Anti-drug rally due in Midway

MIDWAY — The Midway Citizens Against Drugs will hold a anti-drug rap contest and street dance at the Midway Community Center Saturday beginning at 5:30 p.m. Kids of all ages are invited. Hamburgers, hot dogs and drinks will be available.

City, county offices closed

SANFORD — While Labor Day was started in 1893 by organized labor unions in New York City, those who are fortunate enough to have the day off, have President Grover Cleveland to thank for making the first Monday in September a legal holiday, since 1894.

All Sanford City Hall operations will close down Monday, including the City Recreation facilities. No garbage collections will be made. Pick ups normally scheduled for Monday will be made on Tuesday, and Tuesday pick ups will be moved to Wednesday. The schedule will then return to normal.

In Lake Mary, all city government facilities will be closed. Those areas where regular Monday garbage pick ups are scheduled will not have service until Thursday.

City offices in Longwood will be closed, but a spokesperson for Industrial Waste Services said garbage pick ups in the city will go on as scheduled.

As is the case for all federal holidays, all county schools will be closed Monday, including classes and activities at Seminole Community College.

Applicant arrested at interview

ST. AUGUSTINE — Philip Wilson Shreve should have thought a little more carefully about applying for a job with the county sheriff's office.

Shreve went to the St. Johns County Sheriff's Office earlier this month to apply for a job, but he was told the application he filled out was incomplete and could not be accepted.

That did not satisfy the 45-year-old St. Augustine native, so he demanded an interview with Sheriff Neil Perry. When he arrived for the meeting early this week, Shreve got an unexpected welcome from the sheriff.

He was hauled over to the county jail and locked up.

A department spokesman said it turned out that Shreve's application had provided enough information to discover that he was wanted on a 3-year-old warrant for issuing bad checks.

Shreve remained in jail Thursday in lieu of $150 bond.

Expressway 'tickled'

Millions to design 17-92 to I-4 road now due early

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County Expressway Authority may give up its watchdog role over the construction of the first 12-mile section of the tollroad through Seminole County in return for state money to design the proposed tollroad between U.S. Highway 17-92 and Interstate 4 seven years earlier than expected.

"I'm quite tickled with that," SCEA director Gerald Brinton said Thursday.

Under preliminary negotiations Wednesday with Florida Department of Transportation officials, Brinton said they were willing to advance the authority $7.3 million in return for taking over management responsibilities for the construction of the road between State Road 426 and U.S. Highway 17-92.

SCEA will oversee the environmental impacts of the construction to assure that all commitments to local environmentalists are kept, Brinton said.

The negotiations aren't final and any agreement reached between Brinton and DOT officials must be approved by SCEA members.

Brinton said Seminole County residents don't lose anything in the proposed deal. He said a previous proposal with DOT that would have put SCEA in the role of construction overseer would not have given local officials a major role in the

Governor to set priority; new era signaled for DOT

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — A new $12.8 billion roads plan signals eased relations between the Department of Transportation and the Legislature, as well as the first additions to DOT's road list since 1988, officials said Thursday.

The DOT has purged about $1 billion in projects from its master list since 1988. But this year the Legislature and Gov. Bob Martinez finally agreed on $4.3 billion in higher transportation taxes and fees, the largest single increase for public works in the state's history.

The agency was plagued by financial problems that state auditors attributed to poor management under former Transportation Secretary Kaye Henderson. Essentially, the DOT lost track of its finances and ended up promising more projects than it could deliver.

But the DOT has been regaining its credibility with lawmakers since Ben Watts took over the agency last year, said House Highway Safety and Construction Chairman Vernon Peoples, D-Punta Gorda.

"The department has established credibility with the Legislature, and that is a tremendous plus," Peoples said.

"I'm not giving the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval on the DOT," he added. "But if you want to compare it today to the way it was two years ago, it's a vast improvement."

"The transportation package really entailed more than the funding," said Senate Transportation Chairman Malcolm Beard, R-Selmer. "We had

Brevard man suspect in Gainesville killings

United Press International

GAINESVILLE — An 18-year-old University of Florida student is considered a prime suspect in the killing of five students near the campus in Gainesville this week after being arrested for beating his grandmother.

Edward Lewis Humphrey, 18, is charged with beating his grandmother early Thursday morning at her home in Indiantonic, adjacent to Melbourne on Florida's east coast. Reports published today said Humphrey had been living in Humphrey has been considered a suspect in the case since earlier in the week and was tracked to southern Brevard County by a specially equipped Florida Department of Law Enforcement airplane, sources said. He was placed in the Brevard County Jail in Sharpes on $10,250 bond.

No one is being allowed into his apartment in Gainesville, and that his fingerprints will be compared to those found in the apartments where the five students were found murdered and mutilated.

Columbia launch put on hold again

By WILLIAM HARWOOD
UPI Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — Tomorrow's scheduled launch of the shuttle Columbia has been delayed by NASA managers to no earlier than next Wednesday to fix an electrical glitch that knocked one of the ship's telescopes out of action.

The decision was announced at 10 p.m. last night after top NASA managers met to discuss whether the problem could be fixed in time for Columbia and its seven-man crew to take off early Saturday as planned.

Reviewing test data gathered earlier Thursday, William Lenoir, NASA's associate administrator for space flight, decided to put the 36th shuttle flight on hold until the trouble could be fixed.

"We're scrubbed to no earlier than Wednesday," NASA spokesman Bruce Buckingham said.

A news conference was scheduled for today to outline NASA's options for the astronomy mission.

The launch delay undoubtedly was a major disappointment to Columbia's seven astronauts, who came within six hours of blastoff May 29 only to be grounded by a fuel leak, and to the hundreds of engineers and technicians who were working around the clock to resume shuttle flights after a four-month hiatus.

But NASA managers, who have endured a summer of harsh criticism over problems with the Hubble Space Telescope and the shuttle program, opted to play it safe and to launch Columbia with its $150 million cargo of four high-tech telescope fully operational for what promises to be a

State unemployment rises

TALLAHASSEE — More than half of Florida's 67 counties reported higher unemployment rates last month than during July 1989, state officials said.

The Department of Labor and Employment Security said the July jobless rates in 34 counties were higher than the year before. A total of 33 counties reported that the number of unemployed remained the same or went down.

For the third consecutive month, Hendry County had the highest jobless rate at 17.9 percent. The lowest rate in the state was in Liberty County, where 2.2 percent of the work force could not find work.

Monroe, Alachua, Leon, Union and Franklin counties reported unemployment rates lower than 4 percent, while seven counties, including Polk, St. Lucie, Indian River, Glades, Hardee, Holmes and Hendry, said their jobless rates were higher than 10 percent.

Lotto jackpot pushed to $28 million

TALLAHASSEE — Heavy ticket sales have pushed the Florida Lotto grand prize jackpot for Saturday to an estimated $28 million.

The grand prize estimate began Sunday at $23 million after no one won the jackpot for three straight weeks. It was increased to $24 million Tuesday and pushed up to $28 million Thursday.

The week's Lotto ticket sales topped $5 million by early Thursday afternoon, compared with sales of $3.6 million at the same time last week.

Sales end at 10:30 Saturday night, with the drawing set for 11 p.m. EDT.

2 Live Crew plans TV special

Controversial rap group 2 Live Crew said it will air its first pay-per-view television special this fall, and plans to use the proceeds to fight censorship.

The so-called "Banned in the USA" concert by the Miami group is set for broadcast Nov. 8 from an as yet unnamed site in Los Angeles. The concert will be distributed by Choice Entertainment.

Promoters said it is expected to reach more than 14 million households.

Choice Entertainment President Lisa Phillips says a large portion of the proceeds from the event will be donated to the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation's Musical Majority to Fight Censorship campaign.

The rap group has drawn national attention since its album, "As Nasty as They Wanna Be," was ruled obscene in early June by U.S. District Judge Jose Gonzales of Fort Lauderdale. The judge ruled that the album, which contains sexually explicit lyrics, violated community standards.

Subsequent arrests of 2 Live Crew members and record burnings boosted the group's record sales and launched them into the national spotlight. The group followed up with the single, "Banned in the USA," a musical defense of their lyrics and their constitutional rights.

Anti-violence rapper charged with rape

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — A rap singer who once recorded an anti-violence song in honor of a slain police officer has been charged with attacking three Jacksonville women and is a suspect in a South Carolina rape.

George Allen Henderson, 28, was charged Thursday with sexual battery, aggravated assault, and rape. Henderson was arrested after a two-day investigation by Jacksonville police.

Two of the attacks occurred this month and the other happened five years ago.

Henderson allegedly abducted the women from store parking lots and raped them, police said.

Henderson, who has lived under six aliases, is also wanted by South Carolina authorities for allegedly kidnapping and raping a North Charleston woman.

