

Employment In County Holds Up

By Julian Stenstrom
Total employment in Seminole County held at a level of about 15,000 persons from November of 1963 until mid-May, according to Joseph M. Foy, manager of the Florida State Employment Service office in Sanford.

Foy said that this period provided the most seasonal activity and said the spring pick-up in vegetable and citrus harvesting lifted agricultural employment.

Closing of tourist related businesses, said Foy, caused employment in the service industry to drop slightly. On the plus side, he pointed out that manufacturing rose moderately with concentrate operations expanded to handle the Valencia orange crop.

Foy said nonfarm employment went up 500 because of gains in construction, wholesale trade (citrus packing), service and government.

In mid-May, said Foy, unemployment in the area declined to 500-100 below the previous month as well as last year. At this level, he said, the jobless number is 3.3 percent of the civilian labor force.

Foy said Seminole County's per capita income in 1962 was $1,286 - compared to the state's $2,053. Average income can be expected to be low, Foy explained, in an agricultural area where most workers are employed only part time. Foy said the county ranks 49th in per capita income among Florida's 67 counties.

Figures for 1962 show that Seminole County had a total income of $82.1 million for a population of 63,800.

Kelly Here To Thank Workers

State Senator Scott Kelly of Lakeland, who ran third in the first Democratic gubernatorial primary, met his Seminole County campaign leaders in Sanford Monday night to thank all who worked in his behalf.

Kelly told the conference, attended by 41 persons at the Police Benevolent Building, that "Kelly-Go-Clubs" were being formed in each of the state's 67 counties so that people — as John Kader of Sanford put it this morning — "May stay together and be prepared in case a situation should arise whereby he might seek public office in 1966."

Kader, who was Kelly's Seminole campaign manager, announced that he had been selected to head the club temporarily and that the 39 local supporters present last night joined the "Go-Club."

DeLand Church Has Dinner In Enterprise

By Helen Snodgrass
A Father-Son Banquet of the Plymouth Avenue Christian Church of DeLand was held recently in Enterprise at the Florida Power Club with women of the church preparing and serving dinners, buffet style, to some 35 persons in attendance.

Guest speaker for the evening was Rev. Gerald Smith, pastor of the Daytona Beach Christian Church. Rev. Smith, who is most adept with slight of hand performance, presented a short period of magic tricks which tied in with and illustrated his subject.

The evening was completed with group singing led by Rev. Jack Ford, pastor of the host church.

Master of ceremonies was Virgil Guiley. Mrs. Deane Moore was chairman of the food committee; Miss Neal Deane and Mrs. C. A. Henderson served as the decoration committee and Mrs. I. W. Whittington was registration chairman.

The alley behind Rounhill's Drugstore was blocked completely Tuesday afternoon late when the asphalt spreader which had been working on the city's new parking lot at the corner of First and Park, slid backwards off the truck being used to transport it.

We hear there's a brave little tomato plant growing in the cracks of the sidewalk down near the Sanford Atlantic Bank. If someone would drop in an onion or two or maybe some chives, we might whomp up enough for a salad. Guess the city would claim them.

How about those planters along the street? Instead of flowers, let's plant some vegetables. Carrots have a right pretty tops — look like ferns, beet tops are pretty, too. A few stalks of corn would give it that certain touch.

What do you say to pulling up all the podocarpus and planting banana trees? Useful as well as pretty. Make nice shade, too. We'd become famous. "Sanford — you know — the town where the streets are lined with banana trees — cha-cha-chal"

City, County Differ On 4th Schedule

City and county offices throughout the county are mixed in their decisions about how to observe the Fourth of July holiday which falls on Saturday.

Sanford city employees will enjoy the weekend off, but will not take any extra days, following a decision made by city commissioners.

County employees in the courthouse and elsewhere will have a three day holiday, taking Monday off in observance. Oviado offices will also be closed Monday, but Altamonte Springs city offices will close on Friday.

North Orlando Ballots Ready

Absentee ballots for the July 13 referendum in North Orlando on proposed amendments to the village charter will be available at the village office through next Wednesday, July 8. No ballots will be issued after this date and all marked ballots must be returned in the clerk's office by 5 p.m. Saturday, July 11, if they are to be counted.

Polls will be open on Monday, July 13, in the village hall from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Election workers will be Mrs. Etta Harville, Charles Tressler and Bob Derum, all members of the elected charter board. Alternates will be the remaining two board members, Bob Dean and Mrs. Mary Rowell.

Proposed changes, if approved by a majority of the 161 registered voters, call for setting up a five member village council plus a mayor who will be elected by the people in a special election to be called within 90 days. The mayor elected at this time will hold office until the next regular election in March, 1966.

Other recommendations pertain to methods of adopting village ordinances and more clearly define functions and authority of the village council, mayor, court, judge and law enforcement officers.

SR-46 Paving Job To Be Let In August

In the county's secondary program, Stenstrom said it was announced that a contract would be let this month for the reconstruction of SR 34 from Altamonte Springs north to Longwood and that next February a contract would be awarded to continue SR 34 from Longwood north to here the A.C.L. railroad tracks cross General Hutchinson Parkway.

In October of this year a contract to rework and eliminate dangerous curves on R 426 from Goldenrod to Oviado will be let.

Mrs. Walker Sees Little Effect Here
By Julian Stenstrom
Wednesday's decision of the Florida Supreme Court which ordered Dade County to order Dade County to reassessments from 50 to 100 percent brought immediate reaction today from Seminole County officials.

Asked if it will have any effect upon Seminole County's assessment rolls, Chairman James J. Avery of the Board of County Commissioners declared:

"I hope it will. I believe it's a good thing because it is about time the so-called freeholders become freeholders in fact rather than in name by shouldering their fair share of taxes."

Several years ago Seminole County had a tax base of some $35 million with a millage of 43.50. A reassessment, based on 80 percent of value, immediately increased the tax base to $50 million and the millage was reduced by the County Commission to 11. On this basis, a former commissioner explained today, one mill produced about $200,000 in taxes. Under the old rate a mill provided about $35,000.

Seminole County's tax assessor, Mary Earl Walker, said: "We are now assessing on full value in this county under the just value law. This takes in the type of construction, cost, depreciation and several other criteria contained in the just value law."

Avery, in his statement, said, "It's unfair for business and commercial property owners to shoulder most of the tax load while home owners do not provide their share, and yet the home owners are the ones demanding most of the services."

Avery said that now Seminole's tax base is approximately $195 million with a millage rate of 13.25. He estimated that if Seminole properties were assessed at 100 percent the tax base would increase to well over $200 million and that one mill would produce about $210,000.

"It is possible," he said, "that the millage rate could be reduced back to 11." (See Story on Page 2)

Mayor Sets Celebration

Mayor A. L. Wilson of Sanford sounded a call today for all citizens of the city and county to join in the ringing of the Freedom Bells on July 4.

The observance of the 188th year since the signing of the Declaration of Independence will take place across the nation at 1 p. m., lasting for three minutes.

In Sanford sirens will blow and bells will ring and all citizens are urged to join in the celebration.

Mayor Wilson has issued a proclamation which reads in part:

"WHEREAS, the tolling of the Liberty Bell at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on the 4th day of July, 1776, proclaimed the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and

WHEREAS, the adoption of this historic document marked the birth of our country as a free and independent nation, and

WHEREAS, it is fitting that the anniversary of this great event should be appropriately observed in each year at the same moment throughout the United States.

NOW THEREFORE, be it resolved that I, A. L. Wilson, Mayor of the City of Sanford, Florida, do hereby request that all bells be rung for three minutes, starting at one o'clock on the afternoon of July 4, 1964 in observance of Independence and American freedom."

Patrol Leaving St. Augustine

The State Highway Patrol began withdrawing its forces from St. Augustine today in view of a truce that has brought racial peace to the historic tourist town.

Both integrationists and segregationists called off further demonstrations Tuesday after Gov. Farris Bryant appointed a biracial committee to study local racial problems. Businessmen followed up this development yesterday by announcing they would fully comply with the new pending civil rights law.

Patrol Officer Lee Simmons said most of the force would leave St. Augustine today but would "be on call to respond immediately if needed."

He would not say how many men would remain. The state had a force of more than 230 officers here at the peak of the racial trouble.

Gov. Bryant said he has not disclosed the identities of those he appointed to his biracial committee because he did not want to make their job more difficult.

The milestone measure—enacted after more than a year of congressional consideration—was sped to the White House where President Johnson planned to sign it into law this evening at a televised ceremony.

The final congressional action came when the House voted to accept the bill as amended by the Senate.

100 Percent Assessment May Hit All Florida Homeowners

MIAMI (UPI) — Dade County went to work Thursday doubling property assessments on its tax rolls to satisfy a court order that may prove a hard financial blow to homeowners all over the state.

Retiring County Attorney Darbey Davis said he felt a request for a rehearing would be useless in view of the state Supreme Court's unanimous ruling Wednesday upholding a lower court order for the county to value property for taxation at 100 per cent of its real worth.

County Manager Irving McNay ordered the tax department to work doubling assessments on the 1964 tax rolls to meet a July 15 deadline set by the courts.

Homeowners, however, probably will have the blow softened by a drop in millage to go with the increase in assessment. But homeowners in the lower price ranges are still likely to get a big boost in their tax bills this year as a result of the decision.

Dade had valued property for taxation at 50 per cent of cash value. Only three of the state's 67 counties now use full cash value in assessing property for taxation, thus, the Supreme Court ruling will act as a precedent for other counties who will have to either re-assess property or simply raise present assessments mathematically to meet the 100 per cent requirement.

The Dade case was started by attorneys for the Dupuy Plaza Center. They argued that their client was paying a greater share of taxes because private property owners were being assessed at less than full value.

The court turned down a plea from Dade County for a delay until 1966 of the effect of the full value order in order to provide time for a full re-assessment of property on the tax rolls.

The court pointed out that the county made a similar plea in a tax case in 1961 and said, "we think enough time has now elapsed." A 1961 re-assessment program never became final due to a number of political changes involving Metro government.

The court yesterday said the 80 per cent valuation now used by the county "is contrary to law and discriminatory," and in effect raises the state's homestead tax exemption limit from $5,000 to $10,000. In Dade, the court said, this resulted in letting about 35,000 homeowners get by without taxes.

Justice Richard Ervin wrote a special opinion in the case urging the delay requested by Dade County, but the full court did not accept his recommendation.

Ervin argued that tax assessors should not be coerced to require a mathematical doubling of the existing assessment of property.

Dade's present millage is set at 41. Estimates are that under full value assessment it will drop to somewhere in the vicinity of 17.

VAH-11 Relief Fund Drive Is Concluded

Heavy Attack Squadron Eleven, commanded by Cdr. B. W. Bartholomew, has recently concluded a highly successful Navy Relief fund drive conducted aboard the USS Franklin D. Roosevelt. Under the chairmanship of Ensign Albert G. Love and his division keymen, the officers and men of VAH-11 contributed over $1,000.00 to be used for the benefit of Navy Relief. With a squadron complement of 207 officers and men, this is an average of almost $5.00 contributed per man.

