant shot him in the face at point-blank range, authorities said.

A man driving a car fitting the description of the getaway car was arrested about a half hour later in nearby Pensacola, Santa Rosa County authorities said.

The identities of the suspect and victim were not immediately available.

The shooting was near the gas pumps outside the Tom Thumb convenience store on U.S. 98, some 6 miles east of Gulf Breeze. Authorities said the victim apparently pulled into the station for gas when the suspect drove up and shot him in the face around 4:30 p.m. CST.

1988 said good year for farmers

TALLAHASSEE — Florida Agriculture Secretary Doyle Conner says the profit potential this year for the state's farmers and ranchers is better than it has been in some time.

The 1988 citrus crop, which still is under harvest, has been one of the best in years. Though there were drought problems in some sections of the state, they were not as bad as several in the Midwest, which means things are looking up for Florida producers, Conner said.

The drought in the Midwest reduced stockpiles of grain and raised the price for many crops produced in Florida, particularly in the northern section of the state, although there have been some adverse effects, such as devastation of the potato crop in the Hastings area and major drought-related problems for oystermen in the Panhandle.

Plan scored by advocates for mentally ill

ORLANDO — Advocacy groups for the mentally ill already are attacking a proposed state plan that would outline services for those with mental problems.

The plan is over 200 pages long and is required by the state and federal governments. It details plans for treating alcoholics, drug abusers and the mentally ill, but critics say the plan is severely lacking in major points.

Leaders of the Florida Alliance for the Mentally Ill said the plan does not address the need for long-term housing of those needing care and does not propose how to care for patients that are not kept in institutions.

Those who put the plan together say the legislature is not expected to provide enough money to make the plan work anyway. They want an additional $98 million to hire more workers and make other changes.

Bedroom shootout ends in death

OCEAN CITY — A 39-year-old Shalimar man killed himself Sunday after he shot his ex-wife during a "bedroom shootout," authorities said Tuesday.

Norman Lee Fields, 39, was pronounced dead when rescue workers arrived at an Ocean City apartment Sunday night where Fields' ex-wife and 17-year-old daughter lived.

He died from the self-inflicted head wound of a .22 caliber pistol. His ex-wife, Diane Lynn Fields, 38, was hospitalized with a .22 caliber wound to the head and one to the chest. She was in stable condition and was to undergo surgery Tuesday to remove a bullet from her jaw.

Environmentalists investigate oil spill

FORT WALTON BEACH — State environmental officials are trying to determine what caused a diesel spill that covered a quarter-mile of Santa Rosa Sound Monday.

The undetermined amount of fuel washed into the water separating Fort Walton Beach and a nearby barrier island. Officials said it came in through several storm drains along the waterfront near city hall.

The spill has been controlled with a containment boom provided by the U.S. Coast Guard and another boom provided by the Department of Environmental Regulations.

Two Republicans crack Democratic Cabinet control

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Former state representative Tom Gallagher became Florida's new insurance commissioner Tuesday, joining fellow Republican Secretary of State Jim Smith on what had long been an exclusively Democrat state Cabinet.

Gallagher, who replaces three-term incumbent Democrat Bill Gunter, also will serve as state treasurer and fire marshal. He becomes the first Republican treasurer since Simon Barclay Conover was appointed to that office just after the Civil War.

Also Tuesday, former state Rep. Betty Easley was sworn in as the newest member of the Public Service Commission. Easley was Gallagher's running mate when he lost the 1986 GOP gubernatorial nomination to Gov. Bob Martinez.

Gallagher and Smith's elections leave Democrats with a 4-3 margin on the executive board made up of Martinez and the six Cabinet members.

Gallagher, Martinez and Democratic Attorney General Bob Butterworth said they do not anticipate partisanship to dominate Cabinet business.

"When you are talking about the environment, crime and education, people vote for what they think is best for the entire state, not for partisan ideals," Butterworth said.

"I really do not see politics playing a role on the Cabinet at all."

Gallagher told an overflow crowd at his House chambers swearing-in ceremony that he would try to get a better return on investments made with the $4.5 billion state treasury.

PSC chairman wants ethics code

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — The new chairman of the Florida Public Service Commission said Tuesday he wants the PSC to adopt a code of ethics and make information about the commission's activities more available to the public.

"The tasks before us are great, the problems complex and the issues critical," Michael Wilson said in a speech during which he urged fellow commissioners to act with "unwavering integrity" in dealing with PSC matters.

Wilson, appointed to the PSC in 1985 after serving six years in the commission's Public Counsel office, succeeds Katie Nichols as head of the commission that regulates utility service and operations in Florida.

Wilson said 100 years ago, the commission's only concern was the operation of railroads, but that it now oversees a complex maze of communications networks and power grids that serve the state.

Wilson quoted President John F. Kennedy in saying he wanted to adopt "the highest standards of ethical behavior" for the commission, a suggestion that followed a recommendation made two weeks ago by Nichols.

Higher lottery payoff sought for stores

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — A state senator wants to increase commissions for Florida Lottery ticket vendors and boost runner-up prize money in the weekly Lotto drawing, the Tallahassee Democrat reported Tuesday.

Sen. Ileana Ros-Lehtinen, R-Miami, has introduced a bill (SB 3) that would increase the stores' commission from the current 5 percent to 6 percent, the newspaper reported.

Lottery Secretary Rebecca Paul opposes the idea, but said she is prepared to pay bonuses to retailers who sell a lot of tickets.

Ros-Lehtinen plans hearings in Miami Jan. 24 on a separate proposal to trim $1 million or $2 million from Lotto jackpots to spread more wealth among the also-rans — those who pick four or five numbers of the six winning numbers.

Paul said the proposal would hurt sales because Lotto players have their sights on the big first-place jackpots they see advertised on billboards, not second or third place.

"What sells tickets is the grand prize," Paul said. "If you even took $1 million off the grand prize, you'd hurt sales."

Ros-Lehtinen says both changes could be made without crimping education's 35 percent share of all lottery revenues.

"It will not hurt the Lottery Department to do away with 1 percent of its operating costs," Ros-Lehtinen said. "I think it will help the lottery, in the end, to help the retailer become a happy member of the lottery family."

Retailers were eager to join the lottery bandwagon when the gaming began nearly a year ago, but some vendors now say their 5 percent commission does not cover operating expenses associated with Lotto sales.

The Winn-Dixie supermarket chain already has dropped the lottery and other retailers have formed a trade association to push for higher commissions.

Widows' exemption too late for this year

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Florida's new property tax exemption for widows took effect Tuesday. It exempts from taxes property worth up to $500.

However, state law provides that Jan. 1 is the date at which tax assessors determine whether property is subject to taxes.

extending to widowers the same exemption that has for year applied to widows, the blind and other disabled people took effect Tuesday. It exempts from taxes property worth up to $500.

However, state law provides that Jan. 1 is the date at which tax assessors determine whether property is subject to taxes.

Butterworth said in a non-binding advisory opinion dated Dec. 30.

Although taxpayers have until March 1 for file for any property tax exemptions, "On Jan. 1, no exemption for widowers will exist," Butterworth said.

"Although the exemption becomes effective two days later, this office cannot retroactively apply the exemption to property the taxable status of which was determined on Jan. 1, 1989," he said.

"To do otherwise would place this office in the position of determining in the absence of a statute when such a cutoff date would be."

Prisoner tries escape from hospital

SANFORD — A man, who was being arrested for disorderly intoxication after a bar fight in Fern Park, was charged with escape after Seminole County sheriff's deputies said he tried to run out of the Sanford hospital after treatment before being jailed.

Ronny Lee Walston, 27, of 2660 Roxbury Drive, Winter Park, was arrested following a fight with two other patrons at the Pitcher House Pub, 102 Candace Drive. The arrest was made at about 1 a.m. today and Walston was taken to Central Florida Regional Hospital to receive stitches to close a cut.

When a sheriff's deputy checked on Walston's hospital bill, the deputy said Walston tried to walk out of the hospital. He reportedly told a security guard he was leaving and the guard detained him. A charge of escape was added. Bond is $2,000.

Hardy suffered a cut above her eye and Grubbs was charged with battery at 9:12 p.m. Tuesday. He is held without bond.

Sanford's commission realigned

SANFORD — The City Commission observed a changing of the guard last night with the swearing in of the mayor and two commissioners.

Incumbent Mayor Bettye Smith, and Commissioners Bob Thomas Jr. and Lon Howell were sworn into office last night by City Clerk Henry Tamm. Howell takes the District II seat of John Y. Mercer, who did not seek re-election in the Dec. 20 race after serving his only term.

In a ceremonial round of musical chairs, Thomas moved to the seat of honor at right of Smith. The move grants Thomas authority as acting mayor in the event of Smith's absence.

After the newly-composed commission called its first meeting to order, it unanimously approved a resolution thanking Mercer for his term of service to Sanford. The resolution cited Mercer's involvement on the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, the East Central Florida Planning Council and various civic boards.

Smith and the commissioners then presented a silver tray to Mercer, who served as commissioner since Jan. 8, 1985.

The commission did not address any new business.

New clerk may charge Kelley

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole County commissioner Jennifer Kelley may be required to pay for much of the costs of information she requested from both the county commission and the clerk of courts office.

Maryanne Morse, sworn in Tuesday as the Seminole County clerk of courts, said she ordered her employees to stop copying materials for Kelley, and asked them to account for the amount of time spent and the material used in producing the copies of documents, audio tapes of meetings and microfilm copies of records.

Morse said she also asked the employees to calculate the cost to complete the copying for Kelley, who shocked county officials and commissioners last month by requesting hundreds of thousands of pages of records and other information.

The clerk's office, under state law, charges $1 per page for copies. When asked if that would be the charge for Kelley, Morse responded, "As I understand it, that's state law. That's what I have to charge."

County Manager Ken Hooper said last week that he would recommend to commissioners on Jan. 10 that they charge fellow commissioners standard public copy rates for large-scale copy requests.

Hooper said he will ask them to review county policy for providing free copies to commissioners and recommend that only copies of materials pertaining to specific issues be provided free.

Lake Mary post office debut set Feb. 13

By SANDRA BOUCHAHINE

LAKE MARY — The grand opening for Lake Mary's new $3.2 million post office is set for Feb. 13, according to a U.S. Postal Service spokesman in Orlando.

The finishing touches are now being added to the modernistic facility located at 495 W. Lake Mary Boulevard. Director of Marketing Linda Edwards-Delgado said Tuesday. Construction began about 15 months ago.

The 18,222 square-foot post office which will service Lake Mary, will be a retail facility to purchase postage stamps and postal products and mail letters. It will replace the existing post office at 159 E. Wilbur Ave., which is 2,798 square feet.

"It was built because of the growth in the Lake Mary community," Delgado said.

About $80,000 in landscaping is part of the total cost of the project. Although the U.S. Postal service need not comply with city codes as far as construction and landscaping, ecological-minded city officials were concerned about the sparsity and size of trees that were going in at the site.

Several months ago, postal officials agreed to add 14 larger trees after meeting with Lake Mary Mayor Dick Fess and other officials.

The new landscaping plan includes the addition of 14 laurel oaks, 12-feet high and 3 feet in diameter, with a five-foot canopy.

Six of the oak trees will be planted in the front of the building, six to the east of the property and two on the western side, according to Fess.

Also, shrubbery including wax privets and crape myrtles will be part of the landscaping.

Key Largo deputy shot three times by suspect

United Press International

KEY LARGO — A Monroe County sheriff's deputy was shot three times by a burglary suspect early Tuesday while a manhunt failed to yield any suspects, authorities said.

Deputy Steve Kalogeras, 38, was shot while responding to a burglary call at Kings Kampground, near mile marker 103 in Key Largo, at 2:21 a.m. EST, spokesman Sgt. Lee Pinder said. He was listed in critical condition Tuesday night at Martner's Hospital in Plantation Key with three bullet wounds to the abdomen area, said hospital spokeswoman Lise Kalla. Pinder said the initial call indicated a burglary had occurred. But, he said, "it turned out to be a burglary in progress."

"(Kalogeras) met with the complainant, who directed him to a location where the subject was seen carrying a white bag," Pinder said.

When Kalogeras and other officers went to the area, Kalogeras was shot. "The officer was shot without provocation," Pinder said. He refused to provide additional details about the attack.

The deputy's condition Tuesday afternoon was listed as serious, but was downgraded later.

Cold cuts on Tower's menu

With John Tower, the image that has come to mind has been that of a diminutive figure twisting like a leftover Christmas ornament in the cruel winter wind.

For weeks, Tower was mentioned as President-elect Bush's choice to be secretary of defense, but the oft-anticipated announcement was delayed. As the FBI investigated, pundits and politicians talked — about Tower's capacity for the post and about alleged indiscretions in his personal life. The past few weeks could not have been pleasant for the former Texas senator.

John Tower was finally brought in from the cold. President-elect Bush appointed his old friend to be the nation's next defense secretary. Tower at last will have the job he has coveted since at least 1980. If he needs consolation beyond the appointment itself, perhaps he can interpret what he endured as an initiation ordeal for the impossible job he will inherit.

Two reactions to Bush's choice: 1. Why would Tower — or anyone else, for that matter — want the job at this particular time? 2. Is Tower the right man for the job in these days of straitened budgets and inevitable defense cutbacks?

The new secretary of defense will preside over painful choices. He will have to deal with delays in weapons systems. Star Wars, the Strategic Defense Initiative, is sure to be cut back. The Air Force's B-2 Stealth bomber may be off the radar screen for the most mundane of reasons: The planes cost $500 million each. Military bases at home and perhaps abroad are going to be closed.

After plenteous times at the Pentagon, the choices awaiting the next secretary would seem to demand a penurious sort, a green-eyeshade wearer who loves wielding the blue pencil. Tower, who favors Saville Row suits for his own attire, has never expected the Pentagon to skimp.

As a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee for 19 years (he retired in 1984) Tower saw the committee's military spending authorization swell from $15 billion a year to $21 billion. Tower was an ardent supporter of the huge increases in military spending that Congress passed during Ronald Reagan's first term in office.

There is no question that Tower is knowledgeable about defense. The question is whether he can prune as well as water. As the nation struggles with a $155 billion budget deficit, the new defense secretary will come under enormous pressure from Congress to find substantial cuts in the Pentagon's $300 billion yearly spending. Can Tower cut judiciously? Is he inclined to cut at all?

He appeared to be addressing such questions. At the news conference announcing his appointment, Tower pledged that his task would be "to provide at least as much if not more defense for less money."

When lawmakers turn to the task of confirming their former colleague, they should insist that he spell out what he has in mind.

It's time to take a Marxist to lunch

Ridicule is a serious weapon in politics and one of the most overlooked. I suggest it is time conservatives started lavishing it on the world's diminishing supply of "Marxists" — using that overworked term to describe the whole ragged army of leftist insects now huddled beneath it.

Not long ago there was scarcely an American campus of any importance that didn't boast a whole covey of professors who loudly proclaimed that they were "Marxists." Actually most of them were (or would have been, if their guts had equaled their bitter hostility to American society) more properly describable as communists. But "Marxist" is a somewhat broader term that included communists and could be dissected endlessly into its numerous subdivisions. In one or another of which these braves could take refuge whenever the going got a little rough.

These "Marxists" were, in fact, that segment of the notoriously flaky students of the 1960s who never left college at all, but hung on under the ivy, got into the teaching profession, and eventually acquired tenure. Thus it came to pass that the nutty students and relatively sane faculties of the 1960s were replaced by the zonked-out faculties and comparatively sane, hard-working student bodies of today. In due course the intellectual basket-cases now on the faculties will wither into retirement and be dragged off to some Laughing Academy for over-aged mountebanks, and the groves of American academe will be re-plantated at last.

But meanwhile why on earth don't we use these clowns for the healthy chuckle-fodder they indubitably provide? After all, their great minds bought the worst and most dubious by-products of the Enlightenment lock, stock and barrel. They were sure that capitalism was finished ("I have been over into the future and it works," sighed Lincoln Steffens); that national pride was mere atavism ("superpatriotism"; "the last refuge of a scoundrel"); above all, that God was dead. And they? Who were they? Why, they were the New Men and Women, the thinkers to whom the leadership of a rational, godless world would the groves of American academe will be re-plantated at last necessarily fall.