Henderson and three other rappers had recorded a song titled "Stop the Violence" after Jacksonville patrolman Warren C. Sanders was gunned down in an Arlington apartment last month.

Public TV president resigns under fire

JACKSONVILLE — The president of Jacksonville's public television station has resigned under fire for taking commissions from furniture auctions designed to benefit the station.

The resignation of Fred Rebman took effect Thursday. He has been with the station for 28 years, but recent questions about $160,000 in commissions from the furniture sales led to his resignation.

Rebman also served as president of the for-profit subsidiary of WJCT-TV in Jacksonville that handled the auctions. He has gotten commissions from the sale of furniture for WJCT and other public stations around Florida.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Legal action taken against oil companies

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Attorney General Bob Butterworth accused Phillips Petroleum Thursday of selling gasoline to its independent distributors at a higher wholesale price than the retail price charged at its company-operated stations.

In a complaint to a Broward County Circuit Court, Butterworth requested an immediate injunction to halt the alleged price-discrimination practices by Phillips. He also asked the court to fine the company $5,000 for each violation.

According to Butterworth, Phillips was selling gasoline at its company-owned stations for 3 cents to 10 cents per gallon less than the price it was charging the independent operators.

The action came one day after independent station operators from south Florida held a news conference to complain about the higher gasoline prices they had to pay compared to those paid by company-owned gas stations.

The independents say they have had to pass the higher prices they have been forced to pay since the legal invasion along to consumers, causing them to lose customers as motorists search for the lowest gas prices available.

"The evidence gathered thus far suggests that independent operators and distributors could buy Phillips gas cheaper at a company-operated station than by buying wholesale direct from the company," Butterworth said.

Such actions are a violation of Florida's Motor Fuel Marketing Practices Act, he said.

"The act makes it unlawful for any retailer engaged in commerce in this state to sell any grade or quality of fuel at a retail outlet below retail cost, where the intent is to injure competition."

The action against Phillips, which is based in Oklawaha, was the first taken by the state of Florida since gas prices began to rise after the Aug. 8 invasion of Airport Director Steve Cooke, U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum and airport authority Chairman A.K. Brinkman discuss airport expansion yesterday during a tour of the airport terminal.

McCollum promises to help Sanford airport expansion

By GENE GONZALES
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — U.S. Congressman Bill McCollum, R-Water Park, promised to help the Central Florida Regional Airport achieve some of its major goals and objectives. The congressman made the promise during a tour of the airport facilities Thursday.

During a briefing with members of the Sanford Airport Authority and city officials, Airport Director Steve Cooke explained that the two major goals for the immediate future were to secure a control tower granted by the Federal Aviation Administration and a U.S. Customs Service office at the airport.

"According to a letter from the FAA," Cooke said, "they've promised to have a temporary tower in place and operational by August of next year." Cooke stressed, however, that what is really needed is a permanent tower, in a location that will serve not only the present runways but runways and taxiways proposed for the future.

"We also need U.S. Customs here," he said.

"If we expect to receive any international flights..."

Following a tour of the terminal and apron area, McCollum told the airport authority members, "What you're doing here is very impressive." Later during a wrap-up discussion, McCollum said, "I'll certainly work with you on your needs for a new tower, and see what I can do about the Customs need."

Cooke explained that the Central Florida Regional Airport, with its 2,000 acres, is twice as large as either Daytona Beach Regional Airport or Orlando Executive Airport.

"We've handled 12,000 people through charters so far," Cooke said.

The airport currently has an 8,000 foot east-west runway and a 6,000 foot north-south runway. Cooke told McCollum that construction on a new $8 million taxiway had started two weeks ago and that plans currently call for a third runway, 3,500 feet long, to be constructed in 1991.

Central Florida Regional Airport handles an estimated 225,000 flight operations, or takeoffs and landings, per year.

Analyst says Nelson done in by negative campaign

By GENE GONZALES
United Press International

Negative attacks by Democratic gubernatorial candidate Bill Nelson against opponent Lawton Chiles have apparently backfired, leading political analysts to conclude Thursday it's probably all over for Nelson.

"The news for Nelson is very bleak. Barring any dramatic change, it seems it's probably all over for Nelson," said Robert Joffe, director of the Mason-Dixon Florida poll.

Joffe's assessment was based on the statewide poll he conducted Monday and Tuesday of 530 registered Democrats, which showed former U.S. Sen. Chiles with a commanding lead of 18 percentage points over U.S. Rep. Nelson in the 30 days before Tuesday's primary. Chiles was picked by 54 percent and Nelson by 26 percent, with 10 percent undecided.

"Nelson's mistake appears to have been persisting in the attacks late in the primary campaign... when the impact of news coverage rapidly began to catch up with and surpass the impact of paid advertising," Joffe said.

Nelson's mistake appears to have been persisting in the attacks late in the primary campaign...

—Robert Joffe

Negative advertising, which can be an effective way to reach voters when media are focusing little attention on a campaign, can be devastating when accompanied by contrasting news accounts, analysts said.

Dr. David Colburn, a University of Florida history professor with expertise in gubernatorial races, agreed the poll results mean a likely loss for Nelson.

"I suspect it is over. Chiles seemed to think so in the televised debate on Wednesday," Colburn said. "He pitched many of his questions toward (Republican Gov. Bob Martinez)."

Nelson has raised questions about Chiles' use of the drug Prozac to combat depression and has attacked Chiles' financial integrity, accusing him of making several "sweetheart deals" while serving as a senator.

"I thought his attack on Chiles' ethics was having some impact," Colburn said. "It certainly has not been a campaign on the issues, so it's become a campaign on personalities."

Jerry Meiser, a New York advertising analyst and political campaign observer, said Nelson's attacks on Chiles' mental health could have triggered the voter backlash.

"I think that aggressive campaigning pointing out the faults of a candidate's position can be effective to a point, but you can go over the line," Meiser said.

"To actually pick on someone's health problems tends to backfire. If you start picking on someone's character, there is a negative reaction from the public. And seeking psychological help for a problem is actually a positive thing to do," Meiser said.

Motor vehicle roadblocks announced for September

SANFORD — The Florida Highway Patrol will set up the following vehicle inspections and driver's license checkpoints in Seminole County on September 31 through October 4.

Sept. 31 through Sept. 3: Airport Boulevard, County Road 15, Markham Road, Orange Boulevard, Occoala Road, or Uppala Road.

Sept. 7 through 15: Calory Avenue, Gen. Hutchinson Parkway, Marquette Road, Orange Boulevard, State Road 428, or Uppala Road.

Sept. 14 through 30: Airport Boulevard, Calory Avenue, County Road 15, Orange Boulevard, Old Lake Mary Road, or State Road 428.

Sept. 21 through 27: County Road 15, Gen. Hutchinson Parkway, Marquette Road, Orange Boulevard, Occoala Road, or Uppala Road.

Sept. 28 through Oct. 4: Airport Boulevard, County Road 15, Markham Road, Orange Boulevard, Occoala Road, or Uppala Road.

Vehicles will be inspected for safety and documents pertaining to the vehicle and driver's license will be checked, troopers said. Locations of the checks will vary according to the schedule.

State Highway Patrol predicts 29 road deaths this weekend

The Florida Highway Patrol predicts 29 traffic deaths in the state during this 78-hour Labor Day weekend beginning at 6 p.m. today.

The holiday officially ends at midnight Monday.

"This prediction equates to one highway death every two hours and one minute and turns a festive weekend into grief and tragedy for many families," FHP Director Bobby R. Burkett said.

Every available trooper will be on patrol seeking speeders and the alcohol impaired drivers on heavily traveled primary roads and interstate highways, he said.

Burkett urged the use of seatbelts and child restraints and for sober drivers to report others whom they suspect are driving drunk.

Accused burglar dresses for work

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — City police here were alerted Tuesday, 430 E. State Road 430, Altamonte Springs, Florida, reported spotting a man dressed in a Public hat and jacket. The man who was carrying packages of meat and who had other items from the store, reportedly said he was a part-time worker there and was doing some shopping.

The manager said the man was not an employee. Police charged Darrell Eugene Rogers, 55, of Winter Park, with burglary and theft. Rogers allegedly then said he had hidden in a restroom of the store at closing time and had come out to get food.

Man accused in auto break-in CASSELBERRY — City police here report charging Douglas Barnes Jr., 59, 123 Leon Street, Altamonte Springs, with burglary, possession of burglary tools, petty theft, loitering and prowling and resisting without violence at about 1 a.m. Thursday.

Police allege Barnes was seen outside a vehicle parked at Club Juana, U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, where a bag and shirts had been taken from the car and dumped on the ground.

