Agricultural Zoning 'Out' In Casselberry

Possibility of recommending an additional classification for agricultural zoning to the proposed comprehensive zoning ordinance for the Town of Casselberry was abandoned Monday night at a meeting when motion for its inclusion died for lack of a second.

The commission, at the request of the Board of Aldermen, met solely for the purpose of amending the ordinance of two classifications — agricultural, or A-1, and a "country home" designation.

Present for the work session were Herman Joyce, chairman; Jim Birkenmeyer, Elton Bennett and Hibbard Casselberry. Graham Wilson, the fifth member, was unable to attend because of illness.

Birkenmeyer and Bennett went on record in opposition to the inclusion of an A-1 classification which was requested and voted for by Casselberry. As suggested, the classification was to follow specifications outlined in the county zoning code and was proposed primarily for some 700 acres of undeveloped land within the city which is owned by Casselberry.

Birkenmeyer and Bennett, in their objection, reported that the commission had been advised by other areas against including an agricultural designation in a municipal zoning plan.

Birkenmeyer pointed out that the commission was created to work out a plan for bringing about the "orderly" development of a town and recommended that Casselberry be zoned within the ordinance as presently proposed.

Action of the county homes classification was tabled for a 7 p.m. meeting next Monday when recommended specifications for such a designation will be ready for presentation.

HOPE Carries Aid To Ecuador

It will be almost ten months before the HOPE returns to her home port here.

In addition to her permanent staff, rotating teams of physicians and dentists in some twenty specialties, who serve without pay, are flown to the 15,000-ton vessel, the former USS Conestoga.

One of these was Dr. Mark Gorney of San Francisco. He not only volunteered his services but would not even accept the cost of his transportation.

"The whole trip would have been worth it if for nothing else than to restore my faith in America," he said after he returned here from his tour.

"Whether we succeed or fail in our medical and educational mission, surely the political impact of this enterprise is nothing short of dramatic. It gives the lies to Communist propaganda about the selfish 'Gringo,'" he added.

The HOPE has the backing of just about every facet of American society. Union shipyard workers contributed time and money in refitting her under the direction of American President Lines management. She sailed to South America with Grace Lines help.

She has won friends for America in both Asia and South America. Local dignitaries applauded her and editorials lauded her.

Probably the most spontaneous tribute was given by some Peruvian militiamen sent to make sure the HOPE would not leave when a junta seized power in Lima.

Assured the vessel would stay, the guards joined the doctors for lunch, and then stood back.

That was the way former President Eisenhower described the work of the S. S. HOPE, a Navy hospital ship in two wars and now a ship of mercy to the world.

The HOPE, which stands for Health Opportunity to Peoples Everywhere, is the principal activity of the People-to-People Health Foundation, Inc., of Washington, D. C.

New docked in Guayaquil, Ecuador, the HOPE was launched on her new career here in 1960 after being refitted in Seattle.

Maintained completely by volunteer funds, the HOPE fights disease and ignorance wherever she goes, serving as both a hospital and a medical school.

HOPE sailed to Ecuador from Salaverry, Peru, where her staff helped fight such statistics as eight times more Peruvians die each year from tuberculosis as in the United States; only four doctors for every 10,000 persons; and 75,000 newborn infants dying within four years of birth.

The 83 permanent staff members of the HOPE had the experience of their Asian tour with them. There they cared for 25,000 patients.

In Salgon alone, they treated more than 11,000 patients and performed 500 major operations in a ten-week stay.

Hardy Japanese Farm In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI)— If the small number of Japanese living in Brazil were suddenly to leave, production of tea, peaches, strawberries, peppers, silk, tomatoes and other vegetables, peppermint and jute would halt and millions of dollars of export earnings cease.

The 43,151 Japanese here make up about six per cent of the Brazilian population.

But they produce the vast bulk of agricultural products ranging from bananas in the south to pepper in the north. Japanese farmers also grow a large part of Brazil's coffee, rice and cotton.

One hundred per cent of all Brazilian tea, peaches, strawberries and pepper comes from the numerous, thriving agricultural co-ops the hardy Japanese farmers have created in the wild interior of this land of plenty.

Ninety per cent of the tomatoes, silk and eggs also are Japanese produced.

The Japanese have spread to all parts of Brazil, from the southern coffee fields in Parana state to the far northern state of Para.

Lately they have been entering the vast Amazon basin where they bring in $9 million dollars annually to Brazil's export receipts by growing jute and pepper.

Japanese in Brazil spring from 233,524 immigrants who started arriving here in 1908. Japanese immigration was suspended during World War II, but reopened in 1952 when 54 persons entered.

The figure jumped to 1,484 in 1953 then climbed steadily until 1960 when 7,329 Japanese immigrated.

"Prosperity in Japan is the big reason for the drop," Tetsuru Kawane, immigration attache in the embassy here, explains.

Of these original immigrants 138,674 still live. There 224,000 "nisei" or second generation, 67,000 "sansei" or third generation and 242 fourth generation Japanese.

Jobs Seen As Top Problem

WASHINGTON (UPI)— AFL-CIO President George Meany predicts that achieving full employment will be the nation's No. 1 domestic problem in 1964.

The labor leader said in a New Year's statement that "full employment, full economic opportunity, remains the one indispensable element if America is to maintain its leadership on the world scene and correct its social shortcomings at home."

Furniture Designs To Remain Decorative And Traditional

CHICAGO (UPI) — Furniture designs to remain decorative and traditional.

