DEATH IN CHAIR

Madeiras Sleeps Soundly Until He Is Awakened To Be Taken To Electric Chair

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Sacco and Vanzetti are dead—the hue and cry of their dramatic passing rang around the world today.

The end of the seven years' fight for life by these convicted radicals—a fight unprecedented, too, in its effect on world opinion—came in the early hours of this morning in the electric chair.

The whining sing-song of an electric current whipped through their bodies and burned out their lives while the guns of 2200 policemen encircled them to make sure they did not escape Massachusetts justice.

The construction industry regarded as a barometer of general business conditions, has shown an increase of between 2 and 3 percent.

Exports are 5 percent greater in quantity, while freight car loadings are about the same.

NO REDUCTION IN DEPUTIES STAGE CELERY YIELD IS DRY RAIDS THAT SEEN THIS YEAR EFFECT RESULTS

White Youth And Negro Fined And Given Jail Terms This Morning For Rum Violation

County Judge J. G. Sharon this morning fined Fred Hall, white, and Albert Bush, negro, $250 apiece and sentenced each to serve three months on the county road following their pleas of guilty to charge of possessing intoxicating liquors.

The consensus of opinion was that if there is a decrease it will probably be no larger than the increase in production last year, thus giving a yield that will equal an average production.

That practically all of the farmers will receive the financial backing necessary to raise their crops, was assured with the information that some outside capital would be available to assist local bankers.

Not only were local shippers of the opinion that the crop would be an average one in production, but they also predicted a good season based upon a study of local preparations with the reports from other celery growing sections.

W. M. Scott, general manager of the American Fruit Growers Inc., said, "Our average will remain approximately the same. The outlook for a good crop with a substantial return to the farmers is also bright."

J. C. Hutcheson, general manager of the Sanford-Oviedo Truck Growers Association, said, "There will be little reduction in the production of this year's crop. Very few of our growers have quit or reduced their acreage. I look for a crop about the same yield as that of last season."

Randall Chase of Chase & Company, declared, "There will be no increase and if a decrease is noted it will not be more than the increase which we had last year, giving us about a normal crop for next season. If there is a small increase it will help in marketing the product."

Ralph B. Chapman, president of the Florida Vegetable Corporation, said, "Our yield will be about the same as last year. The reduced acreage will be very small and will probably work advantageously to the interests of the farmer in the marketing of his crop."

2nd Day Of President Coolidge's Tour Of Park Is Spent In "Coller's Hell"

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo., Aug. 23.—President Coolidge set out today to see that portion of Yellowstone National Park which the good folk of 1809 contemptuously and disbelievingly referred to as "Coller's Hell" and which it took an official expedition 60 years later to make them believe possibly could exist.

The Executive's second day in America's scenic wonderland took him into regions where nature has performed her most ambitious feats of legenddom where huge shafts of hot water spout skyward with all the symmetry of a man made fountain, where a cliff of glass towers perpendicularly over the roadway, and where seething hot lime bubbles incessantly in a national mortar box the dimensions of a house.

All these marvels of the thermo plumbing which John Colter, first white man to enter the region, sought so unsuccessfully to "sell" to an incredulous public, were visited in a one-day trip much fuller than that of the average tourist.

CHICK EVANS IS SHOOTING GOLF IN FIRST ROUND

National Amateur Is Played On The Same Course Evans Won National Open 1916

Rudy Knepper Also Up Front

Rotan Of Texas And Dr. O. F. Willing Are Drawing Attention

MINIKAHDA COUNTY C. L. U. B. 'MINNEAPOLIS Minn., Aug. 23.—Still in the full flush of a possibility that he may be on the way back from golfdom's Valhalla, Chick Evans, having shot his 75 in the first half of the qualifying round yesterday, began firing with great rapidity and elated this morning as the national amateur championship proceeded on its eventual way.

For the first six holes this morning, Evans was one stroke under even 4's and a continuance Evans of qualification but possibly would mean the medal itself.

For Minnikahda happens to be Chick's happy hunting ground and few will forget the marvelous 286 he shot here to win the open title in 1916.

Showing another 75 in the qualifying round this morning Chick Evans, several times former champion, posted 150 behind his name on the score board and jumped the field that still was in the race for the qualifying medal.

Only a few of the early finishers were in a position to dispute the issue with Chick, the runner up at this point being John McKinlay, fellow Chicagoan.

McKinlay had two 77's for a total of 154 with Dr. O. F. Willing, Big Rapids, Mich., in third place at 156. However most of the good ones, including Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn, were yet to be heard from at this point.