Lt. David E. Fitzgerald, overall chairman of the Navy Relief drive aboard the Roosevelt, received a check for $1,028.90 from Cdr. Bartholomew representing the Check-entails share of the contribution collected. Lt. Cdr. Fitzgerald was a member of Heavy Eleven for 22 months before being assigned to the Roosevelt in October of 1953. During the drive, which was conducted by the means of selling tickets for a series of prize drawings, the members of VAH-11 did not go unrewarded. Lt. (jg) Roger E. Newkirk won a stereo tape recorder and J. B. Clements, AN, won a wristwatch.

A successful summer recreation program is in its third week at South Seminole Elementary School at Casselberry with 170 boys and girls enrolled.

The program, which will be continued for four more weeks, is under direction of Coach Jim Clark of South Seminole Junior High School and Othell Sullivan and Mrs. Lois English of South Seminole Elementary.

It is open to youngsters, six to 16 years, Monday through Friday, from 8:30 until 11:30 a.m. Special events are planned for each Friday. A talent show is scheduled this week and a treasure hunt and field day already have taken place.

Arts and crafts and softball and basketball are among the many activities offered each day. A special room has been set aside for teenagers for dancing and games.

Island May Become Park

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department may turn Ellis Island, away to America for more than 18 million immigrants arriving in New York, into a national historical sanctuary and public park.

The tentative plan for the island, which has been closed since 1954, was presented to the Senate Wednesday.

Union Leader Ouster Rule Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time in history, the Labor Department has adopted regulations for removal of local union officers guilty of serious misconduct.

The action Wednesday established standards for judging if union procedures for dismissing officers accused of wrongdoing are adequate under the law.

The regulations also set up guidelines for setting up procedures if the union fails to follow through on its own by-laws.

The Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce will not meet tonight. The regular meetings of the civic organization have been disbanded for the summer. The next scheduled meeting will be on the first Thursday night in September.

First British Buses En Route To Cuba

LONDON (UPI) — A Communist ship is carrying 16 British buses to Communist Cuba today in defiance of U.S. efforts to ostracize Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime.

The buses, manufactured by Leyland Motors, were loaded aboard the Communist East German freighter Heinrich Heine earlier this week. They are the first of 350 such vehicles sold by Leyland to the Castroites for more than $25 million.

The British government refused to stop the sale, saying that it was "a simple commercial operation."

President Johnson made U.S. disapproval of the bus deal clear to Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home at their meeting in Washington earlier this year.

550 Holiday Deaths Seen

By United Press International
The festive Fourth of July holiday weekend begins tonight with a warning from the National Safety Council that as many as 550 Americans may die in accidents on the nation's streets and highways.

But because the holiday falls on Saturday, thousands of persons will be left off from their favorite beach or fishing resort.

Reinforced state and local police forces around the country hoped to keep the traffic death toll to a minimum.

The safety council estimated that between 450 and 550 persons would die in highway accidents between 6 p.m. local time today and midnight Sunday. Even if traffic deaths can be kept at the average for this time of year, the council said the holiday toll would be the second highest ever.

The current record for a three-day Independence Day weekend is 442 deaths in 1962.

Concept of the automobile was envisioned by Leonardo da Vinci more than 450 years ago.

Jimmy Barks To Be Delegate To Key Club Meel

Jimmy Barks, son of Dr. and Mrs. O. L. Barks of Sanford will be among 2,000 Key Clubbers and their adult advisers who will attend the 21st annual convention of Key Club International at Dallas, Texas, July 5 through 8.

Barks left Sanford Wednesday afternoon to represent the local club.

Key Club International is a service organization for high school boys, sponsored by Kiwanis International, and maintains similar ideals and objectives. There are more than 65,000 members in approximately 2,000 clubs located in high schools throughout the United States and Canada.

The big convention — which will headquarter at the Statler-Hilton Hotel, will get under way Sunday night with a speech by Governor Connally, followed by the presentation of the Key Club International Theme and Objectives for 1964-65. A theme and related objectives are developed each year to serve as a guideline for projects and activities of the International high school service organization through the coming school year.

Monday morning, the delegates will gather for a brunch highlighted by an address by Kiwanis President Charles A. Swain of Cape May, N. J. The Monday evening session will feature a speech by Ed Freeman, and the presentation of three college scholarships.

Tuesday the conventioners will have a business session and educational meetings, with a sightseeing tour in the afternoon. That evening finalists in the talent contest will compete for cash awards and "Ralph Edwards Talent Trophies."

President Kenneth Cohen will deliver his farewell address Wednesday afternoon at the final session of the convention. He is a senior at Ewing Township High School, Trenton, N. J., and has an outstanding record of service and leadership, coupled with high scholarship. Following his address, the newly elected officer will be inducted.

Tips To Heart Cases For Safe Vacation

This is the season when "vacation" becomes a household word, when dreams and discussions turn into reservations and road maps. The traditional road-up between mountains and shore went out with the Model T. Modern transportation makes the world your oyster — or are you allergic to shellfish? Still, vacation plans are formed as much by physical considerations as by financial ones.

Certain locations or activities are out if, say, Junior has hay fever, or Judy gets seasick even in the bath tub. Vacation is no time to be sick or to tempt fate.

Because approximately one out of every five households has a member with some form of cardiovascular ailment — including high blood pressure — Seminole-DeBary Heart Association offers some suggestions to help you make vacation time safe and pleasant for all members of the family.

The person with a chronic ailment should visit his physician before a vacation. Tell the doctor about your vacation plans, where you intend to go, how you intend to get there. For example, if you're flying, most commercial airlines have pressurized cabins, and can offer special diets or oxygen if needed, but it's best to make sure in advance.

Climate and altitude are two important factors to keep in mind, the Association says. High altitudes, with their oxygen-poor air, can make persons with some heart or respiratory ailments feel miserable. Heat and humidity add to the work of the heart because the cardiovascular system plays an important part in helping the body adjust to weather extremes.

If you find yourself at high altitude or in an excessively hot and humid area, rest a few days in order to give your body a chance to adjust to its surroundings before you start strenuous sports or sightseeing. Eat lightly sourishing foods. Don't get irritated. Take short rests. Dress comfortably.

If you require medication, take enough to see you through the trip. And just in case your pill box goes overboard or gets lost, ask your physician to make out an extra prescription blank to keep in your wallet.

Most people with chronic ailments have learned to live with them and know what they can and cannot do safely. In many ways, they are better off than their apparently healthy kinsman who hasn't had a physical examination in years and has no idea of his physical capacity or limitations. Many of these people, accustomed to soft living during the year, plunge into a frenzied vacation round of over-eating and over-exercising that can lead to trouble.

And, after all, vacations are to come back from.

Dressing Room View Shut Off

ALFERTON, England (UPI)—The town council decided Wednesday night to board up windows on the girls' dressing room at the city swimming pool after learning that anyone standing on the high diving board could see straight through them.

Councilor Kenneth Barnes said "it's perfectly true. I noticed it myself when I was there."

"I shall investigate," council surveyor Francis Walter said.

Exiles To March On OAS Meeting

MIAMI (UPI)—Plans for a Cuban exile march on Washington, when the foreign ministers of the Americas republics convene there July 21 to consider sanctions against the Fidel Castro regime, were announced here today.

A Cuban exile committee was formed to promote the plan which envisages a "peace parade" by some 50,000 refugees from Miami, New York, Chicago and other U. S. cities plus Puerto Rico.

The purpose of the march is front of the Organization of American States (OAS) building in Washington would be to spur the foreign ministers to take "some decisive action" against Castro, according to Luis Manuel Martinez, a committee member.

A caravan of buses and cars will be assembled to transport some exiles from here while others will go by train and plane if the plans are realized, Martinez added. The committee, headed by David Cabezas, hopes to rally 10,000 refugees from Miami alone for the parade. Cabezas is editor of an exile paper called Liberation.

The council of the OAS, meeting in Washington last Friday, ordered a meeting of foreign ministers for July 21. The vote was 17-0 with Mexico abstaining.

They will decide — on the basis of Venezuela's charges of aggression — what specific sanctions to apply against the Castro regime under the terms of the Rio treaty, a mutual defense pact among Latin American nations and the U. S.

Martinez claimed that "almost all exile groups in Miami are behind the plan. The newly-created Cuban Representation in Exile (RECE) organization said it will encourage its sympathizers to support the idea but that RECE itself is not participating in the march as a group.

A check of various other exile groups did not immediately bear out the march committee's claim of widespread support. Spokesmen for some organizations indicated they might favor the parade but would not back the parade committee.

Martinez said the marchers will be led by widows and orphans of Cubans killed by the Castro regime.

Deltona Civic Group Postpones Organization

By Mildred Haney
Peter Vlastor of Deltona has announced that all further meetings to organize a civic association in Deltona will be postponed until further notice.

At a meeting May 13 in the Community Center, Vlastor was appointed chairman of a group to select a committee to prepare a constitution and by-laws. Three meetings have been held since to study and make any changes in the constitution recommended by the group. At the last committee meeting, it was agreed that a meeting of all residents be held in the near future, but Vlastor now feels there aren't enough interested residents to warrant a successful association being organized at the time. However, he does wish to thank everyone who has helped him in any way with his efforts so far, and additional offers of assistance from anyone with organizing ability will be appreciated.

State Starts Year With Cash Balance

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Sales tax collections for the past 12 months topped legislative anticipations by $1.5 million, state revenue Commissioner J. Ed Straughn reported today.

This assured the state of a small cash balance as the new year opened today, although the exact amount won't be known until all bills are paid. The books will be kept open several more days for outstanding bills.

"Naturally, we are quite pleased," Straughn said.

Collections totaling exactly $230,091,735 for the fiscal year compared with the $228,500,000 which the legislature estimated it would have to produce in order to balance the state budget.

The collected topped 1962-63 by a whopping $37.7 million, or 20.2 per cent. The 1963 legislature increased the taxable items and spread in order to insure more revenue.

May business was a major factor in the bright financial picture, according to Straughn. Collections based on May business totaled $18,285,316, up 16.6 per cent or $2.6 million over the same period last year.

The five per cent wholesale sporting goods tax, recently upheld by Leon county circuit court and now headed for a supreme court test, produced $75,461 in June, 13.7 per cent decline under way. Total collections for the fiscal year amounted to $890,103 which was under expectations, mostly because many outlets didn't collect the tax pending a final determination of its validity.

Thinking Out Loud

By Julian Stenstrom

If it weren't for the fact that the major leagues must wait until a boy or his class graduates from high school, in all probability the scouts of every major baseball team in the business would be after Skip Senkarik.

He's the sensational youngster who hurled and batted the Hunt Lincoln-Mercury Comets to the Little National League title in the City Recreation Department's baseball program. He threw two no-hitters during the season in winning 10 games.

