Speakers for both the United States and Soviet Russia marked Christmas week with expressions of desire to reduce world tension.

Special Watch Night Services Set Dec. 31

The Sanford Church of the Nazarenes will be among the 4,300 congregations of the international Protestant church that will pray at special Watch Night services around the world on Tuesday, Dec. 31.

Beginning at 8 p. m., there will be five 45-minute parts to this one-hour observance which will conclude at midnight with the sacrament of Holy Communion.

In addition to the souvenirs bought and pictures taken, there are many things that will be remembered by the men of Dec. 31.

The thought of the past year is to return to Sanford, his family, and his friends. The job, however, is not yet finished over here and won't be for several months.

Nazarenes consistently have been among the first five denominations in stewardship of per capita giving. Members believe in and practice tithing and per capita giving in 1957 will exceed $133.

The special watch night services will average from three to four hours in length around the world. Each local church will take part in other simultaneous services during the 1958 jubilee year.

SOKC Announces Feature Race Slated Tonight... A closely-matched field of eight Grade A steppers will battle for honors in the featured ninth race tonight at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

La Stretch, who likes to run the trail, could be dangerous out of the number one box. The handsome brindle greyhound, owned by B. C. Davis of Longwood, finished a solid third in the main event Tuesday after leading most of the way.

Three fleet dogs who rated star billing at the Volusia County Kennel Club during the summer are also in the lineup. They are Ed's Goldruff, Black Elaine and Rockin Joe, runnerup to Pretty Pam in the Daytona Beach Derby.

Ben Grigsby, chief criminal investigator for the Broward County sheriff, said an autopsy indicated Lee died about 3:30 a. m. Thursday from a 22 caliber rifle bullet fired into his brain "at very close range."

Two spent cartridges also were found on the rear floor but authorities had not determined whether the fatal bullet came from Lee's rifle. A second bullet had shattered the left front vent window of the car.

Purpose Of State Highway Patrol Safety, Courtesy

TALLAHASSEE — Every time a visitor crosses the Florida line, more than 200 Highway Patrol Troopers wait for him.

The troopers are on an around-the-clock vigil to spread safety on the highway and make the visitor's trip to the land of sunshine, fishing and good times a pleasant one.

State troopers have the unpleasant task of handing out traffic tickets and clearing the highway of mangled bodies of wreck victims.

Between seven and eight million visitors pour across the state line every year.

Those drivers, coupled with the three million people who live in Florida, present an ever mounting traffic situation with which to cope.

It takes the total cooperation of every driver on Florida roads to hold down the traffic death score, and that doesn't mean just half-way cooperation.

Florida has a simple set of safety laws.

It is against the law to drive over 65 miles per hour in the daytime or to exceed 35 miles per hour at night.

Trucks are held to 50 in the day time and 45 at night. The same law goes for trailers.

Patrol headquarters stations are located in all towns and cities of any size in the state.

Over 200 Kiddies Guests At Lions' Christmas Party

CASSELBERRY—More than 200 children were guests of the Lions at its fourth annual children's Christmas party held Saturday afternoon in front of the Caselberry-Ferretes Building.

Stanley Patterson, in the role of Santa distributed gifts of candy and chewing gum, and live cream and soft drinks were given the children by other club members.

During the entire party, lasting almost three hours, Christmas music and carols were played on recordings from the club's sound equipped trailer.

An added attraction, one that was in continuous demand by the children was Ray Ryan's Shetland ponies.

A large Christmas tree was procured and erected on the party grounds by Paul Bates, superintendent of the local water company.

Financial assistance to conduct the Lions party was received from collection jars set up and operating for the past two months at the Caselberry Post Office.

Englishman Makes Armored Vests

LONDON (UP)—Meek, mild-mannered Leonard Barrett, has made his fame and modest fortune off men who walked in danger. Armored vests are his stock in trade.

But he also has made a bullet-proof giraffe for Mrs. Christi Kal-shet, thousands of anti-aircraft "flak pants" for the U. S. Air Force, and steel trousers for an intrepid big game hunter who wanted the thrill of chasing lions on foot.

Barrett, in a conservative black checked suit and tie to match his British reserve, looked like the typical English office clerk who shuns violence. Yet violence is his business.

He was more adept at talking about armor even than about the English weather. The mention of bullet proof vests made his serious eyes shine.

"Did you know that there were more armored waistcoats worn in the last war than ever before in history?" he asked as he sipped a cup of tea.

Barrett said that he offered to test the armored suit himself on BIT runs over Germany, but that the U. S. Air Force turned thumbs down because of his top-priority work.

President Expected To Unveil New Space-Age Education Program

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower was expected to unveil a new space-age education program today calling for 10,000 federal college scholarships a year for talented high school graduates. The program, somewhat reduced in size from previous plans, was also expected to propose federal grants to states to improve the teaching of science and mathematics in the public schools.

Total cost of the program, originally forecast at around 300 million dollars annually, was understood to have been pared to between 200 and 250 millions. It does not call for federal aid for school construction.

While the administration still considers construction aid desirable, it was understood this has been given a low priority in favor of the new program geared to scientific needs of the missile and space era.

The President scheduled a conference at 9:30 a. m. e. s. t. at his Gettysburg farm with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Education, and Secretary of Defense. The program, as hammered out over a period of several weeks to take into account views of scientists, educators and government officials, was expected to have these major features:

1. A plan to prevent the loss of an estimated 200,000 students a year in the upper one-fourth of their classes who now either do not complete high school or fail to enter college for financial reasons.
2. Federal grants to states, with states putting up a share, to improve teaching of science and mathematics in public schools. The states would be free to decide how to use the money—whether to buy additional equipment, pay higher salaries for science and math teachers, hire more teachers, set up state supervisory agencies for science and math teaching, or other means.
3. Establishment with federal aid of foreign language instruction centers in the states, plus a small number of foreign language scholarships to high school students with the goal of encouraging study in tongues important in the world of today—such as Asian, African and Near Eastern languages.
4. Federal fellowships to encourage more college graduates to go into graduate schools to become college teachers.
5. A big expansion of the National Science Foundation's existing program of special seminars and instruction for teachers of science and math to improve teaching techniques; updating of textbooks and materials; and graduate fellowships in basic re-

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UP)—President Sukarno of Indonesia has warned the West that it will be cut off from the "majority of mankind" unless it stops trying to impose its political formulas in other areas of the world.

The veteran Asian nationalist also cautioned against putting a communist tag on "every deviation from western thoughts in Asia."

Sukarno, who is scheduled to leave the country soon for a rest, made his statements Sunday in written replies to cable questions from United Press at a time when his country is embroiled in a diplomatic battle with the Netherlands.

He was asked specifically about a recent allegation by a London newspaper that Indonesia is heading for a communist regime independent on China and Russia.

"I am rather reluctant to comment on such an allegation... since it seems to me to become rather a hobby for some quarters to accuse a country or people as communists if their views on political or economic affairs do not coincide with the West's," he said.

Firm Warning

He noted that Indonesia was one of the last countries to establish diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union and conducts relatively little trade with Russia or Communist China compared with other nations in Asia and many in Western Europe.

