Ritz Film Stars Bardot

For the first time since their fantastic success with "And God Created Woman", director Roger Vadim and producer Raoul J. Levy have combined to make a new film, "The Night Heaven Fell," the Kingsley International release coming Sunday to the Ritz Theatre.

B. B. (pronounced Bey Bey), currently the biggest boom in the film industry since the invention of sound, skyrocketed to fame in "And God Created Woman". In two short years, the "sex-kitten" sprang from relative obscurity, an actress playing unimportant roles in unimportant films, to an unrivaled position as the cinema's high priestess of Eros and, incidentally, the highest paid actress in the history of French film-making.

Since Vadim and Levy "invented" Bardot in "And God Created Woman," the American public has been shaken up by a barrage of Bardot films. To date, the French "Spunk" has appeared in twenty-three films. Of this cornucopia of Bardot's charms, seventeen were made prior to "And God Created Woman" and most of them have subsequently found their way to these shores. "The Night Heaven Fell" is the first new film to invade America since La Bardot went into orbit.

Director Roger Vadim, Bardot's ex-husband and creator of the particular quality that is Bardot, has again fashioned a vehicle for the star, tailor-made for her particular talents. This time, however, producer Raoul J. Levy has supplied the largest budget yet for a Bardot film, a sum equivalent enough to transport a large cast and crew to the remote and extravagantly endowed natural splendors of Spain's Malaga Region.

Debbie Stars At Movieland Sunday

No picture capitalized better on the naive, direct approach to sex than "Tammy and the Bachelor." And some had a more slip approach to the facts of life than "The Moon is Blue." Now the rare talents of the author of the latter are combined to bring a delightful Debbie Reynolds in a wacky, amusingly funny situation that will give you a good laugh and a good cry in the title of "This Happy Feeling," the riotous Universal International Comedy Cinema-Scope International comedy that opens Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre.

Debbie that "Tammy Girl" as she became known off her highly successful title role and smash title song recording, is really grown up in "This Happy Feeling," which teams her with an exciting pair of male co-stars, the Continental favorite Curt Jurgens and fast-rising young John Saxon. The brightly paced, richly mounted picture, based on the E. Hugh Herbert Broadway play "For Love or Money," also costars Alexis Smith and Mary Astor with Estelle Winwood in a top featured role in what turns out to be a glittering cast.

The petite Miss Reynolds seems to shine especially bright in roles involving her in unexpected and understandable sex situations. And she has never found a more juicy part than that of the sophisticated young secretary from Brooklyn who gets drawn into questionable relationships with Jurgens, a retired but still suave, continental stage star and with Saxon, her next door neighbor, the much younger Saxon.

There are ample romantic angles in the story E. Hugh Herbert "Moon is Blue" manner that will bring raised eyebrows and full throated guffaws as the two men alternately try to talk Debbie into addressing as Debbie tries to explain away a night spent in Jurgens' palomar, and most of all, when she seems always to be getting involved in a scandalous affair with one every time she seems to protect herself in the clutches against the other.

And Debbie adds an especially happy feeling when she sings the title song, "This Happy Feeling," written and composed for the picture by Jay Livingston and Ray Evans, the creators of Debbie's "Tammy" song sensation.

Jurgens, an established European star with triumph after triumph on the Continent, is flawless in one of the most engaging roles he has ever played. Saxon in his "important part" date takes a tremendous step forward in the path of such other U-I created stars as Rock Hudson, Tony Curtis and Jeff Chandler.

Alexis Smith is brilliant and brittle as Debbie's ready, willing, and also rival for Jurgens' charms, while Mary Astor as his neighbor and Estelle Winwood as his alcoholic housekeeper, give polished performances.

Blake Edwards, who wrote the screenplay, directed with a happy touch for Producer Ross Hunter.

Carroll Baker Not Popular Around Set

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Carroll Baker will never win any popularity contests among crew members and fellow actors on the set. Though she's made only three pictures, the blonde newcomer throws her 113-pound weight around with more authority than stars who have been in the business for 20 years.

When Carroll works she demands absolute quiet. So much so that an additional assistant director was assigned to her latest film to crack the whip over noisy fellow workers.

Jokes and pranks are out, too. When Carroll is preparing for a serious scene she insists on straight-faced attentiveness.

She also stands up to her director, Irving Rapper, if she believes a scene isn't being directed according to her own standards. And, more often than not, she gets her way.

Fifteen years ago such audacity would have landed Carroll back in her native Greensburg, Pa., but today Hollywood bigshots don't even whimper.