No, it wasn't until Deng Xiaoping broke down and admitted that his Chinese socialist economy was an unworkable mess, and Mikhail Gorbachev followed by conceding as much about the Workers' Paradise, that even the flakiest "Marxist" huddled in some tenured cage on an American campus was forced to change his story.

Not, heaven knows, that he broke down and admitted the truth, which is that he was wrong from the start, has misled and miseducated several generations of better young men and women than himself, and would have done considerably less harm to the world if he had flung himself from some suitably high building 30 or 40 years ago. Oh, no; he now contends he was just some sort of "Marxist de-constructivist" or what-have-you, all along.

But, since they lack the guts to admit the truth, let's at least laugh at the old zanies. They were wrong; they were caught at it; and the least they can do in return is provide a little innocent merriment for the local Young Americans for Freedom chapter or for the Young Republican Club at their college. Let these forces gather under some old fraud's window to console him with guitar music. Or (if they can stand it) take the wretched old Marxist to lunch.

ELLEN GOODMAN

Eating take-out at your desk

BOSTON — Okay, for one brief moment of hats and horns, you wished everybody around you a Happy New Year. But then what happened? By morning, you turned to the nitty-gritty of resolutions. A war against gluttony and sloth and the social disease of smoking. Happiness never made the cut.

Happy New Year has become one of those meaningless generic greetings, the annual equivalent of a daily injunction to niceness, as in "Have a nice day." We know what's happened to niceness in the Eighties. What is happening to happiness?

A sentiment like "Don't Worry, Be Happy" may make it to the top of the charts, but only because it's such a novel idea. As a goal, it never even makes the New Year's resolution list.

Once upon a time, the pursuit of happiness was a legitimate, even an admired, American ideal. No less solid a citizen than John Hancock signed on to happiness. Now a person who admits to this pursuit simply isn't regarded as serious.

You can't put the goal of happiness at the top of a five-year plan. You can't work it out on your Lotus 1-2-3 spreadsheet. Decent people don't even talk about it in public:

"What are you doing this year?"
"I'm pursuing happiness."

"Right, pal. Take a urine test. Get a job."
For the past eight years, our President has been a veritable role model of cheer. Good fellowship in the morning, naps in the afternoon. Yet under his rosy aura, we got eight years of accelerated asceticism. Hollywood may have taken over the White House, but the Puritans got the ethic. What is the future for happiness, not to mention its sidekick, fun, when a real Puritan takes charge on Jan. 20?

Happiness as a legitimate preoccupation is a victim of a hostile takeover by two other quintessentially American pursuits: fitness and competitiveness. This duo proved to be both leaner and meaner, more able to adapt to the environment of the Eighties and poised to take off in the Nineties.

The quest for the elusive fitness burned the last traces of hedonism out of the body of the public opinion the way exercise burns off fat. Our bodies are no longer something to enjoy but something to maintain.

The pleasure criteria — how does this feel, taste, smell — have been replaced by the health criteria. The old question — "Was it good for you?" — is heard in a wholly new context.

If we are what we are supposed to eat, we are very serious indeed. We eat fiber to avoid cancer and oat bran to reduce cholesterol. And if you think there isn't a moral judgment in the new nutrition read the ad of the Eighties: "Quaker Oats. It's the Right Thing to Do."

As for exercise, uptight is no longer a personality flaw. It's everybody's toning goal. The only sensually praised under the Puritan ethic is the sweaty pleasure of a good workout. The only high permitted is aerobic.

In the Eighties, the afterglow comes from running, not sex. Sex itself is either to be avoided because it's dangerous or engaged in because it's healthy. Anybody who does it for fun — on a weeknight yet! — is admitting that they aren't giving their all at the office.

Which brings us to competitiveness. If you think it's heavy lifting at the gym, try life down at the corporation. In the early '80s, status was a power lunch downtown; in the late '80s, it's takeout at your desk. Once people confessed to being workaholics; now they brag about it. The old goal of a four-day week has been replaced by boasts about a seven-day week.

One business is in competition with another, we are all in combat with the Japanese, and with great effort may yet make our lives as dronish as theirs. Hold the vacation.

Under this rising star of competitiveness, being tired is a badge of loyalty. Stress is regarded as a company virtue. Even "Self," a magazine once devoted to narcissism, just announced that the neurosis of the Nineties is "compulsion."

The problem is that happiness isn't productive. Happiness isn't aerobic. Happiness isn't driven. Happiness is about as hard-edged as a warm puppy.

So here we are in 1989, valuing our grimmest pursuits more than happiness. It's the very last year of the decade. Are we having fun yet?

The old question — "Was it good for you" — is heard in a wholly new context

ROBERT KUTTNER

Keep the lid on foreign investors

Supposedly, the Congress and the incoming Bush administration are under immense pressure from friendly nations to reach agreement on a deficit-reduction deal. If the federal budget deficit stays high, according to this view, the dollar and the economy could suffer a hard landing.

But there is an even worse prospect. It's just possible that foreign creditors could decide that they like the status quo just fine. And the economy could keep chugging along as it has for much of the Reagan administration, with foreign capital keeping America on life-support, as the real productive strength of our economy continues to erode.

Despite the famous "twin deficits" — the $155 billion annual federal budget deficit and the $150-200 billion trade imbalance — foreigners have found it expedient to pump capital into the United States. Because the U.S. dollar continues to be the world's unofficial currency, the U.S. remains the only debtor nation which gets to borrow from foreign creditors in its own currency.

As the value of the dollar slowly declines, this is the equivalent of writing off small portions of our foreign debt. Poor Brazil doesn't get to borrow in her own currency, the cruzado. As the value of its currency keeps declining, Brazil has to pay the debt back in dollars, which are even more expensive.

But why do the European and Japanese keep indulging our appetite for ever greater borrowing, despite the fact that we repay them in a debased currency?

The answer to that question has several parts, and each is very sobering. First, as America goes deeper and deeper into debt to foreigners, we are paying for some of that credit addiction by selling off real assets, too cheaply.

In 1987, the United States had a total national savings rate of just 2 percent of gross national product, but domestic investment was 5.8 percent of GNP. The missing 3.8 percent — almost $200 billion — came from foreign capital. Some of it went to buy U.S. Treasury debt, and some of it went to buy real estate, factories and entire companies.

There is nothing wrong with foreigners investing in America — as long as the flow of capital doesn't become a one-way street. But because of the twin deficits and the pitifully low domestic rate of savings, the flow of foreign capital in has been dwarfing the flow of U.S. investments out. If this continues for a couple of decades, we will become a kind of economic colony.

The second reason that European and Japanese investors keep financing our deficits is the same reason why department stores give you a credit card even though they know you're already deeply in luck. They want you to keep buying their products.

Germany and Japan today have strong currencies, productive industries, and big trade surpluses. They recycle that capital into loans to profligate Americans. We turn around and use the money to keep indulging our taste for Mercedes cars and Sony VCRs.

On balance, the Germans and Japanese don't mind that their dollars gradually decline in value, because their economies get richer and stronger in the process. And the U.S. office buildings, hotels, factories, etc. which they buy with the play-money dollars are real assets.

This, unfortunately, could go on for quite some time. If there is one thing more dangerous than a wasting disease with painful symptoms, it is one with painless symptoms.

There is nothing wrong with foreigners investing in America

Stocks open higher

NEW YORK — Prices opened higher Wednesday in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues on news of a sharp hike in the dollar.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which fell 23.93 Tuesday, was up 10.54 to 2155.18 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 583-236 among the 1,268 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape. Early turnover amounted to about 9.746,000 shares.

The jump in stock prices at the opening bell followed a steep rise in the dollar, which resulted in early New York trading from confirmed reports that U.S. Navy fighters shot down two Libyan jets over the Mediterranean Sea.

The stock market Tuesday rang in the new year with a sharp decline fueled by slumps in the dollar and bonds, and bouts of futures-related selling.

At times, stock-index futures were at narrow premiums to the cash indexes, leading to arbitrage that involved the purchase of futures and the sale of the underlying stocks.

Dollar sharply higher

United Press International

The dollar was sharply higher in early New York trading Wednesday on confirmed reports that U.S. Navy fighters shot down two Libyan jets over the Mediterranean Sea.

The incident came amid a tense period in U.S.-Libyan relations over reports that Libya is building a chemical weapons plant, but U.S. administration officials said the downings had nothing to do with the plant.

"The Libyan aircraft approached the U.S. Navy aircraft in a hostile manner over international waters and the Navy aircraft, acting in self-defense, fired air-to-air missiles, downing both Libyan aircraft," a Navy statement said.

Currency traders in New York said the incident helped strengthen the dollar but noted the events of the day will probably make dealers nervous and some profit taking was likely.

When contacted for comment, Tabor would only read from a prepared statement, saying she had no comment on Morse's methods in deference to Berrien, but complemented her fellow workers.

Morse said the five were notified Tuesday they would be eligible for only any accrued vacation or sick pay. She said they were not given severance pay, a policy she said former chief deputy clerk Bill Jacobs told her Berrien had followed when he took office in 1985 and fired several top employees.

The statement by Morse angered Jacobs, notified of his own firing two weeks ago, who said Berrien gave the fired employees 60 to more than 100 days to find other employment.

"We did treat people with dignity and professionalism when we took over," Jacobs said.

A state retirement division official said all clerk's employees with at least 10 years accrued work history for the clerk's office would be eligible for state retirement benefits under state rules. However, if any of them choose to collect early retirement benefits, there is a 5 percent reduction in benefits for each year of their age under 62.

Jacobs, along with county finance director Brad Lang and administrative projects director Al Lang, Jr., Brad Lang's father, were told before Christmas they would be fired when Morse took office.

Replacing the fired officials in new positions are Linda DePuy, director of the circuit court division, Joan Wilke, director of the county court division, and Bob Wilson, director of the county commission division. The functions and staff from all 24 departments will be kept under the new divisions, Morse said.

DePuy is the wife of county Republican activist Ed DePuy, an official with American Transpacific Enterprises and president of American Trade Enterprises, two import-export businesses that contributed to local Republican candidates. Wilke's position is a promotion from her former position as director of court services. Wilson was the finance director for Lake County.

Morse announced her new chief deputy clerk Kay Scott, former executive director of the state Republican Party, and assistant chief deputy, Ben Tucker, two weeks ago. Tucker was campaign manager for Dave Knickerbocker's unsuccessful county commission bid, and a land appraiser.

Morse said she would also begin a review of all 188 clerk's employees to determine the extent of nepotism in the clerk's office. Relatives of several top clerk's officials under Berrien also work for the clerk's office. Morse said she had no immediate plans for those employees.

Morse also announced she had notified Cline, Garrison, LaCoste & Mixner, an Orlando auditing firm hired in December by Berrien, they would be paid for their services through Dec. 31, then their contract would be cancelled. Berrien had hired the firm on Dec. 12 to complete a year-end audit of clerk's and county funds.

Morse, on Dec. 18, had hired the county's auditing firm, Arthur Young, to complete a similar audit of clerk's and county funds. County commissioners have yet to approve the contract.

DeMarie sat intently while the commission decided his fate. He asked for some sick leave he had not used but was not granted, then quietly left the chambers.

A resident, James Coombs, spoke out against DeMarie's termination.

"I sat and watched something I could not in good conscience do, vote a man out who had not worked with you voted out of conflict of personal interest," Coombs said. He praised Bullington and Farach for their decisions.

Coombs is the father of Cynthia, the 16-year-old girl who resigned from the Parks and Recreation Board due to pressure from the new commission. She had been appointed by defeated commissioner Lynette Dennis to serve on the board.

The commissioners passed an ordinance to allow City Clerk Donald Terry to act as city administrator for 120 days until a new one can be hired.

Terry will receive the full salary and benefits of the previous administrator.

when he decided to fire Dreggors, agreed to delay his decision, giving Dreggors until Dec. 16, to give them all material related to the independent test. The decision was delayed until Dec. 21, but Dreggors missed the deadline for turning in material on the second lie detector test. The ruling in the case was delayed a second time until 9 a.m. today, with Dreggors just meeting the second deadline at noon Friday to have the test material turned in.

Board member and sheriff's Chief Deputy Duane Harrell, said he didn't give much weight to either the first or second lie detector tests taken by Dreggors. The independent test, which was not a duplicate of the sheriff's test, Harrell said, indicated Dreggors was truthful during the second test. "Basically, I looked at what the sheriff looked at (in deciding to fire Dreggors)," Harrell said.

The board's decision centered on whether Polk was justified in firing Dreggors. It did not rule on the allegations against him and has no authority to do so.

The 27-year-old Geneva woman, who accused Dreggors of sexually harassing her for a year, before she reported she was raped at Dreggors' house Aug. 10, apparently was truthful during her sheriff's ordered lie detector test, investigators testified. She did not take an independent test.

Investigators did not find physical evidence to support the woman's allegations, but the state attorney recommended to Polk that he review Dreggors status as a deputy in light of information revealed in the investigation.

The state attorney said the allegations against Dreggors boil down to his word against the woman's.

many students and too little space is tough even with the best of neighbors.

Classroom portables may again be the future for Stenstrom students. Growth is to blame, according to Ken Bovio, director of elementary education for the county.

"The figures aren't gonna go down," Bovio said. "We're expecting 1,500 to 1,700 new students (countywide) every year for the next five years."

The school located in Oviedo's Alfaya Woods community is already at capacity, and not far away new sites for school construction are being studied. County projections list a need for 20 additional elementary schools within the next 10 years. Add to that the attraction a new school holds for home buyers and you have a school district working overtime to keep pace with construction.

Stenstrom principal Norma Ragadale is not worried. Stenstrom has some flexibility, and can grow to house 850 students, if needed. For now, Ragadale, faculty and Stenstrom students are just excited to be in their handsome new facility. It was the day they'd all worked hard to make a reality. Students carted home their books Dec. 16, and again packed them in shopping bags for their arrival yesterday morning. Teachers gave up holiday time to prepare classrooms, and county maintenance workers moved reference books, materials and equipment in anticipation of the big day.

The new buildings group four classrooms around centralized offices - for teacher planning - and restrooms. It is a far cry from the days when students lined up to make bathroom visits, according to Kirsch. Several students commented on this yesterday, and added that their new school was pretty, big and real neat. Also, making a hit with students were the large ceiling paddle fans.

Those studying art and music will benefit from connecting rooms, which open onto a spacious stage. Kirsch said this will make it easier for students to rehearse and prepare for school productions.

Yesterday, a classroom of third graders decided to put their reactions to their school on paper, and compile them in book form. Jason Schwartz wrote, "I didn't feel normal when I stepped on campus. I felt stupendous."

Schwartz's classmate Patty McEuen wrote that the building was so beautiful she wished she could live there forever with her family.

Fourth and fifth graders were also pleased as they no longer had to carry lunch trays to their classrooms; there was now a bright blue cafeteria in which to dine. Kirsch said meals are being shipped from nearby

Oviedo High School, but that will change in the next week or two when the Stenstrom kitchen is in full swing.

Another room that is not quite ready is the school's media center. In fact, shelves are bare, but this is as its suppose to be. Cheryl Jesup, media specialist, wants students to be in charge of the shelving task. They will be invited into the library in small groups to unpack 110 boxes of books. Jesup hopes they will take time with the project, sit down and discover the books, and discover how to use a library. It was one of many projects under way yesterday to help students become acquainted with their new surroundings.

Deputy killed during scuffle

DALLAS — A Dallas County sheriff's deputy was killed at a local jail early Wednesday when a man grabbed her revolver, knocked her to the ground and shot her several times, authorities said.

The suspect was taken to Parkland Hospital and listed in serious condition, nurses said.

An apparently distraught man entered the lobby of the Lou Sterrett Criminal Justice Center in the west end of downtown Dallas just after 1 a.m., argued with Dep. Suzanne Kays at the front desk and walked past the desk down a hallway into a restricted area, said Sheriff Jim Bowles.

