

Maintain Peace Is Business Of American Nations

Countries Keep Peace Through Arbitration Of Troubles

By DR. I. S. ROWE
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The Western Hemisphere, the business of every government in North and South America.

That principle was embodied in a few words by John B. and Paris, as decided by their their Chamber of Commerce after a series of conferences.

These conferences resulted in settling international disputes, and upheld upon the Atlantic. Even now the family of American nations is preparing for another in the line of Pan American conferences, this one to be held in Lima, Peru, early in December.

A glance at the recent history explain that a conference on the American front is not the war, rather, it is a peace conference, it is a peace conference.

A little more than a century ago, in 1826, Simon Bolivar, the Great Liberator, called a conference of nations which resulted in Panama. Although the delegates arrived after the meeting adjourned, several Latin American representatives met together in time for a final friendly discussion.

By 1890 the First Pan American Conference met in Washington, D. C. It was so far as to establish a commercial bureau to foster trade relations between the American republics.

Since that meeting half a century ago seven Pan American conferences have dealt with an increasing variety of subjects like commerce and finance, communications and transportation, intellectual and cultural relations, public health and social welfare, arbitration, consultation, and codification of international law to name a few.

Most important was the Buenos Aires gathering in December, 1936, to consider ways of strengthening the peace machinery. Out of it grew the promise of joint governments for the Western Hemisphere.

With these international confederations of American governments has grown the Pan American Union, as a permanent headquarters for inter-American affairs.

From its start as a commercial bureau it has broadened its activities to keep up with international developments and now handles the agenda of the general Pan American conferences and of some of the special gatherings.

Already the governing board of the Union has drafted the program for the coming Pan conference, after consultation with the governments which will attend.

The program will cover economic questions, the political and civil rights of women, an extension of peace, international law, intellectual cooperation and moral disarmament.

Also likely to attract attention is the proposal of the governments of Colombia and the Dominican Republic for the creation of an association of American nations with increased power to preserve the peace of the Western Hemisphere.

One of the criticisms leveled at the conference and at the Pan American Union itself is the lack of enforcement weapons like the sanctions which can be invoked by the League of Nations.

The Union of course is largely an administrative body without political functions or opinions. The conferences, on the other hand, have shown that they can settle disputes without the threat of force.

Most Successful Films Deal With Biological Roles

As the industry of the film world grows, it is turning its attention to the biological roles of the human race. The most successful films of the year are those that deal with the biological aspects of human life.

These films are not only educational but also entertaining. They show the human race in its most natural state, and the results are often surprising.

One of the most interesting of these films is "The Birth of a Nation". It shows the early days of the American people, and the way they lived and worked.

Another film, "The Life of a Slave Girl", is also very popular. It tells the story of a young girl who is sold into slavery, and how she survives through her own strength and courage.

There are many other films of this kind, and they are all worth seeing. They give us a new perspective on the human race, and the way we live and work.

FLORIDA HIGHLIGHTS

THE NASSAU GROUPE which ranges among the Florida reefs has the amazing faculty of changing its color at will. This changing of color is not only made for the purpose of concealment, but for the capture of prey and for courtship as well. So quickly can this fish, which attains a weight of 50 pounds, change color that it is claimed it can assume eight different colors in as many minutes.

WAKULLA SPRINGS is indeed one of Florida's greatest water wonders! Situated in a primeval spot about 20 miles southwest of Tallahassee the great spring nestles in a setting of superb natural beauty. Its clear water flows up from a gigantic basin 103 feet deep at a maximum rate of 211,000,000 gallons per day. Looking down through the glass bottomed boats that ply the surface into the transparent waters of the huge cavern, teeming with fish, is a sight never to be forgotten!

City News Briefs

The annual reorganization of the Women's Home Demonstration Clubs of Seminole County has begun. Mrs. Gilda Kendall said today and reported that already two of the clubs had elected officers for the coming year.

In Geneva yesterday, Mrs. Leona McLane was named president of the Geneva Club and Mrs. Grace Mathews was elected as vice president. Other officers were: Mrs. Hazel Elvst, secretary-treasurer; and Mr. J. W. Yarbrough, council leader.