Carroll isn't interested in winning popularity polls. She is dedicated to turning in the best performance possible.

"I must have a professional working atmosphere," she said during a lunch break on "The Miracle." "I'm ready to work when I arrive on the sound stage, and I think the others should have the same attitude."

'Rights' Probe Okay, Governor Says

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. LeRoy Collins says he has "no objections" to a national Civil Rights Commission probe of Negro voting rights in Florida.

But he told newsmen Thursday he had no idea why Florida was included among their states tapped for investigation.

Collins also discounted effects the racial issue may have had on the Senate race between Sen. Spessard L. Holland and Claude D. Pepper.

He said he voted for Holland because he thought he was "an honest, dedicated and able senator, and it was not in the best interests of the state to put him out." He said he felt the more than 400,000 Floridians who chose Holland over liberal Pepper, fell the same way.

Collins left on an out-of-state business trip after his weekly news conference, flying first to Lynchburg, Va., where he will join Mrs. Collins to take their daughter, Jane, back to college. He will return Sunday.

He said most of his business would be related to the Governor's Conference rather "than in my capacity as governor of Florida." Collins is chairman of both the National and Southern Governors Conferences.

Collins said he has received no details of complaints which led to the Civil Rights Commission probe in Florida. He added he has not received a single complaint in two years that Negroes are being denied voting rights in the state.

The last complaint involving Negro voting rights happened in Liberty County two years ago, he said, when five or six Negro voters withdrew their names from the registration list after a cross was burned.

Liberty now has no registered Negro voters, nor does Lafayette or Union counties. Negro registration statewide, however, has increased with a total registration of nearly 145,000.

The governor admitted that the fact that three counties have no Negro voters, and that Gadsden, where Negroes outnumber the white population, has only seven would cause a "reasonable" man to wonder if there had not been intimidation.

"But since I have received no complaints," he said, "I must assume there has been no overt intimidation and they just don't want to vote."

Big Business Gets Part Of Blame For South's Problems

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Fund for the Republic charged today that U.S. business corporations are partly responsible for the anti-integration disturbances in the South.

The charge was made in a paper entitled "Politics and the Corporation."

It said many middle class employees of corporations refuse to take part in politics because "they are either wary of corporation reaction to any political activity or they develop an almost studied indifference to the participation in politics."

This has caused a "tragedy in the South" by creating a "vacuum in political leadership," especially at the state and local level, the report said.

The outcome, it said, has been that middle class "moderate and law-abiding people" in Little Rock, Ark., and other southern cities—many of them corporation employees—have been unable to exercise an influence for freedom and justice in the integration controversy.

These middle class persons have not played an active role in the bitter controversy, the paper said, "because they have no real interest in the outcome of the conflict over segregation, and because they are ill suited to play any role of consequence in party politics."

The highly critical paper was written by Andrew Hacker, assistant professor of government at Cornell University. The fund, an independent organization, is financed by an endowment from the Ford Foundation.

Girl Scouts Will Resume Activities

With the advent of September and the beginning of a new school term comes the resumption of an active Girl Scout program. During the summer months transfer, moves, and in some cases health and personal reasons cost the organization a number of workers. At the same time, however, new volunteers have been acquired as replacements.

It is anticipated that all of the Sanford troops will commence their weekly meetings in the near future. There are vacancies in a few of the troops and parents who have children interested in becoming a Brownie or Girl Scout should call the troop organizer, Mrs. W. H. Meriwether, at FA 2-0305.

Adults who are interested in volunteering their services and time in some phase of the Girl Scout program are requested to contact Mrs. Randal Chase, Seminole neighborhood chairman.

Ted, Richie Make Title Bids

By FRED DOWN
United Press International
Ted Williams and Richie Ashburn are making late bids to win the major league batting titles and give Boston and Philadelphia fans something to cheer about in otherwise drab seasons.

Williams, seeking his second straight crown and the sixth of his career, moved into a virtual tie with teammate Pete Runnels for the American League lead Thursday while Ashburn, trying for his second title, cut front-runner Stan Musial's National League lead to .003 points Thursday night. Williams went 2-for-4 in a 4-1 loss to the Chicago White Sox while Ashburn went 2-for-4 as the Phillies rallied to beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 4-3.

Bob Cerv hit his 33rd homer of the season as the Kansas City Athletics beat the Baltimore Orioles, 7-1, and rookie John Romonovsky's fine relief work earned the Washington Senators a 7-6 triumph over the Detroit Tigers in the only other major league activity.

