

Point Of View:

A Year Of Flip, Cavett, 'Sesame'

By DONALD FREEMAN
HOLLYWOOD — What kind of a year was it? It was the year of "relevance" on the tube, a year of "Sesame Street" and the For-eyes and the split of Huntley and Brinkley and a very good year for Dick Cavett, who entered the late-night talk show skirmishing in his own way, which is disarming, ingratiating, extremely polite, occasionally self-conscious and given to pleasant irony and a self-deprecating wit.

On his opening monologues, for instance, Dick introduced himself with the following: "I'm fatter than Chet Huntley, taller than Mickey Rooney and as pure and honest as Ne-work, N. J."

It was the year of "Nancy" and "Matt Lincoln" and "Arnie" and poor Tim Conway, who was president of doing his Christmas show at the start of his ill-fated season. But it was also the year of Jim Wilson and "The Odd Couple" and, the able hitter he ever opposed, Mary Tyler Moore Show.

It was the year of pro football on ABC of a Monday night and Keith Jackson and Dandy Don Meredith and Howard Cosell, who introduced a "very table plethoria" into the language in sheer likability, the "I wanted to pitch to him from second base," said Mungo, "but they said no."

It was, of course, the year of Women's Lib and Frank Reynolds recalled the story about these two affronts of the "Honor America Day" telecast on Public Broadcasting. Hope was the target of some hecklers in the audience.

She knows what she's doing! — It was the year of "The Young Rebels" and "The Young Lawyers" and "The Interns" and also the year of the "Sun City Scandals," with Benny Davis and The Impressos and Gloria Swanson and Edward Everett Horton and Edie Peabody, both of whom have since taken their final bows, a show which demonstrated that talent doesn't necessarily fade with the years.

For Bob Hope it was, typically, a full and good year. An emcee of the 2 1/2-hour "Honor America Day" telecast on Public Broadcasting, Hope was the target of some hecklers in the audience.

Will Attempt To Resolve SST Controversy

Congress OKs $66.6 Billion Defense Spending Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bickering 91st Congress scheduled another attempt today to resolve the controversy that may yet keep it in session as long as the law allows: the future of the supersonic transport plane.

While the House and Senate settled one major problem Tuesday night by passing a $66.6-billion defense appropriations bill, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said "there's still a long tunnel ahead."

Mansfield said it appears Congress will have to keep working into the weekend, and possibly until a Sunday—the final moment the 91st can do business.

After that, the Constitution says the Capitol belongs to the new Congress, which actually doesn't plan to meet until Jan. 3.

The Senate Tuesday tabled, thus killing a compromise $7-billion transportation appropriations bill that includes $210 million to subsidize the airplane. The Senate earlier had voted to spend nothing at all.

That action prepared the way for a new conference with the House, which first voted $290 million for the SST and then accepted the conference recommendation of $210 million.

The Senate expanded to nine men its negotiating delegation, adding Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chief SST foe and Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., who favors the plane.

But it appeared unlikely the new conference would even begin work before tonight. The House recessed until evening while many members attended the funeral of Rep. L. Mendel Rivers in Charleston, S.C.

Anyway, Senate members of the initial conference said they don't see the road of talks will do much good.

Proxmire said if the dispute isn't settled, he will filibuster against the SST to the end of the session.

In other work it did finish Tuesday, the Senate passed, 81 to 0, a massive increase in Social Security benefits—but that bill appeared to be foundering in the new House.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said it will be impossible to work out a compromise for passage this Congress.

The Social Security bill would give 26 million Americans a $6.5-billion increase in benefits, and provide another $1 billion in welfare assistance for the aged, the blind and the disabled.

The House passed, 234 to 13, the massive defense money bill, and the Senate sent it on to the White House. 70 to 2. Votes against it were cast by Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., both defeated for re-election.

That bill had been stalled in controversy over restrictions on the use of U.S. combat forces in Southeast Asia outside South Vietnam.

The final version bars use of American ground forces in Laos and Thailand, but permits U.S. financial support for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia and Laos. An earlier bill forbids troops or advisers into Cambodia introduction of U.S. ground troops.

Editorial Comment

Relations, City Officials And Press Clarified

The following editorial from The Charlotte Observer expresses the general opinion of The Sanford Herald on this subject that we are reprinting it with a bow to the Observer and a strong recommendation that our readers give it thoughtful consideration: The President and the Congress get most of the front page headlines, but for most citizens City Hall is where the action is. Yet local government is probably the least understood of all — due in large measure to a frequent antagonism between local public officials and the community's working press. This hit home recently as we looked over the December issue of Public Management, a magazine published by the International City Management Association. The issue was devoted to trying to strike a balance between the communications role of City Hall and the working press. Both must work together, at least to a degree, if citizens are to get the kind of honest, factual information they need to monitor local government. The idea of telling the community what local government is doing is a two-way street, of course, calling for considerable give-and-take between city officials and the working press. It should not come at public expense. Too often, it seems, officials and the press are making opposing statements about one issue or another, as part of the cat-and-mouse game, and in the process the whole story never gets told. At other times, the press merely parrots the words of city administrators without question. In both cases the public is the loser, while the press and City Hall share equal blame. In the interest of trying to lay out some common ground on which city administrators and the press might stand to better serve the public, Public Management offers some points we have sought to summarize. First the views of public officials as to what the press must do: —Assign trained reporters to local government beats, reporters whose competency in urban affairs resembles that of the professional administrators. —Accept the fact that modern governments, both large and small, operate with a considerable degree of efficiency in such areas as personnel, finance, engineering and administration. This new professionalism, coupled with a computer technology, has cut down the earth-shaking, sensational type of news story arising out of favoritism, mispending and incompetence. The press must take more time to develop thoughtful, probing stories that go beyond the daily or weekly meetings and hearings. —Highlight (in newspapers) major public issues through the use of more dramatic layout and display, and by presenting essential facts and figures in a clear, concise format. Provide sufficient space—or broadcast time—to get the full story about local government to the people in an accurate and unbiased report. On the other side of the fence, the press offered these views about how city administrators can meet their responsibilities: —Do not force reporters to use Sam Spade or Willie Sutton tactics in their job of gathering routine information. City administrators are not corporate executives. Their policy decision and deliberations proceeding them require public review, while any studies or reports made with tax money must be made public. —Hold periodic "briefings" for reporters that be available for follow-up stories. Briefings should be held by the chief administrator in a fairly small government or by various department heads in a larger one. —If a reporter has "half a story," make sure that he is informed as much as possible about its accuracy before it is published or broadcast. This might mean giving the whole story, but so be it. Irrevocable damage is done to the community when the initial report on any issue is incomplete, inaccurate or misleading. —A final point in all this comes from Roger Flaherty of Lerner Newspapers in Chicago. Writing in Public Management, Flaherty said: "Public officials should ponder the effects of attacks on the media. The spirit of Agnew is across the land, as with increasing frequency public officials blame the media for riots, radicals and student unrest. "The news media should be observed and criticized when unfair or incompetent, but reporters sense that the recent spate of attacks on their performances are thinly disguised attempts at intimidation. It is difficult to separate the needs of a reporter doing his job from the needs of a populace in being well-governed."

We Object, Too!