And then Tuesday night, in the first game of the city series with the Navy's Sailors, winners of the Little American League title, Senkarik came up with his top performance of the year—a perfect game.

The youngster is also a sensational basketball player. He participated in the Biddy Basketball League during the winter and set all kinds of scoring records. In fact his scoring was so outstanding he was rated national mention in Sports Illustrated.

Wonder what he'll do when he's old enough to play football?

The wire services, particularly United Press International, feel that the prospects for congressional passage of legislation creating a federal czar to oversee professional boxing seem quite remote.

The legislation, along with a bill designed to place all pro team sports on an equal basis in exempting certain of their player activities from federal anti-trust laws, was approved Tuesday by the Senate's anti-trust subcommittee.

Both measures were cleared in a closed-door session of the panel, headed by Senator Philip Harp (D-Mich.) and were sent to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

However, you can get odds that it'll remain there at least for the remainder of this session.

There's much which can be said for and against the anti-trust measure. But as for boxing needing a czar, well—there's no question about that.

Boxing must either have a czar, with powers as broad—if not more so—than those of the baseball commissioner, or boxing likely will be abolished in so many states the sport will vanish from the American scene.

Remember the old expression about the town with three baseball teams—one coming, one playing and one going?

Within the last couple of weeks our old friend Calvin Griffith has been wheeling and dealing for pitchers who will make his sluggers worth while.

He has engineered 14 player changes but his power-laden Twins still are no better than fourth place in the American League. It's all because they can't get the pitching they need to be commensurate with the hitting.

Calvin does see, apparently, a ray of hope. He bought relief hurler Johnny Klippstein from the Phillies last Sunday and just before that he obtained veteran Al Worthington.

Al came through with three and a third frames of one-hit relief work to provide the Twins with a save. The Twins' home run production is nearing the 120-mark in about 75 games. If they can get pitching there's so telling what might happen. If they don't get some hurling—the handwriting is on the wall.

Navy Blanks Hunt To Even Little League City Series

Rufus Hits And Hurls Sailors To 4 To 0 Win

The Navy nine, Little American League champions, rebounded Wednesday night in the second game of its best two-out-of-three-game series with the titleholders of the Little National League to whitewash the Lincoln-Mercury Comets of Hunt's, 4 to 0.

The City Recreation Department's Little League city series is now knotted at one-game apiece since the Automaton shutout the Sailors 3 to 0 in the first of the two contests.

The "decider" will be played tonight at Fort Mellon Park. Game time is scheduled for 7:30.

In last night's all important affair—it was a must win for the Navy—Andy Rufus walked off with the most valuable player honors.

Rufus took the mound and was in complete charge throughout the tilt. After yielding a double to the Comets' lead-off hitter, Skipper Senkarik, Rufus riddled six innings of hitless baseball.

Over the span he permitted only four base runners. One got there on a hit, another on an error, and Rufus handed out two free tickets himself. He whiffed 13, however.

The records indicate it was the first time a Little American League twirler had fired a shutout this season. "I'm real happy," Rufus commented when the encounter was over. He said he figured this was his best game by far this season and was glad it came during the playoffs.

Not only did the youngster shine brightly on the hill, he did his share and more in the clutch of the four Navy runs. He clouted a homer—a long drive over the center field wall.

Navy scored what proved to be the winning runs in the opening stanza when Walt Jordan singled in Ray Millwood with the first tally and scored himself moments later on an infield single by Scott Harris. Jordan and Rufus each had two hits and Harris had a lone safety to account for the Navy's five bingles.

Tonight the Navy is expected to go with either Jordan or Harris on the mound while the Comets will probably counter with their ace, Senkarik, who won the opener for the automaton by pitching a perfect, no-hit, no-run contest.

Last night's contest attracted an estimated crowd of 250 persons and another capacity audience is anticipated for tonight's affair.

The score by innings:
Hunt (LN) 000 000—0 1 2
Navy (LA) 300 11x—4 5 1
WP—Rufus, LP—Hilchcock;
HR—Rufus (Navy) fifth

Fall PGA Tour To Feature 8 Tournaments

DUNEDIN (UPI) — The fall segment of the 1964 Professional Golfer Association tour will offer $500,777 in prize money.

The pro golf schedule begins with the Dallas Open Invitational on Sept. 4, and runs to the Haig and Haig Scotch mixed foursome invitational on Dec. 10, the PGA announced Wednesday.

Pro golfers will compete for $320,000 in the eight official tournaments, while $28,777 in prize money will be at stake in the unofficial events.

Four of the official tournaments have upped their purses from last season. The Portland Open Invitational, which will offer $40,000 next year, and the Fresno Open Invitational, with a total purse of $33,000, have both increased their purses by $10,000.

The Greater Seattle Open Invitational raised its purse from $35,000 to $40,000, while the Cajun Classic added $2,500 to make its total $30,000. The Haig and Haig Scotch mixed four-some invitational will offer a $30,000 purse, an increase of $10,000.

Marichal And Koufax Continue Torrid Two-Man Pitching Duel

By George C. Langford
UPI Sports Writer

Grandpa can stop turning back the clock to the good old days of Hubble and Dean and Newhouse and Feller because Juan Marichal and Sandy Koufax may be staging the best two-man pitching duel yet.

Marichal, 28, and Koufax, 25, both 25-game winners last season, became the first two major league pitchers to achieve 11 victories this year when they recorded triumphs Wednesday.

Koufax, the 28-year-old Dodger dandy, was suffering from a stiff neck and a sore elbow Wednesday night and rated as a doubtful starter against the Phillies until he warmed up before the game. But the sturdy left-hander knew Marichal already had curbed his 11th victory in a 3-1 afternoon decision for the Giants over the Pirates.

So Koufax, not to be outdone, took to the mound despite his aches and buried his seventh straight victory—3-2 over Phils—and struck out 10 men, extending his all-time record for 10-or-more strike outs in a game to 56.

Koufax (11-4) allowed only five hits in dropping the Phillies 1 1/2 games behind the league-leading Giants. It marked his eighth consecutive victory against the Phillies dating back to 1961.

Marichal (11-3) was touched for eight hits and had base runners on in all but two innings. However, he survived with clutch pitching and the aid of Willie Mays' 2nd home run in the first and back-to-back doubles by Del Crandall and Jose Pagan in the second inning.

Bob Voale (7-6) was the loser. The Dodgers spotted the Phillies a 2-0 lead on John Callison's 11th homer with Cookie Rojas on base in the fourth, then rallied for a single run in the fifth and two in the fifth and two in the sixth. Ron Fairly singled home what proved to be the winning run off loser Dennis Bennett (8-5).

The Cardinals crushed the Braves 6-1, the Reds edged the Cubs 5-3 in 10 innings and the Mets outgunned the Colts 3-0 in other National League results.

Longers Take First Spot In Furniture Loop

The Longers won a three-point decision from the Recliners to grab the number one spot in the Wilson-Malzer Women's Scratch League at Jet Lanes.

Isabel Goshorn shot the high series for the Longers with 170/469.

Claudette Behrens with 178/472 and Dot Johnson with 178/472 for the Recliners were not quite enough to offset the better balanced bowling of the Longers. The Red Posts dropped three points to the Commodore but were able to hang on to the second spot in the league standings.

For the Red Posts it was Verna Bolton setting the pace with 170/461 and for the Commodore it was Shirley Martin "bombing" a 173/489.

Helen Altman had her big ball churning up the pins as she rolled 180/487 to lead the Easy Chairs to a four point sweep of the Rockers. Barbara Rohrer hit for 105/448 for the Rockers. In the final match of the afternoon the Settlers put the skills to the test in a four-game win as Kathy Gray rolled 177/464 and Elaine Kostival chimed in with a 168/402.

Helen Altman and Isabel Goshorn rolled the only "turkeys" while a number of girls came through in the split department, namely: Shirley Sigla and Verna Bolton who converted the 3-10, Barbara Rohrer who made the 4-5-7, Claudette Behrens the 5-6, Carolyn Salles the 2-7 and the 6-7-10 and Helen Altman with the 2-10.

Brandt Is Playing As If He Plans To Stay In Baltimore

By George C. Langford
UPI Sports Writer

Jack "Jackie" a kid's name" Brandt thought the Baltimore Orioles would trade him in on a hard-hitting, less eccentric centerfielder last winter.

"They didn't get rid of me," Brandt said with clownish surprise. "I'm glad because my kids are just starting to talk like Baltimoreans. They slur their words just the way the people do who live here and it would be a shame to have to move."

Brandt's behavior may be a bit unusual, but there is nothing strange about the way he's delivering crucial hits for the surging Orioles. The 30-year-old leadoff man is currently on a 12-game hitting streak and he's playing as if he wants his three children to grow up with a Baltimore slur.

Brandt stepped to the plate with the Orioles trailing the Angels 2-1 in the eighth inning Wednesday night and drilled a two-run single, then raced home on an error after an infield hit by Luis Aparicio to give Baltimore a 4-2 victory.

Dave McNally (6-5) yielded seven hits in gaining the victory which pushed Baltimore four games ahead of the Yankees, who dropped an 11-inning, 3-4 decision to the Athletics. Loser Dean Chance (5-5) was the victim of the eighth inning uprising.

The Minnesota Twins bombarded the Red Sox 14-3, the White Sox swept a pair from Washington 8-7 and 7-1, and Detroit tripped Cleveland 3-1 in other American League action.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DAYTONA BEACH Fla.—(NEA)—Trying to outrun the revenuers used to be a way of life down South. Now it has passed into the lore of sports.

The boys got so good careening around those mountain ruts that people turned out for the fun.

"That's where all the good stock car drivers are supposed to come from," laughs A. J. Foyt, a rather sober young man, "—running those whiskey stiffs."

Foyt bridges a curious world of racing. He is a brilliant pilot of "championship" cars, the built-for-racing breed that you see at Indianapolis, where he won the "500" this last Memorial Day. He got started as a hot-rodder jockey with stock cars, and he still goes back to them, like for the "Firecracker 400" at Daytona International Speedway July 4.

On the other hand, you have men like Richard Petty, who tops the money rolls for NASCAR races this year, and Fred Lorenzen, who won $113,700 last year (which has got to beat running rum).

They stick solely to the stocks.

"If you're a true and good race driver," says Foyt, "you can adapt yourself to any kind of car." Indicating that Petty and Lorenzen would feel right at home in the championship species, if they had the whim—or could afford to gamble on the whim.

Yet there is a distinct and challenging difference in the two brands of racing. "In a closed car, you don't realize you're running quite as fast," points out Foyt. "And with the speeds up, it has become a lot more dangerous when you're drafting and racing each other."

"Drafting" is the vacuum created by proximity to another car, like a little sports car being shoved around when it passes a truck on a highway.

"It can pick you up and turn you around," says Foyt. "A lot of guys go into spins without realizing what caused it. In the open cockpit cars, though, the risk isn't quite as bad because you're not breaking as much wind with their better wind stalling."

