

Georgia Produces Another Prospect in Nation Golf Picture, Louise Sugars

ATLANTA SPRINGS, Ga. Mar. 10.—Georgia, which gave Bobby Jones, Alex Siffing, Dorothy Kirby and other stars, has come up with another great prospect, 115-pound Louise Sugars.

On the other day she won the Punta Gorda tournament from a fast and strong Louise, making the difference in the first time, has played well in all the southern tournaments.

Big feet, 2. Big hands, 2. Determined competitive spirit. She got them from her father, Jimmy Sugars, who was a mighty Southern Association pitcher for years back, and her grandpa, Big Red Spiller, who once owned the Atlanta baseball team.

Louise owns a nine-hole course and she has played on it since she was a little girl. She took three of his discarded clubs—driver, masher and masher—and became a golfer.

It wasn't until a couple of years ago, though, that she regarded her game seriously. She was playing with Dorothy Kirby, South's best, and out of their friendship grew an ambition to be one of the top stars, too, and Dorothy play together.

Louise, runner-up in the 1929 Georgia state championship and runner-up last year, played in only two outside tournaments a year. However, she gave Patty Spiller, who looks something like Louise's father, a battle in the 1930 Baltimore tournament.

Louise had Louise three down in the fifth hole. But the Georgia masher took the next three holes to square the match and had to finally shoot 3-4-4-4 on the closing holes to beat Louise's pars.

Mungo Gets Gate For Being Drunk At Havana Camp

HAVANA, Mar. 10.—(AP)—Van Lingie Mungo, the unpredictable pitcher who was going to win 25 games for Brooklyn this season, was fined $200 Sunday and banished from the Dodgers' training camp for drinking.

The fiery fireballer was given transportation to Macon and told that if he wanted to return to the good graces of the Dodgers he would have to do it at the camp of their Montreal (International League) farm which begins training there next Saturday.

The latest upheaval in Mungo's long and turbulent relationship with the Dodgers occurred Saturday night at Brooklyn headquarters in the Hotel National. After dinner he appeared at the bar in high spirits and offered to buy all the boys a drink. Two of the boys at the other end of the bar happened to be Manager Leo Durocher and Coach Chuck Dressen.

When the best known citizen of Paealand, S. C., arrived at La Tropical stadium yesterday for the Cleveland Indians game was handed a note by Club Secretary John McDonald that his stay with Brooklyn was ended at least temporarily.

"You are being furnished transportation from Havana to Macon," the note said. "You are to leave the Dodgers camp tonight."

In the past Mungo has always been the chief problem child of Brooklyn managers. In 1933 he jumped the club in Pittsburgh and was next heard from at his South Carolina home. Another time he and a couple of teammates got into a fist fight at a St. Louis hotel and he once rammed his fist through a train window while traveling with the club.

Church Holds Hopes Of Miami U. Boxers

CORAL GABLES, Mar. 10.—(Special)—While the University of Miami will probably have several entrants in the coming National Intercollegiate Boxing championships, Chig hopes for a championship will, rest with Joe Church, Buffalo, 126 pounder. Joe broke even in two bouts with Joe Joca of University of Florida, present titleholder this year, and drew with him once last year.

Church won their last meeting cleanly and has high hopes of repeating in the nationals. Church is fighting his final year for Miami while Joca is a junior at Florida.

Bass Fishing In Several Counties Closes March 14

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 10.—(Special)—While black bass fishing in most parts of Florida closes at midnight, Mar. 14, for a 66-day period, there are several sections in the state which vary from the general law. It was pointed out today by I. N. Kennedy, executive secretary of the State Commission of Game and Fresh Water Fish.

Already closed are Levy and Citrus counties, where, by a special law passed by the 1929 Legislature, waters are closed to fishing for black bass from March 1 through April 19. This includes the lower portion of the Withlacoochee River lying between the two counties, but not the upper portions which are border waters touching either Marion or Sumter counties, where the state closed season prevails.

There will be no closed season, as provided in special acts also passed in 1939, in Glades, Hendry, Lafayette and Okeechobee counties, Kennedy said. Also open will be the western portion of Lake Okeechobee lying in Glades and Hendry counties, and the southeastern portion of Lake Okeechobee in Palm Beach county set aside as a "breeding ground" for fish. The remainder of Lake Okeechobee is closed from midnight, Mar. 14, through May 19 for the taking of black bass under the state-wide law.

The St. Johns River, from Volusia north to the mouth, does not have a closed season on the taking of black bass. Several counties in the state, by resolution of the county commissioners have been closed to the taking of all species of fresh water fish during a 60-day period approximating the closed season on black bass; and other counties, Kennedy said, will probably take similar action soon.

Large Reservoir Of Men Are Ready To Join Battle Ranks

LONDON, Mar. 11.—(AP)—Great Britain has trained vast skeleton formations of fliers, sailors and soldiers for the flood of airplanes, ships and guns she expects from the United States.

