Coal Mine Becomes Christmas Tomb For 9

ORANGEVILLE, Utah (UPI) — A rescue team discovered the bodies of nine coal miners deep inside an eastern Utah mine today and pushed ahead through smoke and poison gas looking for 18 others trapped by a fire in a dead-end tunnel.

Crews contained the fire that broke out Wednesday night and specially equipped rescue teams tethered together by ropes inched past the smoldering coal to discover the bodies in the Wilberg Mine.

There was no word on the fate of the other miners who became trapped when the fire started on a conveyor belt and blocked the only escape route from a work area 1.3 miles underground, trapping 26 men and a woman.

Bob Henrie, spokesman for Emery Mining Corp., said the bodies were found in the first third of the 3,000-foot-long tunnel beyond the fire.

"They were apparently trying to evacuate themselves," Henrie said. "Kenneth Blake, the miner who escaped, said several others were behind him. I believe they were trying to follow the same route out of the mine."

None of the dead was identified. There was still some hope that others had fled deeper into the mine into a safety chamber where they could have protected themselves from the smoke and deadly carbon monoxide gas by lowering heavy canvas curtains.

The intense heat had kept the rescue team out of the tunnel for more than 31 hours. But workers finally cooled the burning coal with a slurry mixture of foam and water early today.

The mine, at the 7,500-foot level on East Mountain, goes straight into the hillsides.

Smoke poured from the mine entrance before the blaze was controlled. Ambulances and rescue vehicles were parked haphazardly in the snow, with water lines running into the mine.

"If you've ever been to hell, that's what it's like. It's black and it's hot," one rescuer said.

Other crews continued to drill air holes toward the horizontal shaft entombing the miners.

One crew was drilling an 8-inch air shaft 1,800 feet down from the side of snow-covered East Mountain. Another crew worked on a horizontal air tunnel from the adjacent Little Dove Mine.

Five rescue workers entered the mine Thursday only to be driven back by thick smoke when the fire flared back out of control because of a water shortage.

Hazardous Waste Site Proposals Stir Protest

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County residents threatened Thursday to sue their county commission if it selects either of two proposed sites for a hazardous waste transfer station.

The legal challenges were issued during an informational meeting held by county officials seeking public input about 10 sites scattered about the county that are being considered as potential locations for the transfer station.

The commissioners, complying with the Florida Quality Assurance Act of 1983, are scheduled to select primary and secondary sites for the station at their Jan. 8 meeting beginning at 10 a.m. Each county is ordered to select such sites for transfer stations for shipment of hazardous materials out of state because hazardous waste dumps are not allowed in Florida.

At Thursday's meeting, 37 people from various locations in the county questioned site selections. They mentioned possible reasons why many of the sites should not be considered for a transfer station and complained about past efforts to manage hazardous waste.

Dennis Dolgner, representing the Sanford Port Authority, told meeting moderator Timothy Clabaugh, environmental control manager for the county, that the authority would battle the commission in court if the port was chosen as a site for a hazardous waste transfer station.

The authority "would not permit it on a voluntary basis. It would have to be through court action," he said.

Nora Tatum, of Orange Avenue, west of Sanford, told Clabaugh she had collected the signatures of 250 residents opposed to the locating of a waste transfer station at either the port or a nearby secondary site, Central Florida Industrial Park. She said the 250 pledge legal action against the county if either site is chosen and said she hopes to have 500 signatures to present to the commission when it meets to select a site.

While the purpose of the meeting was for Clabaugh to explain the function of a hazardous waste transfer station and collect additional information about the sites from people who live in the areas, he spent the greater part of the two-hour meeting fielding sharp questions and often caustic remarks about who will guarantee the safety of the program, why the county needs a site, and why dump areas used in the past were poorly managed and inspected.

Many people expressed a complete lack of faith in the ability of governmental agencies to enforce and monitor compliance to regulations pertaining to hazardous materials and cited examples of waste dumps in Seminole County and across the country that were supposed to be safe and well managed but are not.

Reading the label of a bottle of insecticide, Seminole county environmental control manager Timothy Clabaugh tells county residents the quart of common household product would cost between $100 and $150 to dispose of properly without a local hazardous waste transfer station.

According to Clabaugh, the hazardous waste transfer site, a commercial venture not run by local government, would handle dangerous products from businesses that create or discard less than 2,200 pounds of such materials a year. It would also be a collection site for hazardous materials used in the home. Large generators of hazardous waste — those who create or discard more than 2,200 pounds of hazardous materials a year are already shipping the waste out of Seminole County, he said.

No hazardous material would stay at the station more than 90 days and the station would be designed for optimum protection of the environment from spills, leakage or dangerous combinations of chemicals. No radioactive or gaseous materials would be held at the site, he said.

"More than 3 million pounds of hazardous waste are created or discarded in Seminole County each year," Clabaugh said. Sources are waste oil, greases, lead batteries, spent solvents, strong acids or alkaline wastes, sludges containing heavy metals such as silver or cadmium, washing and rinsing solutions containing heavy metals and paint wastes with solvents. Of the 3 million pounds, one-quarter, or 247,116 pounds, are disposed improperly, he said.

Many of the items listed are found in the home and are not being disposed of correctly. Many of the home products are dumped on the ground to contaminate the ground and local water, Clabaugh said.

"A hazardous waste is an unwanted hazardous material," he said.

By way of an example, Clabaugh showed the vocal gathering a quart bottle of a common spray insecticide available in most stores. While the label said that the bottle with the unused portion should be wrapped in paper and tossed in the trash, he said it would now cost a governmental body between $100 and $150 to properly dispose of the quart of insecticide. If a commercial hazardous waste transfer station were located in the county, a person might be able to dispose of the material for free, or for less than the price he quoted.

Compliance by companies to the correct disposal methods would be monitored by the county and the state. Large generators of the wastes would be monitored by the Department of Environmental Regulation through shipping invoices and 20 percent of the small business would be spot checked at random on a yearly basis by the county, he said.

Not only did citizens voice opposition to all of the sites suggested, at least two cities have officially opposed site selection on county property near their city.

At its Thursday night meeting, after the county's information meeting was over, the Lake Mary City Commission voted to send a letter of opposition to the county objecting to the location of one potential site just south of Lake Mary.

Former Lake Mary commissioner Ken King, who attended the county meeting, said after the county meeting that he opposed the location of a hazardous waste transfer station near Lake Mary because it would be in the Soldier's Creek drainage basin — an environmentally sensitive area.

"It's in a major drainage basin. If a problem occurs, which is possible, there could be leakage into Spring Hammock and then Lake Jesup and

Sanford Man Faces Life Term

A Sanford man faces the possibility of life in prison following a conviction of armed burglary with battery. The man was also found guilty in November of armed robbery.

Richard Williams Jr., 25, of 1401 Southwest Road, was found guilty by jury Thursday. He is scheduled to be sentenced Jan. 16 by Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr.

Records show that on July 29 Williams climbed through a woman's bedroom window and tried to rape her.

According to the victim, Williams had been prowling in her neighborhood the day before the assault.

The woman said she was asleep at 3:15 a.m. when Williams tried to sexually assault her. She woke up struggling and received cuts on her hand, which required 15 stitches to close. She was cut when she grabbed the blade of a small kitchen knife with which Williams was armed.

Because she resisted, the woman apparently scared Williams away.

The woman woman picked Williams out of a photo line up at the Sanford police station after being treated for her injuries at a Central Florida Regional Hospital.

She was not raped.

In the November case, Williams was found guilty of the armed robbery of two women July 27 in the parking lot of The Barn, 1200 S. French Ave., Sanford, according to court records.

In that case, one of the women, from Orange City, was injured when she was pistol whipped on the face by Williams and received a cut that required 11 stitches to close.

She, too, identified Williams from a photo line up.

Soviets Developing Own Shuttle

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The Soviet Union launched a winged spaceplane this week in the fourth test of a spacecraft Western analysts believe is part of a continuing effort to develop a reusable shuttle system.

Pentagon officials and British observers confirmed Thursday the unmanned spaceplane was launched Wednesday and landed in the Black Sea after a single orbit.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported only that a spacecraft called Cosmos 1614 blasted off Wednesday and "having fulfilled the flight program ... made a controlled descent in the atmosphere and splashed down in a preset area of the Black Sea."

The spaceplane is thought to be part of a project to develop a small reusable space fighter. The Russians also are working to develop a spaceship comparable to the American shuttle.

Flight testing for the spaceplane first began in June 1982. The first two flights ended with splashdowns in the Indian Ocean and the third ended with a landing in the Black Sea.

"There's no paucity of photos of this thing," said Saunders Kramer, a Washington, D.C. consultant who closely monitors the Soviet space program. "Our guess is it's about a one-quarter scale model (and weighs about) 2,200 pounds. We get that from the capacity of the booster we know launched it."

Photographs of the spaceplane being recovered in the Indian Ocean show a small craft with stubby wings and a blunt belly. Clearly visible are tiles that look like those used by the American space shuttle to protect it from the heat of re-entry into Earth's atmosphere.

The Russian craft is similar in many respects to the American Dyna-Soar rocket glider developed in the late 1950s that provided valuable information for designers who later built the space shuttle.

The Soviet Union apparently is engaged in a two-pronged program to develop reusable space vehicles.

American satellite reconnaissance photos show three shuttle launch pads under final construction at the Tyuratam rocket base.

Many Western analysts believe the spaceplane tested Wednesday is part of a program to develop a small reusable space fighter that could carry small payloads into orbit or attack U.S. satellites in war.

But NASA administrator James Beggs told Aviation Week & Space Technology in August the spaceplane could be no more than a tool to gain more information about building a full-size shuttle.

The major difference between the American and Soviet shuttles is that the Russians apparently have opted to put the ship's rocket engines on its throw-away external fuel tank and strap on boosters.

"Significant new launch and support facilities at Tyuratam are nearing completion," said a Defense Department report on Russian military programs titled "Soviet Military Power 1984."

Nazi War Criminal Awaits Deportation To Soviet Union

NEW YORK (UPI) — An ailing 77-year-old Nazi war criminal who lied his way into the United States 35 years ago is confused and upset that he may be deported to the Soviet Union at any minute.

Former Nazi prison guard Feodor Fedorenko, a Ukrainian described by his lawyer as a bewildered man too sick to travel, says he does not understand why he has to leave the United States.

For the last eight years, ever since his past surfaced, federal authorities have been working to strip Fedorenko of his citizenship and have him deported. This week the last of the legal battles ended and he is due to leave at any time.

Fedorenko was accused of lying about his wartime activities at the Nazi death camp at Treblinka, Poland to get into the United States in 1949. U.S. authorities cannot try accused Nazis for war crimes, but may deport them if it can be proved they lied about their background to enter the U.S.