"Personally, I enjoy the championship cars because you can maneuver them better and outrun the other guy. The stock cars carry two and a half times as much weight and have 427 cubic inches against 255. One of 'em is like a bus against an itty bitty sports car."

Foyt also measures the difference in hard work. At Indianapolis, he says, he never gets tired. But winning a 100-mile test at Langhorne (as he did) "beats you so bad, you can't hardly breathe." The one area of relaxation is a road race, like Sebring.

"I've never gotten tired yet on a road course," he says. "For one thing, you know you're not going to hit a wall. They can joke about Indianapolis being one big left-hand turn, but that left-hand turn is more critical than any road course. Seven-hundredths of a second can beat you on an oval. It has me. On a road course they'll finish 10 seconds apart."

There is more protection in a stock car than a championship class speed wagon because of the roof and the roll bars all around the driver. But Foyt is reluctant to admit one is more dangerous than the other. Easier handling compensates for less chassis.

The stock cars are just like the family gas buggy except for special wheels and front ends installed as a safety factor (Lorenzen says, "It'll take 176 to 177 miles an hour to sit on the pole in the Firecracker 400").

For Foyt, it's just like driving to work in the morning. And without a revenuer tugging him.

The Great Lakes were formed by glacial scour during the last Ice Age, according to Britannica.

Sires And Smith Limit Post 242 To Two Safeties

Rick Sires and Donnie Smith teamed up on the mound Wednesday night at Sanford's Memorial Stadium to throw a two-hitter and enable their mates, Sanford's Post 19 American Legion Junior baseball nine to register a 5 to 1 victory over Orlando's Post 242.

About 90 fans were on hand for the first portion of the tilt but when the Little League series game between the Hunt Comets and the Sailors of Navy ended at Fort Melon Park the crowd swelled to far more than 200.

The win gave the locals a record of nine victories against four defeats thus far this season and placed them one game behind the district leaders, Orlando's Post 19, in the district standings.

Sanford will have an opportunity Friday night to move into a tie for first place when they go to Orlando for a tilt with Post 19 at Oak Ridge High's field. The game will start at 7:30 p.m.

Last night Sires gave up Orlando's two hits and the one run Post 242 scored. That run came in the opening frame when the third man to go to the plate, Bill Hill, smashed one of Sires' offerings completely out of the park.

Sanford rebounded in their half of the second and put together a pair of hits and a free pass to tally twice. Insurance runs were added in the third and fifth. In the third a walk and a pair of Orlando miscues produced a lone marker and a walk, two hits and an error accounted for the local's final run in the fifth.

Sires whiffed 10, permitted two hits, walked five and hit one batter during his stint. He was relieved by Smith in the sixth who hurled two innings of hitless ball. He fanned three and walked one.

The score by innings: Orlando (242) 100 000 0—12; Sanford (19) 021 020 x—580. P. Sires, J. Coleman (6) and M. Coleman; Sires, Smith (6) and Higgins.

St. Richards Council of Sanford hosted the Central Florida Knights of Columbus Traveling Bowling League at Jet Lanes recently and Team No. 1 from Sanford won three out of a possible four points to clinch the loop's top spot.

Team No. 2 from Sanford took all four points from its opponents and now share second place with New Smyrna Beach.

Seven Councils in central Florida are represented in the circuit.

Goldsmith Testing New Driving Suit

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) — Paul Goldsmith, holder of the official track lap record at Daytona International Speedway with a 175.039 MPH mark, made a practice run Wednesday at 173.113 in his '64 Plymouth.

By Bill Vincent Jr. A 38-year-old NASCAR racing champion, Paul Goldsmith, was in Sanford yesterday to complete arrangements with Sunny Hayes, new owner and operator of Sun-Sun Chrysler-Plymouth, to carry the firm's colors during Saturday's running of the sixth annual Firecracker 400 at the Daytona Beach International Speedway.

Goldsmith, a veteran stock car racing pilot since 1947, is the man picked by most racing experts and writers to capture the July Fourth event on the speedway's 2.5 mile oval.

Today at Daytona Beach Goldsmith, mindful of the recent accident which nearly took the life of Glen (Fireball) Roberts at Charlotte a couple of weeks past, tested a new experimental racing suit designed to cool a driver's body during a race and also prevent serious injuries sometimes caused by fire as the result of an accident.

Today's test will determine whether or not Goldsmith will wear the newly designed suit during Saturday's race.

Goldsmith, who is driving a '64 Plymouth which was readied by a factory team of experts here at Sun-Sun, thus far has attained qualifying speeds up to 176-plus miles per hour.

He won the last Firecracker to be run on the beach-racer course at Daytona in 1958, driving a '58 Pontiac.

When not driving, Goldsmith is engaged in managing his business of rebuilding aircraft engines at Griffin, Ind. He told reporters yesterday that he enjoys racing stock cars and that "it's a pleasure to me." He also said that he put more miles on cars during test runs at Sebring than the drivers who actually race the vehicles.

Goldsmith said that he always had advice to give motorists. His rules are simple.

Three Teams Tie For Loop Lead In Motor Loop

After all the matches this week in the Bill Hemphill Motorcycles League were over, a three-way stalemate resulted as the LeSabres, Invictas and Bonnevilles all had records of eight wins and four losses.

The LeSabres managed to get a split in their match with the Tempests for a first place tie. The Invictas won a four-point sweep from the Ramblerettes as Dot Kirtley hit for a 175/420 and Carole Mace did the heavy work for the Ramblerettes with 166/413.

For the Bonnevilles in their four-game nod it was June Gassman with 189/436 and Kat Noel with 118/420. Mert Holley was the star for the Pontiacs with a good 176 and 422 series.

In the split department Dot Kirtley converted the 5-7-9 and Kat Noel the 5-6-10. Mert Holley bowled a "turkey" and June Gassman contributed a four-bagger to the Bonnevilles four-game sweep.

Fireball Roberts Dies Of Burns Suffered Month Ago

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Fireball Roberts died this morning. Death came to one of the most successful and colorful stock car racing drivers after he fought valiantly against burns he suffered over a month ago. He was 33 years old. Strangely, Roberts gained his nickname for his pitching in high school baseball and not for the way he drove in stock car races.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Glenn (Fireball) Roberts hovered near death in a hospital today but doctors reported he was "holding his own."

However, Roberts remained in a coma and his condition was still "grave"—extremely critical.

The veteran, 33-year-old driver from Daytona Beach, who is suffering from burns over 70 per cent of his body, lapsed in a deep coma Wednesday shortly after undergoing a tracheotomy to aid his breathing.

Doctors reported his condition was severely complicated by pneumonia and a blood infection, common among burn victims.

Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Glenn Roberts Sr., and his brother, Tommy, 24, were near his side. His daughter, Pam, 13, also was nearby.

Roberts, who sustained his burns in a three-car smashup here during the World 600 May 24, had been improving steadily until this week when he took a turn for the worse Monday. It was then when he was stricken with the blood infection and pneumonia.

He slipped from satisfactory to fair condition and Wednesday morning doctors ordered the tracheotomy, which consists of inserting a tube in the windpipe to make breathing easier.

But his condition worsened steadily after the operation and he was at the brink of death.

Shrine, Elks To Resume Junior Series Tonight

The playoff for the championship of the City Recreation Department's Junior Boys League resumes tonight at Sanford's Memorial Stadium.

The Elks, winners of the league's first half and the Shriners, second half titleholders, will clash in the second contest of the best two-out-of-three-game series at 7:30 p.m.

It will be a must affair for the Elks since the Shriners grabbed the first encounter by a score of 8 to 4.

Steve Leach is expected to toe the rubber for the Shriners tonight while the Elks plan to give the hurling assignment to Gary Maples.

Miss Susan Skinner, Walter Neal Exchange Vows Of Holy Matrimony

Miss Susan Lynn Skinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Linwood Skinner of Sanford, and Walter Ernest Neal Jr., son of Mrs. Walter Ernest Neal of Liberty, N. C. and the late Dr. Neal were united in holy matrimony June 27, 1944 at 11 a. m. at the First Methodist Church of Sanford with Rev. Milton Wyatt and Rev. Robert Jenkins performing the impressive single ring ceremony.

The church was a profusion of greenery with baskets of gladioli and white carnations used in the church decor.

Mrs. Ben Wiggins, organist, played the traditional nuptial hymns with Richard Holtzclaw, baritone, singing "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a floor length A-line gown of silk organza featuring hand embroidered embroidery. The bodice neckline was softly curved with bracelet length sleeves and dainty traditional self-covered buttons down the back. The detachable chapel length train of silk organza flowed gracefully from the waistline and the shoulder length veil of English illusion was attached to a forward head-piece of crystals and tube rose petals. The bride carried yellow and white roses beautifully arranged in a Colonial round bouquet.

Mrs. Paul B. Wells of Stamford, Conn., attended her sister as maid of honor and attending as bridesmaids were Miss Sue Neal and Miss Ann Neal, sisters of the groom, the attendants were gowned in identical street length A-line alceveola gowns of yellow cotton falls with round necklines. Their headpieces were tailored bows of matching tulle and white, and they carried nosegays of white daisies.

Jim Neal served his brother as best man and ushers were Tommy Johnson, Pat

Wilson and Charles Fox. Little Miss Kim Raynor, niece of the groom, was flower girl and Bruce Raynor, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

The bride's mother was attended in a smart gold tuckered imported lawn with a softly

Mrs. Ira Southward Hosts Luncheon Bridal Shower For Miss Kay Ivey

In a bridal atmosphere with pastel pink predominant in the decor, Mrs. Ira Southward was the gracious hostess at her lovely Hibiscus Court home to an elaborate bridal luncheon, honoring Miss Kay Ivey, vivacious bride-elect of Ronald Lindsey, with her attractive daughter, Mrs. Al Doudney, assisting in serving.

The spacious reception rooms were filled with contemporary arrangements of multi-hued floral designs with an antique silver cierge centering the buffet and holding pink piece roses, grown by Mrs. Southward, with baby breath and white carnations and an assortment of toasted nuts and party candles. Pink tapered glowed from antique silver candelabra.

An exquisite imported pink Irish linen cloth overlaid the bride-elect's table, centered with an arrangement of varied pink carnations, fern and baby's breath. Bridal place cards marked the places, and a delectable five course luncheon of chicken alouine in ramekins, asparagus and mushroom en casserole, congealed salad, home made rolls, assorted relishes, strawberry parfait, and white individual cakes with pink roses delighted the luncheon guests.

At another individual table in the dining room, identical to the bridal table, the hostess seated four mothers affiliated with the bride-elect, who were Mrs. John Ivey, mother of the bride; Mrs. Edwin Lindsey, mother of the future groom; Mrs. Thomas F. McDaniel, Miss Marilyn McDaniel's mother and Mrs. Ray Herron, mother of Miss Judy Herron.