Prospects Are Favorable For Orange Market

Conditions Are Ripe For Better Prices On Valencia Crop, Sales Manager Says

TAMPA, Mar. 11.—The loss of 5,000 cars in the California navel crop because of heavy rains in that state makes Florida's Valencia market prospects more favorable than ever, according to Fred S. Johnston, general sales manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange.

In his bulletin Johnston said, "In spite of the temporary easing off of the orange market, additional information which I have just received convinces me that we are due for an exceptionally strong market through the Valencia period. If just ordinary marketing sense is used by the industry, I may have been conservative in the published statement of $1.75 per box on the trees."

"Heavy rains in California have reduced the navel crop to be shipped interstate from that section. Reliable estimates point to a total of 10,750 carloads. In recognition of this reduced volume, their volume prorate machinery has reduced interstate shipments from 1600 cars to 1200 cars per week. This indicates nearly 5,000 cars less volume available for competition with Florida's Valencias."

"We have at least 15 weeks shipping period in which to handle the estimated 25,000 cars of Florida Valencias. They are being shipped out of the state at a rate which will make supplies too tight toward the end of the season. In spite of the unusually early heavy shipments and adverse weather conditions in the markets, prices have eased slightly. Growers can really cash in on this market if state officials are held to a level of about 1,650 cars per week—25 percent less than the current movement."

"I urge all growers very strongly not to be stampeded in early sales of their Valencia crops. Cannery and speculator are currently operating on strike conditions, refusing to buy at justifiably high prices in an attempt to secure a lower level. This is good psychology for the fellow who wants to buy on the dollar market and sell for $1.75. Conditions are such however, that the grower himself will entail little if any risk by holding his fruit for that higher price. He should not be stampeded. More than ever before conditions are ripe for a steadily advancing Valencia market."

Walter Haynes, teler at the Florida State League and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Haynes of 110 North French Avenue, will go to Orlando Thursday to take an examination for a license as a private pilot.

Another Sanford resident, M. A. Yelvington of the Welaka Apartments, received his license on Feb. 26.

Both enrolled in the ground school training course given in Sanford by the CAA last July, and completed this part of their training in October. At the conclusion of the CAA course, five boys were given scholarships, two from Sanford and three from Orlando.

Since finishing their ground training, the two Sanfordites have been doing practice flying in preparation for the examination to win their pilot's license. Mr. Yelvington was the first of the five to complete his training. Others in the group will try for their pilot's license when Mr. Haynes does Thursday.

The examination for the license consists of flying under the supervision of a government inspector. Remaining on the ground, the inspector will first observe the students in maneuvers, such as spins, stalls, spot landings, and climbing turns. Then he will make a flight with each student, seeing how he handles the plane.

Mr. Haynes said today the training was "pretty strenuous, but that he has always enjoyed flying. He has been flying for an hour each day at the Orlando airport since January 15, but he is in shape for the license test Thursday. He goes over early in the morning and flies from 7:00 o'clock until 8:00 A. M.

Upon completion of the pilot's examination, the student will be authorized to carry passengers, but not for hire.

Mr. Haynes is a graduate of Sanford schools, and Mr. Yelvington attended school in Daytona.

Britons Expect Increased Help From Canadians

Nation Will Receive Aircraft Of Type Unavailable In U. S.

NEW YORK, Mar. 11.—(AP)—The British radio said today that Britain soon would receive "important aid" from Canada, including planes of a type not available from the United States, men and war materials.

The objectives of the Canadian war effort to speed up the BRC aid, includes the provision of 25 civilian air squadrons, and an increase in the Canadian navy to 413 ships and 17,000 men.

In the war at sea, the London Admiralty acknowledged the heaviest toll of shipping since October, with a loss of 29 British, allied and neutral vessels totaling $48,932 tons in the week ended March 20.

"The Spring blitz which Hitler promised has begun," a British spokesman said.

In Athens, dispatches from the central front said that Italian losses in dead and wounded since a major battle developed Friday have been the heaviest suffered by the Fascists in the Albanian campaign. Figures were not given.

Roosevelt Seeks $7,000,000,000 Under Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, congressional authorities disclosed today, will ask Congress for a $7,000,000,000 appropriation to carry out the President's recommendation of legislation which he is expected to sign today or tomorrow.

Chairman Glass (D-Va.) of the Senate Appropriations Committee made the announcement, saying that the President's recommendation would be for "all cash." That would omit any contract authorization.

Senator Byrnes (D-S.C.) said the appropriation would cover the division of the CAA course, the largest peace-time appropriation ever requested in America's history.

What specific items the money would be used for was not disclosed, but members of Congress who conferred with the President said it would permit the purchase of "all the articles authorized in the British aid bill."

President Roosevelt and Congressmen are expected to act today to hasten final legislative action on the lend-lease bill so that the program calling for all-out aid to Britain can be thrown into high gear this week.

An expressed copy of the legislation is due to reach the White House in time for Roosevelt to affix his signature on Wednesday. White House Secretary Early said the President would issue a statement. He also indicated Roosevelt may deliver a fire-side chat to acquaint the people with the administration's plans under the legislation.