Runners-Up Pressed
Williams, with three hits in seven tries since he returned to the lineup, increased his average to .3196. He is right behind Runnels' .3200 figure but is being pressed by Cerv, who has increased his average to .3188.

Ashburn's two hits lifted his average to .335 compared to Musial's league-leading .338 mark. The Philadelphia speedster also is being pressed from behind with Milwaukee's Hank Aaron at .332 and San Francisco's Willie Mays still in the race at .328.

Despite Williams' personal gain,

Seminoles Getting Ready For Opener With Lyman

By Jerry Covington
The Sanford Seminoles are hard at work in an effort to be set for the opening contest next Friday night against the Lyman Greyhounds of Longwood.

Head coach Jim Pigott should have his charges in good working order by then and it should be an exciting contest. Coaches Bill Proctor and Buck Metts have come a long way with their young squad from Lyman and will be ready to give Sanford a run for its money.

good bets to start at the tackle. It is a little early to tell about Neely, but Carter should be ready for the test.

Dave Stanley is coming along fast. Guard Kelly Lake is a strong contestant, to pair with Stanley. The center spot is still the big question mark. Duke Schirard looks like the best bet here, but is out of practice at present with a virus. If Schirard is still ailing, it will be up to Tommy Butler or James Markham. Both lads are working hard, but are still a little away from being ready.

Metts, former Seminole star and later a standout at Florida State University, said "our squad is young and inexperienced but they are in shape and will do their best to hold the Seminoles." The Greyhounds have only a few lettersmen on the squad, but several young lads have looked very impressive and should be able to supply plenty of surprises for the Seminoles. From any angle, it should be a fine ball game.

The offensive backfield has several spots that are not set. Harold Stone has been the big man thus far in practice and is a solid bet to start at the fullback. Cecil Dandridge will probably get the nod at quarterback, but Johnny Alford has been pushing him all the way and will probably see a lot of action. Both boys are doing a fine job and should provide a lot to talk about after the game.

At halfbacks are several lads who could turn into exceptional ball carriers. Lavel Hiner has been running hard and will probably see up one of the spots. Vernon Kirk, a limited service player last season, looks like he could be the "sleeper" in the backfield. He has good speed and handles himself well when running the ball.

Ray Lundquist is another lad who has come a long way and could prove to be a tough customer. He is a good runner as well as being a very talented left-handed passer.

With one more week of practice remaining many changes could be made. But this should give fans an idea about the starters Friday night.

Don Carter and Neely look like who played at Oklahoma and coached at N.C. State and Texas Tech, has seen a lot of them.

Tops as Suph
As a sophomore in 1954, Stacy, 185-pounder from Winona, Miss., ranked eighth in the nation in total offense, gaining 613 yards rushing and 464 passing for a total of 1,077 yards. Last season, a marked man, his total offense bag was only 328 yards, but Walker says "he was superb defensively" and "hadn't reached his offensive potential yet."

Miss. State Fans Expect Stacy To Provide Thrills

By CLIFF SESSIONS
United Press International
STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—Mississippi State rooters are looking to Billy Stacy to provide Saturday afternoon thrills this fall.

Stacy, two-time all-Southeastern Conference quarterback and the SEC's most widely-touted choice for national honors, is the big reason why State is figured to finish high in the conference, possibly on top.

Coach Wade Walker is really sold on Stacy. He says the 22-year-old senior, who hopes to play pro football next year, "has more natural ability than any quarterback I've ever seen."

Stacy is one of 21 returning lettermen preparing for the Sept. 27 opener with Florida and a season that could net Mississippi State its first conference title in 11 years. The seniors tied for third in the 1957 conference race with an over-all 6-2-2 record. The losers were Gator Bowl champion Tennessee and unbeaten Auburn. The tie was with Sugar Bowl champ Mississippi.

His inates in what could well be the South's top backfield include returning starters Gill Peterson (181), who played high school ball with Stacy at Winona, and Hubber Trammell (169). Both averaged five yards per carry in 1957. Junior Bill Schroenack (188) and senior Jack Batte (100) are battling for the fullback post vacated by Molly Hallert, State's leading runner last year.

Up front, Jack Benton (200), second team all-SEC last year, and J. E. Logan (207), who has three seasons of varsity action and three more of service ball, give the Maroons a hard-to-beat guard duo. Letterman Ken Bray (213), and Bob Sisk (213) will handle one tackle and Bobby Trish (212), an occasional starter last fall, the other.