Other luncheon guests were Miss Marilyn McDaniel, Mrs. Thomas Bowden, Miss Patti Glenn Johnson, Miss Judy Herron, Mrs. William Beck, Miss Gwynn Williams, Miss Jeanne Robson, Mrs. Dale Scott, and daughter, Little Miss Daylyn Scott.

Homemakers

While on my recent trip to the west I had some really wonderful recipes given to me by some swell homemakers in both Missouri and Mississippi. What wonderful cooks there are out that way! My daughter receives the Sanford Herald daily and she has to let her neighbors read it and they said they have certainly enjoyed the corner and wanted me to be sure to tell the editor how much they enjoyed the paper although they did not know any one here. So this week I would like to share some of their recipes that they so graciously gave with you.

Here are two from a lucky lady who has the plum tree in her yard and the tomatoes in her big garden. She did have to buy the Florida

TOMATO MARMALADE
6 lbs. tomatoes
2 oranges
1 lemon
3 lbs. sugar
Cut tomatoes in pieces. Slice oranges and lemon fine, discarding seeds and add to tomatoes. Add sugar, cook slowly 3 hours, stirring to prevent sticking. Makes 4 pints.

If you would like a conserve out of the marmalade just add 1/2 box of seedless raisins to the marmalade and cook, and when ready to pour into jars add 1/2 lb. chopped walnut meats.

PLUM GUMBO
5 lbs. plums
2 lbs. seedless raisins
3 oranges
5 lbs. sugar
Wipe plums, remove stones and cut in pieces. Chop raisins, slice oranges and cut in thin slices crosswise, removing seeds. Put fruit in kettle, add sugar, bring to boiling point and simmer until as thick as marmalade. Makes 8 pints.

According to this homemaker this Mock Angel Cake is much improved in flavor if not used until a day after baking it.

MOCK ANGEL CAKE
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups cake flour
3 tps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup scalded milk
1 tsp. vanilla
2 egg whites, beaten stiff
Sift sugar, flour, baking powder and salt 4 times. Stir in milk, little by little. Add vanilla. Fold in whites of eggs. Pour into small upturned tube pan. Bake in 350 degree oven for 45 minutes.

I'm sure you won't get stung by this one.

WASPS NEST
1/2 lb. blanched almonds
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
3 egg whites
1/2 lb. confectioners sugar
1 cake semi-sweet chocolate, grated
Shred almonds lengthwise. Cook sugar and water until it spins a thread. Stir in almonds. Beat egg whites until stiff, beat in confectioners sugar and add chocolate and almond mixture. Arrange by 1/2 teaspoons on buttered and floured cookie sheet. Bake in 300 degree oven for 25 minutes. Let stand for 10 minutes and remove from pan. Makes 100 small cookies.

This homemaker says that large dry carrots are best for using in her Carrot Turtle dessert. This is very pretty as well as delicious.

CARROT TORTE
4 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1 cup raw grated carrots
grated rind 1 lemon juice of 1/2 lemon
1/2 cup flour
1 tsp. baking powder
4 egg whites, beaten stiff
1/4 pt. heavy cream
Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beat in sugar. Add carrots, lemon rind and juice. Add flour and baking powder, sifted together. Fold in egg whites. Bake in 2 layers, cake pans. Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Put together with whipped cream. Spread cream on top. Serves 6.

This next one for Baked Lemon Pudding from a Missouri lady sounds good, too. The top is cakelike with a soft lemon custard beneath which provides a source for the pudding. For a richer dessert spread with a thin layer of unsweetened whipped cream.

BAKED LEMON PUDDING
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
3 egg yolks beaten
2 tps. grated lemon rind
1/2 cup lemon juice
2 tps. melted butter
1 1/2 cups milk
3 egg whites
Sift 1 cup sugar with flour, baking powder and salt. To yolks add lemon rind, juice, butter and milk. Beat well. Stir in flour mixture and beat until smooth. Beat egg whites until stiff, not remaining sugar a tablespoon at a time, then fold into mixture. Pour into buttered 2 qt. baking dish. Set in pan containing 1/2 inch hot water. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Chill at least 1 hour before serving. Serves 6.

Okay, still another.

Beat jam with hand or electric beater until smooth. Stir in lemon juice and salt, gradually add milk, beating after each addition. Fold in cream. When mixture begins to set, turn into bowl and beat well with egg beater, then return to tray and continue freezing until firm.

The same homemaker that gave the above recipe gave this one, too.

1/2 cup white, beaten
1 1/2 tps. grated lemon rind
1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
2 tps. granulated sugar

Administrator Needed

Within a short time the members of Seminole County's Board of Commissioners will open the so-called County Commission office on the ground floor of the Courthouse.

At the present time it is the plan of the Commissioners to employ an office secretary to "mind the store."

While the Commission is making this move The Herald feels that it ought to consider going one step further and investigate the possibilities of employing an administrative assistant.

Not too long ago a Herald reporter contacted the chairman of the Commission. In the course of obtaining information for a news story the chairman remarked, "I'll get you a copy of this just as soon as I can go to the Courthouse and see if I can find someone with a secretary I can get to type it out."

This is absolutely no reflection on the chairman of the County Commission. But it does raise some concern among the citizenry who feel that the men who are entrusted to the operation of a multi-million dollar "business" should have a more practical system in effect for conducting the county's business.

In the Herald's observations of County Commission meetings it has become quite evident that much of the business brought by individuals to the attention of the Commission during bi-monthly meetings of the board could easily be handled by a county administrative employee.

In most cases brought before the board, the matters at hand are presented to the Commissioners for the first time. In most of these instances the questions at hand cannot be decided and must be held over until the next meeting to give the commissioner in district affected time to go out on his own and personally investigate whatever problem exists.

If a county administrative officer, or even if he were called an administrative assistant, were available in the County Commission office, in all probability he could handle half of the matters normally brought to the Commission without them even having to be presented to the board members in session.

In many instances those items presented to the Commission already would have been investigated by the administrative assistant and the Commission could make its judgment without the unnecessary delay such questions now encounter.

In addition, individuals or groups from the extreme sections of the county consistently have to make two or three trips to the Courthouse before the questions they have are answered in one way or another by the Commission.

The Herald believes that an administrative assistant would make for better public relations between the County Commission and its citizens. An administrative assistant would save valuable time for both the constituents as well as the Commissioners.

"Proof of the pudding" lies in the fact that it would be extremely difficult for anyone to go into private life and find a comparable business which did not have an administrative officer to handle the multitude of details a business as large as our county government must consider in and day out.

2 Views On Poverty War

WASHINGTON, D. C. — After Civil Rights, we have the War on Poverty. The bill called the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 has been favorably reported by the House Education-Labor Committee. The same bill is before the Senate labor-welfare special committee, on its way to floor action.

Anticipating these events, I spent a week in the Navy Air Training Command where college-educated aviators, and school-educated maintenance crews, are lifted from civilian life and submitted to boy-to-man transition. I felt that the poverty-warriors could learn about this educational process from the military.

Two letters, one from Sargent Shriver and one from a Texas newspaper editor, carry the idea a little further.

Shriver, the director designate of the Poverty War, writes that the military's experience is "an invaluable resource" on which he expects to draw in training the poverty-retarded youths who will come under his charge. But he has these reservations:

"The poor corps youths are largely 'military rejects' who are drawn from the 'most deprived stratum' — the one-fifth of the nation that is poverty-marked. One purpose of the anti-poverty drive is to teach these boys enough to make them militarily acceptable. Thus, to some extent, the economic opportunity courses will be pre-military training.

But the camps and centers of the poor corps will be run, says Shriver, on the basis of "permissive" discipline. Since all the boys will be volunteers, he hopes they will do as they're told. He hopes to keep them so busy, both in class and at physical labor, that desertion, insubordination and malingering will not be serious problems.

Well, maybe. But I was a school teacher in the 1930's, and it's hard to imagine a school system without some form of punitive control. I have interviewed a two-star admiral who, in that same period, was a Navy lieutenant (j.g.) in the New Deal's Civilian Conservation Corps at Plattburg.

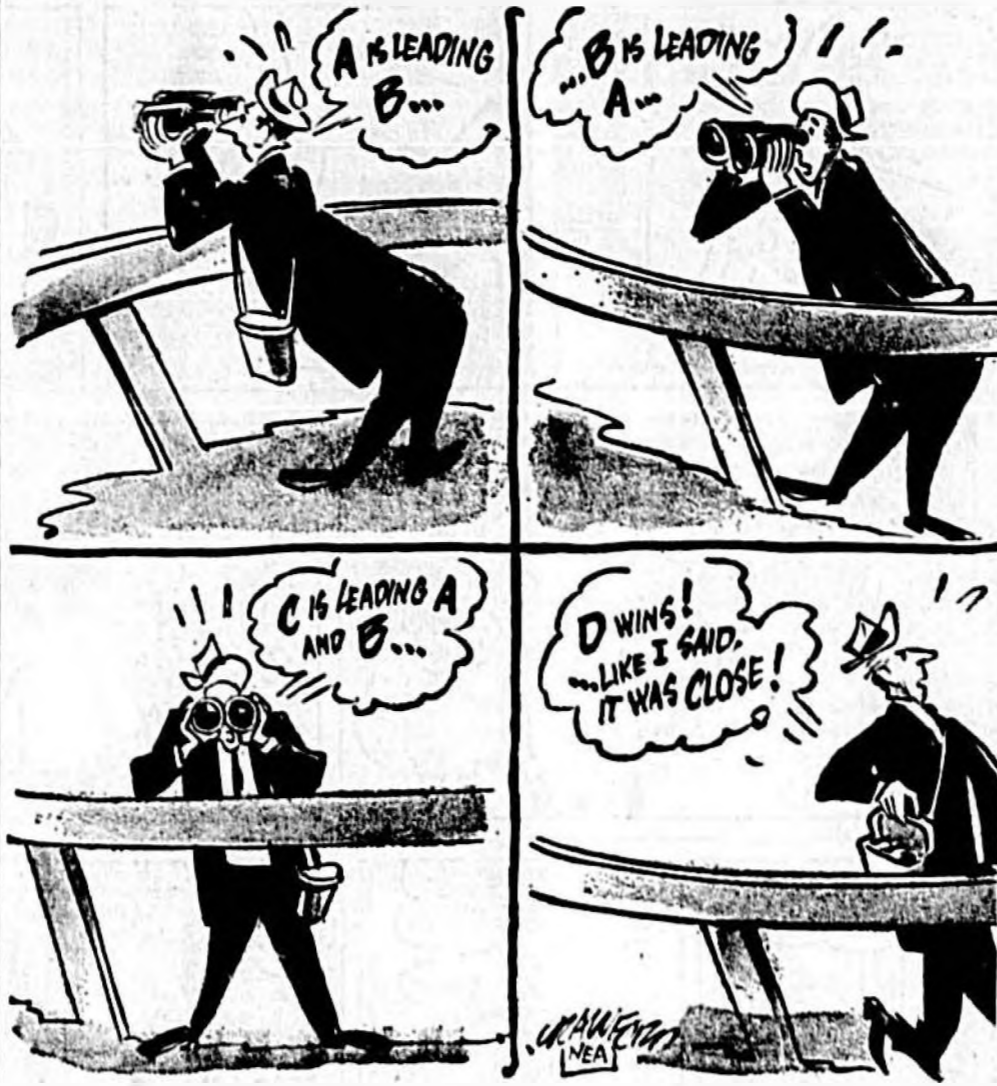

He said that the boys ran riot until the camp imported a contingent of six-footers from the N. Y. State Police. The cops restored discipline. At an all-Negro camp in New Jersey, discipline was accomplished only when a strapping West Pointer challenged the mutineers to step up, one at a time, and fight it out with him. Maybe this generation of delinquent youth is more tractable, and won't need the rough stuff, but that's not in the record.

