DEATH TOLL IN FACTORY FIRE GOES UPWARD

14 Persons Instantly
Killed In Explosion

Later At Hospitals

Several Others

Police Piece Together
Story That Burning
Ash Caused Accident

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 9.—(INS)—Death toll in the fire, which continued to mount today.

Fourteen victims were instantly killed, four others died in hospitals, dismembered parts of another body were found in the street, two men were missing and it was feared that three of the 12 injured in the explosion would not live.

A force of men today began moving tons of concrete debris which once was the factory of the Probie, Easton Box Toe Company and which was torn apart by an explosion yesterday.

While state and city authorities continued their investigation, police and other investigators pieced together the terrible story of what happened in the factory. Before dying at Lynn Hospital, three victims made statements which coincided. They said they were standing about in the factory waiting to start work when an official entered smoking, some said a cigarette, others a cigar. As he passed, the men said, the official flipped the lighted butt of the cigarette or flicked the hot ashes of the cigar into a barrel in which was stored inflammable material used in the manufacture of box pieces for shoes.

A burst of flame came from the barrel. The three employes said they made a dash for the barrel and that the factory official joined them. The four men, they said, were just about to roll the barrel across the floor when there came an explosion which transferred the powerful factory and the neighboring dwelling houses "into an inferno."

Men transformed into human torches ran from the building while others fell dead.

State officials declared that had it not been possible for the men with burning clothing to get outside, the fire would have been confined within the building and the death toll would have been much smaller.

Postmaster Bars College Magazine From Using Mails

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 9.—(INS)—"Ecumen," Michigan State College sheet, edited by initiates of Pi Delta Epsilon honorary journalism fraternity, has been barred from the mails by C. H. Wilson, postmaster at East Lansing, who classes the paper as "obscene literature."

Mr. Wilson today posted the following notice: "The 'Ecumen' is returned unsolicited under section 476 of the postal laws and is therefore prohibited from being placed in the mail, either sealed or unsealed. Those who violate this warning are liable to fine or imprisonment."

A student faculty committee appointed by President C. S. Newell is now preparing to take up the status of "Ecumen" and will probably take steps to prevent publication of objectionable issues.

Thrill Bandit Will Be Subjected To Tests

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 9.—(INS)—In the federal day-in-the-night, the government followed for the second time the lead of George Harlan, self-styled "King of the Thieves."

Georgia university students voted to submit to the test of the "King of the Thieves."

The students of a conservative college here have voted to submit to the test of the "King of the Thieves."

2 Arrests Made In Death Of Realtor

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(INS)—Two arrests were made early today in connection with the death of Walter McCann, 54, wealthy realty operator found poisoned and robbed outside a Brooklyn speakeasy yesterday. Those arrested were John McCue, in whose apartment McCann's hat was found and Frank Long, who discovered the body. McCue's teeth and mouth were blacked by acids corrosive poison. He had been robbed of considerable jewelry and a large amount of money won on an election bet. McCue admitted early today, police said, that McCann collapsed in the speakeasy and that his body was dragged outside when aromatic fumes failed to revive him. McCue also said McCann had refused to settle a $300 debt with him.

POLITICIANS OF BOTH PARTIES CHECK STOCKS

Republicans To Strive To Consolidate Amazing Gains Especially Throughout Dixie

Difficult Task Is Facing Democrats

Party Must Be Reconstructed To Recover
Prestige They Lost

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(INS)—With the turbulent, breath-taking history of the 1928 election passing into history and straggling returns continuing to emphasize the magnitude of the Republican sweep, the practical politicians who run things in both parties in between elections began to come out of the storm cellar today and take stock of the future.

There is not much disagreement among the leaders of either party as to what must be done, but there is vast disagreement on how it must be accomplished. And these differences of opinion provide the fuel that will keep the political fires burning until the next general election two years hence.

For the Republicans, the task immediately ahead is that of striving to consolidate their amazing gains, particularly in the South and other states that contributed to their victory in such startling fashion.