Barnes allegedly walked from the scene when police arrived. He was arrested at the club after the owner of the car confirmed it had been burglarized.

OCIS finds marijuana plants

LONGWOOD — City County Investigative Bureau agents with a warrant reported finding seven three-foot tall marijuana plants on a patio at 212 Acorn St., Longwood, at about 11:30 p.m. Thursday.

That brought charges of cultivation of marijuana for three residents: William Paul Abney, 30; Paul Lawrence Corry, 37, and Melissa Jean McDaniel, 31. McDaniel was also charged with battery on a police officer for allegedly kicking one agent in the stomach and biting another. Less than 20 grams of additional marijuana was also reportedly found in the house.

Arrest made in theft case

CASSELBERRY — Seminole County sheriff's deputies report the arrest Thursday night of one of two suspects in two Casselberry burglaries.

Deputies allege that on Aug. 24, a bicycle and tools were stolen from 1504 LeQuinta Court, Casselberry; and two bikes were stolen from 1411 El Cajon Court. The bicycles were sold to another man, deputies said.

At the sheriff's office at 9 p.m. Thursday deputies charged Feliciano Cotto, 32, 1114 Francisco Way, Casselberry, with burglary, grand theft, petty theft and dealing in stolen property in the case.

Picking the judges: McGregor, Julian and Ken Bevan

Voters in Seminole County will be asked to pick two judges on Tuesday to sit mainly in Sanford to try civil cases of more than $10,000, divorces, felony criminal cases and juvenile matters for the 18th Judicial Circuit of Florida.

In addition, voters will choose among five other candidates for a Seminole County judge to hear misdemeanor, traffic and minor civil cases.

18th Judicial Circuit Group 10

Four candidates seek this seat left vacant by the retirement of Judge Kenneth Leffler. Of those, two candidates shine more brilliantly than the remainder: Ned N. Julian Jr. and Newman Brock.

These days, Mr. Julian, 48, is a senior partner in a Sanford law firm where he concentrates on civil law. Among his public agency clients are the Seminole County School Board, the City of Lake Mary, and the Seminole County Housing Authority; for more than 15 years, he advised the Sanford Housing Authority. In addition, he is a state court mediator and a federal court arbitrator.

In earlier days, Mr. Julian was a Sanford police officer, an assistant public defender for Seminole County, an attorney for the county's guardian ad litem program, through which he assisted children in abuse and dependency cases, and was a municipal judge for what now is Winter Springs. In addition, he has served as president of the county Bar Association.

Mr. Brock, 49, a Jacksonville area trial attorney with offices in Altamonte Springs, also has been president of the Bar Association and a city judge in Winter Springs, where he, too, was a city attorney.

In addition, he has been chief assistant state attorney for Seminole and Brevard counties, where he earned a reputation as a tough prosecutor.

We prefer Mr. Julian in what admittedly is a close call, based on his experience, skill and temperament, although either attorney no doubt would make a fine judge.

18th Judicial Circuit Group 11

Judge Robert McCreger, 60, who for 30 years has been a judge on this and lower courts, clearly has the experience and temperament to be returned to the bench for another six years.

His concerns for people as well as his independence have served the people of the circuit well. His integrity and knowledge of the law are unquestioned.

The judge has faced unusually critical opposition from Jeff Dean, 35, the state attorney's brother but tough and accomplished chief prosecutor in the circuit.

Unfortunately, at this stage of his career, Mr. Dean lacks both the breadth of experience and the temperament necessary to be elevated to the circuit bench.

County Judge

Of the five candidates for this seat, Ken Bevan, 48, with significant experience in academia as well as the courtroom during his 24 years as an attorney handling mostly civil cases, deserves the opportunity to sit as a judge.

Mr. Bevan, president-elect of the Seminole County Bar Association, combines the type of ideas and energy with the quality of experience that should entitle him to serve well as a judge at this level.

Truth about South Africa dawns

The news from South Africa these days must be vastly confusing to Americans who have been depending on their major media for an accurate account of developments.

Until a few weeks ago, it all seemed so clear: State President F.W. de Klerk had finally made up his mind to give South Africa's black population the vote (and, with it, de facto control of the country), and had belatedly freed Nelson Mandela, their chief spokesman, from prison. Mandela promptly set out on a series of triumphal tours of Europe and North America, then returned to South Africa, and, together with other key figures in the African National Congress, was preparing to negotiate the terms of the transfer of power with de Klerk and the white government.

Then, suddenly and mysteriously, dispatches from South Africa began reporting the outbreak of "fighting between black factions" that "has killed nearly 400 people and wounded more than 1,500" — virtually all of them black — in recent weeks. "Black factions"? Factions, moreover, sufficiently powerful and determined to inflict huge losses on Mandela's ANC? Isn't Nelson Mandela the spokesman for at least the great majority of South Africans, if the blacks are included? Have our media been misleading us? You bet your sweet life they have.

Nelson Mandela and the ANC have a substantial following among certain black tribes, and among urbanized (and hence largely de-tribalized) members of the others. But Mandela no more represents a numerical majority of the population of South Africa than I do. He is merely the point man for the black faction most closely allied with (indeed, largely controlled by) the South African Communist Party, and hence the darling of the liberal media in the Western World.

He has no following worthy of the name among South Africa's three million "Cape Coloureds" (mulattoes with a cultural identity of their own). He has no following worthy of the name among the country's one million "Asians" (people of Indian descent). He has no following worthy of the name in the biggest black tribe of them all — the great Zulu nation, numbering six million. He is cordially detested by many of the millions of South African blacks who are devout Christians, with their own churches, and who quite naturally have no use for a lifelong communist fellow-traveler.

State President de Klerk is guilty of an appalling blunder in allowing Mandela to get away with this. By consenting to bilateral "talks about talks" (i.e., preliminary, non-substantive discussions about negotiations) with Mandela and an ANC deputation, de Klerk has fostered the impression, now widespread and probably ineradicable outside South Africa, that there is nobody else worth talking to.

Finding the sound of silence

CARCO BAY, Maine — It is afternoon and the recent immigrant to this island is sitting on the shoreline listening to the tide as it comes back from its appointed round at sea.

The countryside here is what they call quiet, but that is not quite the right word. Echinus have a dozen words for snow, but we have only a few unsatisfactory ways to describe the absence of clutter, and the presence of sounds that aren't remotely noise.

Resting between the rounded boulders, the woman can make out eight or ten distinct sounds that the tide makes as it advances on the beach. She counts them carefully. Water lapping over granite, pebbles and shells rustling against each other in the waves, gravel being lashed clean by the ocean.

It has taken days for this urban dweller to hear these sounds in the silence. Days to turn down the volume-of martial music and fear blasting through the August air from the Midwest. Days to tune into the low complaint of the mourning dove and the frantic sales of spurned songbirds.

Gradually, she has reacquainted herself with the vocabulary of this land. She can understand its language again the way a mother knows the various cries of a small child. Now, against the soft, distant hum of lobster-boat engines maneuvering between traps, she adds another sound: the soft splash of a rock thrown in a tidal pool.

This temporary immigrant spends most of her year landlocked some miles south of here, in the city. She lives enclosed in a headset of city sounds, city ways. The problems of the larger world are broadcast into her ear and her living room incessantly. They are the white noise of an anxious and overloaded life.

So, like many others in her paved environment, she has learned how to hear and how not to hear. She has learned to be both attentive and inattentive to her world.

Back home, she sometimes feels like an inner-city child who barely notices gunshot warnings: It takes an AK-47 now to make the child jump. It takes the edgy rhythms of a crisis — Iraq! Kuwait! — to break through the din of conflict and trouble and claim the attention of her species.

On her way here, she wondered whether we can only maintain a sense of well-being by wrapping ourselves in soundproofing. When the channels of communication are always open, carrying a steady high-decibel heat of trouble, selective deafness may be a kind of survival skill.

But in the process of blocking out the harshest reverberations of the world, it's easy to also block out the low, small sounds of life.

Like the veterans of too many rock concerts, we can lose our ability to hear the sound of a wave that is not crashing, but creeping up the shore.

Finally, this morning she woke up to the cry of a sea gull on the roof and knew it was an adolescent bird. At breakfast, she could make out the separate species in the soundtrack of the bushes beside her table. It was reassuring to know that when the decimal level of life went down, the world was still there to be heard, the way the stars are there to be seen when you get away from the haze of the city skyline.

The woman had not just gotten away from it all. She had also gotten so it all. She had both muted her awareness and heightened it. On this small point of land, consciousness was also peaceful.

For a while, a sense of well-being didn't come at the cost of the other senses.

The woman will return to the city soon. But living two lives, traveling up and down the coastline this summer, has left her with questions. Why is it that in the environment built by people, built for people, we have to shut down our senses for psychic survival? Why is that in the environment that alerts us only a minor role, we can feel most fully?

