Teachers Ratify Contract

By STEVE DAVIS Herald Staff Writer

Following a 10-month dispute, Seminole County teachers have ratified a new contract, retroactive to March 1, setting base salaries at $4,300.

Only 560 of the county's 1,550 teachers voted on the agreement Monday. The final vote was 459 for and 101 against.

Negotiators for the Seminole Education Association (SEA) and the school board arrived at a tentative agreement March 7. School board officials are expected to ratify the contract at Wednesday night's meeting.

The vote obviously shows a great deal of satisfaction with the school administration, said Gene Groves, executive director of the SEA, which is the teachers exclusive bargaining agent.

Teachers will also receive: — $160 for medical and health insurance, $10 more than the board had originally offered.

— District-wide class size limitation of 25 students in kindergarten, 27 students in grades one to three and 30 students in grades four to 12. Principals may, however, increase the class size beyond the limit without consulting the teacher.

The contract states that if either side wishes to amend any articles of the agreement, written notice must be submitted to the other party prior to April 1.

Also at this week's school board meeting School Supt. William Layer will ask board members to give tenure to six principals and renew one-year contracts for four teachers.

New County Policy: See Us Before Trying To Build In Hammock

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Commission, in a surprise 4-1 vote today, set a new county policy which requires that county government review all applications for building permits in the Spring Hammock area before any new construction can begin.

Conservationists had requested a building moratorium on hammock property until the county's comprehensive plan is adopted in October.

Although today's action isn't an official moratorium, Director of County Development John Percy said it will spotlight any petitions for building permits in the hammock, which environmentalists say should be left as is because of its value to Seminole County.

The Spring Hammock area, as defined today by county planners, encompasses a 2 1/2 square-mile area from SR-427 to SR-419 on both sides of General Hutchinson Parkway.

Commission Chairman Dick Williams proposed last week that the commission review applications before issuing permits. Williams asked twice for commission action, but both times his requests were spurned.

Commissioner John Kimbrough made the motion to adopt the new policy. He was seconded by Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff. Williams and Commissioner Bob French also voiced approval; Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski cast the lone opposition vote.

The entire controversy surfaced after environmentalists began protesting the commission's Dec. 14 action which rezoned about 4 acres in or near the hammock for construction of a Baird-Ray Datsun dealership.

The dealership, however, will not be affected by today's action because the dealership's owners have received the commission's approval to begin construction on the site which fronts U. S. 17-92 near General Hutchinson Parkway.

to because I am getting a headache," he said. Another citizen, Ben Franklin said the "true purpose" of fluoridating the water supply is birth control and that fluoridation is reducing the population by cancer. He said fluoridation is "part of an international scheme."

Dr. Roswell Newton, a retired dentist, said Orlando has been fluoridating its water supply for 21 years while Bob Lewis of Carriage Hill said the citizens of the city had spoken two times in favor of fluoridation.

Lewis added that Mrs. June Marie Michaels who had "tough her soul out" for years to get fluoride into the city's drinking water did so Saturday without seeing the success of her mission.

Casselberry Kills Plan To Fluoridate City Water

The Casselberry City Council in a close 3-2 vote Monday night killed the planned fluoridation of the city's water supply.

Along with halting fluoridation, the council instructed the administration of the city to dispose of $20,000 worth of equipment purchased to inject the chemical into the city water, selling the equipment for as much as possible.

Councilman Frank Schutte and John Leighty fought the action even though both said they were opposed to fluoridation personally.

Leighty pushed for a decision on the issue and after a lengthy discussion during workshop and with input from a few persons in the sparse audience, the council called itself back into official session to vote on the matter.

Leighty, pointing out that the people of Casselberry in a straw ballot in 1973 voted for fluoridation and again in a poll of water customers over the past few weeks voted for fluoridation, insisted the council should do what the people "want us to do."

"I have to do what the people of the city want me to do while I sit in this seat," Leighty said. "The voters have spoken," Schutte said.

Council Chairman Nathan Van Meter said only 15 per cent of the water customers responded to a poll printed on the monthly water bills, voting 657 for and 500 against fluoridation.

He said he had seen no proof that fluoridation would be beneficial to children while he has seen proof that fluoridation might harm adults. Van Meter said the safest way to prevent cavities in children was to limit their eating of candy, encourage them to brush their teeth regularly and to visit the dentist regularly.

Councilman Donald Willson said he did not believe that the water bill poll was representative of the people and thinks the "majority do not want this poison in their water."

Councilman Carl Robertson Jr., said he was looking at the issue strictly from a cost point of view.

and that fluoridation is costly and could conceivably be a cause of raising city taxes in the future.

He said although the entire water supply would have been fluoridated under the abandoned plan, 90 per cent of city water is used for purposes other than drinking.

Robert Dysert, who identified himself as a city property owner for the past 18 years, noted that both England and the Netherlands have banned the use of fluoride in water. "If you do this (implement fluoridation), add a little aspirin to the water supply

'Muffle' Memo

Casselberry City Council Chairman Nathan Van Meter sent a memo last week to his colleagues seeking their approval to limit public discussion at council meetings. But he insisted his suggestion was not designed to muffle the voice of the citizens.

The memo entitled "time limits on discussion of work session items and public hearing items," said, "In the interest of timely and orderly meetings, I am requesting your indulgence in setting time limits for public discussion of items on council agendas."

"Many public bodies such as ours do the same, including the county commission. I am not looking to muffle the voice of the citizens but to keep repetition and disorderliness out of the discussions."

Council policy has been to recognize as a first item of business any citizen from the floor who has anything to bring to the council's attention that is not included on the agenda.

Policy also has been to recognize any citizen in the audience to speak during the meeting on any item under consideration both at the official meeting and at workshops.

The memo was not brought up for council consideration or action at Monday night's meeting.

The 'Non-Politicians': Sanford's Eddie Keith Who--Me 'The Commissioner?'

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

E.O. (Eddie) Keith, who won election to the Sanford City Commission in December, still turns around to see if someone is standing behind him when he is addressed by the title "commissioner."

Although his December bid for public office was his second try, he was one of those municipal candidates perceived by the voters to be "non-politician" types.

His major opponent in the four-man race was a seasoned public official — Gordon Meyer who had served two prior terms on Sanford's governing body.

Keith, a Sanford city resident for 39-years and employed by Perkins Men's Clothing Store in the county seat for 30 years, "is getting a bit more used" to his title. "I have had to get comfortable in the job first. After all it had been a long time since I changed jobs," he says.

In office nearly three months now, he is still involved in the learning process. He is spending three or four hours each night studying the city codes — "I've even got a book on what a city commissioner should know" — trying to acquaint himself with the city ordinances and zoning.

"Studying is hard to do at my age," the 59-year old commissioner notes. He also remains head of the police reserve — "but I've been neglecting that job," he concedes.

Keith has been a captain with the city's police reserve for the past 10 years and although it was not required, he took the minimum police standards courses to be better qualified for that job.

"Everything is different than I expected. I've found out how much I didn't know. But I don't think I have become a politician yet. Being in office has given me a different outlook on a lot of things and I am even beginning to find out why those in public office like it so much."

"I guess it is the publicity that an office holder gets. It is pleasant to have people recognize you on the street," Keith says, adding, however, he is still surprised when he receives personal invitations from businesses to visit their facilities.

"A lot of people are keeping in touch with me, but they aren't requesting anything unreasonable."

"I've received only one critical letter and that concerned the city's planned sanitary landfill and it was from a resident outside the city."

"Before I took office I would have probably called it a garbage dump. Now I know it is solid waste disposal. It is a problem that has got to be solved. No one wants those people (outside the city) who are fighting the city plan to locate a landfill at SR 46A at Oregon Avenue) out there mad at us. They are all good people and most are very good friends of mine."

"I've got to act for the good of the majority of the people in Sanford and do what is going to help the city police reserve — "but I've been neglecting that job," he concedes.

"When you figure that the city might have to raise taxes in any way and put an additional burden on the people, particularly

Island Resorts Insist On Quitting Massachusetts

BOSTON (AP) — Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket, wanting to prove their threat to secede from Massachusetts is not an idle publicity ploy, are ready with legislation to sever the commonwealth from its two most famous island communities. Islanders are up in arms over a legislative redistricting plan announced earlier this year that would cost them their two seats in the Massachusetts House.