At a recent meeting of the Lake Monroe group, Mrs. E. D. Bass was elected president and Mrs. S. E. Norwood was named vice president. Other officers of the Lake Monroe group were: Mrs. G. M. Sanford, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Mary K. Brant, council leader.

Mr. Randall said the tourist season in the mountains was off 10 to 15 percent but that general business conditions were good, with tobacco crops bringing excellent returns and with milk operations on an accelerated basis. While away, Mr. Randall said he encountered numerous Florida persons and several of his acquaintances from Sanford. The weather, he reported, was very enjoyable.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

HARMONIOUS LIVING GIVES PEACEFUL OLD AGE. And thou shalt go to thy fathers in peace; thou shalt be buried in a good old age.—Gen. 49:29

Congratulations to Senator Tydings who voted his convictions and survived the purge.

Notes from Twenty Years Ago contain frequent references to young men going abroad from military camps located in scores of places throughout the country, occasional reports of someone's sailing overseas on a troop ship, and even more accidental notice of some young soldier's name among the dead or missing. Let's not forget that

Gen. Goering's unfortunate illness at this unfortunate time reminds us of the colonel during the World War who exhorted his men with undying brilliance to fight bravely, but warned them that in the event the enemy should get the upper hand, they might have to retreat. Concluding his address, he remarked significantly, "I'm lame. I'll stay on now."

Although the South may be the poorest section of the country, it does not receive the most government relief. As the Tampa Tribune points out, more money was spent in Pennsylvania by the WPA in 1937 than in all 31 states of the South combined.
Pennsylvania has only 38 percent as much population as the south, but it received $214,665, 386 from the WPA last year as compared with $108,028,507 for the South. The difference lies in the independence of the Pennsylvania voter.

Not the least of the reasons for supporting the hospital is more than the fact that it will put $127,000 into local circulation at a time when it is very badly needed. Practically the entire sum will go to local carpenters, painters, plasterers, masons, building supply houses and others who have been confronted with a number of long lean months and who need this money to keep body and soul together. They will spend it with local merchants, for meats, groceries, clothes, and other necessities, and thus in the long run everyone is benefitted.

The mistake is sometimes made that the Sudeten German area in Czechoslovakia once belonged to the German Empire. On the contrary Bohemia of which the Sudeten area is a part never belonged to Germany. Prior to the World War it was a part of Austria-Hungary. After the World War it was added to parts of Hungary and Austria to make the new nation of Czechoslovakia.
The Germans who lived in the Sudeten area are purely immigrants, and have no more historic basis for their demand for union with Germany, than Germans living in certain German areas of this country.

While one may rejoice over the results of the election in Maryland, one may at the same time feel his heart going out to the President of the United States, as he for the moment lays down the burdens of the most serious world crisis since 1918, as he laments the failure of his "purge," and becomes just another victim of the "purge." The President Roosevelt, elected in 1936, is the only President since who lay sick in the White House hospital with a broken leg. We can well understand his sorrow and concern as he was wheeled into the hospital from a room which for years had been his study.

Is Roosevelt Slipping?

The results of the primary in Maryland Monday, when taken together with the returns from South Carolina, California, Nevada, Idaho, and Missouri, in all of which the President's attempt to "purge" the Democratic party of senators, he does not like have failed, naturally raises the question, "Is the President Slipping?" The answer to this question may be provided more significantly in today's primary in Georgia.

If it should be demonstrated that the President has lost his hold on the people, it should be interesting to know the reason why. Less than two years ago Mr. Roosevelt emerged from the general election in November an overwhelming victor in his second race for the presidency. We do not have the figures available, but we are sure that no president in our life time was ever elected by so large a majority.

What has happened during the past year or so which might have turned the people against the President and the New Deal? Is it the huge bonded indebtedness which the government is piling up for future generations to pay? Is it the constant increase in the federal tax burden? Is it the failure of the federal government to enact an adequate and practical old age pension system?