Kays chased the man, stopped him halfway down the hallway and was escorting him back to the lobby when he suddenly began fighting, took away her gun, struck her in the head and shot her several times as she laid on the ground, Bowles said.

Dallas city police officers escorting suspects in the building heard the shooting and rushed to get shotguns in their cars, since their revolvers were placed in lockers as they entered the jail, said Bowles.

At least two city officers confronted the man in the hallway and at least one of them fired when the man raised his gun toward them, the sheriff said.

One dead after fighter jet crash

LINCOLN CITY, Ore. — Two crewmen from an Oregon Air National Guard fighter jet were rescued from the chilly Pacific Ocean after their plane crashed Tuesday, but one of the men died hours later on the operating table.

Sgt. Mike Alleger, a spokesman for the Air Guard, said 1st Lt. Mark Baker, 30, of Beaverton, died shortly after 10 p.m. while in surgery at Emanuel Hospital and Health Center in Portland.

An exact cause of death was not immediately released, but earlier Alleger said Baker was suffering from severe hypothermia and had been in cardiac arrest with a body temperature of 72 degrees when he was brought to a hospital in Astoria.

Baker was the weapons officer on an F-4C Phantom jet that ditched into the water about 10:30 a.m. 35 miles off Tillamook after an unknown emergency, Capt. Debra Watros of the Air Guard said. The two crewmen ejected before the plane crashed and were seen parachuting into the water, officials said.

Baker was rescued about 1:30 p.m. The plane's pilot, 2nd Lt. Mike Markstaller, 24, of Portland, was pulled from the water shortly before noon. Markstaller was later in satisfactory condition at Emanuel with hypothermia, a fractured leg and a fractured shoulder.

Watros said the plane crashed while on a routine training flight involving two F-4s from the Air Guard's 123rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron based in Portland.

Driver leads officers on "legal" chase

LOS ANGELES — When California Highway Patrol officers tried to stop a speeding Volkswagen west of Los Angeles, the driver quickly slowed to a legal 55 mph and then led surprised officers on a four-hour chase that ended in San Diego County, officials said Wednesday.

The unusual 135-mile pursuit, which involved officers from four counties, began at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday on Mulholland Highway and Malibu Canyon Road in western Los Angeles County after officers tried to stop the speeding Volkswagen, CHP Officer Shirley Gaines said.

The driver of the car, Best Barish, 29, slowed to 55 mph but refused to stop, San Diego County Sheriff's Deputy Kay Carrier said.

Barish continued onto six different freeways running through four counties, including San Bernardino and Orange, Gaines said.

Three dead in hostage situation

Gunman takes 15 hostages, kills one before being shot by police

United Press International

LOVELAND, Colo. — A gunman who demanded an airplane to Libya took about 15 people hostage at a restaurant Tuesday night, killing one of them and wounding two police officers before officers fatally shot both the suspect and a second hostage, police said.

Sgt. Ray Miller of the Loveland

Police Department said about 15 customers and employees were in the Riverhouse restaurant when the suspect, who was being chased by police, burst in and took them all hostage.

When the situation was over, two hostages were dead, as well as the suspect, and Larimer County sheriff's deputy Jay Hirokawa and Loveland police officer Joe Berdin were in good condition undergoing treatment for gunshot wounds at a local hospital, Capt. Dave Davison said.

"Initially after taking the hostages and a perimeter was set up, the suspect made a demand for an airplane to Libya," Miller said. "In the course of setting up their perimeters, apparently one of the Loveland police officers was shot while the suspect had a hostage held by gunpoint. He had the gun to her head, pulled it away, and shot the officer."

Miller said the incident unfolded at 6:45 p.m. as a domestic disturbance call in the southwest part of Loveland, a city about 150 miles north of Denver. Officers responding to the call were told by the suspect's girlfriend, who had allegedly been assaulted, that he had left and gone to his home.

When a police officer and a sheriff's deputy arrived at the home, the suspect opened fire on police, Miller said. The deputy was shot in the arm.

The second officer pursued the suspect on foot, and the suspect ducked inside the restaurant.

Shultz, Weinberger subpoenaed in North case

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Lawyers for Oliver North subpoenaed Secretary of State George Shultz, former Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and about two dozen CIA and State Department officials to testify at his Iran-Contra trial, sources said Tuesday.

The subpoenas were issued even as White House and Justice Department lawyers prepared to challenge on constitutional grounds the subpoenas North served last week for unprecedented testimony from President Reagan and Vice President George Bush.

The subpoenas raised prospects of a new battle between North and independent prosecutor Lawrence Walsh over the relevance of testimony from many of those named.

The legal wrangling over the subpoenas — and a federal appeals panel ruling Monday — appeared to heighten the specter of further delays in the ex-White House aide's conspiracy trial set for Jan. 31.

To further complicate matters, U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell, who is presiding over the case, issued his own orders Tuesday, rejecting an appeal from Walsh, on behalf of the intelligence community, of a ruling defining how prosecutors and government witnesses were to identify certain classified information at trial.

Gesell also allowed Walsh to demand that North produce by Jan. 18 the spiral-bound notebooks he kept from 1983 to 1986 while serving as a National Security Council aide.

Administration officials who requested anonymity, said North apparently was seeking witnesses whose testimony would demonstrate that other ranking figures were aware of his secret efforts to help the Nicaraguan Contra rebels during a congressional ban on official U.S. aid.

Administration officials have said that if Gesell rules certain classified data admissible, they will be forced to scuttle the case.

Bomb threat grounds two Air India jets

SINGAPORE — A bomb threat forced two Singapore-bound Air India jetliners to make emergency landings, one on the Indonesian island of Bali and the other in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, officials said Wednesday.

An Air India spokesman in Singapore said an unidentified person called the airline Tuesday saying a bomb was aboard an Air India flight bound for Singapore.

The spokesman said two Air India flights were scheduled to land in Singapore Tuesday afternoon — a Boeing 747 from Sydney, Australia, with 280 people aboard, and an Airbus carrying 137 passengers on a flight from Kuala Lumpur.

Both planes were told of the threat and made landings as soon as possible.

A number of international flights have received bomb threats since a Pan Am jet crashed Dec. 21 in Lockerbie, Scotland. British investigators said explosives placed on the plane caused the crash.

The Air India Boeing 747 jumbo jet made an emergency landing at Bali's Ngurah Rai International Airport Tuesday afternoon, Indonesia's Antara news agency reported in Jakarta.

Bomb threat forces evacuation of airport

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Authorities ordered the evacuation of an airport terminal in northern Sweden Tuesday after a telephoned bomb threat, the fourth against the Scandinavian airline SAS in the past five days, officials said.

SAS sharply increased security Monday because of an Interpol warning about a possible terrorist attack and two other bomb threats, an airline spokesman said.

Police said a person telephoned the Kallax airport at Lulea, 450 miles north of Stockholm Tuesday and said a bomb would detonate in the passenger terminal at the airport within 16 minutes.

Police said the airport was evacuated and authorities, using specially trained dogs, searched but found no bomb. The airport was reopened three hours after the telephoned threat was made.

Paris-based Interpol said it received a tip from Budapest about a planned attack against SAS Sunday morning.

A man called in a bomb threat against domestic flights between Goteborg and Stockholm Sunday evening.

The Swedish tabloid Aftonbladet received a letter Friday saying a domestic flight was to be bombed within three weeks to protest Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat's visit to Sweden in early December.

Rival militias battle for fifth day

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Rival Shiite militiamen traded rocket and artillery fire in southern Lebanon for the fifth straight day Wednesday as Syrian troops moved to quell fighting in Beirut's suburbs, authorities said.

Police said gunmen from the pro-Syrian Amal movement and the Iranian-backed Hezbollah battled fiercely for control of a cluster of villages in the district of Iklim Al Tohaf, 28 miles south of Beirut. The violence engulfed at least three villages in the mountainous region, police said.

In southern Beirut, dozens of steel-helmeted Syrian troops patrolled streets in the neighborhoods of Shiyah, Al Hajjah and Ghobeiri.

From United Press International reports

16 dead in boating accident

United Press International

MANILA, Philippines — An overcrowded ferry carrying more than 140 people, mostly students returning to school after the holidays, capsized in the stormy central Philippines, leaving 16 people dead and 12 missing, the coast guard said Wednesday.

Coast guard spokesman Lt. Edmund Lustre said the Jem II sank off Tablas island Tuesday afternoon when it was hit by big waves during a voyage from the Tablas port of Looe to neighboring Panay island.

Lustre said 16 people died in the first shipping disaster this year. He said 12 others were missing and 114 were rescued. He said the exact number of people aboard the Jem II, described as a motorized outrigger, was not immediately known.

An initial radio report Tuesday night from a Chinese trader in Looe, 180 miles southeast of Manila, said 17 people were killed and 45 were missing. The radio message monitored by a Catholic Church group in Manila, said 134 others were rescued and that the boat carried 196 people.

But Lustre said the coast guard's figures were the latest from the disaster scene.

He said the boat left Looe at noon Tuesday for the three-hour voyage to the Panay island towns of Caticlan, Malay and Kalibo, and sank an hour after leaving port. Panay is 45 miles south of Tablas island.

The official Philippine News Agency said the vessel was overcrowded and that most of the passengers were students returning to schools in Kalibo after spending the Christmas and New Year holidays in Tablas.

Schools opened in the Philippines Tuesday after a two-week holiday.

Lustre said a patrol craft had been sent to search for the missing.

Amnesty accuses Turkey of carrying out torture

United Press International

LONDON — Amnesty International said Tuesday it has received near-daily reports of widespread torture in Turkey, where it said authorities regularly force confessions out of men, women and children through beatings, sexual abuse, electric shocks and even crucifixion.

The 73-page report by the London-based organization, which monitors human rights violations around the world, was one of the most scathing documents Amnesty International has published on a single nation in recent years. It was the most damning report on a NATO nation.

The Turkish government had failed to respond seriously to the documented evidence of torture, which included forms of crucifixion, Amnesty said.

"Amnesty has received reports of torture from Turkey virtually daily during the past two months," it said.

Since the Sept. 12 1980 military coup, Amnesty said, an estimated 250,000 political prisoners were detained and most of them tortured.

Thousands among them were imprisoned for non-violent political or religious activities, more than 60,000 political prisoners were jailed after unfair trials, more than 700 people were sentenced to death and at least 200 people died while in custody because of torture, it said.

Those subjected to physical and mental torture nationwide included members of outlawed political parties, trade unionists, religious activists, members of the Kurdish ethnic minority, journalists, editors and writers and, in several cases, women and children, Amnesty said.

In January 1988, Yasser Tahan, a political prisoner, told a state security court:

"They fixed electric cables to the little finger of my right hand and to my genitals. Every day I was subjected to electric shocks for one or two hours ... I was hosed with pressurized ice-cold water. By squeezing my testicles they inflicted the most awful pain. On one occasion I was crucified."

Amnesty catalogued cases of a man being forced to stand against a wall in a village in public with his legs apart while he was shot at, the bullets just missing.

Europe poised for next step in meat-ban trade dispute

United Press International

BRUSSELS, Belgium — Europe is preparing to fire the next salvo in an escalating trade dispute with the United States, a conflict that began with a European ban on U.S. hormone-treated beef.

European Community officials are scheduled to meet Thursday in Brussels to plan their response to a U.S. retaliatory move to slap 100 percent tariffs on $100 million worth of European food imports.

Among the measures under consideration was a proposed ban on European imports of U.S. honey, shelled nuts, dried fruits and canned corn — worth about $140 million a year — officials said Tuesday.

"We do not exclude the possibility that a decision may be taken at (Thursday's) meeting," an EC executive commission spokesman said.

Officials said the European retaliation would be adapted to the specific measures taken by the Americans — and thus would be limited to about $100 million worth of imports of U.S. goods.

The Europeans, especially West Germany, say hormone-treated beef poses a health risk — a contention the U.S. government vehemently denies, saying no scientific proof exists of such hazards.

Consultant charged in Navy bribery scheme

United Press International
WASHINGTON — A Washington-area defense consultant schemed with executives of at least two large companies to bribe the Navy contracting employees and delivered a $12,500 check to a senior Air Force official, the FBI charged in affidavits made public Thursday.

Consultant William Parkin, until 1983 the executive director of acquisition for the Pentagon's Joint Cruise Missile Project Office, actively sought to peddle his ability to obtain inside contract information and worked with a ring of other consultants, the documents said.

Parkin even tapped his former secretary to deliver bi-weekly $50 payments to one Pentagon contracts negotiator, checks to be made out in the name "Smith's Maid Service," said the documents.

The investigation, which became public in June with searches at more than 40 sites nationwide, has yet to produce any prosecutions. However, sources familiar with the inquiry predicted Tuesday that the first batch of indictments — and at least one guilty plea — will occur in the coming days.

Sources said that lawyers for Hazeltine Corp., one of the companies Parkin represented, are close to a deal under which the company would plead guilty to criminal charges and pay more than $1 million in fines. The only sticking point, the sources said, is the amount of the fines.

The sources also said Michael Savaides, a former marketing representative for Teledyne's electronics division, a second firm that hired Parkin, already has cut a plea-bargaining arrangement with prosecutors.

Release of more than 100 pages of search warrants and supporting FBI affidavits by federal judges in New York and Alexandria, Va., came at the suggestion of prosecutors who said their inquiry was nearly complete. The documents revealed new details of the government's evidence — much of it obtained in numerous court-approved wiretaps.

While detailing multiple attempts by Parkin, California consultant Fred Lackner and other industry middlemen to obtain inside information from several sources, the documents detail only modest cash payments to Navy employees.

ERA reintroduced in Congress

United Press International
WASHINGTON — A bipartisan coalition of more than 150 House members, led by Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., reintroduced the Equal Rights Amendment, which became the first joint resolution of the 101st Congress, must be approved by two-thirds of both the House and Senate and ratified by three-fourths of the states to become part of the Constitution.

The extended deadline for ratification of the last ERA resolution expired June 30, 1982, three states short of the 38 necessary to support the amendment.

The amendment introduced Tuesday, like the previous resolution, states simply: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

The measure was co-sponsored by a bipartisan group of 137 House members. Its primary sponsor is Edwards, who chairs the House Judiciary subcommittee on civil and constitutional rights.

Among the co-sponsors of the bill are Rep. Hamilton Fish, R-N.Y., the ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, and Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., a longtime staunch proponent of ERA.

The resolution is expected to be introduced in the Senate by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., next month, and Edwards said he expects to hold hearings on the measure before his subcommittee in February or March.

"Let this year be the one in which we finally bring women into the Constitution," Edwards said in a statement. "It is time we extend full equality of rights under the law to all of our citizens."

Joining Edwards and several key sponsors of the bill at a news conference announcing the reintroduction of the ERA were a number of equal rights activists, including National Organization for Women President Molly Yard.

As a symbolic gesture of support for the ERA, Yard delivered petitions bearing thousands of signatures calling for adoption of the amendment.

She also announced plans for "major marches of ERA supporters in Washington" on April 9.

"We plan to organize in every locality, every state, nationally," she said. "We will not give up until women are written into the U.S. Constitution in full partnership with men."

An Equal Rights Amendment was first introduced in Congress in 1923, three years after women gained the right to vote, but ERA was not passed out of Congress until March 22, 1972.

Bus joy ride causes injuries, rush-hour pileups

United Press International
PHILADELPHIA — A man stole a public bus from a depot Tuesday and went on a chaotic 45-minute joy ride through three counties, causing a multitude of rush-hour wrecks and injuring at least 15 people before crashing into a cheese shop.

Police said charges were pending against Glenn Barhight, 35, of Coppton, who allegedly took the vehicle from a Southwestern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority depot shortly before 7 a.m.

Barhight, who had to be cut out of the bus wreckage by emergency workers, was in stable condition with multiple injuries at Abington Memorial Hospital, officials said. Witnesses said police fired a shot at the vehicle and said the man was grazed.

It was the second time in less than a week that a SEPTA bus was taken on a destructive joy ride, SEPTA spokesman Joaquin Bowman said. The two bus-jacking incidents were being investigated for possible connections.