The Texas editor writes that he has "been pounding many years" for peaceful use of the military in training unemployed youth and dropouts. He feels that this could be done in the home towns, as a supplement to and improvement of our public school system. He feels very strongly that part of the $52 billion a year that we invest in national defense should go to salvaging the droop of our young man-power.

These boys go to schools where there is "no discipline," "no aura of excellence" and "no incentive except for those who have the very strong desire. And those who don't, the very ones who need direction the most, are dropped by the wayside, and become public charges on the unemployed rolls, or in care of the police."

There is much evidence that "permissive" homes and schools are a major cause of the American social rot, and it is manifest that the military services are the best training systems at our disposal. Congress now has a WASHINGTON (NEA) — Congress could move by late August to try to bar U. S. courts from taking a hand in state reapportionment.

A sense of urgency grips those in and out of Congress who want to forestall general overhaul of state legislatures in accord with the Supreme Court's June 15 ruling which decreed that both legislative houses must be apportioned on a population basis.

"If action on a constitutional amendment to nullify this decree is not quickly begun, opponents of the decision fear it may be too late. A high proportion of state legislatures will be under compulsion to act under the court's ruling. Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois already has sparked a GOP Policy Committee discussion of a proposed amendment. And Rep. William McCulloch, R-Ohio, is pushing a similar proposition in the House.

Policy Committee members want time to study the idea. A Dirksen staff man is busy raking over old cases which might throw light on the constitutional aspects of the matter.

Meantime, a big head of steam is building up. Some 15 governors perturbed at the court's decision have conveyed their concern to Dirksen and others.

The present suggested language of what may be called the Dirksen amendment reads as follows: "Each state shall have exclusive power to determine the composition of its legislature and the apportionment of the membership of each house thereof.

"Such power shall not be duty to shape Economic Opportunity into a real chance — and a very late one — for this generation of American youth. It can't be done without discipline.

infringed by the United States or by any branch of government thereof."

Dirksen does not indicate it, but it is a fact that sweeping reapportionment might rob the Illinois State Senate of several Republican seats. Pressure to block such a change is bearing down on him and others with similar home state situations.

Yet the breadth and intensity of interest in a blocking amendment is no assurance that it would find easy, automatic ratification from the necessary 38 state legislatures.

Some specialists in federal-state relations argue that numerous state legislatures with one house already reasonably well-founded on population may resist an amendment banning all federal court intervention.

The list of such legislatures is expected to swell this year. Unless the counterforce of a blocking amendment intervenes, the total could expand rapidly in 1965.

One significant straw in the wind comes out of Sarasota, Fla., where a large group of southern legislators, state administrators and other state officials took a surprisingly mild tact in a resolution approved just four days after the Supreme Court decision. They did not demand that the U. S. courts be barred altogether from stepping into state reapportionment.

These 226 officials, meeting at the Southern Conference of the Council of State Governments, simply urged a flexible approach which would take account of "regional and local values" and allow one legislative house to be apportioned according to criteria other than population.

And it should not be forgotten that a roughly similar blocking amendment, initiated at the state level in early 1963, has so far won approval in just 14 states — all in the southern, border, plains and western areas of the country.

Editor, Herald:
Your Thursday editorial on the need for signs on I-4 was most timely.

In view of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce figures which indicate that 24 tourists a day are as valuable to a community as a business with a $100,000 a year payroll, think that this would mean when the Sanford-Titusville Canal becomes a reality.

Eighty-two boats a day (or nearly 30,000 per year) with an average of four people per boat and only a one-day stop-over would mean the equal of $1,368,000 payroll.

With the fishing we have here, besides the many other attractions, these people surely would want to stay with us for more than one day.

Worry Clinic

Timmy's grandfather is a smart child psychologist but his father and mother are "slacker" parents. Send for the frank Rating Scales below and face up to reality for "Bad children usually have bad parents." Many of you "slacker" parents are thus accessories to your child's later criminality.

CASE T-10: Timmy R., aged 4, is a smart "only" child.

"But, Dr. Crane," his grandfather informed me, "I am fearful lest Timmy grow up to be a criminal."

"And do you know why? Well, his parents haven't given him any baby brothers or sisters, so he is spoiled."

"So he thinks every toy or plaything he sees belongs to him, for he has never been schooled in 'my' vs. 'your,' as would be true if he had younger siblings."

"For example, when we were out for a walk, he saw a tricycle on the front lawn of a house down the block."

"Immediately, Timmy ran over and started to ride it home. But I had to forcibly take him off that tricycle."

"And, though I tried to teach him that this tricycle belonged to some other little boy or girl, Timmy was hostile toward me."

"Dr. Crane, how can such children even be taught property rights?"

Timmy's grandfather is a smart child psychologist. For if Timmy had several brothers and sisters, he would be forcibly taught the difference between the possessive pronouns "my" vs. "your."

His indulgent parents are thus largely to blame for the fact that Timmy may grow up with little sense of property rights.

Far too many youngsters in America, even of supposedly patriotic families, have this juvenile or communicative outlook.

For communism is a form of juvenility. It represents the toddler concept that "anything I see that I want, I can take."

Fences thus are a capitalistic sign. For communists are still immature as regards private ownership.

Actually, thieves in America are a first cousin to communists, for both groups have little respect for property rights of those who work to produce the desirable objects in life.

Thieves (and communists) thus should be forced to wear diapers in public as a symbol of their juvenility or infantile outlook.

For one of the first evidences of a maturing human personality is his recognition that fences represent private ownership.

And "conscience" simply refers to inner moral "fences" that have been developed in our brain.

For conscience simply refers to those moral habits that have been erected, much like external fences, in the brain of mature human beings.

So the proper place to combat both communism, as well as thievery, is obviously in early childhood!

But too many immature parents look on their own child as an animated "toy" to entertain the parents and inflate the latter's ego.

Instead, a child is simply lent to parents by God Almighty for a brief period of time in which its parents are supposed to teach it to be self-reliant and a responsible moral adult.

Scout leaders and school teachers are thus shouldering an unfair load imposed on them by "slacker" parents, who shun their own parental obligations.

So send for my 200 point "Rating Scales for Good Parents," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. Use them for monthly self-analysis.

Or, if your children are of reading age, let your youngsters rate you — if you dare! (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

As members of the U. S. Navy, we are subject to serving in all sections and areas of our country. We observe and witness the customs and attitudes of our American people living in their separate communities.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR READERS: Today is a very special day for me. It is my 25th wedding anniversary, and I have this to say:

I was reared in a home with a mother and father who really loved each other, so I know what love is.

I have seen both a son and a daughter safely through the trials of their tempestuous teens, so I know what satisfaction is.

I have had by my side for 25 years the gentlest, kindest, most considerate human being I have ever known, so I know what happiness is.

I have prayed, and my prayers have been answered, so I know what faith is.

And because I have known all these things, I know what wealth is.

Truly yours,
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A new family moved into our neighborhood, so I called on them and made them feel welcome. I told them if they had children the ages of mine to send them over to play. (I have three boys, four, seven and eight.) Well, they have two girls, 11 and 15, who are no company at all for mine. Their 11-year-old started coming to my house every day, pretending to "play" with my eight-year-old boy, but all she does is follow ME around and ask me questions until I think I will go out of my mind! Abby, I don't need an 11-year-old girl friend! She is at my door every time I turn around, and she never goes home until I suggest it. How can I get rid of this little pest?

FRAZZLED NERVES
DEAR ABBY: If you haven't the courage to tell an 11-year-old child that you do not have the time to visit with her, then you probably lack the courage to speak to her mother about it, which is my alternate suggestion.

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a tea for the wife of a United States Senator. When I arrived I was told (not asked) by one of the guests to take my hat off because the guest of honor was not wearing one. I did not remove my hat because I felt that it was my affair if I chose to wear a hat. I noticed that about two-thirds of the women at the tea were hatless. I felt that the woman who told me to remove my hat was rude, and I am certain that she felt that I was rude to keep mine on. In your opinion, who was wrong?

STUBBORN IN MONTANA
DEAR ABBY: The woman who demanded that you remove your hat may have been well-intentioned, but she was out of order. It is conceivable, however, that a hostess might suggest that her guests remove their hats in order to put a hatless guest of honor at ease. And, by the way, a tea such as the one you describe definitely calls for a hat.

DEAR ABBY: The expression that one's sex education begins with the birds and the bees is classic irony because there is still much mystery surrounding the behavior and habits of birds. Maybe I shouldn't disillusion canary owners, Abby, but it is a fact that a happy canary never sings.

M. R. Z.
DEAR M. R. Z.: I would like to know WHO, besides another canary, could possibly know how "happy" a canary is? And if a canary sings only when he is miserable, what can you expect from a birdbrain?

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, for Abby's booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Highlights

8-9 p.m. CBS. Rawhide. "Incident of Judgment Day." (Rerun) It's always an extra treat when Claude Rains makes a TV appearance. Here, he makes a routine role sparkle. Rowdy (Clint Eastwood) is accused by former Army buddies of being the stool pigeon who foiled their escape from a union prison camp. Presiding over the kangaroo court trial is a disolute, alcoholic ex-judge, played by Rains, who is the only resident in the ghost town where Rowdy is brought for trial. Good also is John Dehner, as Rowdy's chief accuser.

8:30-9:30 p.m. NBC. Dr. Kildare. "The Heart, An Imperfect Machine." (Rerun) Interest in tonight's show is well sustained despite the soap opera flavor, particularly with the emoting of lovely Diane Baker as a doctor's wife, suffering from heart trouble, who storms at her husband for neglecting her in favor of his work. Actually, the doctor (Pat Hingle) is working to perfect a machine that will allow as much as three hours of open heart surgery. As Dr. Gillespie, Raymond Massey has a good showdown scene with the wife.

9-9:30 p.m. Ensign O'Toole. "Operation: Casanova." (Rerun) The usual alspatrick, but it's distinguished by the presence of three pretty girls, Jackie Loughery, Jackie Joseph and Nancy Hennick, plus the guest appearance of Ransom Sherman, who was Garry Moore's original partner on radio decades ago (when Moore was Morfit). The plot is a contrived one, with O'Toole (Dean Jones) attempting to straighten out his buddy St. John's (Jack Mulaney) love life.