Squalls Delay Tanker Search

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Squalls hampered the search for remaining survivors from a Panamanian tanker that broke apart after an explosion and disgorged thousands of barrels of oil into the Atlantic Ocean. The Coast Guard said it has rescued 27 of the 39 crew members, Italians and Uruguayans aged 25 to 65.

Several divers said the ship, the Claude Conway, was split in two by a blast sparked by welding equipment.

The ship remained afloat. Coast Guard officials said they had found no bodies, but plans were made to board the stern portion today if rain and galeforce winds ease.

Spring But Snow Falls

By The Associated Press
An early spring storm has moved into the southwestern Great Lakes region, with snow falling early today from northern Illinois across Indiana and lower Michigan as the storm headed for the Northeast.

During the six hours ending at 1 a.m. EST, two inches of snow fell at Chicago, with an inch of snow in Peoria, Ill., South Bend, Ind., and Moline, Ill.

The storm was expected to move into the Northeast later today. Heavy snow warnings were up across southern Michigan, northern Ohio and western New York for up to four inches of snow.

Winter storm watches were posted across most of New England and New York State.

Senate Tax Bill Readied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Technicians are putting the finishing touches on a bill approved by the Senate Finance Committee to cut taxes by $31.4 billion over the next 18 months, including a one-time $50 rebate for most Americans. The one-week delay to give the staff time to put the bill on paper before Senate debate begins will give the Carter administration time to try to convince wavering Democrats that the President's tax proposal deserves a chance.

Zaire Aid Is Carter Poser

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration faces a tough foreign policy decision in dealing with a new request from Zaire for military aid, including ammunition for U.S.-made weapons supplied to the African country in years past. The State Department said Monday that Zaire, battling an invading force from neighboring Angola, has made a "supplementary request" to the United States for aid.

Saccharin Lines Drawn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer advocates are urging House members to take seriously tests showing saccharin causes cancer in animals. But diet-industry spokesmen and some lawmakers claim the tests are questionable and should not force a ban on saccharin from human diets.

A similar split exists over the Delaney clause, a law requiring a ban on any food additive that tests show causes cancer in animals or man.

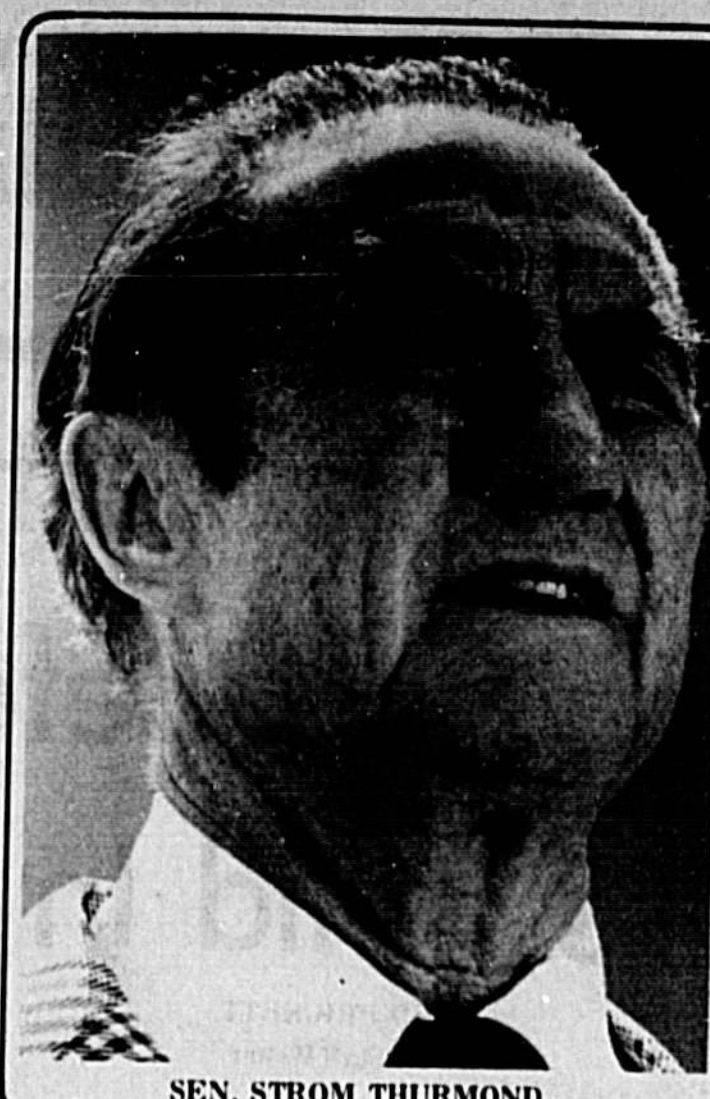

Hearings are continuing before a House health subcommittee headed by Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., who pledged Monday there will be no "precipitous" move in Congress to change the Delaney clause.

Ford Agrees To Recall

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. announced Monday the recall of more than half a million of its 1968 and 1969 Ford Mustangs and Mercury Cougars equipped with bucket seats because the back of the driver's seat could collapse.

Ford said the recall includes 480,000 U.S.-made cars, 32,000 made in Canada and 1,000 assembled in other countries.

The recall follows a 1½-year legal battle between the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and Ford. The automaker had refused to comply with a government recall order, arguing that the defect was not a safety-related problem.

SEN. STROM THURMOND

The Flap Over Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Keep your dirty hands off my Republicans," snapped Sen. Strom Thurmond, looking down the Senate Judiciary Committee dais at Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Thurmond's angry outburst was one of many tense moments during the long and often agonizing attempt by the Judiciary Committee to establish subcommittees and decide who will serve on each.

Ordinarily, committees organize themselves at a brief, routine meeting. That's the way it was for most Senate committees. But not Judiciary. New rules adopted this year by the Senate, coupled with key changes in the membership of the committee, plunged the panel into a power struggle that still isn't resolved.

At stake in the efforts of the 11 Democrats and six Republicans to determine the makeup of subcommittees is whether liberals or conservatives will be in a position to control action on measures such as a major antitrust bill aimed at the oil industry, as well as constitutional amendments dealing with school busing, abortion and the Electoral College.

For six weeks, the committee has struggled in open and closed sessions with plans for filling vacancies on the subcommittee. Transcripts of the open meetings and accounts of what went on in the closed sessions provide a textbook example of the maintenance and use of power in Congress.

The mood within the committee has fluctuated between conciliation and anger, between attempts to use charm to win a point and some not very veiled threats.

Thurmond's outburst occurred when Kennedy pressed him to disclose his choices for Republican assignments to subcommittees.

The stage was set for the current struggle when Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., and three conservative Republicans received seats on the judiciary committee.

Two years earlier, Kennedy succeeded in blocking Allen's bid for a place on the panel.

Her son, also defeated, said he was quitting politics. With returns from the general election last weekend almost complete, Mrs. Gandhi's foes claimed they would have a majority of at least 126 seats in the lower house of Parliament.

Carter Urges Popular Vote For President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration asked Congress today to allow voters to register on election day and to pass a constitutional amendment to provide direct popular election of the president and vice president.

The proposal to junk the embattled Electoral College method of electing presidents and vice presidents was part of a comprehensive election law revision plan prepared by Vice President Walter F. Mondale, who disclosed it at a news conference today.

The administration proposal also seeks public financing for congressional campaigns, a revision of the present system of public financing for presidential campaigns and liberalization of the Hatch Act to allow increased participation in political campaigns by federal civil servants.

"The array of confining and sometimes burdensome registration requirements now prevents many citizens from casting their ballots on election day," the vice president said in a statement prepared for his news conference.

He said states that have simplified registration requirements have seen dramatic results through increased voter turnout.

Under current procedures, voters must register in advance of going to the polls. Mondale said that in states where voters can register for state elections on election day, including his own state of Minnesota, "the results have typically been a significant increase in voter participation with no increase in voter fraud."

"Over 450,000 Minnesota citizens were registered on election day in 1974, a single charge of fraud was filed."