Police were still searching for the man who stole a SEPTA bus from the 69th Street Terminal on Saturday, asleeping about 18 cars before abandoning the vehicle and running from the scene.

Middletown Township Police Chief Frank McKenna said the latest chase began just after 7 a.m. when the stolen bus struck a traffic light stand and control box in Bensalem, a Philadelphia suburb.

Middletown police Sgt. Leroy Alexander chased the vehicle and forced the driver to stop on U.S. Route 1 near the Pennsylvania Turnpike, McKenna said.

"Sgt. Alexander approached the passenger door of bus, attempting to take the keys and disable the bus," McKenna said. "The driver pulled away, pointing him between the bus and his police car."

Streaking Flyers rip Isles

Philadelphia goaltender Ron Hextall all but negated the Islanders' best period of the season Tuesday night, and the Flyers top line of Brian Propp, Mike Bullard and Rick Tocchet helped the streaking Flyers to a 4-1 victory over New York.

The win was the Flyers 10th in their last 11 contests and stopped the Islanders' two-game winning streak. Hextall extended his unbeaten streak to 8-0-1.

The Islanders took a 1-0 lead on a Pat LaFontaine goal at 7:33, and dominated in the period, outshooting the Flyers 18-7.

"Everything worked well in the opening period," said Islanders Coach Al Arbour. "We just couldn't get by Hextall."

"Then we went into the lockerroom and admired the way we played. It looked like we took some pills to relax us."

More likely, the Islanders were mesmerized by the play of the Flyers top line. Propp led the way with a pair of goals and an assist and Bullard added a goal and an assist.

No doubt, Irish No. 1

United Press International

NEW YORK — Notre Dame, the nation's only undefeated major team, Tuesday capped its 12-0 season with the national championship, completing the Fighting Irish's return to dominance under Coach Lou Holtz.

Notre Dame claimed the title voted by the United Press International Board of Coaches one day after winning the Fiesta Bowl 34-21 to ruin West Virginia's chances of an undefeated season and championship.

The Fighting Irish captured 42 of 45 first-place votes to finish with 672 points. No. 2 Miami totaled 629 points and two first-place ballots, with No. 3 Florida State earning the remaining first-place vote and 577 points to give independents a sweep of the top three spots, four of the top five and the overall lead with five ranked teams.

"We beat the best team in the west, Southern Cal; the top two teams in the Big Ten, Michigan and Michigan State; the best in the east, West Virginia, and the best in the south, Miami," Holtz said. "I don't know what more a football team can do to deserve this trophy."

The crown is the fourth since 1968 for the Fighting Irish but the first in 11 seasons and the first for Holtz in 19 years of college coaching. The West Virginia native who delights in performing magic tricks, often was said to do the same with a team said to boast true superiority only on the lines. But Holtz's players lauded his preparation and reverse psychology as he downplayed their accomplishments and abilities right up to the Fiesta Bowl.

"This team has been downplayed by me," Holtz said. "My obligation is to do the best I can for this team to win. I didn't think they needed extra pressure. I've been to the racetrack and no one has ever cashed the ticket until the end."

Notre Dame was ranked No. 1 for the final four weeks of the regular season but West Virginia, rated third entering the bowls, also was undefeated, and the No. 2 Hurricanes had lost only to the Fighting Irish — by one point at Notre Dame.

"We wanted to prove to the country that we are the very best," Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson said. "We may not be No. 1, but we are the best team in the country. I also told (the Miami players) we gave Notre Dame the No. 1 ranking when we decided to go for two instead of kicking an extra point (in Notre Dame's 31-30 triumph Oct. 15)."

That turn of events made this the second straight season in which it could be argued the national title was determined by a failed 2-point conversion. Last year, Florida State lost 16-17 to Miami.

Steelers' Dungy resigns

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Steelers, who finished the 1988 season with their poorest record in nearly two decades, Tuesday announced the resignation of defensive coordinator Tony Dungy and the firing of four assistant coaches.

Dismissal of some assistants had been expected, but Dungy's resignation came as a surprise.

The assistants let go were linebackers coach Jed Hughes, guards-centers coach Hal Hunter, special teams coach Dennis Fitzgerald and conditioning coach Walt Evans.

The firings came after two weeks of meetings between coach Chuck Noll and team president Dan Rooney, who had expressed displeasure with the coaching staff during the 1988 season.

The Steelers had a record of 8-11, their worst since 1969.

The last time Noll fired an assistant coach was in 1981 when Dick Walker was relieved of his duties, and the four firings at one time are the most in his 20 years as head coach.

UMASS players arrested

AMHERST, Mass. — Two University of Massachusetts basketball players and a man the team had hoped to recruit were arrested Tuesday in connection with a housebreak in the college town, police said.

UMass basketball coach John Callipari immediately suspended the two players — David Brown, 22, the team's captain and leading scorer, and Duane Chase, 21, according to Howard Davis, the university's director of sports information.

Both players are seniors from Baltimore, Md., and were expected to play key roles in Tuesday night's game against West Virginia. The UMass Minutemen were 5-3 on the season.

BOXING

Honeyghan-Starling fight set

NEW YORK — Lloyd Honeyghan and Marlon Starling, who have been feuding with each other at other peoples' fights for over three years, will finally fight each other Feb. 4 at Las Vegas, Nev.

Honeyghan will defend his World Boxing Council welterweight championship against Starling as part of a double-header that includes World Boxing Association champion Tomas Molinares' defense against Mark Breland. Starling and Breland are former WBA champions.

At a news conference Tuesday, Honeyghan and Starling traced their dislike for each other to December of 1985 when they met at a welterweight title unification fight between Donald Curry and Milton McCrory.

"He came up to me and started bad-mouthing me," said Honeyghan, a Jamaican native who lives in London. "I thought he was crazy. I don't even know the guy and he's bad-mouthing me."

Ditka: Both Bear QBs ready

United Press International

SUWANEE, Ga. — The Chicago Bears put both their top quarterbacks through workouts Tuesday, and Coach Mike Ditka said both would be ready for Sunday's NFC championship game against the San Francisco 49ers.

Mike Tomczak, who reinjured his non-throwing shoulder during Saturday's divisional playoff game against Philadelphia, threw well in practice, Ditka said. Jim McMahon also continued to practice.

"They'll both be ready," Ditka said at the Atlanta Falcons' training camp, where the Bears will practice until Friday. "We'll make a decision (about the starter) in the next few days."

Ditka said Tomczak would be able to start if the game were played Wednesday. "The only question I have is if Mike got hit, would he be out?" Ditka said. "If Jim got hit, he'd be OK. He wouldn't go out."

Tomczak said he was about 80 percent healthy and would be ready by Sunday.

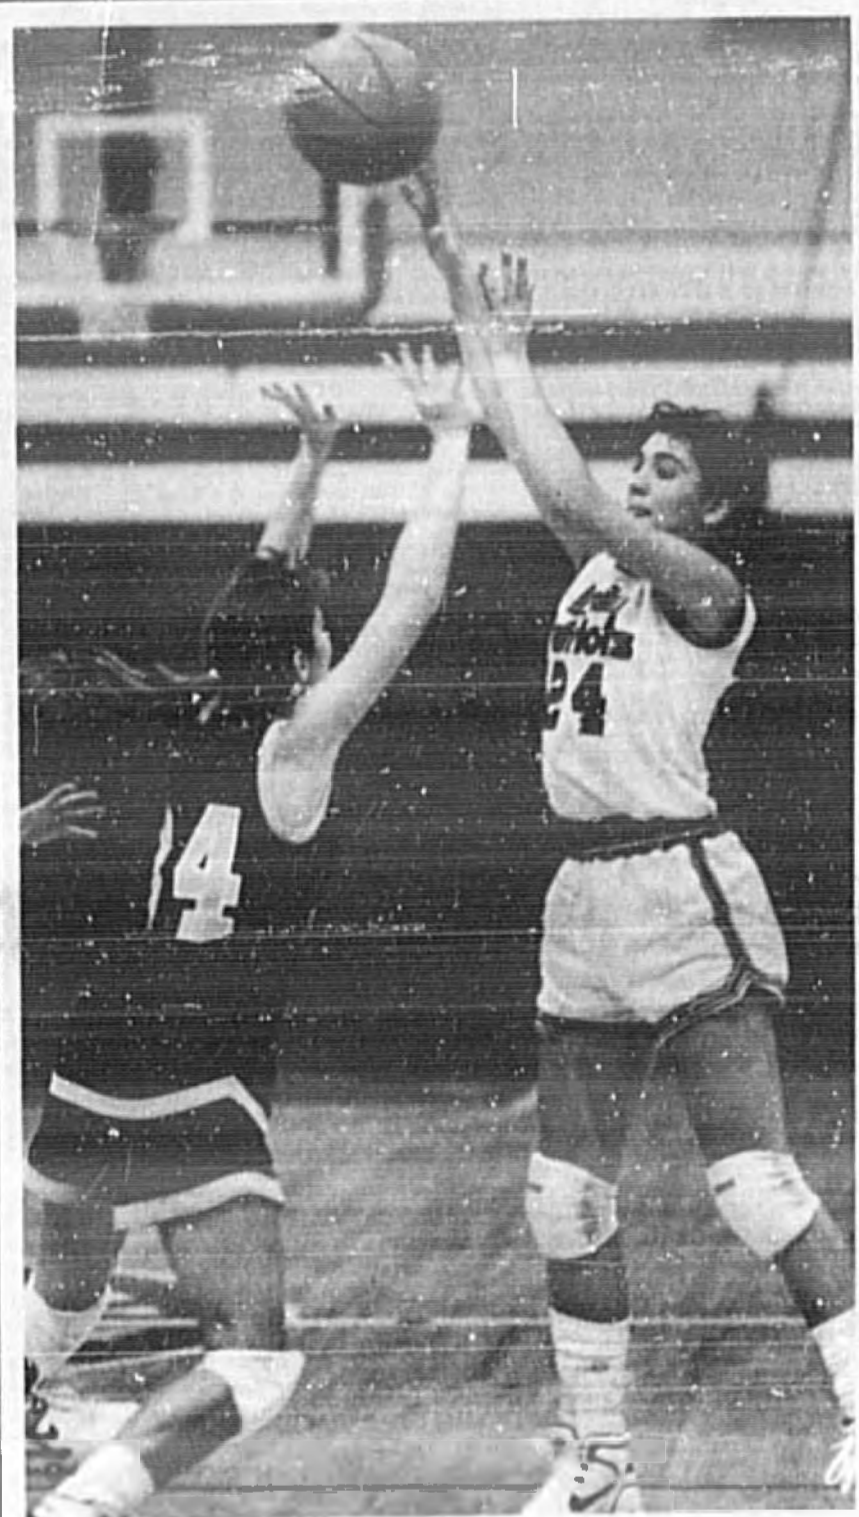

"Obviously, he (Ditka) said the healthier guy's going to play. Right now, I don't know who's healthier, myself or Jim McMahon," Tomczak said. "My intentions are geared up for Sunday. I want to play. I want to start. But I want to be smart about it. The coach is going to make the final decision."

McMahon, who led the Bears to their Super Bowl XX victory, lost the starting job to Tomczak during his rehabilitation for a sprained knee. He played the second half of Saturday's playoff game after Tomczak was sacked by Reggie White and fell on the shoulder he separated last month.

Ditka has insisted the team has two No. 1 quarterbacks.

"We're not going to turn it into a quarterback controversy," Tomczak said. "I'll be honest with you. If I'm not healthy to play, I'll tell Coach Ditka to start Jim McMahon."

Walsh: 49ers face familiar foe

United Press International

SANTA CLARA, Calif. — Bill Walsh feels he knows the Chicago Bears about as well as his opponents in the NFC West.

The San Francisco 49ers, who meet the Bears in Sunday's NFC Championship game, have played Chicago five times in the last six years. They met earlier this season in a Monday night contest, with the Bears coming away with a 10-9 victory.

The familiarity between the two teams will definitely be a factor in Sunday's championship game.

"Having played really helps both teams, not just us," Walsh said. "A lot of planning went into that game by both teams. That was to be the game of the year in the NFL at the time."

The 49ers coaching staff watched hundreds of hours of film and combed their playbooks honing the strategy the club used in the Monday night loss. Now, those extra hours of work will hopefully play an extra dividend like it did in last week's victory over Minnesota.

"We had to devote a lot of time to designing a game plan to defeat the Vikings the first time around (24-21 in October)," said Walsh. "This time we just refined it."

The 49ers coach said Chicago's defensive strength jumps out from the films.

"Chicago's defense is dominating," he said. "Chicago blitzes more and the matchups are tougher. They have two great defensive tackles who line up on your guards. We need to do everything better."

Walsh believes the key to beating the Bears is the ability to bust the big plays.

"The Bears have been beaten a couple times," Walsh said. "Unfortunately, beating the Bears is a big play win for you. You don't methodically cut through them. It takes a big play here, a big play there. If you don't get the big play, you lose 10-9."

The 49ers also will have to See Niners, Page 4B

Lyman ties up Lake Mary, 1-1

By TONY DeBORMIER
 Herald sports writer

LAKE MARY — Like a runaway train, Larry McCorkle could see disaster coming and couldn't do a thing to stop it. Luckily, this runaway train did only minor damage.

For the Lake Mary Rams soccer team, ranked No. 1 in the state in the latest polls, the runaway train was the killer combination of self-satisfaction after winning last week's Pizza Hut tournament and a Lyman Greyhound team spilling for an upset.

They almost got it. McCorkle's Rams scored the game's first goal, then gave up a tying goal with under 10 minutes left to play. Lyman kept up the pressure, but couldn't net the winning score, the game ending a 1-1 draw.

"I had a feeling it was going to happen," said McCorkle. "They (the Greyhounds) had everything on their side. They had the emotion and our guys were flat."

"We had a chance to put four goals in and didn't score. I was telling the guys on the bench that if you don't score those goals in a game like this, it comes back to haunt you. I guess the guys thought they could get out of it with a 1-0 win. We were lucky to get out of it with a 1-1 tie."

The tone of the game was set just 10 minutes into the contest, when Lyman goalie Kelly Walden was called for tripping Lake Mary's John Mora in the penalty box. On the ensuing penalty kick, Walden made a diving save on Mora's attempt and another save on the rebound shot.

"That set the tone for the whole game," said

Lyman coach Ray Sandidge. "If we had gotten down 1-0 in the first 10 minutes to the No. 1 team in the state, we could have gone down hill very easily."

"Walden's save showed the team that he was here, ready to play, and that they had better be ready to play, too."

The first 40 minutes was a contest of the Rams' superior skill against the higher work rate of the Greyhounds. While the Rams had many more opportunities to score, they couldn't capitalize as the half ended 0-0.

Then, just 2:06 into the second half, Lake Mary took advantage of Lyman's only serious defensive lapse of the game. Following a Ram free kick from the right side of the penalty area, the Greyhounds were caught back on their heels and John Brooks was able to tap in a shot by Mora for the game's first goal.

"We have a good team, but we know we're young," said Sandidge. "We've made some stupid mistakes that have hurt us in a lot of games. We made a stupid mistake on their goal, backing up into our six yard box. When that happens in a scramble in front of the net, they have a chance to score."

The Rams had more chances, but couldn't do anything with them. Brooks had a pair of golden opportunities, in alone on Walden, but chipped both shots over the goal. Mora had a shot go wide while Travis Betsinger's attempt, which was deflected by a Lyman defender on the way in, was saved by Walden.

As Lake Mary squandered its chances, Lyman was starting to create a few of its own. The Greyhounds first legitimate shot on goal came when JoJo House turned and launched a 20 yard line drive that was an easy save for Ram keeper Steve Sharp.

Lyman goalkeeper Kelly Walden makes the save on a Lake Mary penalty kick. Walden made several key saves Tuesday as Lyman tied the Rams, 1-1.

Then, at 70:47, John Matra took a corner kick from Troy Hamilton, headed it down and popped a one-touch shot past Sharp to the near side to tie the game 1-1.