Pieces are heavy in appearance and done in textured, rustic, porous oak or a new antiqued finish in the smoky color of green tobacco.

Stained, leaded glass fronts, are used as ornaments on chests, end tables and dressers.

Carpeting is plushier, with bolder colors, more patterns, and deep textures.

Designers have incorporated a studied functionalism in new furniture. Casters put the household on wheels. Case goods have more partitions and compartments, as well as luxury touches such as suede linings, electric buttons and special locks.

Buffets store dining table leaves, and cases feature concealed pull-out tables. Pedestal tables adjust to various heights by means of controlled mechanism.

Danish modern is shedding its right angles and linear forms to accentuate curves and soft shapes.

Danish renaissance styles based on designs of the 1800's are appearing on the scene.

'South Pacific' Banned By South Africa

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI) — The South African government has banned staging of "South Pacific" because of the musical's "plea for mixing the races."

Durban Impressario des Morley said Tuesday.

Morley said the South African Control Board banned the musical just before London producer Gilbert Vernon was due to fly to Durban to stage "South Pacific."

Vernon arrived in Durban and will produce "The Sound of Music" instead, Morley said.

Bharata Natya, a classical dance of India, is said to be one of the most involved dances in the world.

Police Analyze Ashes In Hunt For Painting

LONDON (UPI)—A handful of ashes that may have been a stolen Goya painting worth $300,000 was being analyzed today by Scotland Yard scientists.

Police said a preliminary examination of the ashes showed no trace of canvas. But the box and its contents were taken to the Forensic Science Laboratory for examination today, they said.

Police said the ashes were found in a 6-by-10-inch box in a luggage room of London's Victoria Station Tuesday.

Also in the box was a note which said, "the last of the Goya."

Detectives found the box of ashes after an anonymous caller said the remains of the painting, "cut up in pieces" would be found in the luggage room.

The painting of the Duke of Wellington was stolen from the National Gallery in August, 1961, and since then periodic offers have been made to return the painting for ransom.

"The ashes could have been of a burned painting," a highway police spokesman said. "They were thick and crumbly."

Police, however, believe the ashes are only a handful of rubbish from a compost heap.

Scotland Yard also was investigating a possible connection between the caller who directed police to the box of ashes and another anonymous person who earlier Tuesday offered to return the painting if a "ransom" would be paid to charity and if he would be granted an amnesty. The offer was made in a 500-word letter to Exchange Telegraph Company, a London news agency.

Air Fare Cut Delay Denied

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) has refused to delay new air fare cuts pending the outcome of hearings already ordered on numerous fare proposals.

The reductions, proposed by American Airlines, are to go into effect Jan. 15. First-class fares would be cut by 45 to 74 per cent on all flights 700 miles or longer.

Other airlines had asked the CAB to delay effectiveness of the new fare plans, but the board ruled Tuesday that American's plan deserved a trial period and could go ahead.

Daughter Of Barry To Wed

The wedding is scheduled for June 27 in Phoenix, Goldwater said. Miss Goldwater will graduate from Mt. Vernon Junior College in Washington, D. C., the same month. Holt is the son of Mrs. John Martini of Northridge, Calif. He is a graduate of the University of California.

In Tehran, 24 persons were taken to hospitals.

$30 Billion Increase in GNP in 1964 Seen

WASHINGTON — An increase of as much as $30 billion in the Gross National Product during 1964 was predicted by Dr. Raymond F. Schmidt, economic consultant for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Mario Wallenda To Wed His Nurse

MARASOTA (UPI) — Mario Wallenda, who survived a fall in Detroit last year which killed two of the famous "Flying Wallendas" aerial team, was married Monday to a girl who helped nurse him back to health.

Wallenda, 34, who is partially paralyzed and in a wheel chair, was wed to Detroit nurse Linda Croninger, 28, who met him in a Detroit hospital after the accident.

The simple civil ceremony was held in the Wallenda home and was attended by close relatives including three other members of the famed aerial team who played in the ground when their "human pyramid" collapsed on the last trip.

Also attending the wedding were Miss Croninger's sisters, Albert and Mary Croninger of Detroit.

C of C To Meet in Lake Mary

By Frances Weston

Representatives of the Florida State Bank of Sanford will present a program on various scholarship savings plans at Thursday's 8 p. m. meeting of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce.

A brief business meeting will be conducted and refreshments will be served during a social period.

Richard W. Keogh, C of C president, asks that members and residents of the area plan now to keep an open date for the February meeting when Dr. Luis Perez will be the guest speaker.

Recommendations for a new slate of officers also will be presented at next month's meeting. Serving on the nominating committee are Otis Bjohom, Mrs. Frank Evans and Herbert Sahler.

Award Pay For Teachers OK

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Sitting as the State Board of Education, the Cabinet approved payment today of $1,408,000 to 8,745 public school and junior college teachers who qualified for the Legislature's competency award program this year.

The program, which provided top rated teachers with a $400-a-year award, was created by the lawmakers in 1961 and abolished in 1963.

But the 1963 session provided $2.8 million to provide the awards for teachers who had qualified to be paid this year. However, the appropriation wasn't enough for the number of teachers who qualified.

School head Thomas D. Bailey did not seek release of necessary monies to pay the awards. The Cabinet action only approved eventual payment. Bailey said he would discuss release of the funds, which would include finding the additional $908,000 to make up the difference between the appropriation and needs, at a future meeting.

Seminole Supt. R. T. Millie said today 72 county teachers qualified under this program for a total of $28,600.