Under the plan, which Mondale said has bipartisan support, a state could receive 20 cents for each vote cast in the previous presidential election to help pay for increased registration costs.

According to estimates provided at the news conference, the total cost would be $12 million or more.

President Carter discussed the revisions with the Democratic congressional leadership at a White House breakfast today.

County Won't Back Sanford Annex Bid

The Seminole County Commissioners voted today to oppose annexation by the City of Sanford of two acres located on Lake Mary Blvd. near Lake Meade.

The Commission instructed County Attorney Joe H. Mount to attend next Monday's Sanford City Commission meeting to look into the issue.

Herb Hardin, land development administrator, said the proposed annexation is in violation of Florida law. Hardin said it is illegal for the city to annex the property because it is not contiguous to the city limits.

Hardin said the Sanford Commissioners have approved the annexation on first reading. Final reading is to take place Monday night.

Hardin said landowners petitioned the city for annexation. The property in question is located in the Auto parts thieves were busy Monday in north and south Seminole. Robert W. Taylor, of 1651 Ferncrest Drive, told deputies that parts valued at $170 were stripped from his parked MG-B convertible.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

State-Owned Casinos Proposed In Legislature

MIAMI (AP) — Florida would own, operate and reap the profits from state-licensed casinos on Miami Beach under a bill sponsored by two Miami-area lawmakers.

Reps. Paul Steinberg, D-Miami Beach, and Charles Papy, D-Miami, say their legislation would lower taxes for Dade property owners while aiding Miami Beach's tourist industry.

The legislation, in the form of a constitutional amendment, would require the approval of two-thirds of the Florida House and Senate before it could be offered to voters.

State Jobless Increase

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Florida's unemployment rate, which had shown a dramatic improvement for two months, took a sizable jump in February, primarily as the result of freeze-related agriculture layoffs, state officials said today.

The state's unemployment rate increased to 8.1 per cent from the 7.6 per cent it registered in January.

The increase sent the state's unemployment rate once again well above the national average of 7.5 per cent for February.

Goode Gets Death Penalty

FORT MYERS (AP) — "There comes a time that if organized society is to exist, compassion and love must be terminated," Circuit Judge John Shearer said as he sentenced Arthur Goode, III to death for the rape-murder of a 9-year-old boy.

"We can no longer help or rehabilitate Arthur Goode," said Shearer. "All we can do is extinguish him. He will never again kill, maim or harm another human being."

Goode, 23, who has already been sentenced to life for the murder of an 11-year-old Virginia boy, grinned and raised his fist as he was taken from the courtroom after the Monday sentencing.

FP&L Refunds Ready Soon

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Some 1.3 million customers of Florida Power & Light will soon be getting average refunds of $6.40 each. The payments will show up as credits on their May bills.

It also authorized the company to mail out refund checks to 317,000 people who paid improper charges but are no longer FP&L customers.

The refunds are a result of a Supreme Court decision last December that a 1975 interim rate hike had been incorrectly granted.

Charter Review Panel Chairman Named At Oviedo

By BILL PIEPER
Herald Staff Writer

The next order of business at the city council meeting last night was to review proposed additional street improvements for the city. The council approved construction for 11 projects, but was divided about construction for N. Lake Jessup Avenue.

Council Chairman R. W. Whittier and Pratt wanted to give approval for an engineering design for N. Lake Jessup Avenue, but Kuhn and Councilman Ray Beasley were concerned that federal funds granted to the city for construction would not be enough to finish the N. Lake Jessup project.

Following Pratt's suggestion, Councilman John A. Kuhn mentioned that Pearson be named temporary chairman. Pratt seconded Kuhn's motion.

After Pearson's appointment, Davis recommended that the council make another amendment to the resolution empowering Pearson to set the date for the committee's first meeting.

Originally the resolution stated that the city council would call the first meeting. The council accepted Davis' recommendation.

After minor discussion, Kuhn made a motion to approve the resolution with amendments, which was approved unanimously by the council.

The approved resolution states that the results of the city's committee charter study must be submitted to the city council by Oct. 1, 1977.

Longwood Taps Pair For Planning Unit

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

After a delay of several weeks and an unsuccessful effort to have one of the nominees withdrawn, the Longwood City Council Monday night named two men to the city's Land Planning Agency.

Robert Hammond was reappointed to the agency, while Raymond C. Leibensperger won his seat in a 3-2 runoff vote over Wallace Henderson.

Councilman Parker Anderson attempted to have Leibensperger removed from consideration and passed around a transcript containing Leibensperger's testimony on August 23, 1976 in the State's Attorney's office investigation of the Longwood Public Works Department.

When a member of the audience asked that the reason for Anderson's motion be read aloud, Public Safety Director Greg Manning asked that Leibensperger's statement not be read aloud because it had been made in an investigation to help the police department. The audience was not informed of the transcript's content.

The testimony in question was given voluntarily under oath by former street superintendent Leibensperger, who had been employed by the city from July 1971 to January 1975.

While testifying against then Public Works Director Ralph Fisher and others in the department, Leibensperger admitted to having taken "three or four quarts of oil and... one oil filter," for his personal use. He was called to testify at the suggestion of the then mayor James Lormann, according to the transcript.

Councilman June Lormann, J. R. Grant and Larry Goldberg voted for Leibensperger, while Anderson and Stephen Barton voted against.

City Attorney Ned Julian reported a suit had been filed against the owners of Longwood Utilities charging the Shadow Hill sewage package plant is a public nuisance and a health hazard and asking for an injunction against any more connections until the plant meets environmental standards required by the state.