Congressional leaders said after a White House conference yesterday the President probably would send to the Senate and House on Wednesday a request for great appropriations and contract authorizations to carry out the first stages of the aid project. The President persistently has refused to estimate the initial cost of the operation which has been placed variously at between $1,600,000,000 and $3,000,000,000.

newspapermen were entertained yesterday by the association. Those present included Mayors Butler, of Leesburg, Gaylor, of Eustis, Brown, of Clermont, and Baldwin, of Umatilla.

The Umatilla High School Band gave a concert last night. A review of Lake County given by Gen. Albert H. Blending of Bartow, and Adj. Vivian Collins, of St. Augustine, and the awarding of exhibit prizes were the features of today's program.

General Blending and General Collins were entertained by the fair association and Lieut. Col. Thomas H. Cooley, of Mount Dora, commanding the Lake County battalion, at a supper.

Children's day will be observed Friday. Prizes will be awarded to the children.

Parish House Is Busy Place As Opening Of Flower Show Nears

With the opening of the Sanford Garden Club's annual Flower Show only a few hours away, the Parish House, on Magnolia Avenue, hummed with activity today as women rushed about getting the exhibits in shape for the opening tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

A reporter for The Herald visited the scene of the show this morning and was greeted by a throng of club members and put to work about as soon as he stepped inside the door.

When the show was finally had an opportunity to take a few minutes, he was kept busy doing his job of making a list of the exhibits which were being handled into the Parish House.

The center of the hubbub of activity is a great array of all kinds of flowers and numerous special exhibits will have emerged by Wednesday at 2:00 P. M. when the show will open to the public. It will continue that day until 2:00 P. M. and will open the next day at 10:00 A. M. The show will close at 10:00 o'clock Thursday night.

The center of attraction of the Flower Show will be an outdoor garden which is being created on the steps of the Parish House. A background of live plants, including vines and bamboo has been built at some length. A grill for cooking outdoor meals, and one end of the garden, and garden chairs will be placed on the lawn in front of the "outdoor home room" which will be a semi-circular fish pond in which live goldfish will be swimming, and a large pool of the pool will be a gravel path.

Another room will house the original entries. One man took a regular home room will be a semi-circular fish pond in which live goldfish will be swimming, and a large pool of the pool will be a gravel path.

Matsuoka's Visit Is Called Counter-Action To America's British-Aid Bill

Thailand Receives French Territory

Yugoslavia Will Decide Tomorrow If She'll Join Axis

Propaganda guns of the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo alliance boomed in concert against the United States today as Japan's Foreign Minister Yostuke Matsuoka prepared to leave the Far East for important talks with Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini.

In Berlin, informed Nazis said Matsuoka's visit was one of a series of counter actions to the United States aid-to-Britain bill, and that it was considered significant that Matsuoka is accompanied by military experts.

In Rome, the Italians said Matsuoka would discuss Japan's role under the Axis pact in the event of trouble with the United States over the British-aid bill.

Stefano, the official Italian news agency said, "the approach of Spring, with its expected offensives, gives Matsuoka's visit exceptional importance."

In the Balkan crisis, Yugoslavians Report Prince Paul summoned the crown council to meet tomorrow to decide whether Yugoslavia would join the Axis—under a reported Hitler demand that she sign as a full-fledged member.

After a long delay, Thailand (Siam) and French Indo-China signed the Japanese-arranged "peace protocol" ending their frontier conflict, and giving Thailand an estimated 25,000 square miles of France's Far East colonial territory.

Germany was reported in authoritative diplomatic quarters last night to have dashed Yugoslav hopes of a compromise understanding with the Axis and to have demanded full alliance in the three-power pact.

As a consequence, there were unconfirmed reports that Premier Dragisa and Foreign Minister Cvetkovitch would go to Germany today or later in the week to sign a non-aggression pact.

By a friendship and non-aggression accord Yugoslavia had hoped to remain a bystander in threatened Balkan troubles and to avoid taking sides until the situation is clearer.

C. Gibbs to re-roof a building at 718 Oak Avenue, at a cost of $315.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

GOD'S WAY IS BEST FOR US: He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him.—John 14:21.

A BRAVE YOUNG SONG

(From Kaleidograph)

My songs hide from me in strange odd places:
I catch one fishing a summer's noon
By the gray, green water below
the willows,
And a poppet swings on the lip of the moon.

When I lie awake through a rainy midnight
I hear them rolling down the stairs,
But search as I may with my
bedroom candle
In nook or cranny, not one is there.

Whenever I come to a patch of horror
And turn to blame through my ears
There's a brave young song with his cap on crooked,
Who steps the road with me,
Stride on stride.

Wondering about what will one high priced writer has just to be worrying about what is com-

When the Japanese attack should send the U. S. navy over there and sink the whole Japanese fleet. Then our Navy could be safely transferred to the At-

Now we can look forward to ten years.—Ocala Banner. And Sanford is in danger of not it for the first time in more years than that.

Two girls were allowed to

Their attorneys said they might

New Taxes

Our national government has been spending so much money in recent years that the people generally have rather lost their sense of values with respect to public funds. But when the federal government spends more than it takes in, all it has to do is to reach into its tall silk hat, mumble a few words of hocus pocus, and presto! out hops a billion or two just like a little white rabbit.