Shriver Sees No Red Threat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver said today that he didn't fear any competition from Russia in his field.

Shriver said the Russians might be trying to start a Peace Corps of their own, but these efforts were doomed because Soviet citizens wouldn't be given the freedom that Peace Corps members need.

The Peace Corps director said he understood that 15 Russian high school teachers recently arrived in Ghana and some of them were in schools where there were American Peace Corps volunteers.

Dr. Schmidt said that GNP (the total output of goods and services in this country) should average $244.5 billion in 1964, compared with $214.5 billion this year.

The prospect of early tax cuts in 1964 will stimulate the economy, the Chamber economist said, and the prospect of further tax cuts on January 1, 1965 "should help pave the way for continued gains into 1966."

He set forth his views in a statement, "The Business and Economic Outlook," released today.

Dr. Schmidt predicted that expenditures for plant and equipment would rise 5 to 10 per cent in 1964. Construction, which has been running at record levels during 1963 should continue to improve next year, he said, and demand for automobiles is strong.

Dr. Schmidt noted that "Gross National Product has risen nearly $100 billion since the current expansion began in early 1962 with little price inflation. The expansion is in its 24th month. It is likely to set a new peacetime record for sustained growth."

He added: "Corporate profits, showing sluggishness a year ago, have been more buoyant, and close to 75 per cent of the key economic indicators are pointing up."

Dampening economic growth, according to the Chamber economist, will be a number of factors:

—U. S. government purchases of goods and services will not increase as rapidly in the year ahead as they have on the average in the past few years. Also the thaw in East-West tensions may lead to some decline in defense spending; in any case it will decline as a proportion of GNP.

—Consumers may not be able to continue their expansion of credit buying as they are already carrying a high amount of installment debt, $52 billion. Repossessions, mortgage delinquents, and personal bankruptcies are up, although some are at a critical level.

—The net income of farmers is down slightly from 1962 and is likely to drop a little more in 1964.

—There is the possibility of some overbuilding in certain sectors of the country of homes, apartments, hotels and hotels, office buildings, and shopping centers.

—The balance of payments situation will call for monetary and credit restraint.

—Some of the benefits from a tax cut may have been discounted already.

Herbert Lee Evans, 39, of Houston, Tex., was charged Sunday with first degree murder in the death of Little Loren Thorbahn on Nov. 23 as she walked home from school in South Miami.

Dade County Sheriff T. A. Buchanan said "we have the case pretty well wrapped up."

Evans, an itinerant handyman and truckdriver who spent six years in a Mississippi prison for burglary and armed robbery, told police shortly after he was arraigned in front of a crowd of newsmen Sunday that "I hit her with a tire iron."

MIAMI (UPI) — An ex-convict, father of three, today faced trial for the murder in the sex slaying of a 10-year-old girl.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, whose colorful career as military pilot and airline executive extended over 44 years, retires Tuesday as chairman of the board of Eastern Air Line, ending an era in American aviation.

The pioneer aviator said he would devote himself to writing and campaigning for his political beliefs.

Rickenbacker, 78, air hero of two world wars and one of the pillars of commercial aviation through its growing years, announced Sunday he was ending his career with Eastern that began in 1904 when he brought the line back from the brink of financial ruin.

Venus All Prim For Japan Trip

By Alno Macky
United Press International
PARIS (UPI) — She's the most beautiful armless woman in the world, but the problem is she weighs a ton. So Louvre officials have decided the only way to get Venus de Milo on a slow boat to Japan will be to build a special crate for her.

Not long after Mona Lisa's trip to the United States, France is sending another famous woman on a goodwill cultural mission. This time Venus de Milo, a god approximately 2,163 years, will travel halfway around the world to make a personal appearance next spring in connection with the 1964 Olympic Games in Japan. The beauty has not made a voyage outside France since she was installed in the sprawling Louvre museum shortly after her discovery in 1820.

"The big problem in getting her to Japan is her weight," was the ungallant but honest statement of the Louvre spokesman. "She weighs a ton. She is made of white marble, but fragile." The specialists in shipping at the Louvre are making blueprints for a special box strong enough to withstand the lady with the three-foot waist and four-foot hips. Inside, the 6.6 foot statue will be fixed firmly by braces so it will not jiggle or touch the wood.

Then Venus will be whisked under heavy guard to a French port and hoisted carefully aboard a ship to Japan. Plans have not been made for a boarding ceremony, but it's expected one will be staged with Japanese officials, an honor guard and scores of police to prevent any Venus snatching.

Already Venus has been examined by experts and pronounced in good condition to travel. Less risk will be involved than was the trip to Washington of Mona Lisa, or "La Joconde." She had been painted by Leonardo Da Vinci on a fragile piece of wood that could have been harmed forever even by a change in temperature.

A ministry of culture official said Venus will be insured for her trip "for the highest amount awarded an art masterpiece." He added that her value "is priceless." This beautiful example of ancient Greek sculpture was found in April, 1820, on the Greek island of Milo, by a peasant named Yorgos. The dazed peasant for some reason sold it simultaneously to two different parties, French Count De Marcellus, buying in the name of the Marquis De Riviere, ambassador of France to Constantinople, and Prince Morusi of Constantinople. The Frenchman arrived at Milo first and convinced the Greeks that he should take the treasure.

The Louvre chief curator, Jean Charbonneau, vigorously denies legends that Venus lost her arms when the French count and the Greeks tussled over the statue on the dock at Milo. The story that Venus was found with one arm but it was snapped off by Louvre officials to match the other armless side also is a falsehood, the curator says.