"But apart from that, let me express a firm warning to those quarters that it would not be wise to ascribe every deviation from western thoughts in Asia to Communism or communist influences," Sukarno said.

He said development of political and economic stability calls for ingenuity of leadership and methods that blend with the times.

"I am afraid that if you regard as your opponent every nation, every country, mainly because they differ from you, soon you will be isolated from the majority of mankind," he said.

Sukarno said, however, that Indonesia has no intention of taking measures against other foreign nationals or foreign properties as it has against Dutch residents and Dutch business and agricultural enterprises here.

United For Centuries

The anti-Dutch action has been in retaliation for the Netherlands' refusal to give West New Guinea, which the Indonesians call West Irian, to Indonesia. It remained Dutch when Indonesia won its independence from the Netherlands in 1947.

"West Irian is part and parcel of the political unity of Indonesia which was previously called the Netherlands East Indies," Sukarno said.

"... The people of Indonesia including West Irian were united for centuries not only by the Dutch administration but also by their history and their common struggle for national existence and their eventual freedom."

He said Indonesia has "no claim whatsoever" to East New Guinea, which is administered by Australia.

Man Wrecks Car, Faces Charges In 2 Counties

A 30-year-old Navy man faces charges in both Volusia and Seminole Counties as a result of the crash of his automobile near the Lake Monroe Bridge last night shortly before 10 o'clock.

Jezreel Jowers, attached to the Sanford Naval Air Station, was charged by Florida Highway Patrol officers with speeding and reckless driving.

Jowers said "I swerved to keep from hitting a car in front of me and flipped over." His car, which came to a stop on its top about 50 feet to the east of 17-92 and south of the bridge was declared a "total loss."

However, Jowers escaped from the wreckage without any injuries. He was driving a 1950 Chrysler.

FHP officers said that he was being chased through DeFary and across the bridge where Deputy Sheriff J. L. Kriz was parked watching traffic. Kriz said "I saw him come off the bridge and flip over." The FHP officer failed to see the accident and sped on in an attempt to overtake the speeding car.

Russia 20 Years Behind U. S. In Agriculture

"The Russians are 20 years behind the U. S. in agriculture," John Darby said Friday as he introduced Dr. R. W. Ruprecht, vice-director in charge of the Central Florida Experiment Station, to the Sanford Kiwanis Club.

Dr. Ruprecht described, in detail, the economic impact of the Central Florida Experiment Station and some of the work done there.

"The first experiment was conducted here by the United States Department of Agriculture in 1923," he said.

Then, explained the experiment station's top man "the 1932 legislature appropriated money to establish a field laboratory here." In 1937 the work enlarged and in 1943 "the status of the laboratory was changed to a branch station."

"We've continued to grow until now we have a staff of seven scientists, six of them with doctor's degrees," said Dr. Ruprecht.

He also explained that two United States Department of Agriculture men used the Central Florida Experiment Station for field work.

All of these men own their homes here, are most active in civic and church affairs, he said.

"We are part of the University of Florida and the university's college of agriculture," he explained.

It is hard for some people to understand the difference between the experiment station and the ex-

Auto Pulls Out In Front Of Bus; Both Drivers Hurt

A 1958 Greyhound Seaside Cruiser traveling north on Highway 17-92 was stopped early Sunday morning by a passenger automobile which moved out of the Motor's Inn parking lot in the wrong direction and in front of the bus.

Sanford Police Department reports that Bus Driver Carl J. Hughes of Jacksonville received an injured knee and Lois Jackson, a Sanford waitress, received deep lacerations of the left forehead.

The Greyhound bus was damaged an estimated $400 and the automobile damaged approximately $550.

Passengers on the northbound bus were forced to wait about 90 minutes for a replacement bus to continue their trip to Jacksonville.

The automobile was thrown an estimated 60 feet when struck on the left side by the bus.

Charges of careless and negligent driving were placed by local officers against Miss Jackson.

The accident occurred at 3:11 a. m. Sunday morning near the intersection of French and Seminole Boulevard.

Fugitive Dies In Wreck; Roadblocks Set Up Here

Roadblocks were thrown up in Seminole County and in Sanford last night when reports were received that "it was believed Henry Clay Overton and Wayne Carpenter, subjects of a south-wide search in connection with a double killing in Washington, D. C., were seen in DeLand."

Florida Highway Patrol officers, Deputy Sheriffs, and local policemen were stationed at strategic points to stop the two men reported to be traveling in two stolen automobiles from Jacksonville.

The lookout was posted for a 1933 and a 1937 two-tone Chevrolet possibly heading in the direction of Sanford.

One deputy of the Seminole County Sheriff's office was located at the Lake Monroe Bridge, a Sanford Police Department cruiser was stationed at the city limits north of the city and other cars were placed at locations where the fugitives might enter the highway from various side roads.

However, at approximately the same time an accident occurred at the Lake Monroe Bridge, which officers thought at first might be one of the fugitives, Henry Clay Overton died in a high speed head-on collision while fleeing a police car near Wrens, Ga.

A Florida man, who was unable to get his car out of the path of the stolen auto Overton was driving at 110 miles an hour, was killed in the collision. Officers found no trace of Wayne Carpenter, 22, listed as the man who helped Overton shoot up a Washington, D. C., bar early Friday.

Sgt. R. L. Knight and Cpl. F. H. Talton of the Georgia Highway Patrol said they had chased the 1938 car Overton was driving for about a mile and a half when he apparently looked back and allowed the vehicle to swerve into the wrong lane. Overton was thrown out along the a sawed-off shotgun and a suitcase full of shotgun shells.

The Overton car burst into flames, Charlie Wray of Cocoa, Fla., was found dead in the back seat of his demolished car.

The FBI, which had been on the trail of Overton and Carpenter since they killed two men in a bar and commandeered a getaway car, sped agents to the wreck scene in an effort to find some indication of what became of Carpenter.

Patrolmen said it appeared doubtful Carpenter could have survived the crash if he had been with Overton. But the entire surrounding area was scoured without finding any trace of him.

The patrolmen said they saw the car in Wrens and followed it northward out of town along U. S. 1.

"When we pulled the siren on him, he opened up," King said. "Then after we'd gone about a mile and a half he must have tried to look back and see if we were still on his tail, because he swerved over into the other lane, and that's when it happened."

The patrolmen said they were so close behind the fleeing car, and smoke and dust billied up so heavily.

Automobile Tags To Go On Sale Here Jan. 2

John L. Galloway, Seminole County Tax Collector, who acts as Agent for the Motor Vehicle Commissioner, stated today that 1958 motor vehicle registration plates will go on sale at the Tag Office in the Seminole County Court House on Jan. 2.

Based on the records over the past several years it is expected around 21,500 automobile tags will be sold during 1958 in Seminole County, Galloway said. "On the average, auto tag sales have increased 11 per cent each year over the past several years," the Seminole County Tax Collector said.

The sales through Dec. 27, of this year, he said, totaled 19,046 and total sales in 1958 were 16,963.

Over 200 tags have been reserved for 1958. These tags, however, will not be distributed until Jan. 2. Unless tags have been previously reserved they will be sold strictly in sequence when the sale begins Thursday morning.

