Tennessee Looks Like South's Champions; Purdue Tops Big Ten

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—(INS)

After 48 hours, a triumph is liable to be mitigated by the concerns of the immediate future and even a tragedy is just a landscape, regarding the fact that hope once lived, but there were parades dedicated in interminable footfalls on Saturday and, in spite of the softening interval, the impression persists today that the effort of some of these will not be without permanency.

The undefeated Pittsburgh team won from Washington and Jefferson by three touchdowns, thus preserving its share of the national championship. The undefeated Notre Dame team won from Drake, 19 to 7, thus preserving its elusive and immaculate record against the East, Middle West and South. The hitherto undefeated Minnesota team, led by Iowa to 7, and Ohio State was beaten 16 to 6, by Northwestern, thus sending Purdue in as the impending winner of the Big Ten championship. The hitherto undefeated team of Boston College and Virginia were defeated for the first time in two years.

At a result of Saturday's defeat, the following were the standings, the following were the championship rankings today:

Pittsburgh, apparently a great team, for it had to be given 21 points on a defensive genius by W. J. Cornell, still undefeated after taking Western Reserve by 30 to 0; Fordham, thanks to its 7 to 6 defeat at Boston College on a pass play in the final period. No two-way football, however, is good for all the armament race which has caused so many wars and reduce the armed forces of the world to minimum units of defense.

British and French troops are trekking slowly out of the Rhine land which they have occupied since Germany capitulated 11 years ago. They are leaving Germany once again a free nation determined with the rest of the Western Hemisphere to make war future impossibility.

Imperialism and militarism have fallen. In their place are the Kellogg pact for the renunciation of war and the frank and open diplomacy such as characterized the recent history-making conversations of President Hoover and Premier MacDonald of Great Britain.

Upon such foundations as these, the civilized world foresees today a structure of eternal peace.

Posses Hunt For Bandit Gang That Wrecked Train To Get 100 Dollars

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 11.—(INS) — While workmen were clearing the right of way of Southern Pacific train No. 11, which was wrecked last night by a bandit gang, posse today were scouring the hills near Saugus, Calif., in an effort to apprehend the robbers who endangered the lives of a hundred persons to get just $100, it was estimated.

A few moments after the train had been ditched and the bandits made a hurried scuttle through the darkness.

Less than five minutes after the robbers disappeared, a group of Los Angeles deputies were at the scene of the holdup. They were in that vicinity on other business and arrived just as the bandits made their getaway.

Only one person was seriously injured, despite the fact that the engine and three coaches turned over when they struck the rails which had been loosened by the bandits. The train was enroute to Seattle.

The injured man was R. C. Ball, engineer, who was badly scalded by escaping steam from the locomotive.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—(INS) —Controlling interest of the Miami Jockey Club and race track has been purchased by J. H. Carson, Harrison spokesman Major Harry M. Warburton.

COAST LINE WINS FROM LIGHT BOYS IN SPEEDY GAME

Double Play Features 14 To 11 Victory In Diamond Ball Game

H. M. Sinecipher

The Atlantic Coast Line emerged-winner over the Florida Power and Light Company Thursday night in the fastest game of the season by the score of 14 to 11. The game was over in a little less than an hour, and had no more than finished when a rain set in.

In the first inning, the Coast Line got the jump, scoring six runs while the Power and Light waited until the second to score with four markers. The end of the third inning found the score tied at seven-all, and both sides scored three times in the fourth keeping the score knotted until the fifth. The Coast Line scored twice to be the winning margin, as the Power and Light could put only one more run across the plate.

The Coast Line executed a nice double play in the sixth inning. With one out, Lane was walked, then Hodge hit a line drive to Edensfield who whipped it back to first, catching Lane off the base.

Both Hodge and Standifer pitched a steady game, but Standifer tightened up in the last two frames, allowing only three men to face him in the sixth and four in the seventh.

According to the State Marketing Bureau, which has compiled isolating poultry statistics for the Jacksonville wholesale market at the time they were placed in storage. These eggs sold later at prices ranging from $1 to 40 cents per dozen and after all storage and handling charges were deducted the farmer received from 10 to 15 cents per dozen additional. The 21 farmers who stored their eggs lived in 16 counties.

This is another excellent example of what a cooperative poultry association can do.