Two French naval officers who saw the statue on Milo later testified she was found in several pieces and without arms.

The experts judge her torso and draperies as perfection, but the curator believes the face is less a masterpiece because it is almost without expression.

We're Becoming Sitting Nation

CHICAGO (UPI) — Americans are spending more time than ever sitting down, a study by a chair manufacturer reports. By the time you reach 70 years of age you will have spent 87 of those 70 years sitting down, compared to 21 for an earlier generation, says Futurian Manufacturing Co. Housewives, waitresses, farmers, construction workers and others in comparatively active occupations do a little better, but even they are likely to put in 28 years sitting down, compared to 23 a generation back, the report said.

Smathers Hails Offshore Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida Monday praised the government's decision to release its claim to "natural" offshore lands adjacent to the coasts of Louisiana and Florida.

Included in the lands affected by Monday's decision are Louisiana "mudflats" formed by Mississippi River silt and dotted with derricks and believed to be rich in oil potential. While such "natural" Florida land now consists of only about 100 acres of mangrove islands, the Florida Democrat said the opinion will have "far reaching and important consequences for the development of the state of Florida."

The land in question was created by such natural forces as all from rivers and streams from the time of statehood until the passage of the Submerged Lands Act of 1953 which conveyed the land to the states.

"The opinion relieves the state of Florida and many individuals who hold title from the state of long and expensive litigation," said Sen. Spessard L. Holland of Florida.

Argoud Fights With Police

PARIS (UPI) — Former Col. Antoine Argoud battled with French police in a fist fight in his prison cell today and refused to appear in court on charges of leading a plot against President Charles de Gaulle.

Gendarmerie officers informed special state security court President Andre Dechezelles the 49-year-old revolutionary warfare expert put up a bitter battle when they attempted to take him out of his maximum security cell at suburban Fresnes Prison.

Peggy Lundquist, Lt. William Tyre Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

At 4 p.m. Dec. 29 Peggy Lundquist became the bride of Lt. William W. Tyre Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Tyre Sr., in a double ring, candlelight ceremony at Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Rev. John Thomas officiating. The church was decorated with green Christmas wreaths with red satin bows. Red candles were used on the high altar and on the chapel altar. Pine swags and lighted candles marked the pews.

Devis Long, uncle of the bridegroom, sang "O Perfect Love" and "Ave Maria," accompanied by Joan Wilke at the organ. Aides were Donnie Brown, cousin of the bride, and Kay Lundquist, brother of the bride. Paul Andrews of Daytona Beach served as best man and ushers were John Maddox, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, John Barley, Ed Harbour and Randall Lovender.

MRS. WILLIAM W. TYRE JR.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lundquist, was given in marriage by her father, and wore a formal sheath gown of white silk-faced peau de soie, featuring a fitted bodice with scooped neckline and long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. Imported Swiss lace applique, hand embroidered with seed pearls, adorned the belt of the detachable train. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a matching pillbox of peau de soie and embroidered lace applique. She carried a white prayer book centered with stephanotis and ivy leaves.

Mrs. Carl Meyer, of Eau Gallie, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. John Maddox, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Ed Harbour, Kay Ivey and Deanna Nichols. They wore matching formal gowns of emerald green satin with a fitted bodice, scooped neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The modified, controlled ball skirt added graceful back fullness to the wide unpressed box pleats, becoming a brush train. They carried green satin muffs smocked with seed pearls and wore matching pillbox hats.

The bride's mother wore a cranberry brocade sheath with matching pillbox hat and shoes and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a green and blue brocade dress with blue shoes and hat and wore a white orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony, the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Cecil Wilson, entertained with a reception at the Sanford Woman's Club. The room was decorated with white tinsel leaves, sprinkled with glitter, and red poinsettias. A large silver bell was hung from the ceiling over the stage. The bride's table was covered with a white net cloth and held the five-tiered wedding cake.

Judy Lavender, Jean Wilke and Joan Wilke kept the bride's book. Greeting the guests were Mrs. Earl Dosey and Mrs. R. A. Williams. Mrs. Raymond Ball was in charge of serving. Mrs. Benny Austin, Mrs. Lee Swartz, Mrs. John Ivey and Mrs. William Vihlen cut the cake and pouring punch were Meses. Fred Minge, Keith Abney, M. L. Nichols, Curtis Lavender, Randall Chase, Ed Lindsey, R. W. Williams, and Mrs. M. R. Strickland. Floating hostesses were Beth Morgan, Pam Pigott, Donna Ashby, Duane Vihlen, Sylvia Williams, Sherlynn Williams, Susan Perkins, Linda Perkins, Joy Stanley and Gay Soley.

For travelling, Mrs. Tyre wore a tailored camel tan crepe sheath with brown leather shoes and bag. After a wedding trip the newly-weds will make their home in Del Rio, Texas, where Lt. Tyre is stationed with the Air Force.

After a short business meeting, gifts were opened. Each member contributed an article to be used in the church kitchen. Refreshments of homemade fruitcake, minis and coffee were served from a table with a center arrangement of a large gold pineapple with gold leaves at the base.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. David Beverly, Mr. and Mrs. John McLellan, Mrs. J. E. Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. Mann.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: During a disagreement, my husband broke my nose and gave me two black eyes and I couldn't go to a family Christmas get-together because I didn't want my people to see me looking like that. He's really not a bad guy, Abby. He's a steady worker, drinks only on weekends, and he's good to the kids. But when he loses his temper, I'm the one who gets it in the neck. Don't tell me to leave him because I've tried it and I'm the one who crawls back. I love this guy, but I need a few pointers on how to keep him from slipping me around.