If he is deported, Fedorenko would become the sixth former Nazi to be kicked out of the United States as a result of Justice Department actions.

Fedorenko worked in the U.S. as a laborer in a brass foundry.

New Abuse Charges May Be Filed

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Information from a 16-year-old boy may lead to new charges against some of the 24 adults cleared earlier of running a child sex ring in the small town of Jordan, a newspaper reports.

The new information may help revive the year-long investigation, which has been stymied by key witnesses reversing their testimony.

The normally quiet country town of Jordan, on the wooded banks of the Minnesota River, has been shocked by the probe in which the two dozen adults were charged with abusing more than 40 children.

The Minneapolis Star and Tribune Thursday quoted unidentified authorities as saying statements by the new witness are expected to help the state refile charges, but it was too early to tell how many would be charged again.

The youth is considered an important witness because he was not involved in the original county investigation and would not suffer credibility problems of some children who have admitted they made up sex stories.

He Died Rather Than Complain

DALLAS (UPI) — Classmates of a Polish teenager who died of cancer rather than tell his parents donated $2,000 to help pay for the boy's burial in the family's homeland, a nun says.

Padwel "Paul" Sitarz, 16, died Saturday at St. Paul Hospital, shortly after an operation showed prostate cancer had spread to his stomach and lungs.

His body will be flown to the family's hometown of Ostrowiec Swietokrzyski for burial once necessary permits are issued by the Polish government.

Paul was an only child and had concealed his illness because he did not want to incur medical bills that his parents would be unable to pay, friends and school officials said.

The Sitarzes left Poland and arrived in Dallas in September 1983 with just $30. The boy's father has been unable to find steady work as an electrician.

IN BRIEF

Unitary Tax Repealed, Child Care Bill Set Today

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham, who wiped out the unitary tax on business profits with a stroke of his pen, is scheduled to sign into law today implementing legislation for a $5.2 million child abuse plan.

Earlier in the week, Graham had quietly signed a $6.4 million fund to combat citrus canker — so today's action will complete the work of the special legislative session of Dec. 6-7. The lawmakers put up the canker and child-abuse money and voted to repeal the unitary tax with a replacement revenue package demanded by Graham and the legislative leadership.

The child-care money was accompanied by a package of implementing legislation which allows daycare centers and nursery schools to have their employees fingerprinted. It also tightens licensing requirements and requires daycare facilities to afford parents reasonable access to the playgrounds and classrooms where their children spend the day.

Golf Carts 'Dangerous'

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court has officially declared a golf cart a "dangerous instrumentality," clearing the way for country clubs and other cart-owners to be sued for golf cart accidents.

The 4-3 ruling, issued Thursday, is apparently unprecedented anywhere in the country, the court said.

The decision places golf carts in the same legal category as cars, trucks, buses and most other motorized vehicles. It means that cart owners — not only drivers can be sued for damages.

The ruling went in favor of Mildred Meister and her husband, Abraham, who filed a negligence suit against another golfer and the Emerald Hills Country Club in Hollywood.

The suit alleges that Mrs. Meister suffered a severely fractured leg when her cart was struck by another cart driven by golfer Paul Fisher.

Police Shooting Probe Resumes

MIAMI (UPI) — A new report accuses former Police Chief Kenneth Harms of negligence in investigating the police shooting of a black motorist during the 1980 Liberty City riots.

Because of the report, completed Wednesday, the city commission announced it would resume its inquiry today into an alleged cover-up of the shooting.

The special counsel's report said Harms and top aides were "at best, negligent" in not making a proper investigation of the May 18 shooting of Michael Johnson in the Liberty City shopping center parking lot.

Woman Raped After Blouse Cut Off

A 19-year-old Altamonte Springs woman reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that she was raped by a man she knows who came into her house uninvited, cut her blouse off and raped her.

The incident occurred between 2:36 and 4:30 p.m. Thursday. The woman refused to leave when the man requested he do so and after a lengthy conversation he pulled a knife, cut her blouse off and assaulted her, a sheriff's report said.

Deputies have the name of a suspect, but no arrest has been made.

TOT CRITICAL

Mrs. Smith, a registered nurse, gave the boy CPR and called a rescue unit. The child was transported to Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs and then transferred to ORMC. Sheriff's deputies are conducting an accident investigation into the incident.

EMPTY-HANDED ARREST

An Orlando man who reportedly ransacked a van at the Altamonte Mall fled empty-handed when confronted by the van's owner, but the suspect was spotted by police and charged with burglary.

Altamonte Springs police report Thomas R. Walsh, 28, of Orlando, was pushed aside by the suspect and the man ran past him when Walsh asked what the suspect was doing as he ransacked Walsh's vehicle.

Police captured a suspect in York Steak House, Altamonte Mall, Altamonte Springs, shortly after the 10:55 p.m. Wednesday incident.

Missing Woman Alive, Faked Own Murder

ORLANDO (UPI) — Police found a missing Canadian tourist alive and unharmed, and charged her with faking her own murder in an apparent effort to stay in the United States to look for a job.

Vera Elizabeth Tugwell, 29, of Penetanguishene, Ontario, was found Thursday in Winter Park by a police officer.

She was questioned but insisted her name was Cathy Henson, said Jeff Peck, spokesman for the Orlando Police Department.

Peck said police made a positive identification of Tugwell, and her parents confirmed their daughter's identity after speaking with her by long-distance telephone.

Peck said Tugwell, who was unemployed in Canada and came to Florida on vacation, apparently faked her death and changed her name in an effort to stay in the United States and find a job.

Police launched a search for her earlier this month when an Orlando civic agency received a blood-stained package containing Tugwell's identification, a dress matching the description of one she owned and a note saying the woman had been murdered.

Tugwell was charged with providing false information to police, Peck said.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Dieter Joseph Hammerling, 42, of 1485 Oranole Road, Maitland, reported to deputies that a $600 go-cart was stolen from his garage between Monday and Wednesday.

A power paint sprayer worth $2,000 was stolen from the driveway of William M. Lynch, 43, of 130 Highland Drive, Fern Park, Tuesday or Wednesday, deputies report.

Man Pleads Guilty To Killing Cousin

An Altamonte Springs man charged with murder in the shooting death of his cousin has pleaded guilty to the lesser included charge of manslaughter.

Anthony Vann Fossitt Sr., 27, entered the plea before Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Saffi who set Feb. 8 for sentencing. Fossitt could be sentenced to up to 15 years in prison. However, in agreeing to the plea, the state did not ask for a mandatory minimum sentence of 3 years which it could have requested because a gun was used in the crime.

According to court records, James Stewart, 36, of 209 Longwood Ave., Altamonte Springs, was shot in the right side of the chest with a 22-caliber rifle at about 9 p.m. on June 25.

Stewart was at 205 Williams St., Altamonte Springs, when he was wounded, the report said. He then traveled a half-block and fell in his front yard.

An Altamonte Springs rescue team arrived at Stewart's house at about 9:11 p.m. and he was transported to Florida Hospital—Altamonte where he died at 9:40 p.m.

Sheriff's investigators said Fossitt had ordered Stewart not to come on to his property. After two warnings, Stewart reportedly continued to approach Fossitt's house.

According to police reports, Fossitt shot Stewart and then waited at his home for officers to arrive.

56 Patients Get Blood Tainted With Deadly AIDS

LONDON (UPI) — Two blood donors have passed on the virus of the incurable disease AIDS to 56 people across Britain, including an unborn baby and a 78-year-old man, doctors say.

It is the first time in Britain that anyone has been documented as receiving AIDS-tainted blood from transfusions, officials said Thursday.

A Health Department spokeswoman said the patients have not contracted AIDS, but traces in their blood could evolve into the ailment.

The blood donated by one homosexual alone infected 41 people in England and Wales, including an unborn baby who received the virus from her mother and a 78-year-old man who received a transfusion for surgery, doctors said.

Doctors said they identified the AIDS virus in the bloodstream of another 15 patients in Scotland.

The latest alert increased the number of AIDS cases in Britain from 102 to 158. So far 44 people have died of the illness.

'Kingmaker' Ustinov Dead

MOSCOW (UPI) — Defense Minister Dmitri Ustinov, who built up the Soviet armed forces in the last eight years, has died. It was officially announced today.

Ustinov, 76-year-old Politburo member, had not been seen in public since Sept. 27 and was reported to have suffered a stroke.

Ustinov missed the traditional military parade in Red Square on Nov. 7 and the recent session of the Supreme Soviet, or parliament.

Since the death of Brezhnev in November 1982, Ustinov had emerged as a political kingmaker, using his position as chief of the defense establishment and a senior Politburo member to help thrust both the late Andropov and current leader Konstantin Chernenko into the Kremlin's highest position.

Along with Chernenko and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Ustinov was considered by Western diplomats to be one of the three men who formulated the Soviet Union's foreign and domestic policy since Andropov's death in February 1984.

Ustinov was one of the chief architects of the 1983 Soviet walkout from the Geneva talks on limiting nuclear weapons.

Another city that has opposed any waste site near it is Altamonte Springs, according to Calbaugh.

In selecting the sites, county staff members considered various factors such as population density, water table, availability of fire protection, transportation routes and schools. At the meeting, residents informed the officials of specific items that should be considered at each site, for example, a planned well field by the city of Sanford near one site or limited evacuation routes or certain residences near a Longwood site.

Calbaugh said that while the county commission is mandated by the state to select a site, it does not mean that one will be chosen.

If the commission does not select a site, it would be up to the DER to determine what to do to the county, he said. While the Florida Water Quality Act of 1983 orders the selection of site, Clabaugh said he was not aware of any provisions in the act to punish a county that does not comply.

But water supplies were restored and crews combined the water with foam to beat back the blaze.

Outside the entrance of the mine, miners and rescuers worked on equipment or talked in tense tones.

One of the trapped miners, Brian Howard, has a wife 8½ months pregnant and she "isn't handling things too well," said Renee Howard, Brian's sister.

"This is some Christmas present."

But she said, "I haven't lost faith yet. He knows what to do. He's not going to give up. They all know what to do."

Sino-Soviet Relations Warm With Visit Of Russian Official

PEKING (UPI) — First Vice Premier Ivan Arkhipov, the highest-ranking Soviet official to visit China in more than 15 years, said today Moscow sees great potential for expanding its ties with Peking.

Arkhipov, a top Kremlin economic minister and adviser to China during the 1950s, arrived in Peking early today for talks with Chinese leaders on economic, trade and scientific exchanges.

He is the most senior Soviet envoy to visit China since 1969, when Premier Alexei Kosygin flew to Peking for official talks with Premier Chou En-lai following a Sino-Soviet border war.