Probable at a starting ends are Charles Weatherly (204) and two-year letterman P. L. Blake (210). Junior Jim Polcetic (219) will probably be at center, giving State a line averaging 211 pounds.

Auburn and Mississippi are rated the favorites to head the SEC this fall. They don't meet. But State plays both and thus could be the key to the championship.

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALY
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—An optimistic Mickey Mantle served notice on the Milwaukee Braves today that neither they nor Lew Burdette can do it again.

Mantle was looking ahead to the World Series. And he wanted the Braves to understand that a fit New York Yankee team had no anticipation of any such shenanigans as the Braves' seven-game triumph last fall.

"Burdette couldn't win three games again," he said flatly. "Pitchers just don't do that, particularly twice in a row, and I don't care if it was a Walter Johnson or who it was."

Fit and feeling better than ever have at this time of the year. Mantle tempers his optimism with a certain amount of caution. Always in the forefront of his mind is the strange series of accidents or injuries which almost always seem to strike him during the classic—right from that first one in 1951.

Osteomyelitis Victim
That was the series in which, running across the Yankee outfield after a fly ball, he stepped in a drain opening and dropped as if shot.

Something just gave way," says the burly-necked blond from Oklahoma, a long-time victim of osteomyelitis. "I lay there in a cold sweat and thought my career was ended just as it was starting."

Mantle has been hampered by leg trouble throughout his career, and they always seem to act up the worse at World Series time.

"Last year," he recalled with a trace of bitterness, "it was something they called shin splints. Frankly, I don't know what it was. But it sure did hurt. Then, just as that started to come around, Red Schoendienst fell on my arm in that play at second base. After that I couldn't hardly raise my arm to throw."

Another big Yankee gun, Moose Skowron, was crippled up during that 1957 series in which Burdette hurled three triumphs to lead Milwaukee to its first world championship.

Television's Greatest Family: 'Father Knows Best'

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Television's favorite married couple, Robert Young and Jane Wyatt, while not wed to one another, have amazingly like husband and wife off-screen.

The stars of "Father Knows Best" spend more time working together than they do with their own spouses and the result is one of video's most devoted mutual admiration societies.

During lunch together this week Jane and Bob admitted their double life has its complications.

"I'm often called Mrs. Young," Jane laughed.

"And when I talk about my wife, I have to say Betty, or people will think I'm talking about Jane," Young said.

"When we were scheduled to appear in the rose parade in Pasadena it was decided we should spend the night there to avoid the early morning traffic jam," Jane added. "It was never so embarrassing in my life to discover the Army had rented a single apartment for both of us."

Recall Re-creations
"Jane spent the night there, and I came out the next day," Young said.

"Once, when we were flying to New York, the seat reservations on the plane were made out to Mr. and Mrs. Young," Jane put in.

Both Jane and Bob speak of their TV youngsters in the same parental manner in which they discuss their own children — Bob is the father of four girls, Jane the mother of two sons.

"It's funny how we've come to think of ourselves as a family," Bob observed. "We're starting our fifth year on TV Sept. 22 and you wouldn't believe the changes and growth we've seen with the kids on the show."

"I ran the original plot the other night and I couldn't believe how much they've blossomed," Bob was interrupted when Jane spotted his necktie. It bore the symbol of the Emmy Award with "Father Knows Best" written in fancy scroll. She roared with laughter.

Grow Serious
The actor reacted indignantly, denying he had worn the tie purposely. But Jane continued to howl.

"She'll never let me hear the last of this," he mourned.

They both grew serious when Young explained how their long-standing TV relationship has added to the believability of the family program.

"I've always felt awkward and shy showing affection during my career. But with Jane I behave the way I would around my own wife. It's the same way with the kids. My genuine affection for them makes playing warm, intimate scenes much easier."

"Same here," Jane piped up. "I never feel self-conscious or uncomfortable when the script calls for tender sequences."

"We've been fortunate in having no cast problems whatever," Young concluded. "The Jim Anderson family on TV is just a happy unit off-camera as well as when we're doing a scene."

U. S., Reds Meeting On Formosa Crisis

WARSAW, Poland (UPI)—United States and Red Chinese ambassadors began vital talks on the Formosa crisis here today. The hope was to find a face-saving manner in which to silence the guns now blasting the peace of the Formosa Strait. But world capitals were frankly skeptical of any progress.

U. S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Communist Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping, 50, accompanied only by small staffs, sat down together in the Myklywski Palace in Warsaw's Lazienki Park to see if they can find a formula for a cease-fire.