Citrus Commission Official To Speak At Kiwanis Meet

Homer Hooks, Executive Secretary of the Florida Citrus Commission, will be the principal speaker at Kiwanis on Friday, Jan. 3 at 12 noon. Senator Douglas Stenstrom is in charge of the program.

The Kiwanis meeting has been set for Friday due to New Year's Day falling on the regular meeting day.

Hooks was recently appointed to the $25,000 a year job as administrator of Florida's citrus program. He is a graduate of the University of Florida, and following an outstanding newspaper career, became associated with the citrus industry some years ago.

Senator Stenstrom stated that the speaker would bring members of the club up to date on the exact picture of the industry as of today and will assess the damages resulting from the recent freeze.

Courtesy Week Plans Near End

"Courtesy Week plans are nearly complete," Howard McNulty, chairman of the Jaycee Courtesy Week committee reported this morning.

Secret committees to select the most courteous saleslady, salesman, policeman, waitress and act have been appointed, said McNulty, and plans are being completed to get the committees in action on Jan. 6.

Already the badges to be worn by salespeople throughout the area have been received and will be distributed along with streamers by a Jaycee committee.

Streamers announcing "Courtesy Week Jan. 6-12" have been printed and will be ready for distribution immediately.

Also received are the bumper strips which will be attached to local automobiles to promote the week proclaimed by Governor Leroy Collins as a week in which to "stimulate interest at the local level promoting the practice of courtesy among all citizens, especially those catering to the tourist trade, public service personnel, police, and other civic employees, and all those having contact with visitors and new residents."

The Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, said M. L. Raborn Jr., president of the group is sponsoring Courtesy Week in Sanford in cooperation with the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

John Kruler, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, said that the impact of Courtesy Week can be tremendous and "we are happy that the Jaycees are co-operating with us in an effort to make Courtesy Week one of the most successful events undertaken here."

78-Year-Old Man Invents Flexible Walking Frame

A 78-year-old Sanford man received his first patent Friday and said "I am working on another one right now."

Walter E. Blake, 417 West First Street, displayed the seal-stamped document for a flexible walking frame.

Blake, a retired railroad man, said the frame is one which assists in the exercise and training of the muscles.

"My frame is easier to use," said Blake, for unlike the old type frame, this new one merely needs the patient to lean on it to move along. The old type frame, Blake explained, had to be picked up to be moved.

"There are six swivel joints that allow the frame to adjust to the body," the elderly inventor said. It is also adjustable for different age groups, he said, as well as differences in height, width and girth.

A south-wide alert had been issued for Overton and Carpenter in the early morning hours Friday, after they blazed away at occupants of the Jo-Del Restaurant in Washington with a pistol and a sawed-off shotgun. George P. Kaldes, 33, owner of the restaurant, was killed, along with hill-billy singer Kenneth Harlan Fishar, 34, who worked there.
Bernard J. Hainer, 23, blind barroom piano player, was wounded.
Overton, a 44-year-old barber, was described as a diabetic who had a record of frequent run-ins with the law. He had served a term in the Federal penitentiary in Atlanta for violating the federal liquor laws, and was released from there in March 1952.
Carpenter was described as a "hep-cat" who played the drums. Washington police said Kaldes apparently had known Overton for some time. Witnesses to the shooting said Overton and Carpenter had argued with the bar owner about the bill for whisky they had consumed.

Baggerly Opens

Store On Park Ave.
J. T. Baggerly of Baggerly's Appliance Center announced today that he is opening his appliance business at his new store located at 2533 South Park Ave.
Baggerly's Appliance Center, until today, was located at 115 South Magnolia Ave.
Featured at Baggerly's Appliance Center are Westinghouse appliances. Other appliances at Baggerly's are Maytag Washers and Dryers, Zenith television and radio, Sunbeam appliances and Coleman space and circulating heaters.
The new store into which Baggerly's Appliance Center is moving is modern in every respect, said J. T. Baggerly. The building faces South Park Ave., has plenty of off-street parking, and its glass front gives easy eye-view of the entire showroom.

Statistics Show Business Firm Growth In County

Statistics released today by J. L. Gravlee, district manager of the Jacksonville office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reflect the growth of business firms in Seminole County during the past ten years. Figures obtained from a physical count of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book for November, 1957, totaled 454 manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in this area as compared to 291 listings in 1947—an increase of 53 per cent for the period.
The Reference Book, incidentally, only lists manufacturers, whole salers and retailers. It does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as barber and beauty shops, stock and real estate brokers. Thus the figure for businesses in Seminole County would actually be higher than the 454 quoted above.
Approximately three million business listings for over 50,000 communities in the United States are contained in the Reference Book. It is published every sixty days to keep listings current. During the past sixty days nearly 62,000 new names were added and nearly 60,000 names were removed. Credit ratings were changed during this period on more than 100,000 business concerns.

As one phase in revising credit ratings and keeping them up-to-date, every year the credit reporting agency writes to all businesses who are listed in the Reference Book to request their year-end balance sheets. Gravlee says that this letter speeds up the flow and processing of some of the facts on which credit ratings are based.
"More than 95 per cent of all commercial transactions in the U.S. are made on credit terms," he added. "The purpose of the Reference Book is to help businessmen in any part of the country make credit to ship or sell to businessmen in any other part of the country."
The credit rating is one of the key factors in approving orders to ship or sell. The rating consists of two symbols. The first, a letter of the alphabet, indicates financial strength or tangible net worth of the business. The second symbol is a number. It reflects a composite appraisal of the background, operations, financial stability, and payment record.
Each Reference Book listing, which includes the rating, is a condensed summary of the information contained in the Dun & Bradstreet credit report. The report includes a history of the business (who owns it, who runs it, and how long it has been operating); a description of what the business does and how it does it; a financial section (which usually includes the latest financial statement); and a record of how the concern pays its bills.
While credit reports are primarily used by businessmen who want to evaluate the credit risk before shipping or selling, insurance underwriters also use credit reports to review risks, rates, and coverage for fire and other types of insurance.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Shealy Are Held Today

Mrs. Dorothy LeGer Shealy, 23, died in Seminole Memorial Hospital at 8:10 p. m. Friday night following a lengthy illness.
Mrs. Shealy was born Aug. 6, 1932, in Sanford and has lived here all of her life. Her residence was on West First St.
She attended the Church of the Nazarene in Sanford.
Survivors include her husband, Paul L. Shealy, Sanford; mother, Mrs. Gertrude LeGer, Sanford; three sisters, Mrs. Melvin Spivey, Sanford; Miss Esther LeGer and Miss Mary LeGer, Sanford; two brothers, E. G. LeGer, and D. P. LeGer, both of Daytona Beach; and her grandfather, George Simmons of Winter Garden.
Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Brison Funeral Home with the Rev. Robert Spear Jr., officiating.
Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery.

Local Filling Station Broken Into Last Night

A Texaco filling station, about one mile south of Sanford on the west side of the highway, was broken into sometime last night, Sheriff J. L. Hobby said this morning.
The station was entered through a window at the rear of the building, the Sheriff said.
"Apparently the man or men were looking for money and nothing else was disturbed," said Sheriff Hobby.
Deputy Sheriff A. E. Evans is investigating the breaking and entering.