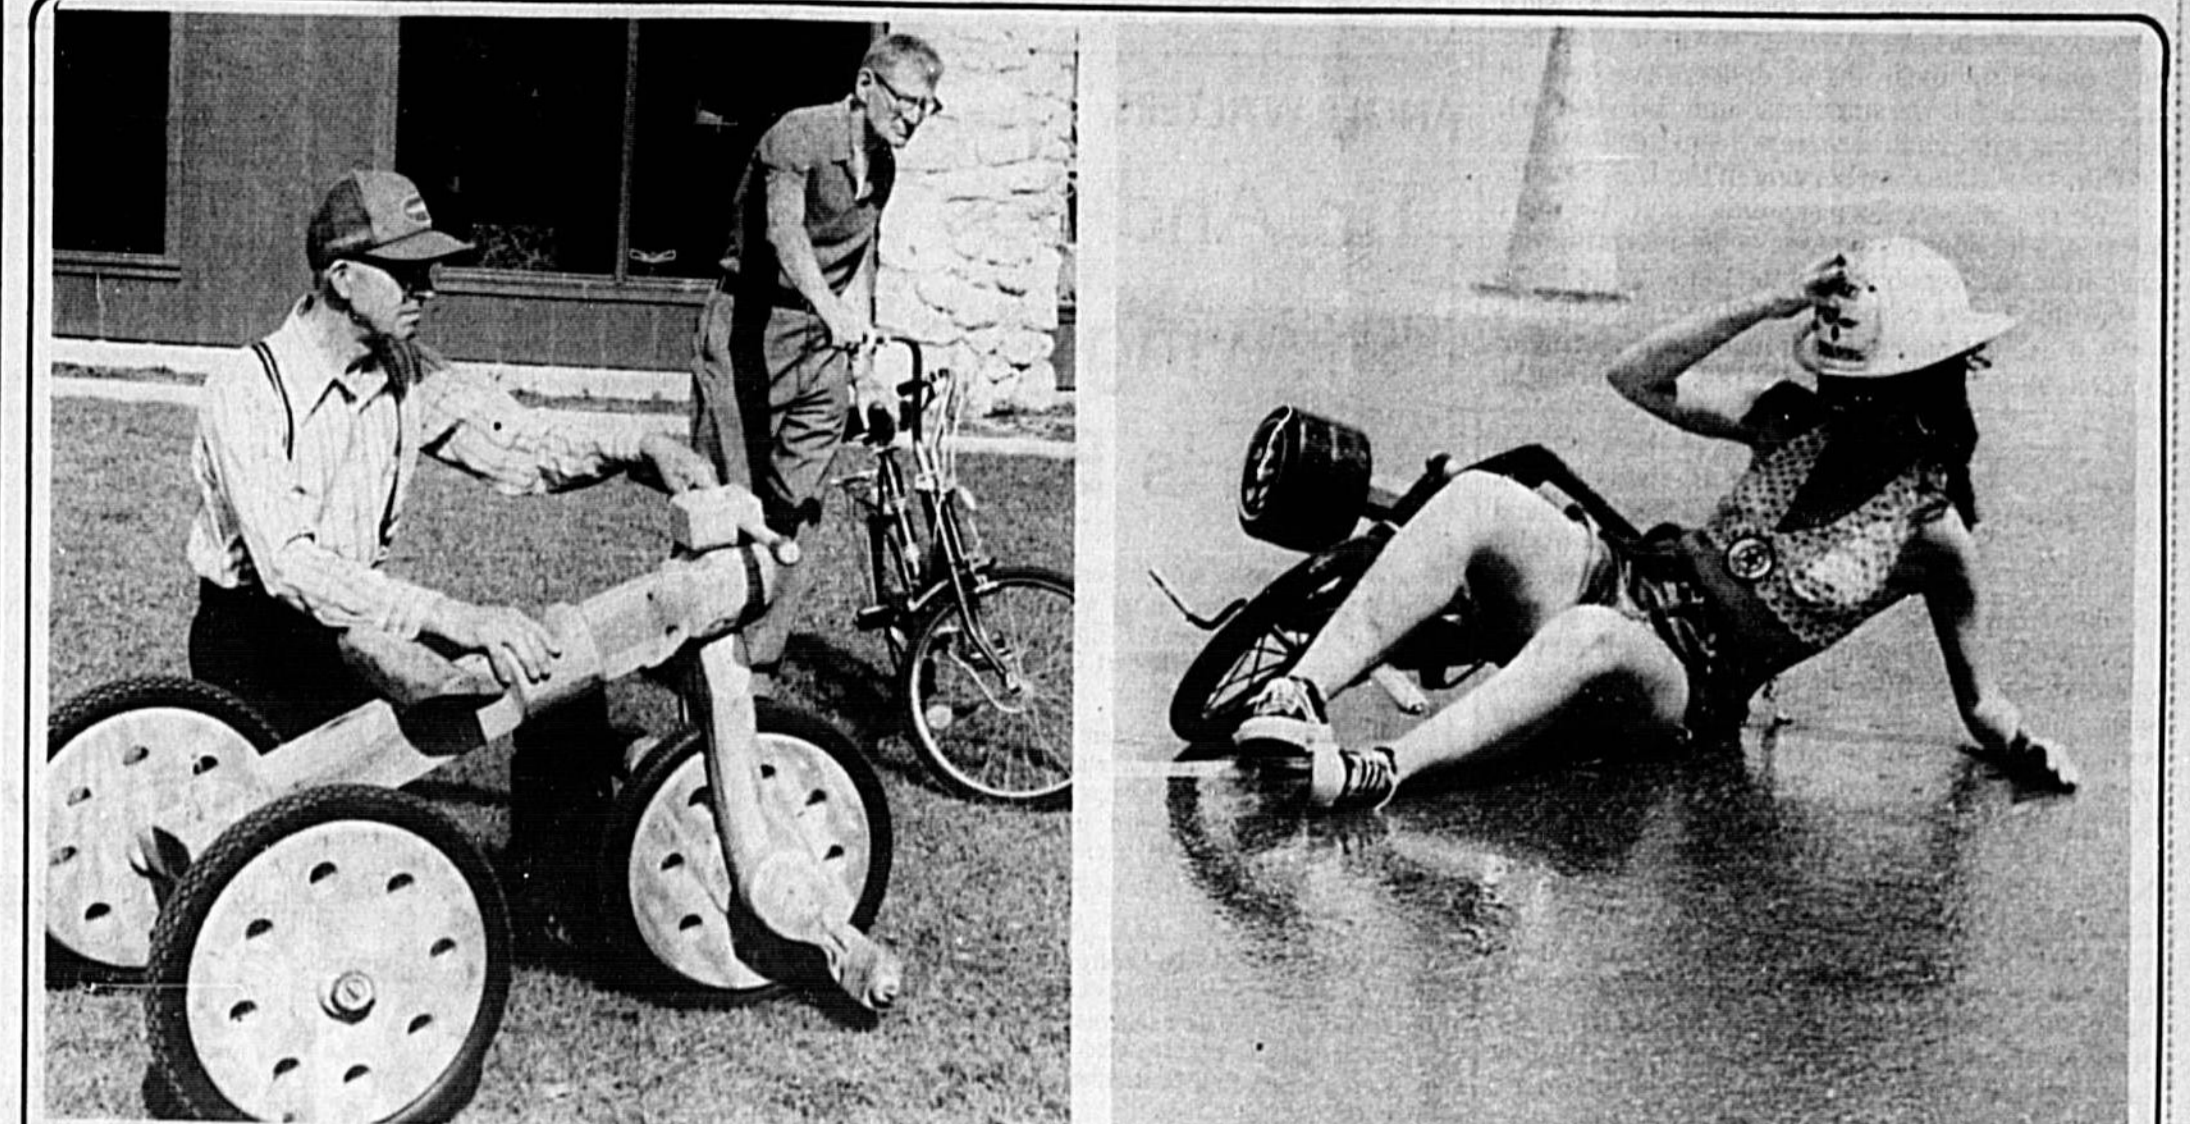

Last week the council had voted a moratorium on new hook-ups to the system and issuance of certificates of occupancy until the controversial sewage plant is in compliance with Florida Department of Environmental Regulations (DER) requirements. On Thursday night at a special meeting the council agreed to lift the ban on five completed homes so that electricity could be turned on.

The plant, which serves 400 homes in five subdivisions, is designed to have a 300,000 gallons per day capacity, but only one of the 100,000 gallon tanks has been in use since the facility opened four years ago. After the original owner of the plant went bankrupt, the plant was operated for a time by the city until a corporation was formed by developers in the area to purchase it.

Julian said he had a long conversation with L. T. Kozlov of the Enforcement Section of DER in Orlando, and it was Kozlov's understanding that the plant would be upgraded to be in compliance by the March 28 deadline. If not owners will face administrative action by DER.

Continued complaints and threats of legal action against the city by Dr. Gerald Grisson and Sam Lewis, who live adjacent to the plant, prompted action by the city and the DER.

Casselberry Vetoes Mayor Referendum

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Casselberry City Council next Monday night will decide on whether to adopt a resolution granting additional powers to Mayor Gerald Christensen with a "commensurate" salary of $17,800 annually as a full-time Mayor.

In workshop Monday night, Councilmen John Leighty and Frank Schutte were unsuccessful in persuading their colleagues to place the question on a special referendum early this summer. But, the pair was able to delay the decision.

Council Chairman Nathan Van Meter ordered the item placed on next week's agenda after City Attorney Kenneth Mettosh ruled that it would be the chairman's decision whether the council would be called back into session to take action.

The majority of the council (Van Meter and Councilmen Donald Wilson and Carl Robertson Jr.) appeared ready to approve the resolution setting the mayor's salary at $16,600 annually with a $1,200 cap allowance, despite Schutte's and Leighty's insistence that the action would bring about a change in the city's form of government.

Schutte in his "last word" of the evening turned to Van Meter, saying the citizens expected a public hearing on the matter, adding "I hope you take full responsibility for this to the people."

Schutte, during the workshop, went through the four-page resolution item-by-item suggesting some 18 changes "to clarify" the beefed-up powers, similar to those given a city manager, which would have been given to Christensen if the resolution is adopted.

Van Meter, speaking against a special election this summer, said many Casselberry residents would be denied the opportunity to vote on the issue before the next city election. He also objected to the cost of a special election.

Schutte, however, said he could not see how his colleagues could object to spending $400 (for the special election) to have the citizens input.

Robertson said that current city law would permit the hiring of an "educated idiot" as city manager at an even higher salary. Schutte's response was that it would only take three council votes to rid the city of an "educated idiot" city manager, but it would take two years to get rid of an "educated idiot" who might become mayor.

Former Council Chairman Sal Orlando, from the audience told Van Meter that by granting the mayor a salary and power by resolution, he was eliminating the checks and balances in the government for which he had fought so hard.