An earlier visit by Arkhipov scheduled for last May was canceled at the last minute when Moscow told Peking it was "not prepared."

Western diplomats attributed the cancellation to the Kremlin's anger over the warm reception given President Reagan during his April visit to China and to increased tension along China's border with Vietnam, Moscow's ally.

Diplomats said Arkhipov, a senior economic adviser, is "nearly certain" to meet with Chinese Premier Zhao Ziyang and Politburo Standing Committee Member Chen Yun, one of Arkhipov's economic colleagues from the decade of Sino-Soviet cooperation in the 1950s.

But they said it would be surprising if Arkhipov met with China's paramount leader, Deng Xiaoping, given the degree of animosity still overshadowing Sino-Soviet relations.

But diplomats doubt the two sides would get into substantive political issues such as China's three demands: reduction of Soviet forces along China's northern border, withdrawal of Soviet occupation troops from Afghanistan and an end to Moscow's support for Vietnam's occupation of Cambodia.

Sino-Soviet relations first became estranged in the 1960s over ideological differences and territorial disputes.

The two neighbors broke off official contacts following the 1979 Soviet invasion of Afghanistan. Talks on their relations began in October 1982

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Snow and freezing rain in the Pacific Northwest today spread sheets of ice over Oregon roads while a wintry Southern California storm blamed for 10 deaths pushed into the Plains with a mixture of freezing rain and dense fog. Up to 20 inches of snow was on the ground today in Mullan, Idaho, and 10 inches blanketed Spokane, Wash. Warnings and advisories for more snow and freezing rain were issued for Washington, Oregon and Idaho. Schools and businesses in the Portland, Ore., area closed Thursday and Gov. Vic Atiyeh postponed his Christmas party in Salem because of a mixture of snow, sleet and freezing rain. Downtown Portland hotels said they were doing double their normal business today and police reported "lots of crashes." Skies were clear in Southern California today after three days of rain and heavy snow. Traffic mishaps blamed on the weather killed three people Tuesday, two Wednesday and four Thursday. An 11-year-old girl missing since she was swept down a rain-swollen creek Wednesday was presumed dead. Remnants of the California storm Thursday left behind a foot of snow in Utah and shrouded the Albuquerque, N.M., International Airport in fog for seven hours, stranding about 4,000 travelers. Rain washed out a pipeline leading from a sewage treatment plant in Ruidoso, N.M., releasing raw sewage into the Rio Ruidoso. Town officials declared a state of emergency because of contaminated water. The same combination of snow, rain and fog spread swiftly east today. Up to 8 inches of snow was expected in Colorado, freezing rain fell from Nebraska to the Great Lakes and dense fog reduced visibilities to near zero across Kansas. In California, a 23-year-old skier who disappeared during the storm Wednesday was found alive Thursday.

Regan Stands Tall On Reagan's Team

Treasury Secretary Donald Regan calls himself "the point man" — the soldier out in front of the main guard, exposing himself to enemy fire.

That's a good description. The Treasury secretary has taken a lot of heat lately in calling for major changes in federal income tax law and for drastic cuts in federal spending. At times, he seems to have stood alone, with other members of the Reagan administration content to watch from the sidelines.

But now there is increasing support for Regan. His tax program is finding favor, partly because of Regan's skill in presenting it to the nation.

Regan was a political unknown when he left his job as chief executive of a major Wall Street brokerage house to join the Reagan team in January 1981. Since that time he has demonstrated his worth as one of the hardest workers in the president's Cabinet. Washington politicians have described Regan as "a class act" and "a rising star."

In addressing the National Press Club recently, Regan said the flurry of complaints from business leaders and others about his department's tax efforts came too soon for "most to have totally digested the study." He said the tax package should be taken as a whole, that critics should not "look at just one strand and condemn the whole plan."

We respect Regan for his efforts and his sound judgments, and we hope that President Reagan will accept most of Regan's tax proposals in his State of the Union address early next month.

It's Intolerable

Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays the U.S. Postal Service from its appointed rate increases. When the price of first-class stamps jumps to 22 cents on Feb. 17, the cost of mailing a letter will have increased 175 percent since Congress reorganized the post office into a public corporation in 1971.

Results of the postal reorganization have been mixed, to say the least. Last year, for the first time, the Postal Service received no subsidy from the taxpayer. Moreover, productivity has increased for nine consecutive years.

Nevertheless, the negatives outweigh the positives. Productivity has not kept pace with postal salaries and rising mailing rates. The Postal Service has failed to keep abreast of workable electronic mail developments and seems oblivious to its potential loss of business because of declining long-distance telephone rates.

Because the Postal Service and its unions could not agree on a new three-year contract, a three-member arbitration panel will now settle the dispute.

With average salaries of $23,245 a year and generous benefits that increase total compensation to $28,219, postal workers already take home 10 to 25 percent more than non-government workers in comparable jobs. Nevertheless, their unions are demanding a 20 percent raise during the next three years. Such a settlement would cost the Postal Service $14.6 billion and send postal rates skyrocketing.

In an effort to hold down postage rates, the Postal Service board of governors took a realistically tough line in negotiations, proposing a freeze on current wages and lower starting salaries. This was futile from the beginning. Because Congress, yielding to pressure from labor unions, including binding arbitration in the Postal Reorganization Act, the postal unions expediently turned to the arbitrators. They have little incentive to negotiate in good faith. Thus three members of an arbitration panel, none of whom is accountable to taxpayers, Congress or the Postal Service, decide what postal workers are to be paid and indirectly what the cost of postage will be for the American people.

This is intolerable.

An Altamonte Springs police officer has become that city's first graduate of the Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy.

James F. Murphy, a lieutenant and bureau commander with the Altamonte Springs Police Department, finished the 11-week training course Dec. 14.

Murphy, who has a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Rollins College, was one of a class of 250 officers who finished the 139th session of the FBI's academy at Quantico, Va.

The course included management oriented training program for the officers who collectively represented 49 states, the District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico, England, Canada, Chile, Costa Rica, Germany, Korea, Switzerland, Bermuda, Egypt and Barbados.

The academy's curriculum is designed to meet the needs of contemporary law enforcement officers in such field disciplines as management, administration, law, education, communication, behavioral science and forensic science.

The Florida Bar is distributing to lawyers and the public a consumer pamphlet entitled, "Legal Services for the Middle Class."

The pamphlet describes prepaid group legal services, legal expense insurance, explains how legal service plans are regulated and guides consumer in what to look for in such plans.

According to Jerry Butterfield, director of information and Bar services, the legal services plans offer several advantages such as reducing the cost of legal services through the benefit of group membership or prepayment of fees, similar to health insurance plans. He said they provide easy access to a lawyer, usually make payment of attorneys' fees easier, and tend to assure the plan member of quality services.

The pamphlet is one of a series of 21 consumer-oriented pamphlets published by the Bar. Single copies of each pamphlet are free to individuals. Information on obtaining copies is available from the Florida Bar's public information and services department, Tallahassee, or call (904) 222-5286. The Bar also has information regarding organizations licensed to market legal services, plans or legal expense insurance in Florida.

Federal Farm Policy

WASHINGTON (NEA) — One of the most vexing problems facing the new Congress is the deteriorating situation in American agriculture.

Some basic changes are going to have to be made in federal farm policy.

Never in the history of the republic has more been spent supporting agriculture than over the past four years. But despite the huge payout, the consensus is that farmers are having more problems today than at any time since the Great Depression.

Most farmers, especially small farmers, have to borrow every year to pay for their seed and to replace worn-out equipment. When they harvest their crops, they repay the loans and pocket what is left, only to borrow again for the next crop.

Over the last four years, farmers have been caught in a cycle of very high interest rates and very low crop prices, brought about by one record harvest after another.

A decade ago whatever American farmers couldn't sell domestically could be sold abroad. But in the last few years overseas markets have dwindled as foreign growers, heavily subsidized by their governments, have moved aggressively into what were once exclusively U.S. markets.

With foreign markets drying up, the bountiful U.S. harvests have meant lower prices and insufficient income to cover loans at high interest rates. This has created an almost unprecedented number of farm failures.

The federal government attempts to aid farmers by giving them loans based on what the government believes the selling price of the crop will be when harvested. If the crop is sold for that price, the loan is repaid. If the selling price is less, the government takes the crop in payment.

Last year Washington paid out $19 billion in crop supports, almost five times the amount paid out 10 years ago. But small farmers were little helped by the program. More than 25 percent of support payments went to the nation's 100,000 largest farms, mostly corporate farms. In the same year the top 5 percent of farms were estimated to earn more than 80 percent of all farm income. The smallest 1.4 million farms were estimated to have lost more than $1 billion.

The current major support programs expire this year. In the face of rising deficits the Reagan administration believes it can no longer continue to pay out anywhere near the amount it now spends on crop support payments.

But farmers, especially small farmers, are demanding that Washington help them, and help them quickly, or else they face bankruptcy.

IRS Wants Your (Unlisted) Number

WASHINGTON — Paying for an unlisted telephone number may keep pests from interrupting your dinner, but it won't keep the revenues off your back if the Internal Revenue Service has its way. The IRS is considering a proposal to plug directly into the phone company's computers to track down delinquent taxpayers.

The tax collectors will soon begin negotiating a pilot phase of the plan with Bell Atlantic, which covers all or parts of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D.C. The scheme will allow the IRS to get information directly from the phone numbers of taxpayers who do business with Bell Atlantic.

And not only listed numbers would be turned over to the IRS, but closely guarded unlisted numbers as well. Eventually, the IRS hopes to

Christmas In New York

The Christmas season has a different quality in the various great cities of the world. I have seen Christmas in Paris, Barcelona, London and San Diego, all of them great cities with a distinct flavor. No doubt Christmas in Peking or Moscow would also have a memorable quality. But, perhaps because I grew up there, New York will always be for me the Christmas city.

The tree in Rockefeller Center is one focus. This year it is startlingly beautiful, flood-lit, 75 feet high. Below it, on the ice rink, the skaters revolve, good skaters showing off, ordinary skaters, kids falling down, dots of color in the evening light. If you squint at them, the dots of color on the ice form a work of 20th-century art, a delicious celebration of the richness of existence.

This year, as you walk up that mall in Rockefeller Center, you pass a breath-taking display of Christmas angels, sculpted in white metal piping, transparent but also strong, as is appropriate for angels. Music is playing somewhere. Crowds are entering the floodlit St. Patrick's Cathedral across the street.

The windows of the great stores are works of art. The pedestrians on Fifth Avenue seem to talk more briskly than at any other season of the year. A sense of energy and well-being is pervasive.