It was the 74th meeting of the Sino-American representatives for Wang, but the first for Beam. The talks broke off in Geneva last December in a stalemate over Formosa.

Beam, lanky and strong-willed, sat down with Wang, who proved himself to be a stone wall of Chinese impassivity in talks with Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, the U. S. representative in the 73 previous sessions.

They meet against this back-

Supplies Dropped; Fire Heavy; Planes Battle

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Nationalist Chinese cargo planes parachuted supplies to Little Quemoey Island today in the face of Communist anti-aircraft fire. It was the second airdrop to the offshore islands in 24 hours.

All the cargo planes escaped damage, but Communist guns opened a heavy artillery bombardment on the islands to keep

Diplomats Gather For UN Session; Squabble Expected

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko led a small army of top diplomats to New York for the opening Tuesday of the 13th annual session of the General Assembly.

Dulles said on his arrival from Washington Sunday night the session, opening after weeks of crisis in the Formosa Strait, "will be the most important that has been held for years."

"There will be vital problems of consolidating peace which are brought to the fore by the Soviet backing of the Chinese Communist aggression," he said.

Dulles had made it clear previously the United States would not be surprised if Russia tried to level aggressor charges at the United States.

Gromyko was silent on his arrival at Idlewild Airport from Moscow.

The China crisis is not on the 12-item agenda proposed for the delegates of 81 countries at their 18th meeting. But it will be handled to them in an emergency at almost any time during the three-month assembly.

The Middle East disarmament, water space and another attempt to reach Red China in the United Nations were among the major items scheduled for debate.

An Active Weekend

18 arrests for reckless and intoxicated driving were reported by the Sanford Police Department over the weekend. The Sheriff's Department of Seminole County reported 23 arrests with 18 traffic violations.

Francis O. Wilcox, assistant U. S. secretary of state for international organizations, presided in a speech in New York Sunday the United States again would beat back attempts to admit the Chinese Communists.

Gerda Hits Haiti, Might Regenerate

MIAMI (UPI)—Tropical storm Gerda flattened one plant in a line of squalls with top gusts of 45 miles per hour this morning after smacking through the mountains of southwest Haiti.

But Chief Forecaster Gordon Dunn of the Miami weather bureau said Gerda "might regenerate into a true tropical storm later today in the warm waters of the Caribbean between Haiti and Cuba."

Hurricane hunter planes reported at 11 a. m. they could find no trace of the circular movement of a true tropical storm. They said it appeared to have broken up into a widespread system of squalls with top winds of about 45 miles per hour in gusts.

It was centered about 540 miles south-southeast of Miami.

Later Starke was taken to Law School Dean Henry A. Fann's office for an interview with some 25 newsmen and photographers.

He answered all questions calmly and readily. He remarked, however, that he was a "little tense at first."

"I'm here of my own accord and with the financial help of my parents," he said.

Train Plunges Into Bay; At Least 15 Lose Lives

RAYONEE, N. J. (UPI)—A speeding commuter train plunged off an open drawbridge today and fell 50 feet into Newark Bay. Two passenger coaches sank with their loads of passengers.

The coast guard said one of its boats on the scene had reported at least 15 persons dead, including the crew of four, were still in the water, about 35 feet deep at that point.

The train was bound from Bay Head, N. J., to Jersey City, and was thought to be carrying a number of passengers home from weekends at the beach.

One passenger car dangled from the long trestle and lay remained on the tracks of the Jersey Central Railroad.

Two locomotives and two passenger cars fell all the way into the bay. They were not visible at the surface.

Survivors told of swimming around in the sunken cars looking for a way out of the watery trap.

Train Plunges Into Bay; At Least 15 Lose Lives

One was Rafael A. Leon of Holmdel, N. J., who was in the train with his wife.

"Suddenly we were in the water," Leon said. "I started to pray I would drown quickly. My wife was beneath me in the water. I swam down and tried to find her but she had slipped down."

"I went back up to the surface of the water inside the coach. There was a window open."

"I thought there is no use in trying to find my wife. She is already lost. If I go down again to try to get her, it will just mean that I will die too," he said.

Leon stayed there inside the coach and after a while saw a boat. He climbed to another window that was higher, and down into the boat.

Small boats from all over New York Harbor converged beneath the bridge. There were Coast Guard vessels, police and fireboats and small private vessels.

Florida U. Admits Negro; Faubus Closes All Schools

George Starke Jr., Sanford Doctor's Son, Is Enrolled

GAINESVILLE (UPI)—The first Negro to enter an all-white Florida school registered today at the University of Florida Law School.