SLAP HAPPY
DEAR HAPPY: Any woman who gets "slapped around" more than once either figures she has it coming, or she likes it. Practice your foot work and learn to duck.

DEAR ABBY: What time do you think an 11-year-old girl should go to bed? This will settle an argument between my mother and me.

THE GIRL
DEAR GIRL: She should go to bed whenever her mother says she should. And THAT should settle the argument.

DEAR ABBY: When a boy asks me to a night movie, my mother gives me money and tells me to buy my own ticket because then I won't feel like I have to kiss him goodnight. I really try to pay my own way, but the boy never lets me. I have kissed a few boys goodnight but I wasn't because they paid my way to the movies. Do you think I should put up a harder fight when a boy wants to buy my ticket? And is it okay to kiss him goodnight if I had an especially good time?

FIFTEEN
DEAR FIFTEEN: When a boy invites a girl to the movies, he expects to buy her ticket, and he shouldn't have to put up a fight to do so. Don't confuse a "thank you for a lovely evening" with a kiss. A kiss means "I like you." And "thank you" means I enjoyed myself.

DEAR ABBY: Why are so many people shocked when they put "R.S.V.P." on invitations and two days before the wedding or party or whatever it is they have to start calling up the invited guests to see if they're coming? I'll bet if you stopped 100 people on the street and asked them what "R.S.V.P." meant, they couldn't tell you. It stands for "Respond, if you please," in FRENCH, and how are we supposed to know French? If they had put down, "CALL US UP AND TELL US IF YOU CAN MAKE IT," and then the phone number, it would make a lot more sense.

WHO WANTS TO KNOW?
When a homecoming husband asks his wife, "Well, Honey, what have you been doing all day?" it's no wonder she so often dismisses his routine question with, "Oh, nothing special."
If he assumes that means she has had an easy day, he is probably wrong. But it is hard to make a husband listen to a real account of "her day," or appreciate her minor trials and tribulations, such as:
● Spending an hour getting a stubborn stain out of the living room carpet.
● Running a half-dozen errands and chauffeuring several children to and from schools.
● Waiting for the repairman who doesn't show up—even though he promised he would.
● Going to several stores to find what she supposed would be an easy-to-find article.
● Making herself do such much-dissliked chores as cleaning closets and defrosting the refrigerator.
● Baking cookies for some organization one of the children belongs to.
● Having the washing machine stop running with a full load of clothes aboard.
Such are the kind of items that make up a housewife's usual day, and they aren't exactly the kind of experiences that good conversation is made of.
But the housewife shouldn't worry too much about that. After all, when she asks her husband what kind of day he had, he usually gives her the same kind of noncommittal answer. This probably means that his day was as full of routine, petty annoyances and simple drudgery as was hers. And she probably isn't any more interested in having a detailed account of his day than he is in having a blow-by-blow account of hers.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

One of my most unusual mistakes of 1953 was when I called the wrong penalty. I was South, and if you want to see my problem just look at the South hand.

I opened one no-trump and was promptly raised to three. Everyone passed and East led the six of spades out of turn. The game was duplicate and I could accept the lead, whereupon dummy would go right down on the table; I could demand a lead of a spade or forbid a lead of a spade by West or I could simply treat that six of spades as a penalty card.

None of these choices was particularly appealing, but I finally decided that I would accept that spade lead. Personally had made the worst haps my partner would have something in the suit. The roof did not fall on me, but I possible choice. Dummy showed up with the queen of spades, but unfortunately it was a singleton. West played his ace and spades were established against me. Of course, I did have 10 top tricks and proceeded to run them off, but had I barred the spade lead I would surely have made at least one trick more than I did gather and in duplicate those extra tricks are right important.

While this article is on mistakes I want to point out that my partner's raise to three no-trump was the correct bid with his hand. We were playing duplicate and there was no reason for him to suggest a diamond game.

Scheduled Lines Break All Air Traffic Records

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The scheduled airlines of the United States broke all traffic records in 1963 and had operating profits of $217 million for the first nine months, the Air Transport Association said Tuesday.

The industry celebrates its 50th anniversary as the new year opens. On Jan. 1, 1914, a flying boat service was opened in Florida making two flights daily over Tampa Bay between Tampa and St. Petersburg. The infant line carried 1,200 passengers before folding.

Fifty years later, U. S. scheduled airlines carried an estimated 50 billion revenue passenger miles for the year, hauling 70 million passengers — plus about one billion freight ton miles.

For the first nine months, the revenues of these lines gained 8.1 per cent to $2.8 billion. Operating expenses rose 6.1 per cent.

The net income out of the $217 million operating profit after taxes and special charges was $72.5 million—up from 42.9 million in the same period of 1962.

Spanish Toys For Kennedy Children

MADRID (UPI)—Several packages of toys were assembled here Tuesday for shipment to John F. Kennedy Jr. and Caroline Kennedy, the children of the late President Kennedy.

The toys were donated by Spanish children for presentation to the Kennedy children next Monday. That is "Dia de Los Reyes" (the day of the three kings), when Spaniards traditionally exchange gifts.

Among the toys are a Madrid barrel organ and three dolls dressed in Spanish costumes.

Spending Up

LONDON (UPI)—The average British family, according to the Ministry of Labor, spent $31.30 a week during the 1963 fiscal year. The ministry said the figure for the previous year was $48.50.