Evans card follows:— Out 5 4 3 4 3 5 4 6—88. In 4 3 4 4 5 4 5 3 6—87—75.

Rudy Knepper another big timer, was almost as brilliant as Evans this morning and Rudy with a 70 yesterday, needed all of the brilliance he ever knew. A 5 on the second hole did him practically no good but a birdie 2 on the third evened matters considerably. He was exactly even 4's for the first six holes.

Meanwhile George V. Rotan, the Texas star, in 7 yesterday had strated 3-6-4 for the first three holes, however, Jimmy Standish of Detroit, had virtually eliminated himself by taking 47 to the turn. He had a 79 yesterday.

Knepper caught and passed Evans at the turn, Chick doing the first nine in 38 against Rudy's 37. Evans needed 6 on the seventh and a buzzard in the turn, while Knepper turned in a stroke over 4's.

Dave Ward, twenty-year-old entrant from Big Rapids, Mich., also got a 37 at a time when scores ingeneral were mounting into large numerals. George Piper, Minneapolis, was Standish's partner and if anything he was just a little worse than James. He needed 48 strokes to the turn.

After starting for home, Evans again assumed command of his game and shot the tenth, eleventh and twelfth in successive parries. Meanwhile, Rotan got a birdie 4 at the fourth, a par 4 at the fifth and a buzzard in the short sixth. But the man they all began to watch was Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, Ore. The good doctor, taking no chances behind the 77 he scored yesterday, suddenly ran amuck and was four strokes under even 4's for the first six holes with pars for the first three and birdies for the fourth and sixth.

One of the first withdrawals was Leonard Fens, Milwaukee, who gave up the chase after shooting six holes this morning.

Howard Gibbons of South Miami and Dr. Fred E. Britten, state at-large treasurer of the Republican Party of Florida, were visitors in Lake Mary on Thursday in behalf of their party. A meeting was called and ten delegates to represent this locality in the county convention.

VANZETTI AND SACCO MEET DEATH IN CHAIR

Proceeding them to the chair was Celestino Madeiros, a Portuguese bank bandit, who killed a cashier in Wrentham while in the act of holding up the place. Oddly enough, Madeiros had confessed to the same murder for which Sacco and Vanzetti were executed and his confession exonerated the two radicals. But the law of Massachusetts refused to believe him.

Plegmatic and sullen, seemingly indifferent to his fate, Madeiros had eaten everything that came his way during his long stay in the death house. He had eaten and slept the long days and nights away. He even had to be awakened three hours before his execution to be informed that this was his last night on earth. And having heard it, he turned over and was asleep again in five minutes. He marched stolidly to the chair and died without a murmur. Nobody rioted or tossed bombs in his behalf.

The scene at the Charlston prison probably was without parallel in American criminalology.

Eight hundred police and state police, armed with riot guns, riot clubs and 45 automatics, encircled the old prison in a ring of steel. Backing them up were machine guns mounted atop the walls. Powerful searchlights sprayed the adjacent streets to seek out possible trouble. For four blocks around the prison the streets were roped off, and nobody permitted to enter without a pass signed by warden Wm. Hendry reinforced by a police permit.

Just off the main gate a temporary press room had been established with wires leading to many cities and in this restricted space three score perspiring reporters and telegraphers labored to inform the world as to how Sacco and Vanzetti died. The flash of their suggested deaths was bulletined in London, Paris and other world capitals almost as soon as it was in New York and Chicago.

Several miles away in a closely guarded police office on the third floor of the capital, sat Governor Alvin T. Fuller, whose official duties for more than a month past have been largely confined to this world-famous case. Grim-faced and resolute the governor remained at his desk until thirteen minutes past midnight. At that hour Madeiros was dead and Sacco was on his last short march to earthly oblivion.

Governor Fuller heard all the last minute pleas for reprieve from relatives of the condemned men, from their attorneys and their friends and to all he was courteous and adamant.

Governor Fuller's friends said that the reason he remained at his desk was that he would not have it said that he "ran away" from any last minute appeals, some said, too, that the Governor anticipated possible personal reprisals from Sacco and if it came he preferred to meet it where his wife and children would not be subjected to danger. But the trouble failed to materialize. The city was policed down to the last alley, and when the governor left, heavily guarded, he was motored to his summer home at Rye Beach.

The battle to save the two Italians continued right up to the foot of the chair itself. Throughout the day frantic appeals were made to this judge and that judge for stays, but all in vain. Not a single staying authority was overlooked by the array of lawyers that fought to save Sacco and Vanzetti. Air-planes, motor speed boats and fast automobiles were used to circumvent time and distance, but all proved unavailing.