Orlando said the appropriate way to keep the mayor from being subservient to the council would be to amend the city charter. He said an amendment would require the people's approval and only the people could repeal it.

Schutte said government amazes him. "If someone asks for a three-foot variance, a public hearing is required. If the council wants to change the mayor from part-time to full-time and increase his salary from $9,000 to $17,800 no public hearing is required."

The city charter permits the council to hire a city manager and an ordinance was adopted several years ago granting powers to the city manager.

Long-time city clerk, Mary Hawthorne, has been acting as city manager since Anthony Guiliano resigned the post last fall.

The resolution under consideration calls for the council to "thoroughly consider" repealing the charter section calling for a city manager.

Of 'Nosebleeds'...

The graffiti splashed across the City of Casselberry's 170 feet tall elevated water storage tank by vandals may have been offending motorists on SR 436. But was $100 in labor costs too much for having the obscenities painted over?

Councilman John Leighty's insistence Monday night that $25 per hour paid to David Smothers for four hours labor painting excessive when an out-of-work painter would have done the entire job for $25 brought a quick response from Council Chairman Nathan Van Meter.

"I wouldn't do it for $100 an hour," Van Meter said. "I get nosebleeds when climbing a step ladder."

...And Change

The services of the Sanford accounting firm of Greene and Dycus were terminated by the Casselberry City Council, after 15-18 years auditing city books. Monday night in favor of an Altamonte Springs firm, Lanstag and Snyder.

Mayor Gerald Christensen, who recommended the action, said Lanning and Snyder, certified public accountants, is experienced with state cities (it handles Altamonte Springs' audits) and will do the work at less cost.

Christensen said the Altamonte Springs firm will audit the city books quarterly in addition to the annual audit and for $4,800 less than Greene and Dycus has been charging. "It is good business practice to change auditors every five years," Christensen said.

Topic: Sanford's New City Hall

Beginning Thursday morning the Sanford city employees' parking lot north of city hall will be closed, marking the beginning of site preparation for construction of a new city hall.

Construction will officially begin April 4 and will last for nine months, according to City Manager W. E. Knowles.

He made the statement following a Monday pre-construction conference attended by city officials, representatives of general contractor Williams Development Co. of Orlando and officials of the Orlando architectural firm of Watson and Co., the new city hall's designers.

When the new city hall is completed next January, city employees will move in "over a three-day weekend," Knowles said.

"We need to make a transition rather quickly for the convenience of the public."

Knowles said city employees would take time from the current 53-year-old city hall building the second floor chandeliers and "other items of historical interest."

John R. Orend of Williams Development Co. will be the project's job site superintendent. His major contact with the city government will be through Mack LaZeyko, city engineer and acting utilities director.

Lloyd Wall's 6-For-6 Paces Seaboard 'Coast'

WHAT ELSE IS NEW? LLOYD WALL GREETED AFTER HOME RUN (Photos by Tom Vincent)

Seven Homers (Three By Wall) Do It, 31-16

Conductor Lloyd Wall said "all aboard" Monday night in the Metro Softball League, and if there are any baserunners "aboard" for Seaboard Coast Line, they weren't after he found Lay's Gulf Station defeating Tanqueroy Lounge, 8-5, and Seminole Community College Faculty taking 17-1 victory over Tanqueroy Lounge.

Wall slammed out three home runs, two doubles and a single to pace Seaboard to a 31-16 victory over Tanqueroy Lounge. It was the second straight 30-plus game for Seaboard. It won Friday night, 31-3.

Monday night's other games found Lay's Gulf Station defeating Tanqueroy Lounge, 8-5, and Seminole Community College Faculty taking 17-1 victory over Tanqueroy Lounge.

Nope, Not Mr. Moneybags

TAMPA (AP) — George Steinbrenner III resents being pictured as Mr. Moneybags on an ego trip — out to buy a World Series baseball championship for his New York Yankees.

"It's a false image," the jet-propelled owner of the American League titleholders said over the weekend during one of his quick stopovers here to attend to his ship-building business.

"No one can be sure of buying a pennant. I am willing to compare our expenditures the last four years with those of any club. I don't think many people are aware of what we are now doing in the college and minor league areas."

Steinbrenner, head of the syndicate which bought the Yankees from CBS in September, 1974, insists that he has adopted a long-range rather than a short-range view in blueprinting the club's future.

"We have more than doubled our budget for player procurement," he explained. "We now have a 20-man scouting staff. We have added 14 new scouts, paying top dollar."

"That isn't all. We now have two coaches with every one of our minor league teams. The purpose is to give the managers more time to manage and to see that all of our new players are exposed to topflight instruction."

"Normally, the minor league manager drives the bus, picks up bats and sweeps the locker room floor. We don't want that. We want him to manage. We have got some of the top pitching coaches, guys such as Hoyt Wilhelm and Sammy Ellis."

"Our outlay is about $50 million per year for each of our minor league teams."

Clary, Fry Two-Hitter Halts Civitans By 5-2

Using the one-hit formula to best advantage, Damon Clary and Greg Fry collaborated for a two-hitter Monday night in Seminole Pony League Baseball as they led Williams Welding to a 5-2 victory over Winter Park Civitan at Five Points Field.

Lake Mary Rotary whipped Johnny Bolton Ford in the other game, 4-3.

Dave Jeffries scored two of the Welding runs, with Clary and Fry accounting for the other scores. The hits for the winners were well-distributed between Clary, Fry, Dennis Kelly, Jeffery and Craig Watkins, who had one each.

Ken Brown was the sole savior in the sides of the Welders as the second-inning collected both hits off Fry and Clary.

Mitch Aycock had two hits to pace Bolton Ford, however he and his teammates could muster only five hits in all off winning pitcher Mike Gaudreau. Charles Miller was the hard-luck pitcher for Bolton, giving up only four hits. Phil Hart, Jack Blades, Mel Woodard and Jerry Jones had the hits for Lake Mary Rotary. Gaudreau pitched shutout for the first five innings, but lost in the sixth when Bolton scored all three of his runs.

SHS, DeLand Vie Tonight

Ah, but the flavor of revenge! The Seminole High baseball team hasn't tasted it yet, but it is on the tip of its tongue tonight at 7:30 when the Seminoles entertain arch-rival DeLand at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Seminole, 8-5, will pitch David Higgins, who is 3-1 to date. Tim Raines is the club's top hitter with a .419 average, including nine triples.

The two teams have not met this season, however DeLand won twice last season and also knocked Sanford's team out of the American League playoff picture last summer.

SCC Nine Loses, 6-5

The Seminole Community College baseball team fell to St. Clair of Michigan, 6-5, Monday.

Lafleur Goal Kills Bruins

BOSTON (AP) — It was agreed that a little carom shot goal by Guy Lafleur was the key to the Montreal Canadiens' 5-1 victory over the Boston Bruins in Monday night's nationally televised National Hockey League game.

Boston Coach Don Cherry said: "That Lafleur goal was the killer."

Montreal led by a 3-1 lead in the first period. But Lafleur's 52nd goal of the season, off the skate of Boston goalie Gilles Gilbert midway through the second period, ended the Bruins' hopes of another victory over the powerful Canadiens.

Risborough scored 52 seconds later. Lafleur's goal gave him at least one point in his last 22 games, tying a 17-year-old NHL record set by the Bruins' Bruno Horvath.

The Bruins remained two points behind first place Buffalo in the race for first place in the Adams Division. Both teams have seven games remaining.

Blind Skiers Busy

MT. PROSPECT, Ill. (AP) — When Skobel's skiers stand at the top of a hill they don't look down and shudder in their boots at the treacherous moguls. They can't see them.

Skobel is founder and executive director of the American Blind Skiing Foundation, an organization aimed at breaking the blind out of their shells and teaching them an exciting activity.

"It has a great psychological and therapeutic value," says Skobel, "an excellent derby performer who lost 90 per cent of his sight at the age of four in a bout with scarlet fever."

"Many of them were ashamed they were blind and once they got into skiing it turned their personality around because they saw they can do things that other people can do."

"How can a person who can't see succeed in a sport that trips up adventurers with the keenest eyesight?"