The Republicans have broken the "Solid South" to bits and run up majorities in the border states such as few of them believed possible. Oklahoma went 160,000; Republican, Kentucky, 175,000; Missouri, 160,000; Little Maryland, 80,000 and so on. Now the job is to hold them.

For the Democrats, the task is equally clear, but imminently difficult. The Democrats have to reconstruct their party. Their job involves the mending of fences that not only went down in the Hoover gale, but which in some cases were almost completely broken.

They lost part of the South, all of the West, all of the border states, and most of the East, in nearly every case by smashing figures.

Mother Perjures Word In Law Suit To Regain Damages

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(INS)—A pinch in time saved a department store here of $50,000 was sent the young mother of a five-year-old "nute" boy to jail for perjury.

Miss Anna Friedman brought suit against R. H. Macy & Co., alleging and testifying that her son, Hyman, had been rendered dumb when struck by one of the store's trucks at the age of seven months.

The defense brought two small plaintiffs to Hyman who said, of course he could talk, but Hyman seemed really "dumb." Judge Gibbs said the three boys into his chambers to play under the eye of a court attendant. One of the boys picked Hyman.

"Who knew you?" quickly asked the attendant. "That boy," said Hyman, pointing. Judge Gibbs was apparently exasperated by the boy's answer.

The closing hours of the trial were featured by a savage attack on the defense.

It is news of the Sanford Rotary Club will meet tonight to DeLand where they will be the guests of honor at a banquet tendered by the Rotary club of that city. The gathering is the second of a series of interclub meetings to be held by the two organizations, the first having been staged in DeLand several weeks ago. Practically every member of the local body is expected to attend.

Mayor Housholder Issues Proclamation Designating Next Monday As Holiday

Official Calls Upon Citizens To Close Their Places Of Business; American Legion To Hold Memorial Services On Sunday

Ordering all City offices to be closed and calling upon the citizens of Sanford to close their places of business to join in a general observance of Armistice Day on next Monday, Mayor E. F. Housholder today issued a proclamation designating the day as a holiday because Armistice falls this year on Sunday. The proclamation was as follows:

"Armistice Day this year will be on Sunday and such day has been recognized by the patriotic citizens of the City of Sanford for America as a day for commemorating the loyalty of those who served our country and whereas it has been the custom of the American people to lay aside all the usual business on the day following Sunday when such day of observance falls on Sunday, and whereas the citizens of our community should give further consideration to said day other than as might be given on Sunday.

"Now, therefore, I as Mayor of the City of Sanford do hereby order that all City offices of the City of Sanford be closed throughout the day of Monday for the full and complete observance

HOOVER HOPES "SOLID SOUTH" IS CONVERTED

Believes He Can Be Help To Dixie

PALO ALTO, Cal., Nov. 9.—President-elect Hoover is hopeful that the "Solid South" is an obstacle in American political jargon.

He sees the disintegration of the old party alliances below the Mason-Dixon Line in last Tuesday's election as marking a milestone in United States history.

He believes that the political forces which put 80 new electoral votes in the Republican columns from Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Texas are permanent rather than merely transitory, and hopes to consolidate the Republican position in the enemy territory with a view to re-establishing in "Gulf Stream" the two-party system throughout the entire South.

Political intimates of the President-elect who are with him at his home on San Juan Hill here are authority for the fact that of all the "mild" elements in the final election returns, before him today, none affords Hoover as much gratification as the break-up of Dixie.

His satisfaction arises, they declare, neither from the standpoint of personal triumph, nor party domination, but rather because he foresees a quickening of political competition for the entire nation in the more keenly competitive alignment expected to develop from the hasty making results south of the Potomac.

Hoover took the judge's sentence with remarkable composure. He immediately asked the judge for permission to address the court.

He also asked for permission to broadcast a message to the world through the radio microphone in the courtroom and appeared to be vastly disappointed when the request was refused.