John W. McCormack was one of the poorest Speakers the House of Representatives ever chose. He was a weak leader, an old pro of the Boston school who believed in taking care of friends whatever their sins, and by negligence or worst he permitted the influence of his office to be peddled by other men for cash fees. But when McCormack retires from Congress next month he will get not merely the extravagant testimonials which accompany any departing member. He will also collect about $35,000 a year in special perquisites, authorized by a grateful House. His going-away gifts will include a secretary and an aide, at salaries of about $11,000 a year each, and office allowances of approximately $500 a month for the next two years. He will also draw from the Congressional retirement fund, to which members contribute a part of their salary, a pension of about $44,000 a year. If members of the House who had received favors from the Speaker wished to make up a pot to provide him the luxury of an expense-free office and staff for the next two years, we'd have no objection. But this money comes from us, the taxpayers. We object. —The Tampa Tribune

Now The Earth

Scientists down at Houston's Manned Spacecraft Center have developed a way to manufacture water and oxygen on the moon's surface. They take moon soil, win hydrogen, which produces steam. They then condense the steam, providing pure water. Pure, clean oxygen for future moon dwellers. Now maybe they can work out a way to manufacture some of the same for earth dwellers who haven't had pure water and clean air for years. —Dallas (Tex.) Morning News

Hal Boyle Says:

Annoying New Year's Remarks

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that annoy people who make New Year resolutions: "How do you feel in your new hair? I don't think they carried them in your size." "I give him two weeks, and then he'll be worse than ever." "What good does it do to give up two bad habits one month if you come up with three more bad habits the next month?" "I agree that you've got plenty of willpower, Harry. What you lack, I think, is won't power." "If you were really serious about two of those resolutions, you'd start right now by throwing that carton of cigarettes out the window and pouring all the liquor in the house down the sink." "Better take it a bit easy, Mike. If you give up all your bad habits now, what will you have left to give up for Lent?" "You know what I wish you'd resolve, Horace? I wish you'd resolve to get up enough courage to ask your boss for a merit raise. How long do you think we can live paying this year's prices with last year's incomes?" "I know a fellow who gave up all his vices at the same time, and the very next week he just keeled over." "kerf!" His system couldn't stand up under the shock." "One thing about you, Pat: at least you won't have to resolve to get more exercise during 1971. You got all the exercise you need just climbing on and falling off the water wagon." "I hear you've made up your mind to get more culture this year. Bill. Does this mean you're going to watch the LAW-tence Walk program more often?" "All I want Esmeralda to resolve was this: that everytime she feels like giving her views on the international situation at

Don Oakley Says: "Voice Of Youth"

By DON OAKLEY, NEA Editorialist. In the view of Senator-elect Robert A. Taft Jr., R-Ohio, the Supreme Court's upholding of the Voting Rights Act amendment of 1970 giving the vote to 18-to-20-year-olds in presidential elections "should encourage both political parties to listen to the concerns of youth and to respond meaningfully." Indeed, they should listen to the under-21s, regardless of the franchise, just as they should listen to all Americans. It remains to be seen, however, whether they will heed the "voice of youth" any more than that of any other category of voters. It was a long time after the 14th and 15th Amendments to the Constitution before the parties began listening to black voters. In the half-century since the 19th Amendment, they have never given special attention to women. This is not because the political parties are deaf; they have very acute hearing. But what they hear is this: In the 1968 election, in the four states in which under-21s could vote—Georgia, Kentucky, Alaska and Hawaii—only 33 per cent of the youths eligible to go to the polls did so. In the same election, nation-

Lowered Hopes On SALT

By STEWART HENSLEY, UPI Diplomatic Reporter. WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration's high hopes for rapid progress toward agreement with Russia on limitation of strategic nuclear weapons have diminished considerably in recent months. As recently as last May, President Nixon had predicted that an agreement of some sort would be reached. He indicated that he did not think it would be too long in coming. Now, however, with the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) received until March 15, top administration officials acknowledge that the negotiations have not gone nearly so well as they hoped. Secretary of State William P. Rogers told a news conference last week that the SALT talks have "not proceeded as fast as we hoped they would." He added, however, that he still thought there were still "some prospects for progress in the future." At the same time, a high White House official said the administration was "not disheartened that progress has not been spectacularly rapid." This was the same official who as recently as August was "confidently optimistic" that things were moving toward an agreement. The administration position now appears to be best summed up by Rogers' statement that he was "neither optimistic nor pessimistic." The Nixon administration began the nuclear arms limitation talks with Russia in November, 1969, with the idea of presenting a simple proposal to

