CHILD DIES IN HOUSE FIRE
A small child died in an early morning house fire at 115 Lake Destiny Trail, Spring Lake Hills, in southwest Seminole County. Forest City firemen indicated the blaze was caused by a short in a small fan and that damage was confined to the baby's room. The child's crib can be seen at left after it was hauled away by firemen. Law Breach Denied; Death Threats Told

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Four city officials denied today any attempt on their part to violate the Florida "Government in the Sunshine" law. Meanwhile the police department was investigating threats made against Council Chairman J.R. Grant's life last night.

State Attorney Abbott Herring declined to make any statement from his Titusville office on whether complaints had been filed with the Seminole County courthouse office charging the Longwood officials, in a meeting yesterday morning, attempted to violate the sunshine law.

Herring said if complaints had been filed against Mayor James H. Lormann, Grant and Councilman H.A. Scott for a meeting they held at the police station with Public Safety Director Doug Keller, no information would be released until an investigation had been completed.

The state attorney for the 18th judicial circuit (Seminole-Brevard Counties) said successful prosecution for violation of the sunshine law requires proof of intent to violate the law and that the persons involved knew what they were doing was wrong.

Herring said he has always been concerned with violation of the spirit of the law. Revealing whether a complaint has been filed or that an investigation is under way could cause possible harm, he said, adding no statements would be issued by either of his offices.

In separate interviews with the officials involved, all told the Herald they were on separate missions to the police department to get information from Keller on the status of the volunteer fire department.

In addition Grant, this morning said, "I'm sure there are some who would like to prosecute me for anything. Keller reported to us on the meeting of the volunteer firemen Tuesday night."

"When I arrived at the police station, Mr. Scott was already there. As I got to the police department, Mayor Lormann was arriving behind me," Grant said.

Grant said he received calls from two citizens last night and a report from a friend who proof of intent to violate the law and that the persons involved knew what they were doing was wrong.

"Another citizen told me I wouldn't be killed, just maimed for life," he said.

"I'm really not too worried. The only thing I do dread is a sneak attack. I won't fail to go anywhere I need to go. People like that haven't any guts anyway."

"They are not scaring me whether they mean to or not. If they will just come out in the open and fight, I'll fight them," the white haired, 60-year-old council chairman said.

Keller said this morning a complete report will be made by himself and a city police officer on the threats against Grant's life. "I'd like to find out the identity of those making threats and see that legal action is taken against them," Lormann said.

Lormann said each person at the meeting was fulfilling his responsibilities, noting he is the mayor, Grant is the council chairman and Scott is chairman of the council police and fire department committees.

Lormann was appalled that threats had been made against Grant's life. "I'd like to find out the identity of those making threats and see that legal action is taken against them," Lormann said.

"I told them the volunteers were back and that as a public safety director, was fulfilling

Officials Working On Deficiencies Cited In U.S. Report

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

School officials today are busy attempting to correct major areas of deficiencies in the Seminole County school system as outlined in a scathing report issued by the U.S. Justice Department.

Although School Supt. Bud Lauer told the school board recommendations are not a "bad mark" on the school system, the letter from justice officials raps the system in five major areas.

Lauer promised the board last night he will have recommendations for board members before a report is mailed back to Washington. Seminole County has 20 days to answer the allegations by justice officials.

In addition to recommending the board not pass resolutions children past three households en route to Casselberry, the report says Midway Elementary school has never been "effectively desegregated." Only 14 white students attend the facility, along with 307 blacks.

The report recommends Seminole County develop a "plan" to desegregate Midway. Thirdly, the report scores assignment of faculty among various schools. "Faculty has not continued to be assigned on a racial basis," the report says. As an example, the report says 13 per cent of the district's full-time classroom teachers are black, while faculty at seven schools varies from that ratio. The schools mentioned are Spring Lake, Teague, Hixsonville, Lakeview, Hoppers, Rosenwald, Goldsboro and Midway.

A fourth criticism says "construction policies" of the School Board have not prompted the desegregation of the school system."

"A final issue reviewed by Justice officials revealed a possible discrimination in the hiring of teachers and administrative personnel."

The report says statistics submitted by the district reveal a "significant decrease in the percentage of full-time black classroom teachers from the 1970-71 school year to the current year."

"While there has been a small increase in the number of black teachers during that time, there has been an increase of over 460 white teachers."

The Herald reported last month that the report would rank the ratio of black to white educators in the county. At that time, both Lauer and Stewart Garrison, the school system's chief of personnel, said officials here actively seek to recruit qualified black teachers.

Lauer says blacks who are qualified to teach are offered higher-paying jobs in the private sector, rather than being offered $7,800 salary paid beginning teachers in Seminole County.

However, Gatchel says Seminole County advertises in nationwide publications, seeking to recruit black teachers. And Lauer told board members last night this information will be forwarded to Washington to appease the Justice Department.

Though the board didn't get into the report last night, board members indicated it was a prime topic during upcoming board meetings.

School Board Votes Rosenwald Bus Swap

At a tense meeting last night, the Seminole County School Board voted 4-1 to reverse its former decision to bus Rosenwald Elementary School students to Casselberry and approved a plan which shifts the blacks to two schools closer to Rosenwald.

Submitted by Supt. Bud Lauer, the plan was in response to a ruling from the U.S. Justice Department which approved a plan which shifts the blacks to two schools closer to Rosenwald.

ABC CONVEYORS SHOVELS TURNED
Another new industry broke ground this morning as ground breaking ceremonies were held for ABC Conveyors, formerly of Longwood, on South Sanford Ave. Helping get the construction of the 10,000 foot building to a start are, front row from left, Leroy Robb, contractor; Julian Stenstrom, city commissioner; Mayor Lee Moore; Cliff Wolfe, vice president of ABC; Brad Hollingsworth, Flagship Bank Downtown; and Donald Keen, president of ABC. Back row from left, Cliff McKibbin, Sanford Chamber of Commerce; Garnett White, Chamber of Commerce; Scott Burns, Chamber of Commerce and Florida Power and Light; Ken Barbaugh, FPL Community relations; Jim Whaley, Flagship Bank Downtown; and John Krieger, Chamber of Commerce. The new plant will cost $100,000 and will employ 35 to 50 people, which is expected within 90 days.

Extent Of Summer Job Program Uncertain

By BILL CURRIE
Herald Managing Editor

The U.S. House of Representatives fell five votes short yesterday of overriding President Ford's veto of the $5.3 billion emergency job bill.

The vote was 277-145 with 282 votes necessary for the override.

How this will affect Seminole County's 1975 Summer Program for Economically Disadvantaged Youth is not yet crystal clear.