From her rock seat in front of the rising tide, the woman can hear voices across the point. They say that noise carries great distances across water. But perhaps we just hear better at this primal edge of life.

Quietly, she adds another sound of silence to her growing list: an inner voice asking why this peacefulness seems so simple and yet is so hard for her own species.

It has taken days for this urban dweller to hear these sounds in the silence.

War over Agent Orange unsettled

WASHINGTON — Two decades after the U.S. government stopped dumping Agent Orange to debilitate the jungles of Vietnam, it is still the bane of veterans who fought there. And the federal government is still refusing to acknowledge that Agent Orange caused an assortment of maladies, including cancer.

There is no compensation for the sufferers and not even a sincere effort on the part of the government to research the link between Agent Orange and disease. In July, a congressional report accused the Reagan administration of ordering researchers at the Centers for Disease Control to juggle the data in an Agent Orange study and say there wasn't enough information for the study.

Recently declassified documents from the Vietnam era now suggest that the government may have had the facts all along.

A November 1960 memo to military commanders in Vietnam from the Joint Chiefs of Staff noted that one study by the National Institute of Health had found that the active ingredients in Agent Orange caused stillbirths and deformities in lab animals.

"Pending decision by the appropriate department on whether this herbicide can remain on the domestic market, defoliation missions in South Vietnam using Orange should be targeted only for areas remote from population," the memo said. Yet the Pentagon continued to use Agent Orange, letting it rain down not only on Vietnamese peasants and their crops, but on American troops too.

A Pentagon spokesman, responding to questions about that memo and others, told our associate Dan Njagwu that the Defense Department "absolutely didn't know what the effects were going to be at the time."

Yet the once-secret documents suggest the military was at least nervous about Agent Orange's potential. One document, explaining how to clean spent containers of the defoliant, is almost comical. The instructions promise that there is little safety hazard "if proper directions are followed." But the "proper directions" are so elaborate they imply the chemical is as stubborn and virulent as poison ivy. As we recently reported, the Pentagon and State Department were acutely aware of public fears about Agent Orange more than 20 years ago. There were elaborate proposals for propaganda to counter the fear, but precious little to counter the hazards.

While the military stubbornly clung to Agent Orange, at least one of the Army's own studies said its use as a military tactic was dubious. A 1969 summary of Agent Orange said that it had "little lasting effect" when used to destroy the crops that peasants were growing for the Viet Cong. The peasants would replant as soon as their crops were destroyed.

And the chemical's primary mission — to strip the jungle cover so the enemy could not hide — had dubious results. The Army study noted that "very few (captured enemy) even mentioned the effects of U.S. herbicide operations." The report further indicated that the herbicide sprays "have had a negligible effect" or even backfired because angry locals threw their support behind the Viet Cong.

The military was at least nervous about Agent Orange's potential.

a lot of reforms in there that were badly needed," including financial controls.

"We're going to get the machine cranking again," said Bill McDaniel, head of the Tampa area transportation district.

The five-year plan just adopted by the Florida Transportation Commission has been forwarded to the governor, who will decide how much of it to include in his budget recommendations to the Legislature.

The plan would repair crumbling roads, build new ones, add lanes at crowded intersections, replace bridges and subsidize airports and other public transportation systems.

There is also $1.1 billion to build a network of toll highways. Last year's plans allocated $9.5 billion for transportation improvements, with no money to expand the toll turnpike system.

"We were looking at Band-Aids and bubble gum before the new money became available. This helps us address in a very serious manner the pressing needs of our area," said John DeWinkler, DOT production manager in Bartow.

The finance package was the product of more than two years of political wrangling between Martinez and the Legislature. Lawmakers finally linked gas tax increases to local option gas taxes in each county, for an average statewide increase of about 4 cents per gallon.

"This is the most significant transportation bill passed in the history of the state," Peoples said. "It's an amazing achievement. But it doesn't solve the problem."

In fact, Peoples said, the plan addresses only 35 percent of the needs identified by the DOT, meaning additional money for roads will have to be found within two or three years.

In the meantime, the plan would provide badly needed relief for motorists contending with congested and sometimes hazardous highways and bridges, officials said.

Projects penned in for the fiscal year that begins next July 1 include more than $47 million to widen and improve Interstate 96 and more than $13 million to add lanes to U.S. Highway 19.

Suspect

Officials in Gainesville have not commented specifically on his arrest and how serious a suspect he may be. But Brevard County investigators are referring all calls about the murder to Alachua County, where Gainesville is the county seat.

Investigators say Humphrey is charged with beating grandmother Elma N. Hlavaty Thursday morning at her home in Indianland. Neighbors say Humphrey had lived at her home for about 10 years and was an honor student, but had suffered severe head injuries during an auto accident two years ago. They say he has since had emotional and physical problems.

Panicked Gainesville residents answered their doors with guns and bricks while calls and letters poured in Thursday to police hunting the serial killer who stabbed and bludgeoned five college students.

Police encouraged Gainesville residents to report anything — even a "gut reaction" — that might help them track the killer, but also appealed for calm.

"We've had officers who have been out on a call and have been met at the door by guns," said Gainesville Police Lt. Sadie Darnell. "We don't want any additional tragedies."

Police revealed little new information about their investigation Thursday and declined to say when the FBI would finish drafting a psychological profile of the killer.

They did say they had developed a rather large suspect pool, and had extended their investigation into other parts of the state.

"There are several places in Florida where we've been able to now take pieces of physical evidence and leads, and now we're beginning to put names with individuals that possibly could have something to do with this case," said Gainesville Police Chief Wayland Clifton Jr.

He said there were at least four or five suspects being questioned in different parts of Florida.

"That is a very optimistic sign because that means we have very specific leads attached to very specific people that are not within the jurisdiction of Gainesville at this moment, but obviously have been very recently," he said.

Alachua County Sheriff Spencer Mann said the sheriff's office provided investigators with preliminary information," but declined comment on a Miami Herald report that the murderer was possibly a security guard or hospital orderly.

Calls poured in at the rate of 1,400 per hour to the 150-member task force investigating the murders. Some suspicious sightings turned out to be nothing more than tree branches brushing against the sides of houses, said Gainesville police spokeswoman Sadie Darnell.

She said investigators had no physical description of the suspect although they were checking various reports of suspicious sightings from the victims' neighbors.

Terror has gripped the college community since authorities discovered the bodies of the five students earlier this week, all in apartments within 2 miles of the University of Florida campus.

Four of the dead were students at the time of the killings and the fifth was a student at Santa Fe Community College in Gainesville.

Police believe the killer sought out slender young women with brown hair and forced his way into their apartments to kill them. All the victims fit the description, except for one young man who was the boyfriend of one of the women.

Darnell sought to clarify police reports that the killer knew his victims.

"There is a possibility that the suspect or suspects may have been watching the victims for a short period of time, but they were not acquainted in any meaningful way," Darnell said.

Mourners jammed the First Baptist Church in Pompano Beach Thursday for the funeral of one of the victims, Sonya Larson, 18, of Deerfield Beach. Her body was cremated.

Larson and her roommate at the University of Florida, Christina P. Powell, 17, of Jacksonville, were found stabbed to death in their apartment late Sunday.

The Gainesville Sun, quoting sources, said one of the other victims, Christa Hoyt, 18, of Gainesville, had been decapitated and the head was placed open from the spine to the breastbone, apparently after she had been killed. The newspaper said Hoyt's decapitated head had been propped up on a shelf as if to shock anyone who walked inside her apartment.

Hoyt's body was found early Monday.

Funerals were scheduled around the state Friday for Powell, Hoyt, Tracey Paulus, 23, of Palm Springs North and Manuel Taboada, 23, of Carol City. Paulus and Taboada were bludgeoned to death and their bodies were Tuesday.

Gainesville Mayor Courtland Collier expressed sympathy for the victims' families and sought to reassure parents of students in Gainesville.

State closes animal clinic

By MARK BARNFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The Sanford Veterinary Hospital was ordered closed for business Thursday after state licensing inspectors found unsanitary conditions at the animal hospital in April.

Alex Freyman, hospital vet, said the premises are kept clean, but he refused to allow state inspectors access to the animal hospital at 600 W. 27th Street after this month. He said he is expecting another inspection Friday that will grant him permission to re-open this afternoon.

"I am confident I'll be able to reopen," Freyman said this morning.

The state Department of Professional Regulation investigation was spurred by a complaint by the Seminole County Humane Society. Society animal cruelty inspector Carol Woodward said she had received a complaint from a dog-owner who found his pet lying in his own feces and urine and without food and water. Following an inspection by Woodward and former society director Triah Scott where they reported finding similar conditions as reported by the pet owner, a complaint was filed to DPR.