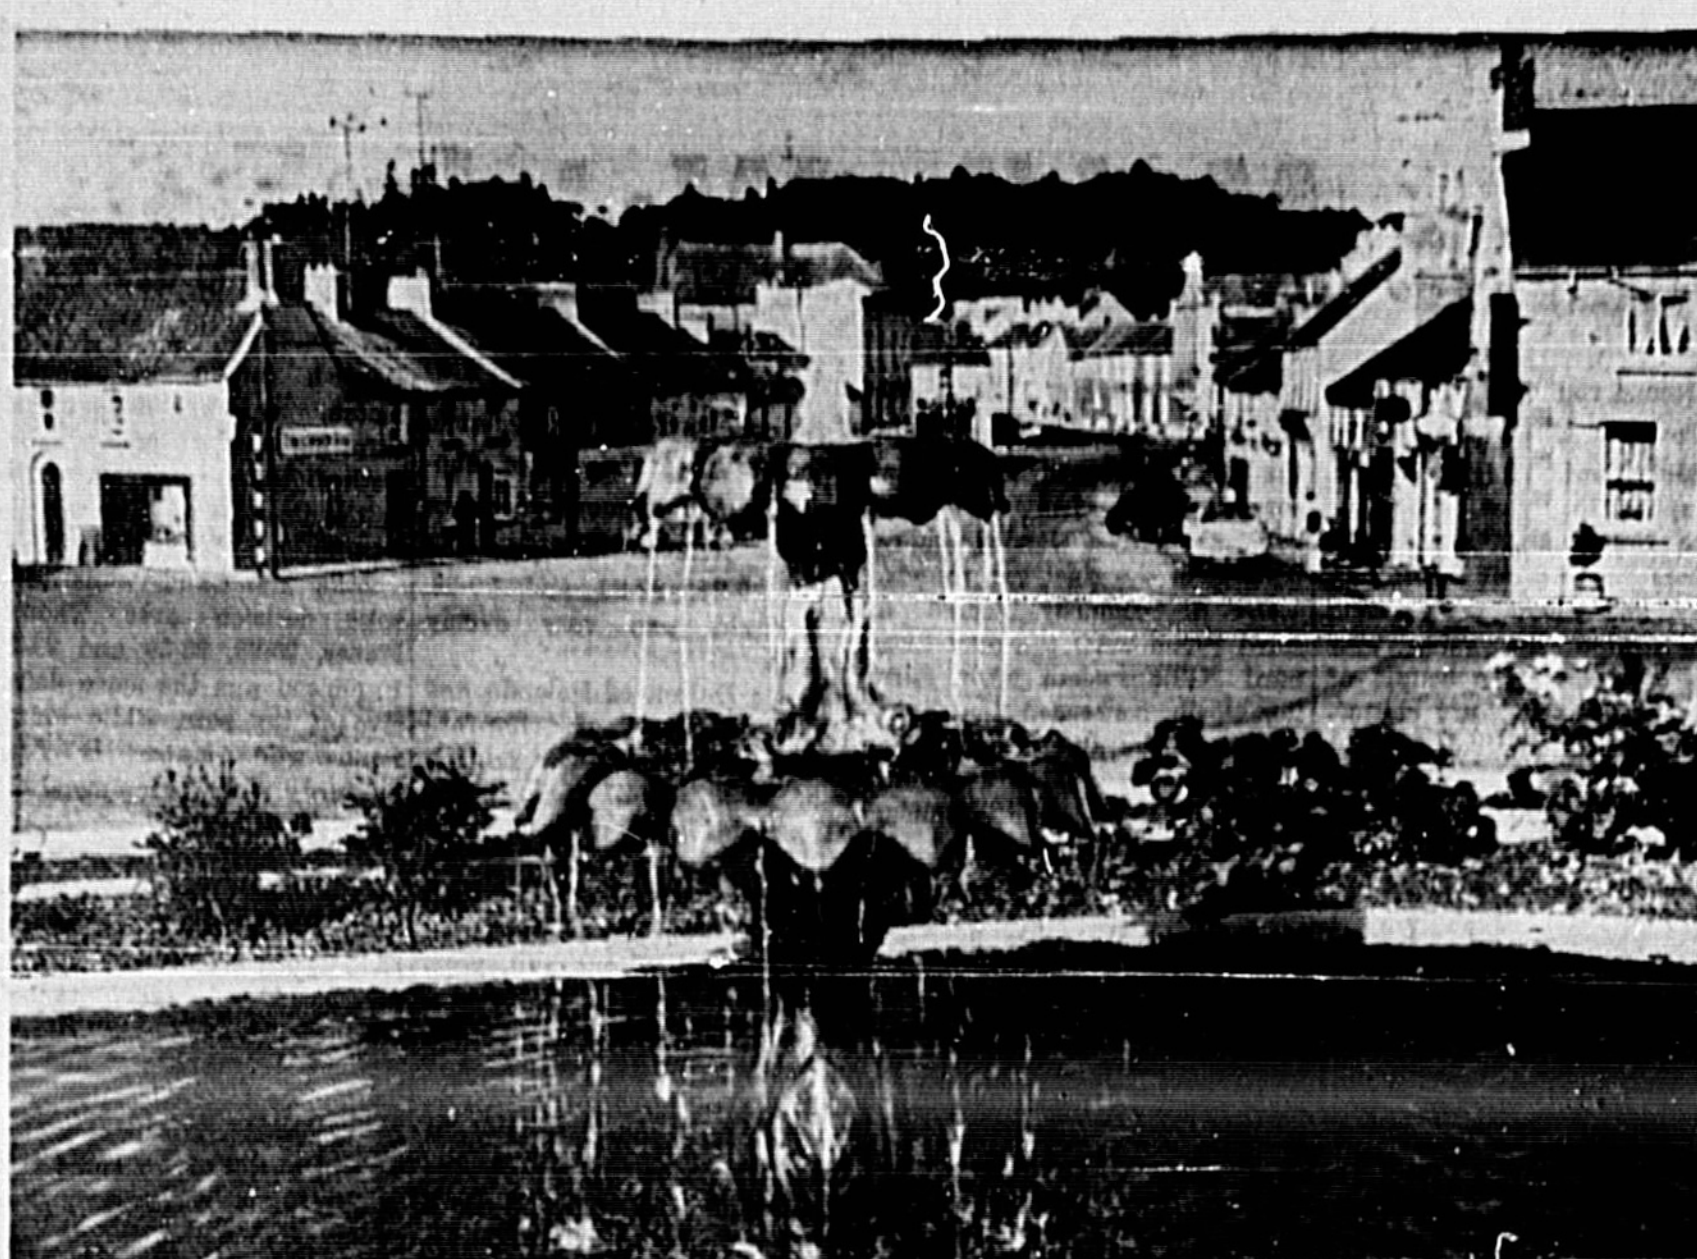

Global Comment:

Soviet-Cuban Relationship

By K. C. THALER, LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union and Cuba are getting closer together again after a prolonged period of marked coolness bordering on estrangement. Delegations have been coming and going between Havana and Moscow and a new trade arrangement has been negotiated involving new Soviet commitments. Fidel Castro, fiery and independent-minded, has been in ideological conflict with Moscow over the past year or two. He has been arguing with the Kremlin in favor of his own special brand of communism and on occasions has demonstrated his disagreement with the Soviets by staying away from major functions in Moscow. There was a time when he was leaning over to the side of Mao Tse-tung. But he soon cooled off noticeably, resenting Peking's attempts to tell him what to do and how to do it. More recently the Cuban pendulum has swung back again toward Moscow. The Kremlin evidently is relieved by the shift, has lost little time in rebuilding old links and re-opening former channels. To what extent recent Soviet military moves — which sparked reports of plans for Russian nuclear submarine bases in Cuba — are part of the new Soviet-Cuba cooperation is a matter for diplomatic speculation.

Southern Island: Land Where Traffic Is Oddity

By GORDON IRVING, Copley News Service. KILLARNEY, Ireland — The tourist seeking a vacation country where traffic jams are practically unknown will find a "paradise" in Southern Ireland, a land where you can still drive for miles without passing a single automobile. "Sure and we don't go mad like other folks over motor-cars!" laughed an old Irishman in Ballyjamesduff, in County Cavan. "Why should we? It's still a pleasure here to walk on your own two feet, or to take a ride on a bicycle." "American tourists tell us this is a dream country for the driver. You can travel quietly, slowly and leisurely, and nobody hoots a horn and keeps you moving on. And there are picnic spots by the hundreds." "Many tourists choose to zig-zag across Ireland, viewing the old Irish tradition of showing this bit of ancient history, and sleeping and eating in authentic castles. The total number of roads in Ireland has not been counted, but they make up over 30,000 miles of well-marked highway. Here, in the Republic of Ireland, the quota is one automobile to every five miles of road. Statisticians making traffic surveys, in fact, have to go to the bigger towns and in Dublin you will find traffic lights, and those keep up, delightfully, the old Irish tradition of showing green for "go ahead" for as long as possible. It adds pleasure to the motorist's pleasure. If you pause to ask for directions, take it easy. The average Irishman is a hospitable fellow, slow of speech

Book Circulation At Deltona Library

By ELLA MAY FRAZER, DELTONA — Circulation of books at the Deltona Public Library is increasing. If one is not already a borrower, become one! Look to the Carnegie Foundation, National Geographic magazine in bound volumes is available for many years back. There is also much recent fiction, as well as the old standbys. The library is open in the winter season Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Volusia County bookmobile comes every Tuesday to Deltona Plaza. This is a help, but cannot be considered a "permanent arrangement" for library services. This mobile unit does not provide the stability a library provides for young people as well as adults. It is interesting to consider Andrew Carnegie's gift to his fellow-man — libraries by the thousands, as long as the Carnegie Foundation lasted. These libraries still stand. Many have been expanded several times, with an appreciation of what a local library adds to a community, but more than look to the Carnegie Foundation, money for libraries comes from a quiet, comfortable well-attended board, long forward to a library building to meet the needs of Deltona. That need today goes way beyond mere "books," although they are vital. Also needed are "reading rooms," research area and children's department. The library could join the Volusia County Library Association from which it could receive some valuable services, but at present it does not qualify because of lack of space and limited possibilities. Membership in the Library Association by every Deltona home would help the community to become informed, edified, knowledgeable, and up-to-date. Every home in Deltona was recently reached with a letter explaining various types of membership.

Called Revolution

LONDON (AP) — John Cardinal Heenan, Archbishop of Westminster, would like young people to see films of the notorious Nazi concentration camp at Belsen each year. "They should be allowed to see what was done in the name of national purity and eugenics by 20th century man and woman," he said in giving the Marlow lecture at the London School of Economics. Often, he said, youth loudest in condemning world war were the most powerful agents for its renewal. "They call it revolution," he said. But translated into terms of torn flesh and streaming blood it means murder, rape and arson.

MRS. LOUIS LUDWIG, Head Librarian of the Deltona Public Library now situated in the Little Red School House next to the Deltona Community Center building. The Library Membership Drive is still in full swing, to help Deltona get more space in a location more convenient to the area residents.

Kirk Scrambles To Fill 11 Circuit Judgeships

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Lame duck Gov. Claude Kirk scrambled Tuesday to fill four of 11 circuit judgeships he claimed were created by the 1970 census — a bonus of two. The official census for Florida was 8,190,443-17,444 more people than the preliminary count released by census bureau officials in July. "We figured there would be nine judgeships open on the basis of the preliminary census," Kirk's executive assistant Lloyd Haganman said. "But this means two more." Unexpected recipients of an additional circuit judge each will be the 1st and 12th judicial circuits. The 1st includes Escambia, Okaloosa, Santa Rosa and Walton counties; the 12th DeSoto, Manatee and Sarasota. The first four 12,300-a-year circuit judges included three Republicans — one a 29-year-old woman — and a Democrat, all in South Florida. Named to the 11th circuit, Dade County, were industrial claims court Judge Rhea P. Grossman, 29, of Miami Beach, a Republican; Miami Springs city attorney Thomas A. Testa, a Republican; and Democrat George Reubin Askew, certified to Kirk yesterday by telegram. Kirk immediately began making appointments based on his apparently eyes before Census Bureau Director George E. St. Lacie counties. The 20th circuit includes Charlotte, Collier, Glades, Hendry and Lee counties. However, Robert Drury, deputy director of the Census Bureau in Washington, said Florida's certification procedure was fair. A Supreme Court source said the change was good; the court would review the case, Senate President Jerry Thomas and House Speaker Richard Potts also contend the job should not be filled until after the 1971 session has a chance to consider pertinent legislation. Kirk's appointments came 24 hours after legislative leaders asked the state Supreme Court to reconsider its 6-3 decision holding that Kirk could name the judges. Kirk's certification was pretty much routine. 'Bleached Blonde' Appointed Judge

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Rhea Grossman is the only circuit court judge in Florida who will be addressed as "her honor." She's also probably the only one with bleached blonde hair and a husband. At 29, Judge Grossman will be the youngest person — and the first woman — in modern history to preside over a circuit court in Florida. "I got a call from the governor's office Monday night, asking me to come to Tallahassee," she said. "When I went there, they used to win some football games." Gov. Claude Kirk to be a Judge in the Industrial Claims Court. Before that, she practiced law for three years on Miami Beach. "I graduated from the University of Miami law school in 1964," she said. "When I went there, they used to win some football games."