Eugene Flint's Mother Dies

Mrs. Nettie Anna Flint, 53, died suddenly at Seminole Memorial Hospital at 7:29 p. m. Saturday.
Mrs. Flint came to Sanford with her husband on Dec. 23 to visit her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Flint, over the Christmas holidays.
She was born Dec. 27, 1904 at Kallishell, Mont. and made her home in Whitefish, Mont. She is a member of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Kallishell, Mont.
Mrs. Flint is survived by her husband, William L. Flint of Whitefish, Mont.; one daughter, Mrs. John Gilder, Kallishell, Mont.; three sons, Eugene L. Flint, Sanford; Kedric W. Flint, Hingham, Mont.; and Boyd A. Flint, College Place, Wash.; eight grandchildren, two brothers, and four sisters.
Remains were sent to Whitefish, Mont., this afternoon for funeral services and interment.
Brison Funeral Home is in charge.

TODAY'S THOUGHT
Found between Psalms 69
and 72.

The Stigma Of Crime Should Not Be Legislated Against Innocent

The primary basis for laws which restrict—and often forbid—public release of names of juveniles involved in "delinquency" is a natural desire on the part of most adults to protect young people who may have "gone astray" only momentarily.

Realizing that public censure often is more severe than any punishment which the courts might mete out, and that this censure has a far greater impact on a youngster than it does on more hardened and cynical adults, we do whatever we can to avoid it completely or to lessen its effect on juveniles.

When applied to teenagers who normally are fine boys and girls, but who may have erred only once, this practice is admirable. Certainly we do not want to brand a young man or woman as a criminal because of one relatively minor indiscretion.

The pitfall in this approach, however, lies in the fact that while we protect the "first offender" and the "innocent" we also offer a place to hide for confirmed criminals who may happen to be classified as "juvenile" because of age.

In addition, by failing to make public the names of teenagers who are involved in a number of crimes, we inadvertently cast a stigma on all teenagers. This was vividly demonstrated in a southern city not so many months ago when a "juvenile crime wave" grew from the repeat offenses of only four or five young boys. Such has been the case here in Seminole County when vandalism was committed by only a few youngsters.

Yet, in the absence of prohibitive laws, newspapers generally do not publish the names of juvenile delinquents, except when a major crime, such as murder or robbery is involved. Even then the names may not be used, depending on the circumstances.

Nevertheless, we believe the time has come to differentiate between juvenile delinquents and juvenile criminals. In our desire to protect the former we should not, wittingly or unwittingly, provide a haven for the latter.

We believe a program is possible which serves both ends—protecting the innocent and the first-offenders yet making known the names of repeated violators.

Our state representatives, not only in our county but in every county in Florida, should revamp all legislation to meet the needs of our growing problems before they get out of hand and beyond correction.

Newspapers, within their own policies, protect the names of juveniles who are innocent of crime. It is within our own state laws where the stigma of crime reflects upon all teenagers because of the repeated acts of the incorrigible.

Fruits Of Policy Yet To Come

The National Association of Manufacturers recently held a convention in New York. According to a Wall Street Journal report of the proceedings, "Most of the nation's industrialists seem to be planning to hold a damper on their prices next year."

Some are seeking ways to lower prices, or offer more for the same price. This isn't because industrialists are any more public-spirited than the rest of us. It's because danger signs have appeared in the form of consumer resistance and tougher competition. In other words, producers don't want to be priced out of the market.

The AFL-CIO big union held its convention in Atlantic City at about the same time. A proposal from one delegate that labor hold the wage line was buried under denunciations.

Following that, one of the press associations reports, a unanimous vote was given to "... a resolution making sizable wage boosts, a shorter work week and fringe benefit improvements their 1958 collective bargaining policy."

We have yet to see what the fruits of this policy will be. But one thing is sure—labor can be priced out of the market, with soaring unemployment as the result, just as surely as can industrialists.

Will the labor bosses have to learn the hard way that buyers of a product or a day's work can't be forced to consume or employ beyond their ability to pay?

Make Haste Slowly Is Warning

Strong opposition is developing against a proposed law which would have the federal government through the social security system, pay for hospital and other medical costs incurred by people eligible for social security benefits.

Organizations which have gone on record against this compromise a long and diverse list—including, for example, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the American Medical Association. And the opposition is based solidly on principle—that the proposed legislation amounts to compulsory insurance for those affected; that it would inevitably be extended to other groups, and that it could very well be the entering wedge to eventual socialized medicine—the hope of advocates of socialism in the United States.

The American Medical Association now has a committee at work on an extensive research study of the medical needs and status of elderly people. This committee's chairman, Dr. George M. Fister says: "The A.M.A. has supported and promoted voluntary health insurance and other voluntary measures designed to promote individual and family economic security and responsibility. Progress in this direction has been phenomenal. Let's not take hasty action; there is no immediate problem. This picture is too complex. What we must do is study the problem carefully. Government intervention would be fatal."

Here is a matter where wisdom and reason demand that we follow the old adage and make haste slowly. The potentialities of the proposed bill, and the scope of the precedents it could establish, are staggering and dismaying.

Railroads Report Revenue Drop

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's railroads report a drop in revenue during 1957.

The Assn. of American Railroads said operating revenues from passenger and freight service was $10,366,000,000 of the total, a decrease of 16 million dollars. Passenger revenues in 1957 totaled 740 million dollars, a drop of 2.2 per cent. Other revenues dropped 2.1 per cent to 825 million dollars.

William T. Falvey, chairman of the association, said the railroads' total operating expenses amounted to $8,220,000,000 this year, an increase of 112 million dollars or 1.4 per cent over 1956.

He said the carriers would pay out $1,090,000,000 in taxes, a drop of 41 million dollars or 3.7 per cent.

Net operating income, charges, dropped 13.4 per cent to 925 million dollars.

Falvey said this would give the railroads a three and one-third per cent return on net investment in 1957, compared with 3.96 per cent total in 1956.

"The recent low estate of railroad earnings has excluded the general use of equity capital in financing improvements in plant and equipment," he said.

"In view of this situation," he added, "the railroads must look to their net income not only for dividends and reserves but also for much of the financing of the program of capital improvements essential to their continued operations."

Falvey said any "substantial improvement" in the railroads rests on action that should be taken to "correct the inequities in public policies" which handicap them in meeting competition from other forms of transportation.

Missouri Country Store Carries On As In Old Days

EASLEY, MO.—(UP)—Tucked away in the rolling hills along the Missouri River south of Columbia is a general store, vintage 1890.

A pot-bellied stove stands amid groceries, tools and bolts of cloth just as it did at the close of the last century when William H. Easley founded the store. The small community was named for him.

Descendants of the founder, Hall Easley and his nephew, Raymond Easley and his wife, operate the store today—without a change.

It is open seven days a week—12 hours a day—and Sunday is the busiest. On that day, the 30 townsfolk and persons from nearby communities arrive to shop and visit.

NO HURRY
They find fresh foods and an ornate scale operated by hand manipulation of little weights. The scale bears a 1957 stamp of approval from the weights and measures division of the state department of agriculture.

Balls of bright material catch the eyes of women customers who are allowed to spread it out and take as long as they need to make up their minds. Mrs. Easley refuses to hurry them. The customer, she explained, must take the initiative.