Bob Ellis, Seminole's inter-governmental coordinator, was to meet with the Manpower Advisory Council this morning to review requests for summer employment.

Just prior to that meeting, Ellis placed a call to the Department of the Atlanta Office of Labor and was told that the veto

"would have a drastic effect" of the program in general, but to what extent it was unclear.

"We're (Seminole) County government coordinator, was to meet with the Manpower Advisory Council this morning to review requests for summer employment."

Ellis said there have been requests for 346 jobs from various agencies throughout the county with the school district putting in the biggest bid — for 181 jobs.

Ellis said he had been assured that Seminole County will have a summer employment program, but "at what level we just can't be sure."

"We may have to modify our requests later, but for right now we're proceeding with our initial plans."

MINOR UPSURGE IN CRIME

Seen During Summer

NEW YORK (AP) — Most authorities say high unemployment and cutbacks in job and recreational programs will not cause the kind of massive rioting that plagued cities in the 1960s. But some expect an upsurge in minor violence and crime. A few officials also say they are concerned that unemployment and cutbacks may create more extensive violence. Others question the optimistic forecasts for a calm summer.

Man Sentenced To Death

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston man was sentenced to death in an electric chair for killing his 6-year-old son with a poisoned Halloween candy.

Ronald C. O'Bryan, 36, appeared unmoved and impassive Wednesday as a district court jury of 10 men and two women recommended the death sentence after only 71 minutes of deliberation.

The same jury on Tuesday convicted O'Bryan of murdering his son, Timothy, by giving the youngster cyanide-laced trick-or-treat candy. Deliberation on that verdict lasted 46 minutes.

The state contended O'Bryan was deeply in debt and that he killed his son to collect more than $30,000 in life insurance.

Crashes More Frequent

MIAMI (AP) — About 150 airplanes laden with marijuana cross the borders of the United States every day, and federal officials say a growing number of them aren't completing their illicit missions. Jacques Kiere, director of the El Paso (Texas) Intelligence Center, said Wednesday his agency knows of 49 crashes since Jan. 1, involving planes smuggling marijuana into this country. While many of those crashes occurred in other countries, all involved planes connected with marijuana traffic in the United States, he said.

Doctors File Class Action

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A group of doctors and patients has filed a $10 million lawsuit in Rhode Island against four insurance companies, and the American Medical Association president says a doctors' union may have to be formed to solve the malpractice insurance crisis. The class action suit was filed Wednesday in federal court at Providence on behalf of eight doctors and seven patients. It accuses the firms of conspiring to restrain trade in the sale of malpractice policies to Rhode Island doctors.

Keller Explains Position On Fire Department Status

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — The volunteer firemen who walked out of the fire department, leaving firefighting gear behind Monday night are back on the job and everything is under control, Public Safety Director Doug Keller said today.

"The volunteers had a meeting Tuesday night and voted to return to their jobs of protecting the people and property of Longwood," Keller said.

"I made my position clear to them," he said. "I told them there is no longer any Longwood Volunteer Fire Department Inc., no longer any president. I told them there will be no contract with the city and they are to be good citizens with fire fighting experience who want to serve their community."

Roger Mobley, veteran volunteer firefighter with 12 years experience, was tapped by Keller as deputy chief of the fire department and he accepted the challenge," Keller said.

Nothing his position carries with his responsibilities for both the police and fire departments, Keller said he is directly supervising both.

Each volunteer in the newly organized department is filling out a new application, he said. Keller said Bob Kelley, formerly president of the incorporated fire department, as well as all members of the old department have returned.

Despite the council's unanimous vote Monday night striking Kelley's name from the volunteer roster, Keller said he will ask the city council to let Kelley remain. "I think he should be given another chance. He is a qualified and good fireman."

Whether his position carries with his responsibilities for both the police and fire departments, Keller said he is directly supervising both.

Sanford paving project gets underway at Fourth and Oleander Ave.

City Paving Job Starts

By GLENN McCASLAND Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's long-awaited street paving project started rolling today as employees of Halifax Paving, Inc., of Daytona Beach began work on the 21-mile program.

Representatives of the firm arrived early today at Fourth Street and Oleander Ave., to begin preparations for paving the area.

City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles said the workers planned to move to Fifth on Oleander in the first day's work.

Knowles said he was very happy that the work is beginning. "We know it will inconvenience some people, but when it's over with, everyone will be pleased."

The city awarded Halifax the five paving contracts on Tuesday, May 27, on a low bid of $1,182,486.18.

All the time, Knowles predicted that work on the paving project would not begin before the middle of June or "three to four weeks time" from the date the pacts were awarded.

"The contractor was ready to move and did so much faster than we expected," Knowles said.

The city manager said that as the paving project proceeds, announcements would be made covering streets which the work might close or cause traffic rerouting.

Father Injured In Rescue Attempt

Infant Dies In Fire At Spring Lake Hills

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

A one-year-old south Seminole County infant died this morning shortly after firemen rescued him from his crib in a smoke-filled bedroom at his Spring Lake Hills home, a Sheriff's Department spokesman said.

Capt. L. J. Kriz identified the dead child as Kevin Brian Kavanagh, son of Richard E. and Suzanne Kavanagh, 110 Lake Destiny Trail, Spring Lake Hills.

Deputies said Mr. Kavanagh was burned about the hands in an attempt to rescue his son from the burning room as firemen from two county stations responded to the 8 a.m. alarm.

Sgt. Beau Taylor said firemen entered the room and rescued the child and rushed him to Florida Hospital North, Altamonte Springs.

A hospital spokesman said the infant was pronounced dead at the hospital with second and third-degree burns over 90 percent of his body.

The spokesman said the elder Kavanagh was treated for first and second-degree burns on his hands and released from the hospital.

Sheriff's county fire department and state fire marshal's investigators are probing the fire that firefighters contained and extinguished in the bedroom.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined, but officials indicated an electric fan was suspect in the blaze.

Summer Job Program 'Uncertain'

Basically, the local program calls for jobs to be filled 850 persons in the economically disadvantaged category who are between the ages of 14-21 with special consideration being given to veterans.

Ellis stressed the point that the prime requirement is that those who are seeking the positions must be in the income bracket which is at or near poverty level to qualify for a job under the Comprehensive Emergency Training Act (CETA) Title III, which is the summer program here.

Any other applicants would come under a job program which is CETA Title II, but for the present, those jobs are pretty well filled, according to Ellis.

He said the Title III program has a projected starting date of June 16 and the veto of the $5.3 billion emergency job bill shouldn't affect that date.

Following this morning's meeting with the County Manpower Advisory Council, Ellis will forward to Atlanta the plans for utilizing the federal funds at the local level.