We hardly think so, for while all of these things have been the subject of considerable complaint, they were all part and parcel of the New Deal when the people approved it in 1936. Even then the government was borrowing itself into national bankruptcy. Even then taxes were almost as burdensome as they are now. Even then the Social Security Act had already been passed.

No, if the President is slipping, it must be because of something which he has done since the election of 1936 in wracking our brain to find the answer to this question, we can think of only two measures of an entirely new and unprecedented nature which the President has advocated thus far in his second term of office. We refer to his attempt to jam through Congress his Supreme Court packing bill in the winter of 1937, and his effort to secure the enactment of the government reorganization bill last Spring.

Both of these measures had nothing whatever to do with recovery, or with the government's effort to restore prosperity. They were confined entirely to the President's desire to streamline the federal government. They were designed for the purpose of giving the President absolute control over the Supreme Court and the Congress of the United States.

Both of these measures failed, thanks to the fight waged against them by Senators Smith, George, Tydings, and other Democrats who had consistently supported the President on his recovery measures, but who balked when it came to establishing a one-man government in his country. Because of their opposition, they incurred the President's disfavor. Hence the "purge."

Don't Kill A Child

As nearly one-quarter of all the people in the United States, practically all of them children, as over 1,700 youngsters in Seminole County, have started to school again this week, it might not be amiss to call attention to the importance of careful driving in the vicinity of public schools and to the laws pertaining to the passing of school buses on the public highways.

Automobile drivers should not forget that they are required to stop when school buses stop either to load or unload school children. And they should not forget that in passing school buildings, it is their responsibility and not that of the child to make absolutely certain that no accident occurs.

It does no good to explain afterward that the child unexpectedly ran out from behind a bus, or that he dashed into the street blindly pursuing a ball. That is to be expected. Of course school children occasionally are going to run into the streets. Of course they are going to step out from behind school buses, automobiles, or other obstacles behind which they have been concealed.

They have been instructed time and again that they should not do these things. They have been warned of the constant danger of automobiles. They have been told not to play in the streets. They probably have been punished more than once for forgetting not to get out of a car while it is still moving, for forgetting not to cross a street without carefully looking both ways, for forgetting to be careful in every way with regard to traffic.

But they are young. Their little minds are filled with so many more important things than looking out for automobiles. The idea that any harm at all could befall them is probably the last thing in the world that would occur to them. They are perhaps foolishly courageous in this respect. They would be apt to dash into the street after a ball no matter how many automobiles were speeding by.

But it will do no good to blame the child should an accident occur. It may save you from the law to be able to prove that you were on the right side of the street, driving slowly, while the child stepped out in front of you, but it will not save you from your own conscience. If you kill a child, no matter what the circumstances, you will remember it all of your life.

CURVELESS RAILROAD Strange as it seems, for a distance of slightly more than 205 miles, the roadbed of Argentina's Buenos Aires and Pacific railroad is perfectly straight without a single curve or grade.

From a point west of Junin the trains on this line travel smoothly on rails straight as an arrow past Mackenna. From this point the roadbed begins a sharp climb upward into the Andes, reaching at one point 3,385 feet altitude.

As a protection against the ravages of Spring floods, the mountainous section of the railroad crosses innumerable bridges.

For a distance of 77 miles from Candelaria to Pucito 58 bridges, 41 culverts, and 16 viaducts have been built.

project. Other members of the glades National Park Association, inc., the board unanimously passed a resolution endorsing the proposed Everglades National Park in Florida and calling upon authorities to exert every possible effort in carrying the project to completion.

President Simpson announced the appointment of H. H. Coleman, General Chairman of a committee to work out arrangements for a mammoth celebration in Seminole County during the peak of the winter season.

The following were in attendance at last night's meeting: Fern Park: Mrs. Prudence Bu-no, Mrs. and Mrs. F. E. Giesler, Miss Emma A. Geisler, and Mrs.
Newton Merrill.

Geneva: W. G. Kilbee.
Lake Monroe: Mr. and Mrs.

stein, Fred T. Williams, and Secretary Bagwell.