The Agricultural Department has received an inquiry regarding the possibilities of a canning factory in the local district. It would be a great asset to the farmers of this section if they could dispose of their surplus through a canning plant when market prices were low and crop surpluses high. Let us all work and think toward obtaining a canning factory for this section. It will be an aid toward diversification.

The IMPORTANCE OF RABBIT BREEDING IN FLORIDA

The importance of rabbit breeding in Florida will originate from our own efforts in an effective campaign of education. The wife and the public at large does not know the gastronomic and edible value of domesticated and raised rabbit meat. It is difficult to divert a long, fixed practice and habit of eating from the routine list of foods.

Wild rabbit meat was eaten during the winter months, it was not considered good for the health. It was the first but under-nutritive meat, is reasonable at any time of the year and is preferred by those who know its nutritious value, during the hot summer months.

Dieticians, food specialists and insurance companies after years of propaganda work are gradually succeeding in getting the public to eat more fruit, vegetables, digestible and nutritious meats.

The Florida rabbit industry upon its own efforts of producing clean, wholesome, sterilized rabbit meat, merits the full support of the eating public.

Restaurants and hotels help this home industry by specializing in properly prepared rabbit meat for guest consumption. It will satisfy the palate of the most exacting epicure.

In this period of development of this new and important industry, we shall be glad to cooperate to the best of our ability.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THE LORD KNOWETH—We
to them that devise iniquity, and work evil upon their behalf! They covet fields, and take them by violence, and bound up the heads of those whom they carry off; a man and his wife. Therefore saith the Lord: Behold, against this family do I devise an evil—
Micah 2:1, 2.

PRAYER—W. Lord, would seek first thy kingdom and thy righteousness, assured that all else we need thou will give to us.

WE SPEAK OUT OF TURN

I met a painted dame who said:
"It's that rose a lovely red."

"It's," I said, "but shouldn't you these petals paint a deeper hue?
Wouldn't it help the rose a bit?"

"If you should smear some rouge on it?"

These flowers must battle sun and rain.

The wear and tear of wind is pain.
If treated with a fancy cream those blossoms lovelier might seem.

We might decore the eyes of thee.

We should paint them now and then.

The colour from a handy box
left the marigold and phlox,
With floral paste and floral mud
We'll make an old rose seem a new.

We prefer the instant I am sure the faults of nature we can't
A pair of sticky eyebrows, rose!
We'll tint an enameled nose!

Right, two deep, two low Clementine cheeks.

The first true bloom they'd known in weeks.

"I'm sorry," said the dame, "it's very thin, and the shade, 'It's very thin' cannot give a fool a brain."

A Sentiment Against War

Armistice Day invariably arouses in the minds of most of us pictures of those exciting days of 1917 and 1918 when the sight of a uniform, polished boots, spurs, Sam Browne belt and the oft recurring salute, on every street were as ordinary, and yet quite as thrilling, as they are today only in name. We see many people, however, today, who think that the civilian training camps, of hard hollering sergeants, of proud lieutenants and kindly colonels, the pungent smell of the mess halls, the "double time" for "training purposes," and the spectacular retreat as the sun went down, all come back to us.

And all this, Armistice Day has come about in the streets throughout that entire day of November 11, 1918. The cries of joy which anxious mothers uttered as they thought of seeing their sons again. Sweethearts dancing and old men hobbling about from 4 o'clock in the morning until late that night, cheering and yelling in ecstasy over the joyful news, while sirens screamed, whistles blew and bonfires blazed, all connoting the spirit of the occasion.

And yet as the years have passed, Armistice Day has come to mean more than just the celebration of the closing of the greatest holocaust in history. It has come to mean an annual expression of the grim determination of a great people to bring about an abrupt end to just such disastrous warfare at a cost of less than a few hundred million dollars. The prospect of utter futility of war, having glimpsed again bloody battles in their awful reality wholly devoid of the romanticism and glamor which fiction writers love to give them, the people themselves are agreeing that this shall not be again.

The American Legion, which comes in the example of our own country, is a picture of peace and goodwill of young America, a full realization of the horrors of war and a sentiment in favor of a lasting and harmonious relationship between all nations. Theirs is not a creed of peace at any price, but peace through a better understanding between governments and peoples and an attitude in every way that is a credit to all.