DPR spokesman Laurie Cain said on a April 18 inspection, DPR investigators found uncovered used syringes on counters and in cabinets, a bloody protective glove on the x-ray equipment and wooded cages which can absorb feces and urine, posing a health risk to other animals.

When asked what disposal method he used for animal carcasses, Freyman told investigators he "personally buried them in the woods" nearby, Cain said. When asked if that was permitted by local codes, investigators were told "There are no codes that apply to the woods," Cain said.

Investigators were refused access to the hospital on Aug. 2 when they tried to determine if the reported conditions had improved, Cain said. Because investigators assumed the conditions had not been corrected because they could see them, Cain said the state filed the emergency order suspending the hospital's license.

The hospital may be allowed to reopen if their inspection today, Cain said. DPR will pursue disciplinary action against Freyman, she said.

expressway construction. SCEA officials would still be responsible to DOT, which is paying for the roadway, Brinton said.

"Even though we'd like to see the project completed by us, we looked at where we can best move ahead with the expressway system in central Florida," Brinton said.

Brinton said DOT won't construct the road any differently than SCEA would build.

"We're delivering the same product we would've built and they're delivering the same product we would've built," Brinton said. "Our agreement places the responsibility on DOT to build the road according to our designs."

Brinton said SCEA will still direct completion of the designs and the land purchase process, expected to save seven months from the entire design-to-construction process. Construction on the expressway is expected to begin in July 1981, although Brinton said DOT officials told him Wednesday construction of the bridge over Lake Jesup might begin next May.

Under terms worked out among lawmakers and DOT of-officials during the legislative session this year, DOT would cover the $20 million debt SCEA would incur by building the first 2.8-mile section of the expressway south of SR 498 and design the next 12 miles to U.S. 17-92.

Instead, the state would "repay itself" with bonds sold to finance construction of the road then "pay" the $20 million for the final six miles of the road between U.S. 17-92 and I-4 within a year. Brinton said DOT was not scheduled to make the $20 million available for another seven years.

Brinton said the deal could mean the final six-mile section of the expressway might be built earlier than expected, although the extent of the time savings was unknown. He had previously predicted it would be built "by the end of the decade."

Under state regulations the road can't be built unless it is financially feasible. A tollroad project is determined feasible when traffic and toll projections show opening-year tolls pay half of construction debt payments. The projections must also show that within 15 years, tolls will pay all debts, as well as operations and maintenance costs.

U.N., Iraqi diplomats begin talks

By ANN PETERS
United Press International

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar, shifting the focus of the Persian Gulf crisis from military confrontation to diplomatic talks, met today with Iraq's foreign minister amid apparent moves in Baghdad to begin releasing Western women and children.

Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz said after his arrival in Amman, Jordan, for the talks that several British women and children were shifted to different locations in Baghdad before their imminent release.

"The foreigners in Iraq have been transferred from the Melia Mansour Hotel to other places to prepare for their departure," he said.

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein holds thousands of Westerners captive in Iraq and Iraqi-occupied Kuwait as protection against attack by a U.S.-led multinational force deployed in Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf.

A report by Cable News Network from Baghdad included several interviews with Western women but the report was "heavily censored by Iraqi officials," CNN said. However, an excerpt initially censored was broadcast.

"We're locked up on the 10th floor," said one British woman. It was not clear where the woman was being held. "We can't get down until we're told to come down for meals."

Speaking in a choked voice, the woman also said, "We want a plane for children. That's all we're asking. One plane. One plane."

In an uncensored section, an American woman taken from her apartment Tuesday said, "They're moving the people... to positions in the city. I really do feel like I'm a shield against bombing. I think that's a fear of everybody here."

A British woman held since Aug. 2, the day Iraq invaded Kuwait, said, "We're going home. It's been implied very soon - today or tomorrow."

In another development, a daughter of a hostage held in Iraq said her father was the American who died recently of a heart attack.

Maggie Neilson of Woodstock, N.Y., told the Kingston Daily Freeman the dead man was James L. Worthington Jr., 53, of Woodstock.

The State Department declined today to confirm the identity of the dead American.

IN BRIEF

PREP FOOTBALL

Jamboree tonight

WINTER PARK — Lake Howell High School will host a pre-season football jamboree featuring Lake Howell, DeLand, Lake Brantley and Lake Mary high schools tonight.

In the first half, starting at 7:30 p.m., it will be the Lake Brantley Patriots taking on the DeLand Bulldogs. The second half will have the host Silver Hawks facing the Lake Mary Rams.

The regular season will open next Friday for two of the teams. Lake Howell hosts neighborhood-rival Winter Park. Lake Brantley travels to Apopka.

Lake Mary and DeLand open their seasons on Sept. 14. The Rams host the patriots while DeLand will travel to Sanford to take on long-time rival Seminole.

AUTO

"Bud" 100 tonight

ORLANDO — Orlando SpeedWorld and New Smyrna Speedway will play host to the third annual "Budweiser" Twin 100 Late Model Championship sponsored by FASCAR.

The first leg (100 laps) will be held tonight at SpeedWorld. SpeedWorld is located in Bithlo on S.R. 50, east of Orlando.

The final leg (also 100 laps) will be run at the New Smyrna Speedway Saturday night. New Smyrna is located at the corner of S.R. 415 and S.R. 44.

Both events are set to begin at 8 p.m.

SOFTBALL

SSC registering for fall leagues

FIVE POINTS — The Seminole Softball Club will be registering girls between the ages of 8 and 18 tomorrow for its fall leagues.

Registration will be between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. at the Five Points complex on State Road 419, southwest of U.S. 17-92. The $30 fee includes T-shirt, instruction and insurance.

The season will consist of 10 weeks of Saturday games. Games will begin Sept. 15. Call 321-4985 for a recorded message. For more information, call 332-6395.

Church League registration

SANFORD — Tomorrow will be the last day to register for the Sanford Church Fall Softball League.

The league is scheduled to start play on Saturday, Sept. 8.

Entry into the league will be limited to the first 14 teams to submit the $220 entry fee and roster.

The entry fee will be used to purchase balls, hire umpires and scorekeepers, and purchase trophies.

The league will be divided into two seven-team divisions with each team in the division playing each other twice. The "A" division will be for established teams looking for a little tougher brand of competition. The "B" division will be for newer teams with a little less talent than the "A" division. Co-Ed teams are encouraged to enter.

To enter the league, send roster and entry fee to: Sanford Church Softball League, 135 Sand Pine Circle, Sanford, Florida 32773.

CROSS COUNTRY

Lake Mary jamboree tomorrow

LAKE MARY — Once again, Lake Mary High School will host the Lake Mary Summertime Cross Country Jamboree, which unofficially opens the high school cross country season.

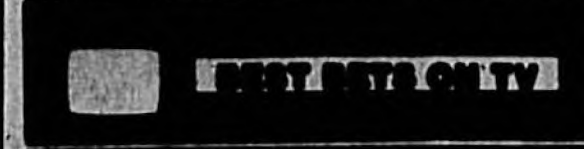

The jamboree will feature four races. At 8 a.m., there will be a one-mile race for boys and girls 12 and under. That will be followed at 8:30 a.m. by the two-mile, 13-18 girls' high school team race. At 9 a.m., the 13-18 boys' high school race is scheduled to start. The last race will be a three-mile event for men and women 19 and over.

Entry fee is $4 per athlete.

In the non-high school races, awards will be given out in the following age groups: 8-and-Under, 9-10, 11-12, 13-20, 30-39, 40-49 and 50-and-Over. Each age group winner will be awarded a medal with the top five in each age group receiving ribbons.

In each high school race, medals will go to the top 10 finishers with ribbons going to places 11 through 50. There will be championship and runner-up team trophies.

For more information, contact Coach Mike Gibson at 333-2370.

Clinic to feature Olympic gymnast

From staff reports

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The Central Florida Gymnastic Association and Brown's Gymnastic Central will hold a boys' clinic featuring Olympian Scott Johnson this weekend.

Johnson is a part-time coach for Brown's Gymnastics Central and was a member of the 1984 and 1988 United States Men's Olympic team.

Joining Johnson as a clinician will be Ron Galimore, who was named to the 1980 United States Olympic team. Galimore, son of legendary Florida A & M football coach Willie Galimore, was one of the top gymnasts in the world but never got a chance to prove it because of the United States boycott of the Moscow Olympics.

Galimore currently is the Florida State Director for Boy's Gymnastics and is owner of Ron Galimore's Athletic Training Center in Tallahassee.

Also working with Johnson will be former Brown's Gymnastics head boy's coach Jeff Robinson. He is a former Florida state director and is currently working for MGM Studios as the "Indiana Jones" character.