Unfortunately our State Government cannot do that. It has to operate on a pay-as-you-go basis. It cannot borrow money at all. It can, and does, pile up trouble for the future, but not in the form of State bonds. For such small favors we should of course be thankful. But the simple fact that our rapidly rising State expenditures must be met out of current taxation presents a problem of immediate urgency which cannot be solved by passing the buck.

The recent report by the Brookings Institution reveals that a great deal can be done to put Florida's fiscal house in order merely by the passage of a few laws equalizing property assessments, providing central supervision over all State revenues, and budgetary control of all public spending, as well as the consolidation of certain bureaus and commissions and the careful elimination of unnecessary expenditures.

But not all the economy in the world or the most efficient operation of the government will bring the necessary expenditures within the scope of current revenues, particularly if some of our present taxes are going to be abolished and the services of the government increased as the public demands. There simply will have to be some new form of taxation which must be lucrative and we hope painless.

Latest reports indicate that the State will lose about $3,600,000 from its present revenues through the repeal of the ad valorem tax and the gross receipts tax. With the State already $1,700,000 behind in its current operating expenses before the repeal of these taxes take effect, it can be easily that next year's deficit would already be over $5,000,000.

Then if anything is to be done for the schools to bring them up to a par with those in the rest of the country, and if the assistance given the old folks is to be kept in line with that in other states, something like 15 or 16 million dollars will have to be raised from new sources of revenue. Altogether it is not a happy prospect either for the Legislature which must devise the method or for the administration which must operate the funds.

Least of all is it a happy prospect for the taxpayer or the new taxpayer yet to be found, who in the final analysis always has to foot the bill.

Genius From Abroad

Thousands of refugees have been pouring into the United States from strife-ridden foreign countries for the past few years. Thousands more will come in the next few years. Many of them are the best minds of Europe—doctors, lawyers, scientists, inventors, musicians.

Driven from their own homes abroad, they should be a welcome addition to our own population which has been made the strongest and richest on earth by its mixture of European cultural influences. By the short-sighted politicians in their own countries, they will help to make America great just as similar refugees in years gone by have contributed to its growth.

Native-born Americans have given to the world many epochal inventions of which the late Thomas A. Edison contributed more than any other single individual. Says the Key West Citizen, "But America also owes much of its prestige in invention to the genius of foreign-born immigrants who added lustre to its brilliant record. A few of these may be mentioned.

"Ericsson, who came from Sweden, invented the Monitor.
"Alexander Graham Bell, born in Scotland, later lived in Canada, and as a resident in the United States, gave the telephone to the world.
"Emile Berliner came from Germany to perfect the telephone and improve the phonograph.
"Nicola Tesla from Austria-Hungary invented the induction motor and numerous other epochal electrical devices.

"Charles J. Vanderpoel from the Netherlands devised the electric street car trolley.
"Charles P. Steinmetz, coming from Germany as a poor, deformed immigrant boy, who borrowed money from a fellow passenger in order to obtain admission to the United States, won universal fame as an electrical wizard.
"Michael I. Pupin, a poor immigrant boy from Hungary, made long distance telephone possible.

"This by no means exhausts the list of those of foreign birth who developed their great talents, talents after coming to the United States, and who, became identified with American scientific achievement."

AS FOR THE THEORY that every youth has his or her particular "fate," and until he or she meets that "fate" his or her life cannot be "fulfilled," it is as certain as anything human can be that in the average happy marriage the husband would have been equally happy with any one of 10,000 other women, and the wife with any one of 10,000 men. (And I am understating!) The choice of a partner is seldom due to aught but fortuitous circumstances. If each individual has his "fate," it is extremely curious that his "fate" so often happens to be living in the same town, or even in the same street! Broadly speaking, the "fate" theory has been the cause of more unhappy marriages than anything else.—Arnold Bennett.

AT THE END of my university studies, when I was leaving for my first professional job, I want to say goodbye to my old teacher, William Peterfield Trent.
"I can give you no theoretical advice in pedagogy," he said, "but I'll tell you one thing from experience. It will frequently happen when you are holding forth that some boy in the class will disagree. He will probably shake his head violently. You will be tempted to go after him and convert him then and there. Don't do it. He is probably the only one who is listening."—John Erskine.

U. S. Army Calls For Co-operation Of Nearby Cities

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—(AP)—When the soldiers of a military post or reservation are reached, authority over army morale and the all-important co-operation of civilian authorities and organizations begins.

"I'll say in a 'morale' because there are certain things a soldier is not permitted to do anywhere but by and large the theory of Army morale, according to officers in the new morale division, is that a soldier seeking frugation of diversion is entitled to do anything that a civilian can do. The soldier has the added duty of upholding the dignity and honor of his uniform and the service."

A soldier off duty in a community where liquor is sold is just as privileged to take a drink as a civilian. If he gets drunk that is another matter and even if he is not violating the civil laws, he may be violating the Army code.