Prior to the June 16 projected starting date, Ellis will know how much he can expect in federal funds and how many jobs will be available.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Groot To Cop Plea, Testify Against Gurney

TAMPA (AP) — James L. Groot, a co-defendant in the bribery conspiracy trial of former Sen. Edward Gurney, has agreed to plead guilty to reduced charges and testify against Gurney, The Miami Herald reported today.

Groot, 32, one-time chief aide to Gurney, was charged with four felonies. He agreed to plead guilty today to one count of conspiracy, which carries a maximum penalty of five years, the Herald said.

The Herald and The Tampa Tribune reported that Groot's plea-bargaining was conducted Wednesday and Thursday during secret sessions with District Judge Ben Krentzman.

The bargaining came during the 15th week of the trial. Krentzman apologetically excused the 16-member jury both days, saying that they would be nothing for the panel to hear until today.

Typhoid Source Sought: JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Four West Jacksonville families don't know each other, do not attend the same church or send their children to the same school. But at least one member of each family has typhoid.

Health officials searched today for a connection between the cases after a fifth case was confirmed Wednesday.

Typhoid usually spreads among people who contact a carrier — a person who may have had typhoid in the past and carries germs but not symptoms, said Dr. Patricia Cowdry, director of environmental services.

But only two of the Jacksonville cases are connected. They are in the same family.

Health investigators, who checked the sewer system in the area, are working to find a common thread which will point to the source of contamination.

Murder Trial Delayed

DeLAND (AP) The murder trial of a DeLand man accused in the shooting death of a local disc jockey has been delayed by the illness of his attorney.

The trial of James Perry Ables, 29, was postponed Wednesday. He is charged with first degree murder in the death last year of Fred West, 21, who was employed by radio station WKXX in DeLand.

Police found West's bullet-riddled body last Oct. 26, a day after he failed to report for work and after a ransom demand of $10,000 was received by WKXX.

Earlier Wednesday, Roger Pierrpont of Deltona, who called himself a friend of Ables, testified that Ables had mentioned a kidnap plot involving West months before the alleged incident.

Pierrpont said he told Ables the idea was stupid and refused to discuss it.

Academy-SR 436 Light Is Sought

By MICK LOCHRIDGE Herald Staff Writer

Locating a traffic light at the intersection of Academy Drive and SR 436 in Forest Hill has been asked to be discussed by Seminole County commissioners when they consider a rezoning request for a Cumberland Dairy Store at the intersection.

The rezoning request was approved last night by the county's planning and zoning board (P&Z), which will recommend to the County Commission the rezoning and the possibility of installing a traffic light at the intersection.

The store also received a special exception ruling from the P&Z board to allow self-service gas pumps at the store site. The county has a special zoning for gas stations, but the P&Z board ruled that a self-service station, does not fall in the gas station zoning regulations.

David Hamilton, a resident of the area, told the board that he felt the store would create "intense traffic congestion" and made the request for a traffic light.

"If a traffic light occurs at the intersection," Hamilton said, "I will consider it a lack of planning."

He also said he had the support of 15 residents and 11 merchants in the area in favor of a traffic light. However, he did not produce a petition with the names.

In other action the P&Z board approved and will recommend to the County Commission.

First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Orlando

A man came into the County Courthouse on Tuesday and presented the Seminole County Commission with a check for $34,000.

The Commissioners gave the man a puzzled "thank you" and scratched their heads.

Then Commissioner Dick Williams broke the questioning silence and told the man the Commission has not approved the program for which the $34,000 was to be used.

The man was Fred Lewis, Orlando field representative for the State Division of Health and Rehabilitation Services, and the $34,000 was the state's matching money for establishing the county's Emergency Medical Service (EMS) communication system.

But, the Commission now is only checking out state guidelines for setting up the system and although the man applied for the program it has not approved the program nor the matching $34,000, which usually comes prior to the state handling out money, according to Bob Ellis, county intergovernmental coordinator.

Ellis, who was first approached on Tuesday by Lewis, said he was also surprised about the check, but reasoned that because the Commission had applied for the program the money was forwarded.

It didn't take Commissioner Henry Kwiatkowski and Commissioner Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. said he thought about keeping the check in his desk drawer until action is taken on the program.

But, County Attorney Tom Freeman advised Commission to either give the check back to Lewis or place the money in an escrow account.

Even Lewis recommended against returning the money because the state's fiscal year is ending July 1 and the money was returned. It may be a long time before the county ever sees the money again.

"If you give it back you may not see it again," Lewis told the Commission.

Commission agreed to designate ComBank in Longwood a county depository and open an escrow account. Williams and Vihlen voiced concern that if the Commission accepts the check without putting it in escrow, the county will be obligated to participate in the program. Williams said that if the county goes into the program it could cost the taxpayers more than $100,000.

"We want to make sure that the state doesn't require the county to do things it (county) would not ordinarily do," Vihlen said. Commission plans to check out the state guidelines, within two weeks and if the county finds it cannot comply to the regulations, the check will be returned.

Retarded To Gain From Rights Bill

Florida has taken one of the most progressive steps ever and has become the first state in the nation to pass a "bill of rights" for mentally retarded which is both historical and significant.

Sponsored by Senators John Vogt (D-Cocoa Beach) and John Thomas (R-Fort Lauderdale), the legislation was passed earlier this week on a consent calendar and culminated several years of work by both senators.

Thomas started working on the legislation in 1970 and Vogt in 1972. The bill guarantees the treatment and basic rights of individuals in Sunland Centers.

In a statement issued from their Tallahassee offices, the senators said, "Florida should be commended for the initiative it has taken in leading the nation in respecting the rights and humane treatment of the mentally ill. It is a landmark piece of legislation and is similar in effect to the nationally recognized Bark Act."

The bill provides for a $3.6 million appropriation to begin the provisions of the act, which forestalls suits due to a statement of policy on treatment of retarded. With the bill, Florida is making a good faith effort to improve the welfare of institutionalized persons.

Vogt and Thomas said the legislature's intent is to articulate the existing and legal rights of the retarded and provides they shall have all the rights enjoyed by other citizens of the nation.

Too, the bill provides for the diversion of those individuals from institutional commitment, who, by virtue of professional diagnosis and evaluation, can be placed in less costly, more effective community environments and programs.

It also provides for proper habilitation and treatment of the mentally retarded and stipulates no mentally retarded person shall be deprived of the many enumerated services by reason of inability to pay.

We think this bill is a good one and commend our two state senators for their diligence in pursuing it to the fullest. We think it's about time the rest of the states follow suit and recognize the need for such legislation.

Veil Over Portugal

When the Marxist military regime in Portugal closed down the non-Communist newspaper La Republica, the last vestige of freedom of the press may have disappeared from that unhappy nation. It could well be that henceforward the citizens of Portugal will read only what their military rulers want them to read.