9-10 p.m. CBS. Ferty Mason. "The Case of the Torrid Tapestry." (Rerun) Conrad Nagel has the role of Nathan Claver, whose million-dollar art collection is destroyed by a fire, supposedly set by a museum worker Claude DeMay (Robert H. Harris) who is subsequently falsely imprisoned for the crime. Released from prison, DeMay seeks revenge on the man who framed him, art dealer Leonard Voss (John Holland). When DeMay finds that a tapestry he had planned to use as a trap is stolen, he calls on Perry Mason to help him. When the two call on Voss, they find him slain. DeMay is accused of the murder and Mason seeks to clear him. Raymond Burr stars as Perry Mason.

9:30-10 p.m. Jimmy Dean Show. (Rerun) Jerry Vale has become a "hot" singer since this was originally shown, so you probably won't get a better chance to see him than on this show. His vocal melody and the appearance of Red Buttons spark the hour. Buttons does "Thank Heaven for Little Girls," then parodies it. The best country selection is "Cripple Creek" as done by Jimmy with Don Crum. Molly Bee belts out "Bonaparte's Retreat" and joins Dean on "Nobody's Business." There's the usual Rowff comedy bit, plus Ron Martin's attempt at comedy. A good show musically.

10-11 p.m. NBC. Suspense Theatre. "A Hero for Our Times." (Color) (Rerun) An absorbing drama on the ironically unexpected penalties of infidelity. From the window of his girl friend's apartment, a business executive witnesses a murder, but with his business and wife at stake, keeps quiet. He is agonized when an innocent man is picked up for the murder and prevails on a pal (John Ireland) to testify in his place. But a conviction looms, anyway, and our conscience-stricken hero faces a moment of truth. Very good as the cornered executive is Lloyd Bridges. Sandra Church as his alluring mistress and Geraldine Brooks as his wife also star.

10:30-11 p.m. ABC. ABC News Reports. "G.O.P. Platform Preview" Considering the radical differences between front-runner Goldwater and much of the balance of the Republican party, the struggle to draft an acceptable platform might offer the most dramatic moments at the Republican convention. This program attempts to look behind the scenes to predict the type of platform likely to emerge. Earlier platforms and their actual effect on candidates come in for discussion and Congressman Melvin R. Laird (R-Wisc.) chairman of the Republican platform committee will be interviewed. The program will be conducted by ABC's convention team of Howard K. Smith and Edward P. Morgan.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

Yesterday's article left our hero South in a precarious position. He had played the jack of spades on West's six and that old villain East had refused to cover with the king. Could South make the hand after this play by East?

The answer is no. After that first trick he would attack either diamonds or hearts. If he attacked hearts it would be up to East to hold off once with his king whereupon South would be unable to bring home the suit. Should South attack diamonds it would be up to West to grab his ace immediately and play a second spade to set up

North and South vulnerable

East's spade suit while East still held the king of diamonds.

How did South get into this trouble? Had he and North bid too much? Was the defense too good? Could South make the hand against any defense?

The answer is that South got into this trouble by playing the wrong card from dummy at trick one.

He should have played the four of spades, not the jack, at trick one! Then he would win with his ace and go after the heart suit. East could get a trick with his king, but then South would have a sure spade entry to get to the rest of dummy's heart suit.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

After a PTA meeting I went to the other evening, several couples were discussing how best to insure that their children have a happy home life. One of the husbands ended the discussion by saying:

"You're making it all too complicated. All that children need in the way of home life are two parents who really love each other."

He's right, isn't he? If a man and woman love each other deeply, their children are going to have a good home life.

They may not have all of the so-called "advantages," but they'll have a lot of other things—important things.

They'll have a happy home because their parents live in harmony with each other. They'll never know the insecurity that children of quarrelling, bickering parents know.

They'll learn respect for both parents — for if dad thinks mom is pretty much all right and vice-versa, the children will share that liking and respect.

If their parents really love each other, children acquire by example a great many admirable traits of character.

They learn unselfishness by seeing their parents' concern for each other.

They learn loyalty from the way their parents stick by each other in troubled times.

They learn how to get along with others as they see their parents working out problems instead of fighting over them.

Furthermore, when parents love each other, children themselves feel loved. For neither parent takes out bitterness or frustration on the children.

The next time you see happy, well-adjusted children, you won't have to look far for the cause. Right behind them will be a mother and father who truly love each other.

Sunland Estates Man Rebuilding Aircraft

By Donna Estes
Bill Rogers of Sunland Estates, who is vice president of the NAS Sanford Aero Club has been a licensed pilot for 17 years, is currently in the process of entirely rebuilding remodeling and overhauling his own 1940 Piper Cub J3. The work is being done in sparetime in a workshop set up in the carport of his home on Walls Drive.

Rogers acquired the aircraft last November for $350 and plans to have it completely updated to a 1946 model and in flying condition by this October.

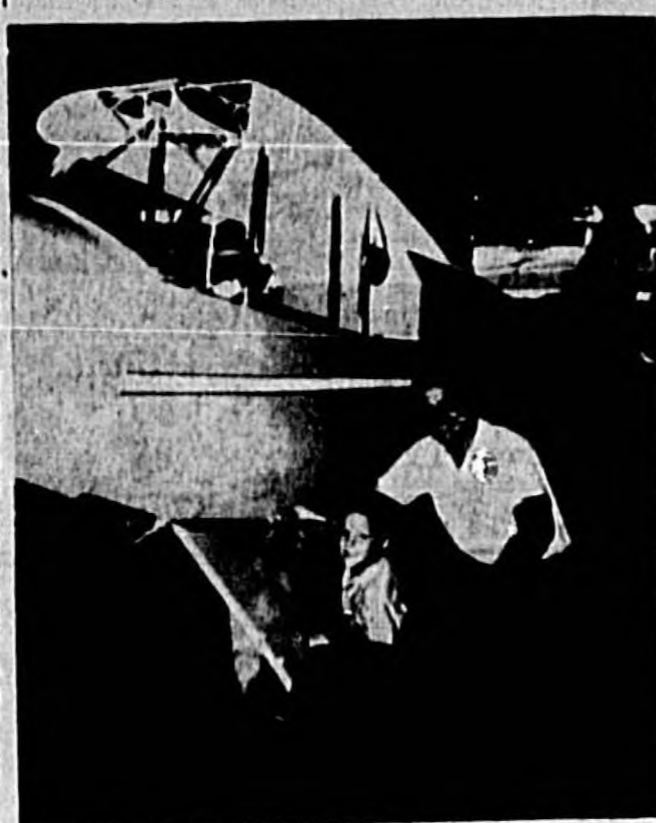

The fuselage was stripped down to the frame, sand blasted and all joints checked and rewelded as part of his requirements in obtaining an air-frame mechanical license. He received the license after attending the Air-Frame Power Plant Division of the Orange County Vocational School recently.

He has since covered the fuselage with Irish linen and 25 coats of aircraft "dope." A total of 45 gallons of paint and thinner was used to get a mirror-glass finish.

Spare parts for the plane have been collected at most of the airport junkyards throughout the area and many parts have been ordered from as far away as California.

When the electrical and hydraulic systems, fabric, woodwork, sheetmetal, welding and painting are completed the plane, operating with a 65 hp engine, will cruise at 75 miles per hour.

BILL ROGERS of Sunland Estates, shown here with Bill Jr., is completely rebuilding, remodeling and overhauling this Piper Cub J3 which he expects to have in flying condition by October. Rogers is vice president of the NAS Sanford Aero Club and has been a licensed pilot for 17 years. (Herald Photo)

The J3 Piper Cub was in mass production from 1936 through 1947 and was the most widely used training craft in the world. Since 1947, Piper Cubs have been in limited production. Rogers says that a Cub today would cost approximately $2,000.

Rogers' other hobbies are building radio-controlled model aircraft and operating his own HAM radio. Last year he received a written commendation from Cdr. W. H. Everett of the U. S. Navy for services given by placing telephone patches and relaying HAMGRAMS during Operation Deep Freeze at McMurdo Sound in Antarctica.

He is employed as a civilian electronics engineer at Sanford Naval Air Station.

12,535 Cuban Deaths Laid To Castro

MIAMI (UPI) — Cuban refugees estimated today that political violence in one form or another has taken a toll of 12,535 Cuban lives since Fidel Castro seized power on Jan. 1, 1959.

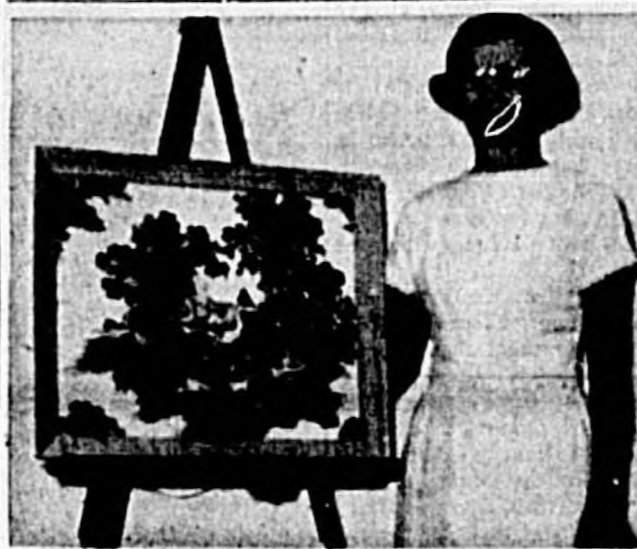

The association of Cuban Economists in Exile (AECE) said there is no sign of a let-up in the bloodshed.

"Everyday, seven Cubans are murdered or die of some other form of violence," an AECE statement said. Every week, 278 go to jail. Every month, 5,950 citizens leave the country."

The AECE survey listed 4,406 persons executed by firing squad, 3,460 killed in rural violence, 1,952 dead as the result of acts of resistance in Cuban cities, 1,121 dead in prison, 875 killed at sea while trying to escape and 721 "murders publicly described as suicide or natural death."

A VARIETY of articles were made by Mrs. Oliver Hahn during the 1963-64 season of the Paradise Point Hobby Club. Included in her display at the last meeting of the group were smoked pillows, yarn dogs, pipe cleaner bird cages and a monkey made from men's discarded socks. (Herald Photo)

Tshombe To Try For Government

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Moise Tshombe, who once tried to form an independent nation with his province of Katanga, was asked today to take the lead in forming a new Congo government.

Radio Leopoldville announced that President Joseph Kasavubu had asked Tshombe to contact the different Congolese factions about the formation of a "dynamic and honest" government.

But observers noted that this did not necessarily mean Tshombe himself would become the next premier to succeed Cyrille Adoula, who resigned Tuesday.

A Carload Of Values In The Family Garage

KANSAS CITY — (NEA) —Suburbanites here see gold in the baubles chucked in their basements.