Only an hour before the executions, final dramatic pleas were made by Mrs. Sacco and Miss Vanzetti to Governor Fuller for mercy.

Half an hour before the march to the death chamber began, attorney Michael A. Musmanno made an ardent plea to the same authority. One minute before midnight, Francis Fisher Kane, another of their attorneys, emerged from the governor's office unsuccessful. Before Kane left the capital, Madeiros was in the chair.

Beside himself with grief, Musmanno rushed to the prison and demanded a final interview with the prisoners. Warden Hendry told him it was too late. Musmanno pleaded.

"Tell me," said the warden, "and I will carry the message to them."

"I want to tell them," said the little attorney passionately, "that there is more mercy in their hearts than in the hearts of many who profess the orthodox religion."

"I want to tell them I know of their innocence and all the electric chairs and gallies in the world cannot change that knowledge. I want to tell them they are the two kindest and tenderest men I ever knew that they have loved their brother men with a sincerity that has always been apparent."

He would have said more, but the warden stopped him. It was no use. The hour was too close at hand.

It was about this time that the Rev. Father Murphy, the rotund Catholic chaplain of the prison, gave up the ghost. For months he has labored with the three men striving to return them to the faith of

Sportsman On Pacific Coast Are Now Using Stop Watches On Fish And Fowl

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20 (INS)—Pacific coast sportsmen have lately been using their stopwatches on fish, fowl and beast.

A grizzly bear, urged through a narrow canyon highway by an auto mobile lumbered at a speed of 45 miles an hour, the car's speedometer showed. Racing whippets have been timed in remarkably fast sprints both at San Francisco and at Tijuana, across the Mexican border from San Diego.

A number of animals have been clocked by Ceolo Mohawk of Santa Barbara, who has compiled and printed his findings. The savage barracuda, Mohawk discovered, can swim as fast as 70 miles an hour. Mohawk used his stopwatch principally on timing fish and animals thought to dart like lightning through his native element. Mohawk found it took four minutes and forty-four seconds to swim a mile. The walrus is almost two minutes slower for the same distance.

Government Selects Many Physicians To Examine Men Who Seek Air Pilot Permit

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—In the nation wide effort to stimulate the development of commercial aeronautics, the government has arranged the appointment of medical examiners in virtually all districts for the physical inspection of applicants for aircraft pilot licenses.

Evidence is required relative to the good character and personal habits of the applicants. The qualifications for pilots intending to operate passenger planes are more strict than those for "freighters."

MacCracken pointed out that the government is making every effort to safeguard the lives of prospective air passengers. The acceptance of a pilot may be regarded as an assurance to the public that he is qualified for every physical and technical manner to pilot aircraft.

Medical examiners were appointed, and are ready to examine applicants in the following cities:

Examination Centers

El Paso, Tucson and Phoenix, Ariz.; San Diego, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, Bakersfield, Modesto, Stockton, Fresno, San Francisco, and Sacramento, Cal.; Reno Nevada; Medford and Portland, Oregon; Seattle, Spokane and Wenatchee, Washington; Butte, Montana; Boise, Idaho; Salt Lake City; Denver; Casper and Cheyenne, Wyoming; Sioux Falls and Aberdeen, South Dakota; and Fargo, North Dakota.

As a result of a trip taken by Dr. Wade H. Miller, medical examiner in Kansas City, examiners were appointed at LaCrosse, Wisconsin; Stretor and Monmouth, Illinois; Edgar, Nebraska; Iola, Kansas; Shreveport, Louisiana; Waco and San Antonio, Texas, and Mobile, Alabama.

Medical examiners already have been appointed in the eastern states the exception of New England. Special agents of the commerce department are expected to go to New England soon for the selection of examiners that the entire country may be organized for this important work.

"There has been excellent cooperation on the part of the medical profession and the aircraft industry in connection with this work and it is believed that the entire country will be adequately taken care of so far as medical examiners are concerned," declared William P. MacCracken, Jr., air secretary.

Strict Requirements

"An effort is being made to appoint medical examiners in every town where there is aviation activity."

Helen Wills Plays n Smashing Form n Tennis Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Helen Wills of California dominates in decisive fashion the Women's National Lawn Tennis championship tournament which goes into its second round here today.

The California girl, who is endeavoring to regain her championship crown, was not called upon to play tennis of 24 marst quality in her match yesterday but she went fier every count in deadly earnest and th psychological effect on opponent, Josephine Crookshank, of Santa Ana, California, was devastating. The Santa Ana girl imply wilted under the smashing attack and she provided no opposition at all for the Wimbledon champion.