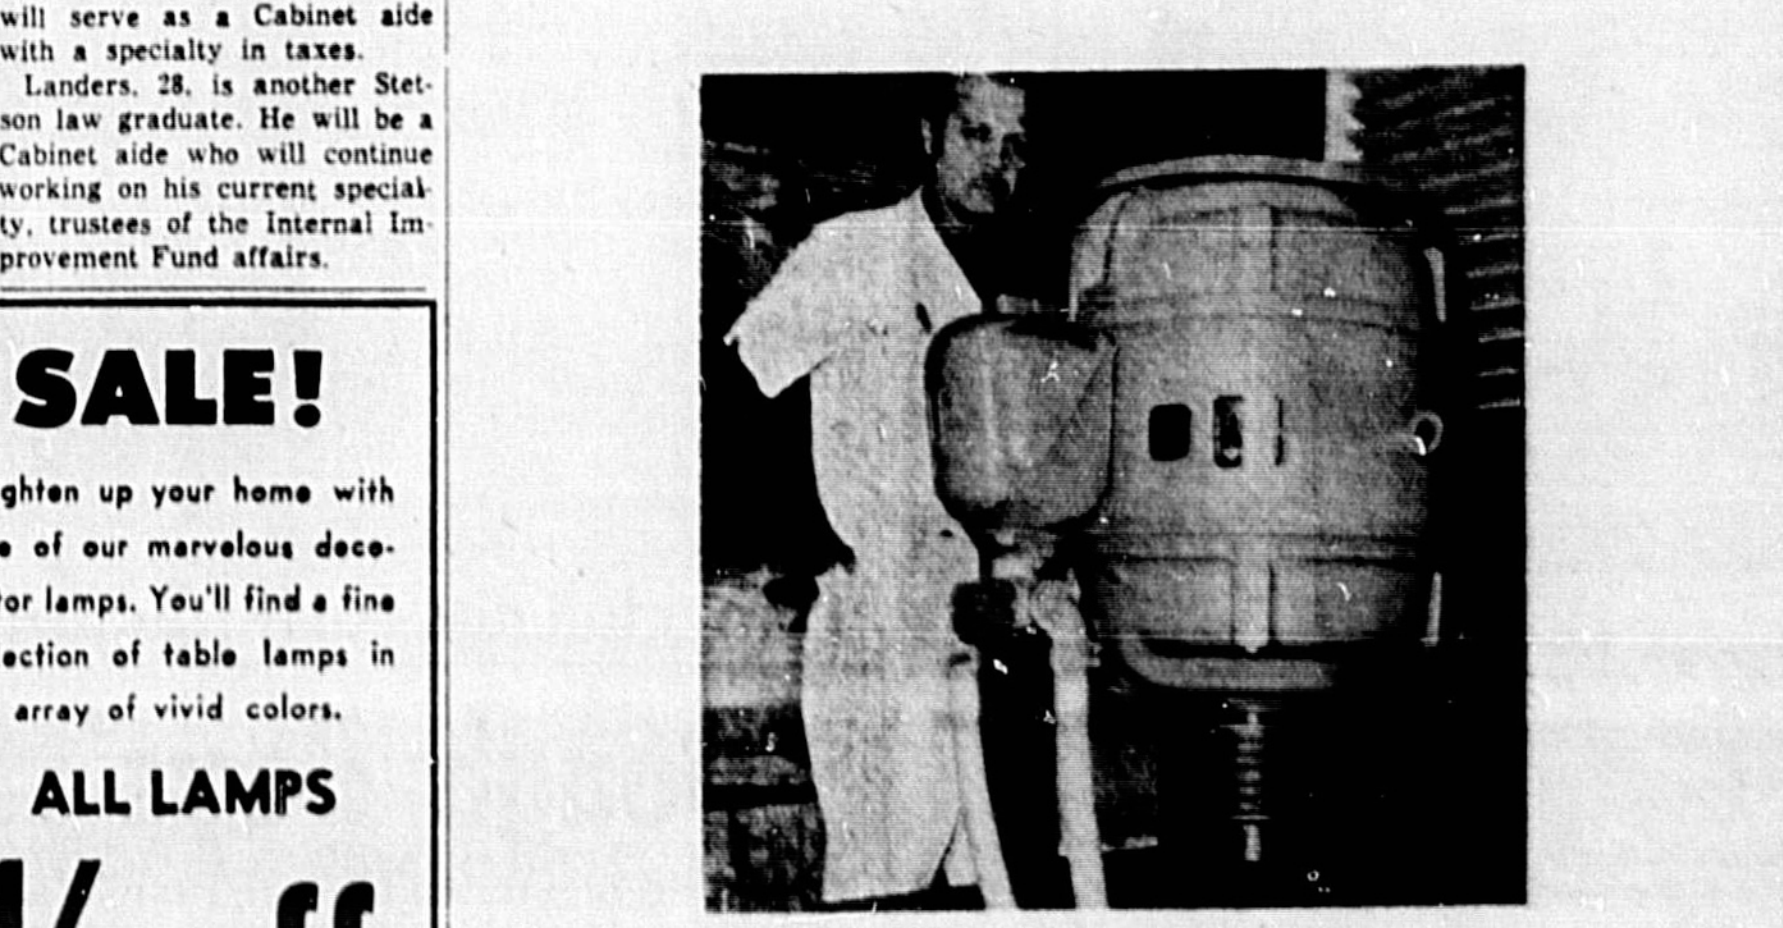

Young Men Appointed By Askew

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Gov.-elect Reubin Askew and Lt. Gov.-elect Tom Adams will share the same staff of aides, most of them veterans of Adams' Army, aide to Jim Smith said Tuesday. Smith said five young men, in their 20s or early 20s, who have worked for Adams in the secretary of state's office have been appointed to Askew's inner circle of aides. In circuit court, Judge Grossman will hear a variety of cases, including some involving capital offenses, crimes that could carry the death penalty. "I don't have any qualms about it," she said. "It's been a long time since anyone was executed in Florida and I think the death penalty will soon be declared unconstitutional. But if it's the law, I could do it if I said so." A Republican, Judge Grossman was appointed last year by

Strikes And Spares

BY JOHN A. SPOLSKI

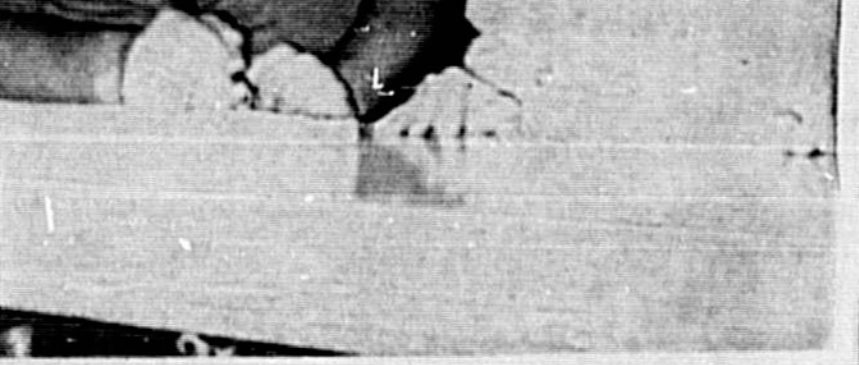

Just as was predicted in an earlier column... the bowlers waited to enter right up to the square time, but we did have more than enough to really make it worthwhile.