Farm tools and work clothes, even lanterns, are available to the men. And the children find jars of candy set invitingly near on worn counters. School supplies are the kind used a half century ago, not a slick sheet of paper among them.

A TV SET
Only one modern note can be seen in the store. A television set was brought in by the Easley family when that new-fangled invention first was produced. Most of the time it stands unused. As soon as the novelty wore off, customers returned to the circle of

Mothers To Have Reunion In China With Three Sons

NEW YORK (AP)—Three American mothers will leave here next Wednesday—New Year's Day—for China and a reunion with their sons, prisoners of the Communists.

Mrs. Ruth Redmond of Yonkers, N. Y., said today the departure date was decided following a conference with the two other mothers, Mrs. John Downey of New Britain, Conn., and Mrs. Philip G. Feeceau of Lynn, Mass.

"We have been busy getting things together, taking shots and everything, and we plan to get away about noon on New Year's Day," Mrs. Redmond said. "We are all very excited about the whole thing."

Her son, Hugh Redmond, 36, was a representative of an American import-export firm in Shanghai. He was convicted six years ago of spying and sentenced to life in prison. Philip G. Feeceau, 30, and John T. Downey, 27, both civilian employees of the U. S. Army, were jailed five years ago on similar charges. Downey was sentenced to life imprisonment; Feeceau got 20 years.

Asked what they planned to take to their sons, Mrs. Redmond said "mostly clothing."

"We understand they have had some pretty mean temperatures, and they can use clothing more than anything else," she said.

Teenagers Teach Us All Lesson In Curbing Crime

By ANDREW M. KELLEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NORTH ARLINGTON, N. J.—
Some teen-aged girls in this North Jersey community set out to combat juvenile delinquency because they had nothing else to do. The community has no movie theater and no youth center or dance hall. No place to go, nothing to do, "Boredom"—traditional excuse for juvenile delinquency—worked in reverse in this case.

Two or three girl "candy store cowboys," tired of hanging out in a neighborhood confectionery, decided last October that they would donate their time to good causes and raise money for charity.

Funds Raised
They were motivated, according to pretty, dark-haired Rose La Monica by a "definite" desire to offset headline-making juvenile escapades and to show the adult community that they were not helpless in the face of a lack of responsibility.

Rose and blonde Diane Isaacs rounded up a dozen other girls and chartered the North Arlington Athletic Teen Club, and started on the first of their many door-to-door fund raisings, musical shows and other programs for charity.

So far they have limited their growing membership to girls only. Despite pleas by teenage boys to be allowed to join.

As their membership snowballed—from two to 50 in less than six weeks—their fund raisings also gathered speed. They raised more than $1,000 for a crippled father of two, Robert Newton, and hundreds of dollars for mentally retarded children, the annual muscular dystrophy campaign, and the cancer and polio drives.

The club works by itself and through other local organizations, such as the fire department and the city government. Their current campaign includes the annual appeal for the New Jersey Boystown in Kearny.

Barracks Covered
Their work has so impressed municipal officials that North Arlington Mayor Peter Tonner allowed them to meet weekly in Town Hall.

Old Water Well Now Disguised

CHICAGO (AP)—One thing that has not faded from the American scene is the old water well.

The well is still a part of everyday living in suburbia, but you'd never recognize it.

"The old hole has been replaced by a steel casing that extends underground."

"The modern pumping unit works as automatically as a washing machine," said Cyrus Mark, president of Clayton, Mark & Co., national producer of domestic water well supplies.

The unit even looks like a washing machine, he added.

The well can be installed right in the basement or utility room of your home. The pump is completely out of sight. And that's the most important part of the well. It has to be powerful enough to furnish the volume needed by the family, he said.

You may have no idea what damage a bad pump can do. A suburban housewife installs a new washing machine. All of a sudden the thing runs dry if someone else in the building is using the water. That is the pump's fault, according to Mark.

Some Tips
Mark has this advice for homeowners:

Avoid sinking one well to supply a number of homes. This practice can lead to a lot of water problems because the surrounding homes usually have inadequate pumping and storage tank facilities to serve all the families.

Learn something about pumps. Choose the right one for your well. Make sure the pump in your home has the capacity to fight a fire.

About 200,000 families buying new homes this year will have to rely on private well systems for basic household water needs, he said.

Simple household water treatment units are available for private well owners. A typical unit can purify 75,000 gallons of water a day.

"Today's private water well system has come a long way from the old farm hand pump and the oaken bucket," Mark said.

But the well is still with us. It's just been reincarnated into an electrical appliance.

New Aids Help Medicine Start Year Off Right

By HERMAN H. BUNDESEN, M.D.
MORE news about tranquilizers, a new and simple preventive for motion sickness, and something different in the way of chewing gum are the advances I want to discuss in our New Year's review of medicine.

How Many Uses
You can chew gum to relieve heartburn and indigestion, you can chew it to soothe a sore throat and halt a cough, you can chew it to aid bowel function—and now you can chew it to stop a headache.

A new gum which incorporates the use of aspirin can be chewed to remedy a headache, sore throat and minor muscular pains while you are driving, attending a movie or just about anywhere.

Irritated Tissues
One apparent advantage is that irritated throat tissues can be bathed in a soothing flow of aspirin, a difficult feat when aspirin is used in the conventional manner.

The motion-sickness remedy is a simple injection of sodium bicarbonate. Such an injection, Japanese physician reports, may prevent motion sickness for as long as one month.

He says the sodium bicarbonate decreases the concentration of potassium in the fluid of the inner ear, thereby reducing the sensation after rotation.

Out of 100 susceptible persons given the injection, 49 reported it completely effective. The therapy was partly beneficial in 23 others.

A $1,000,000 research program of a large pharmaceutical firm has resulted in four new families of powerful tranquilizing agents being synthesized.

In tests on animals, some of the agents have exhibited 20 times the strength of chlorpromazine.

Good News
This is good news because the number of powerful tranquilizers used in the treatment of deeply disturbed psychiatric patients has been rather limited.

However, researchers point out that a lot more work will have to be done before it will be known whether the new agents have a place in human medicine.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Q. W. Is uremia always fatal?
A. Uremia, which is caused by failure of the kidneys to act normally and thereby failing to get rid of the waste products of the body, is not always fatal. If the cause can be determined, in many cases the condition can be relieved and the person returned to normal activity.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN, Society Editor

Christmas dinner parties are still being reported. After returning from Umatilla where they visited their little son David who is confined to the Harry Anna Crippled Children's home, Don and Polly Brubaker and children Tina and Tommy enjoyed dinner with Marge and Bill Hill. Also included were Bob Field and John Hook.

Roy and Mary Mann traveled to Lakeland to visit Roy's family and they dined with Mary's here in Sanford.

Audrey and George Spear served egg nog to guests Christmas Eve. They wanted their friends to see their beautiful tree. Didn't you, George?

A farewell party was given Friday night at the C. P. O. club by VAA-9. 245 men, wives and friends enjoyed a delicious buffet dinner and music by a group from the B. O. Q. A floor show was presented during the evening by several of the men. They modeled the latest fashions in roaring twenties bathing suits, with acid commentary by Abe Fennell. Their long eyelashes and bony knees were indeed something to see.