This single act is not going to make great tripples in a world already beset by many problems, but it is worth reflection that approximately nine million Portuguese may now have joined the people of the Soviet Union, Communist China, Cuba, and two Vietnamese, Peru and all too many others as fourth-class citizens who are denied the right to know the truth.

The fact is, over half of the people of the earth are today forced to live under circumstances where they are spoon-fed the government information line.

The events in Lisbon are a reminder to Americans that they have good reason to rejoice in their own free press. But they have no reason to assume that it must always be that way, or indeed, that it will be that way unless they will it to.

It is not the Constitution nor its First Amendment that protects free speech in America. Words on paper, alone, will not do the job. Our free and open press will only be preserved by the determination of the American people, and they will do well to oppose any and every effort to erode that blessing, however small it may appear at the moment.

Your air-chem is you've been bombarded with more information than you can assimilate!

Around

The Clock

The turnout at the Chamber of Commerce breakfast Tuesday for the newly-arrived Sanford Vietnamese community was gratifying. Maybe it'll put an end to the sniping at the refugees that one hears so often.

As Chamber Executive Director Jack Horner put it, "The breakfast is a chance for everyone who cares to come out and meet some of these people as fellow humans."

Okay, that's just what it turned out to be. Anyone who wanted to be there could have been there, and from the accounts of the breakfast, it would seem that the good people of Sanford indeed welcome the Vietnamese — economic bad-mouthed aside.

As for me, every time I meet one of these newest Americans, I can only say how happy I am to see them and that I wish them well.

You see, the Vietnamese, whom I admire the most, didn't make it back. He was here once, but he returned to Vietnam — his home — because his family was there. In the rush to leave Da Nang for refuge in Saigon, this man, his wife and his children, were captured by the Viet Cong and executed.

His name was Ngo Dong, and I met him two years ago in Gainesville, where he was taking his Ph. D. in entomology. While visiting a friend in Gainesville, I was the guest of the University of Florida Karate Club at a Sunday picnic. Dong was the club's Sensei, or teacher. That was a pleasant Sunday afternoon, and although I was a stranger to all but one of the guests, I was made to feel welcome. After Dong and some of the club members demonstrated karate techniques, we cut open some watermelons and ate our fill. And it was over watermelon that Ngo Dong and I had our only conversation.

What do you think we talked about? I know about as much about karate as I do about entomology, but Ngo Dong proved to be one of the most interesting conversationalists I have ever met.

Dong was an author, having published some 11 books. As I remember it, three or four were on karate. One or two were on insects and the rest, save one, were about flower arranging. That last one was a cookbook.

He spoke better English than I do, was fluent in French, and of course Vietnamese. The son of a Vietnamese Army officer, Dong was born in 1937. The war that was to ravage his country for more than 30 years had not yet begun.

Dong grew to manhood as that nasty war grew. And Dong took sides. He was strongly anti-Communist and just as strongly anti-Nguyen Van Thieu. He knew of the corruption of the Thieu regime and he opposed it. But it was because of the effectiveness of his battle for the cause he believed in — the cause of South Vietnam — that the Communists put a price on his head. In 1968, the year of the Tet offensive, Dong was on the faculty of the University of Hue. The attack on Hue caused him to flee for his life, leaving on Dong to be owned behind. That was nothing new to him. He had fled Hue once before — as a young boy, when the Japanese came. They were out to get Dong's family, too, for the same reason the Communists were. And that reason is simply this: When an invader takes over a country, the invader doesn't want anyone around who is willing and able to lead the opposition.

Dong managed to avoid capture by the Japanese. But the swift Communist offensive that ended the war this year and created so many refugees — some of whom we now greet as new residents of Sanford, caught up with Dong, his wife and his children.

That's why, when I chance to meet one of the refugees who did make it to the United States, my greeting is for them, but my thoughts are of Ngo Dong. —Rick Pantridge

RAY CROMLEY Production Gap Grows Wider
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The most serious challenge to U.S. military security is not Russia's advanced missile program or the threat of another Arab oil embargo at some crucial point.

Rather the major danger to our defense lies in the relative sluggishness in the growth of U.S. technology, on which both industrial and military strength depend.

In the past decade the over-all rate of research and development growth in the United States has been surpassed by France, Germany, Japan and the Soviet Union. The gap is growing.

Our military and industrial research and development, in fact, have declined both in quality and as a percentage of Gross National Product.

We have also been dreadfully slow in putting what R&D we have into our factories. As a result: some 39 per cent of American industrial facilities are more than 10 years old. Seventeen per cent are at least 20 years old. Another 11 per cent are technologically outmoded.

The results show up clearly in the increasing imports of those products dependent on technology. In the past 10 years or so the import of automobiles has increased from 5 per cent to 20, consumer electronics from 30 per cent to 72, synthetic textiles from 2 per cent to 10.

The problem is not simply that the major foreign industrial nations are increasing their research and development investments at a rapid pace. They are simultaneously building on the technological base we've developed — by purchasing our advanced technology in increasing quantities.

The outright purchase of U.S. discoveries by Japan and West Germany tells the story. Even more startling in scope is the attempt by the Soviet Union to cure its failures in the production of high-technology industrial goods by the purchase of complete ready-to-operate plants in such crucial areas as integrated circuits, computers, computer software, aircraft, jet engines, avionics and specialized instruments.

This, of course, adds both to Moscow's industrial and military power. For advanced computers, integrated circuits, jet engines, avionics and the like are as essential for efficient military missiles, planes and tanks as in automobiles, trucks and commercial planes.

Because we sell these discoveries at less than our research and development costs, we are, in effect, subsidizing both our industrial competitors and our military rivals at the expense of the American taxpayer and consumer.

Either the U.S. must put a good many more dollars into R&D or insist the exchange of such information and its products be fully a two-way street.

JACK ANDERSON Counterspies Read Servicemen's Mail
WASHINGTON — In outright violation of the law, military counterintelligence teams for years opened and read the mail of suspects. This "flap and seal" operation, as it was called, rarely turned up spies or criminals. It was used largely to snoop on servicemen who had complained about the Vietnam war.

Evidence that the Pentagon tampered with the mails has been offered to the select Senate committee which is investigating the excesses of the CIA, FBI and other government gunshoes.

The "flap and seal" term goes back to an earlier day when mail was surreptitiously stamped open and sealed again. But the Pentagon snoops pried into military mail by a more intricate technique called "rolling." Two prongs resembling knitting needles were used to slip letters from envelopes without breaking the flap seals.