Brantley, Howell tie, 1-1

By MARK BLYTHE
Herald sports writer

CASSELBERRY — Lake Brantley and Lake Howell battled to a 1-1 tie in a defensive struggle Tuesday night in a Seminole Athletic Conference matchup before 101 fans at Lake Howell High School.

Lake Howell, 6-2-2, will return to action Thursday against Dr. Phillips before traveling to Melbourne. Lake Brantley, 1-7-2, will host DeLand on Thursday.

"This was our best effort in four weeks," Brantley coach Jim Brody said. "The work ethics on the field were much better. We played a much stronger game tonight than we have in the past couple of matches."

The Silver Hawks came out and put on an early surge and dominated the opening half, outshooting the Patriots 8-3. Brantley, though, turned things around in the second half and took control.

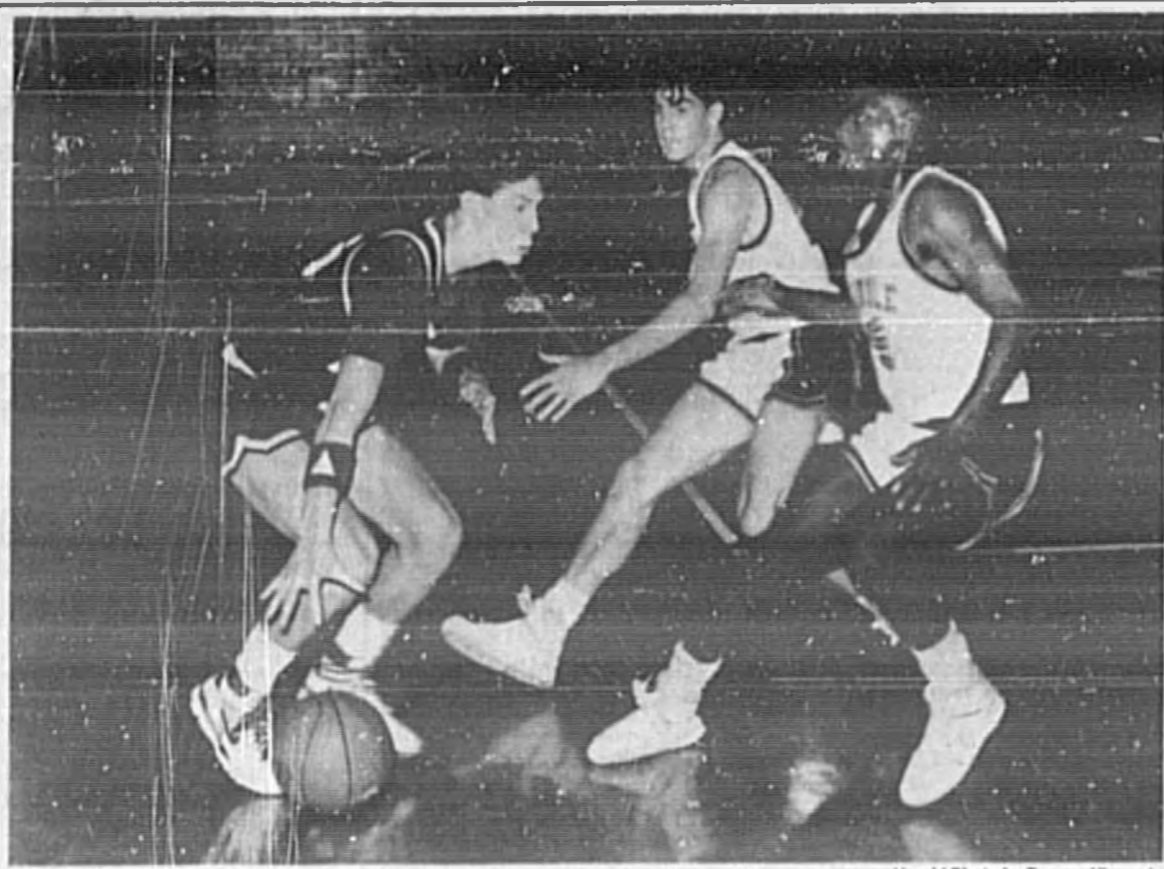

Although both teams took turns in control of the match neither could put the ball in the net until the final seven minutes of the game. The wind was a minor factor in the game but it was a steady wind that never shifted, therefore, giving the players a chance to adjust to it.

"Once we learned to get the ball down we were alright," Lake Howell coach Bill Stevens said. "It just took us a little too long to figure that out."

Both teams had a few chances to put the ball in the net but neither team could finish off on their chances. The Patriots finally broke the ice when Prinet Sharma broke through the Silver Hawk defense and pulled Lake Howell goalie Didier Menard towards him.

Sharma then sent a slow rolling shot toward the goal that hit the post and bounced into the goal to give the Patriots a 1-0 lead with 6:59 to play.

The Silver Hawks went to work quickly to even the game and pressured the Brantley goal before Mike Miller took a pass from Kavan Howell and ripped a shot into the upper 90 to even the score, 1-1, with 4:54 remaining.

SAC hoops gets into full swing

From staff reports

The Seminole Athletic Conference race in boys basketball gets into full swing tonight with three games on tap. Seminole High visits the ever-tough "Dog Dome" in DeLand while Lake Mary hosts Lyman and Lake Brantley is at Lake Howell.

Seminole, 5-7 overall, is one of three teams with a 1-0 record in the conference. DeLand is 0-1 in the league. SHS has played well against some tough teams this season and hopes to use that experience to compete for a third consecutive SAC crown. Bernard Eady has been the most consistent performer for the "Noles" while Robert Moore and Von Eric Small are key players on the inside game. Seminole also looks for good outside shooting from Brandon Cash and Tony Tichonoff.

Lyman and Lake Mary are both 1-0 in the conference and both played some good basketball in the Central Florida Classic holiday tourney. Lyman had a three-game winning streak in the tourney after losing its first round game. Lake Mary won its opener, then dropped two in a row.

Lake Brantley also had its moments in the tournament and hopes to get more consistent play from its big men in the second half. The Patriots have yet to play a conference game. Lake Howell played in two tournaments over the holidays and did not fare very well in either. The Hawks are 0-1 in the SAC.

In one nonconference game today, Oviedo goes to Kissimmee Gateway.

There are two big games on tap in girls soccer action tonight with 10th ranked Lake Howell visiting No. 2 Lake Brantley and Lyman entertaining No. 3 Lake Mary. Also, Seminole hosts DeLand and Oviedo is home against Dr. Phillips.

In girls basketball, Seminole High looks to maintain its lead in the SAC as it hosts DeLand's Lady Bulldogs. Seminole, 7-2 overall, is 2-0 in the conference.

In wrestling, Lyman is at home against Dr. Phillips while Oviedo, after a win over Lake Howell Tuesday, hosts Kissimmee Gateway.

Oviedo matmen pin Lake Howell

By CHUCK BURGESS
Herald correspondent

CASSELBERRY — The Oviedo Lions took their pinning machine to Lake Howell High Tuesday night and found that all their gears were on high as the Lions ambushed the Silver Hawks, 60-19, in prep wrestling action in front of 401 fans.

The lopsided victory improved the Lions' record to 5-2 on the season as they give the bus a rest while battling Gateway at home tonight at 7:30. Lake Howell dropped to 1-4 on the season and host Mainland Thursday at 7:30.

The Silver Hawks drew first blood as 103-pound John White pinned a scrappy Nathan Prior in a quick 53 seconds to give the host Hawks a 6-0 lead. However, the lead would be short lived as the Lions got cooking — George Cook that is.

Cook's opponent, Brendon Buckley, came out fast and furious as he took the Lion down for two points. Cook turned the trick on the bewildered Silver Hawk with a reversal, but a penalty point for locking hands was called and the score remained at 3-2 in favor of Buckley. However, Cook would come up with a winning recipe as he pinned Buckley in 1:45 to tie things up.

"George Cook was a real surprise for us tonight," Lion head coach Mark Geary said. "He came through tonight and set the pace for the rest of the match."

At 119, Oviedo's Kevin Newton came right out with one of his best performances of the season as he pinned Ben Celones in 1:10. Lake Howell's Mike Coffin stopped the pinning barrage with a 6-2 decision over Matt Price and the score stood at 12-9, Oviedo.

The Lions' Ken Schrupp had an easy night of it with a win by forfeit, but Lake Howell's Kevin Garrett made up for the six-point loss by pinning Kevin Howard in 5:41. At 140, Paul Isaacson pinned David Patton in a sizzling 1:50, but once again the Silver Hawks answered the call with Sean Kobia's 14-1 win over Andy Heinrich.

For the Silver Hawks the good news was they were only trailing the Lions by a 24-19 score, however the bad news was that Kobia's win would be the Hawks' last of the night. The Lions turned their winning machine on high as they compiled three pins, two forfeits, and a win by disqualification to sweep the last six matches.

"I attribute this win to how hard we trained over the holidays," Geary said. "We want to accelerate through the break. I feel really good about the win. We're starting to develop into a good tournament team."

Lyman

Play deteriorated during the last 10 minutes, both teams frantic to put in the game winner. The only real chances were Betsinger's shot and a header by Lyman's Rich Steeves that sailed just wide right with less than a minute left to play.

"I knew this was going to be a war," said Sandidge. "I'm very pleased that we were able to come back and play hard after giving up that goal."

Going into the game, McCorkle had tried to warn his players about a let down (the Rams went through a swoon after the Pizza Hut last year), but to no avail.

"We talked about it at the Pizza Hut," said McCorkle. "We talked about it yesterday at practice and today before the game. Maybe I talked too much about it.

"We just had too many things against us. We were fat and we were playing without Manny (Roldan, out with an injury). Manny doesn't score many goals, but he's important to our offense. We just let down. And it wasn't any one player, it was the whole group. Not to take anything away from Lyman, they're a good team."

Both teams return to action on Thursday, Lyman traveling to Seminole while Lake Mary visits Oviedo.

In junior varsity play on Tuesday, Steve Height and John Zissman each scored goals to lead Lake Mary to a 2-0 victory over Lyman. In the freshman contest, Eric Shuemaker and Brian Goetz each had two goals in Lake Mary's 5-0 victory.

Mitchell, Gleason lift Rams

By MARK BLYTHE
Herald sports writer

Lake Mary used a career-high 21 points from Anita Mitchell and a season-high 13 points from Heather Gleason to overpower Lyman, 58-40, in a Seminole Athletic Conference battle at Lake Mary High School.

The Lady Rams improved to 4-7 and will return to action in another SAC matchup against Oviedo on Thursday. The Lady Greyhounds fell to 1-9 and will return to action against Seminole on Thursday.

"We played together as a team tonight," Lake Mary coach Anna Van Landingham said. "We finally executed, made good passes and played basketball."

Lori Johnson added eight points and Amy Kuvach netted seven to pace the Lady Ram attack. Sage Morris-Webster led Lyman with 12 points as Jennifer Kruger chipped in nine points.

Lake Mary jumped out quick and led 26-14 at the intermission. The Lady Rams continued to build their lead in the second half and led by 14 heading into the final quarter.

Lyman could never put together a run as it ran into foul trouble with Morris-Webster, Kruger and Dana Garrett all fouling out for the Lady Greyhounds. Lyman, which is a young team, had to go deep into its bench and place players on the floor without much game experience allowing Lake Mary to maintain control throughout the second half.

"We have a tough game with Oviedo coming up," Van Landingham said. "I think if we play tonight we'll give them a good game though."

Lake Mary will hope to get its inside game going and look forward to the return of Wiletha Hartsfield and Tara Jackson. Mitchell and Gleason, who are both guards, consistently hit their shots and kept the Lady Rams in control all night.

OVIEDO TOPS OSCEOLA

Despite shooting just 18 of 60 from the floor and 2 of 11 from the foul line, Oviedo's Lady Lions managed to pull out a 38-30 victory over Osceola's Kowgirls Tuesday in prep basketball action at Oviedo High School.

The Lady Lions, 6-6 overall, return to Seminole Athletic Conference play Thursday at Lake Mary.

"We couldn't shoot, we couldn't catch the ball and we couldn't get off the floor to rebound," Oviedo coach John Thomas said. "It was a miserable night."

Osceola took advantage of Oviedo's inability to do much of anything to take a 14-12 lead at halftime. Bridget Jenerette and Suzanne Hughes then came to life for the Lady Lions and led the second half comeback.

Jenerette finished with a game-high 16 points while Hughes tossed in 10. No other player had more than three points for Oviedo.

"The defense came alive a little in the second half and Bridget (Jenerette) and Suzanne (Hughes) gave us the spark we needed to get by," Thomas said. "We're going to have to work hard to get back to where we were before the holidays."

RAM FRESHMEN WIN

LONGWOOD — Shawn Washington poured in 24 points to lead Lake Mary's Rams to a 60-52 victory over Lyman's Greyhounds in a battle between the county's top two freshman basketball teams at Lyman High.

Lake Mary, 6-0, returns to action Thursday at Oviedo. Lyman now stands at 5-1.

Lyman led by six with two minutes left in the third period when Lake Mary called a time out and went on a six-point run to tie it at 40-40 going into the fourth quarter. The Rams ran up a 10-point lead midway through the fourth and Lyman could not come back.

Behind Washington for Lake Mary, Dan Peel added 12 points and Alonzo Brundidge contributed nine. Donnie Bazier tossed in 21 points for Lyman and Brian Grayson added 14.

Lake Howell coach Dennis Codrey gets his point across to one of the officials in Tuesday's game vs. Lake Brantley. Codrey was later hit with a technical foul in Lake Howell's 70-53 loss to the host Lady Patriots. After getting the technical, Codrey was told not to talk any more or he'd get another T. Instead of talking, he sent a note to an official via a player. The Lake Howell coach tried about everything he could, but could not stop the second-half momentum of Lake Brantley. At left, Lake Brantley's Leah Miller looks for a teammate to pass to while being guarded by Lake Howell's Kerry Wilson. Lake Brantley improved to 6-3 overall and 2-1 in the Seminole Athletic Conference with the victory. Lake Howell now stands at 8-6 overall and 2-2 in the conference.

Brantley drills Lady Hawks, 70-53

By CHRIS PISTER
Herald sports editor

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Late in the third quarter of Tuesday's game, Lake Howell coach Dennis Codrey sent a note via Tanya Lewis to one of the officials. It read: "Watch the moving screens."

Actually, if Codrey's Lady Silver Hawks were going to stop everything Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots were legally doing, it would have taken a lot more than writing notes to the officials.

Jennifer Tufford provided the outside touch. Gretchen Mull and Lori Bunce controlled the inside and Tracy Brandenburg ran the show from the point as Lake Brantley cruised to a 70-53 Seminole Athletic Conference victory before 201 fans at Lake Brantley High.

Brantley ran its record to 6-3 overall and 2-1 in the SAC while Lake Howell dropped to 8-6 and 2-2. Brantley goes to DeLand on Thursday while Lake Howell hosts Daytona Mainland Friday.

"We were sluggish in the first half and missed a lot of easy shots," Lake Brantley coach Cindy Frank said. "But we came back well in the second half. We got the ball inside and took advantage of our height and the big girls did a good job of rebounding with authority."

It was Lake Howell that was sluggish in the early going as the Lady Patriots scored the first 10 points of the game, including six in a row at one point by Brandenburg.

Sarina Winston's three-point play woke up the Lady Hawks and a good man to man defense enabled them to hold Brantley to just five points the remainder of the quarter. Brooke Burns and Val Lahr each came up with big hoops and Winston and Jennifer Brown each hit a pair of free throws as Lake Howell pulled within 15-13 at the end of the first period.

Brantley maintained a four-point lead most of the second period but Lewis hit a three point shot to cut the lead to one, 23-22. Brantley then came alive in the last two minutes of the half, scoring six straight points for a 29-22 halftime advantage.

The Lady Patriots went to the inside game early in the third quarter as Mull scored six points and Bunce four as Brantley took a 39-28 lead. Tufford then scored six points later in the period to keep the lead intact and Howell's problems multiplied when it lost one of its best inside players, Lahr, who fouled out.