The Mother Superior received her sentence with a flickering change of expression. She had apparently steeled herself for the worst. Both were taken back to the cells under heavy guard. The presence of the troops prevented any demonstrations by the thousands outside the courtroom.

Toral was granted a reprieve by the court.

It was noted that the defense had been able to show that the troops had been present during the trial, but the defense had been unable to show that the trial had been conducted in

RICE SEEMS CALM AS HE IS ARRAIGNED

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(INS)—Vincent Rice, 17, of New Brighton, Staten Island, accused of the murder of 15-year-old Alice Josst, entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of murder when arraigned today in Richmond County court. The youth, who is alleged to have strangled his high school sweetheart with an electric cord because she tried to kiss him, nonchalantly walked into court nattily dressed in an overcoat of dark material, a brown suit and a brown, soft hat. Walking between his escort of two deputies he appeared more like a spectator than one about to be arraigned on a charge of first degree murder. However, when court was called to order his hair changed. He glanced furtively about the room and chewed gum nervously.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(INS)—District Attorney John H. Banton, declared today that the identity of Arnold Rothstein's slayer had been known to the police 24 hours, and that detectives are searching York for him, and guarding all exits from the city.

The district attorney to supply any hint as to the identity of the suspect. Asked if the man was a friend or former associate of the slain gambler, Banton said: "I cannot answer that question at this time."

Meanwhile, chief medical examiner Charles Norris made known that an autopsy on Rothstein's body had revealed the man was shot while sitting down, laying out the theory that he attacked unarmed, possibly playing poker or discussing his creditors his enormous poker debts.

It was understood that he was to supply any hint as to the identity of the suspect. Asked if the man was a friend or former associate of the slain gambler, Banton said: "I cannot answer that question at this time."

Three main streams of lava converged at the town of Carrabbia last night and almost totally destroyed the town, which had been evacuated hours before.

Army engineers were devising plans for the molten masses from plains for diverting the molten masses from Glare, a city of 25,000, now in the path of the lava.

Thousands are working frantically to save a quickening of political competition for the entire nation in the more keenly competitive alignment expected to develop from the hasty making results south of the Potomac.

Hundreds of telegrams from the South congratulating Hoover on his overwhelming election center on the keynote that the old political traditions of the cotton belt are disintegrating. Hoover is confident that this peculiar problem of the region can be dealt with as well by a permanent Republican organization as are the special local interests of every other state and is hopeful that he may influence the development of party organizations in the several Southern states in a way which will carry this assurance to the Southern voters.

It is noted among Republicans that a major aim of the campaign strategy was to crack the "Solid South." Hoover himself gave considerable attention to the part of the campaign, appearing for the development of sections political thinking in three main areas.

Sanford Team Has Final Workout For Game With Orlando

Local Boys Are Ready To Ropel Attack Of The Fighting Tigers

Players Prepared

Terrific Struggle Expected On Saturday

By Peter Schatz

With their final workout run off in quick fashion this afternoon, the charges of Coach Hugh Whelchell are fit and ready for the invasion of the fighting Orlando Tigers who come to Sanford for a battle at Municipal Field Saturday afternoon at 3:00 P. M.

It is to be a great struggle with many elements of surprise and suspense to keep the crowd on edge throughout the game for the locals are this time out to avenge a string of defeats which have stood for the past five years. Every man on the squad will enter the game with a confidence born of a desperate desire to stop the Orlando outfit and they are determined to do it in quick and orderly fashion. No other game has been discussed among the players as this one has and with every student talking Orlando's defeat, a terrific battle is sure to be seen.

The squad is in perfect shape physically, though Taf Tatterson, punier halfback is to enter the game with a bruised shoulder. However, this courageous lad will give his best as he always has and a great game is expected from him. Hester, who has been out of play for the past three games, returns to the lineup as a halfback in tomorrow's game, and should live up to all the early predictions made about him. Hester is a natural football player, his speed and ability to locate holes in the opposition defense being unequalled. He will make a fine running mate for Tatterson and Reiloff, with Spence calling signals.