Committed to attend the clinic already are 50 gymnasts from the Southeastern United States Region of Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee.

The two-day clinic is for all competitive levels of gymnasts and will cost $75. Make checks payable to CFGA. It will take place at Brown's Gymnastic Central, located at 740 Orange Avenue in Altamonte Springs.

Saturday's schedule will start at 7 a.m. with stretching. At 8:30 a.m., workouts will start and go in 40-minute rotations until 12:30 p.m. After a lunch provided by the CFGA, the gymnasts will review films from 1:30 p.m. to 2:15 p.m.

A second workout session will last from 2:30 until 5:30 p.m. (in 30 minute rotations). After a break for dinner (not provided), the boys will go through an open workout from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. A complimentary coach's clinic will be offered during the open workout.

Sunday morning's schedule will start with stretching at 8 a.m. From 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. will be 40-minute rotation workouts. At 12:30 p.m. will be lunch. From 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. will be films. The final workout session will start at 2:30 p.m. and last until 4:30 p.m. The workout will go in 40 minute rotations of three events.

The clinic will close with a presentation by Johnson called "In search of a Dream".

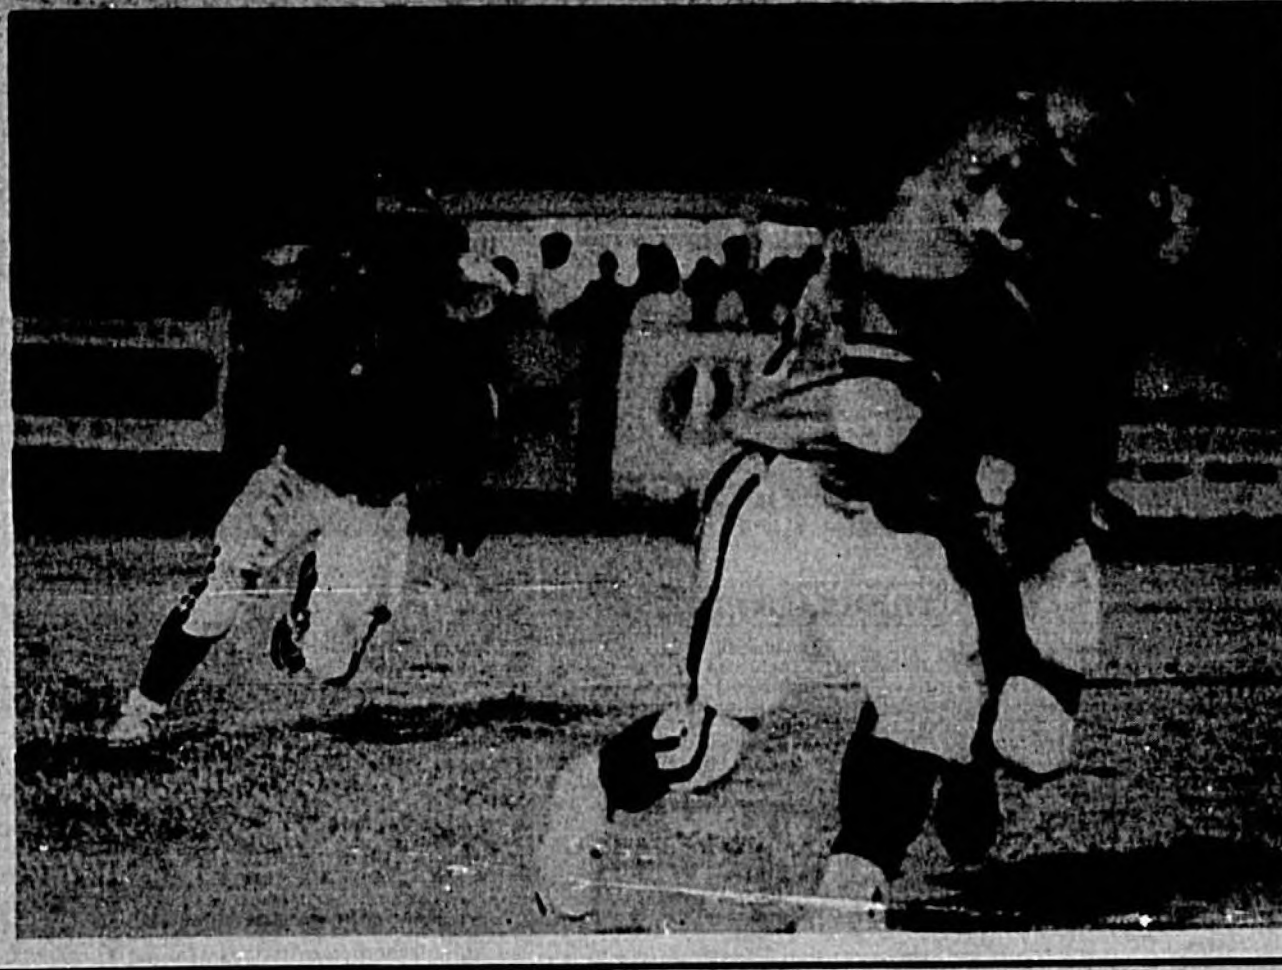

For more information, call Scott MacIntyre at 375-6029 or Sue Whitlow at Brown's Gym at 868-8744 from 5:30 p.m. until 7 p.m.

Running wild

Lyman's Cedric Bouey (-32, right) and Oviedo's Dana Allen (-21, below) both ran for touchdowns as their respective teams in Thursday night's high school football jamboree at Lyman.

Bouey scored on a pair of short runs in each quarter, one against Oviedo and one against Seminole as the Greyhounds won both quarters, 7-6 in overtime against the Lions and 7-0 against the Fighting Seminoles. Allen scored on a 65-yard run as the Lions defeated Seminole 13-7.

'Hounds, Lions shine in jamboree

By PAUL SMITH

LONGWOOD — The 1990 high school football season got started Thursday evening as Lyman High School hosted a pre-season jamboree that featured the Greyhounds, the Oviedo Lions, and the Seminole Fighting Seminoles.

Each school played one 12-minute period against the other two schools with ties being decided by a Kansas tiebreaker.

Lyman proved to be an ungracious host, beating Oviedo 7-6 on a tiebreaker in the first quarter and shutting out Seminole 7-0 in the third quarter. Oviedo used a little razzle dazzle to top Seminole 13-7 in the middle period.

Defense dominated the first period as both defenses held their opposition to less than 25 total yards of offense.

Oviedo's defense held the Greyhounds without a first down while Lyman's defense held the Lions to only one first down and recorded two quarterback sacks, one each by Dallas Simpson and Floyd Nelson.

The contest remained scoreless at the end of the period, sending the game to a Kansas overtime tiebreaker.

"It's hard to get anything going in one period," said Lyman Coach Bill Scott. "But I think we all got in some good work tonight."

Lyman started the overtime with rushes by Jeff Jackson and Bryan Grayson before an offside penalty against the Lions set up a third-and-goal at the one. Cedric Bouey then plunged across the goal line for the first score.

Paul Klaus added the extra point to give the Greyhounds a 7-0 lead.

The Lions came right back, Drew Jackson hooking up with Simon Harper in the corner of the end zone from 12 yards out to make it a 7-6 game. But Erik Jordan's extra point attempt hit the right post and bounced back to end the contest.

The second period was as offensively explosive as the first period was defensively dominated.

Oviedo took only three plays to drive 71 yards on its first

Igwebulike, Christie, Bucs rally to defeat Jets 23-14

United Press International

TAMPA — Rookie free agent Steve Christie, trying to unseat reliable veteran Donald Igwebulike, kicked a 33-yard field goal with 1:44 remaining Thursday night to rally the Tampa Bay Buccaneers past the New York Jets 23-14 in the exhibition finale.

After Christie's kick put Tampa Bay ahead 16-14, Rodney Rice intercepted rookie Troy Taylor and returned 36 yards for an insurance score with 63 seconds left.

The Buccaneers, 3-1, announced before the game they have reached agreement with their last holdout, veteran cornerback Ricky Reynolds.

The Jets, 2-2, had apparently led the game with an 80-yard drive directed by Ken O'Brien that consumed half of the third quarter. O'Brien hit A.B. Brown for 17 yards and Mike Martin for 18 in the 15-play march. Freeman McNeil caught an 11-yard flip on third and 8 and added a 9-yard run before Brad Baxter plunged over from a yard out to put the Jets ahead 13-6 with 2:08 remaining in the third quarter. Punter Joe Prokop misplayed the snap on Pat Leahy's extra-point attempt, but beat Odie Harris to the right corner to run it in and make it 14-6.