Our sources told us, parenthetically, that the more resourceful Central Intelligence Agency has developed a machine that can read mail right through the envelopes. Electric waves penetrate the paper, scanning each layer and picking out the ink marks. Then the letter is reassembled electronically.

The counterintelligence teams, operating in strict secrecy, opened military funds both within the United States and at overseas bases. The practice was more blatant, however, outside the country.

"As soon as an American leaves the United States, the intelligence authorities think he loses all his constitutional rights," said one source. The snooping became so widespread, military sources told us, that letters slacked up faster than they could be read. Tapes of bagged conversations also accumulated.

In most cases, the justification for the snooping was minimal, our sources say. Some people had their mail read simply because they had sensitive assignments.

Our sources recall the case, for example, of an American agent for the supersecret Army Security Agency. Its operations were being spied upon by an even more secret Army counterintelligence team.

The security man, bored with his work on the West German side of the Czechoslovakian border, sneaked across for a holiday in Prague. He played cat-and-mouse with the Czech authorities and had a brief, volcanic affair with a Czech beauty. Then he slipped back into West Germany.

But unknown to him, the counterintelligence sleuths were reading his mail. They found out about his romantic interlude when he received a letter from Czech girl friend asking when he planned to return to Prague.

Report Blasts 'Right-To-Life' Program

BY ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer
Ms. Patte Martin, director of the Ladies Center of Orlando Inc., has delivered a scathing report to the School Board in opposition to Right-To-Life proponents.

Ms. Martin called a slide presentation last night on Right-To-Life advocates' past "ugly and gory" and accused them of a "gross misrepresentation" of facts.

During School Board Session
The slide presentation was made at a work session. Though no action was taken by the board, the group may seek to introduce its program into Seminole County schools.

Altamonte Must Pay Or Fight Law

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The city has the choice of paying claims for unemployment benefits to employees or attacking the state law in the courts as being unconstitutional.

City Attorney Joe Davis has given his opinion to the commission and Mayor Norman Floyd in writing.

Floyd has refused for some months to permit payment of Florida Department of Commerce reimbursement invoices for the benefits, challenging the law's fairness.

The law permits private industry to pay a percentage based on wages paid for unemployment compensation insurance while cities must rebate dollar for dollar unemployment benefits paid to employees.

State Rep. Vince Fecthel (R-Leeburg) wrote to Ed Trombetta of the Department of Commerce this week, noting he is "terribly upset" over the examples two cities and one school district in my legislative district have described to me regarding claims filed against them on unemployment compensation.

Copies of the Fecthel letter to Trombetta were sent not only to Floyd, but also to Sanford City Manager W. E. (Pete) Knowles, B. McCabe, Lake County superintendent of Schools, E. Hoppe, Eastas city manager and C. Glidwell, Leesburg city manager.

Fecthel's letter to Trombetta continued, "It appears to me the Department of Commerce is not treating the local governmental agencies with fairness or concern."

He asked that an immediate cross staff investigation be undertaken to determine if the department is appropriately handling the local government's unemployment cases.

Fecthel asked Trombetta to make clear as soon as possible to the House Commerce Committee any legislation on the matter he might deem necessary.

In other business last night, city commissioners approved payment of $30,000 in legal fees to City Attorney Joe Davis for his work over the past four years on the sewer interceptor system and regional sewer plant. He has received no other payment for his work on the projects.

Some $148,000 in federal money for the projects is allocated for fiscal, administrative and legal costs.

Davis said if the federal government does not approve a portion of the payment expense he will refund that portion to the city.

No Cash Equals No Recreation

LONGWOOD—Regardless of whether the city council would like to provide a summer recreation program for the city's children, the city cannot afford it, Council Chairman J. R. Grant said this week.

"There is not as much money here as it appears," he said, adding, "we are spending like mad — like it's going out of style."

Richard Steinke, head basketball coach at Lyman High School, appeared before the City Council, offering to head up a summer recreation program.

He said the program would emphasize teaching and learning and that he would have access to the Lyman High School gym.

There's also a good chance the group could use the swimming pool at the school when it is built, he said.

"I've never heard so many complaints as about last year's summer program," Grant said. "And I don't see where the money would come from."

Steinke said he had nothing to do with the formation of last year's program, operated by the YMCA, even though he was employed in it.

Councilman Don Schreiner said he would behave the city to look into the county recreation program this year which he said is to be held at the various schools.

Club Notes

Book Clubs Meet

"Any ship that needs a computer to inform the captain that he is sinking is the concern of women as well as men," Mrs. Peggy Emmons said in explaining her choice of the book "Supership" to review at a meeting of area clubwomen sponsored by Epsilon Sigma Omicron Department of the Sanford Women's Club at the Orlando Public Library.

In addition to members of the Sanford club, women from the Winter Haven, Oviedo, Deltona, Pine Hills and the Seminole Junior Club attended the meeting. Clubwomen viewed the Orlando Library and concluded the meeting with a luncheon at the Kahler Plaza.

"Supership," a book of non-fiction written by Noel Mostert, deals with the enormous vessels used to transport oil. There is no port in the U.S. large enough for them to enter. The shipwreck of one of these giants is a serious pollution threat to the environment.

Both Time and Newsweek have carried recent stories indicating that there is now a tanker glut on the market because the demand for oil is somewhat down.

In the absence of Mrs. Burch Cornelius, State chairman of ESO, Mrs. Fred Harris presented an ESO certificate to Mrs. Cora Blair of the College Park Women's Club. She also presented to Mrs. Richard Herndon, of the Sanford Women's Club, two certificates in addition to those she had earned earlier.

Mrs. Harris, president of the Sanford ESO, introduced Mrs. Herndon, incoming president of the Sanford ESO club. Other new officers of the Sanford ESO club are Mrs. Phillip Logan,

Deltona Garden Club

The Iris Circle met at the home of Mrs. John Boodin. A salad luncheon was served on the spacious porch surrounding the pool. Circle president Mrs. Logan Reitz presided. She announced her committee appointments and plans for the new year. After the meeting adjourned, members joined in a splendid dinner followed by two tables of bridge.

Mrs. Raymond Garceau, retiring president of the Marigold Circle was presented with a silver charm by members.

New circle president Mrs. William Bierlin, announced her appointments for the coming year: Mrs. F. Bolton and Mrs. R. Davis, devotions; Mrs. Richard Pollicino, beautification; Mrs. K. Schaller, Garden of the Month; Mrs. C. Wilkinson, horticulture; Mrs. R. Garceau, garden therapy; Mrs. R. Wills, historian; Mrs. R. Davis, parliamentary; Mrs. R. Blair, publicity; Mrs. Hugh Lynch, sunshine; Mrs. Irah Bradley, telephone and Mrs. J. Farry, ways and means. The theme of the meeting was "Garden Tricks."