I'm speaking of the Youngster-Adult Tournament held at the lanes this past Saturday. There were two full squads at 3 and again at 5 p.m., permitting us to enlarge upon the original intention of only first and second place trophies to include still another position, down to the third slot.

A great big salute to the team of Jimmy Carver (adult) and Charles Vargo for winning the top spot with their combined 1,138 series, including handicap.

Second and third places went to Gordon Lynch (adult) and Jim Link - 1,133 series; Reggie Sigmon (adult) and Joe Brister - 1,121.

There were also three individual prizes for the youngsters; and here again it took into consideration their handicap as well.

TOURNAMENT winners Jimmy Carver and Charles Vargo.

For the second consecutive year, Danny Dougherty won the high game with handicap by bowling a 205 scratch game, plus his 23 pins handicap - setting him a 228 game. Second and third places went to Jim Shepherd 191, plus 37 pins handicap for a 218; and Ricky Payne 201, plus 14 pins for a final of 215.

What really caught my eye... in addition to the obvious of so many adults willingly teaming up with some youngster to help build this into one of our better annual tournaments... was the bowling of some of the adults, too.

Take the case of Brenda Lewis. Had this been a four or a five game series, there's no telling what Brenda's ultimate high game would have been cause she was just getting warmed-up... or so it would seem.

Her first game was a 138; second, a 190; and then for a finale she really was "striking along," and finished with a 224. Add 'em all together and you'll see it's a 722... or a 190 average.

And if you're the type who thrives on statistics, there were only eight 300 games or higher rolled in this event... Jack Kaiser 302, Gordon Lynch 312, Rociwy Payne 301, Reggie Sigmon 298, Danny Dougherty 306, Brenda Lewis 224, Ed Lee 209 and Spilski with a 223.

A Night To Remember

It's had enough when your first game of the night isn't exactly what you were hoping for... but when the first two or three frames of your second game give an indication that even this one might be worse... well, that's when we bowlers all start praying AND GUESSING.

You guess that maybe you're not following thru... or not bending at the foul line... or moving a spot? ... And that's when things usually turn progressively worse.

That's what happened with Bill Kinney of the Monday evening Florida State Bank Mixed League. Kinney started with a 172, and then the split ripped up in the second game and he finished with a 145.

Fortunately, this tale has a happy ending cause in the third and final game, Kinney resolved all of his problems and went home smiling with a 233 game.

Some of the others from this league who did well were Bob Morgan with a rousing 225-259, Don Myers 182, Bill Carter 186, Ken DeLoring 174, Phil Varner 162, Joe Pauline 175 and Bill Varner with a 191.

ACTION UNDER THE BASKETS was hot and heavy last night at Rollin's Enyart Alumni Field House in the Tangerine Bowl Basketball Tournament. A scuffle between Stetson's Bob Mack and Seton Hall's Bill McCrea for a rebound ended in ejection for both of the players despite opposition from both the benches. Both of Florida's entries in the tourney, Stetson University of Deland and host team Rollins College of Winter Park, met defeat. They will meet in a consolation contest tonight at 7 p.m. at Enyart Alumni Field House with the two winners, Ohio University and Seton Hall, clashing in the championship title immediately following. # Red-Haired Teen-Ager Rodeo Circuit Veteran

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mary Jane French is a pretty, red-haired teen-ager who last year hauled her horse, Ducky, 80,000 miles around the country to compete in 120 rodeos.

"I've been in rodeo as long as I can remember," the 16-year-old Fort Myers girl says. "I guess I'll ride as long as I'm able. It's the only thing I know."

Last year, Mary Jane was the runner-up for the barrel racing championship of the International Rodeo Association. She was in West Palm Beach for the Loretta Lynn Lonzhorn World Championship Rodeo.

On occasion, she finds herself on the back of a bucking bronco or steer.

"I really only do that in all-girl rodeos," she says. "Actually, my event is barrel racing. That's the only thing they let women ride in except in all-girl rodeos."

In barrel racing, the contestants race against time in a slalom course around three barrels.

As Mary Jane stood beside Ducky, a lot of admiring glances lingered on the girl's trim figure in a purple, sequined riding outfit.

"My father was a barrel racing rider, and he has a ranch. I guess I've been around horses about all my life," she says. "I'm riding when I was three and breaking horses when I was seven. I've been riding in rodeos since I was eight."

Rodeo life can be a grind, Mary Jane says, adding, "You have to like to travel if you're going to like to rodeo."

She is completing high school through correspondence courses.

Asked about social life and boyfriends, she replies, "I wish I'll marry a rodeo guy. I'm a rodeo person and I'll ride as long as I can. I like rodeo people."

"I think it's that they stick together. When somebody goes with you, they go with you," she says.

Mary has her own car and hauls Ducky along behind in a trailer.

She patted the horse and said, "Ducky's part thoroughbred and part quarter horse. You've got to have at least part quarter horse for sense."

"Ducky lets me know it when he's mad, and if I whipped him he'd scrub me against the barrels," Mary Jane says.

She looked at the horse for a moment and said, "No, I guess he's not so dumb after all."

Chaos On Court At T-Bowl Tourney

By LARRY NEELY

WINTER PARK—An announcer probably never played a more important role in keeping the peace than he did last night at Enyart Alumni Field House at Rollin College, the site of the Tangerine Bowl Invitational Basketball Tournament.

During the first game of the evening, between Seton Hall Pirates and the Stetson Hatters, on several occasions many of the fans were ready to eat alive the officials of the game, Larry Osborne and Julius Sneed of Atlanta. Only an explanation by the refs through the announcer over the PA system prevented a melee from occurring.

The mistake into the first half Seton Hall coach Bill Raftery came off the bench in a storm of fury after the Pirates' Ken House was called on for a foul three times. Raftery vented his anger on Osborne and the other official, Sneed, raced over and called technical foul on the Seton bench.

Only minutes after the first technical assessed, both benches were up with the official decision and Seton coach Glenn Wilkes went so far as to suggest to the Pirate coach, Seton Hall's Bill McCrea, that he take up Clark's "appraisal."

During that trip, which saw Tech win five of six games, the Knights of Clark, who known as Knights of Pygmas, were nothing short of remarkable in their ability to draw fouls and have them acknowledged by the fellows with the whistles.

In six games the Knights were awarded 206 free throws for an average of "only" 34.3 per game! That would be an astounding figure for a team if it was playing on its home court where a "home cooking" foul is observed quite often.

But to average that many free chances per game away from home is nothing short of fantastic. Drawing the foul is only half of the battle, the other matter where they play.

New Serum Shows Results For Rabies

By PAUL KERN LEE
Associated Press Writer
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A new antirabies serum derived from the blood of humans has shown promising results in providing safe temporary protection from the disease, a research team reported today. Scientists at the University of California at Davis and Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley said it supplements, rather than replaces, the vaccine devised 45 years ago by Louis Pasteur as man's only weapon against a dread disease which, once contracted, has been almost universally fatal. Dr. John C. Lofthouse, senior virology professor, said in an interview that in year-long experiments involving 40 subjects, the temporary material "has proved very effective."

WALLA WALLA, Wash. Their efforts underlined by a Senate resolution asking for presidential help, Jewish leaders scheduled meetings with high U.S. officials and ambassadors of other countries to marshal diplomatic pressure on the Soviet Union.

Machine Washable Wools To Bubble Forth On Spring Fashion Scene

COME THIS SPRING many wool garments will be taking to washing like a duck takes to water. Thanks to a major advance in wool shrink-proofing methods, specially treated wool knits will be fully machine washable and tumble drable, without felting, shrinkage or loss of their original qualities.