Mr. Carter declared the Townsend Plan was not a pension and likened it to an annuity system.
He pointed out that a pension could be used as the recipient saw fit, but that the Townsend Plan demands that payments be spent during the month, thereby assuring a quick turn-over.

Telling of the effect the plan would have on gambling, the speaker showed how a trader in "future" would be affected, revealing that the purchaser of $100,000 worth of "future" would pay $2,000 to the Townsend fund and that if the speculator then doubled his money the Townsend fund would get $4,000. He said these dealers, however, would not necessarily lose because the Townsend Plan would assure the protection of the country.

At another point in his address, Mr. Carter showed how conditions in the country had changed, how there are no new frontiers, and how there is a need for some means of taking care of the surplus workers who no longer can find jobs in new and undeveloped territories.

Mr. Carter cited the adverse conditions of the railroads and said that most all the people have the "wanderlust" and that with means to travel, the railroads would stand to gain a sizeable portion of the Townsend money. He said the railroads would prosper along with the public utilities and all other businesses.

Vice President W. L. Hughy presided over the meeting which was opened with an invocation by the Rev. Paul Rodgers.
Judge James G. Sharon introduced the speaker, who was followed with short talks by John E. Garter, an official of the Townsend movement in the state; A. H. Prosser, of Tallahassee, who was here with Mr. Carter; J.
C. Spaulding, of Orlando; and other speakers.

Latin American Strong Men Are Found Forceful

Exceptional Personalities Draw People, Demand Respect

By EDMUND A. CHESTER

The strong men of Latin America have one thing in common—they are men of exceptional personalities. Charming, forceful, they draw people to them, at the same time they demand and receive respect.

That is true of Getulio Vargas of Brazil, Fulgencio Batista of Cuba, Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic, Anastasio Soriza of Nicaragua, Jorge Eliecer Gaitanero of Guatemala, Alberto Enriquez of Ecuador, Oscar Benavides of Peru and others.

Writers and students of international politics have tried to put labels on these leaders, and, apparently because most of them are military men, the "fascism" tag has been applied freely. Others have been classified as communists.

But the real "ism" of Latin America is neither communism nor fascism. It is "personality" and "personality" is simply the intelligent and opportune employment of a strong personality to lead a people.

Batista of Cuba was labeled "fascist" back in 1934, when, as an army sergeant he ousted the 700 commissioned officers of the army, overthrew the civilian government and took things in charge. But Batista has followed a policy of "taking a little from those who have much and giving it to those who have little." That doesn't sound like fascism.

Just when Enriquez of Ecuador had been placed on the "communist" side of the fence, he issued a decree expelling all Jews from Ecuador. That doesn't sound like communism.

Personality in Latin America is older than fascism or communism in Europe. The late President Gomez of Venezuela knew nothing of communism or fascism when he set up his dictatorship 20 years ago. But he knew how to use the strong personality that was one of his assets.

Gerardo Machado, who ruled Cuba with an iron hand for many years, knew nothing of fascism or communism. He had an exceptional personality and he played it for what it was worth. Sumano of Nicaragua is another of those charming personalities who knows how to use his charms and it would be difficult to know Trujillo of the Dominican Republic and not admire his personality.

But personality is not the only qualification of the strong men.
All of them, even their enemies admit, are smart, quick-thinking men who know how to sway people. Most of them came from poverty and obscurity to possessions of power and they had to have ability, plus an unusual personality. Their policies may be questionable, but no one denies their ability to use their personalities.

Personality is not a fixed doctrine. It varies with the individual leader. It may be political wisdom to expel Jews from Ecuador and political suicide to do the same thing in some other country. Personality has its good points and its bad points.
When a government makes a popular move, the strong personality behind the government gets the credit. When it makes an unpopular move, condemnation is heaped upon the head of the strong personality.

In Latin American politics it is always the personality and never the party that attracts voters. Strong men reach the top not because of campaign processes or because they were carried there by some party platform, but because they had the sort of personalities that won the confidence and support of the people.