The withdrawal of Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree, the English fightman cup team captain, has smoothed the way immeasurably for "our Helen" too, for it means that until she reaches the final round she probably will not be called upon to face any opposition as half as powerful as that which Mrs. Godfree undoubtedly would have offered her had the fortunes of the game brought them together.

Mrs. Milla Mallory, the defending champion, played in listless manner but she was manifestly overersing her strength for later matches.

An easy way to clean silverware that is not too tarnished is to moisten a soft cloth with water, dip it in whiting, rub off with another cloth, and polish with whiting.

TITLED, AND POOR

London, Aug. 22.—Sir John Lubbock, a sergeant in the Royal West Constabulary, has inherited title without a fortune. Three her impoverished baronets have gared recently in the news—earning a living by taking care of orses, another dying shortly after eing threatened with ejection because of inability to pay the rent for his tiny room, and a third released from a poorhouse.

Women Start Play For Championship Title World Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 23 (INS)—Internationally famous lawn tennis stars will begin play today on the courts of the West Side Tennis Club here. Sixty-four players, including the greatest women players of the game, excepting of course the renowned Suzanne Lenglen, now a professional, will battle through the opening round of the tournament with Miss Helen Wills of California regarded as the popular favorite to regain the championship title which she was forced to relinquish last year when illness made it impossible for her to play.

Miss Wills has the place of honor in the draw, heading the upper half, while Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the defending champion, has the top place in the lower half. By this arrangement the California girl and the champion cannot possibly meet until the final round, should they successfully sweep aside all opposition in the round leading up to the deciding match.

Tagging All Bases

Leaders in both leagues were showing the strain of the pennant grind today. The Cubs, thrice defeated by the militant Boston Braves, lead the Pirates by only two and a half games. The Yankees have lost four straight, their longest losing streak of the season.

While the Yankees lead the Tigers by 12, 1-2 games and are in little danger of losing the pennant, their slump is causing apprehension to their supporters who recall how the team went to pieces on its final western trip last season. The astounding Tigers have won 13 straight.

With Farrell leading the assault on Carlson with four hits, the Braves walloped the Cubs, 5 to 3. The teams play again today.

Ed Brown Boston outfielder, set a new National League record when he played in his 534th consecutive game.

Babe Ruth hit his 40th homer, breaking the tie with Buster Gehrig, but the Yanks lost to Cleveland, 9 to 4. The Indians tagged Moore, Shocker and Pennington for 19 hits, Joey Sewell getting four.

Heilmann and McMenus collected homers as Detroit drubbed Washington twice, 4 to 2 and 7 to 3. Walter Johnston lost the nightcap, but helped himself to a home run.

Chick Hafey's home run was the only score as Jess Haines of the Cardinals chalked up his 20th victory in winning a 1 to 0 duel from Frank Ulrich of the Phillies. Ulrich yielded only four hits. The Cards advanced to within one game of the Pirates, who were idle.

Ted Lyons of the White Sox registered his nineteenth victory by beating the Athletics, 6 to 3. Ty Cobb starred at bat with three hits.

Other teams were idle.

Borah Fishes and Says Nothing

Borah of Idaho, himself often mentioned as a possible candidate, fishes for brook trout in the mountain streams of his home state and says nothing. He's shown here landing a beauty—although it is not known whether he used worms or flies.

THE kidneys are the blood filters. If they fail to function properly there is apt to be a retention of toxic poisons in the blood. A dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches, headaches, and dizziness are symptoms of this condition. Further evidence of improper kidney function is often found in burning or scanty passage of secretions. YOUTHFUL PAIR LEADING FIELD IN LINKS MEET

Eugene Homans And Phillips Finley Head Star Group Of Jones, Von Elm And Others

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service
Sports Editor

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 23.—"I only ask one thing of these sharpshooters. Let them play off that 72 of mine. They can have the rest of the tournament. They know what it is to be famous, I don't. All I ask is my little taste of fame over night. After that, I can pass out without a regret."

That was 15-year-old Phillips Finley, yesterday. Just a boy with a typical boy's prayer for the thing that he wanted most. So he stood just off the eighteenth green and silently awaited each incoming golfer to have, untouched and inviolate his leadership of the [first day's qualifying round of the national amateur golf championship. Wherefore, he lunged breathless by his mental finger nails over the great abyss, as he watched Chick Evans, Watts Gunn, Rudy Knepper, Maurice McCarthy, Max Marston, and other good ones come home, disheartened, and when, suddenly, fate snatched the prize from him, it came from a quarter least expected. Fate's instrument happened to be Finley's very good friend.