The new shrinkproof treatment was developed in 1965 by Dr. John McPhee, then with an Australian research laboratory; Dr. McPhee now heads operations at the International Wool Secretariat's Technical Centre in England.

Hand knitters can look forward to colorful, washable yarns, and the ready-to-wear industry to washable clothes.

For starters, Pendleton creates a single weight wool jersey man's shirt in pine green; Jane Irwill presents a stylish women's sweater; Cole of California designs a single knit jersey swim suit in bright red, and introduces a mini sweater and midi gaucho pants in wool knit.

Deltona Clubs Install

DELTONA — Shuffleboard is a favorite pastime of dozens of happy people in Deltona. Two Shuffleboard Clubs keep things "organized" — one, the Elgrove Club which meets in Elgrove Park; and second, the Campbell Park Club. Both held installation dinners recently.

Elgrove Shufflers met at University Inn, Deltona. Fifty members were present. Dwight Slavkins, recently voted "Citizen of the Year" in Deltona by the Deltona Post, American Legion, was on hand to attend to the installation when Fred Drew went into the presidency.

Trudy Freeman is vice president, Rae Goodman recording secretary; Everett Shim treasurer; Herbert Hubach tournament director and Joseph Collins general director.

Lyla Schmidt, outgoing president was presented with a fibreglass shuffleboard stick. "Happiness is..."

Table decor was delightfully worked out by Collette Schillo and Ann Scott.

Campbell Park Club held a dinner-dance in the Woman's Club on Normandy Boulevard, Deltona. Everyone brought gifts to exchange and played off to a good start with a wedding under the beautiful Christmas tree decorated by the Women's Club. The gay party got into a good start with a well come and "thank you" from Lou Moore, vice president.

Designate An Executor For Your Will

work closely with your family to execute the terms of your will.

Q. Is the executor paid for his services?

A. Yes, but his fee varies from state to state and generally because it is on a percentage basis, it depends on the size of the estate.

Q. What difference does it make if there is no will?

A. You lose the privilege of naming your executor, and you deprive your survivors of any legal voice in how your estate—no matter what its size—is divided, and to whom it should go. In some states, for example, if a husband dies and the law says his widow will receive one-third of her husband's estate and the other two-thirds will go to their offspring. The court-appointed executor will carry out the law.

You also lose the privilege—and deprive your survivors of it as well—of naming a guardian for minor children. If a child is a minor, a guardian will have to be appointed by the court and the widow will have to file accounts to the court periodically on the status of the child's money.

Q. Should both husband and wife have wills?

A. Yes, for several reasons. Should the wife die before her husband, a will provides the means for distribution of her goods and values in the way she wants.

Also, should the husband and wife die either at the same time or within a short time of each other, their holdings will be distributed as they wish. If, in the husband's will everything is left to a wife who dies shortly after him leaving no will of her own, the distribution of the estate will be carried out by the court according to state law.

Learn differences in grades of inspected meats. Prices vary according to grade. The six grades are prime, choice, good standard, commercial and utility. The grade is based on the general contour of the carcass, the quality, amount and distribution of fat, and the firmness and strength of meat tissue and fibers.

Q. Who appoints the executor?

A. Generally speaking, the executor is named by the maker of the will. When there is no will—the person has died "intestate"—the court will appoint an executor.

Q. Is there ever more than one executor?

A. Yes. Frequently a friend or member of the family is named as an executor, and the bank is named as co-executor. The choice should be made on the basis of competence and ability to handle money matters in or out of the job of executor.

A. Most full service banks have complete trust departments, and it is an officer in this department who would

Create A Hanging Basket For Spring

By HIBISCUS CIRCLE

As the Old Year ends and the New Year begins, thoughts turn to new ideas for our gardening pleasure.

Spring is the best time to start thinking of hanging baskets that are so very popular now. There are new baskets of galvanized wire or plastic wire and pots. Any plants that droop or will hang over edges are excellent for these baskets. It has to be lined to hold soil and to make it drain well. A basket looks better if several plants are used.

There are many plants that make beautiful hanging baskets. The following is a partial list:

1. Spider plant (Chlorophytum) in green or variegated. The stems with baby plants on the end make attractive baskets.
2. Lantana camara is tough, withstands heat and sunbath. They like the sun and trail well. There are many colors.
3. Sedum of many forms make a nice basket. Caret and succulents, Thanksgiving and

IS BED REST GOOD FOR A COLD?

Advice to the common cold sufferer generally varies very little. Physicians usually advise bed rest, aspirin, and plenty of liquids. Neo-Synephrine spray or drops in appropriate strengths for infants, children, or adults are often recommended to relieve nasal congestion. Gargling to ease a sore throat, and a cough medication, have also become standard therapy.

A pamphlet from the National Tuberculosis & Respiratory Diseases Association advises the patient to go to bed and stay there at the first sniffle — if he has a good book to read, or if he enjoys television. "But for a normal, healthy adult, bed rest is not necessary unless you have a fever," according to NTA.

However, the pamphlet adds that you will be doing other people a favor if you stay away from them during the first contagious days. To help prevent complications, rest is also particularly advisable for young children, a 60 people, and persons with a serious chronic disease.

Mrs. Bird's sister-in-law Mrs. Eric Bird of Grosse Point, Mich., came on to be assistance, too, during the emergency.

The Bird's had a lovely Christmas dinner Sunday at the Alfred Lundquist's home.

The Single Folks Social Club served a turkey dinner at 1:30 last Saturday in the Deltona Community Center. A special feature of the event was the showing of color slides in the form of a Travelogue arranged by the Rev. H. Wright Kirby, pastor of the United Methodist Church of Deltona. He was assisted by Miss Genevieve Richardson of Deltona as narrator for the beautiful tour of the Holy Land they took last Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Sherertz of Providence Blvd. entertained his nephew, Charles W. Sherertz and his wife, at dinner on Christmas Day. Charles is the son of Bill's eldest brother and is now living in Deltona on Merrimac Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Segerling and Mrs. Grace Holquist made up the rest of the delightful party. The Segerlings are from Rockford, Ill. Mrs. Holquist is Ray's second cousin.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am only 13, and for a while I was looking forward to getting married some day, but since I've been reading your column, all those letters you get from married people who hate each other has made me change my mind. I am not demanding, but I will be so much fun to be grown up because adults have so many problems, like income tax, employment and politics. I don't like school too much, but I think I would rather spend my life in school than be an adult in a world like this one. People all say they want peace and they kill each other. What do you think I should do, Dear Abby?

DEAR ABBY: I think I have tried just about all the advice that has ever been recommended for a successful marriage and nothing has helped. I am about ready to "live up" to my vows. The only time her kitchen is not like a pigpen is when I help her clean it up. If I offer to take her out to dinner, she complains that it will cost too much. I buy her perfume. She doesn't use it. I buy her some sheer nightgown, but she refuses to wear it. (She says it is not appropriate for a woman to be so vain.) # Horoscope Forecast