In nations where strong men rule, no effort is ever taken against the injection of the personality of the leaders. The whole national life becomes tied up in one personality. Whenever a problem of national import arises, the people always look to the strong man. "What does Batista think of it?" "What does Vargas think of it?" That are the questions asked by the people.

Communism in Latin America?
Yes, here and there a little band carries on for the cause of Lenin.
Fascism? Probably a little more of it than communism because of the large number of Italians and Germans living in Latin America. But Communism and fascism, in almost all cases, are confined to the people, they have not yet reached officialdom.
Fascism is spreading in Latin America because people of wealth see it as their only weapon against the spread of communism.

One prominent Latin American statesman explains it this way: "The people of means believe that if you had four cows, socialism would take two of them from you, communism would take all of them and fascism would let you keep all four cows but take the milk."

Meanwhile, Latin America goes on with its "personality." Just as it has for centuries. Back in 1818 Bernardo O'Higgins, son of an Irish father and a Chilean mother, became the dictator of Chile.
He started from poverty and reached the top.

Personality did the trick for him, just as it has since for leaders of modern Latin America.

Newspaper Ads Bring Success To Motion Picture Industry

The motion picture industry, which has been in the doldrums, is spending $1,000,000 in advertising to lift the business out of the red into the black. Advertisements have been placed in daily newspapers, including The Sanford Herald, throughout the United States, and first reports indicate the campaign is already a big success. Every key city in the country has reported heavy business, some a 20 percent increase over normal for this time of year. "Newspaper ads and editorials have been the biggest factors in the success of the drive to date," the regional chairman for the drive has stated.

Czechs, Sudetens Clash Near Border

Prague, Sept. 14 (AP)—The clash between Czechs and Sudetens near the border has become more serious.

The clash was said by Sudeten leaders to have started in a fight between a Czech and a Sudeten.

A Czech leader wondered if the clash might be the spark for a general conflict.

He said the Sudeten German leaders had been provoked by the Czechs.

Gondoliers Win Over G-Men By Score Of 4-0

Jake Bunch Hurls 7 Hit Baseball For Leach Delegation; G-Men Need Win

VENETIAN PARK, Leesburg, Sept. 14.—The Leesburg Gondoliers defeated the Gainesville G-Men by a score of 4 to 0 last night to make the count of game 3 to 2 still in favor of the G-Men in the final series to determine the club series to play the winner of the Georgia Florida League for the Southeastern Class "D" championship.

The veteran Jake Bunch was on the mound for the Gondoliers and tossed seven hit baseballs, keeping them well scattered while his mates jumped on Jim Weldon and Don Helms for eight hits which they bunched in three scoring innings.

The scoring started in the first inning when the Gondoliers pushed across a lone tally. Mel Arnold walked and was sacrificed to second by Skinny McGowan. Frenkie Drews then slashed out a two bagger to left center field to send Arnold across the plate.

The Gondoliers tallied again in the fourth when Drews was safe on Lou Rogino's miscue. Chet Clemmons walked and Drews scored when Billy Gobel singled over third base.

The Leesburg crew tallied twice more in the seventh when Drews was safe on a fielder's choice. A passed ball sent Drews to second and Clemmons hit a line single through the box to tally Drews. Clemmons went to second on a balk and scored on Gobel's third hit of the evening.

The two teams move back to Harris Field in Gainesville tonight for the sixth battle of the

High School Band To Begin Practice Thursday Evening

Professor T. M. Dollison, director of the Seminole High School band, yesterday announced that the musical program this season would be the greatest ever held in Seminole High School history.

Commenting on the band for this year, Mr. Dollison stated that the group out two members were coming up from the Junior High School.

The director stated the present 30 piece band will undergo organization and that military formations and drills will be held this fall.

The band will start drilling Thursday afternoon in the rear of the high school and for the present one hour rehearsals are planned but Mr. Dollison said that if the members of the band would like to have two or three hours practice a week, it would be possible to do so.

Fred Brekke, tackle on the Tulane football varsity, was a life guard at during the summer at New, Richmond, Wisconsin.