Skobel, who learned to ski in 1974 when he founded the ABSF, says each skier has a guide who describes the run to him before he pushes off and accompanies him down to give instruction and encouragement.

"There's no danger at all because once the blind skier has faith in his guide or in his instructor he will do anything a guide or his instructor will tell him to do," says Skobel.

On the other hand, he was just another good-looking, healthy, long-haired youngster when he got together with his Madison friends and went to some high school basketball games every week.

He said he does not think his accomplishments will boost American speed skating interest the way Olof Korberg sent the way flopping to gymnastics.

Madison last week after capping his season with another world record in Moscow, that a businessman called from The Netherlands and offered to fly him back for the weekend to speak at a neighborhood skating club.

"It's just the way they get for skating over there," Eric said.

Cabbie Hubby Doing More Than Driving?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband drives a cab, and many times Mike has come home with names and phone numbers of women. He empties his pockets on the bureau every night and makes no effort to hide anything. When I ask him why he has these names and numbers, he says, "Oh, I meet a lot of tramps in my job who give me their names in case I run into guys who want a gal to show them the town."

I asked him how come he knows these girls are tramps unless he gets into personal conversations with them, and he says some people start pouring out their life history even before they tell him where they want to go.

Mike is good-looking and friendly, but he must give these tramps some encouragement, or they wouldn't tell him their life's history or give him their phone numbers, right?

DEAR ABBY: Not necessarily. If Mike had something to hide he wouldn't empty his pockets out on the bureau. Don't hassle him about the "tramps" he hauls, or how he comes to know their life histories. Some cabbies hear more confessions than a parish priest.

DEAR ABBY: How does one address mail to a married couple, both of whom are physicians? I know several such couples, and I never know how to address properly their invitations or Christmas cards.

Should it be: "Dr. and Mrs. John Doe" or "Dr. and Dr. John Doe"? Or is there some other form?

WONDERING

DEAR ABBY: I, too, dislike the policy of some newspapers in dropping the woman's first name, or "Miss" or "Mrs." or subsequent mention. But the newspapers are in a crunch between those with our preference and other women who demand that no distinction between the sexes be made—a move (in their eyes) toward true "equality." So don't shoot the editor—he's doing the best he can.

MRS. JOHN JONES

DEAR MRS. JONES: In the 1800s, women in America began to press for the right to vote. Feminist foremothers Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucy Stone, Susan B. Anthony and others began to travel from one community to another across the U.S. They traveled by train and carriage, stopping all along the way to garner national support for the women's suffrage amendment.

Today, the issue is the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) and modern-day feminists, following tradition, have begun to travel from community to community to add their majority supporters of the 27th amendment.

Ms. Copeland is public relations chairman for the Florida ERA Coalition; has been an ERA lobbyist since 1972; is a member of the National Women's Political Caucus rules committee and is vice president of Women Together Inc.

Ms. Salerno is legislative coordinator for NOW in New Jersey; on the ERA State Coalition executive committee; active in Women's Political Caucus and the S.L. Per Cent Committee for Carter.

Getting To Know One Another

"Getting to Know You" just could be one of the theme songs of Seminole County Commission these days. Commissioners and county department heads are meeting socially—like at breakfast or luncheon—with civic organizations and community leaders.

The commissioners luncheon last week with the board of managers of Woman's Club of Sanford at Holiday Inn was a delightful experience. Commissioner Dick Williams told the women that the purpose of the gatherings was to get to know each other. The women and men attending each gave a miniscule autobiography, which proved interesting.

The club leaders attending included Vi Clark, Jerry Kirk, Laurine Messenger, Carolyn Cornelius, Doris Dietrich, Minnie Strickland, Bill Gleason, Charles Smith, Ann Brisson and Dottie Karns.

A Get Acquainted Coffee Saturday at the home of Mrs. Robert Morris attracted a steady stream of Sanford Woman's Club members and guests to the annual fête.

What are you wearing in Sanford's Downtown Business Association Easter Parade? Get a move on. You might just win a prize.

What price hath fame or notoriety?

Holley Kurimal and Sara Lee Roberts, both Seminole High School seniors and charter dancers with Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole (BGS) are feeling pretty low these days over the possibility of not attending every senior's dress, the Junior-Senior Prom.

In this case the prom will be held on March 26, the coffee night BGS will perform at Brooksville and a date which was scheduled about a year ago. That's the breaks. But we heard, the seniors and several other dancers and their dates might make a mad dash for the prom from Brooksville, hoping to arrive at Orlando's Sheraton Twin Towers perhaps in time for "Goodnight Ladies."

WOMEN Deltonans Dine 'Around The World'

By PAT ZIEBERT
Herald Correspondent

An "Around the World" luncheon was held on Tuesday for members of the Deltona Woman's Club at the clubhouse on Normandy Boulevard. Guests were seated at tables decorated to represent 17 foreign countries.

Chairwoman for the event was Francis Hochreiter, assisted by co-chairwomen Eleanor Atkinson, Roni Schulte and Corrine Bideman. Music was furnished by Kathleen Grate at the piano and Jay Joseph on the drums.

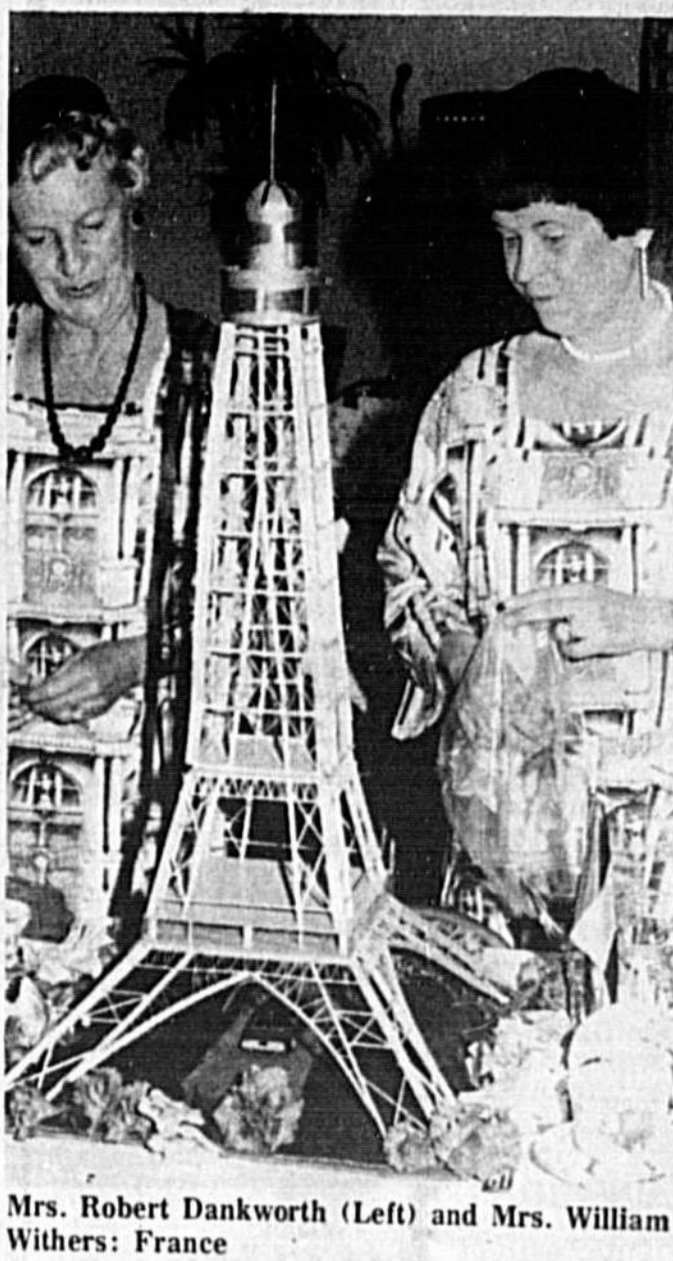

In charge of the kitchen were L. Col. Leonard Beldowicz and his wife, Joela, assisted by Roni Schulte, Doris Schnabel, Grace Hains, Irene Cottolet, Arlene Parisi and Catherine Dankworth.

Home Away From Home Is Pre-School Concept

"This is not just regular pre-school or day care," says Mrs. Jean McLain, owner and operator of Kravola Kollege, Sanford. "We try and make it a home away from home, especially for the children of working mothers."