Coal Output Off

LUXEMBOURG (UPI)—Production of hard coal during 1963 in the six-nation European coal and steel pool was estimated Tuesday at 228 million tons, a drop of 1.3 per cent from the previous year.

On Christmas morning, the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y participated in its traditional early hour Christmas caroling. If you visited the Good Samaritan Home during this holiday season, and noticed the Christmas decorations, we feel that you should know that it was another community service of the Croswell High Tri-Hi-Y.

Rocky May Discuss Divorce On TV, Radio

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Washington Post said today that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York intends to make a nationwide radio-television speech later this month to ask for "tolerance and understanding" toward his divorce and re-marriage.

Attacked By Dogs

MIYAKATA, Japan (UPI)—A pack of stray dogs foraging for food attacked and seriously injured a six-year-old boy here. Police said about 20 dogs pounced on Hiroshi Yamaguchi and bit him in more than a dozen places about the body.

The newspaper described the planned speech as an impassioned "Edward VIII" appeal on behalf of the "woman I love" by Rockefeller, only announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

According to the Post, Rockefeller was reported to hope that the majority of men and women would be "broad minded enough to reserve their judgment and treat him as differently than they would a friend or neighbor under the same circumstances."

The Post story added: "His advisers have been divided all along on whether to bring the matter out into the open. He has been persuaded finally that he cannot cope with the situation as long as it is only something whispered behind his back. By facing the issue fearfully and matter-of-factly he has decided he yet may rally sympathetic support."

The newspaper said that Rockefeller's plan was reported to have the blessing of his first wife, Mary Todd-hunter Rockefeller. The first Mrs. Rockefeller is said to still be on very friendly terms with her former husband, the Post said.

The story said that the former Mrs. Rockefeller had given her approval for the governor to say "anything within the bounds of good taste" that would convey an honest evaluation of their parting and the years that preceded it.

The Post said that negotiations reportedly were underway for all three major networks to carry the Rockefeller broadcast, which would be one of a series of five interviews.

The Rockefeller's announced Tuesday that they are expecting the birth of a child in June. Rockefeller had five by his first wife.

Nile Temple Of Dendur U. S. Bound

CAIRO (UPI)—An Egyptian temple dedicated by a white king to the worship of two Negro heroes twenty centuries ago will probably be moved from its Nile-side Nubian site to a riverfront location in the United States.

The Temple of Dendur is one of five designated by the U. A. R. government for presentation to countries contributing to the salvage of the Nubian antiquities from the backwaters of the Aswan High Dam. Dendur is probably the best preserved of the five.

A meeting next month in Cairo of the higher consultative committee for the salvage of Nubian monuments is expected to recommend that the temple be given to the U. S. A. in recognition of its aid in rescuing the Nubian monuments. The U. A. R. Ministry of Culture and National Guidance is expected to act on the recommendation.

Dendur was dismantled by Egyptian experts last year, its segments carefully numbered and packed in crates which are stored near Aswan, awaiting a decision on their future destination.

Archaeologists are divided on the age of the Temple of Dendur. Some date it to several thousand years before Christ; others believe it was constructed in the first century B. C. It is agreed, however, that about 30 B. C. the temple was dedicated by Roman Emperor Augustus to the worship of two Nubian brothers who had perished by drowning some five hundred years previously.

Temple inscriptions refer to the two heroes as "the Osiris-favored ones, great in the city of the Court of The Divine Brothers, Pehosis and Pehorus, Sons of Kepur, true-voiced." There is no account available, on the temple walls or elsewhere, of the lives of the two men or the deeds of heroism for which they were canonized to near-Gods. Archaeologists believe they were two chieftains or warriors who lived or died heroically at Dendur.

A barren tomb-shrine of the two heroes, stand near the original site of the temple. Archaeologists believe the door of the shrine was strengthened with stones at the time of the construction of the temple, which was built on the same axis of the tomb.

Temple reliefs show the great Caesar Augustus worshipping gods who include the two deified Negroes.

The temple stood on the Western bank of the Nile 48 miles south of the city of Aswan. Edging on the water was a platform, some 80 feet by 20, which served as a quay. A 20-foot high gateway stood on the Western side of the platform at the top of six small steps. The gateway's 13-foot square base enclosed a passage 4 feet wide and 20 feet high. The inside and outside of the gateway are completely covered with reliefs.

Some 25 feet behind the main gateway stood the temple proper, covering an area about 43 feet by 20 and including a vestibule, an antechamber and a sanctuary. Originally a wall extended from the sides of the gateway to enclose a courtyard.

The vestibule has two columns with floral heads on both sides of the entrance. Its walls and roof are intact, except for the southern side where a door apparently had been opened at a later date, and a coptic inscription dated 577 A. D., praising King Eisanome, was added. A relief of a lion holding a reed guards the doorway to the antechamber and sanctuary.

Mandy Says: 'Let's Forget'

LONDON (UPI)—Mandy Rice-Davies, a central figure in the Profumo scandal, said today she invited former Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and former War Minister John Profumo to her New Year's Eve party.

"It's time to let bygones be bygones," she said.