Harvard astronomers announce that they have found a temperature drop of 1,500 degrees between the surface of the sun and its overlying atmosphere.

The series and the G-Men still need one win to clinch the series while the Gondoliers have to win two straight.

Women Can Swim Without Bloomers

CHICAGO, (AP)—It will be perfectly legal for women to swim without bloomers and wear bathing longer than six inches when ordinance changes made by the city council become effective.

Deletions and amendments will make other things legal, too, such as selling liquor in drug stores, showing motion pictures in private homes without a license and parading across bridges in perfect step.

Council "Red" Dawson inaugurated a strict "secrecy" practice at Tulane football practices on the opening day and plans to continue this rule all during the season.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

Warren Odham got a free image next week should bring out a lot of fight in the boys that will wear the beautiful Fed uniforms his fall.

Local fans may hear a new kind of public address system at the football games this fall. It would be through the Celery Fed football team if the U. S. entered war during the next two months.

They would lose Jim Brown, Tigo Howell, Darrell Ferguson, Red Williams, Fred Ganas and Charlie Leavitt, all National guardsmen.

Tampa University along with Stetson and Miami will all get a crack at the University of Florida Gators this season.

They say that Stetson will put the best ball club in many years up against Florida on the 24th.

The high school band may have a real treat for you this season and possibly a 55 piece organization.

Joe Ruggerio left for Niagara Falls yesterday morning but he may return in about three weeks to take over a position in Orlando.

It looks like Pittsburgh is having a real battle for that national loop banner.

They even rate Cincinnati, in third place, a bigger threat to the Pirates than the second place Chicago Cubs.

Anyway, the coming Cincinnati-Pittsburgh series will tell the tale.

Is Red Williams already receiving fan mail? High School stadium will be in its peak condition for the Easton opener on the 30th.

Lots Of Rainfall Brings Lots Of Grass

DANVILLE, Ill.—(AP)—Hard-ware merchants here report an unusually large sale of lawn mowers this year and claim that heavy rains throughout the summer have taxed old machines beyond their capacity.

One man who has a large lawn was quoted as saying that the day after finishing cutting he could start again where he started.

Cannonballs Grow On Trees In Texas

WESLACO, Texas.—(AP)—Cannonballs may become a crop down in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

The valley experiment station has a young tree known scientifically as "Caupitita Guanacastle," which bears pods known as "cannonballs."

The pods are the size and shape of old-fashioned cannon balls and they explode when ripe to scatter seeds.

Dummy Scrimmage And Formations Feature Session

Entire Squad Makes Preparation For Scrimmage Drills Starting Next Week

Head Coach Leonard L. McCracken apparently found a new worry yesterday afternoon as the Celery Feds underwent a tough practice session in the rear of the high school building.

Blocking was not up to par and the tackling must also be improved if else the Fed defense this season will injure them more than anything else.

It is expected that the coaching staff will spend the next few days correcting this defect before scrimmage sessions start during the early portion of next week.

Fed mentors yesterday held a dummy scrimmage and walked through the small number of plays the boys will use this season. Sam Waites, star and not yet reported but he is scheduled to begin work this afternoon.

Roosevelt "Purge" Strikes New Snag As George Wins

Camp Concedes Loss As Returns Give Blacklisted Senator Wide Majority

Gov. E. D. Rivers Wins Re-Election

Talmadge, Fiery New Deal Critic, Runs Second To George

By Associated Press
In the Senate popular vote from 1897 of 1735 precincts via George 123,403, Camp 64,463 and Talmadge 89,174. George's unit vote total was 26 more than the number necessary to give him a clear majority without necessity of a runoff.

ATLANTA, Sept. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's campaign of political legislation against lawmakers he deems out of step with New Deal appeared today to have struck another snag in the Georgia Democratic primary with Senator Walter F. George out in front in his race for re-nomination. Incomplete and unofficial returns from the state's 150 counties gave George tentatively 232 county unit votes, more than enough to send him back to the Senate without a runoff.