Chris Chandler's 31-yard pass to Frank Pillow sparked Tampa Bay's go-ahead drive. Christie, undrafted from William & Mary, is trying to win the kicking job from Igwebulike — who has never missed a field goal attempt from 34 yards or less in 41 career attempts. The Buccaneers must cut 13 players by 4 p.m. EDT Monday.

Tampa Bay's Vinny Testaverde, booed soundly by a crowd of 40,118, completed just 6 of 18 passes in the opening half as the Buccaneers were limited to Igwebulike field goals of 35 and 21 yards. Twice in the second quarter, Tampa Bay had a first down at the Jets 3-yard line, but the Buccaneers

Dellenbach ends holdout

United Press International

MIAMI — Starting tackle Jeff Dellenbach, who has been holdout since before training camp began, signed a two-year contract with the Miami Dolphins Thursday, director of player personnel Charley Winner announced.

Winner said, however, he could not report any progress with the other Dolphin holdouts — wide receiver Jim Jensen, guard Roy Foster, linebacker Rick Graf and running back Troy Stradford. He said he would continue to negotiate with the four veterans.

The amount of money called for in the contract was undisclosed. It was signed too late in the day for Dellenbach to work out with the team.

"We have requested a roster exemption from the league and he won't play Friday night against Minnesota," Winner said. "He will be eligible to play in the regular season opener (Sept. 9 at

New England)."

The six-year veteran has been a mainstay on the Dolphin line since late in the 1986 season, starting first at tackle and then replacing Dwight Stephenson at center when Stephenson was injured and forced to retire.

"I am happy that it's over with," Dellenbach said. "I'm glad that I'll be able to get back to work. It's time to get down to business. I'm definitely ready to go."

Last year he was moved back to left tackle and replaced at center by rookie Jeff Uhlenhuth.

Dellenbach may have trouble reclaiming his position on the left side, however, because Richmond Webb was drafted ninth overall and has started all three pre-season games at left tackle. Dellenbach could also challenge Mark Dennis at right tackle.

Last year, Dellenbach started all 16 games and was named the Dolphins' Offensive Lineman of the Year by the media.

Simon Harper, junior wide receiver for the Oviedo Lions, turned passer Thursday night and hit Leon Lowman for a 63-yard pass play after a lateral from quarterback Drew Jackson to set up the winning touchdown as the Lions stopped Seminole 13-7. Harper also caught a pair of TD passes as Oviedo split its two quarters in the lancers.

possession. The big play was made by Dana Allen as he ran for 65 yards and a touchdown to give the Lions a 6-0 lead.

"The Seminoles then drove 80 yards, controlling the ball for 17 plays and over nine minutes. The Seminoles converted three third downs and two fourth downs including fourth-and-two from the Oviedo 5-yard line as Kerry Wiggins scored on a bootleg.

"I know we can sit back and throw the ball all we want," said Seminole Coach Emory Blake.

"We were trying to establish the running game and get Bruce McClary in there and get our offensive line established."

Geordie Davidson added the extra point to give the Seminoles a 7-6 lead with only 0:47 remaining.

However, the Lions only needed 0:45.

On the first play after the kickoff, Oviedo reached into its bag of tricks and pulled out the split-end double pass. It worked in perfection as Harper took the lateral from Jackson and then handed deep to Leon Lowman for 63 yards, setting up the winning touchdown at the Seminole 5-yard line.

Jackson threw to Harper two plays later for the touchdown with only 0:04 remaining. Lombard added the extra point to make it 13-7.

"It's hard to stop a quarterback like Wiggins," said Oviedo Coach Jack Stanton. "Our defense played very scrappy and made them earn every yard."

The third period was the only one-sided contest of the evening.

Lyman came out and kept the ball for eight plays and 8:30 before turning the ball over on downs at the Seminole 40-yard line. The Greyhounds defense then shut down the "Moles" high-powered offense, holding them to three plays and out.

To make things worse for the "Moles," the snap to the punter was bad and Simpson recorded his second sack of the evening, setting up the Greyhounds with first and 10 on the Seminole 30-yard line.

Two plays later, a personal foul against Seminole moved the ball to the 15-yard line.

Beury carried on the next seven plays, finally scoring on fourth-and-goal from the 15 with only 0:14 remaining.

"I was really pleased when we made it a 7-6 game," said Coach Stanton.

"We played really well in the last period," said Coach Stanton. "And I'm always pleased when we come out on top."

Bucs

settled for three points in those two possessions as Erik McMillan intercepted Tostovero in the end zone just before the half.

Starter Tony Eason and O'Brien each hit on 4 of 6 passes in the first half for New York, which opened the game with Brown's 60-yard kickoff return.

Wife wants time out during baby's birth

A two-week vacation, following in a selection of names of her favorite past letters.)

DEAR ABBY: I am expecting a baby and Jan. 1 is my due date. When I told my husband, he said, "Oo, that's tough because I've already ordered tickets for the Rose Bowl game." (He and three of his buddies always go to the game.)

I told him he shouldn't plan on going next year, but he says he'll make plans to go, and if I'm not in labor when it's time for him to leave for the game, he'll go. If I am, he'll cancel his plans and call his ticket.

Abby, when I had our first baby, my water broke and the baby was born within a few hours. I want my husband with me through everything. Don't you think being with me should be more important to him than a football game?

My mother lives nearby and she could take me to the hospital, but I still want my husband there. What do you think?

MARRIED TO A FINE:

DEAR MARRIED: The Rose Bowl game is an annual event. Having a baby (I presume) is not. Also, the game will be televised, so he could "see" it and be with you, too.

I say the birth of the baby takes precedence over the Rose Bowl game. And if your husband complains, kick him in the end zone.

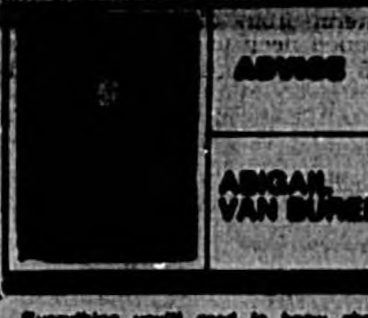

DEAR ABBY: I had a department where I work, and a co-worker of mine who has an eye for the ladies is my problem. He's having an affair with one of the secretaries here, and not only is this guy married, she is, too. Plus, she is one of his wife's best friends.

He has had other affairs, but I've always looked the other way, figuring it was none of my business. But this time, the work in my department is affected. He cuts his working hours short and makes excuses to be around her instead of tending to his business.

I like this guy, but I am responsible to my higher-ups. Do I look the other way again, talk to him, kick to the boss or wrap up the wife?

WHAT NOW?

DEAR WHAT: Tell your friend that his legs on the job are beginning to show — for reasons that are no secret around the office. Furthermore, if he doesn't shape up, he's likely to be shipped out.

Everything you'll need to know about getting a divorce can be found in Abby's column, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $2.99 (U.S. in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Reading Service, P.O. Box 67, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Cook out over Labor Day

Relax and celebrate end of summer in backyard

By HELEN HUBBARD
 Herald columnist

SANFORD — Summer's all but over, schools are back in session and we're looking forward to the long Labor Day weekend. For many, that includes a cook-out. These recipes are for carnivore cooking; dishes that can be prepared ahead of time or are quick.

To have a fresh vegetable accompaniment for almost any grilled meat, this easy introduction is a winner.

VEGETABLE CORN

- 2-3 med. potatoes
- 3 med. carrots, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 1 med. onion, sliced
- 3 Tbsp. margarine or butter
- 1 med. succini, sliced
- 1 tsp. snipped chives
- 1/4 tsp. seasoned salt

Peel potatoes; cut into 1-inch pieces and place in 1-qt. casserole. Add carrots, onion and margarine. Cover. M/W on 100% power, 7-7 1/2 minutes or until vegetables are tender-crisp, stirring once. Add succini. Cover. M/W on 100% power 4-4 1/2 minutes or until succini is tender, stirring once. Sprinkle with chives and salt. Toss lightly to coat.

New potatoes can be substituted. Scrub well, do not peel. Halve or quarter to make smaller pieces. One cup cut corn can be added with the succini. Makes approximately 6 servings — 156 calories; 0 mg. cholesterol.

Grilled pork chops could be a welcome change at your next cookout. These cook quick and have a delightful sauce.

SAUCY GRILLED PORK CHOPS

- 1/4 C. orange or apple juice
- 1/4 C. catsup
- 1 Tbsp. oil
- 1/4 tsp. dry mustard
- 1 green onion, thinly sliced
- 4 boneless, butterfly pork chops, about 1 1/2 inch thick

Mix orange juice, catsup, oil, mustard and onion in 1-cup glass measure. M/W on 100% power 1-1 1/2 minutes or until mixture boils, stirring once. Set aside. Place pork chops in 8-inch square glass baking dish. Pour 1/4 cup orange juice over chops. Cover with plastic wrap. M/W on 70% power (med. high) 8-9 minutes or until almost cooked. Transfer chops to grill about 4 inches over hot coals. Brush with orange-catsup sauce. Grill about 8-10 minutes or until nicely browned and tender, turning once and brushing with additional sauce.