It is certainly to be hoped that the bugles will never blow again in calling the men of this nation to arms against my other power on earth.

Winter Lawns

Now that fall is here and mothers are busy getting ready for school children and refurbishing their own, are fathers also a bit perturbed? The Lakeland Ledger suggests a new bright green winter forecast for the lawn:

"In this era of beautiful lawns and gardens, the Southern home owner is particularly fortunate in being able to have a beautiful green lawn all the year round."

Bermuda grass lawns, turned brown and rendered dormant by the first frost, are quickly covered with a carpet of bright, velvety green by simply sowing grass seed. The lawn will remain green all winter, even during the coldest weather. The Bermudas starts its growth again. The Bermuda grass is benefited next spring by this winter covering.

"Winter lawns are more beautiful than the best kept summer lawns—their growth is more uniform, their green is of a brighter hue, and there are no weeds to mar their beauty. They require very little care, too."

"No digging is necessary to make a winter lawn; just broadcast seed on surface and rake them in lightly."

"Growth is promoted and sustained by applying a complete balanced plant food. Like ourselves, plants must be fed."

"Homes, neighborhoods, even cities," are judged today by the appearance of their lawns. Beautify your home, your neighborhood, and your city by planting a winter lawn."

THE HERSTERS, W. H. and Gwendolyn, at Longwood, opened this year, Ben F. White of Lexington, Ky., announced upon his arrival for the winter season. The race track at Longwood, which has been bought for a training ground for grand circuit trotters and pacers, will see the first arrival of horses the middle of next month. White said, and the first race will be held on December 1, 1929, and the second on January 5, 1930. The horses will be shipped from New York on New Year's day and during January, which will be followed by two, three and four-day racing events during February, March and April.—Gainesville Sun.

IT IS DOUBTFUL if the work of any Florida clergyman and heartless of him who would think himself qualified. There are about a half dozen thousand people.

Yet, if you really wanted to communicate, you'd read your winters in Florida.

The Senate by its vote on Mon- day, declared:

That Bingham's conduct was "contrary to good moral and ten- tional principles" and, conse- quently, "unfit for public office."

That Bingham's conduct was "not, a result of corrupt in- stincts."

That "condemned" should be used instead of "disapproved," and that Bingham should not be "ex- empt from charges of immorality."

That the practice of "curing" in individuals interested in legislation is not unusual frankness on the part of the sentence judge who possibly might be caught to be sent up to fifty years but probably wouldn't serve more than one.

London Is Scene Of Old Display Called Lord Mayor's Show

LONDON, Nov. 11—(INS)—With the glamorous medieval pomp traditionally associated with the annual Lord Mayor's Show, Waterlow, king of the British Emp., alderman and master-minter, Saturday was installed lord mayor of London for the third year (1929-1930), succeeding Sir James Ryton Stud, an office which had its beginning in the year 1100.

And once again Londoners were transported back to the medieval times in the annual Lord Mayor's show as the grand and wondrous procession particularly known as the "Lord Mayor's show" slowly wended its way through the heart of the square mile of London.

The black horse, the pageant this year took form of a display illustrating the history of the printing and publishing industries.

London, hundreds of troops, police, guards and sailors, tableau representing the 54 member nations of the League of Nations and its various international defense agencies, and a party of 12 raw-boned Scottish pipers.

The whole procession provided pictures such as a 200-year-old London, with centuries of childhood, youth, manhood, and nearly an hour to pass a given point.

An unusual feature this year was the inclusion of the boy players of the city of London, in their scarlet dress. These players were a familiar part of city life in Shakespeare's day and last appeared in a lord mayor's show in 1909, when the show was held in state barrels on the Thavies.

(Continued from Page One) death in a fall down a flight of stairs. The disposal of the bodies worried her, so she called rock residents, and at her insistence they then got an emergency separation in New Jersey.

For the day she dug a little grave and buried the body intact.

The sound of approaching voices disturbed her, so she quietly slipped away in a nearby room.

The Red Cross, arriving in time to help in a similar way, as she threw up wrapped shawl over the body by the side of her bed.

The New Jersey and Middlebury, Conn., authorities, with whom she had been living, had confided to the children in a blackmailing scheme, but few details were available.