The Periwinkle Circle enjoyed a film showing of birds and wild flowers taken by Mr. and Mrs. R. Gilbert along the St. Johns River, when they attended the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Gibbs. Mrs. J. Vincent O'Connor served as co-hostess. Newly installed president, Mrs.

Raymond E. Murphy, announced her appointments of committee chairmen for the coming year.

The new Shamrock Circle met at the headquarters of the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs. They were given a guided tour of the complex and a brief history of the Federation. Thereafter, they took a trip to the Poole and Fuller Nurseries in Winter Park.

The Trowel 'n Error Men's Circle met in the Little Red School House to hear Larry Loochholtz of the Volusia County Experimental Station speak on Florida soils and basic gardening. The Circle will continue to meet during the summer months at various locations.

Ohio Club Picnic

Ohio Club of Deltona members will enjoy a picnic-dinner in the Deltona Community Center on June 11 at 6 p.m. to close the 1975 season. The meal will be followed by surprise entertainment and good companionship. For further information contact Mrs. Marian Boyer, publicity chairman.

Pressure Check Vital

DEAR READERS: If you have no interest in your health or the health of those you love, skip Dear Abby today:

Do you know what your blood pressure is? If you do, you are one in about 10,000. If you don't, the most important thing you can do today is to call your doctor and make an appointment to have it checked.

You may not realize it, but high blood pressure kills about 200,000 people a year. And hundreds and thousands more are crippled by strokes, suffer from kidney disease, or are the victim of a long list of other ailments due to high blood pressure.

Tragic! Yes. But all the more tragic because our very able secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Caspar Weinberger, tells us that high blood pressure can be eliminated or controlled by medication and diet. Also, high blood pressure is hereditary, so if your mother or father have it, that's all the more reason to check your blood pressure regularly. And have your children's checked, too.

It takes less than five minutes, it's absolutely painless and if you can't afford a private physician, your local public health department will check it without charge. Now, get going!

DEAR ABBY: A close relative of mine recently announced his engagement to a girl he had been going for a long time. They set their wedding date, and the bride proceeded to make plans for a lovely, big church wedding.

The groom's mother told them if her daughter (who is married, living in another state and expecting a baby around the wedding date) delivers before the wedding, she will not attend the wedding.

In other words, the groom's

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

mother feels that being with her daughter when she has a baby is more important than being with her son on his wedding day.

I was astonished! However, when I told my mother about this, she agreed with the groom's mother. I was speechless. What do YOU say?

SPEECHLESS: I'm not speechless. I could make a speech in constant companionship as comrades in arms.

LOOKING FOR A BARGAIN

What girl can resist a bargain and everyone knows rummage sales are great places to look. Two-year-old Marcey Allizer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Allizer of Casselberry left Mom to do a little shopping on her own at a recent rummage sale at Community United Methodist Church. Needlework School Is 'Pride And Joy'

Teaching is a great educational experience. In the more than 20 years I crisscrossed the country giving needlework seminars and courses I think I learned as much from my students as they did from me.

And each time I came back home I'd say to myself, "Wouldn't it be wonderful if I could establish a permanent school devoted to the needle arts where beginners would be started out with the correct techniques, where experts could refine and extend their skills and where creativity would be sparked in a responsive environment?"

Then one day, a beautiful Georgian house next door to me in West Townsend, Mass., became vacant. It once had belonged to the family of famed American artist, Winslow Homer. I decided this was a magic from fate and bought it. What a happy, busy time I had remodeling it into the school of my dreams! Superb examples of the embroiderer's art adorn the walls of the formal drawing room where students gather before and after dinner with their needlework.

In the dining room, needlepoint upholstery on the white chairs echoes the design on the dinner plates. Upstairs, each of the bedrooms is different. The Marie Antoinette room has a bedspread and valances with a lovely embroidered design adapted from one worked long ago by Marie Antoinette. The armchair with the embroidered panels stitched here is in another bedroom.

Fifty chairs, each with a different Bargello pattern worked by a friend or student, are the "seats of learning" in our downstairs classroom. Outside, there's a swimming pool and beyond, the rolling New England hills.

Classes run from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. Actually, they last all day and into the night as students steal time from lunch for a few extra stitches or work into the wee hours, encouraged by a teacher who's on hand to answer questions or demonstrate a difficult stitch.

Because classes are small, instruction is virtually on a one-to-one basis, accounting for a rapid strides students make in a single week and may vary from a beginners' class or a seminar for shop owners to a class in stump work, black work and design interpretation for advanced students. I often bring in guest instructors who are expert in specialized needlework such as ecclesiastical design or applique.

Dear Elsa,
What is the point of using good canvas?
E.J.
Mono or single-thread is more commonly used today but good canvas does have one advantage. You can split the double threads to do fine details on faces and hands in petit point on a gros point canvas embroidery.

can he ask North to bid seven?
He starts proceeding by bidding five spades. This bid says in theory, "We are one ace short for six. Bid five notrump and play it there."

North bids five notrump and now South goes to six clubs. He has delivered a second message which is, "We have enough aces for seven. Bid seven if you think your trumps are good enough."

North's trumps are good enough and he bids seven. There is a little play to the hand, but with trumps breaking 2-1 and spades 4-2 South is able to draw trumps, ruff out one spade, discard two diamonds from dummy and finally ruff his small diamond.

CAD SENE

The bidding has been: 5

West North East South
2 ♣ 3 ♠ 4 ♠ 5 ♠

You, South, hold:
A 2 ♣ J 9 7 6 5 ♠ A K Q J 4 ♠ A 2 ♣ K 3 ♠ A 10 ♠

The grand slam force was invented by Ely Culbertson about 40 years ago. The bid, designed to find out how good partner's trumps were, was too advanced for that day. But it has been revived and put in every expert's bidding kit today.

South intends to bid six if North shows no aces, but North shows one ace and South is interested in seven.

He doesn't want to bid it. North might well have jumped without the king of clubs. How

Drug Relieves Arthritis Pains

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been taking Motrin for several months and find it gives me great relief from arthritis pain. I find many of my friends are doing the same with good results. Can you tell me how long it has been on the market? So far I have had no side effects which is very unusual for me. Is there any harm in continued use of this drug? Does it have a beneficial effect on joints or is it just a pain killer?

DEAR READER — It appears that Motrin or ibuprofen is the new "in" drug to treat arthritis. Well, awhile and it may not be so "in." Right now it is enjoying the popularity of a new drug.

It was used in Canada for almost 18 months before it was recently approved for marketing in the United States. You can think of it as a substitute for aspirin.