A Salvation Army band is playing on the corner of Vanderbilt Avenue near Grand Central Station, the off-tune notes of their brass instruments another New York Christmas sound. Bumph-bumph-bumph: "Joy to the world..."

They wear those blue uniforms with red trimming just as they did in 19th-century London. They would look at home under Victorian gas.

The famous clubs in New York are putting up their Christmas trees. The uniformed staff arrange the holly wreaths. At the Yale Club, softly played carols alternate with Yale songs.

But New York can add a detail that you would not get in Paris, London, Barcelona or San Diego.

"I should have let him do it... I should have let him do it." Those were the dying words of 23-year-old Caroline Isenberg, a Harvard graduate and promising actress. She had come home to her upper West Side apartment around 1:30 in the morning, after a night at the theater. A young male accosted her in the elevator and took her to the roof. When she refused to submit to rape, he stabbed her repeatedly in the chest. The residents of the apartment heard her screams and called the police. Though she was dying when the police arrived, she managed to describe her attacker. The doctors at St. Luke's Hospital worked feverishly, but could not stop the bleeding.

The man who had directed one of her recent plays told reporters that her "eternally innocent" stage presence could have lifted her to stardom. "Part of the reason I cast Caroline in the role was because she was such a bouncing, zealous personality. She had an otherworldly innocence. You looked at her and said, 'This person is newly born.' I think she would have gone the distance toward a successful career. She was Caroline. You can't find another one, no more than you can find another Katharine Hepburn."

And that is Christmastime in New York, too.

Capital punishment is entirely inadequate.

Something like that punches a hole in the universe, a black and infinite hole. But New York at Christmastime remains overwhelmingly beautiful, its edges hard and lyrical. The Salvation Army band is playing, bumph-bumph-bumph: "Silent night, holy night..."

History Loves A Joke

NEW YORK (NEA) — The year 1984 was long anticipatedly famous, thanks to George Orwell's prophetic novel of that name, as the date by which the omnipotent state was to have completed the eradication of all human individuality. But history loves to play jokes, and it seems likely that on the contrary 1984 will be celebrated, in retrospect, as the year in which "scientific socialism" quietly gave up the ghost. Certainly it has been the worst year for the International left in modern memory.

I am not referring to the overwhelming conservative victory in the recent elections in Belize, or even Ronald Reagan's more widely publicized triumph on Nov. 6. Such setbacks would merely through the determination of a political movement that really believed in itself. What has made 1984 such a disaster for the left is the evidence that it has finally and totally lost confidence in its own statist prescriptions.

By far the biggest shock socialism sustained in 1984 was communist China's all but official repudiation of Marxism-Leninism and its introduction of economic incentives and other capitalist features into its social system. The PRC has long been a model for the Third World nations which favored socialism but considered the Soviet Union offensively totalitarian, and Peking's move away from doctrinaire socialism is bound to have important effects in scores of countries. Nor have we seen the end of the process in China itself; for in the words of National Review editor James Burnham's aphorism, "Who says A must say B."

But Red China is not the only country that has begun to move away from socialist dogmas. In Spain, Prime Minister Felipe Gonzalez, who two years ago led the Socialist Party to its first victory, told its convention earlier this month that a technological revolution was underway in the world and, as paraphrased in The New York Times, "that Spain would have to abandon statist economic formulas to keep up with it..."

With the world as a whole turning so candidly against statist solutions for social problems, is it likely that the Soviet Union can hold out forever as their exponent — or even that it will want to? Soviet society is a ferociously rigid system; one must not underestimate its staying power. But it is hard to believe that pragmatic Russians of the upcoming generation, like the youthful (53) Mikhail Gorbachev who recently visited Margaret Thatcher in London, will forever deny themselves and their peoples the demonstrated benefits of a freer economy, merely out of respect for Karl Marx's memory. The old boy was wrong, dead wrong; and the world now realizes it, and is gradually but decisively admitting it.

IRS' tendency to embark on ambitious plans without asking Congress for the necessary authority. For example, investigators for a subcommittee headed by Sen. William Cohen, R-Maine, discovered that the IRS was buying mailing lists from private companies to help it track down individuals on its "delinquent" list.

The agency used the same justification for that little caper as for the phone plug-in plan: It helps nail cheaters quicker and easier. But Cohen is afraid that such breezy justifications could end up reversing the burden of proof in tax cases, forcing the taxpayer to prove that information gathered from a variety of sources was inaccurate.

Meanwhile, IRS is reportedly laying plans to supply computer data on taxpayers to other government agencies.

the telephone company would already have given IRS access to its records — without consulting anyone.

The IRS has tacitly acknowledged the legal problems involved in the turnover of computer information by phone companies. It has warned the phone company that the company must "be prepared to obtain tariff approval" from local public utility commissions in at least three states. It's up to the commissions to decide just how great the phone company's obligation is to keep information confidential.

The IRS spokesman said the aim of the proposal is to track down tax cheaters as quickly and cheaply as possible, though he admitted that so far it is not known how much the arrangement with the phone company will cost.

Congressional insiders resent the have direct access to the telephone company's computer banks, as well.

The legal implications of the proposal are unclear. Some congressional critics view it as another Orwellian attempt by the tax collectors to trample individual privacy. The IRS doesn't see it that way.

An agency spokesman told my associate Donald Goldberg that by law the secretary of the Treasury, who has jurisdiction over the IRS, is authorized to summon records needed to collect taxes. Anyone who's ever been audited knows how that works.

But critics point out that as things stand now, businesses and individuals who are asked for confidential information have the right to challenge such a demand, and make the IRS prove its case in court. Under the computer plug-in plan,

Greenhouse Stimulates Ideal Growing Conditions

Can you imagine cutting into a ripe, juicy tomato that you grew yourself—in the middle of January? How about growing some exotic plants that your neighbors can obtain only from specialty shops for a pile of money? How about raising your own landscape plants from start or getting in an early vegetable garden or flower bed? You can—if you have a greenhouse!

Even though we can grow an amazing variety of plants, many the year-around in our area, greenhouses are becoming very popular with many gardeners. One reason is the flexibility a greenhouse offers. You can start seedling vegetables long before anyone else can. And, you can raise all kinds of unusual and interesting plants. All of this, just because you have a greenhouse that will stimulate ideal growing conditions. And, you can easily control the three critical things in plant growth—light, water, and heat.

If you've ever considered having a greenhouse, why wait? The first thing you want to

Alfred Bessesen
Urban Horticulturist
323-2500
Ext. 181

consider is whether or not you have enough space, and a suitable location in your yard. Location is very important, both in relation to available light, and wind protection. Winds will affect your greenhouse in two ways. First, it must be strong enough to withstand strong wind pressures. Exposure to strong winds will cause heat loss. Positioning your greenhouse so that it has a wind barrier will shield it from the most chilling wind, and reduce the need for artificial heat—which is expensive.

Gas heating equipment is recommended. It's clean, and is one of the least expensive to install and operate. If you don't have natural gas available, you can use L-P gas or fuel oil instead. Whichever you choose, be sure you have adequate ventilation inside the greenhouse. Exhaust fumes must be vented outside. Other things you'll need to think about are access to water and electricity. You'll need electricity to operate ventilation fans and for lighting.

Greenhouse come in a variety of shapes and styles. Before you decide on a particular type, you must consider cost, availability of materials, and the ease or difficulty of construction.

Probably the simplest kind you can build is the quonset type. This is a semicircular pipe frame, set into steel or concrete footings. A plastic covering is then placed over the pipe frame to form the top and sides of the building. End walls, doors, fan openings, and shutters are usually constructed of wood.

A Gothic-type greenhouse is very similar to the quonset, except that the pipes are bent into a pointed, Gothic shape. It makes a nice looking building. With any greenhouse, you'll need to provide good ventilation. This is especially true for the Gothic and the quonset types. Both tend to hold heat and prevent good air circulation. You have more headroom with Gothic type.

Another simple greenhouse design is the post-rafter type. This structure requires more wood or metal than the quonset or Gothic designs. If you want a post-rafter greenhouse, you'll need to drive the posts deeply into the ground. This will provide protection from heavy winds, and give added support for the rafters.

A A-frame greenhouse-shaped like a tent—is popular, too. The only structural difference between it and the post-rafter type is that the A-frame has an additional beam, called a collar beam, between the rafters. This gives added strength to the structure. But, interior space in an A-frame design is reduced because of the slanting sides.

Probably the most durable kind of greenhouse, and one most often used in commercial designs, is the rigid-frame type. Basically, it is a post-rafter design, with plywood gussets nailed or glued to the connecting post-rafter joints. These gussets eliminate the need for a collar beam. So, the interior of the greenhouse is clear and unobstructed. Also, the rigid-frame structure is set into concrete footings, rather than embedded into the ground. This provides extra protection from heavy winds.

These are the most common greenhouse designs, both for private and commercial use. Each has its advantages and drawbacks. Don't feel that your greenhouse must be complicated and expensive—they don't! They may be as simple or sophisticated as you desire.

Happy Gardening!

Abby Wrong About Shoppers Monitored In Dressing Rooms

DEAR ABBY: "Appalled in Boston" wrote to say that a friend had told her that some of the finest ladies' stores in Boston had peepholes and two-way mirrors in their dressing rooms in order to catch shoplifters. You said she was full of beans. You were wrong.

I was employed as a detective for a prestigious store in California, and I know there were peepholes and two-way mirrors in both the men's and women's dressing rooms, and it was common practice for store detectives to spy on customers in an effort to catch shoplifters.

In our store, males were forbidden to observe women's dressing rooms but there was no rule to cover the opposite. (This rule was largely ignored anyway.)

In some states, catching shoplifters by spying on them is forbidden by law, so store detectives have been known to lie and say they "witnessed" the theft on the floor.

I'm signing my name, but please don't use it. I am no longer in this line of work because I had some emotional problems and was caught shoplifting. Sign me...

Dear Abby

GOT AN EYEFUL

DEAR GOT: Too bad after getting an eyeful, you were caught with an armful. Many readers will be grateful for the earful with Christmas approaching. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I've never written to you before, but I couldn't let the matter of two-way mirrors in the best stores in Boston go without adding my 2 cents. You said you checked and were told there weren't any.

Well, I know for a fact that Bloomingdale's and Saks have this type of security. They even have signs in their dressing rooms warning their customers that they are being "monitored" by security personnel.

I have it on good authority that

Lord and Taylor also has two-way mirrors.