"We try to do those things that working parents just don't have time for," she said. Things like going skating, swimming and riding the bus or the train.

Mrs. McLain also stresses her enrichment program which includes music, rhythm and—next year—ballet which will be taught by Mrs. Bowlin, a certified dance teacher who has worked as a choreographer at Disney World.

This year, Mrs. McLain expanded her pre-school to include kindergarten and day care for babies. Teaching kindergarten next year will be Patsy Mossman; Mrs. McLain takes charge of the pre-schoolers and day care personnel are Louise Silver and Victoria Lee.

Kravola Kollege, located at Elm and Eighth Street, is open weekdays from 7 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. Enrichment in bright colors and toys, the school will be open for inspection and registration Wednesday from 9 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.

Mrs. McLain invites interested parents to visit during the appointed hours.

GOOD QUESTION

Psychologist Bob Edelman gives thought to a question put to him by a concerned father at a recent "For Dads Only" seminar held at Red Bug Elementary School. A repeat of the program will be held tonight at 7 p.m. at Pinecrest Elementary in Sanford, for fathers of children in the area's elementary schools. The program is sponsored by Seminole Community College's Community Services office as part of its Parent Education Program.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I was interested in your column some time ago about jogging and varicose veins. I have been diagnosed as having chronic phlebitis and thrombophlebitis. What is the difference? In your column you said that walking contracts the leg muscles and squeezes the deep veins in the legs to empty them. You said the superficial veins in the leg drain into the deep veins of the legs and walking helps to empty them. Just the opposite happens to me. When I walk or stand my leg swells to about twice its normal size. I have worn an artificial leg for over 30 years but have just had this phlebitis condition for the last two years. Can you tell me what causes the phlebitis? Could it have been brought on by favoring my artificial leg and straining my good leg? Or could it have come from falling and injuring the cartilage in my knee? I also have some foreign bodies retained from a bullet wound that went through my leg above the knee. DEAR READER—Judging from other letters many people are confused about the difference between thrombophlebitis and varicose veins. Varicose veins are simply dilated veins, they are wide open but they are over-stretched. I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-8, Varicose Veins, so you can understand what they are and what you can do about them. Others who want this information can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Phlebitis means inflammation of the veins. Thrombophlebitis means inflammation of the veins with the formation of a clot (thrombosis) in the veins. The clot may break off and send pieces through the veins to the heart and out to the lung. That is how a blood clot develops in the lungs from the leg.

HOROSCOPE By BERNICE BEDE OSOL For Wednesday, March 23, 1977

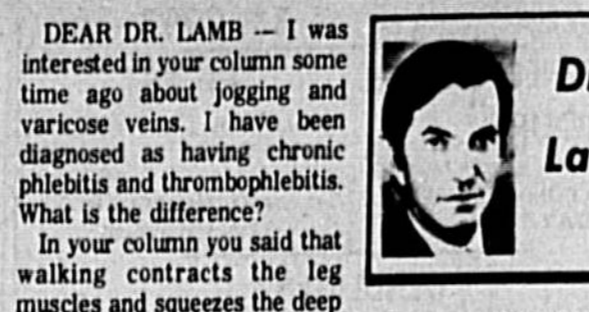

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Whereas yesterday you weren't too sharp today you profit from your mistakes and are very astute at business. Hoorary for you. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Success is likely today because you're quietly determined. Before people realize what's happened, you're king of the mountain. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll have better luck discussing serious matters if you do it away from the office atmosphere. Be sure to say everything that's on your mind. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Managing situations in your strong suit today if your concern lies mainly with the fate and fortunes of others. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In serious deliberations, don't discount your mate's opinion. A meeting of minds is imperative today. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're more astute at material matters today than you give yourself credit for. You could turn a tidy little profit. YOUR BIRTHDAY March 23, 1977 You will make some influential contacts this year that will prove valuable in important ways. One such person could even help enlarge your bank account.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone who thinks quite a bit of you will take you into his confidence today. He's putting his trust in the right person. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Keep in mind the sound business advice given you by a friend today. This person knows where he speaks. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your thinking is ambitious today. The rewards could be great. To think and act, however, rests nothing. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may have to be a bit more firm with another today who you hoped would be necessary. It's important that this person knows you mean what you say. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Partnership situations look good for you today, if you counterpart can match your own mettle. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It may be necessary for you to make a difficult career decision today. If your plan is well thought out, stick to your guns. When I walk or stand my leg swells to about twice its normal size. I have worn an artificial leg for over 30 years but have just had this phlebitis condition for the last two years. Can you tell me what causes the phlebitis? Could it have been brought on by favoring my artificial leg and straining my good leg? Or could it have come from falling and injuring the cartilage in my knee? I also have some foreign bodies retained from a bullet wound that went through my leg above the knee. DEAR READER—Judging from other letters many people are confused about the difference between thrombophlebitis and varicose veins. Varicose veins are simply dilated veins, they are wide open but they are over-stretched. I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-8, Varicose Veins, so you can understand what they are and what you can do about them. Others who want this information can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Phlebitis means inflammation of the veins. Thrombophlebitis means inflammation of the veins with the formation of a clot (thrombosis) in the veins. The clot may break off and send pieces through the veins to the heart and out to the lung. That is how a blood clot develops in the lungs from the leg.

S. W. A. T. Funds Okayed; $ For Jail, Too

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners Tuesday gave Sheriff John Polk funds for his S.W.A.T. team and $80,000 for advance design work on a proposed new jail complex as officials divided up almost $600,000 in federal revenue sharing funds.

Polk is awaiting official word from Washington on the proposed construction of a $5-million-dollar jail facility on county-owned property near Five Points.