But today, neither Eugene V. Homans, Englewood, N. J., with a 71, nor Phillips Finley, Shinnecock Hills, Conn., with a 72 have the slightest quarrel with fate, for they were leading Bobby Jones, George Von Elm, and one of the finest fields ever assembled into the final days of a championship qualifying round. They may not win the medal, this adolescent pair that met in the final round of the eastern interscholastic championship, with Finley winning, this par that has preferred to go off by itself for a quiet eighteen holes, yet has been forced, by the exigencies of tournament play, into close personal contact from time to time. No, it may be that both will be all but forgotten by tonight but, whatever happens, they are almost certain to qualify.

That, this morning, was more than one could say about Von Elm, the champion; Bob Gardiner, who twice held the title in other and perhaps better years; Knepper, Bill Fowens, Ben Stein, Frank Dolp and even Gunn with his 77. Only thirty-two men can proceed with the match play rounds after today's final show-down, and since almost sixty men broke 80 yesterday the answer is obvious. A man in the high seventies is not skating on thin ice; he is dancing on the spray of the Niagara Rapids.

Such a man was Von Elm today to feel certain of being the ignominy of being the second national championship in history who failed to qualify for a tournament in defense of his title. Bob Gardiner held this doubtful distinction alone, up to and including the moment, and it was worthy of mention that Gardiner was starting out this morning behind an 80.

So were Dolp and Stein, not to forget Fred Wright. The good ones grouped with Von Elm at 79 were Knepper and Fowens. Ross Somerville had a 78 and Dr. O. P. Willing and Gunn were in their fighting at 77 with the nucleus of a standing army.

To be certain of remaining with the situation until further notice, these entries simply will have to better their hands today. Of course, that happens to be one of the reasons they are good; they can and do bulls-eye the situation when necessary.

However, they were betting this morning in some quarters that a 36-hole total of 158 wouldn't be good enough to qualify; as if this is to be a fact and not fancy, it is obvious that another 79 or another 80 would do these citizens almost no good whatever.

Most of the first day's returns were lower than expected and few were the upsets, indeed. Just behind those two famous juveniles, Homans and Finley, came down Don Corrick, Canadian open champion, with a 73. Grouped at 74 were Max Marston, Harrison Athnston, Ducky Corkran, George V. Rotan and Don Sweet, the latter two being somewhat upsetting to the form players.

Next at 75, came the great Bobby himself, Francis Ouimet, Chick Evans, Guy Standifer, Jack Mackie and Raymond Daly. The last three mentioned have done their 75's before but seldom in a national championship. All of those mentioned would have to be somewhat terrible today to miss qualifying and, in a slightly less degree, that applied also to Dick Jones, Dexter Cummings, Harry Legg, Roland Mackenzie, Arthur Yates, Densmore, Shute and Ellsworth Augustus. They were clustered about a composite 76.

Therefore, if these gents must find it hard to miss, what of the rest?

There remained only eleven places for them to complete the thirty-two survivors, with more than a mere possibility that in the gloaming, darling, we may have one of those highly diverting play-offs for the last few men to get under the wire.

U.S. Peace Society To Hold Conference Soon At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23 (INS).—The Geneva conference apparently having been a failure, official eyes are looking forward to a scheduled conference of the American Peace Society, to be held here in May, 1928, when it is hoped better progress will be made.

Congress Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, president of the society, is now in Europe for the purpose of officially inviting representatives of various European countries to attend the centennial celebration.

According to acceptances already received the greatest gathering of statesmen and diplomats assembled in this country since the naval limitation conference at Washington will be in attendance.

President Calvin Coolidge has expressed great interest in the peace conference and has agreed to serve as honorary chairman of the centennial celebration committee.

Listed on the program, which of course will be international in amplitude are some of the world's most prominent speakers, and it is the expressed hope of officials of the society that out of the Cleveland conference may come "a sane and practical peace program of definite nature, upon which all thoughtful persons can stand and for which they may work in unison toward the objective—practical achievement."

Frisco to Hawaii—Under Sail

Blue and Gray Meet at Last

When the Civil War came Jonathan and Henry Roten left their home in Huntington, W. Va., to enlist—but they chose opposite sides, Jonathan joining the federal army while Henry served with Lee's men. They never saw one another again until a few weeks ago, when Henry learned of Jonathan's whereabouts and traveled from his home in Fort Worth, Tex., to Huntington, where they were re-united. They are shown together here, with Jonathan on the left.

Sioux Hear "Leading Eagle"