Now they are putting prices on that too-small tuxedo or those fancy mint julep glasses and displaying them in the garage along with a jumbled assortment of practical household items.

"Garage sales" conducted at home by merchants-for-a-day are so popular and profitable that department stores are setting up imitations of these Midwest residential bargain basements. A national chain store, in a full-page ad in the local metropolitan daily, announced a "gigantic three-day garage sale... because we're cleaning house."

Diapers, a sailfish and an antique copper cupola are among hundreds of items listed by enterprising housewives bent on making a cleaning in more ways than one. Recouping part of their original expenditures means money for new purchases, often luxuries. A "better" basement or garage is another rewarding by-product.

"I want to buy some of the extras my husband considers foolish," a young mother confided.

Not all the sales are operated by housewives. It probably wasn't a woman who advertised that a sale at an address in a luxury housing development would offer "mink stole, lady's golf clubs and diamond wedding band."

Frequently, entire neighborhoods join in a single sale. "Have your coffee break with us and find bargains galore," one such group announced. In the Kansas City suburb of Shawnee, the Lloyd King home was the scene of such a sale.

"It wasn't all hard work," Mrs. King explained. "The women dressed up in old formal from the racks and had a ball parading around the neighborhood."

There's other fun, too. Gag tags "offer" the temporarily displaced family automobile for $5 or favorite but bothersome garage items belonging to the man of the house for a fraction of their actual value.

Homemade roadside signs attract walk-in trade but most of the garage sales come to shoppers' attention through the classified sections of suburban publications, many of which list entire columns of weekend or single-day sales. Directions may appear on cardboard boxes, trees, kitchen stools or little red wagon.

Also advertised as porch, yard, basement and patio sales, the home grown operations sprout such distinctive jargons as "fixeruppers' delights" and "miscellaneous goodies," along with stock exclaves such as "closeout—over 200 items at giveaway prices."

Garage sales are not new to Mrs. Moss Davis of Kansas City, who remembers disposing of unwanted inheritances in this manner as far back as a decade ago. But she says there's much more competition these days. She prefers to display the sale items outside.

"I just put everything in the front yard and pray for good weather," she said.

Many organizations are abandoning the rummage sale image for the updated garage sale to attract wider patronage. A group of Cub Scouts realized $141 on the first day of a three-day garage sale, disposing of an electric shaver, a power mower and baby carriage, along with dozens of other items.

"I sold a bird cage and some dishes," proudly exclaimed Joe Nielsen, 9.

In suburban Leawood, Mrs. Arnold Everaull got a scare when a police cruiser pulled up during her closeout sale.

"I was afraid the repeat sale would constitute a commercial enterprise but the patrolman only was looking for antiques," she explained.

Korean Taxes Still With Us

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The 10 per cent excise taxes enacted during the Korean War will be continued for still another year, bringing the Treasury $1.9 billion in annual revenue.

After the Senate Tuesday night completed final congressional action on the legislation, President Johnson promptly signed the bill into law, extending the taxes for the 11th time. They had been scheduled to expire last midnight.

The legislation reenacts the levies on alcohol, tobacco, passenger autos and parts, telephone service and air travel.

Sure, you'll have social security. Maybe an insurance plan, company pension and money in the bank to boot.

But buying U.S. Savings Bonds is also an excellent way to prepare for that day when you start taking it easy full time.

If you buy one a month at $37.50 for 7½ years before you retire, you'll have $50.00 a month coming in for 7½ years after. (That's just an example. You can adjust the dollars and the years to suit yourself.)

Something else to think about: Bonds can help make sure you'll have a future to retire to in the first place. The money does a lot to strengthen Uncle Sam's hand in the free world.

Why not make it a habit to buy Bonds regularly where you bank, or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work? See if you don't feel pretty good about it—now and later.

Quick facts about Series B Savings Bonds

- You get back $4 for every $3 at maturity (7½ years)
- You pay no state or local tax and can defer the federal tax until the Bonds are cashed

Who says the Marines have only one way to do something—the Marine way. Gunnery Sgt. Norman F. Labounty finds he had a choice. Word came down that he had been promoted. Which did he like best, the title of warrant officer or first sergeant? He chose warrant officer. Labounty is stationed aboard the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Two oldtimers standing at First and Park, looking at the new parking lot taking shape. One said, "I'd prefer to see the old building standing here." The other replied, "I'd rather see a new building here."

That reassessment ruling by the Supreme Court—it ordered 100 per cent valuation on property—sent many homeowners in Seminole County scurrying for paper and pencil. They're concerned what effect it might have on local taxes. Time will tell.

Glenn "Fireball" Roberts, death yesterday from burns received some time ago in a racing accident shook many in Sanford and Seminole County. One of the most colorful racers in the business, his track actions will long be remembered by those in the business and his host of admirers.

Seminole County received $34,018.40 as its share of gasoline tax collected during June by the Florida Revenue Commission, according to J. Ed Straughn, director. The total collected in the county that month amounted to $105,023.97 as compared with $99,708.18 during the comparative month of 1963.

Sales tax collections in the county also showed a sharp increase in the corresponding periods. Straughn's office discloses, Seminole collected $72,242.92 in June 1963 and $94,815.63 last month.

A free class on flower arranging techniques is slated Wednesday morning at Seminole Plaza Shopping Center in Casselberry. Classes will be held from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Mabel Crittenden.

A color television set and other items will be given away Saturday at 6:30 p.m. as some of the highlights of a busy Fun Fair day at the lakefront. Local Lions are all set and will have a wary eye on the sky to see if the traditional showers will take the Fourth off.

Think the Sanford area is standing still, buildingwise? Glance around while you're driving. You'll see any number of new stores, a shopping center and many other structures sprouting.

And while we're at it, did you see those three tugs docked at the lakefront Thursday? Shades of things to come, once the Port Authority is in operation.

Have you watched the house at Oak Avenue and 20th Street "grow"? Latest construction methods—factory built "sections" that come in two-section trailers that come in "piggy-back" on the ACL and are now parked on the lot. And the workmen pick out the "parts" they want and put them together. It's a United States Steel idea, we're told. Permits fast construction. "Houses-while-you-wait" idea.

GIs Fighting Chinese Reds Now In Southeast Asia, Chiang Says

Reds Overrun 3 Hamlets In Viet Nam Area

SAIGON (UPI) — Marauding Communist guerrillas have overrun three government-protected hamlets in the rugged mountains of Central Viet Nam, wiping out the defenders and capturing large supplies of weapons, a military spokesman said today.

The Vietnamese source said that in one engagement, every member of the platoon-sized government defense force was killed or captured.

He said the total number of weapons the guerrillas captured was reported as 51 rifles and carbines and six automatic rifles or submachine guns.

The report followed by three days another Communist attack in the same region in which half a company of government militiamen threw down their weapons and fled before attacking Communist raiders.

The spokesman said a Viet Cong battalion attacked and overran Ba An hamlet in broad daylight in the mountains of Quang Ngai Province 310 miles northwest of Saigon.

In the platoon of militiamen defending Ba An hamlet, six soldiers were killed and 35 were reported missing in the attack Wednesday.

Six of the missing men were known to be captives of the Communist guerrillas, the spokesman said.

The other two hamlets were attacked simultaneously by the guerrillas just at sunset Thursday.

Enemy Using Cong Disguise, He Explains

By Ernest Hoherecht United Press International TAIPEI, Formosa — President Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China says that American troops already are engaged in a war against Chinese Communist forces in Southeast Asia.

He said the United States can win this war if it is willing to make the necessary effort.

Chiang told United Press International in an exclusive interview Thursday:

"As things stand today, the Chinese Communists already are actively taking part in Viet Nam, also Laos.

"Their cadres and trained personnel are taking an active part in those two countries. The only difference is that they put on the uniforms of the Viet Cong and the Pathet Lao.

"So in a sense the United States already is at war with the Chinese Communists."

President Chiang, who is 76, said the ousting of Gen. Maxwell Taylor, chairman of the U. S. Military Advisory Group in South Vietnam, was interpreted in Asia as "a new resolve by the United States government to come to grips with the situation in Southeast Asia."

He said the whole question of American success or failure in Viet Nam depends on whether the United States demonstrates full determination.

Asked what might happen if the South Vietnamese attempted, with American backing, to overthrow the Communist regime in North Viet Nam, Chiang said, "It is still too early to say for sure how the Chinese Communists would react."

But he went on to say: "It all depends on the degree of U. S. determination and on the extent of American aid. If the American government is prepared to go all-out in full strength to support the Vietnamese government in its efforts, then the Chinese Communists would not intervene."

"But if the United States government shows signs of hesitation or wavering at the last moment, the Chinese Communists might intervene to attempt to keep the Vietnamese from liberating the northern half of the country."

The Nationalist Chinese president said it is an "open secret" that the Chinese Communists are taking part in the war in Viet Nam and Laos. "All know it," he said. "But there are some people who close their eyes to the obvious. They are blindfolding themselves to the facts."

City Calls On Its Citizens To Abide By Law

City commissioners today called for cooperation among all Sanford citizens in abiding by the new Civil Rights Bill and urged a "peaceful solution of the races living in a friendly atmosphere."

"Sanford has always been a law abiding community and we expect and ask the cooperation and understanding of all citizens to continue in this regard."

"Understanding is especially needed by all parties to recognize the problems confronting the owners and operators of our establishments coming under the public accommodation section of the federal law.

"During the past three years, our Bi-Racial Committee has been working diligently to meet and to ease these problems. This Committee will continue to meet to establish a co-operative climate for the peaceful solution of the races living in a friendly atmosphere."

Rights Law In Effect, LBJ Asks Compliance

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The strongest civil rights law since Reconstruction was in force today with Negro leaders promising early tests of its anti-discrimination provisions and opponents preparing to challenge its legality in court.

President Johnson signed the historic measure Thursday night only five hours after the House, on a 289 to 126 vote, completed final congressional approval one year and two weeks after the legislation was introduced.

"This act is a challenge to all of us to go to work in our states and communities, in our homes and in our hearts, to eliminate the last vestiges of injustice in America," Johnson said.

"We must not approach the enforcement of this law in a vengeful spirit. Its purpose is not to punish. Its purpose is not to divide but to end divisions — divisions which have lasted too long. Its purpose is national, not regional."

Martin Luther King, one of more than 200 persons invited to attend the White House ceremony, which also was witnessed by a nationwide radio and television audience, said his Southern Christian Leadership Conference planned to test the new law immediately.

He said the first strategy very likely to get themselves all dressed up and find that, after the election results are all in, they have no place to go—except back home," said Brown in a telephone call from San Francisco, where he is helping prepare for his party's national convention.

He referred to a statement a couple of weeks ago by Democratic gubernatorial nominee Hayden Burns of Jacksonville that he planned inaugural balls in four other cities besides Tallahassee.

Brown said there also are reports that some people have already been offered jobs in a new Democratic administration.

Republican nominee Charles Holley of St. Petersburg won't carry through on any Democratic promises when he moves into the governor's office, warned Brown.