Parish House Busy As Flower Show Approaches

Capitulum Parish, held an outdoor garden party on the white picket fence. On tables will be the display from three schools, the Southside Primary School, the West Side Primary School, and the Holy Trinity school.

Near the entrance to the school is the "Garden Club" room which will be set up to give free information on any phase of gardening. Mrs. W. H. Stimpert is directing the party.

The Rose Circle of the club is sponsoring the show, and wishes to thank the Sanford Furniture Company and the Hill Hardware Company for the assistance they have given.

Fascist Cruiser Is Believed To Be Sunk

LONDON, Mar. 11.—(AP)—British officers at sea and in the air brought reports yesterday that one of Italy's fastest cruisers was "almost certainly" sunk by a submarine attack and that the R.A.F. had dropped bombs on the "German-held" coast of France.

The destroyers in the Italian fleet, which was sunk in a Mediterranean battle last summer, had been reported, apparently also in the Mediterranean, although the communiques did not say so.

The word "cruiser" is taken from two French words "cruiser" meaning "cruiser" and "cruiser" meaning "cruiser".

Squadron Leader L. A. Strange

Squadron Leader L. A. Strange is credited with founding and building England's parachute unit, and paratroops, a detachment of which recently invaded Italy. Although a flier since 1908, Squadron Leader Strange never made a parachute jump until last year.

on "date lists" for the camp code parties and they those entertainments which are held in town. Military police and civilian authorities in policing districts which offer too many temptations. (Military police make no effort to control civilians, but how they do take a hand when the soldier boys get into trouble!)

Things aren't rosy at all the camps by any means—especially those where the nearby civilian authorities are inadequate to cope with the situation or are tied in politically with organized vice. However, an unofficial observer who made most of the larger camps opined that conditions were much better than in 1917-18. Bars, juke-joints, brothels and gambling dens filled with khaki-clad figures were plentiful—perhaps too much so in some sections—but when a comparison was made with civilian vice figures, many of the camps seemed to have a better record than the youth in miff.

All in all, the situation might well be summed up in the words of a high official in the morale division who asked that his name not be used. He said: "Things could be better—a lot better—but if we get a little help from civilians, any enemy that attacks is going to discover that from Valence to Chateau Thierry, they never was a time when American military morale was such a tough nut to crack."

Student Lawyers At Stetson Have Trial Arguments

DeLand, Mar. 11.—(Special)—Student lawyers at Stetson University's College of Law launched this week into a program of argument practice that, as described by Dean Paul E. Raymond, will make the local institution unique among the nation's law schools. Under a new plan, organized by Prof. Robert J. Wilson and Prof. Thomas F. Lambert, every one of Stetson's future barristers is guaranteed a schedule of frequent verbal experiences throughout his law college career.

The new plan takes the place of what was known at Stetson as the Law Club Competition, whose principal weakness was the elimination of a great number of students from oral argument practice after their first year. Top-ranking speakers went on to higher stages of competition.

The argument system now in effect gives the less eloquent students continued practice in debate and oral presentation of legal points.

Details of the plan include the splitting of all classes of the College of Law in two "argument clubs," whose membership comprises students of every rank. Based upon a regular plan, every law student will be pitted against every one of his fellows before the year ends. Each club, upon a week and every member has the floor during the session to discuss questions taken from the class work of the week. With faculty members as judges, a tally of wins and losses will be kept and appropriate recognition bestowed at the end of the rounds of competition.

Nazis' Invasion Of Bulgaria Said To Mark Italian Failure As Decoy

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—(AP)—Germany's march into Bulgaria convinces military observers here that Hitler has decided to disport Mussolini about 100 percent, and himself take up the task of decaying Britain's forces in the Near East.

It has been more or less an open secret here that German respect for Italian arms has never been too high. There was laughing up sleeves when Field Marshal Goring spent much "vacation" time in Italy a couple of years ago, before the war started.

It was assumed the marshal was trying to figure out whether the Italian military forces could perform their appointed task of decaying large British forces in the Mediterranean zone and holding them there, while Germany attacked the British Isles.

The Italians themselves have long assumed that the first task of their navy was decoy work. During the demonstration of Italian destroyers a few years ago for military attaches, the Italian commanders put on a burst of speed, and exclaimed: "You see, nothing will ever be able to catch us."

UNTIL this winter, the Italians had been highly successful as decoys. They had lured heavy British forces of from a quarter to a half-million troops, fully equipped, down into the African desert. They had kept nearly one-third of the British fleet in the Mediterranean—including four battleships, possibly six several airplane carriers, submarines and many destroyers, busy chasing to convoy merchant ships off Ireland.

So long as Mussolini served as a decoy, he served well the grand strategy conceived by Hitler. Since long before the war this strategy has consisted of weakening the strength of Hitler's opponents. The Axis idea was Then Bulgaria. Now his own powerful military forces confront the British on the Balkan front. If the British try to move naval, air or military strength to the British Isles this Spring the whole Balkans will be in Hitler's hands. If they keep those forces in the Near East, then he will himself have moved in a decoy in place of Mussolini.