This is the combination which will start the game tomorrow, and they are sure to dep the enemy like many times for good gains. As reserves backfield material, Coach Whelchell can throw in Peter Schatz, Kinney, North Marshall, and Tip Partin, thus insuring two or three ground gains in the game at every single.

Orlando brings to Sanford a team that has rolled on the impressive total of 133 points against 21 scored by their opposition. They have won from Montville, Ocala, Winter Haven and Plant City, losing to Tampa and Lakeland, leading members of the Big Ten, of which Orlando is also a member.

And in McCarthy, Langston, Rogers and Vestel they offer a quartet of backfield stars that have certainly won down with every team they have played. And with Yehoun, possibly the fastest football player in Florida at this time, he being a 10 second man, they are well fortified from an offensive angle.

The line, averaging 160 pounds, while not as well drilled as the 160 pound line, is composed of rangy, hard fighting and low charging men and unless they are whipped down early in the game, will be heard to be heard from on the defense. However, there isn't a chance that the Orlando outfit will make any thing that even looks like a substantial gain through our line, which means that they will have to resort to end runs, and a forward passing attack. They have had more than ordinary success with their aerial game, but, a week's drilling by the mentor in a system of defense against any advance by the enemy in that direction has met with great luck, and there should be very little gained done by the Orlando outfit in that direction.

Orlando has a beautiful end run play which they used to good advantage against the Hillsborough and Montverde outfits. Their interference on this particular play is perfect and we look for them to make a gain or two with the play. But, as soon as the local secondary defense has any play put over it one time, it will never happen again.

However, you can't tell a thing about any game or what 11 men will do when they are pitted against another team in an annual game of the importance of the game played here tomorrow. It looks like a toss-up to this writer, with even a possibility of a tie game. The locals should score at least twice, and if they score first, only a freak play will enable Orlando to get through the defense that Coach Whelchell has prepared for.

If you have planned to see a football game this year in which you expect to be well satisfied in every way, with spectacular end runs, smart tackling and blocking, a brilliant aerial game, and especially the chance to root for the local squad who expect to be overturned, the winners, we urge you to buy a hand tomorrow at the price for this will be the finest game of the year with the possible exception of the Leesburg game which closed the season.

A mammoth parade of students, which will be joined in by the Orlando student body, who have planned to attend the game 500 strong and who will also bring 25 girls along, will move through the streets of the city tomorrow at 2:30 before the game and we hope you can't resist the urge to follow them to Municipal Field.

The possible line-up with comparative weights at each position follows:

ORLANDO	Player	Pos.	Wt.

The Seaboard and A. C. L. Railroads are operating special trains to Jacksonville, while special cars are being arranged in a number of other cities. Local stores have been heavily decorated and pasteboards remain at Nunnally's, 32 West Street, in Jacksonville. A sellout for the game is al-

Wisconsin Has 750 Old Teacher's Pensions

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 8—(INS)—Wisconsin has 750 teachers retired on pensions under the state teachers retirement system, with 350 of these requiring benefits under the old law, enacted in 1911, and 200 under the law as of 1921. At present there are 10,000 teachers contributing to the retirement system.

The teachers who retired under the old laws have their choice of taking things forward under the provisions of either fund.

Under the present retirement system every teacher 50 years or over must submit to a five per cent deduction from the salary on every pay day. The money collected is placed in the state treasury in a special fund to the credit of the individual teacher and begins to accrue to gain interest for the teacher at the rate that is being earned by the fund as a whole. Besides the state makes a deposit on June 30 of each year to the credit of every senior teacher. This amount is based on the salary of a teacher received and also on the number of years he has been teaching.

WATCHES NEW GLIDE
Europe's much interesting in the new "Estate Glide," which was adopted by American dancing teachers at their convention this year. England has taken kindly to the idea that it is danced to a new favorite tune, which is popular there, and the Scotch, Devon, and Highland schools like it.