THURSDAY, DEC. 31, 1970
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until evening take no chances in any way but make your preparations for bringing in the New Year 1971. The early evening has little influence but you can enjoy yourself in unusual pleasures. Be careful in travel. Do nothing to disturb sensitive feelings of associates.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)
Ideal day to communicate with good friends, provided you avoid a controversial subject. Attend group meetings that are really in your own element. Show that you have your feet on the ground.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20)
You can do a civic duty today that will stamp you as an excellent citizen. Don't do anything that will jeopardize your good reputation. After sun sets, you are able to have a delightful time with right companions.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)
You want to get a course of action in motion, but the morning is not good to start. Wait until evening and all goes fine. Study those new ideas you have carefully and quickly.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)
Keeping promises made early in the day is wise. Then the evening is fine for celebrating. You have important obligations to discharge in the afternoon. Do so with enthusiasm.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23)
Avoid losing your temper with an associate who irks you. All will soon blow over. Be objective in solving problem during day. The evening can then be a most happy and enjoyable one for you.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Don't neglect to get work done during the day that is important. Show appreciation to job workers for their cooperation. Join good friends in celebrations for the incoming New Year.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Be sure you do not spend over your budget during the day. The evening is best time for you to go out for recreation. Making excellent arrangements for the future is possible now. If you use good judgment with money.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21)
Use discretion in obtaining data you need from kid during day. Remove stumbling blocks in the path of your success. Evening is particularly fine for happiness activities you like.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)
Although you may want to go out for recreation, you would do well to get all that work behind you that is important. The evening is then fine for celebrating without worry with persons you want to be allied with in the New Year.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19)
You are unable to decide between personal and business duties during the day, but if you put the most important things first, all is fine. You have excellent ideas for added income, but don't confide in others. Celebrate happily this evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18)
You have much to do and personal affairs do not seem to go well during day, but keep poised. Do what you can for your time well so that you gain favor from those who count in your life. Travel with care when you are celebrating tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20)
Get busy on the last-minute matters that will help to make this a most memorable and happy New Year's Eve. Plan your New Year's resolutions carefully so that you can really keep them. Avoid arguments in the evening.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... or she will be one of those charming young people who will love people to the point of wanting to keep from working just to be with them socially, so teach to plan time in order to have a worthwhile life. Any work connected with the humanities, the arts, music or the ministry are fine here. Give the kind of education to which best suited and don't neglect the spiritual training early, either.

LONDON (AP) — Life expectancy in Britain has increased to about 69 and 75 years for men and women respectively compared to 48 and 52 years at the beginning of the century, a government report said.

We The Women:

A recent Cosmopolitan article stated that beautiful women are miserable and lonely. Actually, it didn't hint—it came right out and said it.

It seems that Elizabeth Taylor isn't as miserable as most great beauties, at least she has suspected all along. She even says she doesn't think of herself as being beautiful and wondering if the reason she agrees with her on that. Most people use the word "gorgeous." Anyway, I'm glad I read the article. It'll be more sympathic

Jacoby On Bridge

Some declarers go after every trick that isn't overtricks. They make lots of overtricks that way and win many duplicate games, but they aren't very successful in rubber bridge play.

The winning rubber bridge player doesn't play for overtricks but his main concern is to bring home his contract. An overtrick is worth 20 or 30 points. A game contract is worth several hundred.

The man who wants overtricks will win the first trick with dummy's ace of hearts, run off four trumps to see if someone will be nice enough to discard clubs.

No one is likely to help him out that way so he will discard his losing heart on the complain about the bad luck of running into a 4-2 club break and also finding the ace of diamonds in the wrong spot. He will undoubtedly point out that with good luck he would have made 12 tricks.

An expert rubber bridge player will make his contract. He will draw only two rounds of trumps while leaving the ace in dummy. Then he will cash two high clubs; ruff a low club; enter dummy with the ace of trumps to cash the last two clubs and finally lead the diamond.

He knows that when you miss five cards in a suit it will divide 2-2 some 68 per cent of the time while the chance that six cards will split 3-3 is less than 40 per cent.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D.

CASE 1-33: Mabel G., aged 38, has a universal problem. "Dr. Crane," she moaned, "my husband and I are both too fat!"

"So we are losing our interest in sports and are even growing stodgy in the romantic realm."

"Now weigh 164 while he tips the scales at 206."

"Yet when we were first married, I was a slim 120 and he was 165."

"We have tried many diets but don't seem able to reduce more than a few pounds."

"Are there any secrets for losing weight easily?"

DIETING SECRETS

Yes, there are several helpful devices that will help you lose weight easily:

So follow these medical and psychological rules:

(1) For lunch and dinner, adapt your menu to the number "111."

That means, limit your plate to just "11" meat servings! And have nothing else on the plate (no vegetables, etc.).

Then take "1" salad (tossed salad, cottage cheese, etc.).

And "1" moderate serving of dessert.

(2) Try to avoid drinking any fluids, water, tea, coffee, etc., with your meals!

For liquids help generate hunger.

That's especially true of caffeine beverages, as coffee, tea and the cola soft drinks.

(3) At restaurants, order a fish or hamburger sandwich and skip the bun or bread.

(4) At home, keep your refrigerator empty of everything except wieners, hamburger or steak, plus cottage cheese and vegetables!

Eliminate ice cream and soft drinks, too.

For the greater variety of tempting foods and beverages, the more your stomach will be satisfied.

For the stomach indirectly lets out an additional note as soon as your eyes view attractive victuals!

(5) In cool weather, try my 10-day dehydration diet where you limit your total fluid intake to but one full glass of fluids the first day; then 2 glasses the 2nd, and 3 glasses from the 3rd through the 10th day.

This dehydration will dry up some of the gastric juice of the stomach, much as it also dries the saliva in your mouth. You will thus be more interested in liquids than in food calories.

Many housewives pour that glass of water into an ice tray and, when thirsty, they suck on an ice water, which assuages thirst quite well.

You will be down at least 10 pounds by the end of the 10th day.

Cottage cheese makes an excellent salad, for it is rich in protein and on any dieting program you should be sure to eat 40 calories of protein foods daily (meat, cottage cheese, etc.) to keep your muscles replenished.

(6) Ladle your food portions on your plate in the kitchen and have no additional food on the table to tantalize your appetite.

(7) Exercise BEFORE meals, for active physical exertion kills hunger for at least 30 minutes after you quit, since more of your energy is then out in your extremities, so your stomach is less active.

Send for my booklet "How to Lose 10 Pounds in 10 Days," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

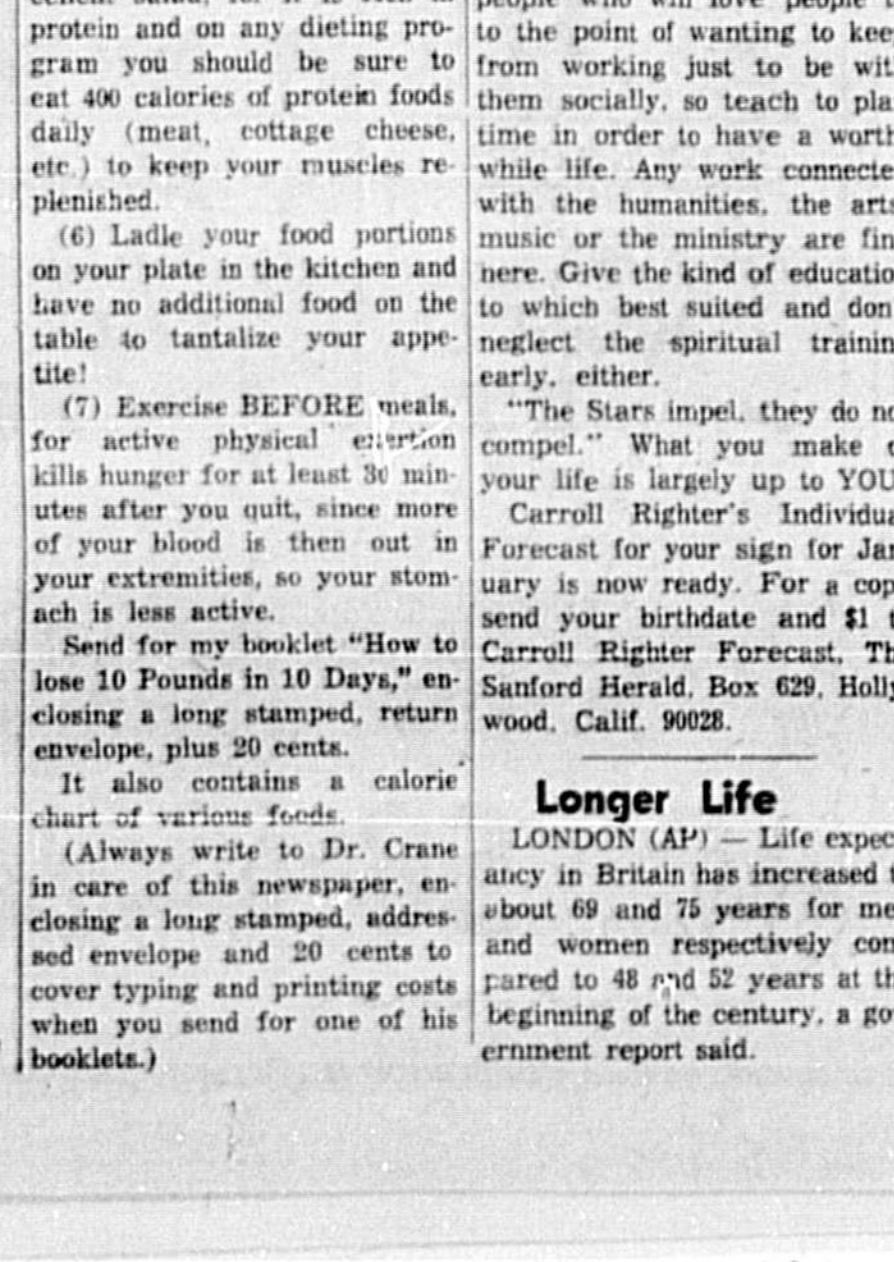

It also contains a calorie chart, various foods.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope, and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Parole Caseload Up In Seminole