The fact is, the mere presence of one of Hitler's armies in the Balkans is enough to hold British forces in the Near East. And the German high command knows it better than anybody else.

THERE are, of course, other compensating factors for the Germans. They now have a protective cordon around the prostrate Rumanian oil fields. They have split off Yugoslavia from Russia, and make it a little more likely that the Serbs will listen to proposals to join the axis. Greece is threatened now, as usual before, at a time when the British prefer not to have to send their strength into the Balkans. And finally, the maneuver gives power to Russia and Turkey, however much assistance was also given to those nations by the Germans.

These are not inconsiderable crumbs of diplomatic and military advantage.

Obviously the German high command hopes the British will strike back at the German army through Greece. After all, 700,000 troops, well equipped, can hold off 250,000 odds, and they might make it possible for Mussolini to stay a feeble combatant.

But, from the British point of view, there is at least one advantage—Hitler is no longer using some other nation as a decoy. He's having to furnish his own live decoy in the form of dedicated to that job, and its extension to include Japan definitely furthered the effort to divert British—and American—opposition to Hitler.

But so superior was the show-up of British land, sea and air forces in the Mediterranean during the winter, that Hitler's grand strategy was checked. The British even cast suspicion on Italian efficiency.

ALL of this added up to a new plan for Hitler, required a new pattern of grand strategy. Slowly, so as to avoid violent disturbance of the delicate situation in the Balkans, he moved into Romania.

Stewart Says— Berlin and Rome Show Evidence Of Rough Going

By CHARLES F. STEWART, Central Press Columnist

BERLIN AND Rome, as our state department interprets the news from these two supposedly strictly censored sources, are furnishing the most convincing of all proofs that things are going badly with the European Axis.

From Berlin recently came the information that Herr Hitler has remorselessly squelched all reports of a famine in Holland. On the doubtless has squelched 'em, but his announcement that he's done so is taken as an admission from a first-class authority that there were Dutch disorders that required squelching. And it was as good an authority as Signor Mussolini, who testified that the Fascists were a lot worse licked in northern Africa than even the British said they were.

Adolf and Benito ought to know, if anybody. Benito's revelation was naive to the point of being funny. It evidently had leaked out in Italy itself that the Italian forces were on the run on the southern side of the Mediterranean, and it appears that the Italians at home were beginning to mutter that he'd neglected to send enough of 'em into that field of activity or to keep 'em supplied adequately. Seemingly Benito was stung by these criticisms, so he made that speech of a few days ago, to the effect that his African military outfit was, too, a great plenty more numerous and better equipped than Italy and the rest of the world had given it credit for being. Well, if it was undermanned and skimpily armed it had some excuse for being licked. But, if not, as he asserted, it hadn't even that excuse for taking its licking. Ditch Albania. Benito hotly denied that the Italians there were knocked into a cocked hat by the Greeks due to any failure of his own to send enough of 'em across the Adriatic or to furnish 'em with sufficient guns, munitions and aviation; they simply had been trounced by superior Greek fighting ability, though Benito didn't put it quite that way.

Not His Fault! The nub of it is that, yes, they've been licked, but it wasn't his fault. The inference drawn from Adolf's remarks is that he's conquered more territory than he's going to be able to keep long under subjection.

The Dutch already are so ugly, according to his own oracular pronouncements, that he has had to declare German army rule throughout all the northern Netherlands. Presumably it's effective there at present, but it must be a nuisance to him to have so much hostility aizzling that he has to sit on it with a big military force to prevent it from going on the rampage under him.

And of course there are other areas for him to worry about. Norway's reported to be as near to an anti-Nazi uprising as it dares to be.

France certainly won't stay beat any longer than it has to. It stands to reason that Denmark, Poland and Belgium can't but be ripe for revolt at the first favorable opportunity. The Balkans also are only as pro-German as they're afraid to be otherwise.

Now, Herr Hitler can concentrate on one little spot, like northern Holland, and suppress its anti-Nazi, unquestionably.

But suppose Adolf were to have uprisings break out against him in France, Holland, Belgium, Poland, Denmark and Norway about simultaneously, plus Britain on his hands, maybe the Balkans and Turkey, too, and with Russia's unreliability to reckon with! Wouldn't all that keep him pretty busy?

Japan Is Far Off

Italy's a broken reed to him. And Japan's too far away to help him in Europe.

Just how solidly Germany itself is behind the Fuehrer is something of a problem here. That it's strongly predominantly so isn't questioned. Nevertheless there are vague rumors of a bit of domestic discontent with him; the Fatherland traditionally has its demagogues. There are observers who think they might manifest themselves quite formidably if he runs into serious trouble, giving them a chance to speak above a whisper without being instantly GEB-ELT.

Washington's diplomatic strategists estimate that Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini are coming with his news from abroad and the latter with his news from Albania and Albanian (which) have been a couple of the most enlightening informants.

The world's largest man-made dam is Grand Coulee Dam, now nearing completion on the Columbia River, in Washington.