The barbecue grill seems with your prep work to prepare this almost complete meal; just add a green salad or coleslaw and fresh fruit for dessert.

BARBECUE RIB STEAKS

- 1 med. onion, sliced
- 3 lbs. country style pork ribs
- Pepper
- 1/4 C. barbecue sauce
- 4 medium potatoes, scrubbed
- 3 Tbsp. butter or margarine
- 1/4 C. dry bread crumbs

Italian-style
 1 tsp. seasoned salt
 4 ears corn-on-the-cob, brushed
 Cover bottom of 13x9-inch baking dish with onion slices. Arrange ribs bone-side-up evenly over onion. Sprinkle with pepper. Cover with wax paper. M/W on 100% power 10-12 minutes or until hot, turning ribs bone-side-down halfway through cooking time. Transfer to hot grill. Grill about 4 inches from hot coals until tender. Brush with barbecue sauce halfway through cooking time.

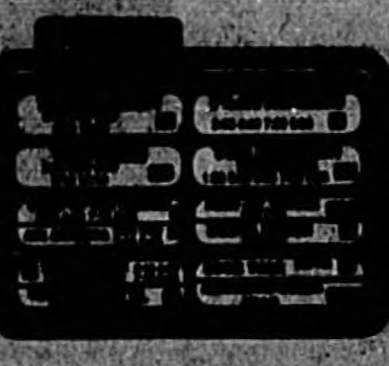

Meanwhile, cut each potato lengthwise into eight wedges. Place butter in 8-inch square baking dish. M/W (100) uncovered 45-60 seconds or until melted. Add potato wedges, turning to coat. Combine bread crumbs and seasoned salt. Sprinkle over potatoes. Cover with paper towels. M/W on 100% power 10-12 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Set aside. Arrange corn in 13x9-inch baking dish. Cover with wax paper.

M/W on 100% power, 7-8 minutes or until done, rearranging ears once.

Beauty of silence in trying times

By Thomas M. Kelly

Beauty is a quality attributed to whatever pleases or satisfies the senses of the mind. Silence has been called the "queen of the senses." As that it means to be in a place.

Many things hold an umbrella of doubt in our minds as to how there can be peace. Our children are caught in the snare of drugs, alcohol and sex.

He silently changes us. Our lives become the beautiful sun of the sun, traveling from east to west. Along the way, the clouds take many forms, sometimes soft, heavy clouds we would embrace, but occasionally the heavy dark ominous clouds appear, but in the recesses of the canopy when the clouds are hanging heavy, around the edges we can still see the rays of the sun, the colors of the sun, beckoning to us, saying that there is a brightness.

Not a word is spoken as the clouds form a beautiful pattern, in our imagination we follow to our childhood, following gently through the mist, the leaves very gently say, "I'm passing by as we see the trees and their leaves. Fields in turn have gently to remain in their places in golden.

We feel a heavy need for our hands and feet to be in the warm earth. We do not hear the conversation between the seed and the Creator, but we see the results. As the earth breaks, the seeds come forth, and new life is born. We do not hear the leaves but we see their color, we do not hear the bud open into a beautiful, lustrous flower, but we see the result. As the flower opens, we see the beauty of the world, the beauty of the world, the beauty of the world.

As we serve our Lord by serving our fellow man as the twilight comes into our lives, we can see the beauty of the world, the beauty of the world, the beauty of the world. We can see the beauty of the world, the beauty of the world, the beauty of the world.

Allow your imagination to treat you to a few moments of silence.

Look at the sun as it greets you each morning like a beautiful fan of many colors. Ever so gently, it looks at the Creator's beautiful earth filled with trees, flowers and grass. With a sweet smile, nature is torn through up with buds on beautiful, lustrous green, buds so sturdy to say thank you, God, for this new day.

As we look upon the beauty of a new day, our hearts are wonderfully and mysteriously moved by God, more in perfect harmony. There is silence and peace as the beauties of nature greet us.

Let us look upon the beauty of a new day, our hearts are wonderfully and mysteriously moved by God, more in perfect harmony. There is silence and peace as the beauties of nature greet us.

THE FRUITS OF OUR LABOR

As we approach Labor Day, we look forward to a week of rest, a day in which we may enjoy the fruits of our labor.
Purchase a picnic in your park, or possibly a trip to the lake or to the outdoor season. Whatever your plans, have a relaxing day, for you, the laborer, creator of all possessions, both physical and spiritual, deserve to keep the fruits of our country's working steadily, so that we might take pleasure in living in this great nation of ours.
This Sabbath Day, may you take the time to thank God for the strength of body and mind which he has given to help you enjoy the fruits of your labor.

them and request information about what goes into their gelatin coatings. This may solve your problem.

DEAR READER: Orthostatic hypotension is an unusual condition marked by excessively low blood pressure when a person is in an upright position.

Ordinarily, when we sit or stand, monitoring nerves in our blood vessels are stimulated to raise blood pressure against the force of gravity...

The most common cause of orthostatic hypotension is medicine (beta is used to treat hypertension)...

Orthostatic hypotension, itself a symptom not a disease, can also be caused by fluid loss (hemorrhage or excessive sweating)...

Treatment obviously depends on the underlying cause, which must be corrected—for example, administering fluids or blood transfusions.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What is contained in the pull-apart kind of capsules that hold vitamins, herbs and medicines?

AIDS deaths up; infant mortality off

By JANEY BASS
United Press International

WASHINGTON — The 1989 infant mortality rate, at 9.7 per 1,000 live births, was the lowest ever recorded in the United States, while deaths due to AIDS rose to become the 11th leading killer, the government said.

The 1989 data, released by the National Center for Health Statistics on Thursday, also showed life expectancy reaching a record high of 75.3 years and a continuing decline in death rates for various diseases.

Infant mortality rates reflect deaths of children before their first birthday. The 1989 infant mortality rate was 9.7 per 1,000 live births, 3 percent lower than the 1988 rate of 9.9 and the lowest ever recorded rate for the nation.

However, the decline in infant mortality has slowed in the past several years, particularly for black infants for whom the rate is more than twice that for whites, the report said.

A breakdown of 1989 infant mortality figures by race was not available. But Sandra Smith, a spokeswoman for the health statistics center, said she presumes the gap identified in 1987 continues: 8.6 deaths per 1,000 live births for whites and 17.9 deaths for blacks.

"Although we've made progress in reducing this nation's infant mortality, we must do better," Health and Human Services Secretary Louis Sullivan said, adding progress is needed to improve maternal and infant health.

Acquired immune deficiency syndrome continued in 1989 to ravage the population, leaving an estimated 31,360 dead

Leader of thugs executed

POTOMAC, Md. — George Gilmore, the leader of a band of thugs who terrorized the elderly and handicapped for several years, was executed Friday by injection for the murder of an 83-year-old woman.

Gilmore, 44, who did not believe the execution would be carried out and did not request a special last meal, was given the injection in the death chamber at Potomac Correctional Center at 12:06 a.m. and was pronounced dead at 12:10 a.m.

The Supreme Court twice denied a stay of execution for Gilmore, convicted of murdering an 83-year-old woman in a crime spree that targeted elderly and handicapped people.

Newton's NBC libel verdict dismissed

SAN FRANCISCO — A federal appeals court Thursday dismissed Las Vegas singer Wayne Newton's $5 million libel judgment against NBC, ruling the evidence failed to show malice toward the entertainer.

The original $19 million jury verdict was the largest libel award in U.S. history.

Three NBC news stories in 1980 and 1981 claimed organized crime figures had a hidden interest in Newton's purchase of the Aladdin Hotel in 1980.

A Las Vegas jury found National Broadcasting Company, Inc. guilty of defaming Newton in the broadcasts and awarded him $19 million in damages.

The trial judge in February 1989 reduced the amount to $5.3 million.

Mohawk-Canada talks break down

CHATEAUGUAY, Quebec — Talks between the Mohawks and the Quebec government collapsed suddenly, raising fears of an assault by the Canadian armed forces on two native reserves south of Montreal.

Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa said in a statement released late Thursday that the Six Nation Iroquois Confederacy had withdrawn its delegates from the talks.

Their action, Bourassa said "has made it impossible for the government of Quebec to continue these discussions without these participants."

The sudden collapse of the talks upset some Mohawk negotiators. They indicated the problem was caused by a clash between traditional and moderate Mohawks and militant members of the Warriors Society — specifically, disagreement over a demand for Indian sovereignty.