Lake Brantley, which out-rebounded Lake Howell 41-23, continued to dominate the inside in the fourth period and Lake Howell could never get closer than 12 points the rest of the way.

Tufford finished with a game-high 17 points to lead a balanced Lake Brantley attack while Brandenburg added a season-high 16 points and seven assists.

"Tufford shot the ball as well tonight as she has all year," Frank said. "And Tracy (Brandenburg) had her best all-around game yet."

Joining Tufford and Brandenburg in double figures were Bunce with 11 points and 15 rebounds and Mull with 10 points and eight boards. Barb Billmyer contributed seven points and five assists while Sarah Keith did a nice job off the bench with seven points.

Winston led the Lady Hawks with 14 points with Brown contributing 11 and Burns 10.

BRANTLEY JV ROLLS

Christa Schroeffel scored 10 of her 16 points in the first quarter as Lake Brantley built a 21-2 lead and the Lady Patriots went on to rout Lake Howell, 60-18, Tuesday in junior varsity action at Lake Brantley High.

Kelly Hartman had a game-high 17 points for the JV Lady Patriots while Carol Rabaja added nine points. Denise Gertry tossed in eight and Michelle Davis added seven.

LAKE HOWELL (53) — Lahr 2, Burns 10, Brown 11, Lewis 5, S. Winston 14, C. Winston 5, Miller 4, Wilson 2. Totals: 19 16 23 33.

LAKE BRANTLEY (70) — Tufford 17, Brandenburg 16, Billmyer 7, Bunce 11, Mull 10, Keith 7, Gibson 2. Totals: 29 12 21 20.

Halftime — Lake Brantley 29, Lake Howell 22. Fouls — Lake Howell 10, Lake Brantley 14. Fouled out — Lahr. Technicals — Lake Brantley bench (player not in scorebook), Lake Howell coach Codrey (verbal), S. Winston (slammed ball to floor). Three point goals — Lake Howell 1 (Lewis).

Bills need quick start against Cincinnati

United Press International

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. — It's going to be a week of work and remembering for the Buffalo Bills.

Bills' players had a day off Tuesday and will begin preparations Wednesday for the AFC championship game Sunday in Cincinnati, well aware they must get off to a quicker start than they did in the 12th week of the regular season when they visited the Bengals' Riverfront Stadium "Jungle."

Buffalo was riding atop the entire NFL with an 11-1 record and a seven-game winning streak on Nov. 27, but went to Cincinnati without injured linebacker Shane Conlan and defensive back Derrick Burroughs.

The Bengals' explosive offense took advantage of the absences, running up a 21-7 halftime lead. The Bills regrouped to cut their deficit to 28-21 early in the fourth quarter before the Bengals killed a late Buffalo drive by intercepting a Jim Kelly pass, and they later scored on a two-yard run by Ickey Woods.

"They were running all over us," Bills veteran nose tackle Fred Smerlas recalled. "They were hitting the cutbacks, they were hitting dives on us. They were hitting outside on us. We were flat and they were on."

"We settled down and then we saw what we had to do. We couldn't stop them at the beginning of the game. Then we settled down and started to get a little bit in control."

"We had four turnovers, they had none. That really killed us."

The Bengals offense piled up 455 yards in the win over Buffalo, which played most of the game without starting linebacker Darryl Talley, who suffered a bruised thigh in the first half.

"We have to face another big, huge offensive line with talented people in back of it," Talley said. "You got guys like Ickey Woods, James Brooks, then you got Eddie Brown, (Chris) Collinsworth. I can't even remember them all. They just keep coming at you."

In looking ahead to the rematch, the Bills keep talking about their poor first half six weeks ago.

"What we did in the first half, we made a lot of mistakes, a lot of mental errors," Talley said. "We missed a lot of tackles. We can't afford to do that."

"If we stop them in the first half, we'll win every ballgame we play," defensive end Bruce Smith said. "The first half is very crucial and important to us. We're going to make sure that for four quarters, this is going to be the hardest we've ever played in our lives."

Bengals seek repeat of Nov. 27

United Press International

CINCINNATI — Six weeks ago, Buffalo quarterback Jim Kelly said the Bills' Nov. 27 game against Cincinnati "could be a preview of the conference title game."

After that game, both Kelly and Bengals' coach Sam Wyche said exactly the same thing: "I hope we face them again in the playoffs."

Kelly and Wyche were right on target — the Bills and Bengals will meet again Sunday for the American Conference championship and the right to advance to the Super Bowl on Jan. 22.

A repeat of Nov. 27 would suit the Bengals just fine. Cincinnati, playing one of its best games of the year, whipped the Bills 35-21. It was one of Buffalo's weakest showings of the season.

"We were outplayed," said

Kelly. "I threw too many interceptions and we made too many mistakes."

Both clubs went into that game with basically the same plan — run the ball all day long.

"Our game plan was to keep running straight at them," said rookie Cincinnati running back LeRoy Woods, who rolled up 129 yards on 26 carries. Running mate James Brooks added 93 yards on 22 carries.

Cincinnati, which ran the ball 52 times and passed only 25 times, raced to a 21-0 lead the first half and 28-7 in the third quarter.

"When they jumped out ahead of us, that took us out of our running game plan," said Kelly. The Bills wound up running the ball only 18 times while Kelly was forced to throw 35 passes. Although he completed 24 for 265 yards, he was intercepted twice.

Meanwhile, Cincinnati's Boomer Esiason, the NFL's No. 1 passer, hit 18 of 25 for 238 yards and no interceptions.

Buffalo, which came into the game with the AFC's No. 1 defense, surrendered a total of 455 yards.

"It was a little surprising that we did so well against them," said Bengals' offensive lineman Max Montoya. "I didn't think we could get 200 yards rushing. But we mixed it up real good, calling plays that kept them off balance. They didn't know which way we were going."

The Bills, despite being down 28-7, made a spirited finish and rallied to within 28-21 in the final period. Buffalo was driving for the tying score when Robb Riddick fumbled at the Cincinnati 35.

"What we learned from that is that Buffalo is never out of a game," said Kelly. "We came back to within one touchdown and had a good chance to win the game. We definitely are not 35-21 losers."

A big Bengals' advantage Sunday, like on Nov. 27, is that the game is being played in Cincinnati. The Bengals are slight favorites, chiefly because of the home field.

Both teams have identical home and away records this year — perfect at home, 50-50 on the road. Each club is 9-0 at home and 4-4 away.

because I'm not healthy. But I would like to start.

"I don't know if that would happen on the other side of the ball. If Jim wasn't healthy enough, I don't know if he'd tell (Ditka). But we're not going to get in any wars here. Jim's one heck of a quarterback and might be the best thing for our team right now. Who knows, because I'm not 100 percent. But, then again, I might be the best thing for our team right now."

Ditka said the decision comes with the job.

"It's all part of the process. We have to make a decision. Sometimes it's not popular," Ditka said. "All we're trying to do is put the right guy out there. Both have deserved to be starters.

Dips are Super Bowl companions

With the Citrus Bowl and other bowl games behind us, the stage has been set for the granddaddy of them all.

On January 22, an estimated 100 million people will be glued to the television for the country's most-watched sporting event—the Super Bowl. This is no ordinary game. Advertisers will pay about $450,000 for a 30-second commercial, and if Los Angeles, New York or Chicago teams play, another 20 million viewers will tune in.

The results of a national poll by Hidden Valley Ranch Party Dips reveal Super Bowl watching calls for a party. In total, 45 percent of respondents named the Super Bowl their favorite sporting event to watch with others. The World Series came in second with 27 percent, followed by the NCAA College Basketball Championships with 15 percent.

Unlike traditional get-togethers, which center around the dining room table, bowl game entertaining focuses on the TV and brings with it some special considerations.

For example, the survey found taste is the most important consideration in deciding what to serve sports fans, but three out of four said foods easy to make and easy to eat are also important.

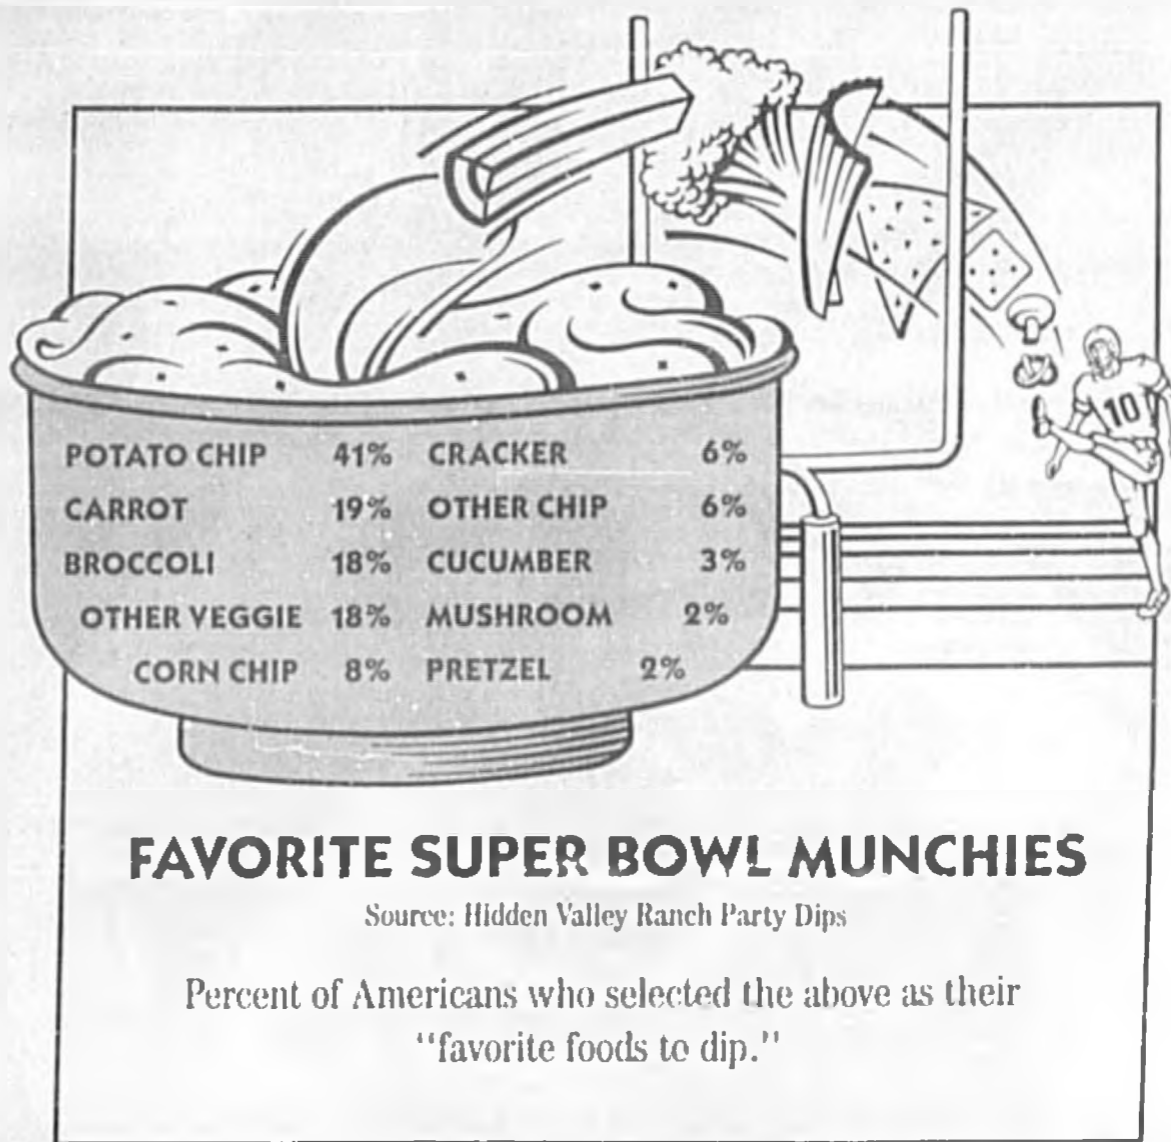

Slightly more than one-third consider calories when planning party menus. Women (41 percent) and adults age 50 and up (52 percent) were the groups most calorie-conscious.

Super Bowl watchers may be keeping their eyes on the tube, but their fingers will be near the food. Snack foods like pretzels, chips and popcorn are nearly twice as popular (34 percent) for game day munching as pizza, second at 16 percent. Other choices are cheese and crackers (15 percent) and vegetable platters (14 percent).

Dips are a clear favorite with TV sports fans: a full 79 percent of people have had dips while watching a sporting event with others.

The potato chip is a hands-down hall-of-famer as the favorite food to dip. It tops the list of "dippables" at 41 percent, followed by carrots (19 percent) and broccoli (18 percent) and other vegetables (tied at 18 percent).

On the whole, however, vegetables and packaged snacks such as chips, pretzels and crackers are neck-and-neck as dipping favorites.

Men, however, were more likely to prefer chips and crackers for dipping, while women were substantially more likely to dip vegetables.

Marital status also may have a bearing on dipping and snacking habits. More than half of all singles listed potato chips as their favorite food for dipping, compared with 36 percent of married respondents, who are more likely to dip vegetables.

And who fixes the food for the Super Bowl?

Overall, 38 percent of men said they do, but more than twice as many women (79 percent) say it's their responsibility. Just 4 percent of the women say their husbands take care of the food on these occasions, while 38 percent of the men admitted their wives do.

Following are some delightfully palatable suggestions for making dip mixes more flavorful:

- Stir in one package (10 ounces) of chopped spinach, thawed and well-drained, along with 1/4 cup of minced onion, 1/4 teaspoon of dried basil, and 1/2 teaspoon of dried oregano.

- For extra bite, add 1/4 cup of prepared horseradish and use as a spread on hero sandwiches.

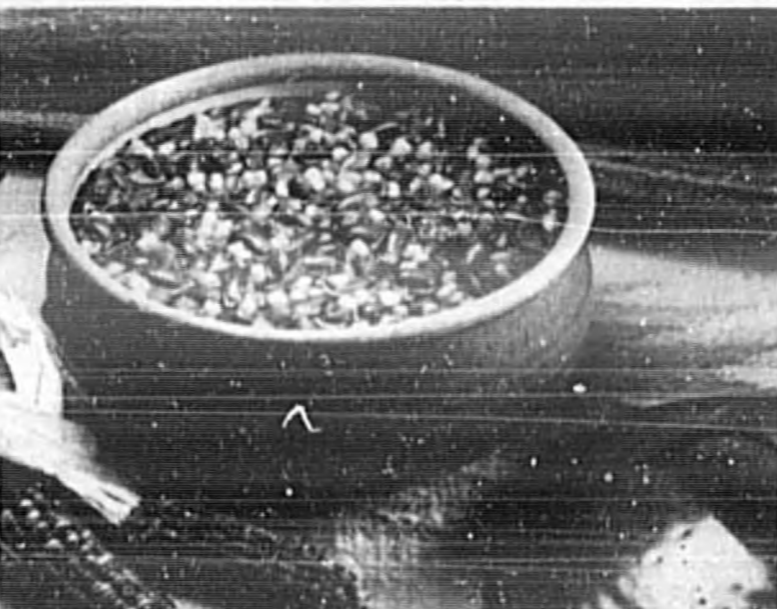

- Peel, seed and dice half a cucumber, add to dip along with 1/4 teaspoon curry powder. The contrasting cool and spicy flavors are delicious on Cajun-flavored chips.

- Add 1/2 cup of crispy bacon bits and a dash of chili powder. Serve with wafers or Swedish toasts.

- Combine 1 cup of baby shrimp, 1 tablespoon of chopped parsley and 1/4 cup of chili sauce with basic dip for a tasty spread for crackers or baguette slices.

- Stir in one can (6 1/2 ounces) of clams, drained and chopped, along with one teaspoon of lemon juice. For calorie counters, this tasty variation is perfect on a stick of celery.

- Mash a medium avocado with 1 teaspoon of lemon juice and a dash of hot pepper and stir into the dip. This zesty combo is great with corn chips.