Germans Still Battling For Food Freedom After 18 Months Of War

By MORGAN M. BRATTY WASHINGTON, Mar. 11—(AP)—After 18 months of war, the Germans haven't won their battle for food freedom.

And that despite the windfall of foods from conquered, occupied, or dominated countries. Official German diet tables showing what the average German eats, published first in 1927, again 10 years later, and extended by United States Department of Agriculture experts to date on the basis of the official rationing, show these facts:

1. The average German's basic diet in 1927 was about 2,866 calories per day per person, or almost the same as the high averages of British and American diets.

2. The "consumption planning" campaign of the Nazis was highly successful in conserving essential foods, but by 1937 it had reduced the basic diet level to the point where it was estimated by American nutrition experts to be 15 percent below the American standard.

3. The present basic diet has been reduced further since 1937, to the point where it averages 13 percent higher than normal in total bulk, but is about 40 percent below normal in energy giving meat and fat. The exact loss in calories cannot be estimated because the complete diet of today is not available.

UNITED STATES Department of Agriculture experts have made two appraisals of the German battle for food freedom within the last year, the latest of which has just reached the desk of President Roosevelt.

They conclude that a crisis in fats, probably leading to even more drastic reduction in this important food element, will come by July 1. But they figure grains and potato reserve will be more than sufficient to last well into mid-1942. That means to the experts that German workers probably won't show serious signs of malnutrition for some time to come, although their production per worker might begin falling off drastically by mid-summer.

The American experts also conclude that the Reich food estate—the organization charged with setting the most out of the available foods—has done a remarkably efficient job of conserving food supplies.

First, these in charge lowered fat and meat content of German diets as early as 1934, so that the German citizen felt hardly a lilt when the deficient war rations went into effect.

They juggled the ration allowances so that manual workers received almost twice as much food as the average German, and the soldiers received fully twice the ration of the folks back home. But they still left the manual worker with only half enough fat. They fertilized German farms to the limit in the three years just before war began and achieved extra production. And finally they gave themselves a "buying" spell this winter by "buying" food in the conquered areas.

NEVERTHELESS, the American experts conclude, this has not been enough to win the battle of food freedom. Not by a jugful. And, here, they tell you, is the proof:

Said Die Deutsche Volkswirtschaft, the official economic journal of the Nazi Party, on Mar. 2, 1939—a few months before the war started, and after the German people had been eating a deficient diet for more than five years: "Lately, signs of over-exertion of workers and employees have become apparent. First, the gripe epidemic has reached such an extent that it can only be explained by increased susceptibility owing to physical and psychological weariness. Second, extreme irritability on account of nervous strain resulting from over-exertion is common. Third, unexcused absence and attempts to stay away from work for flimsy reasons have increased sharply."

The over-exertion of workers is, in the last analysis, only another symptom of the general over-utilization of all resources. THESE, the American experts indicate, are the symptoms of an unintentional all-down strike, a result of the lack of proper fat and meat in the workers' rations. Other experts suggest sustained British defense and blockade could aggravate that condition among the German populace as a whole. The cheerful workman is the fellow who gets plenty of meat and fat, or, in its place plenty of vitamins from fruits and vegetables which Germany admittedly lacks.

This the German battle of food freedom—or in other language—self sufficiency—is not yet won.

Lawrence Tibbett Headlines Artist Series At College

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 11—(Special) Lawrence Tibbett, Metropolitan Opera star, and star of radio, motion picture and concert stage, will headline the artist series for next year at Florida State College for Women.

This announcement has just been made by Dean Ella Scoble Opperman of the School of Music, who is chairman of the artist series committee.

Tibbett will come in February or March of 1942, giving two different concerts. It will mark his first appearance in this area.

This announcement is expected to be of major interest to music patrons who have taken advantage of the increased accommodations made possible for seating audiences in the college auditorium as the result of the policy to schedule two appearances by each artist.

Tibbett, who is a native of Bakersfield, Calif., first appeared on the concert stage at Los Angeles in 1917; and made his operatic debut in the Hollywood Bowl, singing the part of Amonaro in "Aida" in September, 1923. His debut with the Metropolitan occurred in Nov. 30, 1923, when he sang the part of Valentine in "Faust."

He has made concert tours annually from coast to coast and in Europe, and has been featured with various cultures since 1929. He received a gold medal for "good" action on the stage from the American Academy of Arts and Letters in 1933; was chosen "best classical singer" by a radio editors poll four consecutive years and was presented with Litteris et Artibus medal by the King of Sweden in 1937.

At least two other attractions are planned next year on the College Artist Series which every student attends without further cost since allowance is made for this at the beginning of the college year in the student activity fee.

The best-attended artist series in the college's history ended recently with performances of "Carmen" and "Madame Butterfly" by the San Carlos Company, marking the first time grand opera had ever been brought on the artist series. Coe Glade took the leading role in "Carmen" and Hal Koyke, native Japanese, the leading part in "Butterfly." The United States Marine Band was brought back as the opening attraction on this year's artist series.

The first postal service in America was inaugurated on May 7, 1803, between Portsmouth, N. H. and Philadelphia.