Come to Boston and see for yourself — unless they changed their policy since yesterday.
STILL APPALLED IN BOSTON

DEAR STILL: I pursued the matter again — this time more tenaciously. A Bloomingdale's spokesperson courteously said there were signs posted in the ladies' fitting rooms that read, "These fitting rooms are monitored by female detectives." But, no two-way mirrors are used. Saks' security manager was equally courteous. He said the company had signs in all its dressing and fitting rooms that say, "These rooms are monitored by Saks Fifth Avenue associates." I was told there were no two-way mirrors.

After innumerable calls to Lord and Taylor, I concluded it would have been easier to talk to the Lord than Lord and Taylor's security manager. Three times I left my name and stated my business. Each time I was told that he would get back to me. I'm still waiting.

DEAR ABBY: It's possible that the Boston stores put one over on you, but they didn't get away with it in New Jersey. A woman filed a complaint against two stores seven years ago when she suspected there were two-way mirrors in the ladies' dressing rooms.

An employee revealed that not only detectives were looking, some of the store personnel also took turns looking. He said they were in hysterics when a fat lady tried on a bikini and did a little dance in front of the mirror!

Another time the men lined up in front of a peephole to get a look at an unbelievably well-built woman "everyone had to see."

Lady Seminoles Top Evans By 10...At Evans

ORLANDO — As the season turns the corner, it's becoming quite obvious that this is no ordinary basketball team coach Ron Merthie has put together at Seminole High School.

Extraordinary would be a better word. Last year, with 6-2 Deldre Hillery and 5-8 Maxine Campbell to complement Mona Benton, it was supposed to be the "Year of the Lady Seminoles."

But it wasn't. A surprising loss to Lake Mary in the district semifinal ended those dreams. And, of course, DeLand went on to win it all.

The feat Merthie's speedy gals pulled off Thursday night, however, could very well be the most impressive of their career. They beat Evans at Evans by 10 points. An Evans' team which has lost just two games this year to you know who.

One of those came Thursday night in a gymnasium dubbed the "Snakepit."

A closely compacted playing area where the fans snap out like vipers in an Indiana Jones' movie. Years ago, Evans had a fellow named Darryl Dawkins who used to snake out his big paw and swat basketballs into the rabid crowd.

But to beat Evans by 10 at Evans? Impossible. "That's what everybody thought before we went over there," said Merthie following the Seminoles' 71-61 make-believer. "That has to be the sweetest victory ever."

And, it was easy, well, relatively easy. After the two teams traded leads throughout the first half, Seminole, which held a 30-29 halftime lead, began to make out like a thief in the night during the third quarter.

As quick as you could say, Benton, Alexander and Smith, the Lady Seminoles' three pickpockets had six steals and a 48-38 lead. "The tempo was up in the third quarter," said

Merthie. "We began really pressing them and that made the difference."

Evans, 8-2, is used to a slow tempo game where it grinds the opposition into the ground with brilliant inside game of 5-11 Cynthia Williams. Williams was brilliant again Thursday night, but not brilliant enough.

She scored 41 points on a variety of inside power moves, but the Lady Seminoles shut off her supporting cast to pave the way for victory eight in nine decisions. In the decisive third period, though, Williams was limited to a paltry field goal and three free throws.

"We had three girls with four fouls and all we could do was put up our hands to try and stop her (Williams)," said Merthie. "That wasn't enough. But we stopped her in the third quarter, when it counted."

But 28 points from Benton, 18 from Temika Alexander, 12 from Catherine "Kitty" Anderson and 10 from Andell "Soul" Smith were enough. The Tribe bolted to a 14-11 lead after one quarter and slipped ahead, 30-29, at halftime.

After an 18-9 blitz in that crucial third period, the Lady Seminoles played Evans to a 23-23 stalemate in the final eight minutes to close out the impressive 10-point victory.

Benton finished with 12 rebounds, four steals and five assists. Alexander and Smith each had four steals while Anderson had three steals and 15 rebounds.

Seminole, which is ranked fourth in the state, has won six in a row. It goes to the prestigious Lady Hawk Tournament Wednesday at Lake Howell. Seminole's first round opponent will be redhot Lake Brantley, winners of seven in a row.

A victory there will probably set up a semifinal round game with Edgewater and another win there will probably bring a rematch with Evans in the final. "We've never won the Lady Hawk," said Merthie. "That's our next goal."

SEMINOLE (71) — Benton 28, Alexander 18, A. Smith 10, Anderson 11, Wallace 4, B. Smith 0. Totals 29 13 21 71.

EVANS (61) — Highower 0, Walker 3, Williams 41, Elmora 7, Mack 6, King 5. Totals 24 13 24 61. Halftime — Seminole 30, Evans 29. Fouls — Seminole 21, Evans 18. Fouled out — none. Technical — none.

Elusive Isaac Erases Wild Citrus Illusions

ORLANDO — You're heard about those wild weeks before the bowl games. Dancing until dawn. A light practice in the morning. Out to the sundeck for beers and pretzels in the early afternoon. Happy hour in the late afternoon. The night clubs until closing.

And, all those girls, girls, girls. Four days I'd been dogging Sanford's Isaac Williams by phone. The receptionist at the Hilton Inn Center on International Drive has become a good friend. "Oh it's you again," she said Thursday morning, two days before Isaac and his Florida State teammates were to line up for the Citrus Bowl against Georgia. "I'll try his room but they had practice this morning, then they were going to Sea World. Or was it Epcot Center today? Maybe it was Rosie O'Grady's or J.J. Whispers."

Enough said. After rings went unanswered, my curiosity grew. Later in the morning, I sent my best bird dog, Andy Wall, to that practice for pictures of Isaac and former Lake Brantley standout Dan Morris. "You have him call me," was the directive. "This is it. I've got to talk to him tonight."

Two hours later, Wall called. "I told him and he said he'd try but that he is just too busy," was the reply. "He's got a press conference this afternoon and then they're going somewhere later."

Finally, after watching Florida State's massive defensive tackle conduct a polished interview on one of the local TV stations Thursday night, I figured I might catch him in the room between parties.

Sure enough, someone actually answered the phone. It was tough to hear him over the noise in the background. The party was more localized tonight. "Just a minute," he said. "Let me turn this projector down."

Projector! I knew it. My mind returned to those great days of college and all those lovely ladies who used to dance by on the small, silver screen.

He returned. "Yeah, my roommate (linebacker Henry Taylor) were just watching films of Georgia," Isaac said. "Georgia's offensive line is a mash type. The come at you low and hard. That's different than what we're used to. Everybody usually tries to position block us."

Excuse me, I must have the coaches' room. Is this Isaac Williams, the football player? The guy who is with the team that the Citrus Bowl brass is wining and dining this week before that meaningless season finale with Georgia?

When Isaac confirmed, indeed, that I had the right connection, he went on to explain just what a bowl week is for FSU. "Oh, we have a good time," he said. "But really, it's a pretty good balance between the activities and preparation for the game. We get up at 6:45 in the morning. We're serious about the game."

"You would think it would be hard to concentrate on football. But really it's been the other way around. We have such a hard practice in the morning, that sometimes we're too tired to get the real enjoyment out of all the places we go."

But it has been enjoyable. "The Citrus Bowl is No. 1," said Isaac. "Everything is so well organized...right down to the minute. It's especially enjoyable to the players who aren't from Florida. They're going crazy with Disney World, Sea World, Rosie O'Grady's, Epcot and J.J. Whispers."

Williams, who is a junior, said nothing compares to Orlando's attractions or the hospitality. He should know. The Seminoles have been to bowls every year. Last year, they played in the Peach Bowl in Atlanta and two years ago, they were in Jacksonville for the Gator Bowl.

Florida State won both of the those appearances and Isaac, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Williams of Sanford, would like to keep his string intact.

"Both of us have something to prove," he said about the dream matchup. "We both sputtered some at the end of the season. I guess they (Georgia) had lost three in a row) did more sputtering than we did, but we're still looking at it as a springboard into next year."

About that projector, is it really about Georgia? "Of course," Isaac replied. "There goes Pulwood Smith. He likes to cut the ball back. He likes to go against the grain before the line of scrimmage. He runs hard..."

Business, as usual, for Isaac and the Seminoles. So much for bowl illusions.

Edgewater Dismantles Rams

South Fork Easily Moves Into Semis Against 8-0 Eagles

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Edgewater coach John Edwards is a nice guy. He goes beyond the theory that if you can't say anything nice, don't say anything at all. He will always say something nice about an opponent every time.

But even Edwards, who has avoided losing in eight games this year, was hard-pressed for adjectives to describe Lake Mary's shaky effort after his Eagles dismantled the Rams, 55-39, Thursday night to move into the semifinal round of the Oviedo Outlook Christmas Tournament against Stuart South Fork. South Fork, the defending champion, did a similar 67-44 number on South Sumter in the late game.

"Lake Mary played us tough," said Edwards, who is in his second season. "They did a good job. They're a good ball club and well coached. They had us on the run in the fourth quarter. They got it down to 11 (actually 14). Our delay game saved us."

In was more of a prance than a run. Edgewater, 8-0, had built its lead to 23 points, 51-28, with 6:50 to play and the Rams made a determined run behind Jeff Reynolds, Darryl Merthie and Matt Newby to cut the lead to 51-37.

Edgewater, though, patiently went to its spread offense and coasted to a 16-point victory over the 3-4 Rams. Scottie Miller, a 6-4 forward, roamed the baseline for 19 points. Junior Mark Perdue added 12 while the super-quick guard combo of Darrus Gallagher and Eugene Farley each scored eight.

Basketball

Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson was fuming about his team's shooting percentage and the officials. "We didn't shoot the ball, again. Thirty nine points ain't enough to beat anybody," said Richardson. "The officiating was horrible. That one ref sees Metro (Conference) and doesn't call anything."

"They (the officials) demoralized the kids early in the game. We made a run at them, but there was no way we could come back after being down that far (23 points). It was too late."

Lake Mary, which lost a tough one to Seminole Tuesday, started in impressive fashion, jumping to a 6-1 lead as Merthie hit from downtown. Ray Hartsfield pumped in one from short range and Merthie got a breakaway layup.

Edgewater, however, settled down and pulled back on top with a layup by Miller near the end of the quarter, 12-11. The second quarter was a disaster for the Rams. Miller scored six straight points and 12 in the quarter as Edgewater blitzed Lake Mary, 23-7, to take a 35-18 lead into halftime.

"We didn't have any intensity," said junior forward Chris Jackson. "I guess the Seminole game drained it out of us."

Merthie led Lake Mary with 18 points but no other Ram was in double figures. Reynolds, who played a tough inside game, finished with seven.

South Fork, 3-4, blew away 2A South Sumter, 5-7, just as easily. Mack Coleman, Eric Coleman and Robert Gainey led a first-half surge which gave the Bulldogs a 33-21 lead.