By BILL SCOTT
 Caseload of the State Parole and Probation Commission's office in Seminole County increased from 154 at the beginning of the fiscal year by an additional 236 for a total 390 cases by the year's end.
 This was disclosed today by James Lee of the county office, who further stated that during the year his office conducted 374 investigations for the courts, Parole Commission, Pardon Board, Division of Corrections and co-operating interstate agencies.
 Of those under supervision of the Seminole County office, some 5.3 per cent failed to fulfill their obligations to the courts or to the Parole Commission.
 Lee relates that in the process of supervision and investigation, some 15,552 contacts were made with the individual probationers or parolees and others pertinent to the case. The number of investigations for fiscal 1970 increased by 28 per cent, Lee added.
 Citing examples of positive contributions to those under supervision locally, Lee revealed $615,296 total earnings for the year.
 During this same period supervised persons paid $6,592 in court costs; provided $17,651 for support of children living outside their households and paid restitution in the amount of $4,880 to the victims of the offenses which brought them into conflict with the law.
 Persons under supervision in Seminole County increased by 31.7 per cent over fiscal 1969 figures, Lee added.
 Lee also noted that the county office has been successful in securing the release of 1,000 inmates from the state penitentiary since 1959 when the issue first arose. Litigation began in 1961 upon the contention that Sanford had never been designated as the permanent county seat.

The World Ready To Greet 1971

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 From throwing out the crockery in Rome to counting on the year in New York, the familiar New Year's Eve rituals were set to begin today buoyed by champagne, noise-makers and the strains of "Auld Lang Syne."
 Casting aside the cares of inflation, Europeans registered heavier bookings at Continental restaurants and night clubs despite generally higher charges than last year.
 But in the United States, the economic squeeze was blamed for a reduction in advance reservations at night spots in several major cities. Some places lowered prices and a handful canceled celebrations.
 The West Coast was the major exception of the U.S. business slump, with Los Angeles and San Francisco reporting reservations going well and even some sell-outs.
 Reports from Boston, Dallas and Seattle, Wash., showed clubs reducing per person prices for New Year's Eve by as much as $10 compared to last year.
 The Pump Room in Chicago pared its prices from $29 to $33 per person for the evening "to encourage revelers in a conservative spending economy" and to start the year off with a bow to the budget minded.
 Prices were not cut at the Grand Ballroom in New York's Waldorf-Astoria hotel neither were they raised. Guy Lombardo will do his "Auld Lang Syne" thing from the hotel in a television broadcast on 145 stations.
 Elsewhere in New York, the traditional lighted ball will drop in the Times Square countdown and the city will host its third annual New Year's Eve party in Central Park, with bell ringing, music and fireworks.
 Fireworks are much the order of the mid-night hour also in Rome and Naples where Italians are prepared to end 1970 with a bang.

"Year That Was"

Court House Top Story

By MARION BETHEA
 In the year that was, probably the most important news story emanating from the county was the beginning of construction on the long awaited, long-delayed, new court house.
 On Sept. 23, County Commission Chairman John Alexander executed a contract with Green Construction Company, Pensacola, in the amount of $3,910,000 for the construction of the court house. This was the first of five facilities totaling bond issues of $2,727,500, which over a period of 20 years would have required an average annual debt service of $297,547 or $49 mills. These facilities included the Juvenile Detention Facility ($250,000); Mental Health and Incompetency Facility ($725,000); Agricultural Center ($170,000); branch office of the courthouse ($291,000); and land acquisition for park and recreation purposes ($1,680,750). Voters subsequently approved only three of the bond issues, that of the Juvenile Detention Facility, Mental Incompetency Facility and park acquisition.
BREATHING ROOM
 During the year the county acquired more "breathing room" in court house facilities with the addition of court room B which is located at Band Mail. Trials are designated as either in courtroom A in the fourth present landfill will be utilized and are often held simultaneously.
 A new face among county attaches was added with the appointment of a county planner in the personage of David Farr. Farr works in conjunction with zoning Director Robert Brown and has initiated many valuable new concepts and ideas. Along the same line, the county decided to employ an administrative assistant, and an advertisement. However, the position at the close of the year remains unfilled.
 Another innovation is the designation of the former Osceola Airfield as the county's central sanitary landfill. The four present landfills will be utilized

It Was Also . . . . Year of the BUG

By JANE CASSELBERRY
 This was a year for insects in the news. First there was the "Battle of the Flies" when ex-mayor of North Orlando Irene Van Epeol took on Seminole Turf Club, the County Health Department, and the County Commission to have something done about the flies coming from the track. Climax of the situation came when she released flies in the commission chamber and they proceeded to bite those present.
 We were really "bugged" in August and September when those nasty little Love Bugs invaded Central Florida by the billions smearing windshields and cars and doing what comes naturally in flight and in public. It had bad news for Casselberry mosquitoes last summer as the city launched an all-out campaign against the pests by purchasing fogging equipment which they mounted on the back of a truck driven around the city each night.
 The Herakl news desk always is looking for news on the brighter side, not necessarily all on the dark and gloomy side, which seems to dominate the news pages of all newspapers. Most of page 8B today is devoted to the brighter side. Read it.

Escapee Free Only Two Hours

A Seminole County jail escapee remained at large for two hours late Wednesday before he was recaptured by Deputy Ronnie Miller at an Altamonte Springs residence where he had taken refuge.

Richard Lee Phillips, 24 of 228 Bradshaw Drive, and another unidentified prisoner had been taken from the county jail to the Altamonte Springs office of Justice of the Peace Thomas Lovett for arraignment on three worthless check charges, when Phillips ran away from deputies and jumped a fence near Lovett's office to make his escape into a wooded area.
 Accompanied by Deputy W. A. Vinton, Deputy Miller began a search for the man. Acting on a tip, Miller and Vinton finally located Phillips at the Katherine Norman home at 129 Leonard Street, Altamonte Springs.
 Mrs. Norman quoted Phillips as saying to her and four children he was not going to harm anyone and asked that she not call police. However, a nearby resident reportedly saw Phillips enter the woman's house and called authorities.

Napiers Back From Funeral
 CASSELBERRY—City Council Chairman and Mrs. Thomas E. Napier have returned from Scottsville, Ky., where they attended the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Jewell Elliott, 65, of San Jose, Cal.
 She died unexpectedly Christmas Day after chosing while eating dinner in Ashland, Ky.
 Other survivors include her husband, Earl Elliott, San Jose; two daughters, Mrs. Joan Petrie, Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. Betty Jean Smith, Canandaigua, N. Y.; a sister, Mrs. Jeanne C. Dattilo, San Jose, and nine grandchildren.

Traffic Victim In 'Good' Shape
 Jeffrey Serrano, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Serrano, 119 East Woodland Drive, was admitted to Seminole Memorial Hospital Wednesday after he was struck by an auto driven by Patrick Brown Angel, 1508 Valencia Drive. Sanford police records list the mishap as occurring at the Sanford Avenue and Osceola Road intersection.
 A hospital attaché this morning reported the child is in "good" condition.