Second to George, for whose defeat the President called in a speech last month at Barnesville, Ga., as a "dyed in the wool conservative," ran former Governor Eugene Talmadge, fiery Administration critic, to whom Roosevelt alluded in the same address as likely, if elected, to "contribute little to practical government." Talmadge had 158 unit votes to his credit.

Lawrence S. Camp, Atlanta federal district attorney, "100 percent" New Deal candidate whom the President urged Georgians to elect, trailed third with a lead in nine counties capable of giving him 20 unit votes. He conceded his defeat, asserting "I regret that the fight has not succeeded at this time but it is a fight that must win in the end."

Gov. E. D. Rivers, bidding for an endorsement term on the platform of completion of his "little New Deal" program in Georgia, also apparently had withstood the efforts of three candidates to unseat him, leading in 91 counties with a possible 264 unit votes.

A few votes were cast in the senatorial race for W. G. McRae, Atlanta attorney who withdrew on the eve of the election in favor of Camp. Warm Springs, where President Roosevelt spends many of his vacations, gave Camp 150 votes to 65 for George and 44 for Talmadge.

The first of six precincts to be heard from in Lamar county where President Roosevelt last month spoke out against George and Talmadge and urged election of Camp, gave Talmadge 34 votes, George two and Camp three.

During his speech the President said George was a "dyed in the wool conservative" out of step with the New Deal, and asserted that Talmadge's election would contribute little to practical government.

The goal of each candidate was a plurality in enough counties to secure a clear majority of 206 or more of the state's 416 county unit votes.

Lawton Urges Voters To Support Parity Amendment

Seminole County Parents and those interested in the school system are urged today by Superintendent of Public Instruction W. Lawton to rally the "Parity" amendment to the State Constitution when they go to the polls for the November general election.

The constitutional amendment which voters will decide Nov. 5, gives schools an equal claim with other departments, to funds in the State Treasury.

Mr. Lawton pointed out that the amendment will require the Legislature from session to session to include in the revenue bill set aside for State expenses an amount equal to pay also the State's full appropriation of aid for school and the appropriation for the State of higher learning.

He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Dorrit Witherspoon and a sister, Miss Madge Witherspoon of Columbia, S. C.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the Erickson Funeral Home with the Rev. Bernard Root of the Congregational Church officiating. Burial will be made in the Evergreen Cemetery here.

FDR Keeps Posted On Situation In Europe
WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt kept in communication with the State Department today while speeding toward Washington for a review of the European situation.

He is returning from Rochester, Minn., where he went to be present during the operation upon his son, James, for a gastric ulcer.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull said he would meet the President's train this evening to give him the latest information on the European crisis.

Root Deplores War

At the prayer meeting last evening at the Congregational Church, Rev. J. Bernard Root, spoke briefly regarding the crisis in Europe, stating, "It is a sad thing that there is grave fighting in Europe. I do not believe that we should have anything to do with it. I am not speaking for any church, I am making these remarks on my own responsibility."

"War can never bring lasting peace. Christ's love is the only solution to all of our troubles." He further added, "If we had 3,500,000 Mexicans in Texas, Arizona, New Mexico or California, and they wanted to secede and join Mexico, Europe would not be spending billions of dollars and send millions of men to help us. So, why should we do the same for them?"

COLD DRINK KILLING

Higgins Warns Dog-Owners To Have Pets Vaccinated

In an effort to protect the health of the city's dogs, Mayor Higgins today issued an order that all dogs in Sanford must be vaccinated by September 20th, after which time he said he would instruct the chief of Police, Ben G. Williams, to pick up all dogs that have not been vaccinated and to have them destroyed.

The move on the part of the mayor is a precaution against the rabies epidemic, like the one which occurred last summer, in which a number of persons were injured by rabid animals and many dogs had to be killed.

Mayor Higgins' announcement followed a statement made by Dr. C. W. Baker, who is in charge of the vaccinations. This year, he said, dog owners of the city have been very slow in bringing in their dogs for treatment.

The procedure for the vaccination is to be carried out by the animal health officer, who will be assisted by the city's health and sanitation department. Dog owners are urged to bring their dogs to the city hall for treatment.