"We needed this win," said dapper South Fork coach Derek Thomas, who took his team to state last year and has had trouble scheduling patsies. "On the road we have a tendency to come out slow and it's been getting us in trouble. Tonight, we came out positive and aggressive."

"We're not a zone team. It's go-go-go all the way with us."

Oviedo Tests Lagging Tribe In Semifinals

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Still on an emotional high from Tuesday's victory over arch rival Lake Mary, Sanford's Fighting Seminoles got off to a sluggish start against Lake Howell's Silver Hawks Thursday but the Tribe still had enough firepower to come away with a 53-45 victory in the Oviedo Outlook Christmas Tournament at Seminole Community College.

Seminole returns to action tonight at 7:30 in the semifinal against tournament host Oviedo. The Lions rolled to an big lead early and held on for a 62-52 victory over Lake Brantley's Patriots Thursday night.

"We didn't play with very much intensity," Seminole coach Chris Marlette said. "Playing an afternoon game (4:30 start) has something to do with it and we took Lake Howell too lightly. But it's a win, and we'll take it."

Neither team did much of anything in the first quarter as the two Seminole County rivals battled to a 6-6 tie.

Lake Howell's Efram Brooks scored the first four points of the second quarter to give the Hawks a 10-6 lead but Seminole bounced back with four unanswered points to tie it at 10-10.

The teams traded baskets until the score was 14-14 and Seminole then reeled off four points to take a 18-14 lead with 1:24 left in the half. Hayward Beasley hit one of two free throws to make it 18-15, but Mickel Wright connected on a pair of free tosses with five seconds left to give the Seminoles a 20-15 halftime lead.

Kenny Gordon hit a layup to open the second half as Seminole took a seven-point lead, 22-15. Seminole increased its lead to 11, 28-19, with four minutes left in the third quarter when Gordon fired in a jumper. The Tribe took a 10-point lead, 31-21, into the fourth quarter.

Scott Anderson fed Brooks for a layup to open the final period and Anderson came back to hit a jumper on an assist from Brooks as the Silver Hawks pulled within six, 31-25.

Seminole then took a 33-25 lead when Rod Alexander crashed the offensive boards and dropped in the followup. But Lake Howell responded with four straight points, all four by Anderson, to cut Seminole's lead to four, 33-29, with 5:14 left in the game.

Daryl Williams' jumper pushed Seminole's lead to 35-29 and Rod Henderson tossed in a free throw to make it 36-29. Brooks made a pair of free throws to make it 36-31 but Seminole came back with four straight points as Williams' layup gave the Tribe a 40-31 lead with 2:54 remaining. Lake Howell came back within six, 45-39, on Keith Woodbridge's jumper with 1:10 left. Seminole then tied the victory by making 8-of-10 free throws in the final minute of play.

Henderson started it off by making a pair with 53 seconds left to give Seminole a 47-39 lead. Alexander then canned a pair of free throws to give Seminole a 49-39 lead with 41 seconds left.

Kevin Patrick made four free throws in the final 28 seconds to seal the win for the Seminoles.

Rams Erupt To Capture Mayor's Cup

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

With his heavily favored Lake Mary hold just a 2-0 halftime lead over Seminole, Ram coach Larry McCorkle was spitting nails at halftime.

"If we don't start looking better the second half," he vowed, "we'll have a real tough practice after this is over."

One minute into the second half, the nails turned into spikes as Sanford's J.J. Partlow surprised goalie Greg Griffing and whistled a kick into the net to cut the lead in half.

So much for 41 minutes. Lake Mary wreaked havoc for the final 39, posting seven more goals to run away with a 9-1 victory and the Mayor's Cup trophy in prep soccer at Lake Mary High Thursday afternoon before 50 fans.

Lake Mary, 7-2, opens play in the Pizza Hut Soccer Tournament Wednesday against Lake Brantley at Bishop Moore.

Louis Rosen, a nimble-footed junior, was the main nail in Seminole's coffin Thursday. Rosen turned the hat trick with three goals and his first one, 14 minutes into the game, gave Lake Mary a 1-0 lead. He was assisted by Jay Sapp. The lead jumped to 2-0 six minutes later when Darrand Richards took a pass from Paul Holmes and scored.

Seminole, though, toughened up behind solid play from Matt Albert, Chris Ray, Partlow and Seminole's Mike Whelchel gets a step on Lake Mary's Kevin Noonan in Thursday's Mayor's Cup game. Seminole played Lake Mary tough for a half before losing 9-1.

Tim Roberts to shut down Lake Mary the rest of the half.

After Partlow pulled the Seminole within one, however, Lake Mary closed the lid on Seminole's seventh loss in eight games (one tie).

Andre Sanders scored on a feed from Eric Zimmerman and Zimmerman assisted Rosen for his second goal to make it, 4-1. Vinay Jotwani fed Rick Brunley for a 5-1 score and Topny Fiorentino scored on a 40-yard breakaway after a pass from Holmes for a 6-1 bulge.

Jerry Meyers hammered in a beautiful free kick before Jotwani and Rosen added the final goals.

Lake Mary 3, Shorecrest 1

Gainesville Buchholz pumped 47 shots at Seminole's goal and the Lady Tribe's goalkeepers stopped all but two.

But that was enough for the Lady Bobcats as their stubborn defense shut Seminole's offense down to give Buchholz a 2-0 victory in the Burger King Classic Tournament Thursday afternoon at Lake Mary High.

It was the first loss of the season for the Lady Seminoles who now stand at 4-1-2. Seminole will try to bounce back today at 2 p.m. when it goes up against St. Petersburg Shorecrest in a consolation bracket game.

"Buchholz is a very strong team," Seminole coach Suzy Reno said. "We played pretty well but just couldn't put the ball in the goal."

Buchholz took a 1-0 lead 10 minutes into the game when Anne Pepine scored on an assist from Sherri Erbes. Buchholz continued to put the offensive pressure on in the first half but Seminole goalkeeper Sherri Rumler came up with a number of impressive saves. Rumler had 13 saves in the first half.

Buchholz continued to put pressure on Seminole's goal in the second half but keeper Kim Walsh, who had 20 saves in the half, came through with some nice saves in the early going.

Meanwhile, Rumler, switched from keeper to forward, tried fervently to get the Lady Seminoles on the board but the Bobcats' defenders wouldn't let it happen.

"They (Buchholz defenders) were really marking Sherri," Reno said. "They wouldn't let her have the ball. And when she got it, she usually had two defenders on her."

While Seminole couldn't get on the scoreboard, Buchholz took a 2-0 lead 11 minutes into the second half. The goal occurred when Walsh stopped a shot, but let the ball get away from her and Erbes kicked it in.

"She was crushed," Reno said of Walsh. "That was the first goal she's given up this year."

Seminole never seriously threatened again after Erbes' goal and the Bobcats moved into the semifinals against host Lake Mary.

RAMS THUMP SHORECREST
Lake Mary's Rams struck as quick as lightning Thursday as they scored 38 seconds into the game and never looked back en route to a 3-1 victory over St. Petersburg Shorecrest's Lady Chargers.

Lake Mary had a 1-0 lead before the Chargers even broke into a sweat as Amy Fluet scored on an assist from Marjon Stonerock just 38 seconds into the game. Kelly Broen added a pair of unassisted goals, one in each half, to seal the victory for the Lady Rams.

"I felt we played our best game of the year," Lake Mary coach Bill Eissele said. "We played real tough defensively and only made one mistake, the goal."

Eissele pointed to the performances of midfielder Kristin Jones, defender Marianne DiTucci, goalkeeper Laura Hellegaard and Broen as highlights for the Lady Rams.

Broen's first goal came with three minutes left in the first half when she booted in a loose ball for a 2-0 Lake Mary lead. Broen scored again five minutes into the second half when she outran a defender, took the ball away from the goalkeeper who had dived to make the save and slipped it into the goal.

Broen now has 10 goals for the season. Fluet's goal was her fourth.

Shorecrest got on the board with 10:21 left in the game when Jenny Epstein drilled in a free kick. The Chargers threatened again with 4:51 left but Hellegaard made a nice save and Hellegaard came up with another fine save with 3:10 left and Shorecrest didn't threaten again after that.

"She did a great job in the net," Eissele said of Hellegaard. "She made some key saves and she took away a couple of corner kicks in the first half."

SURGE LIFTS LYMAN

Lyman's Lady Greyhounds poured in four second-half goals en route to a 5-1 rout of Vero Beach in Thursday's third game.

Sheila Mandy gave Lyman a 1-0 lead 16 minutes into the game but Vero Beach came back to tie it at 1-1 when Lisa Picket scored with one minute left in the first half.

Lyman came back to dominate the second half as Dawn Boyesen scored a pair of goals. Amy Cearley added one and Vero Beach scored Lyman's fifth goal. Mandy's goal was her ninth of the season while Boyesen now has five.

PATS BLANK ST. EDWARDS

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots had too much offensive firepower for the St. Edwards Lady Pirates Thursday as the Patriots claimed a 2-0 victory to advance to tonight's semifinals against Lyman.

Lake Brantley took 45 shots on goal Thursday compared to just 11 for St. Edwards. Goalkeeper Julie Karish turned back 27 of Lake Brantley's shots while Patriots' goalkeeper Karen Brown had seven saves.

The Lady Patriots took an early 1-0 lead when Colleen Lievertz scored an unassisted goal five minutes into the game.

Lake Brantley put the victory on ice with 8:10 left in the game when Kristin Payne scored to make it, 2-0.

Luther, Baldwin March Past Westwood

Orlando's Luther's Lady Crusaders used a full court trap and a 25-point performance by Kathy Baldwin Thursday night en route to a 63-50 victory over Fort Pierce Westwood in the Oviedo Girls Christmas Tournament at Oviedo High.

Luther advances to tonight's semifinals against Stuart South Fork which edged Oak Ridge on Thursday. In the other semifinal game, Denham Springs, La., takes on Fort Pierce Central.

The Crusaders led by seven, 28-21, at halftime and used their full court trap to pull away in the third quarter. Luther outscored Westwood, 24-11, in the quarter to take a commanding 52-32 lead into the fourth quarter.

Behind Baldwin for the Crusaders, Eva Dalbjorn tossed in 13 points. Alice Byrd led Westwood with 18 points and Tonya Gaines added 10.

In South Fork's narrow victory, Jill Broomfield connected on a pair of free throws in the last minute of play to make the final, 40-39. Broomfield led South Fork with 15 points. Tia Pastell pumped in a game-high 18 points to lead Oak Ridge.