Farewells were said to Gene Thompson who is getting out of the Navy and has been one of nine's standbys. The band sang several lovely songs—if you like hillbilly music. Anyway, they were much appreciated. The club was gaily decorated—and the whole affair extremely nice. A pat on the back for the entertainment committee!

Thoroughly enjoyed the Art Steddom concert Friday night. It's a shame more people didn't turn out for it—they missed a real treat. Perhaps Mr. Steddom will honor us with his presence again—then, don't miss it.

Jack and Marcia Cousins entertained a group Saturday night for cocktails in their lovely Mayfair home.

A tremendous party was given Saturday night by Polly and Don Brubaker and Anne Bear. The affair was held in the Brubaker's home on Mellonville, and was one of the most brilliant of the season. The decorations were breathtaking—just one more example of Polly's unlimited talents. Christmas nibbles hung from the chandeliers—this huge house is one of the Sanford landmarks. Polly and Don have done a great deal of work on it, and while it has always been comfortable, it now emerges as a graceful, charming background for the Brubaker water colors and oils.

Joy and Will Webber have returned from leave in New Jersey. Caroline and Rupe Legare are back from Christmas in Charleston, S. C. and preparing for Rupe's departure next week.

Ralph and Jean Chandler have as their guests Ralph's brother and sister-in-law, John and Mary Frances Chandler of Chattanooga, Tenn. The Chandler tribe seems to be having a wonderful time together.

Audrey Brownlee has her parents from California as her guests. Cle Heald is in the hospital again, we are sorry to report. Cle is worried more about her brand new blonde cocker puppy, than her self.

Talk of the evening Saturday was Molly Reedy, who bore a small green snake in lieu of a bracelet. Ross Allen should capture this beauty—she could make snakes popular!

Invited in for dinner at Dodie and John King's Friday were Bob and Anita Hadden, Betty and John McCracken, John and Jane Miller, Jean and John Dooley and the Conns. Visiting the Kings were Park and Eva, John's brother and his wife and daughter Jody. Since I've bragged about Dodie's cook-

Gleaner's Class Enjoys Yule Party

The Christmas spirit prevailed at the party given last week by members of the Gleaner's Class of the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Frank Lieske, class president, was hostess for the affair, which was held at her home on Palmetto Ave. Assisting her were Mrs. Mabel Brown and Mrs. Mary Bolly.

A short business meeting was held, with reports by Mrs. Mary Bolly, secretary and treasurer, and a short lesson by the teacher, Mrs. R. C. Maxwell.

Carols were sung by the group, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Jay Beck. Mrs. M. J. Harley was the winner of a Christmas game and received a potted holly plant as a prize.

Mrs. Beck played Christmas music while the members exchanged gifts. The hostesses served open-faced sandwiches and cookies with coffee and tea.

About thirty members enjoyed the party and the delightfully decorated home. The affair will be long remembered by this active group of women.

Visitors Arrive In Casselberry

CASSELBERRY—Captain and Mrs. J. W. Schuder and daughters Gwyneth, age five and Mary Ann, age three, arrived December 22, to spend several days with Mrs. Schuders' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben R. Evans. Also, on the following day their son Dan M. Evans III, a senior mechanical engineering student at the Univ. of Colorado, at Boulder, arrived to join the family group.

Captain Schuder, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., is a West Point graduate, class of 1947 and was stationed at the Orlando Air Force Base during 1951. The Captain during the past several years has been stationed at Bethesda, Md., in the mapping department of the Army.

The Schuders and young Evans will begin their return trips to their respective destinations January 3, 1958.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Baumann from West Palm Beach are visiting friends and relatives here. They are staying at the home of Mrs. Edna Heeber, their niece.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan A. Jarvi and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Fryer have taken a motor trip to Key West this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lord and six children of Mystic, Conn. are visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lord, on South Sanford Ave. They expect to be here about a week.

Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Shelden of Lake City are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shelden and family for ten days. Dr. Shelden is Chief of Surgery at the Lake City V. A. hospital. The entire Shelden family participated in the Boat and Ski cruise in Ponce de Leon Springs Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lettner have as their guests Miss Nita Moore of South Carolina and Mrs. Godbold of Miami.

Mrs. Robert McMurray and children are expected back this week from visiting in New Orleans. La. Paul Biggers or North Carolina, son of Mrs. Harry Kent, has been visiting his mother for the holidays.

CASSELBERRY—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Zerrenner of Atlantic City arrived Monday to spend the Christmas holiday season with Mrs. Zerrenner's son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Yeager, 240 Sunnyside Rd., and with friends and relatives at Sanford.

Art Steddom Proves Excellent Entertainment In Concert

By Virginia Conn

A small, but appreciative audience gathered in the Mayfair Hall room Friday night to hear pianist Art Steddom present a variety of musical selections.

The concert was sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

"Theme of the concert was 'Around the World with Music'." Mr. Steddom skillfully led the listeners on a musical tour through France, Spain, Switzerland, China, Hawaii, Russia and America.

Although hampered by a badly injured wrist, the artist demonstrated his ability to switch from the classical to modern with a twist of the wrist. With warmth and feeling he captured his audience with the music of Debussy, Ravel and Bachmanbluff.

Mr. Steddom has a pleasant singing voice. His own translation of "Sousvent d'Italie" was especially memorable. Several French melodies proved how fond Mr. Steddom is of that country's music.

As a night club performer, Mr. Steddom would be excellent. It is obvious that he has practiced long and hard to perfect his arrangements, many of which are his own.

The lengthy program seemed short, indeed, as those in the audience were stimulated by the versatility of Mr. Steddom. During intermission, music for dancing was provided by Pete Baker.

Sanford Children At Umatilla Enjoy Christmas Party

The tree was as tall as a two story building, glittering with lights and tinsel. The presents were heaped beneath the sparkling branches. The gay voices of happy children sang Christmas carols. Their faces shone at the sight of the huge tree.

Only one thing marred this scene. The children were all either in beds, wheel chairs or on crutches. They are patients at the Harry Anna Crippled Children's Home in Umatilla, and this was their Christmas party.

Seventy children occupied the beds and chairs placed in a huge ring around the tree. Two mammoth Santa Clauses dispensed the toys, which were wrapped in tremendous plastic bags. The bags took up most of the room in the hospital beds. From one until four the little patients visited with their parents, who sorely miss them, especially at this family season.

The Harry Anna Crippled Children's Home is supported by the Elks Club in Central Florida. Parents of little David Brubaker and Richard Soul of Sanford attended the party, as well as interested friends.

The little patients were reported to be in the best of spirits and convinced that there is no one like Santa Claus.

Leonard Wins 4 Of 10 National Championships

DAYTONA BEACH—Breaking the Daytona 200 "barrier" early this year apparently was just what Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., needed.

Statistics just released by the American Motorcycle Assn. show that Leonard, a Harley-Davidson rider, was the winner of four of the 10 national championships sanctioned by the AMA this year. It all began with the Daytona 200 last March 3. Leonard, a racing veteran who had never won this prize race, took the 200 mile beach and road race and set a new AMA record for the event—89.32 mph.