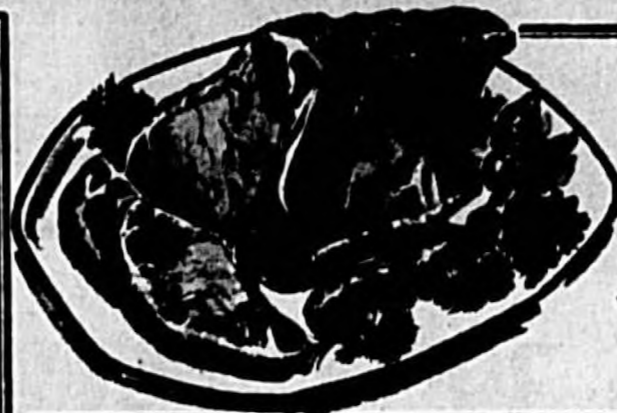

First white man definitely known to have set foot on Arizona soil was a Franciscan, Fray Marcos de Niza, who arrived there from Mexico in 1539.

What 1964 Could Bring

It has been a long, long time since Seminole County has witnessed the dawn of a New Year that brings with it as much potential for growth and development as does 1964.

In less than two weeks Seminole should know if it has been selected as the county in which the State of Florida will locate the new East Central Florida University—a four-year, degree granting institution.

The State Board of Control is scheduled to convene in Tallahassee on Jan. 10. At that time the board is expected to announce its selection of one of two remaining sites offered by Seminole County or the one remaining site tendered by Orange County.

If Seminole is chosen as the site for the new university it will afford this county its greatest opportunity to stabilize its economy forever. There is no doubt in the mind of anyone as to what the university will mean to Seminole and the role the institution will play in the progress of the county.

But that is not all.

There is continued development of the St. Johns - Indian River Canal. This project would link Central Florida at Lake Harney to the intra-coastal waterway at Titusville. The canal would open the St. Johns to two-way traffic for commercial and pleasure craft and what this would ultimately mean to the economy of Seminole County really cannot be estimated.

The canal authority, already established, has been successful recently in receiving funds, $40,000 to be exact, from the State Board of Conservation to finance the required engineering to establish the canal's right-of-way. A Jacksonville firm was retained to provide the engineering. According to reports The Herald has received the alignment of the canal has been completed according to the engineers.

In addition, an announcement is anticipated almost any day indicating that a port terminal on the St. Johns near Sanford will be constructed by private interests which will enhance two-way commercial traffic on the St. Johns. Of course, it is understood that whether or not the terminal materializes will depend greatly upon the construction of the St. Johns - Indian River canal.

Also, there is the proposed marina complex which would include a boat marina, motel, apartment building and a cafeteria. The Herald understands that one local group proposes to construct the marina while another plans the motel, apartment house and cafeteria. Even though private interests are involved there is no doubt but that such a complex would add considerably to the county's economy.

During the latter part of January Sanford residents will be afforded the opportunity to decide on a county-wide metropolitan telephone system. For a slight additional charge each month Sanford telephone subscribers will be able to dial toll free any one of approximately 35,000 telephones in Seminole instead of the present number of some 15,000 phones.

The metropolitan telephone system for this county is a must. It will enable the entire county to be tied together from a communications standpoint and it will go far toward uniting the entire Seminole area.

Finally, there are numerous property transactions and other construction projects. The appearance of the downtown shopping district could change considerably during 1964. Ground has been broken for the shopping center just south of Sanford and an $800,000 building permit has been granted for the construction of the initial units of the center.

The First Baptist church of Sanford is planning the construction of additional facilities for its educational system and the First Church of the Nazarene is preparing to construct a new sanctuary at the corner of French Avenue and Second Street.

The Herald understands that there are several other proposed projects which at this time are in the process of being developed. Unfortunately, they cannot be discussed now.

With Seminole's population now estimated by University of Florida officials to have reached the 67,200 figure, and the county's present economy coupled with the finalization of all or a portion of the possibilities previously listed, Seminole should be on its way to taking its rightful place among the leading counties in Central Florida.

There is no doubt about it. The year 1964 could be one of Seminole County's best.

Thought For Today

"And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night; He made the stars also."

—Genesis 1:16.

The fact that our man made star, the U. S. Christmas satellite, failed to reflect the light intended may be a commentary on human weakness and a reminder again of the Lord and Creator of the ends of the earth.

—Rev. Fred B. Chance, Pastor, First Baptist Church, Sanford.

Ask Not for Whom the Bell Tolls

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Jimmy Young is a brilliant journalist who started his career many years ago with Mr. Scripps of the Scripps newspaper dynasty. So listen to the suggestions below, for newspapers should realize they are really department stores of printed merchandise. The same sales psychology applies to both!

CASE R-445: James R. Young is an astute newspaper editor.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "would you mind repeating some of the psychological axioms of interest to newspapermen?"

"You gave some of them recently in your 'Motivation Test,' but I know you have mentioned many more."

Contrast two department stores, for newspapers are really department stores of printed merchandise.

If Store "A" has 20 counters on its main floor while since the record level in July 1959.

In October, 6,587 new non-farm dwelling units were authorized, bringing the total for the year to 60,322. Based on the construction rate of the first ten months, 1963 continued to be a better year than the previous three years.

Total construction for the first ten months of 1963 was valued at $1,154,417,000. This is a percentage increase of 6.1 per cent over 1962. The total for the same period of 1962 was $1,088,153,000.

The Tallahassee-North Florida area had the highest increase of construction during the first ten months with a 55.1 per cent rise.

The largest decrease in building construction was recorded in the Duval County Metropolitan area with a drop of 13 per cent.

The first man to fly round trip across the Atlantic, Capt. H. T. "Dick" Merrill, has been selected to pilot a replica of the world's first airliner on a flight from St. Petersburg to Tampa, commemorating the 50th anniversary of scheduled airline service.