Denham Springs advanced to the semifinals via a 52-31 victory over the host school, Oviedo's Lady Lions, on Wednesday night. Helga Pope led Denham Springs with 16 points and Shawn O'Neil added 13. Mary Lokers led Oviedo with 12 points.

Fort Pierce Central pulled out a 45-43 victory over Boone's Lady Braves on Wednesday night to advance to tonight's semifinals. Eileen Tobin led Boone with 16 points and Amy Patz added 14.

In consolation bracket play on Thursday night, Patz poured in 25 points and Tobin added 15 as the Lady Braves ousted Oviedo, 56-50. Oviedo fell to 2-9 with the loss.

Behind the inside play of Lokers and the passing of Stephanie Nelson, Oviedo built a 24-21 lead by halftime. Boone came back to open up a 12-point lead in the third quarter and the Lady Lions could not come back in time.

Lokers led Oviedo with 21 points, Michelle Eck added 12 and Natalie Barth contributed eight. Nelson, playing her sec-

The Seminole High and Lake Mary Junior varsity, who engaged in an intense battle this past Tuesday, will go at it again today as the Tribe and Rams meet for the Lake Mary Junior Varsity Christmas Tournament title.

Lake Mary came away with a 54-52 victory over the JV Tribe on Tuesday behind the clutch play of Matt Napoli, Terry "The Cat" Miller and Roosevelt Gaines. The JV Rams, coached by Charles Steele, stand at 4-0 for the season while the Seminoles stand at 3-1.

Prep Basketball

In Thursday's first round play, James Dendard burned down the house with a game-high 29 points as the Seminoles cruised by Lyman's JV Greyhounds, 67-40. Dendard poured in 24 points in Seminole's loss to Lake Mary and the Tribe is looking for Dendard to keep his scoring parade going for coach Tom Smith.

Seminole built a 31-19 lead by halftime and never looked back in the second half. Hathaway added 14 points for Seminole and Mike Edwards tossed in 10.

In Thursday's second game, four players scored in double figures as the JV Rams upended Bishop Moore's Hornets, 62-49.

Miller and Oscar Merthie led the way for Lake Mary with 12 points each while Gaines and Napoli added 10 apiece. James Stewart contributed seven. Gaines pulled down 10 rebounds and Merthie grabbed seven. The Hornets stayed within two points of the Rams, 12-10, after the first quarter but Lake Mary outscored the Hornets, 14-8, in the second quarter to take a 26-16 halftime lead.

Bishop Moore came back strong in the third quarter and pulled within three, 40-37, going into the fourth period. But Lake Mary came back to outscore the Hornets, 22-12, in the fourth quarter to seal the victory.

"We did make some pressure free throws down the stretch," Marlette said. "But nobody could really get the fire going for us. We have to play harder on both ends of the floor tomorrow."

James Rouse and Gordon popped in 12 points apiece to lead Seminole but Rouse missed most of the second half with an injured ankle. Marlette said Rouse should be ready to go tonight but won't be at full speed. Henderson contributed 10 points and nine rebounds for the Tribe and Alexander added six points and eight boards. Williams netted six points and dished out nine assists.

Brooks led the Hawks with a game-high 18 points. Anderton added 10 and Beasley pulled down 10 rebounds.

Lake Howell goes up against Lake Brantley today at 4:30 in a loser's bracket game.

1ST-HALF OUTBURST CARRIES OVIEDO

Oviedo's Lions found the shooting touch from the outside and crashed the boards in the first half Thursday night as they built a 36-17 halftime lead en route to a 62-52 victory over Lake Brantley's Patriots.

James Stewart had the hot hand in the early going as he hit four straight jumpers in the first four minutes of the game as Oviedo opened up a 10-4 lead. A jumper by Allen Unroe and a steal and layup by Bernell Simmons gave the Lions a 14-4 lead with 3:20 left in the opening quarter. The Lions went on to take a 20-9 lead at the end of the quarter.

Dennis Groseclose's two free throws cut Oviedo's lead to 20-11 early in the second quarter but the Lions roared back with eight straight points to take a commanding 28-11 lead with 4:25 left in the first half.

"That first half was the best half of ball we've played as a team this season," Oviedo coach Dale Phillips said. "The work on the offensive boards was really important for us. We found out that Lake Brantley likes to release two guys on the fast break so I told the kids the only way to stop that is to get on the offensive boards."

Lake Brantley used its pressure defense to come back within 11, 49-38, after the third quarter and the Patriots got as close as six, 56-50, with :50 seconds left in the game.

But Oviedo then went to its spread offense and the Patriots were forced to foul Simmons who is Seminole County's leading free throw shooter. Simmons swished in both free tosses with 46 seconds left and he hit two more with 27 seconds left that gave the Lions a 60-50 lead.

James Stewart led Oviedo with 17 points, 10 coming in the first half, and he also pulled down 10 rebounds. "He's getting better and better with every game," Phillips said of Stewart. "He's shooting really well and starting to take the charge on defense."

Simmons added 14 points, including 10 for 12 from the free throw line, and handed out eight assists. Unroe, Cary Justice and Rob Hughes tossed in eight points each for the Lions. Unroe also grabbed nine rebounds.

Mark Moser led Brantley with 17 points. Todd Hill added 10, all in the fourth-quarter. Greg Courtney chipped in nine points and seven boards and Dave Hardwick tossed in eight points, handed out seven assists and came up with five steals.

"We didn't play very well at all," Lake Brantley coach Bob Peterson said. "Oviedo really shot well to open the game and they killed us on the boards."

Loss Of Taste, Smell A Common Complaint

DEAR DR. LAMB — Last spring I came down with the flu. I was very sick for about 10 days and lost my sense of smell and taste, which have not returned. Is there something I can do or take to help me regain them? Luckily, I can sense cold and hot, but that is all. Foods have no flavor whatsoever.

symptom and deserves investigation. Loss of taste and smell after viral infections may really mean that the viral infection has involved some of the vital nerve cells or sensory cells of the system. Remember that we never recognize anything unless it is transmitted through a complex nervous system and finally registers on the cortex of the brain.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019

DEAR READER — This is a much more common complaint than you might think. Unfortunately, there is still a great deal we do not know about taste, smell and what causes the loss of these important senses. This may occur after a viral illness such as the flu. Oddly, some people who have this complication after a viral infection have a zinc deficiency.

However, you must not be lulled into thinking that this is the total answer. A loss of taste and smell, or either one, requires a careful examination, since about 10 percent of people who have a loss of taste actually have a tumor. The tumor may trap zinc. As a result, the zinc available for the body is depleted.

Other medical problems may also cause a zinc deficiency and a resulting loss of taste. These include diseases that affect digestion and absorption. Liver disease, low thyroid function and a vitamin A deficiency have also been implicated.

Zinc deficiency is not the only possible mechanism. It may account for about 25 percent of the problems. If no important underlying medical problem is found, many patients will improve simply by taking zinc.

I'm sending you The Health Letter 20-4, Taste and Smell, which explains these senses and what happens when you lose them. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

We know less about smell than we do about taste. Like a loss of taste, a loss of smell can be a

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
 When the contract looks easy to make, that's the time to ask yourself how you can go down. South discarded a club on the opening lead, drew trumps, played king and ace of clubs, and ruffed a club. Next he tried the king of hearts. When another heart to the ace revealed that bad news, he still had an ace up his sleeve. Only this time the ace was really the jack of clubs. Declarer played dummy's club jack, discarding a heart when East won the club queen. Now East had to give a ruff and a ruff to allow another heart loser to disappear.

ing a club on the diamond ace, let him draw trumps as before, cash the club king, and then lead a low heart. If West plays low, declarer will insert the eight from dummy, hoping to end play East. East would then be forced to lead into the A-J of clubs or to play another heart, allowing declarer to bring home that side suit.

However, as the cards lie, West will play the heart 10, forcing dummy's ace. Now the club ace is cashed and a second low heart played. When East shows out, South plays the nine and West is on lead with no escape. If West has a club to play, that will establish the jack as a winner, and a diamond lead will give a ruff and a ruff.

Sophia Stars With 11-Year-Old Son

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — Sophia Loren showed up for the Italian premier of "Something Blonde," and said the film's leading man — her 11-year-old son — is a born actor.

"He always asked me if he could become an actor. Now, after this experience, the fever has grown for him," the 50-year-old actress said Wednesday of her son, Edoardo.

"He continues to torment me — 'When will I be able to make another movie? Are there any proposals?'" Loren told reporters.

In "Something Blonde," directed by Italian moviemaker Maurizio Ponzi, Loren plays a taxi driver with a young son who is almost blind and needs to go to Switzerland for an operation.

"Something Blonde" has been shown on American television and will open in Italian cinemas Jan. 20.

Last-Minute Buying Panic

Even if you know exactly what to get the kids for Christmas, will you be able to find it still on the shelves this late?

Bill Cosby's Return To TV Overdue, page 5

'Omigosh! What'll I Get For The Kids?'

Forget Cabbage Patch Dolls, But How About He-Man Or Transformers?

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The demand for Cabbage Patch dolls, which began at Christmas time a year ago, has not diminished. It is considered the hottest toy on the market — the one Jane and Mary and all the little girls want.

And just like last year, few if any are available in Seminole County.

A toy specialty store in Altamonte Springs has a half dozen or so Cabbage Patchers on display behind a glass cage but the manager says they're all promised.

In fact, he says, his store has a waiting list of 3,000 and at the rate Coleco is delivering them, it could be years before all the reservations are filled.

Jack Childs, manager of a Longwood department store, says he was promised 18 Cabbage Patchers for the Christmas season and rumors persist they will arrive in time, but he doesn't believe it.

United Press International surveyed toy stores around the country and found the same situation exists nationally — lots of requests for Cabbage Patch dolls, the cuddly creations with individual features including a birth certificate and name, but there are none on the shelves.

And stores stopped promising the dolls in September, UPI says.

Things have gotten out of hand. A week or so ago in Seattle a man and woman were arrested after assaulting a shopper and stealing one of three Cabbage Patch dolls she had purchased. A manager of a toy palace in New York said he had to fire a worker for taking a bribe from a customer to get one. And in Des Moines, Iowa, one man was reported selling the doll at a scalper's price of $100 each.

Never fear, there are still lots of other toys on the shelves to strike the fancy of children and adults. But since you've waited until the last minute to do your Christmas shopping, we don't promise they'll all still be in ready supply.

Trivial Pursuit, the hottest board game since Monopoly, is in short supply but selling well, according to Jim Walker, manager of a Sanford department store. Not only the original game, but also its additions like Bible Pursuit, are selling like hotcakes.

And David Pfeiffer, manager of another Sanford department store, says "Masters of the Universe," the poseable figures with names like He-Man and Skeletor, and all their accessories are being picked up by anxious parents. With the prices on computers way down from a year ago, half those purchasing computers are also buying the accessories — printers, disk drives and added memory storage.