An defending champion, he is expected to return for the 1938 Daytona 200 on Sunday, March 5.

There was no stopping Leonard after he won the Daytona 200. On June 23, he won the 100 mile road race and national championship in Lanesville, N. Y. On July 21, he racked up another national championship, the 25 miles over a one mile track at San Jose, Calif.

And then on Aug. 18, Leonard set another AMA record in winning the 50 mile championship over the one mile track at Springfield, Ill. To top it off, Leonard was the only winner of the 10 national championship events to set new AMA records this year—and he set two of them.

The Daytona 200 here March 3, will be the climatic and final event of the 21st annual Handalar Derby, motorcycle racing's biggest event of the year.

The Handalar Derby will begin Tuesday, March 4, with drag races and lightweight motorcycle road races.

On Wednesday, March 5, there will be the annual sportman hill-climb and scramble and short track races. On Thursday, March 6, the annual endurance race is scheduled, and on Friday, March 7, there will be time trials, a riders meeting and the annual Awards Night Ceremony.

The Daytona 100, the 100 mile race on the beach and road course, is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, March 8. That night there will be three star short track races at Memorial Stadium. Then on Sunday will be the 200 mile National championship over the 4.1 mile beach and road course.

Sponsor and promoter of the annual races is the Central Labor Union. The events are sanctioned by the AMA.

Joel Roberta Poinssett, for whom South Carolina's Poinssett State Park was named, died in Stateburg near the park and is buried in the Church of the Holy Cross Cemetery in that community.

Celery City Leads Bowling League

Celery City Printing Company took three games from Burnett Painters in the City Bowling League to hold the league lead by four games.

New York Life Insurance took two games from Bukur's Mule Shop to tie with Burnett Painters for second place in league standings.

Mather Furniture came out on top in two games from Gene's Seminole Cleaners.

In individual play, Bob Steele takes top honors bowling 564 for three games with his running score 202-202-178—582.

Other individual scores were: Carl Von Herbulis 187-185-180—552; Herold Hackenbach 182-170-173—524; George Kniss 164-198-173—515.

Hank Kratzer bowled the high single 208 for the league last week while Bob Steele leads the league with a 173 average.

Celery City Printing Company bowled 2324 total pins, high for the season, three pins over Burnett Painters' 2321. New York Life Insurance Co. is third high with 2470.

Schedule for the week of Jan. 8 will be: Gene's Seminole Cleaners vs. Burnett Painters; Mather Furniture Co. vs. Bukur Mule Shop vs. Celery City Printing Co.

Vaught Has Two Teams To Throw Against Texas

"I imagine we do have a few new things," Vaught said, grinning at the idea.

Two Sugar Bowl losers

In its previous Sugar Bowl appearances, Mississippi took a 24-7 beating from Georgia Tech in 1933 and a 21-0 whipping from Navy in 1935.

Vaught realizes it could happen again unless his Rebels can lasso Walt Fonden and Bobby Lackey, the quarterbacks who direct the Texas attack. He admits he is trying to devise a "stop Fonden and Lackey" defense.

"We have given emphasis to stopping Fonden and Lackey," Vaught said.

Vaught concedes that may be something of a problem. Besides regular runs and passes, Mississippi must watch for the Fonden and Lackey quick kicks which Texas used to put opponents in the hole this year.

When Mississippi has the ball, Texas will have to defend against a multiple offense. Mississippi sees the split-T but it is a split-T with many variations. Vaught has gone far beyond the basic option and dive plays of the standard split-T attack.

Physically, the Rebels will be stronger than they have been since the season started.

Baseball School, Tryout Camp Set At Winter Garden

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—A free baseball school and tryout camp will be conducted by the Washington American League team at Winter Garden, from Jan. 4, 1938, to Feb. 1.

Joe Engel, president of the Chattanooga Lookouts, is supervisor of the annual school, which has sent many students into professional baseball. There will be major league instructors.

Those interested write for application, stating weight, height, age, position and experience to Engel, c/o Chattanooga Baseball Club, Chattanooga 3, Tenn., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope. Enrollment is limited to the school, and the complete course is free. Room and board is $30 weekly. Those signing contracts will have their expenses refunded.

Engel says students can pick free oranges from the groves at the field and fish in Lake Apopka.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR—By Alan Mavert

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK—The number one story of the sports year, strangely enough, had nothing to do with the playing field.

It didn't concern speed, strength or stamina. It had nothing to do with courage or class.

For in selecting the top 10 sports stories of the year you have to pad the financial pilgrimage of the Dodgers and Giants to California at the head of the list.

One Man's Opinion
Debate these if you will, for these are one man's opinion. But from this corner, the Big 10 stacked up in this order:

- 1. Giants and Dodgers to California.
- 2. Milwaukee Braves win World Series.
- 3. Carmen Basilio defeats Ray Robinson for middleweight title.
- 4. Iron Liege wins—Gallant Man loses—Kentucky Derby.
- 5. Notre Dame ends Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak.
- 6. Derek Ibbotson lowers mile mark to 3:27.
- 7. North Carolina wins 32 in a row and NCAA basketball title.
- 8. Herb Score almost blinded by line drive.
- 9. Dick Mayer, from nowhere, wins Open and All-America golf.
- 10. Althea Gibson first Negro to score tennis grand slam.

That, you may say, overlooks a lot of good stories. You're right. Epics like Jackie Lung's disqualification after winning the U. S. Women's Open; Sam Banks' victory in the Indianapolis 500; the bizarre attempt of amateur Pete Rademacher to beat Floyd Patterson; Johnny Langdon's 5,000th victory as a jockey; Ted Williams' batting championship at 39; the catastrophe in the Mile Stiglia and many others.

Paul Brown Named Pro Game 'Coach Of Year' By U.P.

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK—Paul Brown, whose Cleveland Browns rebounded from their only losing season to regain the National Football League's Eastern Division title, has been named by the United Press as the pro game's "coach of the year" for 1937.

Brown received 19 of the 32 votes cast in the annual United Press poll of sports writers who covered the campaign in the 11 league cities.

Web Ewhank of the Baltimore Colts was runnerup with seven votes. Frank Albert of the San Francisco Forty-Niners received three. George Wilson of the Detroit Lions, who won the Western Division crown in his first season as a head coach, drew two votes. Buddy Parker of the Pittsburgh head coach, drew two votes.

Most Successful Coach
Brown is pro football's most successful coach. He makes news only when Cleveland loses—which isn't often—and requires special circumstances to win the poll.

He got his chances because the Browns stumbled through their only losing season in 1936. After that 5-7 campaign, Brown took his squad apart. Among the veterans he discarded were his only experienced quarterbacks, George Ratterman and Babe Parilli.

When the dust cleared from this unprecedented move, he started the season with 12 rookies. His quarterbacks were Tommy O'Connell, a Chicago Bear castoff whose equipment appeared to consist largely of a fighting heart and damaged knees, and two rookies, Milt Plum and John Barton.

Mass Rebuilding
It appeared Brown was rebuilding on a mass scale but that he lacked an experienced quarterback to build around. Then Hal Bradley, one of the club's best guards, broke a leg bone in the team's final exhibition and was lost for the season. Brown had only one experienced offensive end because Dante Lavelli, one of the game's top pass receivers, had retired.