Meatless chili is healthy yet tasty.

This chili is simple enough to be prepared by kids.

Microwave chili goes well with winter

Chili and cold weather make such a compatible pair. But, is chili a food that fits into diets aimed at good nutrition and into lifestyles that don't have time to simmer it all day, the old-fashioned way?

"Yes," say home economists from Whirlpool Corporation who report that most chili recipes can be improved nutritionally by using lean ground beef, adding more vegetables and substituting favorite seasonings for salt.

They also note that the microwave oven can make quick work of most any chili recipe.

For a truly nutritious and speedy recipe with a flavor all its own, those same home economists suggest meatless chili. It features a host of economical, healthy and tasty ingredients and instructions for microwave cooking.

Kidney beans, the recipe's sole source of protein, contain complex carbohydrates and dietary fiber, a winning combination that provides the body with energy and aids digestion. High in complex carbohydrates, beans are naturally low in fat, sugar, calories and cholesterol.

The chili's flavor and texture are enhanced by the addition of canned corn, celery, chopped tomatoes, green pepper and onion. These ingredients also provide fiber (or roughage), which is deficient in most of our diets, according to nutritionists.

This recipe is a snap for any chili lover in the family to prepare. And, with help from the microwave oven, it's ready to serve in less than 30 minutes. Try meatless chili as a hearty, satisfying warmer upper for blustery winter days (if such is possible for Floridians).

MEATLESS CHILI

- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup sliced celery
- 1 can (7 ounces) corn, drained (reserve liquid)
- 1 cup chopped tomatoes
- 1/2 teaspoon cumin
- 40 (1 1/2-ounce can) kidney beans (reserve liquid)
- 2 cups vegetable stock (use tomato juice, reserved liquids)
- 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder

Microwave onion, green pepper and celery at high for 2 minutes. Add corn, tomatoes and stock. Mash half of kidney beans and add to pot along with remaining beans and seasoning. Cover and microwave at high for 20 minutes, stirring after 10 minutes. If too watery, crack cover slightly and cook another 5 minutes. Serve.

Chili can be frozen in 1-cup portions. To defrost and heat, microwave at high, covered (1 cup 4-5 minutes, stirring once; 2 cups 9 minutes, stirring twice).

Microwave ovens make it easy for kids to learn how to cook. Microwave cooking is a great first cooking experience because it is fast and safe, and clean-up is a snap. To encourage your child's desire to cook in this appliance, choose recipes you're sure they'll enjoy preparing and eating later. Chili is always a favorite, and many of the ingredients are readily available in your kitchen cabinet.

If this is the first time your child has operated the microwave oven, go over the basic operating instructions for your particular microwave model. Before your budding chef starts cooking a recipe, have him or her read the instructions through carefully. Make sure all of the ingredients are available and that the child understands all the instructions.

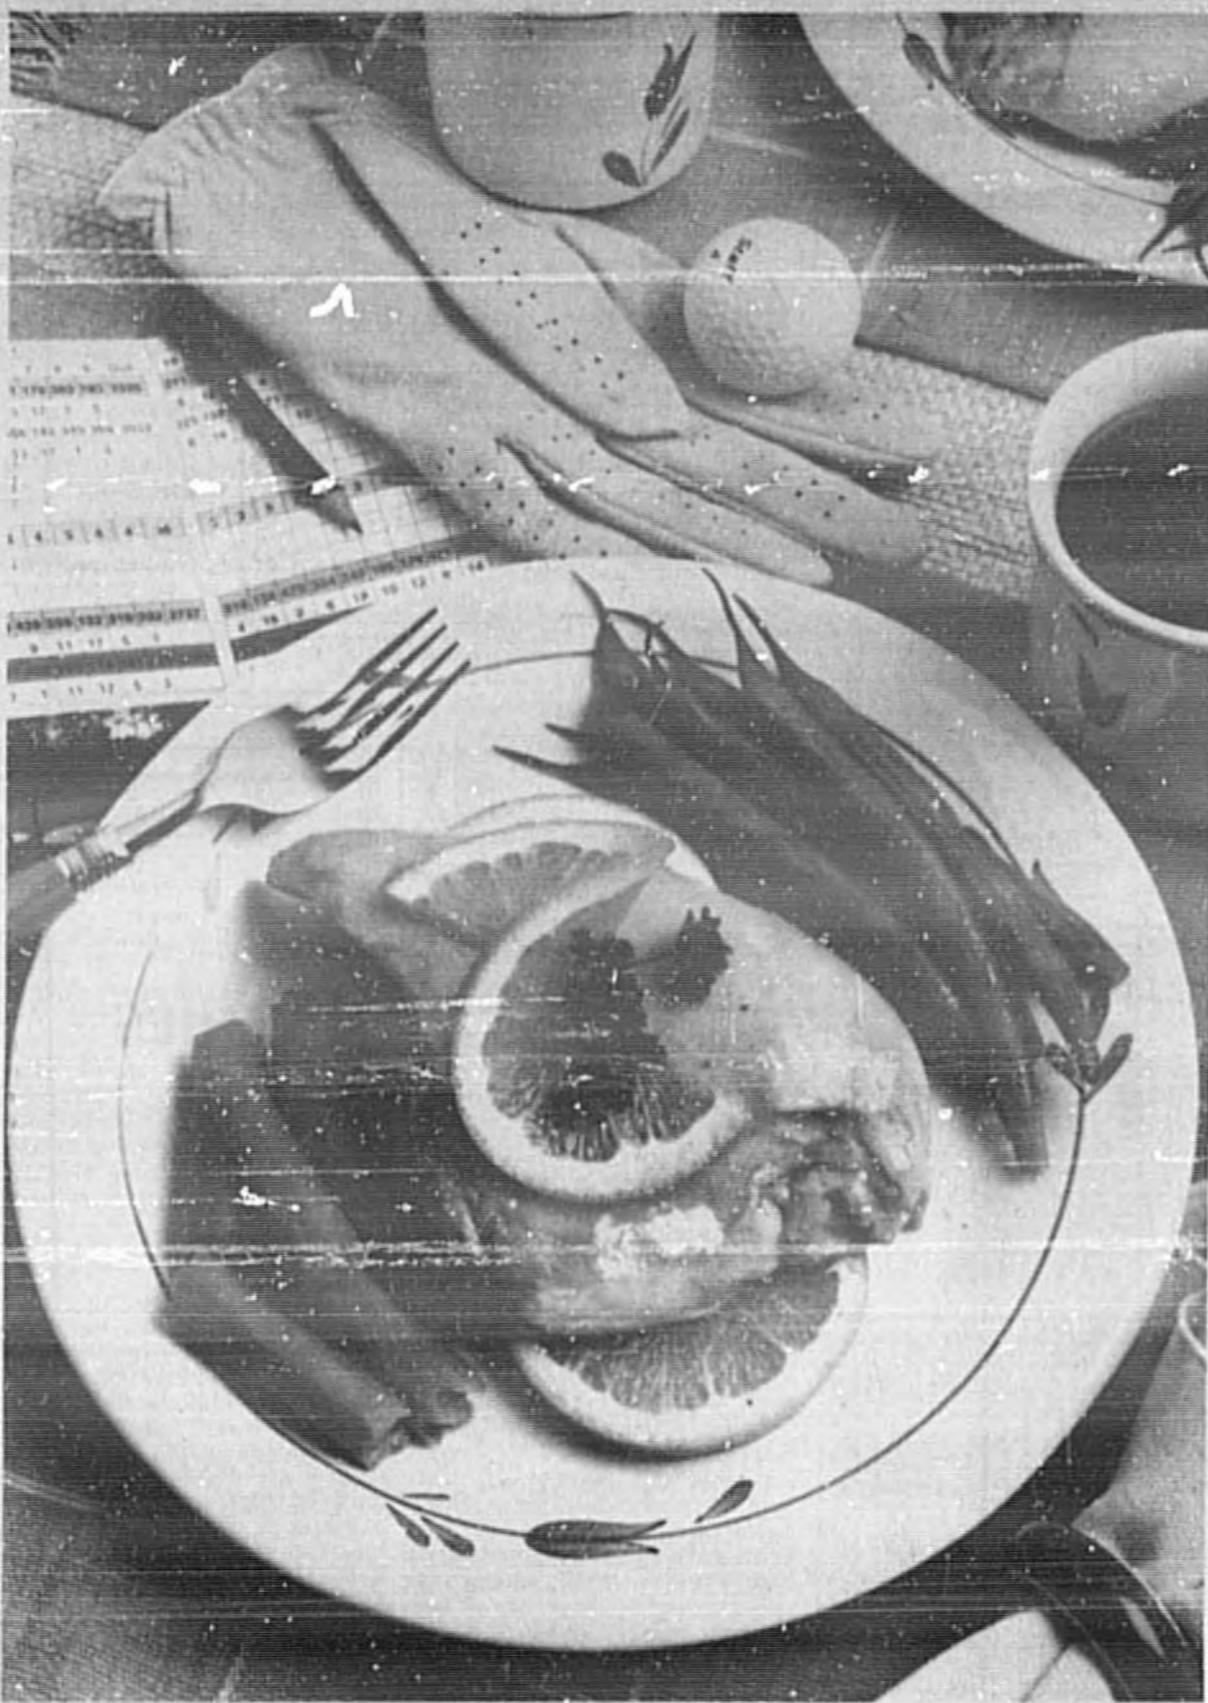

Ground beef, one of the main ingredients in chili, is precooked and drippings removed with the use of an all-plastic sieve or small colander. Form the ground beef in a ring shape in a sieve over a microwave safe bowl. As the beef cooks in the sieve the drippings will collect in the bowl and can be easily removed after cooking. The ground beef is stirred at least once, midway through the cooking period, to separate it into individual pieces.

After pre-cooking the beef, the remaining chili ingredients are added and cooked for an additional 12 to 14 minutes at the high power setting of the oven. The cooking dish should be placed in the center of the oven, covered loosely to prevent spattering. To ensure even cooking, stir about every four minutes.

When the chili is finished, remove from the microwave oven with hot pads.

O.J. chicken aids busy lifestyle

Gingerly Citrus Chicken is light yet boosts energy levels.

Retirement is often referred to as "the golden years." By 2030, the over-65 age group could reach 98 million, meaning that one-third of the U.S. population will be enjoying the good life. A friendly game of golf, a daily brisk walk around the neighborhood or an outlet mall shopping expedition are just a few of the varied activities that keep many retired adults busy and on the go.

As busy as your schedule may be, it's most important to include one more activity—cooking and eating sensibly.

Gingerly Citrus Chicken is a low-cholesterol entree brimming with flavor and eye appeal. Assembling this recipe takes only a minute when you use an oven cooking bag. For a change of pace, two chicken breast halves are rubbed with ground ginger and topped with fresh orange slices. Once the chicken is arranged in the bag, a few extra ingredients, including vegetables, are added. In 30 minutes, your chicken delicacy is done.

GINGERLY CITRUS CHICKEN

- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 chicken breast halves, skin removed
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger, divided
- 2 thin orange slices
- 4 carrots, cut in chunks
- 1/2 pound fresh whole green beans (one 9-ounce package of frozen whole green beans—rinsed, drained and separated—may be substituted)

Preheat oven to 325°F. Shake flour in regular size (10x16-inch) Reynolds Oven Cooking Bag. Place in a 13x9x2-inch baking pan. Add orange juice, honey and salt. Squeeze bag gently to blend ingredients. Rub each chicken piece with 1/4 teaspoon ginger. Place chicken in center of bag. Place one orange slice on each chicken piece. Arrange carrots and green beans around chicken. Close bag with nylon tie. Make 6 half-inch slits in top of bag. Bake 30 to 35 minutes, or until chicken is tender. Makes two servings.

Nutrition guides join facts, fun

United Press International

It is particularly important to present essential information in a compact, usable form. That is exactly what the Center for Science in the Public Interest (CSPI) has done with three new pocket-size slide guides to "Eating Smart."

The slide guides (there is a tab page that slides up and down to reveal information, making the guide fun to use as well as information packed) are each devoted to a single topic of importance for healthful eating: fast food, food additives and fat.

As Surgeon General C. Everett Koop pointed out so dramatically last year, Americans eat too much fat, too much cholesterol, too much sodium, and many more calories than needed for a healthy diet.

These smart eating guides by CSPI, a non-profit health advocacy group based in Washington, D.C., can fit into a purse or jacket pocket, and provide enough dependable information to make you an informed supermarket shopper and a healthier restaurant diner.

They are ideal for seniors under doctor's orders to change their diets, especially in terms of reducing fat and sodium. And they are useful for anyone trying to become more informed about ways to eat more healthfully.

A look at the three guides: "Eating Smart Fast Food Guide"—This guide easily allows you to compare the nutritional value for most foods sold at 13 different fast food chains: Arby's, Burger King, Carl's Jr., Church's, Domino's Pizza, Hardee's, Jack in the Box, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Long John Silver's, McDonald's, Roy Rogers, Taco Bell, and Wendy's.

By adjusting the pull tab, you can discover the calories for each item, as well as the sugar, fat and sodium content. Best of all, CSPI has rated each food by analyzing those factors against the food's nutritional value to give it a "gloom rating."

"Eating Smart Additive Guide"—There are chemicals on or in so much of the food we buy that today's consumer finds it nearly impossible to be informed on the subject.

Of course, there are safe additives, and additives that should be avoided. But there is also a gray area between those two groups where additives may be safe in limited quantities, or may not have been tested enough for us to know if they are safe.

"Eating Smart Fat Guide"—The single most important dietary change most people need to make is to eat less fat, especially saturated fat. This guide will not only present clear definitions of fat that are easy to comprehend, but it provides you with a pull tab guide to many everyday foods so you can compare their fat content.

The section "How Much Fat Should You Eat?" lists the recommended fat intake for all age groups, from children under 2 to men over 55. It explains the different kinds of fats, in easy to understand language.

The 4-by-9-inch slide-guides are available for $3.95 each from CSPI, 1501 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Special prices for quantity purchases.

Today catfish is farmed in many states, especially in the South, and is a profitable crop. It also has become an expensive uptown offering on restaurant menus.

Available fresh or frozen in supermarkets, catfish is good baked, grilled, broiled or in fish stews. It's still a treat deep-fried and served with hush puppies.

Reader questions removal of spleen

DEAR DR. GOTT: My doctor says I should have my spleen removed because of thrombocytopenia — ITP. What do you think?

DEAR READER: Idiopathic thrombocytopenic purpura (ITP) needs to be translated. Idiopathic means unknown cause; thrombocytopenia means a deficiency of platelets, the tiny blood cells that form the basis of blood clots; purpura means bruising, the consequence of insufficient clotting.

Although the cause is unknown, scientists have discovered that patients with ITP often exhibit an anti-platelet substance in their bloodstreams. Therefore, the basis for the disease may be a bizarre reaction in which patients become allergic to their own platelets, destroying them in the process.

Most cases of ITP are benign and require no treatment, but they must be closely monitored to assess the degree of platelet deficiency. The ailment becomes a problem only when purpura affects the brain or when bruising occurs in moist body tissues, such as the mouth; this is called "wet purpura." In such patients, the first level of treatment is the use of cortisone drugs to block the body's immune response, neutralize the anti-platelet substance and allow new, healthy platelets to function without interference.

Some scientists have reported a 20 percent cure rate in patients treated with cortisone alone. However, this encouraging response has not been verified.

If cortisone doesn't work or, for some reason, patients do not tolerate the drug, specialists move to the next level of treatment: splenectomy, surgical removal of the spleen. The purpose of this procedure is to remove the organ that traps platelets and provides a major source of the anti-platelet antibody. Splenectomy produces long-standing remissions in up to 80 percent of patients with ITP.

The third level of treatment — for refractory cases (patients who do not respond to the above treatment) — is the use of powerful anti-immune drugs, such as vincristine. In general, these drugs are dangerous and are used as a last resort.