St. Petersburg and Tampa will be the site of the Golden Anniversary celebration, which will see Merrill at the "stick" of a 1914 Benoist Airboat. It was the Benoist that flew the first scheduled airline service, and was the originator of today's multi-million dollar airline industry.

Merrill will re-fly the original airline route Jan. 11.

My quiz column is based on a total point score of 10, with 3-6 being "Average," 7-8, "Superior" and 9-10, being "Very Superior."

But when newspapers use only 3 or 4 of the 10 questions, that ruins much of the fun for the reader, since it kills the zest of competition.

Remember, most people like to compete with the 10-point norms (par for the course).

Applied to journalism, this means that it is better to give adequate space to a strong feature, as per reader polls, than to offer two or three fragments of different features.

In several big cities, school superintendents have exclaimed:

"Dr. Crane, I didn't know you were the author of that daily 'Horse Sense' quiz column or I'd have assigned it to high school students long ago!"

Which means that educated people like to have known authorities behind their print menu.

"Unbranded" merchandise lacks the appeal of goods that bear known guaranteed names! Why? Credibility is increased by known brands.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The most fantastic foul-up in the whole, incredible session of Congress that has just concluded came in a little-noticed Senate failure to ratify the International Coffee Agreement.

The White House and State Department were involved, too, in a classic failure of bureaucracy to get its signals straight.

Fifteen months ago, 32 coffee-exporting countries with 95 per cent of the production signed a United Nations coffee pact with 22 countries that consume nearly 95 per cent of all coffee produced.

The idea was to stabilize the world coffee market by bringing overproduction down to consumption levels.

A provisional International Coffee Organization — ICO — was set up in London last spring. It was to come into full operating force in 1964 after ratification of the agreement before Dec. 31, 1963, by countries doing 90 per cent of the world coffee trade.

Since the United States is the world's largest coffee consumer, ratification by this country was essential. A Senate hearing was scheduled last February, but had to be postponed when it got snarled up with a Senate filibuster.

On June 1, Secretary of State Dean Rusk sent Congress a request for legislation to carry out U. S. obligations under the coffee agreement.

The House passed it promptly and sent it on to the Senate. There it got lost and forgotten until about Dec. 1, when the coffee trade warned that if the United States did not ratify by Dec. 31, the agreement might die.

Senator Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., Finance Committee chairman in charge of the legislation, asked the State Department what its wishes were on the matter.

Then began a week's ring-around-the-rosy that only a revolving government can produce. In quick succession, Assistant Secretary of State for Congressional Relations Frederick G. Dutton wrote four letters to Senator Byrd. Each one said something different.

In the first letter, dated Dec. 11, Dutton told Byrd that, "Early action on the bill, before the end of the calendar year is a matter of urgency."

A few hours later Dutton sent the senator another letter, cutting out the request for action by Dec. 31.

What happened was that somebody remembered that President Johnson had just given the highest priority to getting the tax cut bill cleared by the Senate Finance Committee. So the coffee agreement was made secondary business.

—Since Dutton had neglected to put this explanation in his second letter, the next day he sent Byrd a third letter. Here he explained that, "Hearings on this measure are sought only after completion of the tax bill."

This was all right as far as it went. But it didn't specify just when the State Department did want the treaty ratified.

—So, at Byrd's insistence, Dutton sent a fourth letter, dated Dec. 18. Here he wrote, "I understand that committee action on the tax cut bill will not be complete till after the first of the new year, and consequently ask that hearings be scheduled in January if at all possible."

Still confused, Byrd called up President Johnson and asked him what he wanted. He got back the answer, "Leave this coffee legislation till you get through with the tax bill." So that's the way it will be.

Sen. Thurston Morton, R-Ky., put all this in the Congressional Record to clear Chairman Byrd of charges that he had deliberately delayed action on ratification.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., Foreign Relations Committee chairman, followed this up with, "I do not believe the State Department was at fault. There are some new people in the White House."

What they're going to try to do is let the State Department deposit the ratification with the International Coffee Organization, even though it hasn't been ratified. The State Department will then promise not to do anything—not to take any action under the agreement till it is ratified.

Double Tensions To Turnpike
 Turnpike travelers in Florida soon will be using double lanes on the turnpike along the 125-mile extension between Fort Pierce and Whitewood is open to public use on Jan. 15, 1964.
 A double tandem, also called a "double" and "double tandem", is one track pulling two trailers.
 Double tandems have been successfully used in California, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho and New York, according to John R. Phillips, chairman of the turnpike authority.
 Phillips said he was initially opposed to the double tandem trucking innovation, but after three months of study, he changed his mind. He said that the double tandem will be restricted to the turnpike lane between Fort Pierce and Whitewood in early February.

Canaveral Port Gets Tract For Enlargement

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The cabinet today conveyed to the Canaveral Port Authority 77.5 acres near the missile test range for use in enlargement of Canaveral Harbor.

The conveyance contains a clause requiring that it be returned to the state if not used for public purposes. If the authority, which applied on behalf of the federal government, refuses the public purpose reverter clause, it will have to buy the land upon condemnation and pay the state the appraised value.

The cabinet, sitting as trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund, also dedicated at the request of Brevard County a valuable area 2.5 miles north of State Road 500 on Merritt Island for public recreational purposes.

The land, comprising 80 acres, would be more valuable for commercial purposes, according to State Engineer William Kidd, but he said he doubted the state could get as good a site elsewhere for a park area under today's inflated prices in Brevard County.

Kidd is chairman of the governor's recreational development committee.