The most common use of Motrin is for relief of pain. As with usual doses of aspirin, the amounts used to relieve pain in osteoarthritis don't alter the disease, but do make living a lot more pleasant. In larger doses Motrin is said to have an anti-inflammatory effect, meaning it helps to relieve the inflammation that occurs in rheumatoid arthritis.

I'm delighted that you have had such good success so far with Motrin, and I'm sure many patients will be pleased with its results. Certainly you should continue it unless your doctor decides to change your medications.

Not all the reports on Motrin are as enthusiastic as those of its manufacturer. The Medical Letter for physicians (December 20, 1974) points out that the amount required to be "as effective as usual doses of aspirin in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis" is larger than those used in most of the studies of the drug in terms of safety.

DRAFTED

Yogi Berra To Son:

'Congratulations, Dale. Uh...Pass The Butter. Okay?'

NEW YORK (AP)—If Manager Yogi Berra of the New York Mets wants to congratulate his son, Dale, on being chosen in the first round of baseball's free agent draft Wednesday, he has Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's permission — to write him a letter.

So Berra is forewarned. If he wants to talk to Dale at dinner time, it had better be about the food. Young Berra batted .520 this season with 52 hits in 100 at bats including 10 home runs. But he may not be ready to turn pro. He's had baseball scholarship offers from Arizona State, Miami and Seton Hall among others and football offers from Ohio State and Notre Dame. His older brother, Tim, was a rookie wide receiver with the National Football League Baltimore Colts last season.

Mets' pick, saying: "We draft by ability and not by position. Al Benton was the player we judged with the best ability when our turn came."

Brown was selected by the Mets in the seventh round and Pearce was drafted by the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday in the pro baseball free-agent draft.

"Maybe this will wake up some of the college coaches around here," Seminole High School Baseball Coach Jerry Mays said. "Randy is definitely interested in pro ball, but he is also interested in a college education."

Chinese Not Ready To Back War South Korean Revolution Kim's Best Bet

The Herald Services
If Kim Il Sung has the slightest sense of realism, he will not launch a second Korean War; not now, anyway. The warning by America's defense secretary last weekend that the United States might "go for the heart of its military power" if North Korea attacked the south again is one good reason why he would be mad to do so. South Korea's new-found unity in the face of Kim's evident restiveness is another. And there are third, fourth and umpteenth more such reasons to be heard in Tokyo, Moscow and Peking.

What they all add up to is that the general victories in Cambodia and Vietnam have not improved the prospects for a similar communist sweep in Korea.

Certainly America's resolve to stand by South Korea's President Park has been notably strengthened in the past several weeks. President Ford, Henry Kissinger and James Schlesinger have all invoked the mutual defense treaty with South Korea and the dire consequences of abandoning it, though only the defense secretary has hinted just how far the United States might go in response.

Because a second Korean war is bound to be a more conventional war than Vietnam—both the terrain and the political climate in Korea are unsuited to large-scale guerrilla operations—and because technological advances since the last Korean conflict have greatly increased American superiority in conventional weapons, it is also certain to be a war the Americans could win—even if the Chinese were to come in again on the other side.

But the biggest problem for Mr. Kim right now—apart from the fact that America's reinforced commitment puts the odds against him—is that the Chinese do not look like backing him a second time around. A new Korean war would be sure to have some very unpleasant consequences for China. The first would be to put an end to the policy of détente with the United States and whatever protection and leverage this has given China in its confrontation with the Soviet Union. China may reassess its opening to America one day, but not quite yet.

The second would be to bring the Russians into Korea in a bigger way as arms suppliers and strategic advisers. The line might be to break the last third of resistance in Japan to rearming and going nuclear. On top of the inevitable nuclear losses and the risk of destruction in China itself, all these amount to an intolerable price for Peking to pay for the anyway dubious benefit of extending the sway of a dangerously unpredictable neighbor.

This is why the Chinese sent Mr. Kim home from Peking last month with the plea of "peaceful" unification in his ear.

Yet for all this discouragement Kim Il Sung still has at least one good reason for continuing to hope that the whole of Korea will be his some day. That reason is Park Chung Hee.

The South Korean president is the major beneficiary in the short term from the current Korean war scare. He has used it to rally the population behind "the noble cause of anti-communism" and himself. He has used it to draw the teeth of the opposition in the name of national unity. And he has used it to justify a new crackdown on any expression of doubt or dissent. His emergency decree number nine, issued on May 13th, restores all the prohibitions on political activity which were imposed and then removed last year.

It also introduces a new concept of collective responsibility: if a student demonstrates against the government, his university president can be sacked; if a journalist disseminates "rumors", his newspaper can be closed down. South Korea's newspapers are still publishing but they might just as well not; with the reporting of any and all dissemination banned, even the bravely independent Dong-A Ilbo has been reduced to an andyone (and bankrupt) rag. For the moment Mr. Park chairman declared last week that the president does not plan to restore democracy in South Korea while Kim remains in power in the north. But, as the credibility of an imminent communist threat recedes, the pressure for political change in the south is bound to grow. And with normal channels of dissent closed off, this pressure could all too easily take a revolutionary turn. This is where Kim Il Sung's real opportunity lies.

So long as Mr. Park continues to rule by repressive decree, time will be on Kim's side.

Trinity's soccer team went 17-2-2

Trinity Holds Own With Big Schools

By STEVE BROWNELL
In a school as small as Trinity, it is not surprising that the school's athletic program is well known in the area. It has always been a respectable record in a variety of sports, but this year it has reached a new level. The school's soccer team, for example, has a record of 17 wins, 2 ties, and 2 losses. This is a remarkable achievement for a school of its size. The team's success is due to the coaching of Coach Herb Thompson, who has led the team to several state championships. The team's success is also due to the dedication of the players, who have worked hard to improve their skills. The team's success is a testament to the school's athletic program, which has always been a source of pride for the school and the community.

By JANET MIDWINTER
Trinity was founded seven years ago, and in that time it has achieved a reputation for academic excellence, athletic achievement, and Christian values. The school's success is due to the dedication of its faculty and staff, who have worked hard to provide a high quality education for all students. The school's success is also due to the support of the parents and the community, who have provided the resources and encouragement needed for the school to thrive. The school's success is a testament to the power of a dedicated and committed community.