Plush animals are also doing real well, Pfeiffer says, including the old fashioned teddy bear.

Even Barbie and Ken are hot items.

With a highly competitive market and prices reduced on another of last year's big sellers, video games, availability is down to nothing, Pfeiffer said.

Video games that sold for $199.99 during the 1983 Christmas season are now going for $39.95 and customers are grabbing them up, says Walker.

He also said that boys are showing a particular fondness for Transformers, the scientific marvel robots that can be turned into cars and guns, or vice versa, but they can be hard to find.

There is also a great demand for the Rainbow Brite dolls and Sprites, fantasy figures that protect the rainbow and fight off Lurky and Murky (which are also available). And Care Bears are as popular as ever, Childs said.

Old standbys like Superman, Batman, AquaMan, Flash, in poseable figure form, are available, but Wonder Woman, one of the 12 figures in the Super Friends collection, is snapped off the shelf about as soon as it is placed there.

"Every type of toy under the sun is available" to make up for the lack of Cabbage Patch dolls, Childs said.

'Glitter' Seeking Sparkle, Getting Serious

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "Glitter" may yet shine. The much-heralded Aaron Spelling ABC series about a gossip magazine and its staff was an early-season dud, but now the network is bringing it back and Morgan Brittany, one of the show's stars, says there have been positive changes.

"They were playing it for laughs at first," says Morgan. "In fact, for a while, there even was a laugh track. But we all protested, so they took that out. And now the show has gotten much more serious."

Morgan likes that, but doesn't want to get too serious. One of the reasons she left her last position was because of that.

She had been on "Dallas" for three seasons, as Catherine, but she saw what she interpreted as dire handwriting on the wall. Catherine was getting meaner and meaner.

"I didn't want to be typed as the mean one," she says. "My friend Morgan Fairchild seems to be stuck in that mean mold."

She says she also had a premonition that the "Dallas" brass was planning to eliminate Catherine, so she beat them to the elimination. She says her premonitions are usually correct.

She guest-starred for Aaron Spelling on "The Love Boat," and he talked to her about "Glitter." She listened.

She signed to do "Glitter," and then went back to tell the "Dallas" people she was leaving. They were shocked; they said they wanted her to stay.

So she did several of this season's "Dallas" episodes, and may yet do some more.

"They sent Catherine away to the Mideast," Morgan says. "I think it would be a fun idea to have her come back to the ranch, married to an oil sheik who is richer than J.R."

ANOTHER ACTOR working both sides of the soap opera is Dennis Patrick. He's a regular on the syndicated soap "Rituals," and a semi-regular on "Dallas."

The way it works is that the "Dallas" people call him up and ask him if he will be available on a certain day. He then goes to the "Rituals" people and they all try to work it out so he'll be free on the day "Dallas" wants him. He says everybody is being nice and cooperative, and it's working out.

Dennis Patrick is one of the most familiar faces on TV. When he started on TV, in the olden golden days, people still marveled at the device. He was one of the stalwarts of early live TV from New York.

He says he once did 50 shows in a 26-week period. One thing that helps is his incredible memory. He claims to be able to memorize the front page of The New York Times at one reading.

He was born Dennis Patrick Harrison. Don't ask him why he dropped the Harrison, not unless you are prepared to spend the rest of the day listening. He is one of Hollywood's great storytellers, and delights in holding an audience — even an audience of one — for hours with his tales.

Actually, the story of the missing "Harrison" goes back to Ireland, where both his parents came from. He says he went back to the old country not long ago, seeking his roots, and was startled to learn from a Harrison matriarch that those roots were Jewish.

Film Footage Often Recycled In Other Shows

DEAR DICK — In an episode of "Call to Glory," Rainier traveled to Vietnam. I thought I recognized some of the scenery and one of the cars used. Weren't they taken from the film "The Year of Living Dangerously"? — D.M., Muskegon, Mich.

Old Eagle Eye, they call you. Yes, you're right. A common Hollywood practice is to use footage from other shows done by the same studio to keep costs down. Or footage can be bought from companies that supply background footage. Much cheaper than going out and shooting everything from scratch.

DEAR DICK — I was wondering why Lucy is on "Dallas" instead of "Knots Landing" with her parents, Val and Gary. — S.B., Lake Jackson, Texas.

The history of the two shows is this: David Jacobs first created "Knots Landing," in which he mentioned the Ewing relations in Texas. CBS suggested that he forget about the folks in "Knots Landing" and make a show about those Texas Ewings. So he did, which is why "Dallas" aired first.

Lucy (Charlene Tilton) was always part of the "Dallas" family. Later, when "Knots Landing" came on, the idea was to have cast members of the two shows go back and forth. J.R. (Larry Hagman) did a few episodes of "Knots Landing" and Val and Gary (Joan Van Ark and Ted Shackelford) did a few "Dallas" shows.

DEAR DICK — My husband says that Kevin Dobson, who plays Mac on "Knots Landing," used to be on "Kojak." He says during the time

Ask Dick Kleiner

Dobson was on "Kojak," he was bald, but now is wearing a toupee on "Knots Landing." Is this true? — B.K., Gering, Neb.

It certainly is true that Dobson was part of the "Kojack" group — he was Lt. Bobby Crocker — but he wasn't bald on that show. His hair is a little thin on top, and they tell me he wears a small piece to conceal a bald spot about the size of a large cookie.

DEAR DICK — Years ago, when I was young, there was a lovely young lady and beautiful singer, Deanna Durbin. Her career didn't last long. She just seemed to disappear from the public eye. Whatever became of her? — Mrs. G.M.C., Syracuse, Ind.

I've answered this question often, but the whereabouts of Deanna seem to fascinate people. Deanna's career wasn't really short; she was a major star from 1936 to 1948 when, at age 27, she retired. Most Durbinologists believe her retirement was hastened by her depression over a weight problem.

Anyhow, she moved to France where she has been living ever since.

DEAR DICK — What was Bill Dailey's occupation on "The Bob Newhart Show"? My friends say he was an airline navigator. I disagree. — M.A.M., Amarillo, Texas.

Don't be disagreeable. They are right; he was an airline navigator.

DEAR DICK — Will you please tell me the correct address to send a letter to "The Tonight Show," starring Johnny Carson and "Hour Magazine," starring Gary Collins. — Mrs. G.L.K., Texas City, Texas.

I don't give out the home addresses for stars, to protect them, but I will be happy to print business addresses, such as The Tonight Show: NBC 30000 W. Alameda, Burbank, CA 91523. Hour Magazine: 5800 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood, CA 90028.

DEAR DICK — In the movie "Stalag 17," who played the character Animal? I say Robert Strauss. My friend says Mickey Shaughnessy. Who is right? — H.C., Malden, Mass.

You are. It was Strauss.

DEAR DICK — Recently, I saw a TV movie with George Peppard, something about the aftermath of a nuclear explosion, which I think knocked the world off its axis. What was the name of that movie? — W.T., Marshfield, Wis.

That was the 1977 film "Damnation Alley," with Peppard, Jan Michael Vincent and Paul Winfield.

Bill Cosby Is Pure Joy

By David Handler
NBC's "The Cosby Show" is this season's biggest new hit for one simple reason: Bill Cosby. Now here is a star. Here is the warmth, humanity and humor that make Cosby one of our great comic performers. Here is the uncanny, effortless rapport that makes him TV's top-rated salesman. This man can be terrific selling pudding. And he can make us enjoy what is otherwise a routine show about the joys and frustrations of parenting. "The Cosby Show" is an at-home show. Each episode centers around some small domestic incident and how it's coped with.

Bill Cosby

It's a throwback to the '50s. If you wanted to call it the exact same show as "Father Knows Best," you wouldn't be far off. The only differences are that mom now works and everyone happens to be black. This is pre-"All in the Family" television. It's not about an American family. It's about an American TV family. Cosby plays a happy, successful New York City obstetrician named Cliff Huxtable. His wife, Clair (Phyllis Ayers-Allen), is a smart, beautiful lawyer. They love each other. They have a nice brownstone home, and it's crammed with an old-fashioned 1950s assortment of kids.

There's the cute 16-year-old daughter, Denise (Lisa Bonet), who dates oddballs and wears pants so tight daddy must order her back to her room to change. There's the lazy, insolent son, Theodore (Malcolm-Jamal Warner), who's 14 and a pain in the neck. There's Vanessa (Tempestt Bledsoe), who's 9 and goes off on some new kick every week. First it's the clarinet, then it's gymnastics, then it's horses. There's the adorable little munchkin, Rudy (Keshia Knight Pulliam), who's 5 and who thinks there's a werewolf in her bedroom just when mommy and daddy want to make some whoopee in theirs.

The stories are incredibly familiar. One week, Theodore decides he doesn't need to be a success. He just wants to be a regular guy. One week Vanessa decides to quit the clarinet. One week Clair starts wondering if she'd like to have another baby. Let me help you make up your mind, says Cliff. You don't. What makes the show work is Cosby reacting to what's going on around him. Cosby settling a dispute. Cosby fixing a sandwich. Cosby pattering around the house. Cosby doing nothing. And every once in a while, he does something. He reads Rudy "Little Red Riding Hood" aloud and does all of the voices. He does an imitation of his wife jogging. He plays one-on-one basketball with Theodore and tries to pretend he isn't ready to drop from exhaustion. He tells Vanessa about how he used to practice talking normally when he was 13 and his voice was changing. I still have all of Cosby's old comedy albums like "Wonderfulness" and "I Started Out As a Child." I still listen to them. They've lost none of their brilliance. Neither has he. It's a pleasure to welcome him back to series television. The man is a pure joy.

definite hiatus" with the final episode scheduled to air Jan. 12, said the studio, which is owned by Coca-Cola. Speculation in Hollywood was that the Mike Hammer series is probably gone for good, depending on many variables. Insiders say the conservative Coca-Cola company would not want to be associated with the drug activities of the show's star. Others argue that if the "Mike Hammer" series shows a big rating jump for the next two or three episodes, it is possible CBS-TV and Columbia might reinstitute the hour-long detective drama next fall.

Basie Band Moving To KC

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Count Basie Orchestra will move its headquarters to Kansas City, and a collection of the late musician's memorabilia and artifacts will find a home at the proposed International Jazz Hall of Fame. Aaron Woodward, adopted son of Basie, announced at a news conference Wednesday that the world-famous orchestra would move from its New York headquarters. He said the 17-piece band would probably convene in Kansas City one month a year — during which time the band would rehearse new material for its tours. The orchestra tours about 40 weeks of the year.