500 American Airmen Enter British Forces

Over 500 Fliers Reported Signed Up With Royal Forces Since Last July

Most Volunteers Are Instructors

Several Have Joined 'Eagle Squadron,' U. S. Unit

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—(AP)—More than 500 fliers, drawn from the growing American reservoir of civilian pilots, have enlisted in England's Royal Air Force and Royal Canadian Air Force since mid-July last year.

More than 400 are flying instructors in Canada. About 50 are ferrying England-bound bombing planes across the Atlantic. About 80 are transferring British-made planes from factories to airfields. A few have joined the "Eagle Squadron," an American fighting unit.

Unconfirmed reports reached diplomatic circles here early today that a big British expeditionary force from North Africa is being landed at Piraeus in the port of Athens, for action on the Greek front.

It also was reported that British transports were about to land troops at Balkans, a port near the top of the Adriatic Sea barely 60 miles from where German mechanized forces are massed along the Bulgarian-Greek Macedonian border.

Diplomats in Belgrade heard without any direct confirmation that 40 British military transports arrived Tuesday at Piraeus, heavily bombed Greek port five miles from the city.

The British expeditionary force was said to be drawn from Gen Sir Wavell's Army of the Nile in Egypt and Libya after the battering of Marshal Graziani's Italian North African forces.

For several days it had been reported in Belgrade that the British had assembled at least 10 divisions—approximately 175,000 troops—in Greece for transportation to Africa, but it was not revealed how many of these, if any, had been actually disembarked.

Yesterday's identification was Mrs. Clifford Wallace, 1074 West Ninth Street. Tuesday afternoon, about 2:30 o'clock, you and your wife came out Fenner's Store. You turned in the right hand and walked to the Yowell Company's men's department window where you both paused to examine the display and made some favorable comments about it. You were wearing a grey cap, a tan shirt, brown sweater, light blue trousers and black shoes. You were carrying a package containing a shirt by the size and color still remains a mystery. You stopped in front of the Emerich Hardware display of baseball gloves and engaged in a conversation with a certain salesman about your having played when young etc. etc. After a further few minutes of about five minutes, you departed with the remark that you were going home to plant some corn on the vacant lot back to your place. Approximately 25 States senators attended the hearing. Senator Housholder said and it seemed to be the consensus that the tax report would be of much value in the effort to reorganize the State's tax structure. In addition, a large number of members of the Legislature attended the hearing.

The Brookings Institute was employed by business interests of the State to make a study of the State's tax structure, including income, gift, and estate tax system.

Contracts Sent To Six Ball Players; Bradshaw Urges Public's Co-operation

Contracts for eight baseball players have been mailed by the Sanford directors and the committee to raise funds for the team have been at work all day in an attempt to collect the necessary money in one day. Otto Caldwell, president of the board of directors, said today.

Rick Gillespie, Joe Justice, Bill Daugherty, Jack Russell, Frank Hudson and Ray Ashton have been mailed contracts for the 1941 season.

Gillespie, shortstop, played four years for Rollins College and was optioned to Fort Pierce in the Florida East Coast league for much of last season. He is now assistant coach at Seminole High School.

Joe Justice, second base, is a native Rollins player signed by the Florida East Coast league for much of last season. He is now assistant coach at Seminole High School.

Bill Daugherty, pitcher, is the latest Rollins player to be signed by the Seminoles. Before coming here he pitched the first part of last season with St. Albans, Vt., in the Northern league. While in Rollins he was considered their star pitcher. Last season he was knocked out of the box only twice.

Jack Russell, catcher, backed up Al Kinsler last season but might have been first string on other teams in the league if he were leveled. He signed up last year.

Frank Hudson, pitcher, and Ray Ashton, pitcher, were also signed up last year.

Outlook For Florida Farms Is Improving

Effects Of War And Defense Spending Are Seen As Raising Farm Prices

Due principally to improved domestic demand, the 1941 outlook for Florida farmers is brighter than for the past year and the effects of the European war are likely to be felt increasingly by farm families this year, a report issued today by the University of Florida's Agriculture Extension Service indicates.

"The rapidly expanding program for national defense has resulted in greater industrial production, employment, and consumption," the report declares. "With a national reduction in hoag marketing in prospect for 1941, total slaughter supply of cattle and calves marketed in 1941 is expected to be about the same as for the past two years. A decrease in grain-fed cattle going to market now seems probable, since feed grains are continuing higher relative to cattle prices in 1941."

"Since 1938, the farm economy has followed a similar pattern of increase and decrease of about 100 million dollars. The demand for food in Florida during 1941 will be much greater than for many years, and consumption probably will be increased in proportion to a result of naval and military training camps in Florida.

Other excerpts from the report are as follows: "The national economy is in a position of particular importance to poultry production, and the outlook for the coming year. Florida poultry production in 1941 should be in a relatively good position to obtain higher prices and incomes from their flocks as a result of increased domestic demand for smaller sizes of chickens and turkeys."

"The supply of poultry and other farm products will be increased in 1941, but the demand for these products will be increased also. The 1941 national outlook for farm products and prices is generally optimistic."