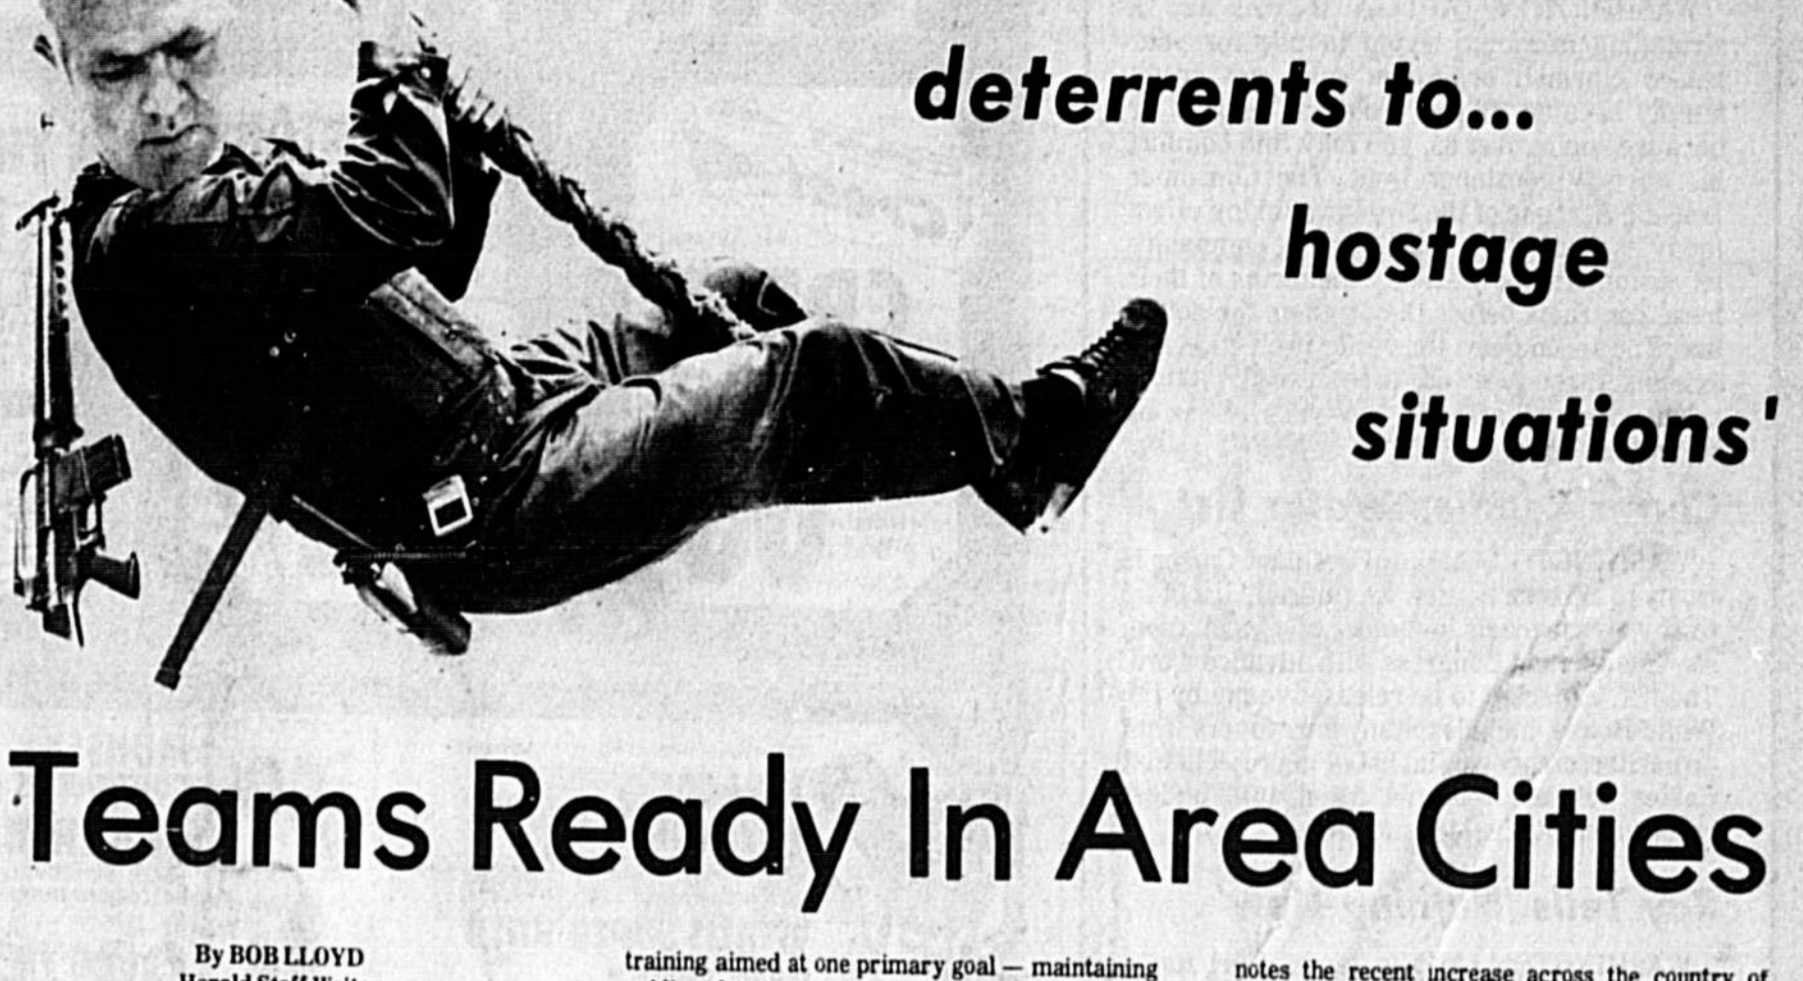

Polk said Washington officials, promised federal funds to construct the jail after those same officials last year dropped Seminole County's request for $5-million to build a combination sheriff's Administration-Jail complex at the Five Points location.

"I don't see any way the project will not be funded," the sheriff told county commissioners. Polk said the $80,000 will be spent because an architectural design work is needed before a new jail is constructed—something Polk says must happen with or without federal dollars because of overcrowding at the existing county jail in Sanford.

Commission Chairman Dick Williams said chances of Seminole receiving federal jail funds are "99 per cent for."

Polk also carved out $32,000 of the federal revenue sharing funds for outfitting a S.W.A.T. team in Seminole. The sheriff promised he Mention S.W.A.T. (Special Weapons and Tactics) teams and the first thing that may come to mind is television dramatizations that show a group of police officers waiting in a basement headquarters for the call to speed to a tense, potentially explosive situation in their van armed with high power weapons.

In Seminole, Sheriff John Polk says, the sheriff's department S.W.A.T. team has been in existence a year but its members, officers who devote many hours of off-duty time to training, are men who work regular shifts in their law enforcement jobs. And their S.W.A.T. activities aren't glamorous. Instead these jobs call for high-discipline and training aimed at one primary goal—maintaining public safety in a county of 150,000 citizens that's the second smallest geographically in the state.

"We prepare for the worst and hope for the best," Polk says for the 11-member S.W.A.T. unit with its team leaders Lt. Roy Hughey, Lt. Jay Leman and Sgt. Joe Patton.

"A well trained unit with the proper equipment is notes the recent increase across the country of hostage-taking situations.

On Dec. 1, 1975, the sheriff's department didn't have a S.W.A.T. team, but Lt. Hughey was able to talk by telephone with hostages held by a masked, pistol-wielding man during an hour-long siege in a bowling alley at Fern Park.

Hughey entered the building unarmed and talked the gunman into surrendering and releasing the three hostages unharmed.

In that situation the building was surrounded by regular road deputies. Similar situations have arisen, Polk said, on at least two occasions at residences where disturbed persons have held hostages for short times.

Lawmakers Hope Panel Can Resolve Tax Dispute

By MARK WEINBERG Herald Staff Writer

Two members of the Seminole state legislative delegation this morning said they were hopeful the Regional Interim Sewer Committee could resolve a controversy over granting limited taxing power to a proposed regional sewer district.

The Seminole County Commissioners Tuesday night voted to take their objections to the draft bill which would establish a North Seminole Sewerage District to this afternoon's interim committee meeting.

The Regional Interim Sewer Committee, composed of representatives of Lake Mary, Sanford and the county, proposed the legislation, in preliminary form, to the Seminole state legislative delegation earlier this month.

The commissioners discussed their objections Tuesday night with State Rep. Bob Hattaway of Altamonte Springs and Rep. Vince Fechtel of Leesburg, members of the Seminole state legislative delegation.

Rep. Fechtel this morning declined to take a position on the county commissioners' objections to draft legislation. "At the last meeting (of the state legislative delegation) there was no public testimony. We took (the proposal) home to read it.

"The three entities should try and work out their problems. If they can't, the state legislative delegation will just have to cope with the situation," Fechtel said.

Altamonte Springs city officials Tuesday erected sign to indicate construction has begun on the $1.25 million public safety complex adjacent to the city hall on Economic Development Administration.

Altamonte Waives Fees

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The Altamonte Springs City Commission Tuesday evening on a 4-1 vote agreed to waive $200 per unit in drainage and inspection fees to Guardian Mortgage Co. for the development of the Country Creek planned unit development in the extreme southwestern section of the city.

Only Commissioner Cal DeVony voted against the waiver, insisting it was not fair to other citizens in the city nor other developers.

DeVony said the inspections still have to be made and he couldn't understand why the fees for the inspections should be waived.

Mayor Norman Floyd explained that the commission in a workshop with Dennis Sanders of Guardian last Friday agreed to the waiver in consideration of the original developer having donated nearly 90 acres of property to the city.

DeVony had not attended the workshop because of other commitments, he said.

Commissioner Sandra Glenn said an agreement with the original developer was that sewer and water connection fees of $500 per unit would be paid and these fees will be levied. Floyd said the reduction will be allowed only on the 100 single family homes currently planned in the project.

In other business, the Commission accepted on the advice of Consulting Engineer Bill Palm of Glace and Radcliffe the low bid of Bryant Electric, a North Carolina firm, at $248,710 for the Crane's Road sub-basin pumping station and force main drainage project.

Palm said his firm will prepare contract documents for the project.

The commission agreed to use federal revenue sharing funds, not to exceed $50,000, to extend and loop water lines into the western portion of the city to the Lake Lotus water plant.

Floyd said cost of the expansion will probably be one-third less than estimates because city crews doing the work will not have to bore and jack under SR41, but will be able to cut the road for the installation of lines instead.