Carmen Basilio 'Fighter Of Year'

NEW YORK—The Ring Magazine named Carmen Basilio "Fighter of the year" and noted an unexpected upsurge in professional boxing during 1937.

Now the sport faces 1938 "with flags flying and drums beating, both in and out of the ring," the magazine stated in its annual review.

Basilio of Chittanooga, N. Y., won the ring's fighter-of-the-year award for the first time because, while still welterweight champion on Sept. 23, he wrested the middleweight crown from Sugar Ray Robinson in a thrilling fight that drew the year's biggest gate—$356,467.

Although Basilio's welterweight 147-pound title was vacated automatically when he won the middleweight 160-pound championship, he is still rated such a formidable welterweight by the magazine that he is placed in a "group" by himself, above the men who are competing for his vacant crown.

Carmen already had been named fighter of the year by the Boxing Writers' Association and other American organizations, but the Ring Magazine claims its selection reflects worldwide opinion.

SOKC Moves Into Third Full Week Of Racing Tonite

The Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club moves into the third full week of its record-breaking season tonight with a fast 10-race card.

Post-time for the first event is set for 8:10 p. m., but top interest will center in the ninth race where such talented Grade A stoppers as Mr. Texan, Famed Fable and Circus Supreme are slated for action.

For the first time in track history, a matinee will be run off on New Year's Day. General Manager Jerry Collins is expecting a large crowd for the special holiday performance which will get underway at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

There will be no racing New Year's Night. It has been the Sanford-Orlando track's policy for many seasons to close on New Year's Night so that racing fans and track employees can attend the Elk's Tangerine Bowl football game.

The regular racing schedule will resume Thursday night.

France Takes Pride In Jet Airliner

By ROBERT MUSEL
 United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS—A man can be sure of an attentive audience in France if he says he has had a ride on the Caravelle.

For this magnificent new jet airliner has become a shining symbol for those weary of being told, directly or obliquely, that France is a third-rate partner in the western alliance.

Incidentally, can't somebody come up with another term for all us un-marrried? We sure over-ought to be enough to lure any girl out of the old maid ranks.

Most want money, too. "Nope," said Miss MacKenzie. "Just ask 'em. Most girls are looking for money too. Me, I don't want a millionaire. I've enough problems without that one."

Disabled Persons Getting More Jobs

NEW YORK (UP)—Severely disabled workers, once virtually shut out from all job opportunities, are finding "the door is open now."

Richard C. Brockway, executive director of the New York State Division of Employment, said the disabled have proved their ability in more than one-quarter million jobs to which his agency has referred them since World War II.

U.S. ATTITUDE WRONG
 LONDON (UP)—A Soviet scientist said today that U.S. failure in rocket experiments stems from the American attitude toward science and scientists in general, Moscow Radio reported.

Price of Safety
 The Caravelle is the most dramatic outward evidence of this ferment of research and development. Scandavian Airlines officials, contracting for it with an option of 12 more, think it may dominate the shorter routes of the world. It will shrink Europe by another third—only 40 minutes from London to Paris, for example.

Stephen Foster WOULDN'T KNOW HIS RIVER!

When Stephen Foster wrote "Old Folks at Home," the Suwannee River served mainly as an artery for floating cedar logs downstream in frontier Florida. Today, the Suwannee River flows thru a new, modern Florida, a magic "Sunshine State," criss-crossed by modern highways and railroads, thriving in commerce, industry and agriculture. In a fast-growing nation, Florida is setting the pace in growth of industry, population, and initiative... a shining example of American free enterprise.

Florida Power & Light Company continues to expand its services. Anticipating the needs of fast growing Florida, FPLS is planning ahead... is helping build Florida... for today and tomorrow.

Accidental Atomic Blast Might Touch Off World War III

EDITOR'S NOTE: Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore.) said at a news conference Monday there was grave danger an accidental atomic blast might touch off World War III. In the following article, written for the United Press, Rep. Porter explains his views.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Many of my friends in Oregon are deeply concerned about the dangers of nuclear war. They believe as I do, that such a war may mean the end of human life on this planet. They know that the tensions in the world today are acute. The relations between the United States and the Soviet Union are much like those between the United States and Spain at the end of the last century.

Remember the Maine? There was an explosion, the origin of which was never really determined, that precipitated war. What will happen if a nuclear weapons explodes today? Assuming that it was not a planned test, how do you determine reliably whether it represents the beginning of an attack or not?

This is the age of "nuclear plenty" for the United States and the Soviet Union and perhaps Great Britain. We have thousands of atomic and hydrogen bombs, all in the custody of error-prone human beings like you and me.

Sure, we have elaborate precautions against an accidental detonation of a nuclear weapon. I imagine they had some precautions against the Maine blowing up. But it blew up and the war started.

When Gen. Herbert B. Loper, Defense Department assistant secretary for atomic energy, and I discussed probably he used one in three billion as the chance of an accidental explosion caused by inactivity or mechanical failure. He readily agreed that no such comfortable margin existed for explosions resulting from a custodian's mind cracking, his selling out or getting drunk. He accepted as true that an unauthorized nuclear explosion was probable and told me that the department's plans were being made on that premise.

Blast Inevitable
The common sense conclusion is that an unauthorized nuclear explosion is not only probable, but inevitable. Some custodians' mind will crack under his responsibility for other reasons, or he will get drunk, or sell out, or perhaps act for purposes he believes idealistic.

Weather
Fair and mild today and tonight, high 75 to 79. Partly cloudy Wednesday. Slightly warmer tonight with a low of from 66 to 64.

1958 Optimistic Year For County

Big Crowd Expected Tonight At Mayfair New Year's Party

The old year will bow out tonight by a record-breaking crowd attending the Mayfair Inn's New Year's Eve Party.

By J. Marion Harman, Sr.
Sanford and Seminole County citizens have much to look forward to in 1958. The New Year, beginning tomorrow morning as gongs strike the hour of midnight, has many surprises in store during its 12 month regime.

A tremendous improvement program should get underway at the Naval Air Station in 1958 with the possibility of another squadron added to the stations already enlarged personnel.

The State Road Department will, in all probability, get underway in 1958 the widening and four-laning of West First St. from French Ave. to an area nearly one mile past Monroe Corner. The Interstate Highway bridge, costing in the neighborhood of $3 million will get underway according to the schedule of projects for 1958.

Carpenter Faces Federal Charges

MIAMI (UP)—Wayne Carpenter 21, described as a "hepat" and the single remaining suspect in a double barroom murder at Washington, faced arraignment here today on federal charges of kidnaping and unlawful flight.

on his behalf the auto registration card of a Negro woman who had told of being kidnaped in Virginia and driven to Cherasaw, S. C.

A new store and office building is slated for downtown Sanford early in 1958—a boost to Sanford's shopping area. Also in the downtown industrial area a new street is expected to be completed.

Frank Mohane Jr., general manager of the Mayfair Inn, said today that reservations for tonight's New Year's Eve party exceed all expectations. "We will have a huge crowd and a very merry one, too," he said.

Questions Unanswered
Early questioning of the suspect left unanswered a number of questions about the pair's movements since the killings.