Judge Rules Suspect Unaware Of Rights

DRAFTING CLASS DISPLAYS WORK
Members of the Seminole High School drafting and designing technology class, Robert Schmidt instructor, recently displayed their scale models of homes which they designed, drafted blueprints for and then made the models with each 1/4 of an inch equaling one foot. From the looks of their efforts, these four gentlemen might well become our designers of tomorrow. Pictured, left to right, are David Jernigan, Mark Simcoe, John Corso and Steve Pedigo. "I think he knows what's going on. I think the officers did everything that could be expected of them to do."—Van Hook

A circuit judge's ruling that 41-year-old Wilbur Hall didn't understand his constitutional rights when he made a statement to a sheriff's investigator and the suppression of that statement yesterday may have delayed or even scuttled the state's first-degree murder case against Hall, now scheduled for trial next week. Hall, of 515 Peachtree Lane, Altamonte Springs, is accused in the March slaying of his next-door neighbor, Lemo Lovette, and the burial of Lovette's body underneath a trash barrel in the victim's back yard. Defense attorney Ned Julian Jr. yesterday, in a three-hour hearing before Circuit Court Judge Robert B. McGregor, was successful in getting a statement Hall made to Lt. George Abby after his arrest March 12 ruled inadmissible. "I think he knows what's going on. I think the officers did everything that could be expected of them to do," Van Hook said. Van Hook said today that he had a paper stating he understood his rights is—when he signed it when booked into jail or at the present time. McGregor ruled that Hall, who said he only had part of a first grade education in a Riceville, Ga., school, didn't comprehend his rights to keep silent and to have a lawyer as soon as he was arrested in the shooting death of 47-year-old Lovette. The court also said it was "disturbed" over an alleged "offer of some type of reward or leniency" by officers to Hall if he would make the statement that Assistant State Atty.

However, he said this would not include landscaping, parking, architect fees or installing an elevator in the two-story building. Melvin recommended that two wings be added to the present building and pointed out "this would come to a total of a million dollars or less" with $474,000 as a quotation figure for the new addition. Commissioner A. A. McClannahan tried to move the Commission off dead center by reporting that he was "ready to change my support of staying where we are now" provided

'What To Do About City Hall' At Issue Sanford Commission Sees Waterfront Complex Vision

By GLENN McCASLAND
Herald Staff Writer

A vision of a "sparkling" Seminole Blvd. business complex development—with a new city hall at one end and the courthouse at the other—was drawn yesterday for Sanford City Commissioners. The "vision" came from two different fronts as the Commission struggled for 90 minutes with the thorny question of "What to do about City Hall?" without resolving the issue. Architect Eoghan N. Kelley was one "dreamer" in the crowd and land developer

Brady J. Odham was the other as the "ins and outs" of building a new city hall complex was discussed. Both suggested the commissioners give "serious study" to locating a new city building on a 14-acre site on Seminole Blvd., just off Lake Monroe, that would "give the city a sparkling new business development axis with the courthouse at one end and the city complex at the other." "You know, I don't own a piece of land in that area—but I do care about the development of Sanford—and I think that with a new city hall on that 14-acre tract of land, you could see the development of a really fine new section to downtown Sanford, that section (Seminole Blvd., Fulton, Commercial and French Avenue) could blossom into a fine complex," Odham said. "I favor—because it's been here so long—the current site. But for the best interests of Sanford, the move to the Seminole Blvd. area might be the best in the long run," he concluded. Kelley not only expressed an interest in the same project, but also urged the Commission to "gather all the options you have" and begin "eliminating them until you reach the one or two that you feel are the best plans" for the city hall study. "Then you will have something better with which to work," Kelley declared. The two men made their remarks during a noon session of the Commission with architects reporting their findings in various studies conducted to determine if a new city hall should be built or the present one remodeled to fit the city's needs. It was Kelley's last suggestion that wound up in directions for City Manager Warren "Pete" Knowles as the commissioners could only agree that they want to do something about the city hall problem. "I feel the Commission is of a mind to do something—but compared with what we know yet," Mayor Lee Moore said at the close of the 90-minute session. The meeting was not an unproductive one, however, in that the present city hall up to codes electrically, structurally and mechanically," Melvin told the gathering. "This could be done at a cost of $23 a square foot. This would include removal of old wood and replacing it with new flooring, knocking out walls and present offices, leaving only the steel and reding the inside."

Attorney Says Union Next For Firemen

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Carmine Bravo, attorney for the Longwood Volunteer Fire Department Inc. in a prepared statement has made it clear the group has no intention of giving up its corporate charter and will unionize under Florida law. Bravo said the group will "properly organize themselves" so they could listen and negotiate "as outlined by Florida law. Bravo in a prepared press release, said: "They have unanimously agreed to continue with the incorporated body, that was formed on their behalf, as a group outside of their volunteer position with the City of Longwood and either through that corporate body or another body that may exist, properly organize themselves, so that in the future, should problems arise, they will be protected under the laws of the State of Florida and the governing body will have no alternative but to listen and negotiate as outlined by the Florida Statutes. Most of the 35-member volunteer force turned in firefighting gear and walked out of the city fire house Monday night after city councilmen voted unanimously to reject a proposed agreement which the elected officials said was "one sided."

Sanford policemen, a building inspector and an animal control officer who pleaded guilty in connection with nighttime burglaries has been sentenced to 15 years in prison. Circuit Court Judge Clarence T. Johnson Jr. issued orders yesterday setting the sentencing, starting at 1:30 p.m. in the circuit judges' chambers at the courthouse. A seventh defendant, Michael Panko, 26, of Colonia, N.J., also pleaded guilty in the case after plea bargaining negotiations with State Atty. Abbott

Board Rejects Courier Plan

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

A restaffed Seminole Education Association (SEA) yesterday watched the school board torpedo the section on association and teacher rights by refusing to grant a courier service to the county's 39 schools. SEA's Steve Rosenhal said the school board would "even respond" to an SEA counter proposal concerning the SEA request to use the school system's courier system. "I was real disappointed that they wouldn't let us use the courier—for communication purposes," said Bill Moore, an SEA team member. The SEA request to table the lengthy article, which has been subject of some eight, four-hour bargaining sessions, came after Harry Pelley, chief negotiator for the school board, said, "We've gone as far as we can go. There's nothing left they want to talk about that's negotiable."

Pelley said the request to use the courier service does not involve wages and hours and conditions of employment—that has rejected SEA's request. SEA, on the other hand, up until a few months ago enjoyed the use of the courier for distribution of literature to teachers throughout the county's 39 schools. And Moore says that right was taken away as punishment for teachers exercising their rights to collective bargaining. After that setback, talks sped along with both sides agreeing on a section dealing with teacher transfers and reassignments. They include reduction of staff, to implement a racially balanced staff, reassignment of staff to take on newly created positions, implementation of new programs, elimination of existing programs or relocation of existing programs. With agreement on that item, Pelley feels negotiations may begin to speed up. The veteran administrator said today that "we want to get this thing done by June 30." June 30 is the end of the 60-day period allotted by the Public Employees Relations Commission (PERC) to come up with a contract. Negotiators have yet to discuss wages, an item which is sure to draw fire.