George Henry Starke Jr. of Orlando, a 21-year-old Air Force veteran and graduate of Morehouse College, Atlanta, was one of about 120 freshmen to register at the law school.

His father, Dr. George H. Starke, is a physician in Sanford.

Starke came in under a federal court order which directed the university to admit qualified Negroes at the graduate level. Starke will begin attending classes next Monday.

The husky Negro entered a side door of the law school building and lined white students in the auditorium without a disturbance. Two college officers dressed in plain clothes stood by, but they were not needed.

Small Child Is Flown On Mercy Trip By Navy

Three-month-old Kathy Jo Hutchinson, daughter of aviation storekeeper second class and Mrs. Wayne R. Hutchinson, was flown today by Navy pilots to Chicago, Ill., for a delicate throat operation. She suffers a cystic growth on the neck that affects the passage of air to her lungs, causing difficulty in breathing.

Kathy was brought direct from Orange Memorial Hospital, Orlando, to the Sanford Naval Air Station where she and her parents went aboard a Fleet Aircraft Service Squadron 51 (FASRON 51) B-1B transport plane, for the trip to Chicago.

Dr. R. Stutzman, senior medical officer at the NAS dispensary, flew with Kathy in case it became necessary to administer oxygen. Doctors forbid the transfer of Kathy by any means other than air transportation. At Chicago, Kathy will be taken to St. Luke's Hospital, where she will be under the care of Dr. John Curtain, plastic surgeon, and Dr. Paul Grealey, pediatrician.

The pilots of the Navy transport were Lt. Cmdr. J. E. Anderson and Lt. W. J. Holaj. Kathy's father is a member of FASRON 51.

Both parents accompanied Kathy to NAS Glenview, Ill., where the aircraft will land. Chicago is the hometown of aviation storekeeper and Mrs. Hutchinson. She transferred sometime in October to the carrier USS Intrepid.

Budget Discussion To Head Agenda At Meeting Tonight

The third city budget meeting will be held tonight at 8 in the City Commission room. The commissioners are determined to hold the tax line, according to Sanford City Manager Warren T. Kinsler.

Enrols was asked to realize his budget last Thursday and remove $41,000 from the $95,843.47 total. Tonight he will reveal the results of meetings with department heads and general reduction of expenses.

The manager commented today: "Taxpayers and residents will get less improvement next year. Services will be stretched thinner over the growing population. The city actually will be operating on less revenue and less expenditures than previous years. As city manager, I think the newly proposed budget borders on false economy."

Miller was arrested after an automobile chase by Deputy L. J. Kriz in the Upsala 29th Street area. Hobby said Miller attempted to flee after Kriz attempted to place him under arrest.

Miller will be arraigned tomorrow before Judge Wilson Alexander.

U. S. Doesn't Plan Immediate Action Against Governor

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—All four of Little Rock's high schools closed today on orders of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who said they may stay closed until after a special Oct. 1 integration election.

Faubus declared that state police are on "tentative alert," and he has agreed to rush them in to help city police put down any disorder that may arise. But they are not to help with any integration.

The situation was so quiet about the schools and in Little Rock today that talk about state police helping city police put down disorder sounded out of place.

Faubus said the state police may even help 150 U.S. marshals sent in by the Justice Department to protect "someone else or themselves." But he repeated that they will not help marshals integrate Central High or any other school.

Court Action Delayed

The federal government said it had no plan for seeking court action to make Faubus reopen the schools at least "this morning." The NAACP said it was going to leave any action to the Justice Department.

Faubus declined to say in a news conference what he had in mind, if anything.

Before a special session of the Legislature three weeks ago, Faubus said he had a plan under which the education of Little Rock students would continue if he closed the schools.

Asked today whether he still had a plan, he said, "That question will be answered in due course."

"I am just as concerned about the education of the children in Little Rock as anyone. But if they only have an education of seven or eight months in peace and quiet, rather than in an atmosphere like last year, it will be much better."

Bids To Be Opened For Reassessment

Bids will be opened tomorrow for reassessment of all Seminole County property.

Qualified appraisal companies may enter bids when the County Commissioners meet at 9:30 a. m. The county budget recently was amended with the addition of $1 million to cover reassessment costs, Chairman John Krider said this morning.

Two appeals also will be reviewed by the board. The building of an asphalt plant in the western section of Seminole County is being opposed by county residents in that area. Residents in the area of Sanford Ave. and 28th St. also are appealing the building of a commercial building. The permit already has been granted by the zoning board.