The major drawback to splenectomy is that people without spleens are more susceptible to serious infections. I believe that patients with ITP should be under the care of a hematologist, a specialist in diseases of the blood. If you have been given cortisone and it was ineffective, you are probably a candidate for splenectomy. This decision can be made if and when your platelet count drops to the point that you experience "wet purpura." Obviously, you would want to avoid surgery but, in certain cases, it is the best option.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Can the mineral oil or petrolatum used in creams and lotions be absorbed in the skin and cause digestive problems?

DEAR READER: Neither mineral oil nor petrolatum is absorbed through intact skin. The danger of these substances comes when they are inhaled, as can be the case with petrolatum products such as Vicks VapoRub if it is incorrectly applied inside the nostrils. Inhaled petrolatum causes a form of chronic pneumonia.

Weight control course slated

SANFORD — Taking off holiday weight gain along with a permanent trim are the twin goals of a Weight Management course being offered by Central Florida Regional Hospital starting Jan. 12.

A free introductory session is scheduled for 5:30-6:30 p.m. on that date. Pre-registration is required.

The main course will be from 5:30-7 p.m. on Jan. 16, 19, 23, and 26, while the five maintenance classes are set for 5:30-6:30 p.m. Feb. 2, 9, 16, 23, and March 2.

"The free session is an opportunity to see a sampling of our proven weight loss techniques without cost or obligation," said Nicole Reeves-Baulch, R.D., who is CFRH dietitian and the course instructor.

Based on sound medical and behavioral research, the course treats the root causes of overeating and being overweight. "It replaces pills, fad diets and other short-term solutions with a step-by-step weight management method," Reeves-Baulch said.

Another important favorable factor in weight management is exercise. This is emphasized by bringing in a hospital physiologist to teach attendees companion techniques. Participants can then register for CFRH's "Hearts in Motion" classes, which take place Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4:30-5:30 p.m.

The weight management and the exercise classes are held in CFRH's Cardiopulmonary Rehabilitation Center, Suite 209, 1403 Medical Plaza Drive, located behind the hospital.

To register, call CFRH, 321-4500 or 668-4441, ext. 607.

Clapping is good enough for God, good enough for church

DEAR ABBY: I would like to respond to the church organist in Cincinnati who said, "Applauding in a house of worship is disrespectful and unacceptable behavior."

I would question a society that applauds vigorously for a hard tackle in a football game, but thinks it's inappropriate to applaud a minister's sermon, a choir's inspirational hymn or a couple's first kiss after a marriage ceremony.

I am sure I am not the only person who has had the desire to clap or cheer after a touching moment in church. Why should it be considered disrespectful? The Bible states: "Make a joyful sound to the Lord...break forth into joyous song and sing praises...Let the floods clap their hands; let the hills sing for joy together before the Lord." (Psalms 98:4-9).

As for me, I applaud people who are willing to commit themselves to someone they love in this day and age of cohabitation.

CLAP-HAPPY IN RICHMOND
DEAR CLAP-HAPPY: I'm with you. Applause indicates appreciation, and what better place to make a joyful sound than in a house of worship?

DEAR ABBY: Every year for the last several years I have asked my friend "Zelda" to join my family and a few close friends for Thanksgiving dinner. Zelda is a kind, considerate, unmarried woman who is treated rather coolly by the women and is ogled by their husbands. She doesn't understand the problem—but I do. As my husband puts it, "She dresses like a streetwalker." Her clothes are too tight and her necklines are too low. I have seen her in more modest attire—but not often.

Abby, what do you make of her behavior? She is quite defensive when advice is proffered (on any subject). She is a wonderful friend and I don't want to hurt her feelings, but I wish I could tell her how others perceive her manner of dress.

Do you have any ideas? Maybe one of your readers has had this problem and knows how to handle it.

STUMPED IN TEXAS

DEAR STUMPED: There is nothing quite so risky as telling a friend something "for her own good," but since you have seen Zelda in more modest attire when you next invite her, ask her to wear "that little black dress" she looks so great in. And if she shows up again looking like a hooker—well, at least you tried.

DEAR ABBY: The Holy Family School in Redmond, Wash., presented a drug-alcohol education program, after which each student was asked to write an evaluation of the program.

I am enclosing one written by a 10-year-old student. His thinking is much better than his spelling. I wish more parents thought the way this boy thinks.

I hope you can find space for it in your column, Abby.
FLORENCE C.

DEAR FLORENCE: Find

space? I'll make space:

"My evaluation of the Drug-Alcohol Education program: I don't think that I learned anything new. The way I think the program should work is that you should learn from your parents. After all, there the ones you go home to every night. There the ones that put the roof over your head and besides if somebody has a drug problem, it is the family who is in charge of it."

"The whole school isn't your family physically, is it? No! If you have a problem, you would usually go to your parents, right? Yes!"

"And I am pretty mad that you have to learn it from your teacher rather than from your parents."

NATHAN

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for telling "Bereaving" to send a simple note saying, "Thinking of you with love." It was a perfect answer, I know.

I lost my beloved husband over a year ago, and when his birthday came around, not a soul mentioned it to me. I spend the day alone—weeping because nobody wanted to risk "stirring up my emotions." It hurt me more wondering if everyone who had known him had forgotten that he had ever lived. Or perhaps they didn't know how much he meant to me. A grieving person wants to talk about the one he or she lost. So what if it does bring on a flood of tears? The tears are there anyway, waiting to be shed.

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential.)

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osio YOUR BIRTHDAY January 5, 1989

Conditions in general look favorable for you in the year ahead where your material interests are concerned. You should be a consistent earner, but you could also be an extravagant spender.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Even though you've been expressing your affections for someone you love in intangible ways, it might be a good idea today to reinforce things with a material gesture. A small gift would be nice. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail 82 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Select lively companions if you are planning some type of social activity today. If those you choose are compatible as well, a very pleasant time is in the offing.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Where important stakes are concerned today, you are likely to be a bit more daring and bold than usual. This could work out rather well for you, because you aren't apt to take foolish risks.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you find it necessary to speak up today in order to defend your position, don't do so in a heated fashion. Smiles and humor will make you ten times as effective.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your faculties for investigating, probing and detecting are exceptionally keen today. It will be time well spent if you work on projects that require research or fact-finding.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Someone you've met recently who you found very impressive has more in common with you than you may realize. This association could be cultivated into a real friendship.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Goals you couldn't quite get a handle on yesterday could be remarkably easy to achieve today. Instead of writing them off, go back and give them a second try.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Involvements you have today with people with whom you have loving bonds should work out very well for everyone concerned. This is because each will look out for the other.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have a special talent today for being able to make what others might consider old and worthless into something useful and functional. Put this gift to use to improve your surroundings.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is one of those days where harmonious conditions are likely to be dominant in the important areas of your life. Things look good both materially and romantically.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In order to get, you must first be a giver today. Fortunately this won't present any problems for you, because you are innately a rather generous person.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Situations that call for a unique blend of both assertiveness and kindness should be your cup of tea today. You'll instinctively know when to push and when to give someone a pat on the back.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Perhaps South should have swallowed some conservative medicine and stopped below slam when his partner denied holding an ace. After all, even though North might hold good spades, no defender worth his salt is going to take the spade ace right away, and that holdup could well leave declarer with a club loser. But South had a touch of slam fever, and for all he knew his partner had the club queen anyway, so he bid six hearts. Sure enough, the club queen appeared at trick one. Unfortunately it was led by West rather than held by North. Cover the defenders' hands and ask yourself how you would play to make 12 tricks. Mind you, the contract can and should succeed with proper play. The easiest way would be to draw trumps and then lead a spade while mesmerizing East into taking the first spade trick. But today's defenders cannot be mind-controlled, so what is there to do? Declarer won the club and drew five rounds of trumps, discarding from dummy a club and three spades. Then he cashed the A-K of diamonds and played a spade. West signaled that he held two spades by playing the five, and East let dummy win the trick. We now see why declarer had not discarded a diamond from dummy. He ruffed dummy's remaining diamond, cashed his second high club and then led another spade. Poor East could take the spade ace, but because his last remaining card was a small spade, he had to give up the last trick to dummy. (C)1989, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Bakker praises wife, asks for money

UPI report

PINEVILLE, N.C. — Jim Bakker, reborn as a television evangelist, made a pitch for money Tuesday on his new television show and praised wife Tammy Faye for loving him through the PTL scandal, only slapping him once over the Jessica Hahn affair.

The Bakkers returned to the airwaves Monday on the new "Jim and Tammy" show and by Tuesday about a dozen television stations and cable systems carried the program, which is shot in the living room of their home.

Bakker resigned from his $125 million-a-year PTL television ministry nearly two years ago just as a story was about to break over his one-time sexual fling with Hahn. He said his wife loved him through subsequent crises.

"For six months I did not want to live," Bakker said. "Every day was painful and I just wanted to sleep. It was living death.

"I think of Tammy Faye. Honey, I want to say publicly you have helped me," he said, speaking alternately to her and to the camera. "When Tammy found out about my sin of eight years ago, Tammy had to choose to put it out of our minds.

"You could have chosen to be bitter. You had the best reason to tell me off. One time you did hit me in a car in the middle of the street," Bakker said, giggling. "Let me tell you, people, when she beats up on you, it's funny.

"I watched this woman right here come to a moment when she could have appeared me so many times — but she just stopped and loved me," he said. "I would have killed myself, I'm sure, if she had turned on me. But she loved me right through it."

Bakker, dubbed "the greatest religious beggar of the 20th century" by televangelist expert David Harrell of the University of Alabama at Birmingham, didn't ask for a dime Monday and waited until the last three minutes of the program Tuesday to make his pitch for money.

"One of our partners paid for 30 days on the air," he said. "We know we have to raise funds in 30 days. For everyone who sends $100 or $25, I want you to have a copy of this crisis scripture book. It has thousands of verses and it's leather bound so be sure to ask for it when you write Jim and Tammy."

Bakker, under indictment on 24 counts of criminal fraud for the way he raised and spent money at PTL, failed to mention donations are not tax-deductible since the Internal Revenue Service does not recognize his new ministry as a church.

Tammy Faye, now a blonde after sporting red hair for several months, wore a two-piece pink dress, pink earrings and pink eyeshadow. She clutched a teddy bear and her new puppy Tuppins during the telecast. She said God gave her the strength to forgive her husband.

"I was in my closet one day and that's where I did all my screaming and crying," she said. "Everything with a mess and suddenly a song bubbled up inside me."

Trout cakes recipe borrows from New England tradition.

Recipe serves up rainbow trout New England-style

New England cuisine is fast becoming America's latest food trend. With a rich culinary heritage dating back to our nation's first settlers, this region is the home of such favorites as chowder, maple syrup, cranberry sauce and fish cakes.

Borrowing from the original, this recipe for New England-Style Trout Cakes features the delicate flavor of Idaho Rainbow Trout for a new, lighter twist on an old classic.

Reduced-calorie mayonnaise is added for extra moistness. Form the mixture into patties, then saute until crisp and golden brown. Accompany with a creamy dill sauce, for the finishing touch.

NEW ENGLAND-STYLE TROUT CAKES

1/4 cup and 3 tablespoons reduced-calorie mayonnaise
1 tablespoon fresh lime juice
1 teaspoon fresh dill weed or 1/2 teaspoon dried dill
Salt and cayenne pepper
4 Clear Springs Brand Idaho Rainbow Trout fillets (4 ounces each)

6 tablespoons bread crumbs, divided
2 tablespoons finely chopped celery
2 tablespoons finely chopped bell pepper
2 tablespoons finely chopped green onion
1 egg
1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
Salt and pepper
2 teaspoons butter

Combine 3 tablespoons mayonnaise and next 4 ingredients in bowl. Cover and refrigerate. Fill large skillet with water. Bring to simmer, reduce heat. Poach trout fillets in gently simmering water for about 5 minutes, or until fish flakes with a fork.

Remove skin from trout and flake meat into bowl. Add 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons bread crumbs and next 5 ingredients. Season with salt and pepper. Shape mixture into 8 cakes.

Dredge in reserved bread crumbs. Melt butter over medium heat in skillet. Saute trout cakes about 3 to 5 minutes, or

United Press International
SEATTLE — The opposite of fresh is not frozen. And in some cases, the appearance, texture and flavor of a food will be fresher if it is frozen. This is especially true when it comes to seafood.

According to Bob Boroughs, president of Seattle's Windjammer Seafoods, even if you live very close to the waters where a fish is caught, it is at best two, sometimes three days before a fresh fish makes it from water to table. In many cases, he said, especially with imported fish, it can take four to seven days to catch, process, transport, distribute and sell you a piece of fresh fish.

Add another day or two between purchase and cooking, and your "fresh" fish is likely to be over a week old. During that time, even if the fish has been kept at ideal temperatures, there was a significant deterioration in texture, aroma and taste.

But frozen fish, if handled properly, can look, taste and feel closer to fresh than fresh fish. As a matter of fact, it is impossible to tell the difference between a piece of fish hours out of the water and a frozen, properly handled piece of that same fish eaten several months later.

Many fish and shellfish are "flash frozen" within hours of being caught to prevent bacterial deterioration and preserve the "fresh" texture, appearance and flavor. In some cases, the fish is still alive when brought to the processing plant where, within half an hour or so, it is sorted, killed, dressed (gutted) and frozen solid.

Flash freezing occurs with the fish neatly lined in rows on trays in huge freezers at temperatures of about 30°F below zero. Small fish freeze quite quickly, but a whole 20-pound fish needs about five hours to freeze solid as granite.

Once frozen, the fish are quickly dipped in a solution of water, salt and sugar to provide them with a thin outer coating, or glaze, which will protect the fragile skin from damage during transport. When buying seafood, the most important consideration is quality, not whether or not the fish has been frozen. The secret to a great piece of fish is its taste, texture, aroma and appearance. And modern storage, holding and processing equipment and techniques allow those attributes of freshly caught fish to be captured by freezing.

All too often, handling of fish at the retail sales level has been so poor, even occasionally deliberately deceptive, that frozen fish, for those that do not live close to a fishing area, is often the better choice.

Here are some guidelines for purchasing, storing and thawing frozen fish.

Purchasing — If there is an expiration date on the package, use the fish before that date. Never buy fish that is stacked above the "load line" in a freezer display case as that fish is not likely to have been stored at the right temperature. If you see water stains on the packaging, or other signs that the fish was defrosted and refrozen, do not buy it. Avoid any package that is not solidly frozen. Never buy fish with freezer burns.

Storing — Transfer frozen seafood to your freezer, still in its original packaging if possible, as soon as you can after purchasing as partial defrosting and re-freezing can cause serious loss of quality. Ideally, your freezer should be at 0°F or lower.

When using only a portion of the frozen fish, separate the fish while still solidly frozen. Immediately repackage the unused portion in an airtight plastic freezer bag, labeling and dating the contents. Do not freeze fish wrapped only in waxed paper or plastic film.

Thawing — Thaw frozen fish just before cooking. Always thaw slowly, in the coldest part of the refrigerator, to protect the quality of the fish during the thaw. Do not thaw under running water or at room temperature. If you are desperate, defrost slowly and carefully in a microwave, turning the fish at least once or twice.

The variety of fish and shellfish in supermarkets continues to grow as America's appetite increases for this healthy source of nutrition. Preparing fish in the microwave helps retain its moisture. Here chopped mixed vegetables and cheese top fish filets in an easy recipe.

FISH AND VEGETABLES

1 1/4 pounds fish filets (cod, bluefish, haddock, sole)
1 medium green pepper, seeded and chopped
1 medium ripe tomato, cored and chopped
1/4 cup chopped green onions (scallions)
1 tablespoon chopped fresh dill
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup shredded Jarlsberg cheese

Microwave method: Place fish in glass dish. Combine vegetables and place over fish. Sprinkle with dill and salt, drizzle with lemon juice. Top with Jarlsberg cheese.

Cover and bake 7 minutes on High. Fish is done when it flakes easily when tested with a fork near the center. If necessary, continue cooking on High for an additional minute. Let stand, covered, for 5 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

Conventional method: Place fish in oven-proof dish. Top with vegetables and remainder of ingredients. Bake, uncovered at 375 degrees for 20 minutes, or until filets are done and cheese is browned.
